ORDER

This matter is before the Court on Defendant Tietex International, Ltd.'s ("Tietex") Renewed Motion for Summary Judgment. After consideration of the record, argument of counsel, memoranda, and submissions made, the Court finds that Defendant's Renewed Motion for Summary Judgment should be and is therefore GRANTED.

I. RELEVANT PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff Gary G. Harris ("Harris") originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008—C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action"). Harris' First Action included a claim for violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), and various state law claims.¹ Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris's ADEA claim. After engaging in discovery in the First Action, Tietex moved for summary judgment on all of Harris' claims. On October 28, 2010, the Federal Court granted Tietex's motion on Harris' ADEA claims but chose not to address Harris' remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice. The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the District Court's decision.

¹ Harris' state law claims in the First Action included (1) breach of contract, (2) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (3) defamation (consisting of four separate allegations of defamation). All of Harris's claims in the First Action arose from allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action") on October 21, 2011. Harris' pro se Complaint asserted claims against Tietex for defamation and unspecified discrimination, relying on the same general facts alleged in the First Action.

On March 8, 2012, Harris' newly-employed counsel entered his appearance. On August 10, 2012, the Court granted Harris' motion to amend his Complaint. On September 5, 2012, Harris filed his Amended Complaint in the Second Action alleging identical claims to those alleged in the First Action (except his ADEA claim) and adding a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress ("outrage") based on the same facts.² As in the First Action, all of Harris' claims in the Second Action arose from allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

On May 3, 2013, Tietex moved for summary judgment in the second action asserting that (1) Tietex was entitled to summary judgment on the merits because Harris failed to identify a genuine dispute of material fact as to any of his claims; (2) Harris' claims were barred as a matter of law based on the conclusive findings by the Federal Court in the First Action; and (3) Harris' outrage and three new defamation claims were barred by the statutes of limitation and the doctrine of res judicata. Harris opposed Tietex's motion, arguing in his brief and during the hearing that summary judgment was premature based on his inability to fully conduct discovery at that time.

On September 23, 2013, the Court denied Tietex's motion for summary judgment. The September 23, 2013, Order focused on Tietex's collateral estoppel argument did not rule on the merits or address Tietex's arguments that Harris' outrage and new defamation claims were barred by the statute of limitations and res judicata. The September 23, 2013, Order also permitted Harris to engage in additional discovery, specifically including the depositions of two Tietex executives. Other than a site visit to Tietex's facility, Harris did not engage in any discovery after the September 23, 2013, Order was entered.

On January 27, 2014, Tietex filed its Renewed Motion for Summary Judgment and supporting memorandum. On February 6, 2014, the Court heard Tietex's Renewed Motion for Summary Judgment. On the record during the February 6, 2014 hearing, Harris voluntarily withdrew his claims for (1) breach of contract, (2) breach of contract accompanied by fraudulent act, and (3) outrage, leaving only his defamation claims before the Court.

Having considered the record, argument of counsel, memoranda, and submissions made, the Court finds this case to be ripe for summary judgment.

II. FINDINGS OF FACT³

Harris began working at Tietex on July 13, 1994, as a Senior Research Chemist. (Harris Dep. 1 at 58-60, Exs. 6-7; Harris Dep. 2 at 140, Ex. 7.) Harris' normal working hours were 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., but he claims he was often at work by 6:00 or 6:30 a.m. and stayed later than 5:00 p.m. (Harris Dep. 1 at 74-75.) On occasion, Harris stayed until 8:00, 9:00, or 10:00 at night. (Id. at 77.) Harris admits that he was told by his supervisor, Wade Wallace, not to work in the plant for safety reasons when it was not operating. (Id. at 124.) Wallace told Harris he could work in the plant anytime the plant was operational, and he could come into the facility to do office work when the plant was down. (Id. at 123-24.) Harris admittedly ignored these directives due to his own opinion that it was safe for him to work with chemicals when the plant was not operating. (Id. at 75-76, 124.) While his erratic hours had been acceptable to his previous supervisor, they were not acceptable to Wallace, and Harris admits this was a new directive under Wallace's supervision. (Id. at 125.) Harris admits he was the only employee who did lab work after hours. (Id. at 126-27.)

There are four sections in the technical building at Tietex: an office area; wet lab; physical testing; and an extension of the wet lab for chemists' work, with a burn room. (Id. at 86.) Harris' former supervisor, Jake Butts, had difficulty keeping track of Harris due to Harris' erratic work hours, so Butts relocated his office from the plant to the office areas of the technical building (the lab—where Harris' office was situated) in order to more closely supervise Harris. (Id. at 83, 86.)

Soon after Butts relocated his office, Harris claimed he noticed a mold smell and had symptoms of congestion, sinus headache, and flu. (Id. at 87.) Harris does not recall anyone else complaining about the alleged smell. (Id. at 88.) Harris claimed that the smell originated from Butts' clothing and the furniture Butts moved into his relocated office. (Id. at 93-94.) After some time and several visits to doctors, Harris contended that the smell was the source of his illness due to a mold allergy. (Id. at 88-89.) Harris reported his belief to Butts. (Id.)

Based on Harris' allegation that mold in the lab was making him ill, Tietex hired a hygienist to perform testing. (Id. at 89.) The hygienist reported there was no mold contamination in the lab and the air in the lab was cleaner than the outside air. (Id. at 91.) Although Harris claims the testing was flawed, he admits he has no evidence of that. (Id. at 89-92.) Harris does not know who performed the testing or what kind of testing was performed. (Id.) Harris admits he has no first-hand knowledge of how the testing was conducted. (Id. at 90-91.) Harris' only specific complaint about the testing was that it tested all four sections of the lab rather than focusing solely on the office area. (Id. at 92.)

At some time in late 2006, Harris established a second office in the main plant. (Id. at 87-88.) Harris continued to do work in the lab until February 2007. (Id. at 87.) Effective February 1, 2007, Harris was removed from Butts' supervision and placed under the supervision of Wallace, in part due to Harris' continued complaints about the odor associated with Butts. (Id. at 101.)

Between February 2 and 5, Harris and Wallace discussed by e-mail whether Harris would be able to continue working in the lab because of Harris' continued complaints about the mold smell. (Id. at 94, Ex. 12.) Wallace agreed that Tietex would do whatever was necessary to shield Harris from any further exposure to an environment that might negatively impact his health. (Id. at 95, Ex. 12.) Wallace instructed Harris to wear a mask when he worked in the lab. (Id. at Ex. 12.) However, Harris decided the mask would not give him enough protection. (Id. at Ex. 12.) Wallace then told Harris not to enter the lab under any circumstances. (Id. at 101, Ex. 12.) Thereafter, Harris asked if he could work in the lab if he signed a waiver. (Id. at 122-23, Ex. 17.) Tietex rejected the waiver stating that a waiver was "unacceptable from an HR/liability perspective since [Tietex] would be allowing [Harris] to come in contact with an environment that might negatively affect [his] health." (Id.)

Tietex purchased equipment to accommodate Harris' needs outside of the lab. (Id. at 112-13, Ex. 14.) Tietex provided Harris with an alternative work area because Tietex wanted to protect Harris' health. (Id. at Ex. 12.) Harris has no contradictory evidence. (Id. at 123.)

On February 7, 2007, Harris told Wallace he was overwhelmed by personal and emotional problems that had occurred in his personal life over the past year, and he was having difficulty functioning. (Id. at Ex. 13.) Harris admits (1) his wife was ill during this time period, (Id. at 106); (2) dealing with his wife's illness left him stressed with major sleep disturbances, (id. at 106-07, 111, Exs. 14, 44); and (3) he was a "wreck" because of his wife's illness (id. at 107 & Ex. 44). Wallace told Harris that Tietex "would support him if he felt he needed to utilize EAP," but Harris stated that was not necessary. (Id. at 111, Ex. 13.)

On February 22, 2007, Harris left voice mail messages for Wallace and Tietex's Owner, Martin Wildeman, at 3:00 a.m. complaining about his inability to sleep and about unspecified work-related issues. (Id. at 81, Ex. 14.) Harris expressed concern about being moved from the lab and that he was "still not set up to easily do his bench work." (Id. at Ex. 14.) Harris asked for a lab pad coater and a vented hood. (Id.) Wallace stated that it would take time to locate, acquire, and install the equipment; however, Harris could use the equipment in the beam/dye area, and/or coordinate to use Robert Culbreth (a chemical technician) to perform work for him in the lab in the meantime. (Id. at 111-13, Ex. 14.) Harris believes Tietex was motivated to keep him out of the laboratory to avoid liability for any health problems he might experience rather than out of a real concern for his health." (Id. at 123.) Harris never asserted Tietex was motivated to keep him out of the lab because of any unlawful reason. (Id.)

Harris admits he complained about being required to stay involved with environmental reporting and stated he was concerned about completing an environmental report that was due on March 1, given his other projects. (Id. at 113, Ex. 15.) Wallace saw no reason that Harris' projects would interfere with his ability to get the report done on time and made this clear to Harris. (Id.) Harris admits it was reasonable for Wallace to expect him to complete the environmental report on time. (Id. at 113.)

Wallace also asked Harris to come to him directly with issues before going to Wildeman. (Id. at Ex. 14; Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 23.) Harris admits that, at times, he went directly to Wildeman rather than using the chain of command. (Harris Dep. 1 at 116.) Harris admits it was inappropriate for him to complain to Wildeman about having to do the environmental reporting. (Id. at 115.)

On March 5, 2007, Wallace discussed several issues with Harris regarding his performance and documented the discussion at Harris' request in a memorandum to Human Resources Director David Wilson, with a copy to Vice President of Manufacturing (Mark Isbell) and Harris. (Id. at 117-18, Ex. 16.) Wallace noted that Harris made emotional and overly vocal accusations and statements without supporting research or data, was not honoring the chain of command, harbored grudges over past grievances and toward the management in general, and complained about ownership of environmental reporting duties. (Id. at Ex. 16.) The memorandum concluded with the statement, "As we discussed these issues are not sustainable and it is mandatory that Harris make significant progress towards resolving these issues within the next 30 days." (Id. at 120-21, Ex. 16.)

At the time, Harris did not protest any of the points in the March 5, 2007, memorandum or claim that Wallace's observations were not true. (Id. at 122.) Harris admits he was experiencing emotional stress (id. at 106-07, 111 & Exs. 14, 44), circumvented Wallace by going directly to Wildeman (id. at 116), and complained about environmental reporting tasks (id. at 113). Harris does not deny he harbored grudges, and admits he had unresolved issues that existed before he began reporting to Wallace and had discussed those issues with Wallace. (Id. at 119-20.)

On June 18, 2007, Wallace had another discussion with Harris regarding his subpar performance. Wallace documented the discussion in a memorandum to Harris, with a copy to Wilson and Isbell. (Id. at 128, Ex. 18.) The discussion focused on two projects for which Harris was responsible. (Id. at 130, Ex. 18.) The first was the development and qualification of a Tietex coating compound ("C237 Project"). (Id. at 129, Ex. 18.) The second was the development of a finish formula and process ("T602 Project"). (Id. at 129-30.)

Harris had been working on the C237 Project for about six months. (Id. at 131, Ex. 18.) Harris had predicted the C237 Project would result in significant cost savings for Tietex. (Id. at 131-32, Ex. 18.) Harris claimed he had a successful trial before he began reporting to Wallace. (Id. at 132.) Despite Harris' characterization of the compound he created as a success, it was unacceptable to Tietex because it was much more complicated to produce commercially than Harris had initially promised. (Id. at Ex. 16.) In February, Wallace began working separately on a parallel C237 Project because it appeared Harris would fail to achieve the cost savings he had predicted. (Id. at 134, Exs. 16, 18.)

Because of the expense, a plant production trial is only done if laboratory production is successful. (Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 28.) Harris told Wallace the lab samples for the 1602 project were promising, and Harris recommended a production trial. (Harris Dep. 1 at 135.) According to Harris, the first plant production trial showed mixed results with some samples that were "not good," but others that were "comparable," depending on the amount of finish. (Id. at 136.) However, Harris told Wallace that, based on the results, another plant production trial was warranted. (Id. at 137, Ex. 18.) On Harris' recommendation, a second plant production trial was performed, which was unsuccessful. (Id. at 137, 295, Ex. 18.) A third trial was similarly unsuccessful. (Id. at 137-38, 295, Ex. 18.) When the second and third trials failed, Wallace reviewed the results of the first plant production trial himself. (Id. at Ex. 18; Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 29-31.) Wallace saw "that the results of the first trial had not been as [Harris] portrayed them, so the second and third trials were unwarranted based on the results of the first." (Id.)

Wallace's June 18, 2007 memorandum cited Harris for his poor analytical practices and instructed him to improve his performance within 30 days. (Harris Dep. 1 at 141, Ex. 18.) Harris considered this his final written warning. (Id. at 139, Ex. 18.)

Despite being told and understanding that his job was in jeopardy if his performance failed to improve, Harris made insufficient effort to complete the C237 project. (Id. at Ex. 19.) Instead, Harris began taking multiple days of vacation immediately after being given the warning on June 18. (Id. at 145-48.) These vacation days were frequently taken on short notice. (Id. at 145-46, Ex. 20.) Sometimes, Harris waited until the day before to notify Wallace. (Id.) Other than the environmental reporting, Wallace did not see that Harris improved on any of the issues cited in the March 5, 2007 memorandum. (Id. at Ex. 19.) Gate records and management observation showed that Harris continued to ignore the directive not to work in the chemical lab areas at nights or on the weekends. (Id. at Ex. 19.) The same records showed inconsistent work hours and erratic patterns of entry and exit to and from the facility. (Id.) Harris' co-workers complained that he did not return calls or e-mails consistently, disrupting their work patterns. (Id. at Ex. 19.)

Harris was scheduled to fly to Indiana on June 14 to visit a customer and return on June 15. (Id. at 148-149, Ex. 19.) After flying the first leg of his trip, Harris turned around and came home because he had a headache. (Id.) Harris never told Wallace he had not met with the customer in Indiana. (Id. at Ex. 19.)

On the evening of Monday, July 2, after work, Harris left a voicemail message for Wallace telling him he had an ant infestation at his house. (Id. at 151-52.) Harris said he would take care of the ants first thing the following morning and then go to Hexion, a chemical facility, to work on a project. (Id.) Since Harris left this message after work hours, Wallace did not hear the message until the morning of Tuesday, July 3, 2007. (Id. at 151-52, Ex. 19; Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 38.)

Harris purchased pesticide chemicals at Lowe's on the morning of July 3, at approximately 7:30 a.m. (Harris Dep. 1 at 251.) Harris called Wallace and left a voicemail message around 9:00 a.m., saying he had resolved the ant problem and was going to work at Hexion. (Wallace Dep. 1 at Ex. 1 ¶ 39.) Harris did not arrive at Hexion until 1:30 p.m. (Harris Dep. 1 at 154 & Ex. 21.) Harris could not enter Hexion because he could not contact anyone he knew there to gain entry. (Id. at 152-53, 155-56.) Harris left without performing any work. (Id.) There are no witnesses to establish how long Harris was allegedly at Hexion. (Id. at 157.) Harris is vague about how long he was at Hexion trying to get in—he estimates he was there between thirty and ninety minutes. (Id. at 157-58.)

Harris claims that after leaving Hexion, he drove around for 30 to 45 minutes looking for Chemurgy, another chemical facility. (Id. at 159-60.) When Harris located Chemurgy, no one was there, so he did not stay. (Id.)

Harris did not call Wallace to tell him about being unable to get in at Hexion or about his intent to go to Chemurgy. (Id. at 160.) Harris admits it would have been reasonable for him to call Wallace and tell him his plans had changed. (Id. at 165.) Harris understood he needed to let Wallace know his whereabouts, to let him know when he was away from the plant, and to keep his cell phone on so he could be reached. (Id. at 117.) Harris acknowledges it was reasonable for his supervisor to expect to be informed of his whereabouts “at all times.” (Id. at 117.)

The purpose of Harris’ intended visit to Hexion was to procure sulfuric acid. (Id. at 160-61.) Harris contends he told a Hexion employee to get the acid together so Harris could pick it up “at the guard house or something.” (Id. at 160.) Harris never accomplished this task. (Id.)

During the afternoon of July 3, George Henderson, a Hexion employee, brought the sulfuric acid Harris needed to Tietex. (Id. at 160.) Wallace was confused, as Harris was supposed to be at Hexion. Wallace called Henderson and asked if he had seen Harris that day, but Henderson had not. (Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 42-43.) Henderson said he had a voicemail from Harris saying he needed some sulfuric acid urgently because he was planning to do some work on July 4. (Id.) Wallace was troubled because Harris was not where he said he would be and it appeared Harris planned to work with chemicals in the lab on a day the plant was supposed to be closed. (Id.)

Harris admits Wallace had no idea what Harris was doing on July 3, or even if Harris was working. (Harris Dep. 1 at 164-65.) Harris claims Wallace called him on his cell phone between 4:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. and asked where he had been. (Id. at 162.) Harris told Wallace he had been at Hexion. (Id.) Wallace told Harris that Henderson had been to Tietex and said that Harris had not been at Hexion that day. (Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 44.) Harris then admitted he had gone to Hexion, but had been unable to get in or find anyone, so he left. (Id.) Harris could not give Wallace an adequate explanation of his whereabouts for the day. (Harris Dep. 1 at 158-59, Ex. 19; Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 44, 47-48.)

Wallace told Harris he was suspended until Wallace returned from vacation. (Harris Dep. 1 at 165.) During the phone call, Harris and Wallace were disconnected, and Wallace could not reach Harris again by telephone. (Id. at 165-66; Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 45.) Wallace believed Harris had hung up on him, although Harris denies it. (Id.) Wallace talked to Wilson about what transpired, and a voicemail message was left for Harris reiterating that he was suspended with pay and should not return to work until contacted by Tietex. (Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 45.)

Wallace conducted an investigation of the events of July 3 when he returned from vacation. (Id. at ¶ 47.) Wallace could not verify Harris' whereabouts for most of the hours between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on July 3. (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.) Wallace recommended the termination of Harris' employment, and the decision to do so was made by Wallace, Wilson, Wildeman, Cunningham, and Isbell. (Wallace Dep. 2 at Ex. 1 ¶ 49.) Harris was told he was not being terminated for one specific deficiency, but for many shortcomings that “added up,” including the issues Wallace had addressed with him in the March 5, 2007 memorandum. (Harris Dep. 1 at 142, Ex. 16.) These issues were also documented in a memorandum dated July 18, 2007. (Id. at Ex. 19.) Harris’ employment was terminated on July 19, 2007. (Id. at 167, Ex. 22.) Harris admits his employment was terminated for unsatisfactory performance. (Id.)

III. SUMMARY JUDGMENT STANDARD

“The purpose of summary judgment is to expedite disposition of cases which do not require the services of a fact finder.” D.R. Horton, Inc. v. Wescott Land Co., 398 S.C. 528, 541, 730 S.E.2d 340, 347 (Ct. App. 2012) (citations omitted). Summary judgment “shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” Rule 56(c), SCRPC. An issue of fact is “genuine” when the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). “In determining whether any triable issues of fact exist, the evidence and all reasonable inferences therefrom must be viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party.” D.R. Horton, 398 S.C. at 541, 730 S.E.2d at 347.

The moving party has the initial burden of demonstrating the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. Baughman v. AT&T, 306 S.C. 101, 115, 410 S.E.2d 537, 545 (1991). The moving party may discharge this responsibility “by pointing out to the trial court that there is an absence of evidence to support the nonmoving party’s case, and it is not necessary for the moving party to support its motion with affidavits or other similar materials negating the opponent’s claim.” D.R. Horton, 398 S.C. at 542, 730 S.E.2d at 347. “Once the moving party carries its initial burden, the opposing party must do more than rest upon the mere allegations or denials of his pleadings.” Id. (citing inter alia Rule 56(e), SCRCP). “[T]he nonmoving party must do more than ‘simply show that there is a metaphysical doubt as to the material facts but must come forward with specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.’” Russell v. Wachovia Bank, N.A., 353 S.C. 208, 220, 578 S.E.2d 329, 335 (2003) (quoting Baughman, 306 S.C. at 107, 410 S.E.2d at 545).

“Where a verdict is not ‘reasonably possible’ under the facts presented, summary judgment is proper.” Id. (quoting Bloom v. Ravoir, 339 S.C. 417, 529 S.E.2d 710 (2000)) (emphasis in original). While a party opposing summary judgment “‘is only required to submit a mere scintilla of evidence’” to withstand the motion, Savannah Bank, N.A. v. Stalliard, 400 S.C. 246, 250, 734 S.E.2d 161, 163 (2012) (quoting Hancock v. Mid-South Mgmt. Co., 381 S.C. 326, 330, 673 S.E.2d 801, 803 (2009)), Harris has failed to present any evidence demonstrating the presence of a genuine issue for trial. Accordingly, “[t]his case illustrates well the utility of summary judgment in disposing of a meritless claim.” Cox & Floyd Grading, Inc. v. Kajima ConsDep. Svcs., Inc., 356 S.C. 512, 517, 589 S.E.2d 789, 792 (Ct. App. 2003).

IV. ANALYSIS

A. Defamation.

Harris must “prove the following four elements to state a claim for defamation: ‘(1) a false and defamatory statement was made; (2) the unprivileged publication was made to a third party; (3) the publisher was at fault; and (4) either actionability of the statement irrespective of special harm or the existence of special harm caused by the publication.’” Fountain v. First Reliance Bank, 398 S.C. 434, 441, 730 S.E.2d 305, 309 (2012) (quoting Erickson v. Jones St. Publishers, L.L.C., 368 S.C. 444, 465, 629 S.E.2d 653, 664 (2006)).

The truth of an alleged defamatory statement “is a complete defense to an action based on defamation and evidence establishing a statement is substantially true is a sufficient defense.”

Haulbrooks v. Overton, 295 S.C. 380, 383, 368 S.E.2d 676, 679 (Ct. App. 1988) (citing Ross v. Columbia Newspapers, Inc., 266 S.C. 75, 221 S.E.2d 770 (1976)). "It is not necessary to establish the literal truth of the precise statement made." Restatement (Second) of Torts § 581A (1977).

"One who publishes defamatory matter concerning another is not liable for the publication if (1) the matter is published upon an occasion that makes it conditionally privileged, and (2) the privilege is not abused." Fountain, 398 S.C. at 444, 730 S.E.2d at 310 (citing Swinton Creek Nursery v. Edisto Farm Credit, ACA, 334 S.C. 469, 484, 514 S.E.2d 126, 134 (1999)). "The essential elements of a conditionally privileged communication may be enumerated as good faith, an interest to be upheld, a statement limited in its scope to this purpose, a proper occasion, and publication in a proper manner and to proper parties only." Id. (quoting Manley v. Manley, 291 S.C. 325, 331, 353 S.E.2d 32, 315 (Ct. App. 1987)). "There is a basis for applying a qualified privilege to situations in which an employee's job performance is properly evaluated." Wright v. Sparrow, 298 S.C. 469, 474, 381 S.E.2d 503, 506 (Ct. App. 1989); see also Bell v. Bank of Abbeville, 211 S.C. 167, 44 S.E.2d 328 (1947) (attaching a qualified privilege to communications between an employer and employee during the employer's inquiry into the employee's alleged misconduct).

"Where the occasion gives rise to a qualified privilege, there is a prima facie presumption to rebut the inference of malice, and the burden is on the plaintiff to show actual malice or that the scope of the privilege has been exceeded." Swinton Creek Nursery, 334 S.C. at 484-85, 514 S.E.2d at 134. To prove actual malice, Harris must show that Tietex was activated by ill will, intending to causelessly and wantonly injure Harris, or that the statements were published with such recklessness as to show a conscious disregard for Harris' rights. Id. at 485, 514 S.E.2d at 134.

Whether an occasion gives rise to a qualified privilege is a question of law for the court. Id. “While abuse of privilege is ordinarily an issue for the jury, . . . in the absence of a controversy as to the facts . . . it is for the court to say in a given instance whether or not the privilege has been abused or exceeded.” Fountain, 398 S.C. at 444, 730 S.E.2d at 310 (quoting Woodward v. S.C. Farm Bureau Ins. Co., 297 S.C. 29, 32-33, 292 S.E.2d 599, 601 (1981)) (emphasis in original); see also Restatement (Second) of Torts § 619, cmt. b (court decides if privilege has been abused where only one conclusion can reasonably be drawn).

While Harris’ Amended Complaint includes only one cause of action for defamation, he has identified seven separate allegedly defamatory statements or incidents on which he is attempting to rely. (Harris Dep. 2 at 27-30.) Separate allegations of defamation are analyzed as independent claims. See, e.g., George v. Fabri, 345 S.C. 440, 456-61, 548 S.E.2d 868, 876-79 (2001) (analyzing defamation allegations separately in affirming grant of summary judgment); McBride v. School Dist. of Greenville County, 389 S.C. 546, 559-63, 698 S.E.2d 845, 851-54 (Ct. App. 2010) (analyzing alleged defamatory statements individually).

The first four of Harris’ claims are internal Tietex e-mails and memoranda discussing Harris’ work performance. Even interpreting the facts in the light most favorable to Harris, the record shows that each of these communications was substantially true. This is an absolute defense to defamation, rendering summary judgment proper on these claims. Haulbrooks, 295 S.C. at 383, 368 S.E.2d at 679 (citing Ross, 266 S.C. 75, 221 S.E.2d 770). As internal, performance-related communications, these four communications also give rise to a qualified privilege. See Wright, 298 S.C. at 474, 381 S.E.2d at 506; see also Bell, 211 S.C. 167, 44 S.E.2d 328. Harris has not produced any evidence to support a finding of actual malice or other abuse of the qualified privilege. The qualified privilege thus stands as a matter of law, and Tietex is entitled to summary judgment. Fountain, 398 S.C. at 444, 730 S.E.2d at 310 (citing Woodward, 297 S.C. at 32-33, 292 S.E.2d at 601).

The statements on which Harris relies in support of his fifth, sixth, and seventh defamation claims are less clear. Given the ill-defined nature of the alleged defamatory statements and the lack of evidence to support these claims, Harris has failed to create a triable issue of fact.

Harris has failed to produce evidence sufficient to overcome Tietex's motion for summary judgment on any of his seven defamation claims. The Court will now examine each of Harris' seven defamation claims more fully.

1. February 9, 2007 E-mail from Wallace to Wilson.

Harris' first defamation claim is based on a February 9, 2007 e-mail that his supervisor Wade Wallace sent to Human Resources Director David Wilson with a copy to Wallace's supervisor, Mark Isbell. (Harris Dep. 2 at 27-28, Ex. 13.) In this internal e-mail between managerial employees at Tietex, Wallace summarized a discussion he had with Harris two days earlier regarding personal and emotional problems Harris was experiencing that were impacting his performance. (Harris Dep. 2 at Ex. 13.) Harris claims this e-mail was defamatory because he alleges that it was false and that it "showed a definite disregard for [his] stability mentally and that kind of thing." (Id. at 27.)

This defamation claim fails because the content of the February 9 e-mail was substantially true. Harris admitted as much on more than one occasion—during his unemployment hearing (id. at 38), and during his deposition in the First Action (id. at 34-37).

The February 9 e-mail also gives rise to a qualified privilege, and Harris has not presented any evidence showing that Wallace acted with actual malice. In fact, Harris admitted he has no evidence of malice on Wallace's part, stating he did not think Wallace was trying to "get rid of him" and has no idea about Wallace's motivation. (Harris Dep. 1 at 196, 337-38.)

The sole allegations of malice in Amended Complaint surround a contention that Tietex engaged in a conspiratorial campaign to "put forward false and defamatory reasons for the termination of [Harris] to achieve ulterior objectives"—namely, the alleged objective "to replace [Harris] with a much younger woman with whom Mr. Isbell [allegedly] had an ongoing personal relationship." (Am. Compl. at ¶¶ 14-15, 23-25.) This is merely an attempt to re-litigate the issues underlying his age discrimination claim in the First Action. Among other findings in its Orders in the First Action, the Federal Court specifically concluded (1) Tietex did not discriminate against Harris based on his age, (2) Harris was not meeting Tietex's legitimate expectations at the time of his termination, and (3) Tietex did not replace Harris with a younger employee. As such, all allegations in the Amended Complaint that could support a finding of malice are precluded under the doctrine of collateral estoppel.

The undisputed facts also demonstrate Wallace did not exceed the scope of the privilege. Wallace's e-mail recounted his conversation with Harris to his own supervisor and Tietex's Human Resources Manager—both of whom Harris admits "had legitimate business need to know about and discuss" the issues in the e-mail. (Harris Dep. 2 at 55-56.)

2. March 5, 2007 Memorandum from Wallace to Wilson.

Harris' second defamation claim focuses on the March 5, 2007, memorandum Wallace sent to Wilson with copies to Isbell and Harris. (Harris Dep. 2 at 28, Ex. 16.) Like the February 9 e-mail, this memorandum documented a performance-related discussion Wallace had with Harris. (Id. at Ex. 16.) Harris admits that Wallace only generated the March 5 memorandum because Harris requested that he do so. (Id. at 60.)

This memorandum is not actionable as defamation because Harris has admitted that each of the points Wallace made in the memorandum was substantially true. (Harris Dep. 1 at 106-07, 111, 113, 116, 119-20.) As with the February 9 e-mail, this memorandum is also entitled to a qualified privilege. Harris has not produced any evidence to show that Wallace acted with actual malice in drafting the memorandum (particularly since Harris himself specifically requested that Wallace prepare it) or that Wallace exceeded the scope of the privilege.

3. June 18, 2007 Memorandum from Wallace to Harris.

Harris' third defamation claim relates to the June 18, 2007 memorandum Wallace provided to Harris, with copies to Wilson and Isbell, which Harris has described as his "final written warning." (Harris Dep. 2 at 28, Ex. 18.) The June 18 memorandum focuses exclusively on Harris' performance issues with respect to the C237 and T602 projects.

Harris' own testimony precludes a finding that the June 18 memorandum was false and defamatory, as he admits the statements in the memorandum are substantially true.⁴ Harris admits he had been working on the C237 project for six months and projected significant savings for Tietex. (Harris Dep. 1 at 131-32, Ex. 18.) Although Harris claims he had a successful trial before reporting to Wallace, he admits the direction of the project shifted. (Harris Dep. 1 at 132.) Tietex was convinced Harris' compound was too complicated to produce commercially, and, therefore, unacceptable. (Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 18.) Harris admits that Wallace began working separately on a parallel C237 project in February. (Harris Dep. 1 at 134, Ex. 18.) Harris admits his compound was never used by Tietex. (Harris Dep. 1 at 134.) Harris admits the first trial of the T602 project was not completely successful, with mixed results, but he recommended a production trial anyway. (Harris Dep. 1 at 135-37, Ex. 18.) Harris admits the two subsequent trials, run on his recommendation, were unsuccessful. (Harris Dep. 1 at 137-38, Ex. 18.) The June 18 memorandum is substantially true, according to Harris' own testimony.

As an internal memorandum addressing employee performance, the June 18 memorandum was subject to a qualified privilege. Harris has produced no evidence of actual malice or other abuse of the privilege, as Wallace prepared and distributed the June 18 memorandum to a small group of Tietex managers who needed to be aware of the issues discussed therein.

4. July 18, 2007 Memorandum from Wallace to Harris.

The final specific statement on which Harris relies in making his defamation claim is the July 18, 2007 memorandum from Wallace to Wilson (with a copy to Isbell) in which Wallace summarized Harris' performance issues and recommended the termination of Harris' employment. (Harris Dep. 2 at 28-29, Ex. 19.) This claim fails for reasons similar to Harris' first three defamation claims.

The summary of Harris' performance deficiencies in the July 18 memorandum is substantially true based on Harris' own testimony. (Harris Dep. 1 at 106-07, 111, 113, 116-17, 119-20, 131-32, 134-38, 145-49, 151-60, 165; see also Section II supra.) An internal memorandum from an employee's supervisor to Human Resources recommending the employee's termination based on performance issues is entitled to a qualified privilege. There is no evidence in the record to support a finding that Wallace acted with actual malice in publishing the memorandum. Harris acknowledges that Wallace did not exceed the scope of the privilege or act unreasonably in providing the memorandum to Wilson and Isbell, as he admits that both Wilson and Isbell "would have had a need to know" about the subject matter of the memorandum. (Harris Dep. 2 at 100.)

5. Rumors in the Industry.

Harris' fifth defamation claim surrounds his contention that there were "rumors in the industry that [he] w[as] terminated from Tietex for falsifying a test report." (Harris Dep. 2 at 29.) However, Harris never identified an actual statement that Tietex made with respect to these "rumors." Rather, Harris simply contended that he spoke to two former Tietex employees who allegedly informed him that they had heard about rumors being spread about him. (Id. at 114-24.) Harris never even alleged that Tietex was the actual source of these alleged rumors, and he never produced a witness to testify about what Tietex supposedly said. In the absence of any such allegations or testimony, this defamation claim cannot overcome Tietex's motion for summary judgment. Rule 56(e), SCRCP, requires that a party desiring to oppose summary judgment with testimony must "set forth such facts as would be admissible in evidence." Harris' claim regarding "rumors in the industry" is based on inadmissible hearsay. Accordingly, Harris cannot establish there was a statement or that Tietex published the statement, let alone prove the remaining elements of this claim.

6. Harris' July 2007 Suspension with Full Pay.

Harris' sixth defamation claim alleges that Tietex defamed him by suspending his employment—with full pay and benefits—in July 2007. (Harris Dep. 2 at 29.) The only statements Harris identified with respect to this claim are (1) Wallace's telephone call to Harris in which he informed Harris of the suspension, and (2) Wallace allegedly informing an individual at another company, Textile Rubber, that Harris was suspended. (Id. at 124-30.)

With respect to the telephone call between Wallace and Harris, there was no publication to a third party, as Harris admits that they were the only parties on the call. (Id. at 126-27.) Regarding Wallace's alleged statement to the Textile Rubber employee, Harris relies on inadmissible hearsay. Beyond being unable to specify any details about the alleged statement,

Harris admits that “[t]he only information [he] h[as] is like second hand what George Henderson told [him].” (Id. at 129.) Thus, Harris cannot establish that any statement was published for the purposes of this motion. Even assuming Wallace had informed this individual Harris was suspended, that statement is wholly true and cannot be defamatory as a matter of law.

7. Harris’ February 2007 Ban from the Laboratory.

Finally, Harris contends that being “banned from going to the laboratory building” in February 2007 was defamatory. (Harris Dep. 2 at 29-30.) The only “statement” the Court can infer from this allegation is when Wallace told Harris “not to enter the lab under any circumstances.” (Harris Dep. 1 at 101, Ex. 12.) While Wallace did make that statement, the Court is unable to determine how it could be defamatory with respect to Harris.

First, the statement was not about Harris—it was a work directive. Second, Wallace made that statement, and Tietex prohibited Harris from entering the lab, after Harris complained that the work conditions in the lab were detrimentally impacting his health. (Id. at 87-94, Ex. 12.) Tietex and Harris jointly attempted to find a solution that would have allowed Harris to continue working in the lab without harming his health, but they were unable to do so. (Id.) After “banning” Harris from the lab, Harris admits Tietex made special purchases of equipment to allow him to set up a work area in a different location that would be better for his health. (Id. at 111-13, Ex. 14.) These circumstances do not support any allegation of defamation.

