Hello Ms. Smith. No offense to you or the Courts, I just want to clarify just what I am as the Attorney pro se. I did receive the Initial Brief and answered with the final brief. Are you saying that, I as the appellant has to provide the respondent's Lawyer with documents and they do not have to provide the same, their Designation of Matter to me? How can I dispute if I have nothing to dispute from respondent. No disrespect, just wanting to know.

I would like to have a meeting with you because there are several things that are confusing. If you will give me a date and time, we would certainly appreciate a meeting with you or one of the other persons in the Clerk's Office.

Thanks,

Celestine Parker
