Re: Appeal Related to State of South Carolina v. Joe Ross Worley
Appellate Case No. 2012-210646

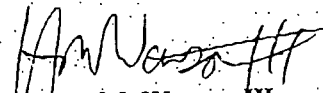

Dear Ms. Kitchings:

Earlier this week, Appellant in the above referenced matter filed a Reply to the State's Return to Appellant's Motion for Partial Remand in the above referenced matter. As noted in the Reply, the State's Return took the position that a partial remand was not necessary under the circumstances, as the trial court retained jurisdiction to hear Mr. Worley's motion for bond notwithstanding the pending appeal.

Judge Addy was provided a copy of the State's Return and responded with a request for dates for a hearing on the pending motion for bond. We take that to be his concurrence that he maintains jurisdiction, which absent an objection from this Court would mean Appellant's pending motion for partial remand is moot and can be withdrawn.

Accordingly, as Ms. Ballard discussed with Ashley earlier today, Appellant withdraws his pending motion as the matter has been resolved by apparent consent of the parties and acknowledged by the trial court. Please do not hesitate to contact our office if you should have any questions. With warm personal regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,
