SC Court of Appeals

APPEAL FROM ADMINISTRATIVE LAW COURT

Administrative Law Judge, John D. McLeod

CASE NO. 13-ALS-04-0665-AP

S.C. Dept. of Corrections Respondent,

v.

Stefen E. Harris, #208563 Appellant.

MOTION TO SHOW APPELLANT IS UNABLE TO SUPPLEMENT THE ENTIRE RECORD AS REQUESTED

Now Comes, the Appellant, Stefen E. Harris, #208563 to show this Honorable Court that the respondent did not submit the entire record, as shown from the respondent's Letter to the A.L.C.. Respondent did not comply with Rule 58 or Rule 61.

Appellant served the Record on Appeal, as it pertained to the items that Appellant had access to, in respondent's Motion to Compel... 1.) a., b., the appellant did not have these documents, 1.) c., the order by the A.L.J. shouldn't the respondent have it in its record already; that's the only document, if needed to furnish, the appellant is able to supplement.

Appellant could not supply documents that he does not have; due to respondent's failure to provide them as required by the above cited rules.

WHEREFORE, should the Honorable Court require appellant to supplement the record, with the only document that appellant has at his disposal, the appellant will comply. On the otherhand should the Court not require the appellant to supplement the Record, the respondent should be procedurally barred and not permitted to file it's Final Brief. Since they did not meet the required time line for filing

Because they did not submit the entire record on appeal with the A.C.C. from the Final Decision. That's no fault of the Appellant.

Respectfully submitted,

PRO SE, APPELLANT
