

The South Carolina Court of Appeals

In the Matter of Nathan Chambers, Appellant.

Appellate Case No. 2025-000276

ORDER

On March 27, 2025, Appellant filed a pro se motion to relieve his counsel and represent himself on appeal. On April 7, 2025, the State filed a return, opposing relieving counsel. On April 21, 2025, this court warned Appellant of the dangers and disadvantages of self-representation, held the appeal in abeyance for thirty days, instructed Appellant to notify this court within thirty days if he wanted to proceed pro se, and explained this court would consider the motion to relieve counsel after receiving Appellant's response. On May 19, 2025, Appellant moved this court to strike the State's return. In the alternative, Appellant moved to strike Attachments D and E from the State's return. Additionally, Appellant stated he understood the dangers and disadvantages of self-representation and wanted to waive his right to counsel. After careful consideration, we deny Appellant's motion to strike the State's return and his motion to strike Attachments D and E from the State's return. Further, we grant Appellant's motion to relieve counsel.
