

The South Carolina Court of Appeals

Bradley Stanley, Appellant,

v.

Sales and Management Realty, Respondent.

Appellate Case No. 2024-000301

---

ORDER

---

On March 5, 2024, this court temporarily granted Appellant's motion to stay his eviction and remanded this case to the circuit court for a ruling on the motion to stay and whether to issue an appeal bond. The circuit court held a hearing and issued Appellant an appeal bond, via monthly rental payments of $1300, plus the past due amount of $3900, resulting from Appellant's failure to pay rent for December 2023 through February 2024. Appellant undertook to pay the bond in order to stay execution of the writ of ejection, pending appeal. However, Respondent has since attested that Appellant has failed to post the bond. On April 10, 2024, this court requested a response from Appellant within five days. However, Appellant failed to respond. Accordingly, the temporary stay previously granted by this court is now lifted.

Additionally, the time for ordering the transcript has expired. Within ten days of the date of this order, Appellant must file proof he has ordered the transcript from the court reporter. Failure to do so will result in dismissal of this appeal.