B. Collateral Estoppel.

Placing aside the absence of any genuine dispute as to the material facts in this matter, the doctrine of collateral estoppel is fatal to Harris’ claims. “Collateral estoppel, also known as issue preclusion, prevents a party from relitigating an issue that was decided in a previous action, regardless of whether the claims in the first and subsequent lawsuits were the same.” Carolina

Renewal, Inc. v. S.C. Dep't of Transp., 385 S.C. 550, 554, 684 S.E.2d 779, 782 (Ct. App. 2009) (citing Judy v. Judy, 383 S.C. 1, 7, 677 S.E.2d 213, 217 (Ct. App. 2009)).

"The party asserting collateral estoppel must demonstrate that the issue in the present lawsuit was: (1) actually litigated in the prior action; (2) directly determined in the prior action; and (3) necessary to support the prior judgment." Id. (citing Beall v. Doe, 281 S.C. 363, 369 n.1, 315 S.E.2d 186, 189-90 n.1 (Ct. App. 1984)). Tietex has met its burden to establish the presence of these elements.

Harris' claims in the First Action and his claims in this matter all rely on the same factual allegations—his contentions (a) that he was performing his job at Tietex at a level that met Tietex's legitimate expectations; (b) that the internal memoranda describing his performance deficiencies were false and defamatory; (c) that Tietex did not have a legitimate reason for terminating his employment; and (d) that Tietex's stated reason for terminating his employment was pretextual. However, the Federal Court considered all of these factual allegations in the First Action and made factual findings and conclusions that directly contradict Harris' version of the facts.

The Federal Court's findings and conclusions were necessary and relevant for its determination of Harris' ADEA claims, and the same findings and conclusions are equally applicable to the following issues at the forefront of Harris' state law claims in the Second Action, among others: (a) whether Tietex was justified in terminating Harris' employment; (b) whether Tietex's internal memoranda regarding Harris' performance—on which Harris relies heavily to support his defamation claims—were substantially true; (c) whether Tietex exhibited any actual malice or otherwise exceeded the scope of the qualified privilege with respect to the internal memoranda regarding Harris' performance; (d) whether Tietex conspired to replace him with a younger employee, as alleged in the Amended Complaint; (e) whether Tietex engaged in a campaign to set up Harris for failure, as alleged in the Amended Complaint; (f) whether Tietex intentionally made it impossible for Harris to perform his job duties, as alleged in the Amended Complaint; (g) whether Tietex put forward false and defamatory reasons for the termination of Harris' employment, as alleged in the Amended Complaint; and (h) whether Tietex terminated Harris' employment based on pretextual reasons, as alleged in the Amended Complaint.

Harris "actually litigated" all of these issues in the First Action, in which he (a) submitted a brief in opposition to Tietex's motion for summary judgment; (b) submitted written objections to the Magistrate Order; (c) appealed to the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals, which affirmed the Federal Court's decision; (d) filed a petition for re-hearing with the Fourth Circuit, which was denied; and (e) submitted a letter to the Federal District Court requesting further review after exhausting all avenues with the Fourth Circuit, which was rejected.

All of these issues were "directly determined" and were "necessary to support the prior judgment" in the First Action, as the Federal Court expressly relied on its findings and conclusions in granting Tietex's motion for summary judgment.

In light of the Federal Court's Orders, the Court is unable to imagine any set of credible facts Harris could present at trial that would support his claims without contradicting the findings and conclusions of the Federal Court. There is no evidence in the record that would accomplish this result, rendering summary judgment proper based on the doctrine of collateral estoppel.

C. Statute of Limitations and Res Judicata.

Harris admits that his First Action did not allege the following defamation claims: (1) his claim based on the February 9, 2007 e-mail from Wallace to Wilson (id. Harris Dep. 2 at 33); (2) his claim based on Tietex suspending his employment in July 2007 (id. at 33-34); or (3) his claim based on Tietex "bann[ing] him from the laboratory" (id. at 34). Rather, he first asserted the first two of these claims in his pro se Complaint in the Second Action, and he only identified his claim based on being banned from the lab in his deposition in the Second Action. Using the October 12, 2011, filing of his pro se Complaint as the date on which Harris asserted these claims (assuming the third of these claims relates back to that date), they are barred by the statute of limitations. Due to Harris failing to in any way plead these claims in the First Action, they are also barred by the doctrine of res judicata.

The statute of limitations applicable to Harris' defamation claims is two years. S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-550. The two-year statute of limitations runs from the date on which the allegedly defamatory statement was published, not from the time the statement was allegedly discovered. Jones v. City of Folly Beach, 326 S.C. 360, 369, 483 S.E.2d 770, 775 (Ct. App. 1997) ("[S]ummary judgment [should be granted] because South Carolina has not adopted the discovery rule in libel and slander cases."). Harris' defamation claims based on (1) the February 9, 2007 e-mail from Wallace, (2) Tietex suspending his employment in July 2007, and (3) Tietex banning him from the lab in February 2007, are all based on "statements" that Tietex allegedly made in February and July 2007. Harris first alleged these claims in the Second Action, which he did not file until October 12, 2011. (Harris Dep. 2 at 33-34.) Thus, the two-year statute of limitations bars these claims.

While Harris asserts that the statute of limitations for these claims should have been tolled under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(d) while his First Action was pending, he misreads that statute. Section 1367(d) is limited on its face to "any claim asserted under [a federal court's supplemental jurisdiction], and . . . any other claim in the same action that is voluntarily dismissed at the same time as or after the dismissal of the claim under [a federal court's supplemental jurisdiction]." Harris did not plead these defamation claims in the First Action, and they were not dismissed from the First Action. Thus, they are excluded from the tolling provision of section 1367(d).

The complete absence of these three defamation claims in the First Action also implicates the doctrine of res judicata. "The doctrine of res judicata bars a litigant from raising any issues which were adjudicated in the former suit [between the parties] and any issues which might have been raised in the former suit." Pye v. Aycock, 325 S.C. 426, 432, 480 S.E.2d 455, 458 (Ct. App. 1997) (citing Hilton Head Ctr. v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 294 S.C. 9, 362 S.E.2d 176 (1987)); see also id. ("Res judicata also bars subsequent actions by the same parties when the claims arise out of the same transaction or occurrence that was the subject of a prior action between those parties.") (quoting Riedman Corp. v. Greenville Steel Structures, Inc. 308 S.C. 467, 489, 419 S.E.2d 217, 218 (1992))).

These three defamation claims arose out of the same transaction or occurrence that was the subject of the First Action—his employment with Tietex and separation therefrom. Harris could have raised these claims in the First Action, but he chose not to do so. Based on Harris' failure to assert these claims in the First Action, the doctrine of res judicata precludes him from asserting the claims in the Second Action.

V. CONCLUSION

For all of the foregoing reasons, the Court finds that Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on all of Harris' defamation claims. It is hereby ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED that this action be DISMISSED, in its entirety, WITH PREJUDICE, and that JUDGMENT be entered in favor of Tietex.

Entered on this 20 day of March, 2014.

IT IS ORDERED AND ADJUDGED: ☐ See attached order (formal order to follow) ☒ Statement of Judgment by the Court:

This matter came before the Court on motions of the plaintiff to Compel Entry and Inspection of Premises and To Return A Privileged Communication. Based upon the record in this case, the argument of counsel, and the applicable court rules this Court finds that the correspondence of plaintiff's counsel to defendant's counsel requesting an entry upon and inspection of the premises is sufficient to make a proper request pursuant to rules 34 and 37 SCRPC. Motion to compel inspection is granted and to be accomplished within 15 days.

This Court further finds that the communication from the plaintiff to defendant's counsel is not a privileged communication as it (1) did not seek legal advice, (2) was not a discussion of the merits of the case, (3) was not inadvertently disclosed to defendant's counsel (4) and was not made in confidence. Motion to return a "privileged" communication is denied.

FORM 4C INSTRUCTIONS—JUDGMENT IN A CIVIL CASE
(Instructions for Information Only-Not to be filed with Form 4C)

1. Form 4C-Judgment in a Civil Case has been modified to add order information and enrollment instructions for the clerk of court. The purpose of Form 4 has not changed with the exception that judgment information is provided when applicable.
2. Please note that the Form 4C must be attached to all orders that include information to enroll in the judgment index. The clerk will not be responsible for reading the order to determine enrollment information.

The attorney or prevailing party will prepare and attach the Form 4C when submitting the proposed order that includes judgment enrollment information for the judgment index. The judge will review and sign Form 4C when he or she signs an order that includes judgment enrollment information for the judgment index.

3. Form 4C is not required to be submitted to the Court with orders that do not include information to enroll in the judgment index. If the clerk receives such an order without Form 4C attached, the clerk should enter and process the order pursuant to Rule 58 and Rule 77(d), SC Rules of Civil Procedure (i.e., the clerk should serve notice of entry of the judgment by mail or provide the attorneys with copies of the signed order by other means).
4. The "Information for the Judgment Index" section should be completed when the judgment affects title to real or personal property or if any amount should be enrolled. In the "Judgment in Favor of" column, enter the name of the party to whom the judgment is awarded. In the "Judgment Against" column, enter the name of the person to whom the judgment is against. The judgment amount to be enrolled should be noted in the "Judgment Amount" column. As necessary, describe any property referenced in the order if it is to be enrolled in the judgment index. If there is no judgment information to enroll, indicate "N/A" in one of the boxes in this section of the form.
5. To enter information to accommodate multiple parties, additional Form 4Cs may be used as necessary. Additional space may be inserted on the form as necessary.
6. The section "For the Clerk of Court Office Use Only" should be completed by the clerk as it has been with the previous version of Form 4.
7. If the matter is on appeal to the Circuit Court, then the parties on the form should be changed from Plaintiff and Defendant to Appellant and Respondent.
8. If an arbitrator prepares an order after arbitration, the arbitrator should strike through "Circuit Court Judge" and indicate "Arbitrator" in the signature block.

9. If a Special Circuit Court Judge, Master in Equity, or Special Referee prepares an order after hearing a Circuit Court matter, then he or she should strike through the title "Circuit Court Judge" below the signature line and indicate the appropriate title.
10. When an Order of Foreclosure is filed, neither the parties or debt owed should be listed in the Information for the Judgment Index Section, unless the foreclosure order specifically requires entry of the full judgment amount before the foreclosure sale, pursuant to Section 29-3-650 of the SC Code.
11. If the deficiency judgment is waived in a Foreclosure action, indicate N/A in the "Judgment Amount To Be Enrolled" box.
12. Foreclosure actions should be ended by the Clerk of Court upon receipt of the Order of Foreclosure. Subsequent information, including deficiency judgments, can be added to the action after the case is ended. The Master in Equity should end the action in the MIE system upon the receipt of the Order of Foreclosure.
13. When judgment enrollment information is included in the Information for the Judgment Index Section (for example, when there is a deficiency judgment), only the parties who the judgment is for and against should be included in the Section. Subordinate parties and lienholders should not be included in the box if there is not a judgment amount specifically for or against them.
14. Form 4C is not required to be attached to Transcripts of Judgment and Confession of Judgment.

IT IS ORDERED AND ADJUDGED: ☐ See attached order (formal order to follow) ☒ Statement of Judgment by the Court:

This matter came before the court on August 30, 2009.

Defendant's motion for summary judgment is hereby denied. The court finds the doctrine of collateral estoppel does not apply to Plaintiff's claims. The findings in the Federal Court were applicable solely to the ADEA claim, which is not the issue in the present suit. Specifically, the District Court found that the plaintiff was not performing his job duties at a level that met his employer's legitimate expectations at the time of the adverse employment action. The District Court used the burden-shifting method of proof found in McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Green, 411 U.S. 792 (1973). Because plaintiff did not meet his prima facie burden, there was no need for the burden to shift to the defendant to proffer a nondiscriminatory reason for the adverse action. As such, any findings of fact made after the plaintiff failed to meet his burden, specifically, the element of whether or not he was meeting his employer's legitimate expectations, were not necessary to support the judgement of the District Court and are not binding in this state court action. For this reason the defendant's motion for summary judgment is denied.

Defendant's motion for a protective order with regard to the depositions of Mr. Martin Wildeman and Mr. Reed Cunningham is also denied. Defendant stated in a response to interrogatories in the Federal litigation dated October 8, 2008 that both Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham "will know about Harris' employment, performance, Tietex's policies and procedures, the facts and circumstances surrounding Harris' termination from employment, and the distribution of duties performed by Harris after his termination." Based upon the representations made by Defendant, Plaintiff has demonstrated that these witnesses may possess relevant discoverable evidence.

to Jake Butts. The plaintiff's normal working hours were 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., but he claims he was often at work by 6:00 or 6:30 a.m. and stayed later than 5:00 p.m. (Pl. dep. 74-75). On occasion, the plaintiff stayed until 8:00, 9:00, or 10:00 at night. (Id. 77). The plaintiff admits he was the only employee who did lab work after hours and that he left messages for managers when he knew they would not be answering their phones. (Id. 81-82, 126-27, ex. 10, 14; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 20-21). Mr. Butts testified that the plaintiff worked "odd" hours but he "didn't worry about [the plaintiff's] timekeeping ... [and] always felt that [the plaintiff] had a good work ethic. He's certainly, in my opinion, a brilliant chemist and could accomplish the things that needed to be accomplished. And when I've asked him to work on a specific thing, he's been able to do what I needed him to do." (Butts dep. 47, 59).

Mr. Butts relocated his office from the plant to the office area of the technical building, where the plaintiff's office was located. Soon after Mr. Butts relocated his office, the plaintiff claimed he noticed a mold smell and had symptoms of congestion, sinus headache, and flu. The plaintiff claimed that the smell originated from Jake Butts' clothing and the furniture Mr. Butts moved into his relocated office. After some time and several visits to doctors, including an ENT and allergist, the plaintiff contended that the smell was the source of his illness due to an allergy to mold. The plaintiff reported his belief to Mr. Butts. The defendant hired a hygienist to perform testing in the lab. The hygienist reported that there was no mold contamination and that the air in the lab was cleaner than the outside air. Although the plaintiff claims the testing was flawed, he admits he has no evidence of that. His only specific complaint about the testing was that it did not focus solely on the office area of the lab, but tested all four sections of the laboratory. (Pl. dep. 87- 89, 91-94; Wallace decl. ¶ 12). At some time in late 2006, the plaintiff established a second office in the main plant. He continued to do work in the lab until February 2007. (Pl. dep. 87-88). According to the plaintiff, he was not bothered by the allergy when he spent short periods of time in the lab area. (Pl. aff. ¶ 7).

Effective February 1, 2007, the plaintiff was placed under the supervision of Wade Wallace. The defendant argues this was in part due to the plaintiff's continued complaints about the smell associated with Jake Butts. The plaintiff believes the reason for the change in his reporting relationship was so that Mr. Wallace could assist him in getting more involved with special projects. The defendant agrees that this was also a factor in the decision to place the plaintiff under the supervision of Mr. Wallace. (Pl. dep. 101-103; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 5-6).

Between February 2 and 5, the plaintiff and Mr. Wallace discussed by e-mail whether the plaintiff would be able to continue working in the lab because of his continued complaints about the mold smell. Mr. Wallace stated the defendant would "do whatever [was] necessary to shield [the plaintiff] from any further exposure to an environment(s) that might negatively impact [his] health," and he instructed the plaintiff to wear a mask when he worked in the lab. However, the plaintiff decided that the mask would not give him enough protection. Mr. Wallace then told the plaintiff not to enter the lab under any circumstances. Mr. Wallace reminded the plaintiff to give him a list of items he would need to do his job outside the lab, and Mr. Wallace would have them relocated for the plaintiff. Thereafter, the plaintiff asked if he could work in the lab if he signed a waiver. Mr. Wallace rejected the waiver stating that it "was still unacceptable from an HR/company liability perspective since [the defendant] would be allowing [the plaintiff] to come in contact with an environment that might negatively affect [his] health. Equipment was purchased to accommodate the plaintiff's needs outside of the lab. However, the plaintiff claims that the equipment was not put into place because there was always a problem with "where [the equipment] was going to go." The plaintiff also asked if he could work on Saturdays and Sundays. Mr. Wallace told him that he could work in the plant anytime the plant was operational, and he could come into the facility to do office work when the plant was down. The plaintiff was told not to operate any lab equipment in a lab setting when the plant was down and no other employees were present. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff that if he had to do lab work after regular business hours he should do it on weekday evenings when the second shift was operating. (Pl. dep. 95, 101, 112-13, 122-23, ex. 12, 17; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 13-17).

On February 7, 2007, the plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that he was overwhelmed by personal and emotional problems that had occurred in his personal life over the past year, and he was having difficulty functioning. The plaintiff testified that his wife was ill during this time period. Dealing with his wife's illness left him stressed with major sleep disturbances. He testified he was a "wreck" because of his wife's illness. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff that the company "would support him if he felt he needed to utilize EAP," but the plaintiff stated that was not necessary. (Pl. dep. 106-107, 111, ex. 13, 44; Wallace decl. ¶ 18).

According to Mr. Wallace's deposition testimony, the plaintiff complained to him in February 2007 that he did not feel he was being treated fairly. According to Mr. Wallace, the plaintiff "felt like Tietex, in general did not value him, did not recognize him and did not utilize his skills in a way that he thought that they should." The plaintiff further complained that he "had not been promoted in a manner in which he felt was acceptable, and his compensation had not grown in a manner which he felt was acceptable." Mr. Wallace further testified that the plaintiff "never mentioned age." (Wallace dep. 84).

On February 22, 2007, the plaintiff left voice mail messages for both Mr. Wallace and Tietex's owner, Martin Wildeman, at 3:00 a.m., complaining about his inability to sleep, and about unspecified work-related issues. The plaintiff expressed concern about being moved from the lab and that he was "still not set up to easily do his bench work." The plaintiff asked for a lab pad coater and a vented hood. Mr. Wallace stated that he would take time to locate, acquire, and install the equipment, but stated that in the meantime the plaintiff could use the equipment in the beam/dye area, and/or coordinate to use Robert Culbreth, a chemical technician, to perform work for him in the lab. (Pl. dep. 111-12, ex. 14;

Wallace decl. ¶¶ 14, 16, 20). The plaintiff believes that the defendant was motivated to keep him out of the laboratory to avoid liability for any health problems he might experience rather than out of a real concern for his health. (Pl. dep. 123). Importantly, the plaintiff does not assert that the defendant was motivated to keep him out of the lab because his age.

The plaintiff also complained about being required to stay involved with environmental reporting and stated he was concerned about completing an environmental report that was due March 1, given his other projects. Mr. Wallace stated in an e-mail to David Wilson, the Human Resources Manager, and Mark Isbell, the Vice President of Operations, that he saw "no reason that [the plaintiff's] projects would interfere with his ability to get this report done on time." Mr. Wallace further stated that he "made this clear" to the plaintiff. The plaintiff admitted in his deposition that it was reasonable for Mr. Wallace to expect him to complete the environmental report on time. Mr. Wallace also asked the plaintiff to come to him directly with issues before going to Mr. Wildeman. (Pl. dep. 113, ex. 14, 15; Wallace decl. ¶ 23).

On March 5, 2007, Mr. Wallace discussed several issues with the plaintiff regarding his performance and documented the discussion at the plaintiff's request in a memorandum to David Wilson, with a copy to Mark Isbell and the plaintiff. Mr. Wallace noted the plaintiff made emotional and overly vocal accusations and statements without supporting research or data, was not honoring the chain of command, harbored grudges over past grievances and toward the management in general, and complained about ownership of environmental reporting duties. The memorandum concluded with the statement, "As we discussed these issues are not sustainable and it is mandatory that Gary make significant progress towards resolving these issues within the next 30 days." (Pl. dep. 117-18, ex. 16; Wallace decl. ¶ 25).

On June 18, 2007, Mr. Wallace had another discussion with the plaintiff regarding his work performance. Mr. Wallace documented the discussion in a memorandum to the plaintiff, with a copy to David Wilson and Mark Isbell. The discussion focused on two projects for which the plaintiff was responsible: (1) the development and qualification of a Tietex coating compound as a replacement for the coating that was currently being used on C237 ("C237 Project"); and (2) the development of a finish formula and process for parabolic application of T602 ("T602 Project"). (Pl. dep. 128-30, ex. 18; Wallace decl. ¶ 26).

The plaintiff had been working on the C237 Project for about six months. The plaintiff had predicted that the C237 Project would result in significant cost savings for the defendant. The plaintiff claimed he had a successful trial before he began reporting to Mr. Wallace. Despite the plaintiff's characterization of the compound he created as a success, it was unacceptable to the defendant because it was much more complicated to produce commercially than the plaintiff had initially promised. In February, Mr. Wallace began working separately on a parallel C237 Project because it appeared that the plaintiff would fail to achieve the cost savings he had predicted. Eventually, the situation was resolved by the provider lowering its price. (Pl. dep. 131-34, ex. 18; Wallace decl. ¶ 27).

Because of the expense, a plant production trial is done only if laboratory production is successful. The plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that the lab samples for the T602 project were promising and recommended a production trial. According to the plaintiff, the first plant production trial showed mixed results with some samples that were "not good," but others that were "comparable," depending on the amount of finish. However, the plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that, based on the results, another plant production trial was warranted. On the plaintiff's recommendation, a second plant production trial was performed, which was unsuccessful. A third trial was similarly unsuccessful. When the second and third trials failed, Mr. Wallace reviewed the results of the first plant production trial himself. Mr. Wallace testified that the results of the first trial had not been as the plaintiff portrayed them, so the second and third trials were unwarranted based on the results of the first. (Pl. dep. 135-41, 295, ex. 18; Wallace ¶¶ 28-32).

Mr. Wallace cited the plaintiff for his poor analytical practices and instructed him to improve his performance within 30 days. The plaintiff considered this his final written warning. (Pl. dep. 139, 141, ex. 18; Wallace decl. ¶ 32).

According to Mr. Wallace, the plaintiff made no effort to complete the C237 project. Instead, the plaintiff began taking multiple days of vacation immediately after being given the warning on June 18. These vacation days were frequently taken on short notice. Sometimes, the plaintiff waited until the day before to notify Mr. Wallace. Other than the environmental reporting, the plaintiff had not improved on the issues cited in the memorandum of March 5, 2007. Gate records and management observation showed that the plaintiff had continued to ignore the directive not to work in the chemical lab areas at nights or on the weekends. The same records showed inconsistent work hours and erratic patterns of entry and exit to and from the facility. The plaintiff's co-workers complained that he did not return calls or e-mails consistently, disrupting their work patterns. (Pl. dep. 145-48, ex. 19, 20; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 33-36).

The plaintiff was scheduled to fly to Indiana on June 14 to visit a customer and return on June 15. After flying the first leg of his trip, the plaintiff turned around and came home because he had a headache. (Pl. dep. 148-49). According to Mr. Wallace, the plaintiff never told him he had not met with the customer in Indiana. (Pl. dep., ex. 19; Wallace decl. ¶ 37).

On the evening of Monday, July 2, after work, the plaintiff left a voicemail message for Mr. Wallace, telling him that he had an ant infestation at his house. The plaintiff said he would take care of the ants first thing the following morning and then go to Hexion, a chemical facility, and work on a project. (Pl. dep. 151-52). Since the plaintiff left this message after work hours, Mr. Wallace did not hear the message until the morning of

Tuesday, July 3, 2007. (Pl. dep., ex. 19; Wallace decl. ¶ 38). The plaintiff called Mr. Wallace and left a second voicemail message around 9:00 a.m., saying he had resolved the ant problems and was going to work at Hexion. According to the plaintiff, he needed sulfuric acid to do testing. The plaintiff did not arrive at Hexion until 1:30 p.m. The plaintiff could not enter Hexion because he could not contact anyone he knew there to gain entry. The plaintiff estimates he was at Hexion between 30 minutes to an hour and a half. The plaintiff claims that after leaving Hexion, he drove around for 30 to 45 minutes looking for Chemurgy, another chemical facility. When the plaintiff located Chemurgy, no one was there, so he did not stay. (Pl. dep. 154-60, ex. 21; Wallace decl. ¶ 39).

The plaintiff left a message for Hexion employee Pam Westmoreland, telling her that he could not get into the laboratory. The plaintiff stated in his message that he needed a small sample of sulfuric acid, and he would come back and pick it up. Hexion employee George Henderson told Ms. Westmoreland that he would take the sample to the plaintiff at Tietex on his way home. (Pam Westmoreland aff. ¶¶ 5-9).

The plaintiff did not telephone Mr. Wallace to tell him that he could not get in Hexion and that he was going to Chemurgy or anywhere else. (Pl. dep. 160; Wallace decl. ¶ 48). The plaintiff admits it would have been reasonable for him to call Mr. Wallace and tell him that his plans had changed. (Pl. dep. 165).

George Henderson, the Hexion employee, brought the sulfuric acid to Tietex for the plaintiff. Mr. Wallace later called Mr. Henderson and asked if he had seen the plaintiff that day, but Mr. Henderson had not. Mr. Henderson said that he had a voicemail from the plaintiff saying he needed some sulfuric acid urgently because he was planning to do some work on July 4th. According to Mr. Wallace, he was troubled because the plaintiff was not where he said he would be and because it appeared the plaintiff had planned to work with chemicals in the lab on a day the plant was supposed to be closed. (Pl. dep. 160; Wallace ¶¶ 42-43).

Mr. Wallace called the plaintiff on his cell phone between 4:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. and asked where he was. The plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that he had been to Hexion. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff that Mr. Henderson had been to Tietex and said that the plaintiff had not been at Hexion that day. The plaintiff then stated he had gone to Hexion, but had been unable to get in or find anyone, so he left. The plaintiff could not give Mr. Wallace an adequate explanation of his whereabouts for the day. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff he was suspended until Mr. Wallace returned from vacation. During the phone call, the plaintiff and Mr. Wallace were disconnected, and Mr. Wallace could not reach the plaintiff again by telephone. Mr. Wallace talked to David Wilson, the Human Resources Director, about what transpired, and a voice mail message was left for the plaintiff reiterating that he was suspended with pay and should not return to work until contacted by the defendant. (Pl. dep. 158-66, ex. 19; Wallace ¶¶ 44-48).

Mr. Wallace conducted an investigation of the events of July 3 when he returned from vacation. Mr. Wallace recommended the plaintiff's employment be terminated, and the decision to do so was made by Mr. Wallace; David Wilson, Human Resources Director; Martin Wildeman, Owner; Reed Cunningham, President; and Mark Isbell, Vice President of Manufacturing. The plaintiff was told he was not being terminated for one specific deficiency, but for many shortcomings that "added up," including the issues Mr. Wallace had addressed with him in the March 5, 2007, memorandum. (Pl. dep. 142, ex. 16; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 48-50). These issues were also documented in a memorandum dated July 18, 2007. (Pl. dep., ex. 19; Wallace decl. ¶ 51). The plaintiff's employment was terminated on July 19, 2007. The plaintiff does not know who made the decision to terminate his employment. (Pl. dep. 167-68, ex. 22).

APPLICABLE LAW AND ANALYSIS

Motion to Strike

The defendant has moved to strike several paragraphs in the plaintiff's affidavit submitted in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, arguing they contain assertions that lack personal knowledge, are conclusory, are based on unsupported personal opinion or speculation, are based on hearsay, or contradict the affiant's own prior sworn deposition testimony or documentary evidence. The paragraphs pertinent to the court's analysis of the motion for summary judgment are discussed below.

Motion for Summary Judgment

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56 states, as to a party who has moved for summary judgment:

The judgment sought shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Accordingly, to prevail on a motion for summary judgment, the movant must demonstrate that: (1) there is no genuine issue as to any material fact; and (2) that he is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law. As to the first of these determinations, a fact is deemed "material" if proof of its existence or nonexistence would affect the disposition of the case under the applicable law. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). An issue of material fact is "genuine" if the evidence offered is such that a reasonable jury might return a verdict for the non-movant. Id. at 257. In determining whether a genuine issue has been raised, the court must construe all inferences and ambiguities against the movant and in favor of the non-moving party. United States v. Diebold, Inc., 369 U.S. 654, 655 (1962).

The party seeking summary judgment shoulders the initial burden of demonstrating to the district court that there is no genuine issue of material fact. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). Once the movant has made this threshold demonstration, the non-moving party, to survive the motion for summary judgment, may not rest on the allegations averred in his pleadings; rather, he must demonstrate that specific, material facts exist which give rise to a genuine issue. Id. at 324. Under this standard, the existence of a mere scintilla of evidence in support of the plaintiff's position is insufficient to withstand the summary judgment motion. Anderson, 477 U.S. at 252. Likewise, conclusory allegations or denials, without more, are insufficient to preclude the granting of the summary judgment motion. Ross v. Communications Satellite Corp., 759 F.2d 355, 365 (4th Cir. 1985), overruled on other grounds, 490 U.S. 228 (1989). "Only disputes over facts that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law will properly preclude the entry of summary judgment. Factual disputes that are irrelevant or unnecessary will not be counted." Anderson, 477 U.S. at 248. Accordingly, when Rule 56(e) has shifted the burden of proof to the non-movant, he must provide existence of every element essential to his action which he bears the burden of adducing at a trial on the merits.

ADEA

The ADEA makes it "unlawful for an employer . . . to fail or refuse to hire or to discharge any individual or otherwise discriminate against any individual with respect to his compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, because of such individual's age." 29 U.S.C. § 623(a)(1). "[A] plaintiff bringing a disparate-treatment claim pursuant to the ADEA must prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that age was the 'but-for' cause of the challenged adverse employment action." Gross v. FBL Fin. Servs., Inc., 129 S.Ct. 2343, 2352 (2009). The evidence may be direct or circumstantial. Id. at 2351.

Direct evidence is "evidence of conduct or statements that both reflect directly the alleged discriminatory attitude and that bear directly on the contested employment decision." Fuller v. Phipps, 67 F.3d 1137, 1142 (4th Cir.1995), abrogated on other grounds by, Desert Palace, Inc. v. Costa, 539 U.S. 90 (2003). The plaintiff attempts to establish direct evidence of age discrimination based on a single statement allegedly made by Reed Cunningham, Tietex's President. The plaintiff claims that sometime before 2001 Mr. Cunningham commented that Tietex must get younger people into management. The plaintiff admits that it is quite reasonable to conclude that Mr. Cunningham did not mean he wanted the younger people to replace older workers, but believed the company needed a succession plan so that Tietex would have the ability to replace workers who either retired or left the company. The plaintiff admits Mr. Cunningham's comment was casual and confesses that, "[a]nd in all fairness to him, I personally don't think he meant anything by it..." The plaintiff admits he never complained to anyone about the statement. (Pl. dep. 187-88).

In his affidavit submitted in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff stated, "These incidents mirror the age-based animus voiced to me in 2000 by a high level manager Reed Cunningham about his plan to replace older managers with younger ones." (Pl. aff. ¶ 8). As argued by the defendant in its motion to strike, this statement contradicts the plaintiff's deposition testimony that the comment was casual and he did not think Mr. Cunningham meant anything by it. (Pl. dep. 187). If an affidavit conflicts with earlier sworn testimony, it must "be disregarded as a sham issue of fact." Rohrbough v. Wyeth Laboratories, Inc., 916 F.2d 970, 975 (4th Cir. 1990). "A genuine issue of material fact is not created where the only issue of fact is to determine which of the two conflicting versions of the plaintiff's testimony is correct." Barwick v. Celotex Corp., 736 F.2d 946, 960 (4th Cir.1984). Based upon the foregoing, the defendant's motion to strike this portion of paragraph 8 of the plaintiff's affidavit is granted.

In O'Connor v. Consolidated Coin Caterers Corp., 56 F.3d 542 (4th Cir. 1995), rev'd on other grounds by, 517 U.S. 308 (1996), a supervisor's remarks that, "[I]t's about time we get some young blood in this company," and "[Y]ou are too damn old for this kind of work," were insufficient evidence of discrimination because the remarks were not made in the context of replacing the plaintiff, but were made in another or an unknown context. Id. at 548-50. In Birkbeck v. Marvel Lighting Corp., 30 F.3d 507 (4th Cir. 1994), a supervisor commented, "there comes a time when we have to make way for younger people." Id. at 511. The court noted that "[i]t is undisputed that the statement was made over two years before the discharge of [the plaintiff]. This remoteness in time makes it inappropriate to use . . . the statement as evidence of age discrimination." Id. at 511-12. The court further found "the statement in itself creates no inference of age bias. [The] comment reflects no more than a fact of life and as such is merely a 'truism[]' that carries with it no disparaging undertones." Id. at 512.

The comment here is similar to those in O'Connor and Birkbeck. This court agrees with the defendant that this comment, made over six years before the plaintiff's termination of employment and in no way related to his termination, cannot evidence any intent to discriminate against the plaintiff because of his age.

Under the burden-shifting method of proof of McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Green, 411 U.S. 792 (1973),² a plaintiff may establish a prima facie case of age discrimination under the ADEA by showing that he (1) is a member of the protected class, i.e., is at least 40 years old; (2) suffered an adverse employment action; (3) was meeting his employer's legitimate expectations at the time of the adverse action; and (4) was replaced by or treated less favorably than someone who is either outside the protected class or "substantially younger" than he is. Mandengue v. ADT Security Systems, Inc., C.A. No. RDB-09-3103, 2010 WL 2365463, *5 (D. Md. 2010).

²The Supreme Court recently found that the text of the ADEA does not authorize a mixed-motive age discrimination claim. Gross, 129 S.Ct. at 2350. The Court also noted that it "has not definitively decided" whether the McDonnell Douglas framework, first developed in the context of Title VII cases, "is appropriate in the ADEA context." 129 S.Ct. at 2349 n.2. Accordingly, this court must follow Fourth Circuit precedent, which applies the McDonnell Douglas framework to ADEA claims. See Hill v. Lockheed Martin Logistics Mgmt., Inc., 354 F.3d 277, 285 (4th Cir.2004). See also Misner v. Potter, 2009 WL 1972598, *2 n. 3 (D. Utah 2009) ("This court does not understand Gross as altering the use of the McDonnell Douglas framework at summary judgment on ADEA cases.").

If the plaintiff can establish a prima facie case, the burden then shifts to the defendant to produce a legitimate, nondiscriminatory reason for its actions against the plaintiff. Tex. Dep't of Cmty. Affairs v. Burdine, 450 U.S. 248, 253-54 (1981) (this is a burden of production, not persuasion). If the defendant meets this burden, the plaintiff must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the proffered reason was pretextual. See Reeves v. Sanderson Plumbing Prods., Inc., 530 U.S. 133, 147 (2000).

The plaintiff is over 40 years old, and he suffered an adverse employment action when he was fired by the defendant. The defendant, however, argues the plaintiff cannot establish the third and fourth elements of a prima facie case.

