William Tetterton Motion of Reconsideration

The Supreme Court of South Carolina on 9-26-06

a motion to reconsider look at the evidence

William Tetterton words the sentence was excessive under the facts and circumstances of this case

Why didn't William Tetterton tell Judge Manning on 4-10-06. The little boy was left alone in the road.

Why William Tetterton didn't tell Judge Manning

the little boy darted into the road on his bicycle hitting the passenger fender on the vehicle Donald was driving. Why William Tetterton didn't tell

Judge Manning Barney Giese said he didn't know what happened to the passenger fender on the vehicle

Donald was driving. The Brown family paid

William Tetterton $16,150 to defend Donald. What the Brown family found out later William Tetterton was a friend of the Spredley family

William Tetterton had no intention on defending

Donald. The Brown family trusted William Tetterton with holding evidence, ineffective representation on purpose. That's Breach of Trust with fraudulent intent. The Supreme Court of South Carolina for Donald Brown I Gary Brown the Brown family this case was not about emotions, politics, republican,

Democrat, Educated, Uneducated, Rich, Poor, male, female,

Black, White, young or old. This case the physical evidence
