Re: The State v. Lamar A. Graves
Appellate Case No. 2013-001873

Dear Mr. Graves:

By order dated March 3, 2014, the Court relieved Mr. Delaney as your attorney. Since you did not obtain new counsel within thirty days, you are presumed to be proceeding pro se.

You are the appellant and you are responsible for ordering and paying for the transcript. Rule 207(a)(1), SCACR. You have received several letters from this office concerning the transcript and the fact that the time for ordering it has passed. To continue your appeal, you must file a motion to order the transcript late. You must do this within fifteen (15) days of this letter. As part of the motion, you must demonstrate that you have contacted the court reporter and made arrangements to pay for the transcript. Failure to comply with these directions can lead to dismissal of your appeal.

Furthermore, we are returning your amended pro se brief without consideration due to the issue of the transcript having not been resolved as of yet.

Very truly yours,

V. Claire Allen, Deputy
