LEONARD R. WASHINGTON

Appellate Case No. 2022-001203

RECEIVED

The reason for this letter is to SC Court of Appeals and explain to you why i'm appealing my case.
 On Aug. 18, 2022 i was forced to accept a plea
 i didn't understand by Attorney Aince I received therefore i am filing for Ineffective Assistance of Counsel. The plea was not explained to me properly and was not voluntary. My trial rights was not knowingly and intelligently waived.

On the Accusory before the fact to Voluntary Manslaughter, I never was charge with that charge I was charged with Accusory before the fact to Murder which was thrown out at Preliminary Hearing. I had not received an indictment to the 18 years i was given on a charge and it was never severed on me and that i am not guilty of and never would have agreed to therefore i wish to appeal.

I have been detained since Dec 7, 2021 and in that time i have never seen Attorney Aimee Immsed she has not been to the jail to go over my case or a way to have my charge's dismissed the only time i did have time to speak with her by phone was to tell me to take a plea and as i have stated my plea was not voluntary and i was not properly informed by Counsel therefore i wish to appeal.

The states that 4-14 grams is Drug Trafficking, but in my paperwork the officer on my case and the undercover statements state that 5.3 grams came from a unknown female and 1.3 grams from me directly which is under the weight of grams for Drug Trafficking under state law, therefore i wish to appeal. Sentence with law and would be void.

R.F.: State v Washington, Appellate Case No. 2022-001203
(Petition For Rehearing / Suggestion For Rehearing En Banc)

Dear Ms. Mitchings

I am, Leonard R. Washington #388766 (pro-se) Appellate in this matter. The appeal had been dismissed by Appellate Court Order No. 2022-001203, date Oct. 21, 2022 and received by me on October 27, 2022, and Appellate request rehearing Rule 221(a), and rehearing en banc Rule 219(b), SCACP.

THE HONORABLE
JUDGE

The Appellant makes this request because points missed or overlooked by this Court.

The Appellant Court may affirm a judgement or order where the record shows that the merits of the case were fairly tried and substantial justice has been done. Westbury v. Bauer, 284 SC 385, 326 SE2d 151 (1985) Appellant had not been provided a transcript of the plea hearing and had no available alternative equivalent to a transcript. Griffin v. Illinois, 351 US 12, 19 76 S.Ct 585, 591 (1986) US Const Amend V, and Amend XIV. See also Appellant's attached Affidavit providing [inchoate] reasoning.

I genuinely appreciate the court's consideration of this request.

With best wishes, I remain.
Very truly yours
