Ms. Kitchings,

I am currently scheduled to be in a date certain common pleas jury trial in Marion County starting on January 27. We could be done by Friday, but we also could still be in trial. It is a medical malpractice matter that could take the entire week. I would request it not be scheduled at that time due to this conflict.

Thank you for your consideration.

In response to your earlier email, I do consent to a ruling on the briefs.

David

Dear Counsel,

The Court would like to re-schedule this matter for oral argument on January 30, 2025, at 10:00 am. Please respond to this email to let me know your availability.

Warmly,

Jenny

Good Afternoon Ms. Kitchings and Counsel;

This will acknowledge receipt of your email concerning oral arguments scheduled for tomorrow, January 22, 2025, before the Court. I do not object to having the arguments cancelled for tomorrow. However, I object to having the matter considered on the filed record. I respectfully request that the oral arguments be rescheduled to take place at the convenience of the Court. Thank you.

Dear Counsel,

Good morning. In recognition of the weather expected to affect many parts of the state tonight and tomorrow morning, the panel wishes to cancel the oral argument scheduled for tomorrow, January 22. If you do not object, the panel has indicated they can decide this matter based on the records and briefs. If anyone desires oral argument, we will reschedule as soon as possible. Please reply to confirm receipt of this email.

Thank you all for your patience, and please stay safe and warm.

Warmly,

Jenny
