Dear Ms. Allen:

We respectfully request a third extension of an additional 15 days in which to file and serve the initial Appellants' Reply Brief and any reply designations.

The current deadline would have been today, Tuesday February 27, 2024. The requested deadline would be Wednesday, March 13, 2024.

In light of the hour being after 9:00 p.m., I have not checked to see if Mr. Dillard, opposing counsel, consents. We need more time to finish reducing the arguments, editing, checking citations, building tables, etc. and have been held back by an extraordinary schedule for an extraordinary length of time and numerous other matters.

I do not mean to go into detail, unless required, but do not take the extensions lightly. A small federal case full of complicated corporate transactions and parties in multiple states was expected to settle in the recent mediation but did not and is in final-stretch trial preparation with various submission deadlines, and we had to stop and file a case for a client with a large injury case with a statute of limitations looming. I have also had to give rapid attention to investigation and recovery for a party with an embezzlement situation. It may not sound as weighty as a large case or deal, but we have a young puppy which seems about as distracting as caring for an infant, except it is highly ambulatory, has fangs, and the mistakes are on floors and rugs. I thought I would get the brief and designation in tonight, but it does not look like I will quite make it, and I have a vision problem near my retina (which I have recently had checked out, but need to go back and get re-done glasses as help for) which causes headaches from merging distortion and a larger image in one eye from a different cause, and requires me to stop.

I do not know that I will need the full 15 days, but have things up tomorrow and have to get on a plane the following day.

Please let me know if any more formal application is needed.

In accordance with current practice, we will send the $50 filing fee within 5 days to:

Clerk, S.C. Court of Appeals
P.O. Box 11629
Columbia, SC 29211

Thanks for your assistance.

Best,
Barry Stanton
