ORDER

This matter came before me on May 18, 2022, in Beaufort, South Carolina. Present on behalf of the Plaintiff was Lee C. Weatherly of Carlock, Copeland & Stair, LLP. Present on behalf of the Defendant Lisa Sulka was John E. Parker and Daniel E. Henderson of Parker Law Group, LLP. The Defendant Calvin C. Hoagland was present in the courtroom but did not participate in the hearing.

The matters before me pursuant to a Motion to Reconsider filed by the Defendant Sulka on January 21, 2022 asking that I reconsider my Form 4 Order of January 20, 2022.

The Form 4 Order states: "This matter came before the Court as Plaintiff Privilege Underwriters Reciprocal Exchange's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment heard on January 5, 2022. Plaintiff Privilege Underwriters Reciprocal Exchange's Motion for Summary Judgment is granted for the coverage as to Skip Hoagland"

The language in the Form 4 order does not reflect my intent in issuing the Order. It was and remains my intent that the Plaintiff, Privilege Underwriters Reciprocal Exchange should be obligated to provide coverage to Mr. Hoagland in the underlying case of Lisa Sulka vs. Skip Hoagland, Civil Action # 2017-CP-07-1547. The Order should have stated that the Plaintiff's motion for partial summary judgment was denied as to their obligation to provide Mr. Hoagland coverage.

I believe the best course would be to vacate the previous Form 4 Order of January 20, 2022, and substitute in its place this Order. I Rely on the arguments of counsel heard on January 5, 2022, and May 18, 2022, in the issuance of this Order.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED that the Plaintiff's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment be and hereby is denied. No party shall be prejudice by any act or lack thereof between the time the Form 4 Order was filed and the present. The Form 4 Order was inartfully worded and did not reflect my intent. It is anticipated that the Plaintiff and/or one of the defendants may file additional pleadings, motions, or proceedings as a result of this Order.
