Good afternoon,

Thank you for the correspondence returned on October 14, 2026, including the received-stamped copies of my previous emails.

I acknowledge receipt of these documents. However, I respectfully request a substantive response to the technical issue and specific questions raised in my original correspondence.

For clarity, I contacted this email address because it is the contact information provided through the South Carolina Judicial Branch Transcript Portal when a user selects the option to request assistance.

My understanding of the documented sequence is as follows:

1. On October 9, 2026, the South Carolina Court of Appeals granted my motion for permission to order the transcript out of time and directed me to order the transcript and report its status within ten days.
2. On October 14, 2026, I accessed the Transcript Portal, completed the requester's information, verified my email address using the security code provided by SCJB Application Support, and selected the 60-day turnaround and electronic PDF delivery options.
3. I subsequently reached what appeared to be the final acknowledgment and submission stage. Before completing that step, I selected "Edit" solely to correct my mailing address following a recent move.
4. After updating my address, the portal redirected me to a different section requesting additional case information. I was unable to return to the acknowledgment and submission page. Consequently, I never knowingly completed the final submission.
5. I reported this issue through the email address provided for portal assistance. In response, I received copies of my correspondence bearing a Court of Appeals received stamp, accompanied by an acknowledgment that my filing had been received.

I understand that the received stamp documents receipt of my correspondence. However, it does not appear to answer the technical questions that prompted me to seek assistance.

If I am misunderstanding the significance of the stamped correspondence, please clarify.

As of today, October 15, 2026, my understanding remains that the transcript request is incomplete because I did not complete the final acknowledgment and submission step. I do not wish to assume otherwise without verification.

Accordingly, I respectfully request direct answers to the following:

1. Does the Transcript Portal reflect a successfully submitted transcript order associated with my name and the June 2, 2026 hearing?
2. If an order exists, what is its submission date, current status, and associated mailing address?
3. If no completed order exists, why did selecting “Edit” redirect me to a different section rather than returning me to the final acknowledgment page, and what specific steps must I take to complete the request?
4. Does the received-stamped correspondence represent anything beyond acknowledgment that my emails were received?

I emphasize that my concern is not whether my correspondence reached your office. The returned documents establish that it did. My concern is that the underlying technical issue and the status of the transcript request remain unresolved.

The Court’s October 9 order requires me to order the transcript and provide a status report within ten days, making October 19, 2026, the applicable deadline.

I am contacting your office before that deadline, through the assistance channel identified by the Transcript Portal, specifically to obtain the information necessary to complete the process.

If the stamped correspondence was intended to communicate that my transcript request was accepted or that no further action is necessary, please state that expressly. Otherwise, I respectfully request instructions that will allow me to complete the submission.

Thank you for your prompt attention to these outstanding questions.

Respectfully,

George Moses III

 EXTERNAL EMAIL: This email originated from outside the organization. Please exercise caution before clicking any links or opening attachments. ***

Thank you for providing the received-stamped copy of my October 14, 2026 correspondence.

I would like to clarify my understanding of the current situation. To my knowledge, my transcript request remains incomplete because I never reached or completed the final acknowledgment and submission step. After selecting "Edit" to correct my mailing address, the portal redirected me to a different section, and I was unable to return to the final acknowledgment page.

Accordingly, I do not want to assume that a transcript order was successfully submitted when I have not received confirmation of its completion.

Would you please confirm whether an actual transcript order exists in the system or whether my submission remains incomplete?

If an order was received, I would also appreciate confirmation of the mailing address associated with it, as my original reason for editing the request was to ensure that my recently updated address was reflected correctly.

I understand that updating my mailing address with the Court of Appeals is a separate administrative matter, which I intend to address independently.

Finally, please advise what action is required to complete the transcript order and comply with the Court's October 9, 2026 directive before the October 19 deadline.

Thank you for your assistance.

