Re: Case No. 2025-001521

Dear Mam/Sir,

The purpose of this letter is to share information regarding a part of the rules and procedures for civil cases that place litigants at a disadvantage and impact the outcome of cases.

I currently have an appeal case before the court in which I am the appellant and Charleston County Assessor is the respondent. On October 17, 2025, the response to my initial brief arrived at my address. The post marked date of the assessor's response was October 10, 2025. According to South Carolina Court of Appeals rules and procedures, I had 10 days to prepare and send my final brief. Because the response of Charleston County assessor arrived on October 17, 2025, I only had 3 days to prepare the final brief and have it post marked by October 20, 2025. Needless to say, this impacted my preparation time and may put my case at a disadvantage and could potentially impact the outcome.

I am asking the court to expeditiously investigate and provide a remedy so that my case is viewed in a fair and equitable manner. The above email address can be used for timely correspondence.

Respectfully,

Terry Scott
