

The South Carolina Court of Appeals

Adele J. Pope, Appellant,

v.

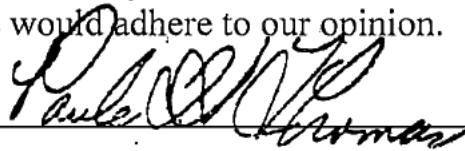

Estate of James Brown and the James Brown 2000
Irrevocable Trust, Respondents.

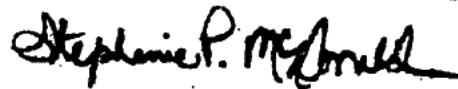

Appellate Case No. 2019-000362

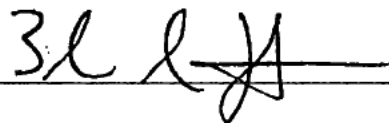

ORDER

After careful consideration of the petition for rehearing, the Court is unable to discover that any material fact or principle of law has been either overlooked or disregarded, and hence, there is no basis for granting a rehearing. Accordingly, the petition for rehearing is respectfully denied.

The motion to supplement the record or take judicial notice is denied on the grounds that this information was available prior to the oral argument. See Collins Ent. Corp. v. Coats & Coats Rental Amusement, 355 S.C. 125, 144, 584 S.E.2d 120, 130 (Ct. App. 2003) (affirming a master's refusal to supplement the record when the information was available before judgment but the request to supplement was not made until after). Even so, the additional information the court is asked to consider appears cumulative to information already in the record, and even if we considered the additional information, we would adhere to our opinion.