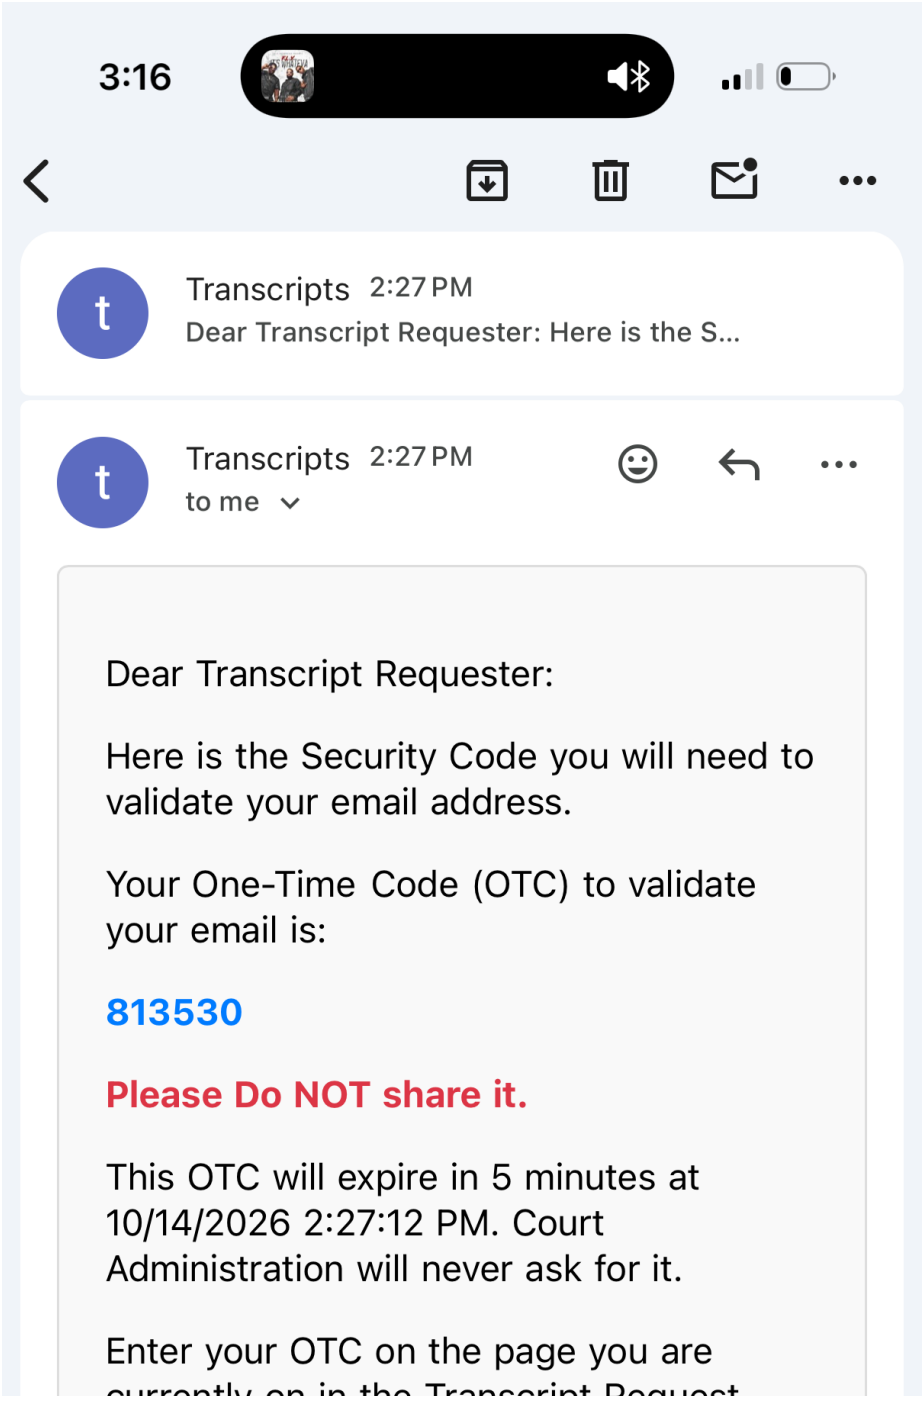
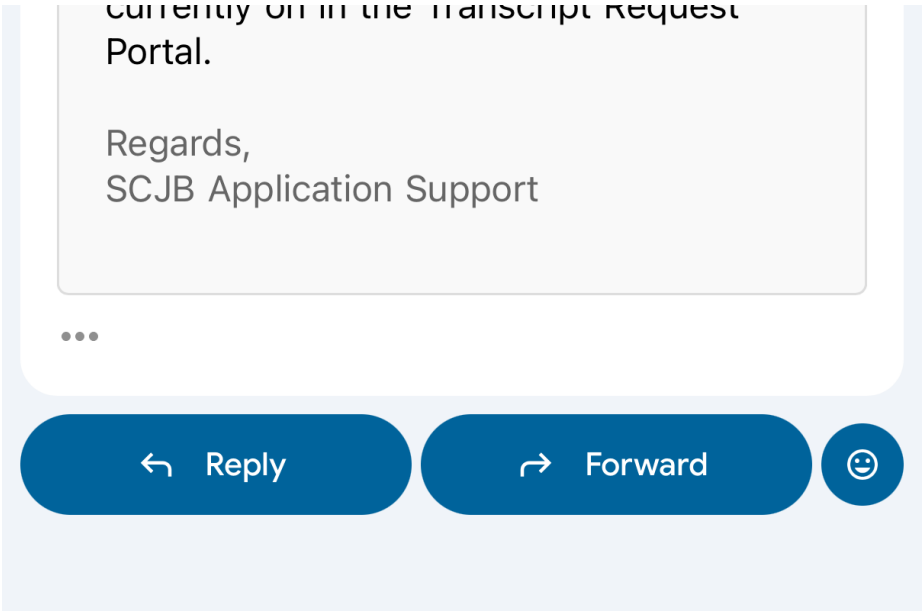
Good afternoon,

