Ms. Howard:

I am forwarding the most recent email received from Judge Van Slambrook's office, which confirms that the Judge will not issue a ruling on my Motion for Reconsideration for at least ten days. Given this timeline, the Emergency Writ of Mandamus which was filed with the Supreme Court this morning has become critically important. Charleston County Sheriff's Deputies are scheduled pursuant to Judge Van Slambrook's order to appear at my law office tomorrow, April 14, 2026, to remove the contents of my office, client files and belongings accumulated over 35 years of practice. I greatly appreciate the Court's urgent consideration of this Writ.

Mr. Slotchiver:

We have received a motion to reconsider the Order entered by Judge Van Slambrook on April 9, 2026 setting bond. Our procedure is to reach out to opposing counsel for responsive briefs. Accordingly, if desired, please submit within ten (10) days, after which the Judge will rule on the motion or schedule a hearing, depending on the outcome of Ms. Hill's writ.

FYI, this was incorrectly sent to Anna Slotchiver. It should've gone to Anna Richter, who is Counsel of Record. I've copied her to this email.
