

The South Carolina Court of Appeals

DeQuincey G. Simmons, Appellant,

v.

South Carolina Department of Employment Workforce and Bridgestone Americas Tire Operations, LLC, Respondents.

Appellate Case No. 2024-001608

ORDER

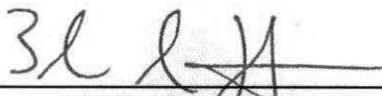

On October 25, 2025, Appellant provided this court with proof of serving the record on appeal, and on October 27, 2025, Appellant filed the record on appeal. On October 30, 2025, this court sent a letter to Appellant explaining his proof of service for the record on appeal did not comply with the South Carolina Appellate Court Rules, the record on appeal was not properly formatted, and the record on appeal did not contain all designated matters. The October 30, 2025 letter allowed Appellant ten days to correct the deficiencies.

On November 19, 2025, Respondents filed a joint motion to dismiss because Appellant failed to correct the deficiencies identified in this court's October 30, 2025 letter. On December 1, 2025, Appellant filed a return, claiming he "timely mailed corrected, bound copies" of the record on appeal and his final brief. He provided United States Postal Service tracking records to support his claim.¹

After careful consideration, we deny Respondents' motion to dismiss. However, this court never received the documents Appellant purportedly sent to correct the deficiencies outlined in this court's October 30, 2025 letter. Therefore, Appellant must serve and file the corrected record on appeal and proof of service within ten days of the date of this letter. Failure to comply will result in dismissal of the appeal.
