Wells Fargo Bank Respondent
v
Alice L Roseboro.....Appellant

Hindrance and Contempt of Court Motion and Affidavit

I appellant am filing a Hindrance of Contempt with the Appeals court from action
Done in bad faith at my home on April 2 2014, after 6pm by allege respondent name Above A lady and man pulled up in front of my home and it appears they were taking Several pictures of my house outside Then she parked in my driveway and a Older gentle came and knock at my door. I answered he proceeded to ask me if I was The owner and wanted my name I ask why? He stated the lender wanted to know if It was occupied, and said something about renting out my house He again ask my name
I refuse to tell him, I told him the lender already knows my name, my house is in a fraud Foreclosure in court He looked back at the lady in the car and ask me again for my name again and I told him the lender already knows my name He never gave me his name and I refused to give him mines. The respondent name above have no need to be questioning me pro se at my home It is my understanding that I filed a notice of appeal and this matter is pending before the court for the appeals judges to handle. I appellant hereby make Motion by way of Affidavit for the respondent to be held in contempt.

~~I am still waiting on my approval from my motion to proceed without cost before the court.~~ ^{was} Sending someone out to my home questioning me is harassment and a hindrance, the lender knows I am in a foreclosure action before the court and there is no need to be bulling me into thinking my home is about to be rented out I strongly object to the allege respondent above, tactics use to bully me are intimidate me. I have not been notified by the appeals court of any actions on this foreclosure matter.

The respondent above counterpart Wells Fargo Home Mortgage have sent me a letter out stating, they are going to put me in a default judgment again, since it is apparent they filed under the wrong bank over 3 yrs ago, and fraudulently removed my Nov 1st 2010 payment that cleared my bank posted for Nov 4 2010 on the Dec 1st 2010 statement And in violation of SCRPC 5(b)(3) on two Proposed Orders signed by both judges S Jackson Kimball III and Charles S Bradford Sept 20 2013 and Jan 23 2014 both denying me the right to comment on any proposed orders before being signed by the judge. I asked that the respondent be held in Contempt of court. My home is not for rent

The Vision & Values of Wells Fargo

By John G. Stumpf, Chairman, President & CEO

Documents such as Vision & Values are rare these days in corporate America. Most companies have them, of course, but few as long as we've had ours. Fewer have resisted fads and stayed faithful to their founding language. Only a handful have made measurable progress guided by the same values toward an unchanging vision not just for a year or two but almost two decades. Our progress has not been perfect. We learn just as much from failure (perhaps more) as we do from success. Companies are made up of human beings who make mistakes. When we make them we admit them, learn from them, then we keep moving forward with even more understanding, guided by the same values toward the same vision.

We first published our Vision & Values in the early 1990s as Wells Fargo's predecessor, Norwest Corporation. Our industry, our world and our company have changed a lot since then. We've grown from a network of small Midwestern banks into a national company with a global reputation. We're the product of hundreds of combinations. Tens of thousands of our team members today trace their heritage to our ancestor companies — from as large as Norwest, Wells Fargo, Wachovia, First Union, CoreStates Financial, SouthTrust, Golden West Financial, A.G. Edwards, First Interstate, Crocker Bank, United Banks of Colorado, First Security, Acordia and First United Bank Group to as small as Comfort Bancshares of Comfort, Texas, and Little Mountain Bancshares of Monticello, Minnesota. Big or small, each influenced and strengthened our culture. Each brought us new geographies or capabilities and inspiring stories, and then each found common cause in our Vision & Values.

As a result, we believe in our vision just as strongly — we embrace these values just as passionately — as we did the first time we put them on paper. Our vision, our values, our commitment to outstanding sales and service for every customer, our diversified business model, our relationship strategy, our belief in people as a competitive advantage, our goal of consistent, sustainable revenue growth — none of that has changed. In fact, our unchanging vision and values and our time-tested business model are, more than ever, a competitive advantage as our industry evolves and consolidates. If our vision and values continue to anchor us, then we believe solving every problem, seizing every opportunity, and making every decision consistent with our vision and values will guide us toward more growth and success not just this year but for decades to come.