First, the defendant argues the plaintiff was not performing his job at a level that met the defendant's legitimate expectations. This court agrees. As set forth above, the defendant articulated the deficiencies in the plaintiff's performance in memoranda dated March 5, June 18, and July 18, 2007. (Pl. dep., ex. 16, 18, 19). The plaintiff attempts to contradict the defendant's dissatisfaction with his performance by his subjective assessment of himself as a valuable, outstanding, and exemplary performer. However, the plaintiff's subjective view of his performance does not establish a prima facie case. See McNally v. Norton, 498 F.Supp.2d 167, 183 (D. D.C. 2007) ("Plaintiff's subjective belief of qualification is not evidence that can be used to establish that he was qualified for the job.") (citation omitted). The perception of the employer is critical, "not the self-assessment of the plaintiff." Hawkins v. PepsiCo, 203 F.3d 274, 280 (4th Cir. 2000) (citation omitted).

Next, the defendant argues that the plaintiff has no evidence he was replaced by a person substantially younger than himself. The plaintiff contends that "Wallace . . . became determined to rid Tietex of [the plaintiff] and replace him with a twenty-five year old worker who was referred to Tietex by Wallace's boss, Mark Isbell." (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 16, ex. 8). The employee referred to by the plaintiff is Trish Guzman. However, as pointed out by the defendant, the plaintiff does not deny that Ms. Guzman's title of Chemist Lab Manager and his title of Senior Research Chemist were different. He also does not dispute that Ms. Guzman's job description as Chemist Lab/Environmental Manager is not an accurate description for the job he performed and is much smaller in scope. The plaintiff can only point to a few of his former duties that he claims Ms. Guzman performed. He claims Ms. Guzman dealt with vendors and formulations in an effort to purchase chemicals for less. (Pl. dep. 192-93). Ms. Guzman performed only a few of the general chemical duties that had previously been a portion of the plaintiff's job. (Wallace decl. ¶ 52). The plaintiff himself also claims another employee, Colon Knight, "replaced him to a certain extent." (Pl. dep. 224). Mr. Wallace testified that after the plaintiff was terminated several people performed his prior duties: Mr. Wallace did the project work; the evaluation and approval of all new chemicals was put on hold, so no one performed those duties; Jake Butts was reassigned some of the environmental work; and some environmental duties were later assumed by Paul Hite. (Wallace dep. 122-23; Butts dep. 34-36). Mr. Wallace testified that Ms. Guzman was later hired and took on two or three of the plaintiff's former duties. Further, Ms. Guzman did not report to Mr. Wallace, as the plaintiff had. (Wallace dep. 124).

The plaintiff also alleges that the defendant "replaced numerous older employees with younger employees." (Comp. ¶ 4). In his response in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff argues as follows:

Over the past few years at Tietex, management has engaged in a pattern and practice of replacing older managers with younger ones. Judy Kramer was a lab manager aged approximately sixty-two (62). She was replaced by Rhonda Blanchard who was aged thirty (30) or younger. Bill Lynch was a sixty (60) year old Gray Mill operator, he was replaced by Joey Griffin, who was in his thirties (30s). Leroy McCraw was a sixty year old engineer who was pushed out by Tietex, given a severance and some "consulting" work and then was replaced by Paul Bartley, an engineer in his thirties (30s). Jake Butts, sixty-six (66) at time of discharge, was given a severance the month after Harris was terminated. He was replaced by Colin Knight, in his thirties (30s).

(Pl. resp. m.s.j. 16). In his affidavit submitted in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff makes similar allegations. (Pl. aff. ¶ 8). However, the plaintiff's affidavit directly contradicts his prior testimony in his deposition that (1) Judy Cramer retired, and the plaintiff, himself, chose Rhonda Blanchard to replace her; (2) he did not know if Bill Lynch was terminated and replaced with Joey Griffin; and (3) he denied that Leroy McCraw was terminated because of age and replaced with Paul Bartley. (Pl. dep. 201-206). Further, the plaintiff's affidavit contradicts Jake Butts' deposition testimony that he retired voluntarily with an incentive package. (Butts dep. 8-9). The plaintiff admitted in his deposition that he was not sure that Mr. Butts had been replaced because of his age, and he had no evidence that he was. (Pl. dep. 206). Accordingly, as paragraph 8 of the plaintiff's affidavit conflicts with earlier sworn testimony, it is stricken. See Rohrbough, 916 F.2d at 975.

This court finds that the plaintiff has failed to establish a prima facie case of age discrimination. The defendant has produced evidence showing it had legitimate, non-discriminatory reasons for firing the plaintiff. (Pl. dep., ex. 16, 18, 19; Wallace decl.). Even assuming the plaintiff could establish a prima facie case of age discrimination, he has failed to show that the proffered reasons for his termination of employment were pretext for age discrimination as set forth below.

The plaintiff points to several "material disputes of fact" that he argues shows age discrimination was the reason for his termination of employment. First, the plaintiff notes "[g]ross inaccuracies in Wallace's timeline testimony" with regard to the events of July 3, 2007. (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 12). Specifically, the plaintiff contends Mr. Wallace "relates a totally inaccurate timeline as to when the Hexion representative was at Tietex." Also, the plaintiff contends Mr. Wallace "made false statements in the termination memo" by wrongly stating that the plaintiff instructed the Hexion employee to deliver the sulfuric acid to Tietex.

(Pl. resp. m.s.j. 12). Assuming the plaintiff is correct, it is unclear how these facts are material to the issue of whether the plaintiff was terminated because of his age. As argued by the defendant, the Hexion employee's visit to Tietex is relevant only to the extent that it is what alerted Mr. Wallace to the fact that the plaintiff was not working at Hexion as he said he would be. Here, even assuming Mr. Wallace was motivated to terminate the plaintiff's employment based on an incorrect fact (that is, the timeline or whether the plaintiff asked the Hexion employee to deliver the sulfuric acid), this does not equate to being motivated by age.

The plaintiff next contends that Jake Butts' opinion of the plaintiff's performance and work hours is evidence that Mr. Wallace manufactured these performance deficiencies. While Mr. Butts testified that he did not have a problem with the plaintiff's "odd" work hours or performance, it is clear that Mr. Wallace did. However, the plaintiff has presented absolutely no evidence that Mr. Wallace's expectations of the plaintiff were motivated by age. Establishing "new, higher standards raises no suspicion of discrimination by itself; the courts must accept the employer's legitimate standards of qualification 'provided the decision is not based upon unlawful criteria.'" Bossalina v. Lever Brothers, Inc., No. 86-2158, 1988 WL 60572, *2 (4th Cir. 1988) (quoting Texas Department of Community Affairs v. Burdine, 450 U.S. 248, 259 (1981)).

Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiff has failed to show that issues of material fact remain. Accordingly, his discharge claim fails.

Retaliation

The plaintiff also alleged he was terminated from his employment in retaliation for his complaints about "past problems" to his former supervisor, Jake Butts. (Pl. dep. 184). Retaliation claims under the ADEA are governed by the McDonnell Douglas framework for circumstantial evidence, requiring the plaintiff to establish a prima facie case showing: (1)

he engaged in protected activity; (2) the defendant took adverse action against him; and (3) a causal connection existed between the protected activity and the adverse action. Spriggs v. Diamond Auto Glass, 242 F.3d 179, 191 (4th Cir. 2001). Protected activity may be in the form of participation in the charge filing process or protesting unlawful age discrimination in the work place. Laughlin v. Metro. Wash. Airports Auth., 149 F.3d 253, 259 (4th Cir. 1998).

The plaintiff claims he stated to his former supervisor, Jake Butts, in 2004 or 2005 that older workers seemed to be replaced by younger workers and that this concerned him. The plaintiff was terminated from employment on July 19, 2007. The plaintiff admits that Mr. Butts was not in a position to influence his employment status at the time of his termination from Tietex. He further admits he has no evidence that Mr. Butts told anyone about his conversation with the plaintiff, and no one else was present. The plaintiff testified that his only evidence that he was retaliated against was the fact that he was terminated. (Pl. dep. 180-84, 207, 210).

The plaintiff has absolutely failed to show any causal connection between the statements made to Mr. Butts and his termination. The two events are not closely related in time, there is no evidence anyone other than Mr. Butts was aware of the statements, and Mr. Butts had no influence or involvement in the plaintiff's termination from employment.

The plaintiff argues in his opposition to the motion for summary judgment that he met with Tietex's owner, Martin Wildeman, on June 21, 2007, "to address the discrimination and other problems he was experiencing with...Wallace." (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 5). He cites to his own affidavit submitted in support of his opposition memorandum. In that affidavit, the plaintiff states in pertinent part, "Specifically, on June 21, 2007, just two weeks before I was suspended, I met with Martin Wildeman, and addressed the issues of . . . 2) Discrimination Clearly, I reported discrimination right before I was fired to the highest authority at Tietex - the owner." (Pl. aff. ¶ 5). In his affidavit, the plaintiff cites a document that he created listing bullet points including "Discrimination" for a meeting with "Martin" on June 22, which is marked through and replaced with June 21. The plaintiff's own handwritten notes on the document characterize the list as "topics I would go over." (Pl. aff., ex. D) (emphasis added). The plaintiff further states in his handwritten notes on the document, "I recall very little about what was discussed. I do recall that the owner refused to get into discussion, was of no support and aborted the meeting rather suddenly." (Id.). In his deposition testimony, the plaintiff testified that he could not recall ever having mentioned age discrimination to Mr. Wildeman. (Pl. dep. 176-78). The plaintiff confirmed on the document that Mr. Wildeman "was not provided a copy of this listing", so Mr. Wildeman did not even know that "Discrimination" was to be a "topic" of discussion. (Pl. aff., ex. D). Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiff has provided no evidence he discussed discrimination with Mr. Wildeman. Further, as the statement in the plaintiff's affidavit is conclusory, not factual, and contradicted by the document he relies upon and his earlier sworn deposition testimony, this court grants the defendant's motion to strike this portion of paragraph five of the plaintiff's affidavit.

The plaintiff also contends he was not terminated until after he made "final complaints of mistreatment" on July 18, 2007. (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 9). The plaintiff cites to Human Resource Director David Wilson's testimony before the South Carolina Employment Security Commission that he allowed the plaintiff to "vent" prior to his termination. However, Mr. Wilson makes no reference to the plaintiff mentioning age discrimination or age in any way. (Id., ex. 19 at 22-23). In his response to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff does not allege that he complained he was being discriminated against because of his age, only that, in his view, he was being treated unfairly. (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 9). As noted by the defendant, many people who are about to be terminated from their employment believe they are being treated unfairly, but expressing that feeling is not protected activity. See 29 U.S.C. § 623(d).

In summary, the plaintiff has absolutely failed to show any causal connection between the statements made to Mr. Butts and his termination. The plaintiff admitted he cannot remember discussing age discrimination with Mr. Wildeman. Further, he never used the term "age" or "discrimination" when describing his "venting" to Mr. Wilson, only that he was being treated unfairly. In addition, the plaintiff has come forward with no evidence that he complained of age discrimination to his supervisor, Mr. Wallace. Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiff's retaliation claim should be dismissed.

State Law Claims

As it is recommended that the plaintiff's federal claims be dismissed, the court should decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the plaintiff's state law claims for breach of contract, breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and defamation. 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c); see United Mine Workers of America v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1966) ("Certainly, if the federal claims are dismissed before trial, even though not insubstantial in a jurisdictional sense, the state claims should be dismissed as well.").

CONCLUSION

Wherefore, based upon the foregoing,

IT IS ORDERED that the defendant's motion to strike (doc. 111) is granted in part as set forth above. To the extent the defendant moved to strike portions of the plaintiff's affidavit not discussed herein, such motion is moot. Further,

IT IS RECOMMENDED that the defendant's motion for summary judgment (doc. 68) be granted as to the ADEA claims, and that the court decline supplemental jurisdiction over the plaintiff's state law claims.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES
FOR THE DISTRICT OF SOUTH CAROLINA
SPARTANBURG DIVISION

Gary G. Harris,

Plaintiff,

vs.

Tietex International, Inc.,

Defendant.

Civil Action No. 7:08-3020-HFF-WMC

ORDER

This matter is before the court on the plaintiff's motion to reopen discovery and postpone summary judgment (doc. 78). In his complaint, the plaintiff alleges that the defendant, his former employer, terminated his employment in retaliation for his complaining about age discrimination toward other employees in violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"). He also alleges state law claims against the defendant for breach of contract, breach of contract accompanied by fraudulent acts, and defamation.

Pursuant to the provisions of Title 28, United States Code, Section 636(b)(1)(A), and Local Rule 73.02(B)(2)(g), D.S.C., all pretrial matters in employment discrimination cases are referred to a United States Magistrate Judge for consideration.

On August 4, 2009, this court granted the motion of the plaintiff's original attorney, Richard Stewart, to be relieved as counsel. The order provided that, "[a]ll deadlines are stayed pending further action of the court." The August 4 order gave the plaintiff until Friday, September 4, to find new counsel. On August 28, the pro se plaintiff, with the defendant's consent, filed a motion to amend the scheduling order for the sole purpose of extending the trial date. On September 10, this court entered a third amended scheduling order, extending the trial date until April 5, 2010, and also extending related pretrial deadlines. In the amended scheduling order, the deadline for dispositive motions was extended until September 22, but the discovery period, which closed on August 24, was not extended. According to the defendant, both the plaintiff and defendant agreed that additional discovery was not needed. The plaintiff's former counsel had served the defendant with written discovery on July 20, and the defendant responded to it on August 21. The scheduling order had been amended twice to allow more time for discovery. The defendant filed a motion for summary judgment on September 22, 2009.

On October 5, 2009, the plaintiff's current counsel filed a notice of appearance, and on October 26, the plaintiff filed the instant motion pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56(f). In the motion to reopen discovery, the plaintiff argues:

Important discovery pertaining to material facts in controversy was never pursued by Harris' counsel. For example Harris' counsel never issued discovery to receive and produce phone records, the guest register for a chemical vendor, and/or test reports and machine production records regarding plant trials at Tietex, among other things. Most glaringly, Harris' counsel never took a single deposition of Tietex's witnesses!

(Pl. m. to reopen discovery at 3). The plaintiff asks for a 120-day extension of discovery and asserts that the defendant will not be prejudiced as it would be allowed to renew its motion for summary judgment at the end of that period. The defendant opposes the motion, arguing that the plaintiff has had ample opportunity to conduct discovery (15 months and two extended scheduling orders), that the defendant would be unfairly prejudiced since it has already filed a motion for summary judgment revealing its theories and arguments, and that the plaintiff has not met his burden of identifying any "evidence" that would create genuine issues of material fact. The defendant also notes that the plaintiff's argument regarding former attorney Jason Kellett's suspension from the State Bar is disingenuous as the only attorney for the plaintiff with whom the defendant ever dealt was Richard Stewart.

On November 13, 2009, this court ordered the plaintiff to file a document within 10 days identifying (1) the names of the persons he seeks to depose and the relevance of such depositions; and (2) the documents he seeks and the relevance of such documents. On November 23, 2009, the plaintiff filed a document identifying nine depositions and the documents he seeks. No depositions were taken by the plaintiff's former counsel. The defendant opposes the motion, arguing that the plaintiff has not shown sufficient relevance for the depositions or documents. As to the documents sought by the plaintiff, the defendant notes that it has already provided its policy manual and Guzman's personnel file to the plaintiff during discovery. Further, the defendants note that to the extent the plaintiff seeks his own cell phone records, he can obtain those through his own service provider. The plaintiff also seeks "sign-in records at Hexion," gate records for the defendant's facility, plant production trial data, formulas and tests conducted by the plaintiff; and travel records for a trip to Indiana. As relevance for these documents, the plaintiff states that they will show his work performance and corroborate his testimony. As discussed above, the plaintiff's former counsel served written discovery, and the defendant responded to written discovery, during the discovery period. This court finds that the plaintiff has failed to show that additional written discovery is essential to justify his opposition to the motion for summary judgment. See Fed.R.Civ.P. 56(f).

Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiff's motion (doc. 78) is granted in part and denied in part. Discovery is reopened in this case until December 31, 2009, for the limited purpose of the taking of three depositions, which the plaintiff shall choose from the list of nine requested depositions. No further written discovery will be allowed. The defendant will then have until January 8, 2010, to supplement its motion for summary judgment, and the plaintiff's response to the motion for summary judgment will be due within 14 days of the filing of the defendant's supplement.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

EXHIBIT A

FOR MANDATED ADR COUNTIES ONLY

Florence, Horry, Lexington, Richland, Greenville and Anderson

SUPREME COURT RULES REQUIRE THE SUBMISSION OF ALL CIVIL CASES TO AN ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROCESS, UNLESS OTHERWISE EXEMPT.

You are required to take the following action(s):

1. The parties shall select a neutral and file a "Proof of ADR" form on or by the 210th day of the filing of this action. If the parties have not selected a neutral within 210 days, the Clerk of Court shall then appoint a primary and secondary mediator from the current roster on a rotating basis from among those mediators agreeing to accept cases in the county in which the action has been filed.
2. The initial ADR conference must be held within 300 days after the filing of the action.
3. Pre-suit medical malpractice mediations required by S.C. Code §15-79-125 shall be held not later than 120 days after all defendants are served with the "Notice of Intent to File Suit" or as the court directs. (Medical malpractice mediation is mandatory statewide.)
4. Cases are exempt from ADR only upon the following grounds:
 - a. Special proceeding, or actions seeking extraordinary relief such as mandamus, habeas corpus, or prohibition;
 - b. Requests for temporary relief;
 - c. Appeals
 - d. Post Conviction relief matters;
 - e. Contempt of Court proceedings;
 - f. Forfeiture proceedings brought by governmental entities;
 - g. Mortgage foreclosures; and
 - h. Cases that have been previously subjected to an ADR conference, unless otherwise required by Rule 3 or by statute.
5. In cases not subject to ADR, the Chief Judge for Administrative Purposes, upon the motion of the court or of any party, may order a case to mediation.
6. Motion of a party to be exempt from payment of neutral fees due to indigency should be filed with the Court within ten (10) days after the ADR conference has been concluded.

Please Note: You must comply with the Supreme Court Rules regarding ADR.
Failure to do so may affect your case or may result in sanctions.

The Plaintiff, complaining of the Defendant herein, would show unto this Honorable Court as follows:

1. Defendant Tietex International, LTD (hereinafter "Tietex") is a corporate entity organized and existing pursuant to the laws of South Carolina and which transacts business with offices and agents in Spartanburg County, South Carolina.
2. Plaintiff is a citizen of Spartanburg County, South Carolina, and was employed by Tietex from approximately 1994 to July of 2007. Plaintiff is a 63 year-old male, having been born on October 16, 1944.
3. On or about July of 2007, Plaintiff was terminated from the Defendant's employ. Prior to this time, he had heard employees in management make negative or disparaging comments, some directed toward him, concerning the ages of older employees and making reference to wanting to get younger people into management.
4. On or about this time, the Defendant replaced numerous older employees with younger employees, culminating in the Plaintiff's termination and his replacement with an employee approximately half his age with inferior qualifications. His termination was effective on or about July of 2007.

5. Thereafter, Plaintiff timely filed a Charge of Discrimination with the EEOC, alleging discrimination due to his age and retaliation. The EEOC issued a right to sue notice on May 22, 2008, which Plaintiff received on or about the following week.

FOR A FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

(For Retaliation and Discrimination Pursuant to the Age Discrimination in Employment Act)

6. Plaintiff incorporates all prior allegations, where not inconsistent, as if fully set forth herein.

7. Plaintiff timely filed a charge with the EEOC and has exhausted all administrative remedies prerequisite to the institution of this action and has filed this action within 90 days of receiving his Notice of Right to Sue letter from the EEOC.

8. The Plaintiff is a member of a protected class pursuant to 29 USC §621 et seq., the Age Discrimination in Employment Act.

9. During all relevant times Plaintiff and Defendant satisfied the ADEA definition of employee and employer.

10. Plaintiff was terminated from his position without just cause in July 2007. Certain individuals in their 20s and 30s who were in similar positions to Plaintiff were allowed to remain, treated with preference, and even hired to replace older employees. Plaintiff was replaced by a newly hired employee approximately half his age.

11. Defendant's explanation for Plaintiff's termination was and is a pretext for discrimination.

12. Plaintiff was terminated because of his age. Plaintiff was treated in a disparate manner in relation to younger employees in the terms and conditions of his employment.

13. Plaintiff was retaliated against for bringing certain issues, including those related to discrimination, to the attention of his supervisors.

14. In terminating and treating Plaintiff in a disparate manner, Defendant violated the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), 29 U.S.C. §621 et seq.

15. As a direct and proximate result of this intentional discrimination, Plaintiff has lost employment at a time in his career when employment opportunities are limited. Plaintiff has been damaged emotionally and has been unable to find substitute employment with income and benefits comparable to the position from which he was terminated.

16. Plaintiff has also suffered severe emotional pain, suffering, inconvenience, mental anguish, loss of enjoyment of life, embarrassment, humiliation, past, present, and future loss of income, and other economic damages.

17. Therefore, Plaintiff requests that this Court award Plaintiff back pay, with interest thereon, from the date of his discharge until the age of retirement; award Plaintiff liquidated damages, in an amount equal to the sum of all awards, for Defendant's willful violation of the ADEA, including the costs of this action, including attorney's fees.

FOR A SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

(Breach of Contract)

18. Plaintiff incorporates all prior allegations, where not inconsistent, as if fully set forth herein.

19. As an employee of Defendant, Plaintiff was trained regarding the formal policies of the Defendant, including those described to him by his supervisors and those memorialized in writing. These policies included but were not limited to a progressive discipline policy.

20. Plaintiff alleges that the above policies were binding promises that applied to him in his employment, and these statements were mandatory in nature. Therefore, these written policies constitute an enforceable part of Plaintiff's contract of employment.

21. Defendant, by and through its agents, violated the mandatory terms contained in Plaintiff's employment contract, denied rights guaranteed to him by his employment contract, and otherwise treated him in a manner contrary to the policies published by and explained by Defendant by and through its agents. Further, Defendant's reasons for terminating Plaintiff were pretextual and not in good faith.

22. As a direct and proximate result of the breach of the employment contract between the parties, the Plaintiff has been harmed in that he has been and will be denied benefits to which he is entitled under the contract, has lost wages and benefits to which he was entitled through his employment, has had his reputation and his work record harmed and damaged and undergone mental anguish and humiliation. Accordingly, Plaintiff is entitled to actual and punitive damages as determined by a jury.

FOR A THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

(Breach of Contract Accompanied by a Fraudulent Act)

23. Plaintiff incorporates all prior allegations, where not inconsistent, as if fully set forth herein.

24. Plaintiff was an employee of Defendant and the parties enjoyed a contractual relationship. As described more fully above, Plaintiff alleges that the above promises, policies and procedures communicated by Defendant constitute an enforceable contract.

25. Defendant committed fraud by fabricating pretextual reasons to deprive Plaintiff of the rights guaranteed to him under his contract with Defendant, knowing these reasons were false.

26. Accordingly, Plaintiff is informed and believes that as a result of the foregoing breaches by Defendant, he is entitled to actual and consequential damages as determined by the triers of fact.

38. Furthermore, Plaintiff is informed and believes that he is entitled to punitive damages to deter Defendant from future similar acts.

FOR A FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Defamation)

39. Plaintiff incorporates all prior allegations, where not inconsistent, as if fully set forth herein.

40. Upon information and belief, the Defendant has issued false statements containing defamatory meaning about the Plaintiff since his termination.

41. These statements concern the Plaintiff's alleged lack of competence and acumen in his trade and profession.

42. The Defendant's publication of its defamatory accusations of the Plaintiff was with actual malice, and such information was communicated with reckless disregard of its truth, and designed to wantonly injure the Plaintiff without cause.

43. The Defendant's publication of these false allegations against the Plaintiff was to third parties in the Plaintiff's trade and profession.

44. The Plaintiff has suffered damages that are legally presumed, as well as special damages including but not limited to embarrassment, humiliation, and mental suffering. Further, his character and reputation has been damaged as a direct consequence of the Defendant's actions.

45. Accordingly, Plaintiff is informed and believes that he is entitled to actual and consequential damages as determined by the triers of fact.

46. Furthermore, Plaintiff is informed and believes that he is entitled to punitive damages to deter Defendant from future similar acts.

WHEREFORE, having stated his complaint against the Defendant, Plaintiff prays for the following relief: (1) back pay, (2) front pay, (3) attorney's fees and costs, and (4) such actual and punitive damages as determined by the trier of fact; and (5) such other and further relief as this Court deems just and proper.

COMPLAINT

JURY TRIAL REQUESTED

Previous History of Complaint

A Defamation complaint was originally filed along with other complaints including age discrimination against Tietex International in August of 2008 as Case Number 2008-CP-42-4316. The case was moved to Federal District Court in Greenville, South Carolina under the case: C.A. No. 7:08-cv-03020

On October 28 of 2010 the Federal District Judge supported an earlier Order and Report opinion by the Federal District Magistrate Judge that the Defamation part of the lawsuit was a matter for state court. This is based upon information and belief.

COME NOW THE PLAINTIFF complaining of the Defendant and would respectfully show unto this Honorable Court the following:

1. The Plaintiff is now a resident of Greenville County, South Carolina.
2. Upon information and belief, the defendant is a South Carolina Corporation with its principle place of business at 3010 North Blackstock Road in Spartanburg, South Carolina 29301.

Basis of Claim

3. Defendant employees colluded and contrived a plan to get rid of the Plaintiff when the Plaintiff was employed at Tietex International, Ltd.

4. Tietex employees Mark Isbell, Wade Wallace and HR manager David Wilson colluded and collaborated to create "cause" so that a case could be made for terminating the Plaintiff.

5. For months leading up to the Plaintiff's termination, Wallace maliciously published memos containing knowingly false and defaming information about the Plaintiff's job performance, character and capabilities. The published documents contained numerous elements stated as fact that were defaming, were maliciously and knowingly false and which caused and would cause significant damage to the Plaintiff.

6. The maliciously defaming statements would be passed on to top management. The maliciously false and defaming statements, stated as fact, would be the basis for and grounds on which the defendant employees would base their claim that the Plaintiff should be and would be terminated by his employer.

7. Based on the Plaintiff good employee standing and previous track record with Tietex International, the defendant employees considered the libelous and defaming memos as necessary in order to create "cause" that would lead to Plaintiff termination.

8. During 2002-2005 Mark Isbell gained control of the Tietex manufacturing operation. The Plaintiff was involved in Technical management areas during that time - not directly involved with Isbell. Two young Mark Isbell protégés, Wade Wallace (hired by Isbell at the age of 26 in 2000) and Joey Griffin, were given top managerial jobs by Isbell. Such decisions often ignored the standing and rights of older employees. Age discrimination and mistreatment of older employees became a covert topic of discussion at Tietex. Discrimination and racial slurs against two black employee were also of note.

9. The Plaintiff was very much aware of the discriminatory practices taking place. The Plaintiff was highly concerned because of the negative impact the unlawful practices would have on the company well being. When the Plaintiff made a serious decision to take the Tietex job in 1994, plans were that he would retire from Tietex. Therefore, company well-being and good performance were even more important.

10. Out of high concern, the Plaintiff made a visit to the EEOC about the discriminatory practices to see what recourses were available. Primarily the Plaintiff was looking for some possible remedial action that would not be disruptive. No help came from that effort. Some time later the Plaintiff went directly to his boss and requested that something be done. Not long after that, the Plaintiff was demoted two levels and assigned to report to Wade Wallace. That demotion occurred on February 1, 2007.

11. In early December of 2006, prior to his being assigned to report to Wallace, Plaintiff had an important visit from the Tietex company owner Martin Wildeman. Typically, Mr. Wildeman stayed out of mainstream running of the company and attendant problem areas, preferring instead to let his top managers have full control.

12. The Plaintiff was asked to try to develop a less costly back coating for a large volume, popular Tietex fire barrier mattress fabric called C237. The cost of the C237 was being driven way up by an expensive back coating purchased from Noveon (Lubrisol).

13. Wildeman said Tietex was losing money with C237. The owner further told the Plaintiff that competition was out to take Tietex business by offering the Tietex customers less costly barrier fabrics. The owner said Tietex could not afford to go any lower with C237 prices to meet that competition.

14. Mark Isbell and his manager Wade Wallace were directly responsible for the C237 program and for development of Tietex products and, therefore; ultimately for the cost of such products. In December 2006 the sales lady for Noveon (Lubrisol) had been calling on Wallace at Tietex for more than a year and nothing of consequence had been done during that time about the over priced Noveon (Lubrisol) back coating compound.

15. By January 26, 2007 the Plaintiff had fully developed a viable replacement for the Noveon (Lubrisol) compound. It would save Tietex more than 3 million dollars annually if implemented into the Tietex C237 program.

16. Six days later on February 1, 2007 the Plaintiff mysteriously was told to report to Mark Isbell's office (Wallace's boss) for assignment to his new boss. First words out of Isbell's mouth when the Plaintiff entered Isbell's office were "You're mine now". Isbell told the Plaintiff that he would be reporting to Wade Wallace.

17. One of Wade Wallace's first directives was to ban the Plaintiff from going into the Tietex Technical building. A pretext reason was given for that banning. That building was the only place on the premises where the Plaintiff could do meaningful projects and development work. Wallace was well aware of that. Wallace further "justified" his move by announcing that the Plaintiff could order whatever equipment he needed and set up a laboratory operation in the main plant of the Tietex operation. All efforts made by the Plaintiff to set up a place to do meaningful work in the plant were thwarted by Wallace.

18. Wallace quickly set in to make things as miserable as possible for the Plaintiff. On February 7, 2007 Wallace made a visit to the Plaintiff's small make shift office area in back of the Tietex facility and verbally unloaded on the Plaintiff "for having ignored project requests." Wallace closed out the verbal onslaught by threatening the Plaintiff with if the Plaintiff did not shape up Tietex would be hiring another chemist.

19. On February 9, 2007 Wallace would produced and issued a false and pretext memo regarding the events of two days earlier. The Plaintiff was not copied and would not know of that memo until many months later-after his termination.

20. On the morning of March 5, 2007 Wallace called the Plaintiff by phone and told the Plaintiff to come to Wallace's office for a 30-day review. When the Plaintiff arrived Wallace said that they needed to go to David Wilson's office (Wilson was a relatively new HR manager) so Wilson could sit in on the meeting.

21. In Wilson's office Wallace made numerous false, defaming and unfounded accusations. Wallace closed the meeting by informing the Plaintiff that he had 30 days to shape up or Tietex would be hiring a new chemist. Stunned by the accusations, the Plaintiff requested that Wallace email a listing to him of those areas in which he needed to shape up so he would not forget them. Wallace obliged by producing and issuing another knowingly false and defaming memo.

22. The Plaintiff made a special visit to speak face-to-face with HR manager David Wilson regarding what was happening to him. Wilson was short and not open to listening to the Plaintiff. Wilson ended the short meeting by telling the Plaintiff that "If you want to keep your job I advise to keep your mouth shut and do what you are told to do."

23. The Plaintiff barrier fabric back coating formula finalized just days earlier was a huge topic with Wallace since it involved an area of responsibility where Wallace and his boss Isbell had in essence let the company down. Wallace, during the first week of February 2007 told the Plaintiff that the compound would have to be made by an outside vendor. The Plaintiff had no problem with that directive in that Tietex could still generate a savings of close to 3 million dollars annually going that route.

24. One of the most significant items regarding the Plaintiff's C237 barrier fabric compound project was that it would necessarily take several months to play out. Since it was mandated by the company owner, Wallace and Isbell were in no position but to allow the project to run its course. Over the months that followed Wallace and Isbell did everything necessary to make sure the Plaintiff C237 project "failed".

25. In mid June of 2007 Mark Isbell went to see the Tietex owner and told the owner that the Plaintiff had failed miserably with two important projects and essentially told the owner that something had to be done.

26. On June 18, 2007 Wallace called the Plaintiff to his office. Once there Wallace presented the Plaintiff with a memo report regarding Plaintiff failures in two key projects. One of those "failures" was the C237 mattress fire barrier fabric replacement compound project. The memo was full of false and defaming statements. Wallace told the Plaintiff that he had 30 days to remedy the situation or he would be replaced.

27. The Plaintiff would later learn that the Wallace June 18 memo was prompted by Mark Isbell's earlier mid June visit to see the owner. It would also become evident later that Isbell had already met a 25 year old lady who was a Milliken employee, a textile chemist, and who was the evening bartender at a local bar where Isbell had connections. That young lady would be hired as the Tietex Chemist after the Plaintiff was terminated.

28. Strangely on June 18, 2007 the same day of what was dubbed "the final written warning" memo, Wallace assigned the Plaintiff a Project that would become known as the "TriBlend" project. That project had nothing to do with the two so-called "failed" projects listed in Wallace's June 18, 2007 memo.

29. The TriBlend project would require that the Plaintiff go to a local chemical sales company called Hexion to use their lab. The Plaintiff was still banned from the Tietex lab building. Wallace expressed that he had no problems with the Plaintiff going to an outside lab to get the project done. In the days following June 18 the Plaintiff started the TriBlend project. The Plaintiff needed time off during the week of June 25, 2007 and took approved vacation for that week. In spite of it being vacation, the Plaintiff did some project work that week.

30. Near the end of that vacation week Wallace left a phone message for the Plaintiff telling the Plaintiff that he needed to come back to work first of the following week (week of July 2, 2007) and get the TriBlend project finished before he (Wallace) left for a European Vacation. The Plaintiff felt that it would take 2-3 hours to complete the project and it would be completed at Hexion. The Plaintiff called Wallace and acknowledged that he had received Wallace's message.

31. On Monday July 2, 2007 the Plaintiff spent the entire day doing an EPA Form R report for the Tietex Environmental coordinator who needed help with the report. The Plaintiff called Wallace and mentioned to Wallace that he would go to Hexion on Tuesday to finish the TriBlend project for Wallace. Wallace concurred.

32. On the evening of Monday July 2, 2007 when the Plaintiff arrived home, his wife was very frantic and scared because fire ants were coming into the house at several different locations. She was highly allergic to fire ant bites. The Plaintiff called Wallace's work phone, got no answer and left a message indicating that he was going to take care of the fire ant problem Tuesday morning first thing and then would go on Hexion to finish the TriBlend project. That phone call followed standard procedure for the Tietex operation and also per the arrangement between Plaintiff and Wallace.

33. On Tuesday, July 3, 2007 after taking care of the ant problem the Plaintiff showered and went to Hexion to complete the TriBlend project for Wallace.

34. The Plaintiff could not get into Hexion because everyone was tied up in a staff meeting (the Plaintiff would learn this later). The Plaintiff then started looking for another place nearby where he could wrap up the project.

35. Later that day Wallace called the Plaintiff on his cell phone. Wallace first asked the Plaintiff to come to his office but when he learned the Plaintiff was not at Tietex he banned the Plaintiff from Tietex with no cause until July 19 after he had returned from his European vacation. It soon became apparent to the Plaintiff that Wallace had planned to terminate him on Tuesday July 3, 2007 before he left for his European vacation.