I





would like to provide one additional detail regarding my October 14, 2026 attempt to submit my transcript request.

During the process, the Transcript Portal prompted me to verify my email address. At approximately 2:27 p.m., I received an automated email from SCJB Application Support containing a one-time security code, which I entered into the portal as instructed.

I have attached a screenshot of that email to document this verification step.

I am providing this additional information to ensure that the steps I completed before encountering the previously described technical difficulty are accurately documented.

Thank you for your assistance.

Respectfully,

George Moses III

> I am a self-represented appellant in George Moses III v. Fort Clark Baptist Church, South Carolina Court of Appeals Case No. 2026-001736. I am attempting to order the transcript of a June 2, 2026 Circuit Court hearing in Kershaw County before Judge Christopher Taylor.

Today, October 14, I encountered the following issue:

1. I completed the Requester's Information section, including my name, contact information, self-represented status, and confirmation that I am a party to the case.
2. After selecting "Next," the portal presented transcript delivery options. I selected the 60-day turnaround and electronic PDF delivery.
3. I proceeded to a page containing an acknowledgment or agreement with a checkbox and an option to edit my information.
4. Before submitting, I selected "Edit" solely to update my mailing address following a recent move.
5. After correcting my address and selecting "Next," the portal redirected me to a "Transcript Information" section requesting a docket number, court type, county, case caption, proceeding dates, presiding judge, and opposing counsel information.

This was not the sequence presented during my initial attempt. I have been unable to return to the delivery-options and acknowledgment page to complete the request.

Please advise whether this is the expected process after editing requester information, whether my initial selections were retained, and what steps are necessary to complete the submission.

The Court of Appeals granted my motion for permission to order the transcript out of time on October 9, 2026, and directed me to order the transcript and report its status within ten days, by October 19, 2026.

Given this deadline, I would appreciate prompt guidance. I can provide screenshots of the portal screens if needed.

Thank you for your assistance.
