RE: Cover Letter — Appellant's Initial Brief

May 1, 2026

To the Honorable Jenny Abbott Kitchings, Clerk of Court:

Enclosed please find the Appellant's Initial Brief submitted on behalf of Jesús Concepción in the above-referenced appeal.

Mr. Concepción respectfully extends his appreciation to the Office of the Clerk of Court, the Honorable South Carolina Court of Appeals, and the Spartanburg County Detention Center for the access, guidance, and accommodations that have allowed him, while detained, to participate in and pursue appellate review in this matter.

The Office of the Clerk of Court accepted the Appellant's detention-facility calls, mailed important information, and timely responded to inquiries that assisted him in navigating the technical requirements of the appellate process. These efforts helped reduce the obstacles faced by a litigant who is restrained by incarceration and attempting to exercise his right of access to the courts.

The Appellant does not represent that his brief is perfect. Rather, he respectfully submits that preparing an appellate brief while detained required substantial effort, restraint, and diligence, including the challenge of presenting legal arguments in a professional manner, avoiding accusatory language, and identifying potentially colorable claims without formal legal training. Determining which facts were necessary to support those claims was an especially burdensome task.

Nevertheless, this submission stands as evidence that when a court and a detention facility have realistic procedures and access provisions in place, even a difficult and complicated appellate task may be accomplished.

Respectfully submitted,

Jesús Concepción