36. Following Plaintiff termination Tietex was obviously concerned that the Plaintiff could take a job with a mattress barrier fabrics competitor. Based on reliable information false and defaming rumors about the Plaintiff were spread outside the company.

37. One example: Not long after termination a former Tietex employee who was then working with a Tietex mattress fabrics competitor informed the Plaintiff of rumor out in the industry about why the Plaintiff was terminated. The Plaintiff was told word apparently had been put out that the Plaintiff was involved in a Tietex customer test report falsification issue and was terminated as a result. Some research into the matter indicated that a Tietex customer as far away as Texas had heard rumors about the reason for Plaintiff termination.

38. The memo issued by Wade Wallace on February 9, 2007 was pretext and contained false statements about the events of February 7. That memo belittles Plaintiff mental stability. Wallace has no evidence to support the content of the memo.

39. False and defaming statements made in a March 5, 2007 memo issued by Wallace belittle the Plaintiff's character and work ethic. Every point made by Wallace was been denied by the Plaintiff. Again, Wallace was making false and defaming accusations; therefore, there was and is no proof.

40. After Wallace and Isbell allowed the Plaintiff C237 project to sufficiently and necessarily run its course, they then colluded to produce a June 18, 2007 "final written warning" memo that would portray the Plaintiff as grossly incompetent with regard to doing his job. The false and defaming statements about two projects made in that report would be the "nail in the coffin" with regard to laying the groundwork for getting the Plaintiff fired. Of course witnesses but importantly Plaintiff documentation will show untruths in and pretext nature of that memo.

41. On July 18, 2007 one day before the Plaintiff was going to be terminated, Wallace put together a final memo in which he recommended termination of the Plaintiff. The memo was nothing but a compilation of knowingly false and defaming statements many already published in earlier memos.

42. The malicious, unjustified banning of the Plaintiff from Tietex premises by Wallace on July 3, 2007 hurt the Plaintiff reputation in the eyes of his coworkers.

DAMAGES

43. The Plaintiff, by gross unfairness, lost his job of 13 years and has been unable to find employment directly as a result of unlawful actions of his former employer.

44. The Plaintiff's ability to restart a career relative to his college degree was essentially destroyed by the defaming actions of his former employer.

45. The Plaintiff's efforts to restart a career as a consultant were short-lived. The Plaintiff feels confident this is because of defaming remarks made by Tietex.

46. Plaintiff's wife/family have sacrificed and have suffered undeserved emotional and other damages as a direct result of the defendant's unlawful actions. In particular, the past few years the Plaintiff's wife has been through a very difficult time mentally and physically as a direct result of the unlawful actions by the Plaintiff former employer.

47. The Plaintiff firmly believes and that the facts will show he was or has been a victim of Defamation and Defamation per se. The extent of the defamation is such that the Plaintiff also firmly believes that special damages have occurred.

MOTION TO AMEND COMPLAINT

C.A. No: 2011-CP-42-4538

Plaintiff hereby moves the Court for an Order, pursuant to Rule 15(a), SCRCP, allowing it to amend its Complaint in order to clarify the factual allegations and add additional causes of action against Defendant. All claims Plaintiff seeks to add relate to Defendant's conduct in this case and therefore all claims should relate back to the date of the original filing.

Further in support of this Motion, the undersigned notes that Plaintiff filed the operative Complaint, pro se, without the assistance of counsel. An amendment is needed in order to properly set for the factual and legal claims in this matter.

Plaintiff asserts that this no party will be prejudiced if the Court grants the Motion. Although the parties have exchanged initial written discovery, Defendant has failed to properly respond to discovery and this failure will need to be taken up by the Court before the parties can take depositions.

This Motion is also based upon South Carolina case law, court rules, affidavits, and any memoranda of authority to be submitted hereafter.

5. Plaintiff was employed under the Tietex Corporation Policy Manual (hereinafter "Manual"), the terms of which are incorporated herein by reference.
6. The Manual sets out procedures and rules compulsory for Defendant and which are applicable to Plaintiff.
7. Plaintiff was trained in the procedures and rules and instructed extensively on their compulsory nature.
8. Plaintiff performed the role of a Senior Chemist and Technical Manager for Defendant with an extensive job description.
9. Prior to early February, 2007, Plaintiff reported to Defendant employee, Jake Butts who has testified Plaintiff was capable and even "brilliant" in his job duties.
10. On February 1, 2007, Plaintiff was removed from the supervision of Mr. Butts and placed under the supervision of Robert "Wade" Wallace.
11. Among his other duties, Plaintiff was asked by Defendant Corporation owner, Martin Wildeman, to develop a back coating for a fire barrier fabric known as C237 and did so, producing a product in January, 2007 which would have meant a significant cost savings to Defendant Corporation as well as an improvement in product quality control.
12. Prior to this development, Defendant had been forced to purchase the coating compound for the fabric from a company called Noveon at an expensive price.

13. Defendant employee, Robert "Wade" Wallace, had ulterior plans for the supply of this back coating which included purchasing from an outside company via someone with whom he had a personal relationship at a loss to Defendant Corporation.
14. Defendant employee, Mark Isbell, conspired to replace Plaintiff with a much younger woman with whom Mr. Isbell had an ongoing personal relationship.
15. Defendant employee, Mr. Wallace, along with Defendant employee, Mr. Isbell began a campaign to set up Plaintiff for failure and eventual termination via harassment, defamation, and intimidation.
16. In February, 2007, Mr. Wallace banned Plaintiff from the technical building of Defendant Corporation, making Plaintiff's job, particularly as it related to development of the C237 project, nearly impossible.
17. Mr. Wallace progressively banned Plaintiff from areas in which he needed to work, laying the groundwork for Mr. Wallace's allegations against Plaintiff that he should be terminated for absenteeism.
18. Mr. Wallace, upon becoming Plaintiff's supervisor, harassed and intimidated Plaintiff, to wit, revising Plaintiff's job description, making assertions of Plaintiff's mental incompetence with no compliance to procedure on obtaining help for Plaintiff, beginning a campaign to document any and all performance issues, ignoring Plaintiff's repeated requests for project support, and denying Plaintiff's repeated requests for access to the equipment needed to perform his job.

19. Mr. Isbell, as supervisor to Mr. Wallace, used his position of authority over Plaintiff to intimidate and establish "ownership" over Plaintiff.
20. Plaintiff complied with the policies of Defendant and performed his job well insomuch as Defendant employees did not intentionally make it impossible for Plaintiff to so do.
21. Defendant employees intentionally created an environment in which Plaintiff would struggle to perform his job responsibilities.
22. Defendant employees intentionally berated, harassed, defamed, and persecuted Plaintiff during the course of his employ at Defendant Corporation by making derogatory remarks regarding Plaintiff's age, job performance, mental status, and through verbal intimidation and threats of termination if Plaintiff did not maintain his silence regarding his working conditions.
23. Defendant employees conspired to put forward false and defamatory reasons for the termination of Plaintiff to achieve ulterior objectives including unwarranted and untrue claims of ineptitude, mental incompetence, and absence from work.
24. Defendant terminated the employment of Plaintiff on July 19, 2007 based upon the pretextual case crafted against him by Defendant employees.
25. Plaintiff was replaced at Defendant Corporation by Patricia Guzman, at the behest of Mr. Isbell who had been conspiring to achieve this end for some time.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

(Breach of Contract)

26. Plaintiff incorporates and re-alleges each and every allegation contained herein above as if fully set forth herein verbatim where not inconsistent with this cause of action and would respectfully show the court the following based on information and belief.
27. Plaintiff was trained and instructed, as an employee of Defendant, in the formal policies and rules both verbally and via materials wherein the rules and procedures were memorialized in writing. These policies and rules included, but were not limited to a progressive discipline policy.
28. The policies and rules delineated to Plaintiff were mandatory for Defendant employees and applied to Plaintiff. These policies and rules constitute a contract of employment enforceable by Plaintiff.
29. Defendant, by and through its employee agents, breached the terms of the Plaintiff's employment contract by way of denying Plaintiff rights guaranteed him by virtue of his contract and by treating Plaintiff in a manner not in accordance with the policies set forth by the contract and by the Defendant Corporation via its employees/agents.
30. Defendant terminated Plaintiff based upon pretextual reasons and therefore in bad faith.
31. Plaintiff has suffered harm and damages as a direct and proximate result of this breach including the loss of wages and benefits to which he would have been

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

(Breach of Contract Accompanied by a Fraudulent Act)

32. Plaintiff incorporates and re-alleges each and every allegation contained herein above as if fully set forth herein verbatim where not inconsistent with this cause of action and would respectfully show the court the following based on information and belief.
33. The Defendant breached the contract with a fraudulent intent.
34. The breach of contract delineated hereinabove was accompanied by a fraudulent act – to wit, the active conspiring and eventual success of Defendant employees in terminating Plaintiff's employment based upon pretextual reasons not founded in truth and thus in willful violation of Plaintiff's terms and contract of employment as set forth hereinabove.
35. Defendant's breach of contract and fraudulent acts directly and proximately injured Plaintiff.
36. Plaintiff prays that this Honorable Court would award him actual, consequential, and punitive damages for the Defendant Corporation's breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

(Defamation)

37. Plaintiff incorporates and re-alleges each and every allegation contained herein above as if fully set forth herein verbatim where not inconsistent with this cause of action and would respectfully show the court the following based on information and belief.
38. Defendant, through its employees, has issued false statements of a highly inflammatory and defamatory nature regarding the Plaintiff and his professional competence which it published excessively and needlessly both verbally and in written form to third parties.
39. Defendant maliciously publicized the defamatory statements.
40. Defendant showed willful disregard for the rights and reputation of the Plaintiff and showed a reckless lack of temperance in the scope of its publishing of these statements even within the scope of the employer-employee relationship.
41. Plaintiff has suffered damages which are presumed by law as well as special damages including humiliation and mental suffering. Furthermore, Plaintiff's character, reputation, and value as a prospective employee have been damaged as a direct result of Defendant's actions.
42. Therefore, Plaintiff is entitled to actual and consequential damages as well as punitive damages for the purpose of deterring the Defendant from future such acts.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress)

43. Plaintiff incorporates and re-alleges each and every allegation contained herein above as if fully set forth herein verbatim where not inconsistent with this cause of action and would respectfully show the court the following based on information and belief.
44. Defendant employee agents, with full knowledge and forethought, using their position of power and authority over Plaintiff, sought to bully, intimidate, and humiliate Plaintiff to achieve their own ends, knowing the emotional damage they would and did inflict upon Plaintiff.
45. By virtue of screaming at, lying about, denying workspace and materials to, and setting traps for Plaintiff at a place he was entitled to protection from such behavior and in a manner so egregious as to be intolerable to any normal person, Defendant, by and through its employee agents knowingly and directly caused severe emotional harm and distress to Plaintiff.
46. Defendant's conduct was extreme and outrageous, exceeding all bounds of decency.
47. No reasonable man could be expected to endure the distress.
48. Plaintiff suffered emotional and psychological harm and damage as a direct result of this vile, ongoing and constant campaign on the part of Defendant via its employee agents to undermine, ridicule, and be rid of Plaintiff and is entitled to relief in the form of damages both actual, consequential, and punitive.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for the damages outlined in the Amended Complaint, for a trial by Jury, and for such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

COMES NOW Defendant, Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), pursuant to South Carolina Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c), and requests that the Court enter a Protective Order precluding Plaintiff from re-deposing a Tietex representative. Tietex shows as follows in support of its motion:

1. Plaintiff Gary G. Harris ("Harris") originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008—C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action").
2. Harris asserted claims against Tietex in the First Action alleging (1) violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), (2) breach of contract, (3) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (4) defamation.
3. All of Harris's claims in the First Action surrounded allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.
4. Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris's assertion of the federal ADEA claim.
5. Both parties engaged in thorough discovery in the First Action upon removal to federal court, including Harris taking the deposition of Tietex Representative Wade Wallace.

6. After the completion of discovery in federal court, Tietex moved for summary judgment with respect to all of Harris's claims.

7. On October 28, 2010, the federal court granted Tietex's motion with respect to Harris's ADEA claims and chose not to address Harris's remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice.

8. Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action") on October 21, 2011.

9. Harris's pro se Complaint asserted claims against Tietex for defamation and discrimination, relying on the same factual allegations he made in the First Action.

10. On March 8, 2012, Harris's current counsel entered his appearance.

11. On August 10, 2012, the Court granted Harris's motion to amend his Complaint.

12. On September 5, 2012, Harris filed his Amended Complaint in the Second Action.

13. Harris's Amended Complaint in the Second Action alleges identical claims as those alleged in the First Action (excepting his ADEA claim) and adds a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress.

14. Identical to the First Action, all of Harris's claims in the Second Action surround allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

15. Notwithstanding that Harris has already taken Mr. Wallace's deposition in the First Action with respect to the same facts on which Harris now relies in the Second Action, Harris has noticed Mr. Wallace's deposition to take place on January 24, 2013.

16. Rule 26(c), SCRCP, permits the Court to "make any order which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden by expense, including . . . (1) that the discovery not be had."

17. Tietex requests that the Court exercise its power under Rule 26(c) and enter a Protective Order precluding Harris from re-taking Mr. Wallace's deposition, as there is nothing on the face of the Amended Complaint in the Second Action suggesting that Mr. Wallace would have discoverable information not already provided in his deposition in the First Action.

18. Harris is simply seeking a second bite at the apple with respect to Mr. Wallace's deposition, and Mr. Wallace should not be forced to incur the associated undue burden and expense.

WHEREFORE, Tietex requests that the Court enter a Protective Order directing that Mr. Wallace's deposition noticed for January 24, 2013, not take place.

Dated this 11th day of January, 2013.

MOTION FOR ENTRY OF PROTECTIVE ORDER

C.A. No.: 2011-CP-42-4538

COMES NOW, by and through his undersigned counsel of record, Plaintiff Gary G. Harris, and hereby moves this Court, at such time and place as counsel may be heard, and pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the South Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure, for a Protective Order related to further depositions in this case based upon the following:

On January 9, 2013, Plaintiff gave notice to Defendant of his intent to take the deposition of defense witness Wade Wallace pursuant to Rule 30 of the South Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure on January 24, 2013.

In correspondence dated January 7, 2013, by Defense Counsel, Plaintiff was notified of Defendant's intent to seek the protection of this Court preventing the deposition of its witness Wade Wallace on the grounds that he had been deposed previously in Federal Court. Defense Counsel has now filed a Motion for a Protective Order. Defense Counsel asserts that by seeking to depose Wade Wallace in this civil action, Plaintiff is seeking another bite of the apple.

Both Plaintiff and Mr. Wallace were deposed in a related civil action that has since been dismissed. Despite the fact that Defense Counsel is taking the position that Mr. Wallace may not be deposed in this civil action, he seeks to take the deposition of Plaintiff. Defendant gave notice to Plaintiff of its intent to hold the deposition of Plaintiff on January 17, 2013.

Plaintiff asserts that because this litigation is separate from the previously dismissed litigation, Defendant's Motion for Protective Order is without merit. However, Plaintiff seeks an Order of Protection placing a stay on all further depositions in this case of any persons previously deposed in the previous, to include that of Plaintiff Gary G. Harris, until the Court has had opportunity to rule on Defendant's Motion for Protective Order regarding the deposition of Wade Wallace. The reason for this motion is that it would be inequitable for Plaintiff to be deposed while refusing to allow Mr. Wallace to be deposed.

Furthermore, to the extent that the Court agrees that the one deposition rule applies and believes Mr. Wallace is entitled to protection from being deposed, Plaintiff moves in the alternative that any questioning of Plaintiff be limited to new allegations raised in the Amended Complaint.

This Motion will be further supported by the pleadings of record and such other and further documents, affidavits, and/or memoranda as may be served upon the Court prior to the hearing and upon the common and statutory laws of the State of South Carolina.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF
DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER
AND IN OPPOSITION TO PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

COMES NOW Defendant, Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), and submits this Memorandum in support of its Motion for Protective Order and in opposition to Plaintiff Gary G. Harris's ("Harris") Motion for Protective Order.

I. PROCEDURAL HISTORY AND RELEVANT FACTS

Plaintiff Gary G. Harris ("Harris") originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008: C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action"). Harris asserted claims against Tietex in the First Action alleging (1) violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), (2) breach of contract, (3) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (4) defamation. All of Harris's claims in the First Action surrounded allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris's federal ADEA claim. Upon removal to federal court, both parties engaged in thorough discovery in the First Action, including Tietex taking Harris's deposition and Harris taking the deposition of Tietex Representative Wade Wallace.

After the completion of discovery in federal court, Tietex moved for summary judgment on all of Harris's claims. On October 28, 2010, the federal court granted Tietex's motion with respect to Harris's ADEA claims and chose not to address Harris's remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice.

Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action") on October 21, 2011. Harris's pro se Complaint asserted claims against Tietex for defamation and unspecified discrimination, relying on the same factual allegations he made in the First Action. On March 8, 2012, Harris's current counsel entered his appearance. On August 10, 2012, the Court granted Harris's motion to amend his Complaint. On September 5, 2012, Harris filed his Amended Complaint in the Second Action.

Harris's Amended Complaint in the Second Action alleges identical claims as those alleged in the First Action (excepting his ADEA claim) and adds a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress. Identical to the First Action, all of Harris's claims in the Second Action surround allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

Notwithstanding that Harris has already taken Mr. Wallace's deposition in the First Action with respect to the same facts on which Harris now relies in the Second Action, on January 9, 2013, Harris noticed Mr. Wallace's deposition to take place on January 24, 2013. On January 11, 2013, Tietex promptly moved for a protective order seeking to prevent Harris from re-taking Mr. Wallace's deposition.

On November 5, 2012, Tietex noticed Harris's deposition in the Second Action to take place on December 19, 2012. On December 21, 2012, Tietex rescheduled Harris's deposition to take place on January 17, 2013, to accommodate Harris. On January 14, 2013—a mere three days before Harris's deposition—Harris filed a Motion for Protective Order seeking to stay his deposition pending a ruling on Tietex's Motion for Protective Order.

II. ARGUMENTS AND AUTHORITIES

A. Harris's Proposed Re-Deposition of Wade Wallace is Unreasonably Duplicative and Should be Prevented under Rule 26(c), SCRCP.

Rule 26(c), SCRCP, permits the Court to "make any order which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden by expense, including . . . (1) that the discovery not be had." Tietex's Motion for Protective Order requests that the Court exercise its power under Rule 26(c) and enter a Protective Order precluding Harris from re-taking Mr. Wallace's deposition, as there is nothing on the face of the Amended Complaint in the Second Action suggesting that Mr. Wallace would have discoverable information not already provided in his deposition in the First Action.

Harris's Motion for Protective Order supports this conclusion, as there is nothing contained therein suggesting that Harris requires a second deposition of Mr. Wallace for any specific reason. Harris's motion simply contends "that because [the Second Action] is separate from the [First Action], Defendant's Motion for Protective Order is without merit." Harris is apparently relying solely on Rule 30(a)(2), SCRCP, which provides that "[t]he deposition of any party or witness may only be taken one time in any case except by agreement of the parties through their counsel or by order of the court for good cause shown." However, Harris disregards the Court's clear ability under Rule 26(c), SCRCP, to order that any given discovery "not be had" in order to "protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden by expense." This is the provision on which Tietex relies in making its Motion for Protective Order, as Harris has not provided any reason to believe that there is a specific need to re-take Mr. Wallace's deposition.

Mr. Wallace's first deposition consists of sworn testimony about the very factual situation underpinning Harris's allegations in the Second Action—Harris's employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom. Harris has full access to the transcript of Mr. Wallace's first deposition, and he is obviously entitled to rely on that testimony in the Second Action. In the absence of any legitimate justification for re-taking Mr. Wallace's deposition, Tietex requests that the Court invoke its power under Rule 26(c) and prevent such deposition to protect Mr. Wallace from the annoyance, undue burden, and expense of having to be re-deposed.

B. Tietex's Proposed Re-Deposition of Harris is Necessary to Ascertain the Precise Basis for His Claims in the Second Action, Including One Claim Not Asserted in the First Action.

Unlike Harris's unknown purpose for re-deposing Mr. Wallace, Tietex's purpose in taking Harris's deposition in the Second Action is obvious: Harris has filed a new lawsuit against Tietex, including a claim he has never previously asserted. Tietex is clearly entitled to depose Harris to (1) ensure he is not attempting to change his story with respect to the three claims present in both the First Action and the Second Action, and (2) determine the facts on which he is basing his newly-asserted claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress. Harris must accept any potential burden he could allegedly incur by Tietex taking his deposition in the Second Action, as he chose to file the Second Action and insert a new claim therein. Harris's contention in his Motion for Protective Order that "it would be inequitable for Plaintiff to be deposed while refusing to allow Mr. Wallace to be deposed" ignores the facts—Harris, not Mr. Wallace, instigated this litigation, and Harris must accept the burden associated with his decision to do so.

III. CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, Tietex requests that the Court (1) grant its Motion for Protective Order and prevent Harris from unnecessarily re-deposing Mr. Wallace, and (2) deny Harris' Motion for Protective Order and allow Tietex to proceed with its deposition of Harris.

Dated this 17th day of January, 2013.

DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

COMES NOW Defendant Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), pursuant to Rule 56, SCRCP, and moves for summary judgment on all of Plaintiff Gary G. Harris' ("Harris") claims. Tietex shows as follows in support of this Motion:

1. Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on all of Harris' claims under the doctrine of collateral estoppel, as the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina made numerous factual findings and conclusions in a prior lawsuit between the parties ("First Action") that are fatal to Harris' claims in this matter.

2. The doctrine of res judicata precludes Harris from asserting three of his seven defamation claims and his claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress, as he failed to in any way raise those claims in the First Action.

3. Three of Harris' seven defamation claims and his claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress are barred by the applicable statutes of limitation.

4. All of Harris' claims fail as a matter of law based on the complete absence of a genuine issue of material fact with respect to the requisite elements for such claims.

Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment is based on the pleadings on file in this matter, the Memorandum in Support of Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment (filed contemporaneously herewith), and the following Attachments to Tietex's Memorandum:

1. Order and Report of Magistrate Judge Kevin F. McDonald in the First Action (Attachment A to Tietex's Memorandum);
2. Opinion and Order of District Judge J. Michelle Childs in the First Action (Attachment B to Tietex's Memorandum);
3. Applicable excerpts and exhibits from Harris' deposition in the First Action (Attachment C to Tietex's Memorandum);
4. Applicable excerpts and exhibits from Harris' deposition in this matter (Attachment D to Tietex's Memorandum);
5. Affidavit of Pamela Griffin (Attachment E to Tietex's Memorandum);
6. Applicable excerpt from Harris' document production in the First Action (Attachment F to Tietex's Memorandum); and
7. Opinion and Order of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit in the First Action (Attachment G to Tietex's Memorandum).

WHEREFORE, Tietex respectfully requests that the Court grant its motion for summary judgment and dismiss Harris' Complaint in its entirety, and grant such other and further relief the Court considers proper.

Dated this 15th day of May, 2013.

I. INTRODUCTION AND STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Plaintiff Gary G. Harris ("Harris") originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008—C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action"). Harris asserted claims against Tietex in the First Action alleging (1) violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), (2) breach of contract, (3) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (4) defamation (consisting of four separate sub-claims). All of Harris's claims in the First Action arose from allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris's ADEA claim. Upon removal to federal court, both parties engaged in thorough discovery in the First Action, including Tietex taking Harris's deposition and Harris taking the deposition of Tietex Representative Wade Wallace, as well as the depositions of non-party witnesses Jake Butts and George Henderson.

After the completion of discovery, Tietex moved for summary judgment on all of Harris's claims. On October 28, 2010, the federal court granted Tietex's motion on Harris's ADEA claims and chose not to address Harris's remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice.

Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action") on October 21, 2011. Harris's pro se Complaint asserted claims against Tietex for defamation and unspecified discrimination, relying on the same general facts alleged in the First Action. Harris's defamation allegations in his pro se Complaint added two new defamation claims that he never identified in the First Action.

On March 8, 2012, Harris's current counsel entered his appearance. On August 10, 2012, the Court granted Harris's motion to amend his Complaint. On September 5, 2012, Harris filed his Amended Complaint in the Second Action. Harris's Amended Complaint in the Second Action alleges identical claims to those alleged in the First Action (except his ADEA claim) and adds a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress ("outrage") based on the same facts. In addition to the two new defamation claims Harris first identified in his pro se Complaint, Harris identified a third new defamation claim during his deposition in the Second Action.

Identical to the First Action, all of Harris's claims in the Second Action arose from allegations regarding his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom. Harris' claims in the Second Action ignore the Federal Court's factual findings and conclusions in the First Action. Harris' Second Action is nothing more than an attempt to obtain an impermissible second bite at the apple. This case is ripe for summary judgment.

II. SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

A. Collateral Estoppel Bars All of Harris' Claims as a Matter of Law Based on Conclusive Findings by the Federal Court in the First Action.

All of Harris's claims fail as a matter of law under the doctrine of collateral estoppel. In granting summary judgment to Tietex on Harris's ADEA claim in the First Action, the Federal Court made numerous factual determinations and conclusions that are fatal to Harris's claims in the Second Action, including the following: (1) Harris was not performing his job at a level that met Tietex's legitimate expectations; (2) Tietex had a legitimate reason for terminating Harris's employment; and (3) Harris cannot show that Tietex's reasons for his termination were pretextual. Each of Harris's claims in the Second Action relies on an assertion contrary to one or more of these conclusively-determined facts. Since the doctrine of collateral estoppel precludes Harris from making such contrary assertions, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment.

B. Harris' Outrage Claim and Three of His Defamation Claims are Barred by the Statutes of Limitation and the Doctrine of Res Judicata.

Each of the defamation claims that Harris first identified in his pro se Complaint (as well as the non-pleaded claim that he first identified in his deposition in the Second Action¹) are barred by the statute of limitations and the doctrine of res judicata. These defamation claims are based on “statements” that were allegedly made in February 2007 and July 2007. Harris did not file his pro se Complaint in the Second Action until October 21, 2011. Harris’ deposition in the Second Action did not occur until March 14, 2013. Sections 15-3-20 and 15-3-550 of the South Carolina Code required Harris to file these claims within two years of the date on which the alleged statements took place. Harris’ new claims are barred by the statute of limitations. The doctrine of res judicata further bars these defamation claims, as his failure to in any way assert these claims in the First Action precludes him from asserting them in the Second Action.

Harris’s outrage claim is also barred by the statute of limitations and the doctrine of res judicata. Harris’s termination from Tietex occurred on July 19, 2007. Harris did not file his pro se Complaint in the Second Action until October 21, 2011. Harris did not file his Amended Complaint in the Second Action—the first pleading in which he alleged his outrage claim—until August 30, 2012. Even assuming that Harris’s outrage claim relates back to the filing of his pro se Complaint on October 21, 2011, Harris did not assert the claim until more than four years after his termination from Tietex (the last event on which his outrage claim is allegedly based). Harris’s outrage claim is barred under S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-20, as S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-530 required Harris to file the claim by no later than July 18, 2010. The doctrine of res judicata bars Harris's outrage claim for the same reason discussed above with respect to his newly alleged defamation claims—he cannot assert them in the Second Action after he failed to assert them in the First Action.

C. Harris Has Not Identified a Genuine Dispute of Material Fact with Respect to Any of His Claims, and Tietex is Entitled to Summary Judgment on the Merits.

Placing aside the preclusion of Harris's claims under the doctrines of collateral estoppel and res judicata and the statute of limitations, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on Harris's claims due to the complete absence of a genuine issue of material fact. Harris has failed to produce a shred of evidence of any contractual obligations Tietex allegedly owed to Harris—he admits that he had no written contract, that he was employed at will, and that he cannot articulate any policies he relied upon in alleging a “contract” that could be breached. Even assuming the presence of contractual obligations, Harris has not produced any evidence that Tietex materially breached those unspecified obligations (and the Federal Court's orders conclusively show that Tietex rightfully terminated Harris' employment).

Harris' defamation claims in which he has actually pointed to a statement by Tietex rely exclusively on internal communications that were seen by only those to whom the memoranda were relevant.² Internal statements are covered by a qualified privilege, and Harris has produced no evidence of actual malice to overcome the privilege. Tietex is entitled to the complete defense of truth with respect to all of Harris' defamation claims, as the Federal Court's orders and Harris's own testimony make clear that all of Tietex's statements were substantially true.

² While Harris also vaguely alleged a defamation claim based on purported “rumors in the industry,” Harris has not identified a single statement by Tietex in support of this claim, which is based on nothing more than inadmissible hearsay. Harris has also alleged defamation claims based on Tietex banning him from the lab and suspending his employment (with pay); however, Harris has again failed to identify a single statement that Tietex allegedly published to any third party that could support his claims.

Moreover, Harris cannot show that Tietex was negligent in making any of the allegedly defamatory statements, and the Federal Court's orders demonstrate that Tietex acted reasonably as a matter of law in all regards.

Harris's outrage claim falls incredibly short of the standard under which South Carolina courts are willing to recognize such a claim. In fact, when South Carolina appellate courts have encountered allegations nearly identical to Harris', they have held that such allegations do not constitute a viable outrage claim as a matter of law.

There are no disputed material facts with respect to any of Harris' claims that would allow him to overcome Tietex's motion for summary judgment. Accordingly, Tietex is entitled to judgment as a matter of law on Harris' Amended Complaint, in its entirety.

III. STATEMENT OF FACTS

A. Harris' Employment.

1. Harris Was Employed At-Will and Had No Contract.

Harris began working at Tietex on July 13, 1994, as a Senior Research Chemist. (Mag. Ord. at 1³; Harris Dep. 1 at 58-60 & Exs. 6-7⁴.) Harris accepted an offer of employment; he knew he was employed at will; knew he could be terminated at any time for any reason; and knew he could leave Tietex at any time, for any reason. (Harris Dep. 1 at 60-61 & Ex. 6; Harris Dep. 2 at 140-42.) Harris admits he had no written contract of employment. (Harris Dep. 1 at 61-62; Harris Dep. 2 at 142.)

³ The Order and Report of Magistrate Judge Kevin F. McDonald in the First Action ("Magistrate's Order") is Attachment A and is referenced as "Mag. Ord." followed by the applicable page number(s). The Opinion and Order of District Judge J. Michelle Childs in the First Action ("District Judge's Order") is Attachment B and is referenced as "Dist. Judge Ord." followed by the applicable page number(s). In the District Judge's Order, Judge Childs expressly adopted the Magistrate's Order, in its entirety. (Dist. Judge Ord. at 1.) The Magistrate's Order and District Judge's Order were entered respectively as Exhibits 2 and 3 to Harris' deposition in the Second Action. Nearly all of the Statement of Facts set forth in this Memorandum come directly from the factual findings in the Magistrate's Order, the District Judge's Order, or both (and are quoted verbatim from the Orders). All these facts are conclusively determined and indisputable under the doctrine of collateral estoppel. See Pye v. Aycock, 325 S.C. 426, 436, 480 S.E.2d 455, 460 (Ct. App. 1997).

Harris claims he was given a copy of an employee handbook, which he kept for several years. (Harris Dep. 1 at 62.) Harris does not have a copy of the alleged handbook. (Id. at 63; Harris Dep. 2 at 143.) Harris claims employees were asked to turn in the handbooks at some point during his employment.⁵ (Id.) Harris says he periodically referred to the handbook, but never read it cover to cover. (Harris Dep. 1 at 62.) There was nothing in the handbook that Harris did not understand, and he admits he would have asked if he had any questions about a policy. (Id. at 62-63.)

Harris claims there was a progressive discipline policy in the handbook, but cannot give any details about the policy. (Id. at 64; Harris Dep. 2 at 143-44.) This is the only policy he specifically recalls from the alleged handbook. (Harris Dep. 1 at 64.)

Harris does not know what policies he contends created a contract of employment upon which he bases his claim of breach of contract. (Id. at 64-65; Harris Dep. 2 at 143-45.) Harris admits he cannot state the basis for his breach of contract claim, or his claim for breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act. (Harris Dep. 1 at 65; Harris Dep. 2 at 144-45.)

both. All excerpts and exhibits from Harris's deposition in the Second Action are Attachment D and are referenced as "Harris Dep. 2" followed by the applicable page number(s), exhibit number(s), or both. Harris acknowledged that all of his testimony from his deposition in the First Action remains true and accurate. (Harris Dep. 2 at 26.)

⁵ Tietex has never had an employee handbook. (Griffin Aff. at ¶ 3.) The Affidavit of Pamela Griffin is Attachment E.

2. Harris' Work Hours.

Harris' "normal working hours were 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., but he claims he was often at work by 6:00 or 6:30 a.m. and stayed later than 5:00 p.m." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 74-75.) "On occasion, Harris stayed until 8:00, 9:00, or 10:00 at night." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 77.) Harris "admitted that he was told by [his supervisor Wade] Wallace not to work in the plant for safety reasons when it was not operating." (Dist. Judge Ord. at 5; see also Mag. Ord. at 3-4, 17.) "Mr. Wallace told [Harris] that he could work in the plant anytime the plant was operational, and he could come into the facility to do office work when the plant was down." (Mag. Ord. at 3.) Wallace told Harris "not to operate any lab equipment in a lab setting when the plant was down and no other employees were present." (Id. at 3-4.) "Mr. Wallace told [Harris] that if he had to do lab work after regular business hours he should do it on weekday evenings when the second shift was operating." (Id. at 4.) Harris "admittedly ignored these directives due to his own opinion that the plant was safe when not operating." (Dist. Judge Ord. at 5.) "While his erratic hours had been acceptable to his previous supervisor, they were not acceptable to Wallace." (Id.) Harris "admits he was the only employee who did lab work after hours." (Mag. Ord. at 2.)

3. Harris Left Messages at Odd Hours.

Harris admits "that he left messages for managers when he knew they would not be answering their phones." (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 14.) Those who received the messages concluded that Harris was attempting to avoid a two-way conversation.

4. Jake Butts Relocated His Office to More Closely Supervise Harris.

There are four sections in the technical building: an office area; wet lab; physical testing; and an extension of the wet lab for chemists work, with a burn room.⁶ (Harris Dep. 1 at 86.) Butts had had difficulty keeping track of Harris due to Harris' erratic work hours, so Butts relocated his office from the plant to the office areas of the technical building (the lab), where Harris' office was situated, in order to more closely supervise Harris. (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 83, 86.) Harris admits that Butts' relocation was effective, as he saw Butts infrequently before Butts moved his office, but more often thereafter. (Harris Dep. 1 at 85-86.)

5. Harris' Complaints About the Smell of Mold Resulted in His Reassignment.

Soon after Butts relocated his office, Harris "claimed he noticed a mold smell and had symptoms of congestion, sinus headache, and flu." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 87.) Harris admitted that he does not recall anyone else complaining about the alleged smell. (Harris Dep. 1 at 88.) Harris "claimed that the smell originated from Jake Butts' clothing and the furniture Mr. Butts moved into his relocated office." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 93-94.) "After some time and several visits to doctors, including an ENT and allergist, [Harris] contended that the smell was the source of his illness due to an allergy to mold." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 88-89.) Harris "reported his belief to Mr. Butts." (Id.)

