Dear Clerk of the South Carolina Court of Appeals:

We are writing regarding the status currently displayed in the South Carolina Appellate Case Management System for the following two related appeals:

Appellate Case No. 2025-001299 – Attia Elbadawy & Lynne Chatlos v. D.R. Horton, Inc/ third party Dorchester County

Appellate Case No. 2026-001187 – Attia Elbadawy v. Dorchester County & D.R. Horton, Inc.

Both cases are supposed to be HELD IN ABEYANCE. However, as shown in the attached screenshot from the Court's Case Management System, only Case No. 2025-001299 currently reflects the status “Held in Abeyance.”

Case No. 2026-001187 is still incorrectly showing the status “Initial Briefing.”

Please correct the Case Management System today, August 25, 2026, so that both cases accurately reflect that they are Held in Abeyance.

Because the current online docket displays two different statuses for these related cases, we want to ensure that there is no misunderstanding concerning briefing requirements, deadlines, or the status of either appeal while the matters are being held in abeyance.

A screenshot showing the current discrepancy is attached for reference.

Please confirm by return email when the correction has been made and that both Appellate Case No. 2025-001299 and Appellate Case No. 2026-001187 are Held in Abeyance.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.
