LETTER FOR REINSTATEMENT

In response to your Order dated October 30, 2014 denying appeal. Appellant at all times requested appointment of counsel and was denied. Appellant filed everything Court informed him too. Appellant is an indigent pro se inmate who knows very little of how to do properly the work of a professional attorney who spent many years studying law to pass the Bar exam. Appellant has done the best he can, and should not be held to the same standards as a professional attorney. Appellant has be addressed by the Court Clerk as counsel of which he is not.

At no time has the merits of appellants case been considered. Appellant's civil rights have been violated causing him to be locked down upon by other inmates as well as correctional officers and other staff members.

The fact that Appellant has to wear a sex offender label for the rest of his life, placing his life at a more dangerous setting than normal prison life.

Appellant filed all notices of appeal and knows nothing of any amended notice of appeal.

As for the party defendant matter; Appellant stated on page 13 of his response to summary judgment: S.C. Code § 15-78-70 In the event that the employee is individually named, the agency or political sub division for which the employee was acting must be substituted as the party defendant. S.C. Code § 15-78-70(c).

Appellant has misplaced copy of said Order and ask this honorable Court to please send another copy?