As a result of Harris' allegation that mold in the lab was making him ill, Tietex "hired a hygienist to perform testing in the lab." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 89.) "The hygienist reported that there was no mold contamination and that the air in the lab was cleaner than the outside air." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 91.) "Although [Harris] claims the testing was flawed, he admits he has no evidence of that." (Mag. Ord. at 2.) Harris does not know who performed the testing or what kind of testing was performed. Harris admits he has no first-hand knowledge of how the testing was conducted. (Harris Dep. 1 at 90-91.) Harris' "only specific complaint about the testing was that it did not focus solely on the office area of the lab, but tested all four sections of the laboratory." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 92.) "At some time in late 2006, [Harris] established a second office in the main plant." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 87-88.) Harris "continued to do work in the lab until February 2007." (Mag. Ord. at 2; Harris Dep. 1 at 87.)

"Effective February 1, 2007, [Harris] was [removed from Mr. Butts' supervision and] placed under the supervision of Wade Wallace." (Mag. Ord. at 3.) Tietex made this transition in part due to Harris' continued complaints about the smell associated with Mr. Butts.⁷ (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 101.)

B. Harris Began Reporting to Wade Wallace.

1. Tietex's Resolution of Harris' Complaint About the Mold Smell.

"Between February 2 and 5, [Harris] and Mr. Wallace discussed by e-mail whether [Harris] would be able to continue working in the lab because of [Harris'] continued complaints about the mold smell." (Mag. Ord. at 3; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 12.) Wallace agreed that Tietex would "do whatever [was] necessary to shield [Harris] from any further exposure to an environment(s) that might negatively impact [his] health." (Mag. Ord. at 3; Harris Dep. 1 at 95 & Ex. 12.) Wallace "instructed [Harris] to wear a mask when he worked in the lab." (Mag. Ord. at 3.) "However, [Harris] decided that the mask would not give him enough protection." (Id.) "Mr. Wallace then told Harris not to enter the lab under any circumstances." (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 101 & Ex. 12.) "Thereafter, [Harris] asked if he could work in the lab if he signed a waiver."

⁷ Harris "believes the reason for the change in his reporting relationship was so that Mr. Wallace could assist him in getting more involved with special projects." (Mag. Ord. at 3; Harris Dep. 1 at 101-03.) This was a factor in the decision. (Mag. Ord. at 3.) Tietex was also concerned about Harris' health. (Harris Dep. 1 at 95 & Ex. 12.)

(Mag. Ord. at 3.) Tietex “rejected the waiver stating that it was still unacceptable from an HR/liability perspective since [Tietex] would be allowing [Harris] to come in contact with an environment that might negatively affect [his] health.” (Id.) Wallace’s e-mail communications with Harris made clear that Tietex was more concerned about Harris’ health than its own liability. (Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 12.)

Tietex purchased equipment “to accommodate [Harris’] needs outside of the lab.” (Mag. Ord. at 3; Harris Dep. 1 at 112-13 & Ex. 14.) Tietex provided Harris with an alternative work area because Tietex wanted to protect Harris’ health. (Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 12.) Harris has no contradictory evidence. (Harris Dep. 1 at 123.)

2. February 7, 2007, Discussion Between Wallace and Harris.

“On February 7, 2007, [Harris] told Mr. Wallace that he was overwhelmed by personal and emotional problems which had occurred in his personal life over the past year, and he was having difficulty functioning.” (Mag. Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 13.) Harris “testified that his wife was ill during this time period.” (Mag. Ord. at 4.) “Dealing with his wife’s illness left him stressed with major sleep disturbances.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 106-07, 111 & Exs. 14, 44.) Harris admits “he was a ‘wreck’ because of his wife’s illness.” (Mag. Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at 107 & Ex. 44.) “Mr. Wallace told [Harris] that [Tietex] ‘would support him if he felt he needed to utilize EAP, but [Harris] stated that was not necessary.” (Mag. Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 13.)

3. Documentation of Voicemail Complaints from Harris.

“On February 22, 2007, [Harris] left voice mail messages for both Mr. Wallace and Tietex’s Owner, Martin Wildeman, at 3:00 a.m., complaining about his inability to sleep, and about unspecified work-related issues.” (Mag. Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 14.) Later, Harris

“expressed concern about being moved from the lab and that he was ‘still not set up to easily do his bench work.’” (Mag. Ord. at 4.) Wallace reiterated his commitment to obtaining the necessary equipment for Harris, which would take time. (Harris Dep. 1 at 111-13 & Ex. 14.) Harris “asked for a lab pad coater and a vented hood.” (Mag. Ord. at 4.) “Mr. Wallace stated that he would take time to locate, acquire, and install the equipment, but stated that in the meantime [Harris] could use the equipment in the beam/dye area, and/or coordinate to use Robert Culbreth, a chemical technician, to perform work for him in the lab.” (Mag. Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 14.) Harris “believes that [Tietex] was motivated to keep him out of the laboratory to avoid liability for any health problems he might experience rather than out of a real concern for his health.” (Mag. Ord. at 5.) “Importantly, [Harris] does not assert that [Tietex] was motivated to keep him out of the lab because of [any unlawful reason].” (Mag. Ord. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at 123.)

Harris “also complained about being required to stay involved with environmental reporting and stated he was concerned about completing an environmental report that was due on March 1, given his other projects.” (Mag. Ord. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at 113.) Mr. Wallace “saw ‘no reason that [Harris’] projects would interfere with his ability to get th[e] report done on time’ and ‘made this clear’ to Harris.” (Id.) Harris “admitted . . . that it was reasonable for Mr. Wallace to expect him to complete the environmental report on time.” (Mag. Ord. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at 113 & Ex. 15.)

“Mr. Wallace also asked [Harris] to come to him directly with issues before going to Mr. Wildeman.” (Mag. Ord. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 14.) Harris admits that, at times, he went directly to Martin Wildeman, rather than using the chain of command. (Harris Dep. 1 at 116.)

Harris admits it was inappropriate for him to complain to Wildeman about having to do the environmental reporting. (Id. at 115.)

C. Harris' Performance Deficiencies.

1. Memorandum Dated March 5, 2007.

"On March 5, 2007, Mr. Wallace discussed several issues with [Harris] regarding his performance and documented the discussion at [Harris'] request in a memorandum to David Wilson, with a copy to Mark Isbell and [Harris]." (Mag. Ord. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at 117-18 & Ex. 16.) "Mr. Wallace noted [Harris] made emotional and overly vocal accusations and statements without supporting research or data, was not honoring the chain of command, harbored grudges over past grievances and toward the management in general, and complained about ownership of environmental reporting duties." (Mag. Ord. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 16.) "The memorandum concluded with the statement, 'As we discussed these issues are not sustainable and it is mandatory that [Harris] make significant progress towards resolving these issues within the next 30 days.'" (Mag. Ord. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 16.)

At the time, Harris did not protest any of the points in the March 5, 2007, memorandum or claim that Wallace's observations were not true. (Harris Dep. 1 at 122.) As noted above, Harris admits he was experiencing emotional stress (Harris Dep. 1 at 106-07, 111 & Exs. 14, 44), circumvented Wallace by going directly to Wildeman (id. at 116), and complained about environmental reporting tasks (id. at 113). Harris does not deny the statement that he harbored grudges, and admits that he had unresolved issues that existed before he began reporting to Wallace and had discussed those issues with Wallace. (Id. at 119-20.)

2. Memorandum Dated June 18, 2007.

"On June 18, 2007, Mr. Wallace had another discussion with [Harris] regarding his work performance.” (Mag. Ord. at 5.) “Mr. Wallace documented the discussion in a memorandum to [Harris], with a copy to David Wilson and Mark Isbell.” (Id. at 5-6; Harris Dep. 1 at 128 & Ex. 18.) “The discussion focused on two projects for which [Harris] was responsible.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 130 & Ex. 18.) The first was “the development and qualification of a Tietex coating compound as a replacement for the coating that was currently being used on C237 (“C237 Project”).” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 129 & Ex. 18.) The second was “the development of a finish formula and process for parabolic application of T602 (“T602 Project”).” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 129-30.)

a. The C237 Project.

Harris “had been working on the C237 Project for about six months.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Dist. Judge Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at 131 & Ex. 18.) Harris “had predicted that the C237 Project would result in significant cost savings for [Tietex].” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Dist. Judge Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at 131-32 & Ex. 18.) Harris “claim[ed] he had a successful trial before he began reporting to Mr. Wallace.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Dist. Judge Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at 132.) “Despite [Harris’] characterization of the compound he created as a success, it was unacceptable to [Tietex] because it was much more complicated to produce commercially than [Harris] had initially promised.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Dist. Judge Ord. at 4; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 16.) “In February, Mr. Wallace began working separately on a parallel C237 Project because it appeared that [Harris] would fail to achieve the cost savings he had predicted.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 134 & Exs. 16, 18.) “Eventually, the situation was resolved by the provider lowering its price.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 134.)

b. The T602 Project.

“Because of the expense, a plant production trial is only done if laboratory production is successful.” (Mag. Ord. at 6.) Harris “told Mr. Wallace that the lab samples for the T602 project were promising and recommended a production trial.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 135.) “According to [Harris], the first plant production trial showed mixed results with some samples that were ‘not good,’ but others that were ‘comparable,’ depending on the amount of finish.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 136.) “However, [Harris] told Mr. Wallace that, based on the results, another plant production trial was warranted.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 137 & Ex. 18.) “On [Harris]’ recommendation, a second plant production trial was performed, which was unsuccessful.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 137, 295 & Ex. 18.) “A third trial was similarly unsuccessful.” (Mag. Ord. at 6; Harris Dep. 1 at 137-38, 295 & Ex. 18.) “When the second and third trials failed, Mr. Wallace reviewed the results of the first plant production trial himself.” (Mag. Ord. at 6.) Mr. Wallace saw “that the results of the first trial had not been as [Harris] portrayed them, so the second and third trials were unwarranted based on the results of the first.” (Id. at 6-7; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 18.)

“Mr. Wallace cited [Harris] for his poor analytical practices and instructed him to improve his performance within 30 days.” (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at 141 & Ex. 18.) Harris “considered this his final written warning.” (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at 139 & Ex. 18.)

D. Final Events Leading Up to Harris’ Termination.

Despite being told that if his performance failed to improve, his job was in jeopardy, Harris’ performance continued to be poor, and he demonstrated poor judgment. Harris “made no effort to complete the C237 project.” (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.) “Instead, [Harris] began taking multiple days of vacation immediately after being given the warning on June 18.” (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at 145-48.) “These vacation days were frequently taken on short notice.” (Mag. Ord. at 7.) “Sometimes, [Harris] waited until the day before to notify Mr. Wallace.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 145-46 & Ex. 20.) “Other than the environmental reporting, [Harris] had not improved on the issues cited in the memorandum of March 5, 2007.” (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.) “Gate records and management observation showed that [Harris] had continued to ignore the directive not to work in the chemical lab areas at nights or on the weekends.” (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.) “The same records showed inconsistent work hours and erratic patterns of entry and exit to and from the facility.” (Id.) Harris’ “co-workers complained that he did not return calls or e-mails consistently, disrupting their work patterns.” (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.)

Harris “was scheduled to fly to Indiana on June 14 to visit a customer and return on June 15.” (Mag. Ord. at 7.) “After flying the first leg of his trip, [Harris] turned around and came home because he had a headache.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 148-49.) Harris “never told [Mr. Wallace] he had not met with the customer in Indiana. (Mag. Ord. at 7; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.)

E. Events of July 3, 2007.

“On the evening of Monday, July 2, after work, [Harris] left a voicemail message for Mr. Wallace, telling him that he had an ant infestation at his house.” (Mag. Ord. at 7.) Harris “said he would take care of the ants first thing the following morning and then go to Hexion, a chemical facility, and work on a project.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 151-52.) “Since [Harris] left this message after work hours, Mr. Wallace did not hear the message until the morning of Tuesday, July 3, 2007.” (Mag. Ord. at 7-8; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.)

Harris purchased pesticide chemicals at Lowe’s on the morning of July 3, at approximately 7:30 a.m. (Harris Dep. 1 at 251; Attach. F.) Harris “called Mr. Wallace and left a second voice mail message around 9:00 a.m., saying he had resolved the ant problems and was going to work at Hexion.” (Mag. Ord. at 8.) Harris “did not arrive at Hexion until 1:30 p.m.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 154 & Ex. 21.) Harris “could not enter Hexion because he could not contact anyone he knew there to gain entry.” (Mag. Ord. at 8.) Harris left without performing any work. (Harris Dep. 1 at 155-56.) There are no witnesses to establish how long Harris was allegedly at Hexion. (Id. at 157.) Harris is vague about how long he was at Hexion trying to get in—he estimates he was at Hexion between thirty and ninety minutes.⁸ (Mag. Ord. at 8; Harris Dep. 1 at 157-58.)

Harris “claims that after leaving Hexion, he drove around for 30 to 45 minutes, looking for Chemurgy, another chemical facility.” (Mag. Ord. at 8.) “When [Harris] located Chemurgy, no one was there, so he did not stay.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 159-60.)

Harris “left a message for Hexion employee Pam Westmoreland, telling her that he could not get into the laboratory.” (Mag. Ord. at 8.) Harris “stated in his message that he needed a small sample of sulfuric acid, and he would come back and pick it up.” (Id.) “Hexion employee George Henderson told Ms. Westmoreland that he would take the sample to [Harris] at Tietex on his way home.” (Id.)

Harris “did not telephone Mr. Wallace to tell him that he could not get in Hexion and that he was going to Chemurgy or anywhere else.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 160.) Harris “admits it would have been reasonable for him to call Mr. Wallace and tell him that his plans had changed.” (Mag. Ord. at 8; Harris Dep. 1 at 165.) Harris understood he needed to let Wallace know his whereabouts, to let him know when he was away from the plant, and to keep his cell phone on so he could be reached. (Harris Dep. 1 at 117.) Harris acknowledges that it was reasonable for his supervisor to expect to be informed of his whereabouts “at all times.” (Id.)

⁸ Harris previously testified to the SCESC that he was at Hexion around thirty minutes. (Harris Dep. 2 at 96-97.)

“George Henderson, the Hexion employee, brought the sulfuric acid to Tietex for [Harris].”⁹ (Mag. Ord. at 8; Harris Dep. 1 at 160.) Wallace was confused, as Harris was supposed to be at Hexion. “Mr. Wallace later called Mr. Henderson and asked if he had seen Harris that day, but Mr. Henderson had not.” (Mag. Ord. at 8.) “Mr. Henderson said that he had a voicemail from [Harris] saying he needed some sulfuric acid urgently because he was planning to do some work on July 4th.” (Id.) Mr. Wallace “was troubled because [Harris] was not where he said he would be and because it appeared [Harris] had planned to work with chemicals in the lab on a day the plant was supposed to be closed.” (Id.) Additionally, having sulfuric acid delivered in this way was against policy.

Harris admits that Mr. Wallace had no idea what Harris was doing, or even if Harris was working. (Harris Dep. 1 at 164-65.) Harris claims “Mr. Wallace called [him] on his cell phone between 4:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. and asked where he was.” (Mag. Ord. at 9; Harris Dep. 1 at 162.) Harris “told Mr. Wallace that he had been to Hexion.” (Id.) “Mr. Wallace told [Harris] that Mr. Henderson had been to Tietex and said that [Harris] had not been at Hexion that day.” (Mag. Ord. at 9.) Harris “then stated he had gone to Hexion, but had been unable to get in or find anyone, so he left.” (Id.) Harris “could not give Mr. Wallace an adequate explanation of his whereabouts for the day.” (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 158-59 & Ex. 19.)

“Mr. Wallace told [Harris] he was suspended until Mr. Wallace returned from vacation.” (Mag. Ord. at 9; Harris Dep. 1 at 165.) “During the phone call, [Harris] and Mr. Wallace were disconnected, and Mr. Wallace could not reach [Harris] again by telephone.” (Mag. Ord. at 9.) Harris denies that he hung up on Wallace. (Harris Dep. 1 at 165-66.) “Mr. Wallace talked to David Wilson, the Human Resources Director, about what transpired, and a voice mail message was left for [Harris] reiterating that he was suspended with pay and should not return to work until contacted by [Tietex]." (Mag. Ord. at 9.)

F. Wallace Recommended the Termination of Harris' Employment.

"Mr. Wallace conducted an investigation of the events of July 3 when he returned from vacation." (Id.) "Mr. Wallace recommended [Harris'] employment be terminated, and the decision to do so was made by Mr. Wallace; David Wilson, Human Resources Director; Martin Wildeman, Owner; Reed Cunningham, President; and Mark Isbell, Vice President of Manufacturing." (Id.) Harris "was told he was not being terminated for one specific deficiency, but for many shortcomings that 'added up,' including the issues Mr. Wallace had addressed with him in the March 5, 2007, memorandum." (Id.; Harris Dep. 1 at 142 & Ex. 16.) "These issues were also documented in a memorandum dated July 18, 2007." (Mag. Ord. at 9; Harris Dep. 1 at Ex. 19.) Harris' "employment was terminated on July 19, 2007." (Mag. Ord. at 9.) Harris admits his employment was terminated for unsatisfactory performance. (Harris Dep. 1 at 167 & Ex. 22.)

IV. ARGUMENT

Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on all of Harris' claims. The Federal Court's factual findings in the First Action are fatal to Harris's claims in the Second Action, as he cannot dispute: (1) Harris was not performing his job at a level that met Tietex's legitimate expectations; (2) Tietex had a legitimate reason for terminating Harris' employment; and (3) Harris cannot show that Tietex's reasons for his termination were pretextual. Harris' failure to assert three of his seven defamation claims and his outrage claim in the First Action bar those claims under the applicable statutes of limitation and the doctrine of res judicata. Harris has not established that he had any contract of employment with Tietex; therefore, Tietex could not have breached a contract, with or without fraudulent intent. Harris has not established that Tietex published any defamatory statements about him to any third party, as all allegedly defamatory statements were substantially true and covered by a qualified privilege that Harris cannot overcome. Finally, Harris has failed to allege (and certainly cannot prove) any set of facts that would permit his outrage claim to proceed to trial. Accordingly, Harris' Amended Complaint should be dismissed in its entirety.

A. Summary Judgment Standard.

"The purpose of summary judgment is to expedite disposition of cases which do not require the services of a fact finder." D.R. Horton, Inc. v. Wescott Land Co., 398 S.C. 528, 541, 730 S.E.2d 340, 347 (Ct. App. 2012) (citations omitted). Summary judgment "shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." Rule 56(c), SCRPC. An issue of fact is "genuine" when the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). "In determining whether any triable issues of fact exist, the evidence and all reasonable inferences therefrom must be viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party." D.R. Horton, 398 S.C. at 541, 730 S.E.2d at 347.

The moving party has the initial burden of demonstrating the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. Baughman v. AT&T, 306 S.C. 101, 115, 410 S.E.2d 537, 545 (1991). The moving party may discharge this responsibility "by pointing out to the trial court that there is an absence of evidence to support the nonmoving party's case, and it is not necessary for the moving party to support its motion with affidavits or other similar materials negating the opponent's claim." D.R. Horton, 398 S.C. at 542, 730 S.E.2d at 347. "Once the moving party carries its initial burden, the opposing party must do more than rest upon the mere allegations or denials of his pleadings.” Id. (citing inter alia Rule 56(e), SCRCP). “[T]he nonmoving party must do more than ‘simply show that there is a metaphysical doubt as to the material facts but must come forward with specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.’” Russell v. Wachovia Bank, N.A., 353 S.C. 208, 220, 578 S.E.2d 329, 335 (2003) (quoting Baughman, 306 S.C. at 107, 410 S.E.2d at 545).

“Where a verdict is not ‘reasonably possible’ under the facts presented, summary judgment is proper.” Id. (quoting Bloom v. Ravoir, 339 S.C. 417, 529 S.E.2d 710 (2000)) (emphasis in original). Harris has failed to present any facts demonstrating the presence of a genuine issue for trial. Accordingly, “[t]his case illustrates well the utility of summary judgment in disposing of a meritless claim.” Cox & Floyd Grading, Inc. v. Kajima Constr. Svcs., Inc., 356 S.C. 512, 517, 589 S.E.2d 789, 792 (Ct. App. 2003).

B. Collateral Estoppel Bars All of Harris’ Claims as a Matter of Law Based on Conclusive Findings by the Federal Court in the First Action.

Harris’ claims in the First Action and his claims in this matter all rely on the same factual allegations—his contentions (1) that he was performing his job at Tietex at a level that met Tietex’s legitimate expectations; (2) that the internal memoranda describing his performance deficiencies were false and defamatory; (3) that Tietex did not have a legitimate reason for terminating his employment; and (4) that Tietex’s stated reason for terminating his employment was pretextual. / However, the United States District Court of the District of South Carolina has already considered all of these factual allegations in the First Action and made factual findings and conclusions that directly contradict Harris’ alleged version of the facts.¹⁰ The doctrine of collateral estoppel prevents Harris from relitigating these factual issues. Applying the Federal Court's factual findings and conclusions to Harris' claims in this matter makes clear that Harris' claims fail as a matter of law and that Tietex is entitled to summary judgment.

“Collateral estoppel, also known as issue preclusion, prevents a party from relitigating an issue that was decided in a previous action, regardless of whether the claims in the first and subsequent lawsuits were the same.” Carolina Renewal, Inc. v. S.C. Dep't of Transp., 385 S.C. 550, 554, 684 S.E.2d 779, 782 (Ct. App. 2009) (citing Judy v. Judy, 383 S.C. 1, 7, 677 S.E.2d 213, 217 (Ct. App. 2009)). “The party asserting collateral estoppel must demonstrate that the issue in the present lawsuit was: (1) actually litigated in the prior action; (2) directly determined in the prior action; and (3) necessary to support the prior judgment.” Id. (citing Beall v. Doe, 281 S.C. 363, 369 n.1, 315 S.E.2d 186, 189-90 n.1 (Ct. App. 1984)). Tietex is able to easily demonstrate these elements with respect to each of Harris' four factual contentions set forth in the above paragraph.

1. Harris was not Performing His Job at a Level that Met Tietex's Legitimate Expectations.

In analyzing Harris' age discrimination claim in the First Action, the Federal Court was required to first determine whether Harris had articulated a prima facie case of discrimination. (Mag. Ord. at 13-14; Dist. Judge Ord. at 3-5.) The third element of a prima facie case under the ADEA required Harris to show that he “was meeting his employer's legitimate expectations at do not qualify as “findings of fact,” based on the Magistrate Judge captioning that section of his Order as “Facts Presented.” (Harris Dep. 2 at 104-05; Mag. Ord. at 1.) Harris is simply mincing words, as the Magistrate Judge's captioning of the factual section of his Order does not change the clear nature of what it is—findings of fact. The Magistrate Judge left no doubt in this regard through his statement of the standard of review, which made clear that he was “constru[ing] all inferences and ambiguities against [Tietex] and in favor of [Harris].” (Mag. Ord. at 10 (citation omitted).) Additionally, Harris ignores the District Judge's wholesale adoption of the Magistrate's Order, which clearly includes the findings of fact. (Dist. Judge Ord. at 1 (“[T]he Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation is adopted herein . . .”).)

the time of the adverse action.” (Mag. Ord. at 13 (citation omitted).) Both Magistrate Judge McDonald and District Judge Childs unequivocally held that Harris could not establish this element. (Id. at 14; Dist. Judge Ord. at 3-5.)

Magistrate Judge McDonald held as follows:

[T]he defendant argues the plaintiff was not performing his job at a level that met the defendant’s legitimate expectations. This court agrees. As set forth above, the defendant articulated the deficiencies in the plaintiff’s performance in memoranda dated March 5, June 18, and July 18, 2007. (Pl. dep., ex. 16, 18, 19). The plaintiff attempts to contradict the defendant’s dissatisfaction with his performance by his subjective assessment of himself as a valuable, outstanding, and exemplary performer. However, the plaintiff’s subjective view of his performance does not establish a prima facie case.

(Mag. Ord. at 14.)

District Judge Childs similarly ruled that “it is uncontroverted that [Harris] did not meet [Tietex’s] expectations.” (Dist. Judge Ord. at 3.) Specifically, District Judge Childs held that “it remains undisputed that [Tietex] determined that [Harris] had performed unsuccessfully and failed to complete the C237 Project to Wallace’s satisfaction. Therefore, . . . the Magistrate Judge correctly determined that [Harris] failed to demonstrate that he was meeting his employer’s legitimate standards at the time of his termination.” (Id. at 4.) Additionally, District Judge Childs pointed out that Harris “admitted that he was told by Wallace not to work in the plant for safety reasons when it was not operating,” and that Harris “admittedly ignored these directives due to his own opinion that the plant was safe when not operating.” (Id.)

There can be no dispute that Federal Court’s findings with respect to the issue of whether Harris was performing his job at a level that met Tietex’s legitimate expectations was actually litigated in the First Action—both parties fully briefed the issue prior to the Magistrate’s Order and the District Judge’s Order, and both Judges addressed the parties respective arguments.

There is similarly no doubt that this issue was directly determined in the First Action—both the Magistrate Judge and the District Judge directly addressed this issue in their Orders. Finally, the Federal Court’s findings with respect to this issue were clearly necessary to the judgment in the First Action, as the Court focused largely on the issue in granting Tietex summary judgment. Therefore, the doctrine of collateral estoppel applies and prevents Harris’ attempted relitigation of the issue.

The Federal Court’s conclusive determination that Harris was not performing his job duties at a level that met Tietex’s legitimate expectations is fatal to all of Harris’ claims in this matter. With respect to Harris’ contract claims, the Federal Court’s ruling conclusively proves that Tietex had reasonable cause to terminate Harris’ employment and could not have breached its alleged (unspecified) contractual obligations to Harris. Applied to Harris’ defamation claims, the Federal Court’s ruling conclusively establishes that the allegedly defamatory statements Harris has identified (the internal memoranda regarding his performance) could not have been false and defamatory, as they simply “articulated the deficiencies in [Harris’] performance” that the Federal Court agreed to be present. (Mag. Ord. at 14; Dist. Judge Ord. at 3.) Finally, the Federal Court’s determination undermines Harris’ outrage claim, as the alleged “campaign . . . to undermine, ridicule, and be rid of” Harris was simply Tietex attempting to correct and ultimately terminate Harris’ employment for his undisputable performance problems. (Am. Compl. at 8.)

2. Tietex’s Internal Memoranda Regarding Harris’ Performance Were True.

Both the Magistrate Judge and the District Judge in the First Action found that Tietex “articulated deficiencies in [Harris’] performance in memoranda dated March 5, June 18, and July 18, 2007,” in concluding that Harris was not “meeting his employer’s legitimate expectations at the time of the adverse action.” (Dist. Judge Ord. at 3; Mag. Ord. at 14.) This issue was actually litigated in that the accuracy of the internal memoranda was critical in determining whether Harris was meeting Tietex's legitimate expectations. This issue was also directly determined, as both the Magistrate Judge and the District Judge relied on the internal memoranda in analyzing whether Harris could establish his prima facie case under the ADEA. This issue was necessary to the judgment in the First Action, as the conclusion that Harris could not meet his prima facie case depended largely on the deficiencies Tietex articulated in the memoranda. Accordingly, Harris is collaterally estopped from arguing that Tietex's descriptions of his performance deficiencies in the March 5, June 18, and July 18 memoranda were false.

The Federal Court's determination of this issue renders summary judgment appropriate on all of Harris' claims. The truth of the internal memoranda establishes that Tietex provided multiple warnings to Harris regarding his poor performance and that Harris failed to correct his performance in accordance with those warnings; this precludes any argument that Tietex did not provide the allegedly obligatory "progressive discipline" on which Harris bases his contract claims. (Am. Compl. at 5-6.) The truth of the internal memoranda is fatal to Harris' defamation claims, which are based exclusively on an allegation that the memoranda were false and defamatory. (Harris Dep. 2 at 27-29.) The Federal Court's finding prevents Harris from contending in his outrage claim that Tietex "lied about" Harris' performance and engaged in a "campaign . . . to undermine, ridicule, and be rid of" Harris." (Am. Compl. at 8.)

3. Tietex Had Legitimate Reasons for Terminating Harris' Employment.

Based on its conclusion that Harris was failing to meet Tietex's legitimate expectations at the time of his termination, the Federal Court concluded that Tietex "produced evidence showing it had legitimate . . . reasons for firing [Harris]." (Mag. Ord. at 16.) The Federal Court made this determination because the burden-shifting standard applicable to employment discrimination claims requires the employer to articulate a legitimate, non-discriminatory reason for termination. (Mag. Ord. at 14 (citation omitted).) Accordingly, Harris cannot dispute that this issue was actually litigated, directly determined, and necessary to the judgment in the First Action.

As Tietex's reasons for terminating Harris's employment were legitimate, it could not have breached any contractual obligations it allegedly owed to Harris, rendering his contract claims invalid as a matter of law. Neither could Tietex have defamed Harris in making the statements set forth in its internal memoranda, as those memoranda simply "articulated deficiencies in [Harris'] performance"—deficiencies the Federal Court has conclusively determined to be "legitimate" and thus not false and defamatory. The Federal Court's conclusion similarly precludes Harris' outrage claim, as Tietex's legitimate reasons for terminating Harris' employment directly contradicts any allegation that Tietex was engaged in some campaign to set up Harris for failure and terminate his employment for improper reasons.

4. Tietex's Reasons for Terminating Harris' Employment were Not Pretextual in Any Way.

After determining that Tietex had "produced evidence showing it had legitimate . . . reasons for firing [Harris]," the Federal Court concluded that Harris "ha[d] failed to show that the proffered reasons for his termination of employment were pretext for [unlawful motivation]." (Mag. Ord. at 16.) Harris cannot dispute that this issue was actually litigated and directly decided in the First Action, as Harris made numerous arguments attempting to show that Tietex's proffered reasons for his termination were not worthy of credence and were pretextual, all of which the Federal Court addressed and rejected. (Mag. Ord. at 16-17.) There can also be no doubt that this issue was necessary to the judgment in the First Action, as the burden-shifting framework focuses on the issue of pretext once the employer articulates a legitimate explanation for the termination. (Id. at 14 (citation omitted).) Therefore, collateral estoppel prevents Harris from arguing in this matter that Tietex's stated reasons for the termination of his employment were pretext for some unlawful reason.

The Federal Court's finding of no pretext renders invalid Harris' contract claims, which rely on his assertion that Tietex terminated Harris' employment "based upon pretextual reasons not founded in truth." (Am. Compl. at 6.) The absence of pretext is similarly fatal to Harris' defamation claims, as Harris' explanation of how the memoranda regarding his performance were allegedly defamatory focuses on his contention that the information therein was somehow pretextual. (Harris Dep. 2 at 87, 90, 173.) The Federal Court's determination of this issue precludes his outrage claim, which relies on his far-fetched allegation that all of his disciplinary actions were part of a grand pretextual scheme to "be rid" of him.

Harris' claims in this matter are nothing more than an impermissible attempt to obtain the proverbial second bite at the apple. Both Harris and his counsel understand this fact, as evidenced by his counsel's discussion of alleged age discrimination during Harris' deposition in this action—the very claim the Federal Court struck down as a matter of law in the First Action. (Harris Dep. 2 at 215.) Placing that clear indication aside, Harris left no doubt during the following exchange, also from his deposition in this matter:

Q: Finally, you last gave a deposition over three years ago in the summer of 2009 and you've been asked questions about everything. But in general, has your view of this lawsuit changed in the last three years?

A: It has. . . . Well, let me just put the statement like this. If I thought there was any doubt about my claim wasn't legitimate and all this in 2009, that doubt is no longer there. I mean, what I thought may have happened, today I know happened.

(Harris Dep. 2 at 231.) Harris acknowledges that his claims in this matter are identical to his claims in the First Action—he is simply relying on different legal theories. However, Harris cannot overcome the doctrine of collateral estoppel, which prevents him as a matter of law from relitigating what he and Tietex already litigated extensively in the Federal Court (and through an appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit).¹¹ The Federal Court's factual findings and conclusions render invalid all of Harris' claims in this matter, and Tietex is entitled to summary judgment.

C. Harris' Outrage Claim and Three of His Defamation Claims are Barred by the Statutes of Limitation and the Doctrine of Res Judicata.

Harris admits that his First Action did not in any way allege the following claims: (1) his outrage claim (Harris Dep. 2 at 17); (2) his defamation claim based on the February 9, 2007 e-mail from Mr. Wallace to David Wilson (id. at 33); (3) his defamation claim based on Tietex suspending his employment in July 2007 (id. at 33-34); or (4) his defamation claim based on Tietex "bann[ing] him from the laboratory" (id. at 34). Rather, he first asserted these claims on the following dates: (1) his outrage claim first appeared in his Amended Complaint in the Second Action, which he filed on September 5, 2012; (2) he first pleaded his defamation claim based on the February 9, 2007 e-mail from Mr. Wallace in his pro se Complaint in the Second Action, which he filed on October 21, 2011; (3) he first alleged his defamation claim based on Tietex suspending his employment in his pro se Complaint in the Second Action; and (4) he only identified his defamation claim based on being banned from the lab in his deposition in the Second Action, which occurred on March 14, 2013. Even assuming that Harris has properly pleaded all of these claims in the Second Action and that they relate back to the filing of his pro se Complaint on October 12, 2011, these claims are barred by the applicable statutes of limitation. Due to Harris failing to in any way plead these claims in the First Action, they are also barred by the doctrine of res judicata.

The statute of limitations applicable to Harris' cause of action for outrage is three years. S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-530. July 19, 2007—the date on which Tietex terminated his employment—is the latest date that any event on which Harris could be basing his outrage claim took place. That date is approximately four years and four months before the date on which Harris filed his pro se Complaint in the Second Action (which did not even include the outrage claim). Accordingly, the three-year statute of limitations on Harris' outrage claim had long passed when Harris filed his pro se Complaint, and the claim is barred under S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-20.

The statute of limitations applicable to Harris' defamation claims is two years. S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-550. The two-year statute of limitations runs from the date on which the allegedly defamatory statement was published, not from the time the statement was allegedly discovered. Jones v. City of Folly Beach, 326 S.C. 360, 369, 483 S.E.2d 770, 775 (Ct. App. 1997) (“[S]ummary judgment [should be granted] because South Carolina has not adopted the discovery rule in libel and slander cases.”). Harris' defamation claims based on (1) the February 9, 2007 e-mail from Mr. Wallace, (2) Tietex suspending his employment in July 2007, and (3) Tietex banning him from the lab in February 2007 are all based on “statements” that Tietex allegedly made in February and July 2007. Harris first alleged these claims in the Second Action, which he did not file until October 12, 2011. (Harris Dep. 2 at 33-34.) Thus, each of these three defamation claims must be dismissed based on Harris' failure to bring them with the two-year statute of limitations.

