Re: State v. Damorian L. Young
2024-GS-23-5895, -5908, -5909, -5912, -7694

To Whom It May Concern:

Mr. Young pled guilty on July 28, 2026, and was not granted credit for seven-hundred and forty-six (746) days of time served in the Greenville County Detention Center prior to his guilty plea or for eight-hundred and sixty (860) days time served in the Greenville County Detention Center and under electronic monitoring of the home incarceration program. In compliance with Rule 203 (d)(1)(B)(iv) SCACR the Appellant argues the issue of failure to grant credit for time served is an issue which can be reviewed on appeal. Was the Judge in error in interpreting South Carolina Code § 24-13-40 to mandate no credit for time served in this case because Mr. Young was arrested for a charge involving a weapon when he was out on bond for a charge involving a weapon? Alternatively, if South Carolina Code § 24-13-40 does mandate no credit for time served does that violate the Constitution of the United States and of the State of South Carolina.

Sincerely,

s/ Susannah Ross
