

As Petitioner seeks by way of and through other legal actions to show the Court conduct of the PCR Court which shocks the judicial conscience, the Seventh Judicial Circuit Court's Judges to include the Cherokee County Clerk of Court is as they must be - made Respondent parties in the action challenging the constitutionality of the State's PCR process.

As such, Petitioner would ask that should this Court find the case sub judice in favor of Petitioner and select to vacate Petitioner's sentences and remand the case to the Seventh Judicial Circuit Court of General Sessions - that the sentencing exposure would be limited to the original 7-Year capped plea offer. Petitioner has discussed this matter on pages 37-39 of his Amended Initial Brief of Petitioner which was filed on March 29, 2021.

It is crucial that this Court address this matter within its order adjudicating this case as conflict of interests exists there also exists a likely chance that future vindictive prosecution will be exercised against Petitioner simply for his exercising his Constitutional rights and seeking to expose an unfair and impartial tribunal. It is vital that the Courts reasoning in Davie v State, 381 SC 601, 675 S.E.2d 416 (2009), be addressed and applied in the case at bar.