The complete absence of these three defamation claims and the outrage claim in the First

Action also implicates the doctrine of res judicata. “The doctrine of res judicata bars a litigant from raising any issues which were adjudicated in the former suit [between the parties] and any issues which might have been raised in the former suit.” Pye, 325 S.C. at 432, 480 S.E.2d at 458 (emphasis added) (citing Hilton Head Ctr. v. Public Serv. Comm’n, 294 S.C. 9, 362 S.E.2d 176 (1987)); see also id. (“Res judicata also bars subsequent actions by the same parties when the claims arise out of the same transaction or occurrence that was the subject of a prior action between those parties.”) (quoting Riedman Corp. v. Greenville Steel Structures, Inc. 308 S.C. 467, 469, 419 S.E.2d 217, 218 (1992)).

Harris cannot dispute that these three defamation claims and his outrage claim arose out of the same transaction or occurrence that was the subject of the First Action—his employment with Tietex and separation therefrom. Harris could have raised these claims in the First Action, but he chose not to do so. Based on Harris’ failure to assert these claims in the First Action, the doctrine of res judicata precludes him as a matter of law from asserting the claims in the Second Action. Accordingly, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on these claims.

D. Harris Has Not Identified a Genuine Dispute of Material Fact with Respect to Any of His Claims, and Tietex is Entitled to Summary Judgment on the Merits.

Placing aside the procedural and statutory flaws in Harris’ claims that render summary judgment proper, Harris has also failed to identify any genuine disputes of material fact that would prevent summary judgment on the merits of his claims.

1. Harris’ Contract Claims Fail Due to the Complete Absence of Contractual Obligations.

“To recover for a breach of contract, the plaintiff must prove: (1) a binding contract; (2) a breach of that contract; and (3) damages proximately resulting from the breach.” Manios v. Nelson, Mullins, Riley & Scarborough, LLP, 389 S.C. 126, 146, 697 S.E.2d 644, 655 (Ct. App. 2010) (citing Fuller v. E. Fire & Cas. Ins. Co., 240 S.C. 75, 89, 124 S.E.2d 602, 610 (1962)).

“To maintain an action for breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, a plaintiff must prove three elements: (1) a breach of contract; (2) fraudulent intent relating to the breaching of the contract and not merely to its making; and (3) a fraudulent act accompanying the breach.” Conner v. City of Forest Acres, 348 S.C. 454, 465-66, 560 S.E.2d 606, 612 (2002) (emphasis added). Both of Harris’ contract claims fail because he has not identified any contractual obligations that Tietex allegedly owed to him.

“South Carolina has long recognized the doctrine of employment at-will.” Grant v. Mt. Vernon Mills, Inc., 370 S.C. 138, 145, 634 S.E.2d 15, 19 (Ct. App. 2006) (citing Conner, 363 S.C. at 471, 611 S.E.2d at 910-11). “This doctrine allows either party to terminate the employment ‘for any reason or no reason’ without being subject to a claim for breach of contract, subject to narrow exceptions and prohibitions against illegal discrimination which are not present here.” Id. at 146, 634 S.E.2d at 19 (quoting Horton v. Darby Elec. Co., 360 S.C. 58, 67, 599 S.E.2d 456, 460 (2004)). “The at-will employment doctrine is essentially an economic incentive that provides critically needed flexibility in the marketplace.” Id. (citing Prescott v. Farmers Tel. Co-op., Inc. 335 S.C. 330, 334-35, 516 S.E.2d 923, 925 (1999)). In order to rebut the presumption of at-will employment, the burden is on Harris to establish that “all of the elements of a contract” are present. Prescott, 335 S.C. at 336, 516 S.E.2d at 926. Harris cannot meet his burden of proving that a contract existed, as he admits that he was an at-will employee and cannot point to anything that altered that relationship.

Harris admits that he “was aware of Tietex being an at will employer.” (Harris Dep. 1 at 61; Harris Dep. 2 at 141-42.) Harris further acknowledges that “under the terms of [his employment] offer [with Tietex], [he] w[as] employed at will.” (Harris Dep. 1 at 60; Harris Dep. 2 at 141.) Based on his status as an at-will employee, Harris fully understood (1) that his “employment could be terminated any time for any reason,” and (2) that he “could quit Tietex if [he] wanted to for whatever reason whenever.” (Harris Dep. 1 at 60-61; Harris Dep. 2 at 141-42.)

Harris admits that he “didn’t have any kind of written contract of employment when [he] w[as] hired” and that “during the time that [he] worked for Tietex, nobody ever gave [him] a written contract of employment to sign.” (Harris Dep. 1 at 61-62; Harris Dep. 2 at 142.) Harris’ lone attempt to claim that a contract allegedly existed consists of his entirely unsupported contention that an employee handbook contained a progressive discipline policy.¹² (Am. Compl. at 5; Harris Dep. 1 at 64; Harris Dep. 2 at 143.) However, Harris has not produced a copy of this alleged employee handbook and admits that he does not have a copy. (Harris Dep. 1 at 63; Harris Dep. 2 at 143.) Harris’ inability to produce a copy of the alleged handbook (and the fact that he cannot remember anything in the handbook other than the purported progressive discipline policy¹³) stems directly from the fact that Tietex has never had an employee handbook. (Griffin Aff. at ¶ 3.)

Even assuming Harris’ claims that he had an employee handbook for several years are true, Harris has testified that at some point during his employment, Tietex required all employees to turn in their copies of the alleged handbook “so [Tietex] could revise [it], and [he] never got a revised copy.” (Harris Dep. 1 at 63; Harris Dep. 2 at 143.) Under the principles of unilateral contract (which apply to all cases in which employees attempt to show contractual obligations based on handbooks), Tietex rescinded any “offer” that allegedly existed in the non-existent handbook when it demanded that employees turn in that handbook. Tietex then made a new “offer” to continue working in an at-will status with no handbook, and Harris accepted that offer by continuing to perform his job duties. Harris admits that he “never got a revised copy” of the alleged handbook after he turned in his copy. (Id.) Even if there had been an employee handbook—though there was not—it clearly had no bearing on Harris’ terms and conditions of employment at the time of his termination.

Harris has failed to produce any evidence beyond his unsupported and conclusory allegations that Tietex owed him any contractual obligations with respect to his employment or separation therefrom. In the absence of any such evidence, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on both of Harris’ contract claims.

2. Harris’ Defamation Claims Fail Because All Statements Harris has Identified as Allegedly Defamatory were True and were Covered by a Qualified Privilege that Harris cannot Overcome, and Tietex was Not Negligent in Making the Alleged Statements.

Harris must “prove the following four elements to state a claim for defamation: ‘(1) a false and defamatory statement was made; (2) the unprivileged publication was made to a third party; (3) the publisher was at fault; and (4) either actionability of the statement irrespective of special harm or the existence of special harm caused by the publication.’” Fountain v. First Reliance Bank, 398 S.C. 434, 441, 730 S.E.2d 305, 309 (2012) (quoting Erickson v. Jones St. Publishers, L.L.C., 368 S.C. 444, 465, 629 S.E.2d 653, 664 (2006)).

The truth of an alleged defamatory statement “is a complete defense to an action based on defamation and evidence establishing a statement is substantially true is a sufficient defense.” Haulbrooks v. Overton, 295 S.C. 380, 383, 368 S.E.2d 676, 679 (Ct. App. 1988) (citing Ross v.

Columbia Newspapers, Inc., 266 S.C. 75, 221 S.E.2d 770 (1976)). “It is not necessary to establish the literal truth of the precise statement made.” Restatement (Second) of Torts § 581A (1977).

The United States Supreme Court has made clear that there can be no strict liability for defamation. Gertz v. Robert Welch, Inc., 418 U.S. 323 (1974). Some level of fault is required to establish liability for defamation, even when the plaintiff is a private figure. Id.; Restatement (Second) of Torts § 580B, cmt. c. The Restatement notes that negligence is likely the lowest fault threshold permissible under the Gertz standard.¹⁴ Id.

South Carolina courts have neither expressly accepted nor rejected the prevailing view that negligence is the appropriate standard to apply to alleged defamation of a private figure. See Erickson, 368 S.C. at 475-76, 629 S.E.2d at 670 (applying negligence standard because the parties assumed it applied). However, given the constitutional imperative established in Gertz, the South Carolina Supreme Court has suggested that the negligence standard should apply. See, e.g., Holtzscheiter v. Thomson Newspapers, Inc., 332 S.C 502, 523, 506 S.E.2d 497, 508-09 (1998) (Toal, J., concurring) (opining that South Carolina should join most jurisdictions in requiring a private-figure plaintiff to prove negligence to recover for defamation); see also Ralph King Anderson, Jr., South Carolina Requests to Charge – Civil § 14-11 (2009) (requiring proof of negligence to recover for defamation).

Under the negligence standard, Harris must prove that declarants of the alleged defamatory statements he has identified were negligent in making the statements—that the speaker breached a duty to exercise due care to refrain from making statements about Harris that are false and defamatory. See Anderson, South Carolina Requests to Charge – Civil § 20-1.

“One who publishes defamatory matter concerning another is not liable for the publication if (1) the matter is published upon an occasion that makes it conditionally privileged, and (2) the privilege is not abused.” Fountain, 398 S.C. at 444, 730 S.E.2d at 310 (citing Swinton Creek Nursery v. Edisto Farm Credit, ACA, 334 S.C. 469, 484, 514 S.E.2d 126, 134 (1999)). “The essential elements of a conditionally privileged communication may be enumerated as good faith, an interest to be upheld, a statement limited in its scope to this purpose, a proper occasion, and publication in a proper manner and to proper parties only.” Id. (quoting Manley v. Manley, 291 S.C. 325, 331, 353 S.E.2d 32, 315 (Ct. App. 1987)). “There is a basis for applying a qualified privilege to situations in which an employee’s job performance is properly evaluated.” Wright v. Sparrow, 298 S.C. 469, 474, 381 S.E.2d 503, 506 (Ct. App. 1989); see also Bell v. Bank of Abbeville, 211 S.C. 167, 44 S.E.2d 328 (1947) (attaching a qualified privilege to communications between an employer and employee during the employer’s inquiry into the employee’s alleged misconduct).

“Where the occasion gives rise to a qualified privilege, there is a prima facie presumption to rebut the inference of malice, and the burden is on the plaintiff to show actual malice or that the scope of the privilege has been exceeded.” Swinton Creek Nursery, 334 S.C. at 484-85, 514 S.E.2d at 134. To prove actual malice, Harris must show that Tietex was activated by ill will, intending to causelessly and wantonly injure Harris, or that the statements were published with such recklessness as to show a conscious disregard for Harris’ rights. Id. at 485, 514 S.E.2d at 134.

Whether an occasion gives rise to a qualified privilege is a question of law for the court. Id. “While abuse of privilege is ordinarily an issue for the jury, . . . in the absence of a controversy as to the facts . . . it is for the court to say in a given instance whether or not the privilege has been abused or exceeded.” Fountain, 398 S.C. at 444, 730 S.E.2d at 310 (quoting Woodward v. S.C. Farm Bureau Ins. Co., 297 S.C. 29, 32-33, 292 S.E.2d 599, 601 (1981)) (emphasis in original); see also Restatement (Second) of Torts § 619, cmt. b (court decides if privilege has been abused where only one conclusion can reasonably be drawn).

While Harris’ Amended Complaint includes only one cause of action for defamation, he has identified seven separate allegedly defamatory statements or incidents on which he is attempting to rely. (Harris Dep. 2 at 27-30.) Separate allegations of defamation are analyzed as independent claims. See, e.g., George v. Fabri, 345 S.C. 440, 456-61, 548 S.E.2d 868, 876-79 (2001) (analyzing defamation allegations separately in affirming grant of summary judgment); McBride v. School Dist. of Greenville County, 389 S.C. 546, 559-63, 698 S.E.2d 845, 851-54 (Ct. App. 2010) (analyzing alleged defamatory statements individually). Each of Harris’ seven defamation claims fails as a matter of law due to his inability to prove several requisite elements for each of his claims.

a. February 9, 2007 E-mail from Mr. Wallace to Mr. Wilson.

Harris’ first defamation claim is based on a February 9, 2007 e-mail that Mr. Wallace (his supervisor) sent to Mr. Wilson (Human Resources Manager) with a copy to Mark Isbell (Mr. Wallace’s supervisor). (Harris Dep. 2 at 27-28 & Ex. 13.) In this internal e-mail between managerial employees at Tietex, Mr. Wallace simply summarized a discussion he had with Harris two days earlier regarding personal and emotional problems Harris was experiencing that were impacting his performance. (Harris Dep. 2 at Ex. 13.) Harris claims this e-mail was defamatory because he alleges that it was false and that it “showed a definite disregard for [his] stability mentally and that kind of thing.” (Id. at 27.)

This defamation claim fails because the content of the February 9 e-mail was substantially (if not completely) true. Harris has admitted as much on more than one occasion—during his unemployment hearing (id. at 38), and during his deposition in the First Action (id. at 34-37). The Federal Court’s findings of fact also demonstrate the truth of the February 9 e-mail, as the Magistrate’s Order summarizes the February 7 conversation between Harris and Mr. Wallace in a manner that is perfectly consistent with the February 9 e-mail. (Mag. Ord. at 4.)

This defamation claim also fails because the February 9 e-mail clearly gives rise to a qualified privilege, and Harris has not presented any evidence showing that Mr. Wallace acted with actual malice or otherwise abused the privilege. Similarly, Harris cannot show that Mr. Wallace was negligent in making the statements set forth in the February 9 e-mail, as the conclusively-determined facts make clear that he did nothing more than accurately recount a conversation to his own supervisor and Tietex’s Human Resources Manager—both of whom Harris admits “had legitimate business need to know about and discuss” the issues in the e-mail. (Harris Dep. 2 at 55-56.) Therefore, summary judgment is proper on this claim.

b. March 5, 2007 Memorandum from Mr. Wallace to Mr. Wilson.

Harris’ second defamation claim focuses on the March 5, 2007 memorandum that Mr. Wallace sent to Mr. Wilson with copies to Mr. Isbell and Harris. (Harris Dep. 2 at 28 & Ex. 16.) Like the February 9 e-mail, this memorandum simply documented a performance-related discussion that Mr. Wallace had with Harris. (Id. at Ex. 16.) In fact, Harris admits that Mr. Wallace only generated the March 5 memorandum because Harris requested that he do so. (Id. at 60; Mag. Ord. at 5.)

This memorandum cannot constitute actionable defamation because Harris has admitted that each of the points Mr. Wallace made in the memorandum was substantially true. (Harris Dep. 1 at 106-07, 111, 113, 116, 119-20.) The truth of the memorandum is further shown by the fact that, during the performance discussion referenced in the memorandum, Harris did not protest any of the listed deficiencies or claim they were inaccurate. (Id. at 122; Harris Dep. 2 at 65.) Additionally, South Carolina precedent establishes that this type of performance-related discussion regarding an employee is entitled to a qualified privilege, and Harris cannot show that Mr. Wallace acted with actual malice in drafting the memorandum (particularly since Harris himself specifically requested that Mr. Wallace prepare it). Neither could Mr. Wallace have acted negligently in preparing this memorandum, as it accurately summarizes the meeting and lists only deficiencies that Harris has acknowledged to be accurate. Accordingly, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment.

c. June 18, 2007 Memorandum from Mr. Wallace to Harris.

Harris' third defamation claim relates to the June 18, 2007 memorandum that Mr. Wallace provided to Harris (with copies to Mr. Wilson and Mr. Isbell), which Harris has described as his "final written warning." (Harris Dep. 2 at 28 & Ex. 18.) The June 18 memorandum focuses exclusively on Harris' performance issues with respect to the C237 and T602 projects.

The conclusively determined facts leave no room for Harris to claim that the June 18 memorandum was false and defamatory. Both the Magistrate's Order and the District Judge's Order make clear that Harris failed to perform up to Tietex's legitimate expectations with respect to the C237 and T602 projects. (Mag. Ord. at 6-7, 14; Dist. Judge Ord. at 3-4.) This very performance issue is what Mr. Wallace documented in the June 18 memorandum, and the truth of the memorandum is thus established as a matter of law. (Harris Dep. 2 at Ex. 18.) Here again, the June 18 memorandum was also subject to a qualified privilege, and Harris cannot in good faith argue that Tietex abused that privilege or was negligent based on the Federal Court's determinations. Thus, Harris' claim fails as a matter of law.

d. July 18, 2007 Memorandum from Mr. Wallace to Harris.

The final actual statement on which Harris relies in making his defamation claims is the July 18, 2007 memorandum from Mr. Wallace to Mr. Wilson (with a copy to Mr. Isbell) in which Mr. Wallace summarized Harris' pattern of poor performance and recommended his termination. (Harris Dep. 2 at 28-29 & Ex. 19.) This claim fails for reasons similar to Harris' first three defamation claims.

The July 18 memorandum truly and accurately summarized Harris' performance deficiencies between February 2007 and July 2007. The accurate nature of the memorandum is clear based on the Federal Court's Orders, which summarize the same set of facts in concluding that Harris was not meeting Tietex's legitimate expectations and that Tietex lawfully terminated his employment. (Mag. Ord. at 5-9, 14, 16; Dist. Judge Ord. at 3-5.) There can be no doubt that an internal memorandum to an employee's supervisor and Human Resources recommending the employee's termination based on performance issues is entitled to a qualified privilege. Harris acknowledges that Mr. Wallace did not abuse the privilege and acted reasonably in providing the memorandum to Mr. Wilson and Mr. Isbell, as he admits that both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Isbell "would have had a need to know" about the subject matter of the memorandum. (Harris Dep. 2 at 100.) Harris cannot meet his burden with respect to this claim, mandating the entry of summary judgment.

e. Rumors in the Industry.

Harris' fifth defamation claim surrounds his contention that there were "rumors in the industry that [he] w[as] terminated from Tietex for falsifying a test report." (Harris Dep. 2 at 29.) However, Harris has never identified a single actual statement that Tietex allegedly made with respect to these mysterious "rumors." Rather, Harris has simply contended that he spoke to two former Tietex employees who allegedly informed him that they had heard about rumors being spread about him. (Id. at 114-24.) Harris has never even alleged that Tietex was the actual source of these alleged “rumors,” and he has certainly never produced a witness to testify about what Tietex supposedly said. In the absence of any such allegations or testimony, this defamation claim is far from adequate to overcome Tietex’s motion for summary judgment. Rule 56(e), SCRCF, plainly requires that a party desiring to oppose summary judgment with testimony must “set forth such facts as would be admissible in evidence.” Harris’ claim regarding “rumors in the industry” is based on nothing more than inadmissible hearsay. Thus, Harris cannot even establish that there was a statement or that Tietex published the statement, let alone prove the remaining elements of this claim.

f. Harris’ July 2007 Suspension with Full Pay.

Harris’ sixth defamation claim alleges that Tietex somehow defamed him by suspending his employment—with full pay and benefits—in July 2007. (Harris Dep. 2 at 29.) The only statements Harris has identified with respect to this claim are (1) Mr. Wallace’s telephone call to Harris in which he informed Harris of the suspension, and (2) Mr. Wallace allegedly informing an individual at another company (Textile Rubber) that Harris was suspended. (Id. at 124-30.)

With respect to the telephone call between Mr. Wallace and Harris, there was obviously no publication to a third party, as Harris admits that they were the only parties on the call. (Id. at 126-27.) Regarding Mr. Wallace’s alleged statement to the Textile Rubber employee, Harris once again is relying on nothing more than inadmissible hearsay. Beyond being unable to specify any details regarding the alleged statement, Harris admits that “[t]he only information [he] h[as] is like second hand what George Henderson told [him].” (Id. at 129.) Thus, Harris cannot establish that any statement was published for the purposes of this motion. Even assuming Mr. Wallace had informed this individual that Harris was suspended, that statement is 100% true and cannot be defamatory as a matter of law. Therefore, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment.

g. Harris' February 2007 Ban from the Laboratory.

Finally, Harris contends that being “banned from going to the laboratory building” in February 2007 was defamatory. (Harris Dep. 2 at 29-30.) The only “statement” that Tietex can infer from this allegation is when Mr. Wallace told Harris “not to enter the lab under any circumstances.” (Mag. Ord. at 3; Harris Dep. 1 at 101 & Ex. 12.) While Mr. Wallace did make that statement, Tietex is unable to determine how it could even potentially be defamatory with respect to Harris.

First, the statement was not even about Harris—it was a work directive. Second, Mr. Wallace only made that statement (and Tietex only prohibited Harris from entering the lab) after Harris complained that the work conditions in the lab were detrimentally impacting his health. Tietex and Harris jointly attempted to find a solution that would have allowed Harris to continue working in the lab without harming his health, but they were unable to do so. Third, After “banning” Harris from the lab, Harris admits that Tietex made special purchases of equipment to allow him to set up a work area in a different location that would be better for his health. The Magistrate’s Order thoroughly and conclusively summarizes these undisputed facts, and there is simply no defamation to be found. (Mag. Ord. at 2-3.) Harris’ claim regarding this statement must be dismissed accordingly.

3. Harris’ Outrage Claim Fails To Allege Any Facts that Rise to the Level of Extreme and Outrageous Conduct or Severe Emotional Distress that South Carolina Courts Require for Such a Claim.

Harris is obligated to prove all of the following elements to recover under his outrage claim: (1) that Tietex “intentionally or recklessly inflicted severe emotional distress, or was certain, or substantially certain, that such distress would result from [its] conduct”; (2) that Tietex's conduct "was so 'extreme and outrageous' so as to exceed 'all possible bounds of decency' and must be regarded as 'atrocious and utterly intolerable in a civilized community'"; (3) that Tietex's actions caused Harris' emotional distress; and (4) that "the emotional distress suffered by [Harris] was 'severe' such that 'no reasonable man could be expected to endure it.'" Hansson v. Scalise Builders of S.C., 374 S.C. 352, 356, 650 S.E.2d 68, 70 (2007) (quoting Ford v. Hutson, 276 S.C. 157, 162, 276 S.E.2d 776, 778 (1981)). The South Carolina Supreme Court has "emphasized the heightened burden of proof articulated in the second and fourth elements of the tort, insisting that in order to prevail in a tort action alleging damages for purely mental anguish, the plaintiff must show both that the conduct on the part of the defendant was 'extreme and outrageous,' and that the conduct caused distress of an 'extreme or severe nature.'" Id., 650 S.E.2d at 71 (quoting Ford, 276 S.C. at 161, 276 S.E.2d at 778).

"In order to prevent claims for intentional infliction of emotional distress from becoming 'a panacea for wounded feelings rather than reprehensible conduct,' the court plays a significant gatekeeping role in analyzing a defendant's motion for summary judgment." Id. at 358, 650 S.E.2d at 72 (quoting Todd v. S.C. Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co., 283 S.C. 155, 171, 321 S.E.2d 602, 611 (Ct. App. 1984)). Thus, "the court must determine that a genuine issue of material fact exists for each essential element of the plaintiff's claim." Id., 650 S.E.2d at 71. A brief review of the facts alleged by Harris quickly demonstrates that he cannot come close to meeting his "heightened burden of proof" with respect to "the second and fourth elements of" of his outrage claim. Id. at 356, 650 S.E.2d at 71 (quoting Ford, 276 S.C. at 161, 276 S.E.2d at 778).

Harris' outrage claim relies solely on his contentions that (1) Tietex somehow set him up for failure in his position (Am. Compl. at 3-4, 8), (2) Mr. Wallace allegedly used a "disrespectful tone of voice" a Harris on three occasions (Harris Dep. 2 at 146-56), and (3) Mr. Wallace allegedly yelled at Harris on those same three occasions (id. at 218-21). South Carolina appellate courts have made clear that allegations similar to Harris'—and even allegations far more egregious than Harris'—do not qualify as “extreme and outrageous” as a matter of law.

In Wright, the plaintiff made allegations that were nearly identical to Harris' contention that Tietex set him up for failure in an effort to “be rid of” him. See 298 S.C. at 472, 381 S.E.2d at 505. Specifically, the plaintiff alleged that the employer “set out on a course . . . to ‘build a case’ to justify firing her. She allege[d] he loaded her with responsibility while stripping her of authority. She also allege[d] he would change the manner of performing duties and then accuse her of not following his directions.” Id. The Court of Appeals held that, while the plaintiff and her employer “disagreed about her job performance, the employer’s “actions were not so extreme and outrageous as to exceed all possible bounds of decency.” Id. at 473, 381 S.E.2d at 506.

In Shipman v. Glenn, the plaintiff alleged a set of facts that was plainly and palpably more outrageous than Harris' allegations about Mr. Wallace using a disrespectful tone of voice and yelling at him. See 314 S.C. 327, 328-29, 443 S.E.2d 921, 922 (Ct. App. 1994). There, the Court of Appeals was confronted with the following facts:

(1) [the plaintiff] suffer[ed] from cerebral palsy, a condition that limit[ed] her speech and her physical movements; (2) [the employer] verbally abused and threatened her on the day in question with the loss of her job because she had discussed with others her concerns that she was the victim of intentional discrimination through a reduction in the school’s work force; (3) [the employer] ridiculed her speech impediment; and (4) [the employer’s] actions caused her to become emotionally upset, distressed, and worried, caused her to be physically ill to the point that she had to leave work early that day, caused her to live in constant fear of [her employer] and what he might do to injure her or harm her career, and adversely affected her personal life and her ability to function in her job.

Id. While the Court of Appeals recognized that the employer's conduct was "both callous and offensive," the Court held that the conduct "cannot provide the basis for an action for intentional infliction of emotional distress." Id.

If the conduct alleged in Wright and Shipman does not rise to the level of "extreme and outrageous" as a matter of law, there is simply no possibility that Harris' allegations could even approach that heightened threshold. Harris' claim is merely an attempt to accomplish what our courts have noted a "widespread reluctance . . . to permit"—the conversion of "the tort of outrage [into] a panacea for wounded feelings rather than reprehensible conduct." Hansson, 374 S.C. at 357, 650 S.E.2d at 71 (quoting Todd, 283 S.C. at 171, 321 S.E.2d at 611).

Even assuming Harris could establish the presence of "extreme and outrageous" conduct, he cannot meet his heightened burden of proving that he suffered emotional distress so severe that "no reasonable man could be expected to endure it." Id. at 356, 650 S.E.2d at 70 (quoting Ford, 276 S.C. at 162, 276 S.E.2d at 778). All Harris has offered with respect to his alleged "distress" is his own conclusory allegations. This is insufficient as a matter of law. Id. at 358, 650 S.E.2d at 72 ("Under the heightened standard of proof for emotional distress claims . . . , a party cannot establish a prima facie claim for damages resulting from a defendant's tortious conduct with mere bald assertions."). To survive summary judgment, Harris was required to provide "something 'more' – in the form of third party witness testimony and other corroborating evidence – in order to make a prima facie showing of 'severe' emotional distress." Id. Harris has made no such showing. In fact, Harris has admitted that he received absolutely no medical treatment as a result of the incidents he alleges to have been "extreme and outrageous." (Harris Dep. 2 at 158-60.) Thus, any alleged "emotional distress" that Harris purportedly suffered was far from "severe" under the well-established legal framework. Because Harris cannot make even a prima facie showing of the second or fourth elements of his outrage claim, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment.

V. CONCLUSION

For all of the foregoing reasons, Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on all of Harris' claims against it. Accordingly, Tietex respectfully asks the Court to dismiss Harris' lawsuit in its entirety.

Attachment A

Order and Report of Magistrate Judge Kevin F. McDonald July 29, 2010

FOR THE DISTRICT OF SOUTH CAROLINA
SPARTANBURG DIVISION

Gary G. Harris,

Plaintiff,

vs.

Tietex International, Inc.,

Defendant.

Civil Action No. 7:08-3020-HFF-KFM

ORDER AND REPORT OF MAGISTRATE JUDGE

This matter is before the court on the defendant's motion for summary judgment (doc. 68) and motion to strike (doc. 111). In his complaint, the plaintiff alleges that the defendant, his former employer, violated the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA")¹ by terminating his employment and replacing him with a younger individual. He further alleges the defendant violated the ADEA by retaliating against him for complaining about age discrimination toward other employees. He also alleges state law claims against the defendant for breach of contract, breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and defamation.

Pursuant to the provisions of Title 28, United States Code, Section 636(b)(1)(A), and Local Rule 73.02(B)(2)(g), D.S.C., all pretrial matters in employment discrimination cases are referred to a United States Magistrate Judge for consideration.

FACTS PRESENTED

The plaintiff was terminated from employment with Tietex International, Ltd., at the age of 62. The plaintiff began working at Tietex on July 13, 1994, as a Senior Research Chemist. (Id. 57-61, ex. 6-7, 15). Prior to February 1, 2007, the plaintiff reported to Jake Butts. The plaintiff's normal working hours were 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., but he claims he was often at work by 6:00 or 6:30 a.m. and stayed later than 5:00 p.m. (Pl. dep. 74-75). On occasion, the plaintiff stayed until 8:00, 9:00, or 10:00 at night. (Id. 77). The plaintiff admits he was the only employee who did lab work after hours and that he left messages for managers when he knew they would not be answering their phones. (Id. 81-82, 126-27, ex. 10, 14; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 20-21). Mr. Butts testified that the plaintiff worked "odd" hours but he "didn't worry about [the plaintiff's] timekeeping ... [and] always felt that [the plaintiff] had a good work ethic. He's certainly, in my opinion, a brilliant chemist and could accomplish the things that needed to be accomplished. And when I've asked him to work on a specific thing, he's been able to do what I needed him to do." (Butts dep. 47, 59).

Mr. Butts relocated his office from the plant to the office area of the technical building, where the plaintiff's office was located. Soon after Mr. Butts relocated his office, the plaintiff claimed he noticed a mold smell and had symptoms of congestion, sinus headache, and flu. The plaintiff claimed that the smell originated from Jake Butts' clothing and the furniture Mr. Butts moved into his relocated office. After some time and several visits to doctors, including an ENT and allergist, the plaintiff contended that the smell was the source of his illness due to an allergy to mold. The plaintiff reported his belief to Mr. Butts. The defendant hired a hygienist to perform testing in the lab. The hygienist reported that there was no mold contamination and that the air in the lab was cleaner than the outside air. Although the plaintiff claims the testing was flawed, he admits he has no evidence of that. His only specific complaint about the testing was that it did not focus solely on the office area of the lab, but tested all four sections of the laboratory. (Pl. dep. 87- 89, 91-94; Wallace decl. ¶ 12). At some time in late 2006, the plaintiff established a second office in the main plant. He continued to do work in the lab until February 2007. (Pl. dep. 87-88). According to the plaintiff, he was not bothered by the allergy when he spent short periods of time in the lab area. (Pl. aff. ¶ 7).

Effective February 1, 2007, the plaintiff was placed under the supervision of Wade Wallace. The defendant argues this was in part due to the plaintiff's continued complaints about the smell associated with Jake Butts. The plaintiff believes the reason for the change in his reporting relationship was so that Mr. Wallace could assist him in getting more involved with special projects. The defendant agrees that this was also a factor in the decision to place the plaintiff under the supervision of Mr. Wallace. (Pl. dep. 101-103; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 5-6).

Between February 2 and 5, the plaintiff and Mr. Wallace discussed by e-mail whether the plaintiff would be able to continue working in the lab because of his continued complaints about the mold smell. Mr. Wallace stated the defendant would "do whatever [was] necessary to shield [the plaintiff] from any further exposure to an environment(s) that might negatively impact [his] health," and he instructed the plaintiff to wear a mask when he worked in the lab. However, the plaintiff decided that the mask would not give him enough protection. Mr. Wallace then told the plaintiff not to enter the lab under any circumstances. Mr. Wallace reminded the plaintiff to give him a list of items he would need to do his job outside the lab, and Mr. Wallace would have them relocated for the plaintiff. Thereafter, the plaintiff asked if he could work in the lab if he signed a waiver. Mr. Wallace rejected the waiver stating that it "was still unacceptable from an HR/company liability perspective since [the defendant] would be allowing [the plaintiff] to come in contact with an environment that might negatively affect [his] health. Equipment was purchased to accommodate the plaintiff's needs outside of the lab. However, the plaintiff claims that the equipment was not put into place because there was always a problem with "where [the equipment] was going to go." The plaintiff also asked if he could work on Saturdays and Sundays. Mr. Wallace told him that he could work in the plant anytime the plant was operational, and he could come into the facility to do office work when the plant was down. The plaintiff was told not to operate any lab equipment in a lab setting when the plant was down and no other employees were present. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff that if he had to do lab work after regular business hours he should do it on weekday evenings when the second shift was operating. (Pl. dep. 95, 101, 112-13, 122-23, ex. 12, 17; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 13-17).

On February 7, 2007, the plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that he was overwhelmed by personal and emotional problems that had occurred in his personal life over the past year, and he was having difficulty functioning. The plaintiff testified that his wife was ill during this time period. Dealing with his wife's illness left him stressed with major sleep disturbances. He testified he was a "wreck" because of his wife's illness. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff that the company "would support him if he felt he needed to utilize EAP," but the plaintiff stated that was not necessary. (Pl. dep. 106-107, 111, ex. 13, 44; Wallace decl. ¶ 18).

According to Mr. Wallace's deposition testimony, the plaintiff complained to him in February 2007 that he did not feel he was being treated fairly. According to Mr. Wallace, the plaintiff "felt like Tietex, in general did not value him, did not recognize him and did not utilize his skills in a way that he thought that they should." The plaintiff further complained that he "had not been promoted in a manner in which he felt was acceptable, and his compensation had not grown in a manner which he felt was acceptable." Mr. Wallace further testified that the plaintiff "never mentioned age." (Wallace dep. 84).

On February 22, 2007, the plaintiff left voice mail messages for both Mr. Wallace and Tietex's owner, Martin Wildeman, at 3:00 a.m., complaining about his inability to sleep, and about unspecified work-related issues. The plaintiff expressed concern about being moved from the lab and that he was "still not set up to easily do his bench work." The plaintiff asked for a lab pad coater and a vented hood. Mr. Wallace stated that he would take time to locate, acquire, and install the equipment, but stated that in the meantime the plaintiff could use the equipment in the beam/dye area, and/or coordinate to use Robert Culbreth, a chemical technician, to perform work for him in the lab. (Pl. dep. 111-12, ex. 14;

Wallace decl. ¶¶ 14, 16, 20). The plaintiff believes that the defendant was motivated to keep him out of the laboratory to avoid liability for any health problems he might experience rather than out of a real concern for his health. (Pl. dep. 123). Importantly, the plaintiff does not assert that the defendant was motivated to keep him out of the lab because his age.

The plaintiff also complained about being required to stay involved with environmental reporting and stated he was concerned about completing an environmental report that was due March 1, given his other projects. Mr. Wallace stated in an e-mail to David Wilson, the Human Resources Manager, and Mark Isbell, the Vice President of Operations, that he saw "no reason that [the plaintiff's] projects would interfere with his ability to get this report done on time." Mr. Wallace further stated that he "made this clear" to the plaintiff. The plaintiff admitted in his deposition that it was reasonable for Mr. Wallace to expect him to complete the environmental report on time. Mr. Wallace also asked the plaintiff to come to him directly with issues before going to Mr. Wildeman. (Pl. dep. 113, ex. 14, 15; Wallace decl. ¶ 23).

