Good morning. I am reaching out to notify you all of the issues that are continuously ongoing. Mr. Biddle, your client is still harassing me via email by adding absurd charges to my portal, not performing maintenance on my property, charging me for other resident's trash, etc. I have put in a maintenance request for my carpet as well as my microwave several times and neither has been fixed. The carpet itself is a trip hazard for my children and the microwave not working is a safety hazard because it is causing the vents and the lights on my stove not to work. I had to buy an element for my oven, just so that my friend could fix it. I had to purchase another microwave, just so that my family and I could heat our food. This is against all tenant rights and something needs to be done.
