Dear Khee'Asia:

After the Court of Appeals found in Respondents' favor, I filed a motion for costs and other such litigation fees. I don't recall it being ruled upon by the Court of Appeals before the Writ was denied by the Supreme Court. I have two questions: 1. What are our courts' procedures regarding receiving the attorney's fees (which appear to be a $2,500 flat fee) and other costs based on my motion before the Court of Appeals, and 2. May I also receive the attorneys' fees, costs, etc. for my legal work in defense of the Writ of Cert?
