READ ME FIRST

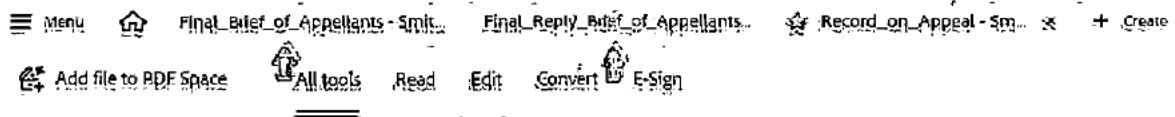

Smith v. King Asphalt, Inc., Court of Appeals Case No. 2025-001327

What is on this drive

Besides this introductory page, this drive holds three files in a folder named Final_Briefs_and_ROA_Smith_v_King_Asphalt_Inc_25-001327: the Record on Appeal, as one complete file of 1,535 pages; the Final Brief of Appellants (the initial brief); and the Final Reply Brief of Appellants. To copy the files, copy the whole folder.

How the Record references work

1. Open the Record on Appeal first, then either brief, in Adobe Acrobat or Adobe Reader. With the Record open, clicking a Record page number in a brief goes directly to that page.
2. If a brief is opened first, Acrobat may ask permission to open the Record; choose Allow. If a file opens in a web browser instead, the links will not work. Close it, right-click the file, choose Open with, and pick Adobe Acrobat or Adobe Reader. Adobe Reader is free from Adobe's website.
3. The Record page numbers cited in either brief, such as the 15 in (R. p. 15), are underlined in blue and are links. Click one, and the Record opens at that page in its own window.
4. To return to the brief, click the brief's tab or window at the top of the window. The brief stays exactly where you left it.

5. Inside the Record, the page numbers in the Index (R. pp. 2-5) are also underlined in blue and are links. After following one, press Alt+Left Arrow to return to the Index.

Keeping the links working

The links work only while all three files stay together in one folder with their file names unchanged. To copy the files, copy the whole folder.
