The Appellant Heidi Gersten (“GERSTEN”) in the above-captioned case, hereby requests and moves this South Carolina Court of Appeals (“COURT”), pursuant of/to The Golden Rule, Title II of the ADA Reasonable Accommodation Request, S.C. MEMORANDUM in SUPPORT of APPELLANT's TITLE II of the AMERICANS with DISABILITIES ACT ("ADA")
REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION REQUEST to ACCEPT And GRANT
APPELLANT's REQUEST and MOTION for an EXTENSION of TIME to FILE REPLY to RESPONDENT'S RETURN TO APPELLANT'S MOTION FOR REINSTATEMENT And REPLY TO PETITION FOR REHEARING

1. On December 6, 2024, this COURT issued an order stating, "The time for serving and filing the reply to the return to the petition for rehearing is hereby extended until December 6, 2024."
2. Since GERSTEN's December 3, 2024, filing that requested an extension until and including December 10, 2024, to file her said reply to petition for rehearing and petition for reinstatement, she has experienced high fever-like temperatures in addition to her daily struggles of being paralyzed disabled and has been unable to function well-enough to complete her said filing of reply to petitions for rehearing and reinstatement.
3. This filing is made before the expiration of this COURT's order of December 3, 2024.
4. Additional time is required to complete the reply to petition for rehearing until and including December 18, 2024.
5. GERSTEN is paralyzed disabled as a result of the collision in controversy in this matter which causes her to be substantially limited on one or more of her major life activities and she is now a qualified individual of and protected under the ADA. She has no caregiver, personal aid, or assistance to help her with daily functions. She lives under extreme hardship and extraordinary circumstances.
6. A "qualified individual with a disability" is defined as "an individual with a disability who, with or without reasonable modifications to rules, policies, or practices, the removal of architectural, communication, or transportation barriers, or the provision of auxiliary aids and services, meets the essential eligibility requirements for the receipt of services or the participation in programs or activities provided by a public entity.” United States v. Georgia, 546 U.S. at 153– 54, 126 S.Ct. 877 (quoting 42 U.S.C. § 12131(2)).

7. GERSTEN’s disability of being paralyzed renders her incapable of asserting her claims or defenses in a timely manner. Under South Carolina law, GERSTEN is a “vulnerable adult” defined, in part, as a person eighteen years of age or older who has a physical or mental condition which substantially impairs the person from adequately providing for his or her own care or protection.

8. “A public entity shall make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures when the modifications are necessary to avoid discrimination on the basis of disability, unless the public entity can demonstrate that making the modifications would fundamentally alter the nature of the service, program, or activity.” 28 C.F.R. § 35.130(b)

9. GERSTEN has been diligently working on all aspects of perfecting this instant appeal and doing her best to comply with all due dates in spite of coping with and managing secondary complications of paralysis that include, but are not limited to, an illness of multiple pressure wounds. One is located on her left buttocks that prevents her from sitting down for extended periods of time without further injury. There are other wounds that develop and heal, as she is prone to them. Managing bowels and incontinence issues that she has no control over is unimaginable to an abled body. GERSTEN suffers with this daily. She experiences frequent diarrhea attacks, explosions, and accidents that include unexpected bouts of urination throughout the day. It takes her between two to five hours to perform the task of extracting at least one bowel movement daily. Using the digital stimulation technique often leaves her fingers pruned and numb and causes her to feel exhausted afterwards. She changes her diaper frequently and changes clothes and linens multiple times a day because of the excreta leakage out of the diaper. The time spent dealing with the nuances of being paralyzed negatively affects GERSTEN's quality of life and causes increased emotional, psychological, and social distress, in addition to the maddening physical pain she feels caused by paralysis and its secondary complications, among other things. It takes her approximately fifty-two (52) times longer to perform basic daily functions an abled body can do. Due to the years of paralysis, the weight of her upper body crushing down on her lower half, especially while sitting, prolapse has occurred. GERSTEN must periodically push organs that protrude from her vagina and anus back into place. For these reasons and more, additional time is required for her to file her reply. (Pictures and video available upon request; this is an offer of proof of evidence.)

10. GERSTEN has spent much time on this instant appeal producing information which was voluminous and required her to scan thousands of documents, research, and type information into comprehensible and acceptable formats, and redact personal information required to do so under privacy law, which is challenging, to state the least. GERSTEN lacks technological resources and a proper wheelchair to sit in and use, in addition to the litany of other previously stated misfortunes she lives with, as she navigates through on her journey towards a single step, vindicating her rights in response to her victimization of paralysis and its secondary complications, including, but not limited to, her claims against CARTER.

11. In addition to GERSTEN's health crisis, she has other court matters in other states with deadlines within proximity of this case here.

12. Public policy advocates for appeals to be tried on their merits and the appellate courts often grant extensions of time at various stages.

13. A grant of this Title II of the ADA request and motion does not fundamentally alter this