On March 5, 2007, Mr. Wallace discussed several issues with the plaintiff regarding his performance and documented the discussion at the plaintiff's request in a memorandum to David Wilson, with a copy to Mark Isbell and the plaintiff. Mr. Wallace noted the plaintiff made emotional and overly vocal accusations and statements without supporting research or data, was not honoring the chain of command, harbored grudges over past grievances and toward the management in general, and complained about ownership of environmental reporting duties. The memorandum concluded with the statement, "As we discussed these issues are not sustainable and it is mandatory that Gary make significant progress towards resolving these issues within the next 30 days." (Pl. dep. 117-18, ex. 16; Wallace decl. ¶ 25).

On June 18, 2007, Mr. Wallace had another discussion with the plaintiff regarding his work performance. Mr. Wallace documented the discussion in a memorandum to the plaintiff, with a copy to David Wilson and Mark Isbell. The discussion focused on two projects for which the plaintiff was responsible: (1) the development and qualification of a Tietex coating compound as a replacement for the coating that was currently being used on C237 ("C237 Project"); and (2) the development of a finish formula and process for parabolic application of T602 ("T602 Project"). (Pl. dep. 128-30, ex. 18; Wallace decl. ¶ 26).

The plaintiff had been working on the C237 Project for about six months. The plaintiff had predicted that the C237 Project would result in significant cost savings for the defendant. The plaintiff claimed he had a successful trial before he began reporting to Mr. Wallace. Despite the plaintiff's characterization of the compound he created as a success, it was unacceptable to the defendant because it was much more complicated to produce commercially than the plaintiff had initially promised. In February, Mr. Wallace began working separately on a parallel C237 Project because it appeared that the plaintiff would fail to achieve the cost savings he had predicted. Eventually, the situation was resolved by the provider lowering its price. (Pl. dep. 131-34, ex. 18; Wallace decl. ¶ 27).

Because of the expense, a plant production trial is done only if laboratory production is successful. The plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that the lab samples for the T602 project were promising and recommended a production trial. According to the plaintiff, the first plant production trial showed mixed results with some samples that were "not good," but others that were "comparable," depending on the amount of finish. However, the plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that, based on the results, another plant production trial was warranted. On the plaintiff's recommendation, a second plant production trial was performed, which was unsuccessful. A third trial was similarly unsuccessful. When the second and third trials failed, Mr. Wallace reviewed the results of the first plant production trial himself. Mr. Wallace testified that the results of the first trial had not been as the plaintiff portrayed them, so the second and third trials were unwarranted based on the results of the first. (Pl. dep. 135-41, 295, ex. 18; Wallace ¶¶ 28-32).

Mr. Wallace cited the plaintiff for his poor analytical practices and instructed him to improve his performance within 30 days. The plaintiff considered this his final written warning. (Pl. dep. 139, 141, ex. 18; Wallace decl. ¶ 32).

According to Mr. Wallace, the plaintiff made no effort to complete the C237 project. Instead, the plaintiff began taking multiple days of vacation immediately after being given the warning on June 18. These vacation days were frequently taken on short notice. Sometimes, the plaintiff waited until the day before to notify Mr. Wallace. Other than the environmental reporting, the plaintiff had not improved on the issues cited in the memorandum of March 5, 2007. Gate records and management observation showed that the plaintiff had continued to ignore the directive not to work in the chemical lab areas at nights or on the weekends. The same records showed inconsistent work hours and erratic patterns of entry and exit to and from the facility. The plaintiff's co-workers complained that he did not return calls or e-mails consistently, disrupting their work patterns. (Pl. dep. 145-48, ex. 19, 20; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 33-36).

The plaintiff was scheduled to fly to Indiana on June 14 to visit a customer and return on June 15. After flying the first leg of his trip, the plaintiff turned around and came home because he had a headache. (Pl. dep. 148-49). According to Mr. Wallace, the plaintiff never told him he had not met with the customer in Indiana. (Pl. dep., ex. 19; Wallace decl. ¶ 37).

On the evening of Monday, July 2, after work, the plaintiff left a voicemail message for Mr. Wallace, telling him that he had an ant infestation at his house. The plaintiff said he would take care of the ants first thing the following morning and then go to Hexlon, a chemical facility, and work on a project. (Pl. dep. 151-52). Since the plaintiff left this message after work hours, Mr. Wallace did not hear the message until the morning of

Tuesday, July 3, 2007. (Pl. dep., ex. 19; Wallace decl. ¶ 38). The plaintiff called Mr. Wallace and left a second voicemail message around 9:00 a.m., saying he had resolved the ant problems and was going to work at Hexion. According to the plaintiff, he needed sulfuric acid to do testing. The plaintiff did not arrive at Hexion until 1:30 p.m. The plaintiff could not enter Hexion because he could not contact anyone he knew there to gain entry. The plaintiff estimates he was at Hexion between 30 minutes to an hour and a half. The plaintiff claims that after leaving Hexion, he drove around for 30 to 45 minutes looking for Chemurgy, another chemical facility. When the plaintiff located Chemurgy, no one was there, so he did not stay. (Pl. dep. 154-60, ex. 21; Wallace decl. ¶ 39).

The plaintiff left a message for Hexion employee Pam Westmoreland, telling her that he could not get into the laboratory. The plaintiff stated in his message that he needed a small sample of sulfuric acid, and he would come back and pick it up. Hexion employee George Henderson told Ms. Westmoreland that he would take the sample to the plaintiff at Tietex on his way home. (Pam Westmoreland aff. ¶¶ 5-9).

The plaintiff did not telephone Mr. Wallace to tell him that he could not get in Hexion and that he was going to Chemurgy or anywhere else. (Pl. dep. 160; Wallace decl. ¶ 48). The plaintiff admits it would have been reasonable for him to call Mr. Wallace and tell him that his plans had changed. (Pl. dep. 165).

George Henderson, the Hexion employee, brought the sulfuric acid to Tietex for the plaintiff. Mr. Wallace later called Mr. Henderson and asked if he had seen the plaintiff that day, but Mr. Henderson had not. Mr. Henderson said that he had a voicemail from the plaintiff saying he needed some sulfuric acid urgently because he was planning to do some work on July 4th. According to Mr. Wallace, he was troubled because the plaintiff was not where he said he would be and because it appeared the plaintiff had planned to work with chemicals in the lab on a day the plant was supposed to be closed. (Pl. dep. 160; Wallace ¶¶ 42-43).

Mr. Wallace called the plaintiff on his cell phone between 4:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. and asked where he was. The plaintiff told Mr. Wallace that he had been to Hexion. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff that Mr. Henderson had been to Tietex and said that the plaintiff had not been at Hexion that day. The plaintiff then stated he had gone to Hexion, but had been unable to get in or find anyone, so he left. The plaintiff could not give Mr. Wallace an adequate explanation of his whereabouts for the day. Mr. Wallace told the plaintiff he was suspended until Mr. Wallace returned from vacation. During the phone call, the plaintiff and Mr. Wallace were disconnected, and Mr. Wallace could not reach the plaintiff again by telephone. Mr. Wallace talked to David Wilson, the Human Resources Director, about what transpired, and a voice mail message was left for the plaintiff reiterating that he was suspended with pay and should not return to work until contacted by the defendant. (Pl. dep. 158-66, ex. 19; Wallace ¶¶ 44-48).

Mr. Wallace conducted an investigation of the events of July 3 when he returned from vacation. Mr. Wallace recommended the plaintiff's employment be terminated, and the decision to do so was made by Mr. Wallace; David Wilson, Human Resources Director; Martin Wildeman, Owner; Reed Cunningham, President; and Mark Isbell, Vice President of Manufacturing. The plaintiff was told he was not being terminated for one specific deficiency, but for many shortcomings that "added up," including the issues Mr. Wallace had addressed with him in the March 5, 2007, memorandum. (Pl. dep. 142, ex. 16; Wallace decl. ¶¶ 48-50). These issues were also documented in a memorandum dated July 18, 2007. (Pl. dep., ex. 19; Wallace decl. ¶ 51). The plaintiff's employment was terminated on July 19, 2007. The plaintiff does not know who made the decision to terminate his employment. (Pl. dep. 167-68, ex. 22).

APPLICABLE LAW AND ANALYSIS

Motion to Strike

The defendant has moved to strike several paragraphs in the plaintiff's affidavit submitted in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, arguing they contain assertions that lack personal knowledge, are conclusory, are based on unsupported personal opinion or speculation, are based on hearsay, or contradict the affiant's own prior sworn deposition testimony or documentary evidence. The paragraphs pertinent to the court's analysis of the motion for summary judgment are discussed below.

Motion for Summary Judgment

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56 states, as to a party who has moved for summary judgment:

The judgment sought shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Accordingly, to prevail on a motion for summary judgment, the movant must demonstrate that: (1) there is no genuine issue as to any material fact; and (2) that he is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law. As to the first of these determinations, a fact is deemed "material" if proof of its existence or nonexistence would affect the disposition of the case under the applicable law. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). An issue of material fact is "genuine" if the evidence offered is such that a reasonable jury might return a verdict for the non-movant. Id. at 257. In determining whether a genuine issue has been raised, the court must construe all inferences and ambiguities against the movant and in favor of the non-moving party. United States v. Diebold, Inc., 369 U.S. 654, 655 (1962).

The party seeking summary judgment shoulders the initial burden of demonstrating to the district court that there is no genuine issue of material fact. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). Once the movant has made this threshold demonstration, the non-moving party, to survive the motion for summary judgment, may not rest on the allegations averred in his pleadings; rather, he must demonstrate that specific, material facts exist which give rise to a genuine issue. Id. at 324. Under this standard, the existence of a mere scintilla of evidence in support of the plaintiff's position is insufficient to withstand the summary judgment motion. Anderson, 477 U.S. at 252. Likewise, conclusory allegations or denials, without more, are insufficient to preclude the granting of the summary judgment motion. Ross v. Communications Satellite Corp., 759 F.2d 355, 365 (4th Cir. 1985), overruled on other grounds, 490 U.S. 228 (1989). "Only disputes over facts that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law will properly preclude the entry of summary judgment. Factual disputes that are irrelevant or unnecessary will not be counted." Anderson, 477 U.S. at 248. Accordingly, when Rule 56(e) has shifted the burden of proof to the non-movant, he must provide existence of every element essential to his action which he bears the burden of adducing at a trial on the merits.

The ADEA makes it "unlawful for an employer . . . to fail or refuse to hire or to discharge any individual or otherwise discriminate against any individual with respect to his compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, because of such individual's age." 29 U.S.C. § 623(a)(1). "[A] plaintiff bringing a disparate-treatment claim pursuant to the ADEA must prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that age was the 'but-for' cause of the challenged adverse employment action." Gross v. FBL Fin. Servs., Inc., 129 S.Ct. 2343, 2352 (2009). The evidence may be direct or circumstantial. Id. at 2351.

Direct evidence is "evidence of conduct or statements that both reflect directly the alleged discriminatory attitude and that bear directly on the contested employment decision." Fuller v. Phipps, 67 F.3d 1137, 1142 (4th Cir.1995), abrogated on other grounds by, Desert Palace, Inc. v. Costa, 539 U.S. 90 (2003). The plaintiff attempts to establish direct evidence of age discrimination based on a single statement allegedly made by Reed Cunningham, Tietex's President. The plaintiff claims that sometime before 2001 Mr. Cunningham commented that Tietex must get younger people into management. The plaintiff admits that it is quite reasonable to conclude that Mr. Cunningham did not mean he wanted the younger people to replace older workers, but believed the company needed a succession plan so that Tietex would have the ability to replace workers who either retired or left the company. The plaintiff admits Mr. Cunningham's comment was casual and confesses that, "[a]nd in all fairness to him, I personally don't think he meant anything by it..." The plaintiff admits he never complained to anyone about the statement. (Pl. dep. 187-88).

In his affidavit submitted in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff stated, "These incidents mirror the age-based animus voiced to me in 2000 by a high level manager Reed Cunningham about his plan to replace older managers with younger ones." (Pl. aff. ¶ 8). As argued by the defendant in its motion to strike, this statement contradicts the plaintiff's deposition testimony that the comment was casual and he did not think Mr. Cunningham meant anything by it. (Pl. dep. 187). If an affidavit conflicts with earlier sworn testimony, it must "be disregarded as a sham issue of fact." Rohrbough v. Wyeth Laboratories, Inc., 916 F.2d 970, 975 (4th Cir. 1990). "A genuine issue of material fact is not created where the only issue of fact is to determine which of the two conflicting versions of the plaintiff's testimony is correct." Barwick v. Celotex Corp., 736 F.2d 946, 960 (4th Cir.1984). Based upon the foregoing, the defendant's motion to strike this portion of paragraph 8 of the plaintiff's affidavit is granted.

In O'Connor v. Consolidated Coin Caterers Corp., 56 F.3d 542 (4th Cir. 1995), rev'd on other grounds by, 517 U.S. 308 (1996), a supervisor's remarks that, "[I]t's about time we get some young blood in this company," and "[Y]ou are too damn old for this kind of work," were insufficient evidence of discrimination because the remarks were not made in the context of replacing the plaintiff, but were made in another or an unknown context. Id. at 548-50. In Birkbeck v. Marvel Lighting Corp., 30 F.3d 507 (4th Cir. 1994), a supervisor commented, "there comes a time when we have to make way for younger people." Id. at 511. The court noted that "[i]t is undisputed that the statement was made over two years before the discharge of [the plaintiff]. This remoteness in time makes it inappropriate to use . . . the statement as evidence of age discrimination." Id. at 511-12. The court further found "the statement in itself creates no inference of age bias. [The] comment reflects no more than a fact of life and as such is merely a 'truism[]' that carries with it no disparaging undertones." Id. at 512.

The comment here is similar to those in O'Connor and Birkbeck. This court agrees with the defendant that this comment, made over six years before the plaintiff's termination of employment and in no way related to his termination, cannot evidence any intent to discriminate against the plaintiff because of his age.

Under the burden-shifting method of proof of McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Green, 411 U.S. 792 (1973),² a plaintiff may establish a prima facie case of age discrimination under the ADEA by showing that he (1) is a member of the protected class, i.e., is at least 40 years old; (2) suffered an adverse employment action; (3) was meeting his employer's legitimate expectations at the time of the adverse action; and (4) was replaced by or treated less favorably than someone who is either outside the protected class or "substantially younger" than he is. Mandengue v. ADT Security Systems, Inc., C.A. No. RDB-09-3103, 2010 WL 2365463, *5 (D. Md. 2010).

²The Supreme Court recently found that the text of the ADEA does not authorize a mixed-motive age discrimination claim. Gross, 129 S.Ct. at 2350. The Court also noted that it "has not definitively decided" whether the McDonnell Douglas framework, first developed in the context of Title VII cases, "is appropriate in the ADEA context." 129 S.Ct. at 2349 n.2. Accordingly, this court must follow Fourth Circuit precedent, which applies the McDonnell Douglas framework to ADEA claims. See Hill v. Lockheed Martin Logistics Mgmt., Inc., 354 F.3d 277, 285 (4th Cir.2004). See also Misner v. Potter, 2009 WL 1972598, *2 n. 3 (D. Utah 2009) ("This court does not understand Gross as altering the use of the McDonnell Douglas framework at summary judgment on ADEA cases.").

If the plaintiff can establish a prima facie case, the burden then shifts to the defendant to produce a legitimate, nondiscriminatory reason for its actions against the plaintiff. Tex. Dep't of Cmty. Affairs v. Burdine, 450 U.S. 248, 253-54 (1981) (this is a burden of production, not persuasion). If the defendant meets this burden, the plaintiff must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the proffered reason was pretextual. See Reeves v. Sanderson Plumbing Prods., Inc., 530 U.S. 133, 147 (2000).

The plaintiff is over 40 years old, and he suffered an adverse employment action when he was fired by the defendant. The defendant, however, argues the plaintiff cannot establish the third and fourth elements of a prima facie case.

First, the defendant argues the plaintiff was not performing his job at a level that met the defendant's legitimate expectations. This court agrees. As set forth above, the defendant articulated the deficiencies in the plaintiff's performance in memoranda dated March 5, June 18, and July 18, 2007. (Pl. dep., ex. 16, 18, 19). The plaintiff attempts to contradict the defendant's dissatisfaction with his performance by his subjective assessment of himself as a valuable, outstanding, and exemplary performer. However, the plaintiff's subjective view of his performance does not establish a prima facie case. See McNally v. Norton, 498 F.Supp.2d 167, 183 (D. D.C. 2007) ("Plaintiff's subjective belief of qualification is not evidence that can be used to establish that he was qualified for the job.") (citation omitted). The perception of the employer is critical, "not the self-assessment of the plaintiff." Hawkins v. PepsiCo, 203 F.3d 274, 280 (4th Cir. 2000) (citation omitted).

Next, the defendant argues that the plaintiff has no evidence he was replaced by a person substantially younger than himself. The plaintiff contends that "Wallace . . . became determined to rid Tietex of [the plaintiff] and replace him with a twenty-five year old worker who was referred to Tietex by Wallace's boss, Mark Isbell." (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 16, ex. 8). The employee referred to by the plaintiff is Trish Guzman. However, as pointed out by the defendant, the plaintiff does not deny that Ms. Guzman's title of Chemist Lab Manager and his title of Senior Research Chemist were different. He also does not dispute that Ms. Guzman's job description as Chemist Lab/Environmental Manager is not an accurate description for the job he performed and is much smaller in scope. The plaintiff can only point to a few of his former duties that he claims Ms. Guzman performed. He claims Ms. Guzman dealt with vendors and formulations in an effort to purchase chemicals for less. (Pl. dep. 192-93). Ms. Guzman performed only a few of the general chemical duties that had previously been a portion of the plaintiff's job. (Wallace decl. ¶ 52). The plaintiff himself also claims another employee, Colon Knight, "replaced him to a certain extent." (Pl. dep. 224). Mr. Wallace testified that after the plaintiff was terminated several people performed his prior duties: Mr. Wallace did the project work; the evaluation and approval of all new chemicals was put on hold, so no one performed those duties; Jake Butts was reassigned some of the environmental work; and some environmental duties were later assumed by Paul Hite. (Wallace dep. 122-23; Butts dep. 34-36). Mr. Wallace testified that Ms. Guzman was later hired and took on two or three of the plaintiff's former duties. Further, Ms. Guzman did not report to Mr. Wallace, as the plaintiff had. (Wallace dep. 124).

The plaintiff also alleges that the defendant "replaced numerous older employees with younger employees." (Comp. ¶ 4). In his response in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff argues as follows:

Over the past few years at Tietex, management has engaged in a pattern and practice of replacing older managers with younger ones. Judy Kramer was a lab manager aged approximately sixty-two (62). She was replaced by Rhonda Blanchard who was aged thirty (30) or younger. Bill Lynch was a sixty (60) year old Gray Mill operator, he was replaced by Joey Griffin, who was in his thirties (30s). Leroy McCraw was a sixty year old engineer who was pushed out by Tietex, given a severance and some "consulting" work and then was replaced by Paul Bartley, an engineer in his thirties (30s). Jake Butts, sixty-six (66) at time of discharge, was given a severance the month after Harris was terminated. He was replaced by Colin Knight, in his thirties (30s).

(Pl. resp. m.s.j. 16). In his affidavit submitted in opposition to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff makes similar allegations. (Pl. aff. ¶ 8). However, the plaintiff's affidavit directly contradicts his prior testimony in his deposition that (1) Judy Cramer retired, and the plaintiff, himself, chose Rhonda Blanchard to replace her; (2) he did not know if Bill Lynch was terminated and replaced with Joey Griffin; and (3) he denied that Leroy McCraw was terminated because of age and replaced with Paul Bartley. (Pl. dep. 201-206). Further, the plaintiff's affidavit contradicts Jake Butts' deposition testimony that he retired voluntarily with an incentive package. (Butts dep. 8-9). The plaintiff admitted in his deposition that he was not sure that Mr. Butts had been replaced because of his age, and he had no evidence that he was. (Pl. dep. 206). Accordingly, as paragraph 8 of the plaintiff's affidavit conflicts with earlier sworn testimony, it is stricken. See Rohrbough, 916 F.2d at 975.

This court finds that the plaintiff has failed to establish a prima facie case of age discrimination. The defendant has produced evidence showing it had legitimate, non-discriminatory reasons for firing the plaintiff. (Pl. dep., ex. 16, 18, 19; Wallace decl.). Even assuming the plaintiff could establish a prima facie case of age discrimination, he has failed to show that the proffered reasons for his termination of employment were pretext for age discrimination as set forth below.

The plaintiff points to several "material disputes of fact" that he argues shows age discrimination was the reason for his termination of employment. First, the plaintiff notes "[g]ross inaccuracies in Wallace's timeline testimony" with regard to the events of July 3, 2007. (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 12). Specifically, the plaintiff contends Mr. Wallace "relates a totally inaccurate timeline as to when the Hexion representative was at Tietex." Also, the plaintiff contends Mr. Wallace "made false statements in the termination memo" by wrongly stating that the plaintiff instructed the Hexion employee to deliver the sulfuric acid to Tietex.

(Pl. resp. m.s.j. 12). Assuming the plaintiff is correct, it is unclear how these facts are material to the issue of whether the plaintiff was terminated because of his age. As argued by the defendant, the Hexion employee's visit to Tietex is relevant only to the extent that it is what alerted Mr. Wallace to the fact that the plaintiff was not working at Hexion as he said he would be. Here, even assuming Mr. Wallace was motivated to terminate the plaintiff's employment based on an incorrect fact (that is, the timeline or whether the plaintiff asked the Hexion employee to deliver the sulfuric acid), this does not equate to being motivated by age.

The plaintiff next contends that Jake Butts' opinion of the plaintiff's performance and work hours is evidence that Mr. Wallace manufactured these performance deficiencies. While Mr. Butts testified that he did not have a problem with the plaintiff's "odd" work hours or performance, it is clear that Mr. Wallace did. However, the plaintiff has presented absolutely no evidence that Mr. Wallace's expectations of the plaintiff were motivated by age. Establishing "new, higher standards raises no suspicion of discrimination by itself; the courts must accept the employer's legitimate standards of qualification 'provided the decision is not based upon unlawful criteria.'" Bossalina v. Lever Brothers, Inc., No. 86-2158, 1988 WL 60572, *2 (4th Cir. 1988) (quoting Texas Department of Community Affairs v. Burdine, 450 U.S. 248, 259 (1981)).

Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiff has failed to show that issues of material fact remain. Accordingly, his discharge claim falls.

Retaliation

The plaintiff also alleged he was terminated from his employment in retaliation for his complaints about "past problems" to his former supervisor, Jake Butts. (Pl. dep. 184). Retaliation claims under the ADEA are governed by the McDonnell Douglas framework for circumstantial evidence, requiring the plaintiff to establish a prima facie case showing: (1)

he engaged in protected activity; (2) the defendant took adverse action against him; and (3) a causal connection existed between the protected activity and the adverse action. Spriggs v. Diamond Auto Glass, 242 F.3d 179, 191 (4th Cir. 2001). Protected activity may be in the form of participation in the charge filing process or protesting unlawful age discrimination in the work place. Laughlin v. Metro. Wash. Airports Auth., 149 F.3d 253, 259 (4th Cir. 1998).

The plaintiff claims he stated to his former supervisor, Jake Butts, in 2004 or 2005 that older workers seemed to be replaced by younger workers and that this concerned him. The plaintiff was terminated from employment on July 19, 2007. The plaintiff admits that Mr. Butts was not in a position to influence his employment status at the time of his termination from Tietex. He further admits he has no evidence that Mr. Butts told anyone about his conversation with the plaintiff, and no one else was present. The plaintiff testified that his only evidence that he was retaliated against was the fact that he was terminated. (Pl. dep. 180-84, 207, 210).

The plaintiff has absolutely failed to show any causal connection between the statements made to Mr. Butts and his termination. The two events are not closely related in time, there is no evidence anyone other than Mr. Butts was aware of the statements, and Mr. Butts had no influence or involvement in the plaintiff's termination from employment.

The plaintiff argues in his opposition to the motion for summary judgment that he met with Tietex's owner, Martin Wildeman, on June 21, 2007, "to address the discrimination and other problems he was experiencing with...Wallace." (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 5). He cites to his own affidavit submitted in support of his opposition memorandum. In that affidavit, the plaintiff states in pertinent part, "Specifically, on June 21, 2007, just two weeks before I was suspended, I met with Martin Wildeman, and addressed the issues of . . . 2) Discrimination Clearly, I reported discrimination right before I was fired to the highest authority at Tietex - the owner." (Pl. aff. ¶ 5). In his affidavit, the plaintiff cites a document that he created listing bullet points including "Discrimination" for a meeting with "Martin" on June 22, which is marked through and replaced with June 21. The plaintiff's own handwritten notes on the document characterize the list as "topics I would go over." (Pl. aff., ex. D) (emphasis added). The plaintiff further states in his handwritten notes on the document, "I recall very little about what was discussed. I do recall that the owner refused to get into discussion, was of no support and aborted the meeting rather suddenly." (Id.). In his deposition testimony, the plaintiff testified that he could not recall ever having mentioned age discrimination to Mr. Wildeman. (Pl. dep. 176-78). The plaintiff confirmed on the document that Mr. Wildeman "was not provided a copy of this listing", so Mr. Wildeman did not even know that "Discrimination" was to be a "topic" of discussion. (Pl. aff., ex. D). Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiff has provided no evidence he discussed discrimination with Mr. Wildeman. Further, as the statement in the plaintiff's affidavit is conclusory, not factual, and contradicted by the document he relies upon and his earlier sworn deposition testimony, this court grants the defendant's motion to strike this portion of paragraph five of the plaintiff's affidavit.

The plaintiff also contends he was not terminated until after he made "final complaints of mistreatment" on July 18, 2007. (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 9). The plaintiff cites to Human Resource Director David Wilson's testimony before the South Carolina Employment Security Commission that he allowed the plaintiff to "vent" prior to his termination. However, Mr. Wilson makes no reference to the plaintiff mentioning age discrimination or age in any way. (Id., ex. 19 at 22-23). In his response to the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff does not allege that he complained he was being discriminated against because of his age, only that, in his view, he was being treated unfairly. (Pl. resp. m.s.j. 9). As noted by the defendant, many people who are about to be terminated from their employment believe they are being treated unfairly, but expressing that feeling is not protected activity. See 29 U.S.C. § 623(d).

In summary, the plaintiff has absolutely failed to show any causal connection between the statements made to Mr. Butts and his termination. The plaintiff admitted he cannot remember discussing age discrimination with Mr. Wildeman. Further, he never used the term "age" or "discrimination" when describing his "venting" to Mr. Wilson, only that he was being treated unfairly. In addition, the plaintiff has come forward with no evidence that he complained of age discrimination to his supervisor, Mr. Wallace. Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiff's retaliation claim should be dismissed.

State Law Claims

As it is recommended that the plaintiff's federal claims be dismissed, the court should decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the plaintiff's state law claims for breach of contract, breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and defamation. 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c); see United Mine Workers of America v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1966) ("Certainly, if the federal claims are dismissed before trial, even though not insubstantial in a jurisdictional sense, the state claims should be dismissed as well.").

CONCLUSION

Wherefore, based upon the foregoing,

IT IS ORDERED that the defendant's motion to strike (doc. 111) is granted in part as set forth above. To the extent the defendant moved to strike portions of the plaintiff's affidavit not discussed herein, such motion is moot. Further,

IT IS RECOMMENDED that the defendant's motion for summary judgment (doc. 68) be granted as to the ADEA claims, and that the court decline supplemental jurisdiction over the plaintiff's state law claims.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE DISTRICT OF SOUTH CAROLINA
SPARTANBURG DIVISION

Gary G. Harris,

Plaintiff,

v.

Tietex International, Ltd.,

Defendant.

C.A. No. 7:08-cv-03020-JMC

OPINION AND ORDER

This is an employment discrimination case brought by Plaintiff under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), 29 U.S.C. § 621, et seq. Plaintiff also alleges state law causes of action. On July 29, 2010, the Magistrate Judge entered his Report and Recommendation [Entry # 121] made in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A) and Local Civil Rule 73.02(B)(2)(g) for the District of South Carolina, wherein he recommends that Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment [Entry # 68] be granted.

Plaintiff was apprised of his right to file objections to the Report and Recommendation and has done so in a memorandum filed with the Clerk of Court on August 16, 2010.¹ [Entry # 123]. In his opposition to the Report and Recommendation, Plaintiff argues that the Magistrate Judge failed to view the evidence in a light most favorable to Plaintiff and improperly resolved facts in controversy as to several arguments in Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment. For the reasons contained herein, Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment is granted, the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation is adopted herein, this case is dismissed with prejudice as to the federal ¹There seems to be confusion regarding whether or not Plaintiff timely filed objections to the Report and Recommendation. However, upon closer examination, it appears that a computer glitch caused the document to appear as though it was filed on August 17, 2010, instead of August 16, 2010. The Clerk of Court has subsequently remedied the mistake and the court finds that Plaintiff's objections were timely filed.

causes of action, and the court declines to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the state law causes of action.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

The Magistrate Judge makes his Report and Recommendation in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) and Local Civil Rule 73.02 for the District of South Carolina. A Magistrate Judge makes only a recommendation to this court. The recommendation has no presumptive weight. The responsibility to make a final determination remains with this court. See Mathews v. Weber, 423 U.S. 261, 270-71 (1976). The court is charged with making a de novo determination of those portions of the Report and Recommendation to which specific objection is made, and the court may accept, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the recommendation of the Magistrate Judge or recommit the matter with instructions. 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1).

DISCUSSION

Plaintiff objects to the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation, arguing that the Magistrate Judge improperly resolved material facts in controversy as to whether: (1) Plaintiff met Defendant's (the employer) legitimate expectations at the time of the adverse actions; (2) Defendant replaced Plaintiff with an employee who is either outside the protected class or substantially younger than Plaintiff; and (3) Defendant retaliated against Plaintiff for making claims of age-related bias.²

² Harris argues the existence of material factual issues in his objections to the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation by attaching a new and contradictory Affidavit. Harris has provided no explanation for his decision not to submit the Affidavit in connection with his response opposing Defendant's summary judgment motion. Therefore, the court, in its discretion, will not consider the Affidavit at this late stage of the proceedings. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(g); Williams v. McNeil, 557 F.3d 1287 (11th Cir. 2009) (affirming district court's discretion to refuse to consider arguments raised for the first time in objections to the magistrate judge's report and recommendation). However, the court will address the arguments made in Plaintiff's filed objections to the Report and Recommendation. To the extent that these arguments are supported by the contradictory affidavit, the court will not consider such arguments as stated herein.

I. Legitimate Expectations at Time of Adverse Action

Plaintiff contends that the Magistrate Judge improperly resolved a material fact in controversy which was directly relevant to whether Plaintiff was performing at the level of Defendant's legitimate expectations at the time of the adverse action. The Magistrate Judge determined that Defendant articulated deficiencies in Plaintiff's performance in memoranda dated March 5, June 18, and July 18, 2007, and found that Plaintiff did not establish a prima facie case of age discrimination under the ADEA because he failed to provide evidence that established that he was meeting his employer's legitimate expectations at the time of the adverse action. See McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Green, 411 U.S. 792 (1973).

A. The C237 Project

Plaintiff argues that the Magistrate Judge relied on inconsistent facts in recommending that summary judgment be granted regarding the date on which Plaintiff's supervisor, Wade Wallace ("Wallace"), began a parallel project to correct Plaintiff's failure to successfully execute the project known as the C237 Project. However, the fact in question is not material. See, e.g., Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986) ("Only disputes over facts that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law will properly preclude the entry of summary judgment. Factual disputes that are irrelevant or unnecessary will not be counted."); Ross v. Communications Satellite Corp., 759 F.2d 355, 365 (4th Cir. 1985), overruled on other grounds, 490 U.S. 228 (1989) (stating that conclusory allegations or denials, without more, are insufficient to preclude the granting of summary judgment).

Regardless of which date Wallace began the parallel project, it is uncontroverted that Plaintiff did not meet his employer's expectations because his compound was too expensive to produce.

Plaintiff contends that Wallace gave conflicting statements concerning when he began the project, and the Magistrate Judge stated in his Report and Recommendation that Wallace began the parallel project in February 2007 instead of June 2007. However, the evidence in the record demonstrates that Plaintiff had been working on the C237 Project for about six months and predicted that the C237 Project would result in significant cost savings for Defendant. Plaintiff claims he had a successful trial before he began reporting to Wallace. Despite Plaintiff's characterization of the compound as a success, Defendant deemed the project unacceptable because it was much more complicated to produce commercially than Plaintiff had initially anticipated. Therefore, the date on which Wallace began to oversee the parallel project is irrelevant. Even assuming that the Magistrate Judge had used Plaintiff's purported date, it remains undisputed that Defendant determined that Plaintiff had performed unsuccessfully and failed to complete the C237 Project to Wallace's satisfaction. Therefore, the court finds that the Magistrate Judge correctly determined that Plaintiff failed to demonstrate that he was meeting his employer's legitimate standards at the time of his termination.

B. Vacation Days

Plaintiff also argues that the Magistrate Judge erred in finding, as a material fact, that "[a]ccording to Mr. Wallace, Plaintiff made no effort to complete the C237 project. Instead, Plaintiff began taking multiple days of vacation immediately after being given the warning on June 18." Plaintiff contends that he actually worked at another lab in the days following June 18, 2007, and during the week of June 25, 2007. However, the dates averred in Plaintiff's objections contradict testimony in the record, which establishes that Plaintiff requested vacation for June 19th, 20th, the entire week of June 25th, July 2nd, and July 3rd. (See Harris Tr. 145:15-146:7; Wallace Decl. ¶¶ 33-34). Furthermore, Plaintiff admitted to taking vacation immediately following his June 18, 2007 warning by Wallace that his work was not satisfactory and he needed to complete the project. (Harris Tr. 147:24-148:2). Therefore, the Magistrate Judge did not err in finding that Plaintiff was not meeting his employer's legitimate expectations and that he could not establish a prima facie case of age discrimination.

C. Directives Regarding Working Hours

Plaintiff claims that the Magistrate Judge erroneously concluded that he ignored directives not to work in the chemical laboratory areas at night or on the weekends. Plaintiff argues that Wallace seemed to be determined to prevent Plaintiff from completing his work by denying him the opportunity to work at night and on the weekends, and that Jake Butts ("Butts"), his previous supervisor, had no concerns with Plaintiff's schedule in that regard. Plaintiff's argument with respect to Butts is irrelevant in the context of his new supervisor, Wallace. Plaintiff admitted that he was told by Wallace not to work in the plant for safety reasons when it was not operating. Plaintiff admittedly ignored these directives due to his own opinion that the plant was safe when not operating. While his erratic hours had been acceptable to his previous supervisor, they were not acceptable to Wallace. The court agrees with the Magistrate Judge that Plaintiff has presented no evidence that Wallace's expectations were motivated by age.

