All

It has come to my attention while reviewing the appeal on c-track that the below email did not include our final brief as appellants, although it does contain a proof of service of the brief. Would the best manner in which to proceed require us to file a motion requesting permission to file the final brief with the substituted citations to the record on appeal outside the time limits, or may we submit the final brief with consent of opposing counsel. Please advise. The brief was completed on July 17 along with our final reply brief and brief as respondents, but by error it was not attached to the email when it should have been.

Thank you,

John "Jay" E. Parker, Jr.
