Dear Counsel:

Thank you so much for your willingness to move this argument to accommodate Mr. Farthing. The purpose of this email is to confirm that the argument in the above-referenced appeal will be at 12:00 pm on March 3, 2015 in Courtroom II. Please don't hesitate to let us know if you have any questions or concerns. Thanks again!

Ms. Kitchings and Ms. Hackett,

My only conflict for March 3rd is my 10:00 a.m. argument in the Supreme Court. Barring extremely unusual and unlikely circumstances in the Supreme Court, I will be available for oral argument at 12:00 p.m. on March 3rd or at any other time or date convenient for the Court. Thank you very much, and please let me know if need anything else.

Sincerely,

Mark R. Farthing

Dear Ms. Hackett:

Good morning! Thank you so much for your email, and your willingness to accommodate Mr. Farthing. Would you both be available to simply move the argument in this case to 12:00 pm (noon) on March 3? We are hopeful that would give Mr. Farthing enough time to complete his argument at the Supreme Court. Please let me know if this works.

Thank you so much!

Ms. Kitchings,

Thank you for speaking with me earlier today regarding scheduling for Mr. Bash's case. Currently, the case is scheduled for argument on March 3. Mr. Farthing has a conflict that day and has asked for re-scheduling. I have checked my schedule for March 11, and I am free that day with no conflicts. I am happy to re-schedule Mr. Bash's oral argument to March 11. If my memory is incorrect regarding any of these details, please forgive me and advise me accordingly.

I look forward to hearing from you regarding the new date and time for Mr. Bash's oral argument.

Thank you,

Susan Barber Hackett