Therefore, based on the evidence in the record, the Magistrate Judge correctly determined that summary judgment should be granted in favor of Defendant.

II. Replacement by a Younger Employee

Plaintiff claims that the Magistrate Judge erred in finding that he was not replaced by an employee outside of the protected class or substantially younger than him. Specifically, Plaintiff argues that the job description given to him by Wallace on February 1, 2007 lists eleven duties, seven of which were the same duties assigned to one of Plaintiff's replacements, Trish Guzman ("Guzman"). Furthermore, Plaintiff argues that the core of Guzman's job was identical to Plaintiff's previous job, and he performed all of the duties in the "scope of responsibilities" section of Guzman's job description. Again, the record does not support Plaintiff's assertions.

Instead, Defendant relied on evidence in the record to demonstrate that Plaintiff's position was eliminated and his duties were assigned to various other positions. Additionally, Plaintiff has acknowledged that Guzman's title of Chemist Lab Manager and his title of Senior Research Chemist were different. Furthermore, Plaintiff's objections directly contradict his deposition testimony where he did not dispute that Guzman's job description as Chemist Lab/Environmental Manager was not an accurate description for the job Plaintiff had performed, but much smaller in scope, as Guzman only dealt with vendors and formulations in an effort to purchase chemicals for less money. Furthermore, Guzman had responsibility for only a few of the general chemical duties that had previously been a portion of Plaintiff's job. Even Plaintiff claims Colon Knight "replaced him to a certain extent." (Harris Tr. 224:6-12). In addition, the Magistrate Judge considered Wallace's testimony that several employees performed Plaintiff's duties after his dismissal, Guzman assumed only two or three of Plaintiff's former duties, and Guzman did not report to Wallace, as Plaintiff had previously. Accordingly, Plaintiff's objections to the Magistrate Judge's finding that he was not replaced by a younger employee are unfounded based on the record before the court.

III. Retaliation

Plaintiff claims that the Magistrate Judge erred in concluding that no causal connection existed between his alleged complaints of age discrimination and the termination of his employment.

1. Jake Butts

The Magistrate Judge determined that Plaintiff could show no causal connection between statements made to his previous supervisor, Butts, and the termination of his employment because there was no temporal connection, no evidence that Butts repeated the statements to anyone else, and no evidence that Butts had any involvement in the decision to terminate Plaintiff's employment. Plaintiff has offered no argument to counter the Magistrate Judge's reasoning. Rather, in his objections, he simply repeats that he complained to Butts, while attempting to place the date of his complaint closer to the time of his termination by alleging it was "between late 2005 and January, 2007." However, this allegation is inconsistent with Plaintiff's earlier deposition testimony, where he claims he mentioned age discrimination to Butts in 2004 or 2005. (Harris Tr. 180:9-11; 181:2-12). Furthermore, Plaintiff admitted that Butts was not in a position to influence his employment status at the time of his termination. There is no evidence in the record to demonstrate that Butts told anyone about his conversation with Plaintiff. Plaintiff's conclusory statements to the contrary, therefore, are not sufficient to withstand Defendant's summary judgment motion.

2. Martin Wildeman

Plaintiff also claims in his objections to the Report and Recommendation that he reported discrimination to the owner of the company, Martin Wildeman ("Wildeman"). However, Plaintiff previously stated in his deposition that he cannot recall ever having mentioned age discrimination to Wildeman. The Magistrate Judge acknowledged Plaintiff's claim that he had reported discrimination to Wildeman, and noted Plaintiff's citation to a list of bullet points to be discussed in a meeting with "Martin." However, the Magistrate Judge properly concluded that because Plaintiff acknowledged Wildeman was never provided a copy of the bullet points, and because Plaintiff admitted that he could not recall discussing discrimination with Wildeman, Plaintiff had provided no evidence that such a discussion had occurred. Therefore, Plaintiff's objections to the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation that summary judgment be granted on his retaliation claim are unpersuasive.

V. State Law Claims

Because the court has found that Plaintiff's federal claims should be dismissed, the court shall decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over Plaintiff's state law claims for breach of contract, breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and defamation. 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c); see United Mine Workers of America v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1966) ("Certainly, if the federal claims are dismissed before trial, even though not insubstantial in a jurisdictional sense, the state claims should be dismissed as well.").

CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, the court finds Plaintiff's Objections to the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation [Entry # 123] unpersuasive. Therefore, it is ORDERED that the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation [Entry # 121] is adopted and incorporated herein; Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment [Entry # 68] is granted; and the court declines to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over Plaintiff's state law claims.

1 Q: Do you have any significant debts? 2 A: Not right now. 3 Q: Other than your mortgage? 4 A: No. Everything right now is in reasonably good 5 shape. The only debt I guess would be significant is one of 6 the cars there's probably $3,000 owed on it thereabouts. 7 Q: You don't have any big credit card debts? 8 A: Since this bankruptcy, I have gotten credit cards 9 back and I probably got, I don't know, six or eight. I'll 10 use two and put those away, use two more. But I will not 11 let a, if a get a statement, I pay it immediately. 12 Q: You were telling me and I stopped you, about 13 getting a call when you were at Chatham about the job at 14 Tietex. Tell me about that. How did you find out about the 15 job at Tietex? 16 A: I received a phone call and I think it would have 17 been from some agency that they had hired to find someone 18 would be my, based on what I remember of the situation. 19 Q: All right. And then you went for an interview, 20 correct? 21 A: I did in April. 22 (Defendant's Exhibit 5 was marked for identification). 23 Q: And Exhibit 5 is your letter back to Tietex, 24 essentially, thanking them for the interview. 25 A: Okay.	1 A: No. 2 Q: And your salary at hiring was $55,000. Any reason 3 to dispute that? 4 A: No. 5 Q: And you were hired as a Senior Research Chemist. 6 Any reason to dispute that? 7 A: That was the job title, but it did not cover what 8 I was hired for. 9 Q: All right. And that Senior Research Chemist 10 position was in the Printing and Finishing Department of 11 Tietex, correct? 12 A: As far as the pay for that position, yes. 13 Q: As far as the what? 14 A: The pay. 15 Q: Well, it says, looking at Exhibit 6, it says in 16 that first paragraph, second line, I'm sorry, first line, 17 "We are pleased to offer you the position of Senior Research 18 Chemist in our Printing and Finishing Department." Do you 19 see that? 20 A: Yes, sir. That's what it reports to, but it 21 doesn't spell out the responsibilities were plant wide. 22 Q: Okay. So Exhibit 6 is not a job description, 23 right, it just states the name of the job? 24 A: Yes. 25 Q: And you reported to Dave Hughston, the Plant
1 Q: Correct? 2 A: Yes. 3 Q: And you interviewed, according to this letter, 4 with Martin Wildeman and the HR Manager, Don Woodward, and 5 the Printing and Finishing Manager, Dave Hughston, and then 6 John somebody. Who's John? 7 A: John Broughton. 8 Q: Spell that, please. 9 A: B-r-o-u-g-h-t-o-n. 10 Q: Who actually hired you? 11 A: John Broughton along with Dave Hughston, but John 12 was the key figure. 13 Q: And you see on this Exhibit 5, the fourth 14 paragraph where you talk about Tietex having a very clean, 15 modern facility. Do you see that? 16 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response). 17 Q: And would you agree that the facility stayed clean 18 throughout your employment? 19 A: Yes. 20 (Defendant's Exhibit 6 & 7 were marked for identification). 21 Q: I'm going to give you two together. Exhibit 6 is 22 an Offer of Employment to you and Exhibit 7 is looks like 23 your New Hire sheet. According to these documents, you 24 began working at Tietex on July 13, 1994. Any reason to 25 dispute that?	1 Manager of Printing and Finishing? 2 A: Yes. 3 Q: Now, if you will look, please, at Exhibit 6, the 4 second page, which is Bates Numbered 229. Do you see the 5 bold underlined language that's two paragraphs above Mr. 6 Woodward's signature? 7 A: Yes. 8 MR. STEWART: Objection to form. 9 Q: It says, "This letter summarizes our offer. 10 Nothing herein should be construed as a Contract of 11 Employment or as a promise of any specific terms for any 12 determined period of time. Did I read that correctly? 13 A: Yes. 14 Q: So under the terms of your offer, you were 15 employed at will, correct? 16 MR. STEWART: Objection to form. You can answer, 17 I'm objecting for the record. 18 Q: Remember what we said, that he might object but 19 you go ahead and answer. 20 A: Okay. Yes. 21 Q: And your employment could be terminated any time 22 for any reason, correct? 23 A: May I add to that? 24 Q: Sure. Well, give me a yes or no and then qualify 25 it.

1 A: Yes. I'm not sure time wise how long it was after 2 I started the job, but Dave Hughston brought a paper in one
3 day for me to sign. And, basically, it said, spelled out
4 Tietex being an at will employer and so forth, and then it
5 went on to say, you know, specifically that I could leave
6 for any reason at any time and Tietex could ultimately do
7 the same. It was both ways. And I told Dave, I said, "I
8 don't think I want to sign this," something to that effect.
9 And something to the effect of what happens if I don't sign.
10 And he, essentially, told me that if you don't sign it,
11 you'll probably lose your job, so that's when I signed it,
12 but I was aware of Tietex being an at will employer.
13 Q: Do you have a copy of that document?
14 A: I do not.
15 Q: Well, you had quit other work, right, during your 16 career before Tietex?
17 A: Sure.
18 Q: And you knew that you could quit Tietex if you
19 wanted to for whatever reason whenever, correct?
20 A: Yes.
21 Q: And you told me about this document that Mr.
22 Hughston brought you, but you didn't have any kind of 23 written Contract of Employment when you were hired, did you?
24 A: Nothing formal that I know of.
25 Q: And during the term, well, during the time that

1 you worked for Tietex, nobody ever gave you a written
2 Contract of Employment to sign, did they?
3 A: No.
4 Q: Did you go through an orientation?
5 A: I don't recall.
6 Q: Do you ever recall anybody explaining and 7 reviewing the Employee Handbook with you?
8 A: I do not recall that.
9 Q: Do you ever recall being given a copy of the 10 Employee Handbook?
11 A: I definitely was given a copy. I do not know how 12 early on it was, but I had one in my possession for several 13 years.
14 Q: Did you read it?
15 A: I periodically would reference it regarding, say,
16 one of the folks that reported to me had a question or 17 anything of that nature, I would use it as a reference
18 manual to try to answer questions or for my own.
19 Q: But you never read it cover to cover?
20 A: No.
21 Q: Do you recall any part of the Handbook that you
22 read not understanding?
23 A: The only thing I can remember, and this is really
24 too vague to be bringing up, but I do remember some things
25 in there that I felt like were either outdated, a lot of

1 outdated stuff that didn't really apply. And the thought
2 there is, you know, this manual needs to be revised. That's 3 the only thing I can recall that I didn't understand.
4 Q: Do you remember what they were?
5 A: No, I don't.
6 Q: Do you recall asking questions for clarification
7 about the Handbook?
8 A: I don't recall it, but I'm sure if I was trying to 9 get an answer for someone and I, just to back up my 10 interpretation, I'm sure I probably did that, but I don't 11 recall it.
12 Q: That would be in giving an answer for someone else
13 who came to you, correct?
14 A: Most likely.
15 Q: Do you have a copy of that Handbook?
16 A: No. I actually, I'm not sure what year it was, it
17 was around 2005, '6, along in there, there was a call for 18 the manuals to be turned in so they could revise, and I
19 never got a revised copy.
20 Q: I'm going to, if I may, read you the question and 21 answer which is Interrogatory 13. "Interrogatory. Identify 22 the specific statements, policies, or procedures which 23 Harris claims were expressed in mandatory terms and formed a 24 contract of employment." "Answer. Plaintiff believes that 25 Tietex had an employment handbook when he was first hired

1 which laid out responsibilities and duties of the employee
2 and the employer. However, he does not currently have a
3 copy of this handbook. It is believed that the Defendant
4 would have a copy of this handbook and Plaintiff will 5 formally request it. Therefore, the Answer to this 6 Interrogatory will be supplemented as discovery progresses."
7 Did you hear all that?
8 A: Yes.
9 Q: So would it be fair to say that as of today, as 10 we're talking, you don't know what policies were in the 11 Handbook?
12 A: I do know there was a policy in there that had to 13 do with termination and the steps that were to be taken. I
14 can't cite them or anything, but I knew they were like 15 written warning, verbal warnings, and then written warnings
16 and then termination. I knew that was in there.
17 Q: All right. Other than that, you don't know what 18 was in the Handbook?
19 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
20 A: I mean, I couldn't specifically tell you. I mean,
21 we could sit here and talk and can tell you the kind of 22 things that were in there, but I couldn't tell you a page
23 number or anything.
24 Q: All right. Well, it would be fair to say then,
25 that you don't know what policies in the handbook that you

16 (Pages 61 to 64)

Page 65 1 would contend today created a Contract of Employment? 2 MR. STEWART: Object to the form. 3 A: Yeah, I don't really feel like I could answer that 4 question, so I'll just say I don't know the answer. 5 Q: You don't know. It's fair. Look, you can say 6 yes, you can say no, you can say yes and no and qualify it, 7 and you can say I don't know. 8 A: I'll say I don't know then. 9 Q: So you don't know what in the Handbook that you 10 would base your contract claims on? 11 MR. STEWART: Same objection. 12 Q: Correct? 13 A: I don't know, I mean, I've got my thinking but I 14 don't think it's, again, I don't think it's — The answer 15 would be, no, I'm not sure. No, I'm not able to put my 16 finger on something right now, but I have my thinking on it. 17 I don't know. 18 Q: Okay. Now, there is a breach of contract claim in 19 your Complaint which we just talked about. Then there is a 20 second claim that's breach of contract accompanied by a 21 fraudulent act. What do you claim that Tietex did that was 22 fraudulent? 23 A: I'm not exactly sure where that is right now. 24 I'll say I'm not sure right now. 25 (Defendant's Exhibit 8 was marked for identification).	Page 67 1 A: Yeah, but, I mean, this is the first time I've 2 ever seen this so that's why I'm ... 3 Q: Go ahead and take your time. 4 (Reviewing document). 5 A: I mean, most of the things on it are things that I 6 was involved in, but there are some things that are not 7 here. 8 Q: All right. Well, tell me what you would add. 9 A: Well, I can't, I mean, I could take this home and, 10 you know, do some recall and come up with several I'm sure, 11 but I'm looking for environmental stuff right now and I'm 12 not seeing it. Maybe I'm overlooking it. 13 Q: Okay. So you say you had some environmental 14 duties that aren't listed in the 16 job duties? 15 A: I would have to say, in all fairness to me, that I 16 had the greatest degree of responsibility with regard to all 17 EPA and environmental work and reporting. 18 Q: And your point is that to the extent that you had 19 those environmental or EPA duties, they're not listed on 20 Exhibit 9? 21 A: They're not listed. I don't believe I've 22 overlooked them. 23 Q: No, I read it, I didn't see them either. Jake 24 Butts is who you reported to, right? 25 A: At that time.
Page 66 1 Q: Can you identify Exhibit 8 as the Equal Employment 2 Opportunity Policy from the Tietex Policy Manual? 3 A: That's what I'm looking at, that's what it says. 4 Q: All right. And it says, "It is the policy of the 5 Company to provide equal opportunity to all employees and 6 applicants. No person shall be discriminated against 7 because of race, religion, color, sex, age, national origin, 8 handicap, or veteran status." Do you see that? 9 A: Yes. 10 Q: Did I read it correctly? 11 A: Yes. 12 Q: Now, remember when we were talking about your 13 Offer Letter and you said, well, you know, that describes my 14 title, but it doesn't really describe the job? Do you 15 remember that? 16 A: Yes. 17 (Defendant's Exhibit 9 was marked for identification). 18 Q: I'm going to give you Exhibit 9, which is a Job 19 Description for the job title that you had, Senior Research 20 Chemist. Is Exhibit 9 an accurate description of the job 21 that you had as Senior Research Chemist? 22 A: One second, please. 23 Q: All right. And let me just invite your attention 24 to the second page which is marked 344. You can see it was 25 written by Jake Butts, and he dated it January 6, 1998.	Page 68 1 Q: And he was the QA and Environmental Manager? 2 A: According to this. 3 Q: Now, you were first hired as a Senior Research 4 Chemist, correct? 5 A: There was a job open and the title was Senior 6 Research Chemist that within the, within the framework of 7 that particular job that was open or duties that had been 8 vacated by a gentleman who had gone elsewhere. 9 Q: So when you went to work for Tietex, we've already 10 established that your job title was Senior Research Chemist, 11 correct? 12 A: The title was because that was what was what was 13 available, but the discussions I had with John Broughton and 14 Dave Hughston at the time we were considering me or they 15 were considering me, it was clear that I was over qualified 16 for the job as written. 17 Q: And the last day you worked at Tietex, your job 18 title was still Senior Research Chemist, wasn't it? 19 A: It was newly created, I believe it was like 20 February of '07, it was newly created. It was a newly 21 created position for me. It was advertised as a newly 22 created, posted job, posted as a newly created whatever. 23 Q: All right. This is the transcript of your 24 testimony before the Appeal Hearing on September 12, 2007. 25 A: Okay.

Page 73 1 A: I can't answer that. I was having to take, as far 2 as environmental goes, I was having to take things home with 3 me and do them, because I wasn't allowed to work overtime, 4 that kind of thing, and I was carrying stuff home with me to 5 do records keeping and reporting, so I don't know. I don't 6 know. 7 Q: Okay. If you don't know, that's fair. Did you 8 ever supervise employees? Did you ever have people 9 reporting to you ... 10 A: A few. 11 Q: ... so that they looked at you as their 12 supervisor. 13 A: Let me just throw this in. It's important, I 14 think. When I first went to work there, Dave Hughston, the 15 plant manager, gave me responsibility over all department 16 managers. I had that responsibility over all of them. They 17 would listen to me. That was a given. As far as actual 18 folks reporting to me, I just had a few in the laboratory 19 area. 20 Q: Who were they? 21 A: It would be Judy Cramer. What was the Quinn 22 lady's ... 23 MS. DAVIS: Jean. 24 A: Jean Quinn, Rhonda Blanchard, Robert Culbreth, 25 Gene Panell.	Page 75 1 for lunch. Most of the time, I'm talking about when I was 2 actually involved and this other stuff hadn't started, I 3 would be there 6, 6:30. 4 A: A.M.? 5 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response). And stay there for 6 as long as I needed to to get as much done as possible. It 7 wasn't unusual to stay there till 6, 6:30. 8 Q: Were there safety reasons for you to be at work 9 during regular business hours? 10 A: Since I was the key person regarding safety, are 11 you talking about chemicals and things I worked with? 12 Q: Yes. 13 A: I was the person, the person that made decisions 14 as to what was safe, what was not, maintain the MSDS books 15 for the most of the time I was there and oversaw a lot of 16 that without title, I was the one that was relied upon for 17 making those kind of decisions. And in the first, before I 18 reported to Wade Wallace, there was never one instance where 19 anyone came to me and said you shouldn't be in here on 20 Saturday or Sunday. 21 Q: Were there reasons that you shouldn't be working 22 alone with chemicals and lab equipment? 23 A: No. 24 Q: You claim it would have been safe for you to work 25 alone with chemicals and lab equipment?
Page 74 1 Q: Last name? 2 A: Panell, P-a-n-e-l-l. 3 Q: Is that a male or a female? 4 A: It's a man. And what's the girl that had so many 5 difficulties that worked with Rhonda who is another 6 technician? Kay Ward. 7 Q: So all of these employees that you just named 8 reported to you at some time or another? 9 A: Yes. 10 Q: All right. How many usually reported to you at 11 once? 12 A: I guess at a minimum over the time I was there 13 until I started reporting to Wade Wallace, maybe at any 14 given time a minimum of three or four. 15 Q: Three or four at a time? 16 A: Yeah. 17 Q: What were your normal hours of work? 18 A: Let me just say that during an approximate six, 19 seven year span, I would say that I averaged a minimum of 70 20 hours on the job site. 21 Q: I think my question wasn't clear. On the normal 22 day, what time would you go to work and what time would you 23 leave? What was your expected time to be at work? 24 A: The expected time, I believe, was 8 o'clock, and I 25 believe the expected time we could leave was 5 with an hour	Page 76 1 A: No. I'm a professional in that area and I know 2 what precautions to take. It would have actually been, I 3 mean, take a scenario where I'm there and the plant's 4 running and I'm working with chemicals, which I didn't do a 5 lot of that, I mean, talking about hazardous chemicals, if 6 I'm working with hazardous chemicals which, again, did not 7 occur but fairly infrequently, I don't want, I'm not going 8 to allow anyone else to be around me because then they would 9 be, if something happened, then they would be exposed to it. 10 There's no one any safer with regard to those kind of things 11 than I. And it gets into the same area I was talking about 12 earlier about being concerned for employee health. 13 Q: All right. If you had one of these employees that 14 you named working under your supervision, would you permit 15 them to work in the lab not during business hours but work 16 back there by themselves? 17 A: Well, they did. 18 Q: Okay. Did part of your duties include working 19 with production personnel in the testing processes? 20 A: I'm sorry. 21 Q: When you were working on tests and trials and so 22 forth, things like that, did you need to work with 23 production personnel? 24 A: That's a pretty broad question. There were times 25 when I did and there were times when I didn't need to.

1 There were other things more important that I needed to be 2 doing that had to do with that trial. 3 Q: Were there times when you did not work from 8 to 5 4 or from 6 to 6 but worked irregular hours? 5 A: The only time I worked 8 to 5 was when I worked 6 for Wade Wallace. 7 Q: And why was that? 8 A: Well, the main basic reason was I was not allowed 9 to work after hours, weekends, or whatever. 10 Q: Wade Wallace was trying to keep track of you? 11 A: No, I would not classify it as that, no. There 12 was no point in that. 13 Q: Did you ever report to work at 10 p.m. at night? 14 A: Now, when you say that, the first thing that comes 15 to mind is one of the plant trials early on was going to 16 have to be done on third shift which started, say, at 11 17 o'clock and I needed to go in at 10 in order to be there for 18 the trial. Other than that, with me not being a night 19 person, there's no reason I would go in to do work at 10 20 o'clock at night. Now, I may have been in there finishing 21 up something at 8, 9, or 10, but there's no reason I'd show 22 up at 10 other than for something like a plant trial. 23 Q: Did you ever work those hours like coming in on 24 third shift before you reported to Wade Wallace? 25 A: Oh, I mean, the hours I had, again, I want to	1 had an opportunity, and I was banned from the lab building, 2 period, when I went to work for Wade. There was a section 3 in the main plant that had some lab equipment. It was a, 4 call it a finishing department lab or whatever, but it was a 5 small lab that employees working in those departments used 6 and they used it everyday. That was their job. I couldn't 7 do anything in there when they were there, but had I been 8 given permission to work overtime when they weren't there, I 9 could have utilized that equipment. That was where that's 10 coming from. 11 Q: Okay. What other labs were you working at? 12 A: Probably the main one during — You're talking 13 about when I was reporting to Wade, obviously? 14 Q: Right. Right. 15 A: It would have been Rohm and Haas would be the big 16 one. 17 Q: Any others besides Rohm and Haas? 18 A: Hexion. 19 Q: Okay. 20 A: And Rohm and Haas was a long way off, Charlotte. 21 Hexion, I was beginning to get bad fibs there so there was 22 one or two more in the works that I, as things had have 23 gone on, I probably would have been able to do some work 24 there. 25 Q: For Rohm and Haas you had to go all the way to
1 minimize those few years leading in to reporting to Wade 2 Wallace since the last few years, because things were going 3 on that was changing what I could do. But when you look at 4 the heart of the matter going back I want to say 2003 and 5 back, maybe part of '4 and back, I worked a lot of hours. 6 It included the regular hours plus overtime. 7 Q: Did Jake Butts ever complain to you that he 8 couldn't keep track of where you were? 9 A: No one, not Jake, not John, not anyone I ever 10 reported to ever said the first negative about my job 11 performance and they had plenty of good to say. 12 Q: Do you know if Jake ever complained to other 13 people within Tietex management that he couldn't keep track 14 of you? 15 A: The only thing I've heard about that, it was at 16 the ESC Hearing and that's the extent of what I've — But 17 other than that, no, never. 18 Q: Now, in our Requests to Admit that you responded 19 to, you said that in order to have access to equipment and 20 materials at other labs, you had to work at those other labs 21 when the employees who were regularly employed there weren't 22 present? 23 A: No. 24 Q: Not true? 25 A: No. Actually, what that probably stems from, I	1 Charlotte? 2 A: Yes. And the reason for it being Rohm and Haas is 3 one of the projects I was working on, they had an employee, 4 a strong, strong technical guy with regard to back coating, 5 and he was assisting me. He was assisting me in the back 6 coating project that was primary importance. 7 Q: Whose idea was it for you to work at these other 8 labs like Rohm and Haas and Hexion? 9 A: I was given a substantial number of assignments 10 and no place to do them. And I'm still a little bit puzzled 11 about this, except I got my take of it now, but why would a 12 manager really disable me. There's no doubt in my mind I 13 was disabled. But yet, allow me to go to other places to 14 try to get a job done. So it was my idea in order to try to 15 get the work done. 16 Q: And who gave you permission to do Tietex's work at 17 these other labs? 18 A: Wade. 19 Q: Did you leave a voice mail message for coworkers 20 in the middle of the night? 21 A: Specifically, I woke up, when I knew I was going 22 to be terminated and I couldn't sleep, then I woke up, I 23 don't know, it was 2 or 3 in the morning and I knew my only 24 hope — I mean, this was a very traumatic time for me. I 25 can't describe how traumatic it was. And I, I mean, I knew

1 Martin wasn't at work, Martin Wildeman wasn't at work at 2
2 or 3 in the morning. I left a message and told him I'd like
3 to meet with him if I could.
4 Q: So you left a message for Mr. Wildeman in the 5 middle of the night?
6 A: I don't know that it mattered when I left it,
7 because I knew he wasn't at work.
8 Q: Would it have been like 3 o'clock in the morning?
9 A: It could have been. It could have been 4, it
10 could have been 2. It was when I woke up and all was on my 11 mind was getting terminated.
12 Q: So you admit you called Mr. Wildeman like 3 or 4
13 o'clock in the morning?
14 A: No. I did not call him, I left a message on his 15 work phone knowing he was not there.
16 Q: This is Attachment 5 to your communications to the 17 EEOC.
18 MR. STEWART: Fred, can I see these before you
19 hand them over?
20 MR. SUGGS: Sure. Sure. Let me show you. Look
21 at the C part which is the last paragraph.
22 Q: See C part it says, "Tietex stated that Gary 23 Harris made phone calls and left messages in the middle of 24 the night when he knew no one would be there to answer them.
25 Of course, that's a malicious lie."

1 A: Yeah. What that, the intent of the way that's
2 said, no. Yeah, that's a lie based on the way it's worded
3 and what it's trying to convey. That's not what happened.
4 Can I see that again, please?
5 Q: Sure. That was Document Tietex 284. Do you
6 recall leaving messages for Wade Wallace in addition to 7 Martin Wildeman at non-business hours?
8 A: On the, I guess it was the evening of July 2 when 9 I went home and saw this serious ant problem and non-
10 business 7 o'clock ...
11 Q: PM or AM?
12 A: PM. You know, those are all non-business hours.
13 I'm sure that I left messages that would have fallen outside
14 of 8 to 5, but they were necessary or reasonable. I never 15 left an unreasonable message.
16 (Defendant's Exhibit 10 & 11 were 17 marked for identification).
18 Q: I'm going to show you these two together, and 19 you've already seen one of them. Exhibit 10, that's 20 Attachment 3 for the EEOC. And Exhibit 11, that's 21 Attachment 5 for the EEOC. So if you're looking at Exhibit
22 10 and you go to the top of the page and then you come down
23 to the third paragraph, you see it where it says, "One night
24 I woke up about 3:00 a.m."
25 A: Yeah.

1 Q: Now, is this a document that you gave to the EEOC?
2 A: I would think so. It looks like it.
3 Q: And then if you look at Exhibit 11 and go down to 4 paragraph C, that's the paragraph that says it's a malicious
5 lie, right?
6 A: Yeah, that's correct. And may I add?
7 Q: Sure.
8 A: I had information already that in one of our 9 former hearings that it was stated in a way that I routinely
10 did that, and it included more than one person and it
11 included Wade Wallace. That's the reason I call it a 12 malicious lie because it's just not true and the person that 13 said that wasn't true.
14 Q: And who said it, Wade Wallace?
15 A: In one of our ESC Hearings, maybe the last one, it
16 was brought up. I don't know who to attribute it to.
17 Q: All right. Now, before Wade Wallace, you said
18 Jake Butts was your immediate supervisor?
19 A: Yes, sir.
20 Q: And at some time did Butts move his office from 21 the plant to the lab?
22 A: He did.
23 Q: Would that have been about June 2006?
24 A: Yes.
25 Q: Do you know why Butts moved his office from the

1 plant to the lab?
2 A: I know that he and I had discussions over a period
3 of time and I encouraged him because he was in this huge
4 room and one desk in it. Well, there was another desk that 5 was used sometimes for doing some, when the filing person
6 was filing. And he and I would talk about it and he had 7 occasionally periodically over time said, you know, things
8 like I might move up here or whatever, but I encouraged him
9 to move up there because for a lot of reasons. It just made
10 sense. So why he moved, I don't know how much, if anything,
11 but I certainly wasn't against it.
12 Q: Did Butts tell you that he was moving his office
13 to the lab because he had difficulty keeping track of you
14 and he thought he could have more direct supervision over 15 you if he moved to the lab?
16 A: Absolutely not. In fact, Jake Butts was already 17 encouraging me to establish a place down in the plant. So 18 based on the scenario that you just mentioned, it would be 19 more likely that he was, it was something in the works for 20 him to go ahead and get up there and for me to be moved down
21 to the plant so, no.
22 Q: How often did you see Mr. Butts before he moved 23 from the plant to the lab?
24 A: Jake made a statement to me that I think's
25 important with regard to your question. This goes back to

1 the first time I started reporting to him. He essentially 2 said that he had no abilities with regard to what I did, 3 that he didn't understand the things I did. He didn't 4 understand anything in the area, any chemistry or nothing, 5 but he knew that my record was very good and, basically, he 6 said to me, "You're your own supervisor. I know you'll do 7 the right things and you have been doing the right things." 8 And so that, to answer your question, we didn't see a lot of 9 each other. 10 Q: So you saw him infrequently before he moved to the 11 lab? 12 A: Yes. If he had something that he wanted done, 13 most likely he would go directly to a technician, like a 14 test or whatever. He didn't really, even the environmental 15 part of it, I was really doing most of that and even though 16 he had the title there. And we would, of course, get our 17 things together when it came down to do a report or 18 something and he would actually provide me with something he 19 had accumulated so that it would enable me to do the 20 complete report. 21 Q: And after Jake Butts moved to the lab, did you see 22 him everyday? 23 A: After he moved to the lab? It didn't change 24 anything I was doing at the time. 25 Q: Did you see him everyday after he moved to the	1 Q: Where did you move it to? 2 A: Now, let me qualify that and say I didn't move it 3 out of the lab, I just established another office, you might 4 say, we'll call it an office, in the main plant. 5 Q: Do you know when that was? 6 A: It was — I'm going to take a stab at this, 7 maybe December, November, December of 2006. 8 Q: Did you continue working in the lab up until, say, 9 February 2007? 10 A: Yes. 11 Q: When do you claim you began to smell mold? 12 A: The middle of June '06. Well, whenever the 13 furniture was moved in and that would have been in June. 14 Q: And what impact do you claim that these mold 15 smells had on you? 16 A: I'm going to just, I'm going back to an area that 17 I haven't looked at in more than two years as far as 18 anything in writing, but I do remember being stopped up and, 19 occasionally, it would go on to the point if like a, sort of 20 like flu symptoms almost. But stopping up is one of the big 21 things and occasionally that might lead to like a sinus 22 headache or something, but really getting stopped up and 23 couldn't breathe very well. 24 Q: Did anyone else voice complaints about the mold 25 besides you?
1 lab? 2 A: I can't say yes or no to that. I don't know. 3 Q: All right. Did you see him just about everyday? 4 A: I don't know. 5 Q: Did you see him more often than you had seen him 6 before he moved to the lab? 7 A: I would have had to have. 8 Q: Okay. That's what I thought. Did you object to 9 Jake Butts supervising you more closely after Butts moved to 10 the lab? 11 A: He never supervised me more closely. 12 Q: Now, when Butts moved to the lab, was your office 13 in the lab? 14 A: Oh, yeah. There's four sections to the technical 15 building and I was considered to be the Technical Center 16 Manager, an accredited lab area. One section was the office 17 area, another section was the wet lab, another section 18 physical testing, and another section was sort of an 19 extension of the wet lab, but it was where a real chemist 20 would work, and we had a burn room. So, yes. He, 21 obviously, moved into the office area which was huge and the 22 area I had encouraged him to move to. 23 Q: And at some point did you move your office out of 24 the lab? 25 A: Yes.	1 A: I can say this about that. The technicians that 2 reported to me were very careful about anything they said. 3 They were highly concerned for their job and had they had an 4 opinion, in my mind, they would not have expressed it. 5 Q: Well, is the answer no? 6 A: I don't recall. 7 Q: You don't recall anybody else voicing a complaint 8 to you about the mold? 9 A: I do not recall that, no. 10 Q: Did you complain about the mold smells and the 11 stopping up and the flu like symptoms? 12 A: It took some time. It was not until I went to a 13 second doctor and he was asking me a lot of questions and 14 things and he's the one that led me to believe that it had 15 to do with work. 16 Q: Who is this doctor? 17 A: Weir, Dr. Weir. 18 Q: Where is he? 19 A: In Spartanburg. 20 Q: Is that W-e-i-r? 21 A: I think it is, David Weir. 22 Q: What kind of doctor is he? 23 A: Ear, nose, and throat. 24 Q: ENT. Okay. Did you complain to anybody at 25 Tietex?

1 A: After — Oh, it became, I mean, things evolved 2 to the point, which I can't remember all the details, but 3 I'm sure that after I was convinced that that was what was 4 going on, I don't recall saying anything to anyone, but it 5 wouldn't have surprised me if hadn't have said something to 6 like a nurse or somebody. I even brought it to Jake's 7 attention, I know that. 8 Q: You did bring it to Jake's attention? 9 A: Absolutely. 10 Q: What did you say? 11 A: I don't recall what I said. I just recall that 12 well into it and after, this is after I had put up, 13 something triggered it that he said or whatever, but this 14 was after I put up an office down in the plant and I believe 15 it was after I went to an allergy specialist where they 16 stick all these things in you and they determined I was 17 allergic to mold. 18 Q: Did Tietex have a hygienist check the lab? 19 A: I was told that that occurred. 20 Q: Do you know what type of testing was performed? 21 A: I saw at some point, I forgot how, I managed to 22 get a hold of an after the fact report and, I mean, I'm a 23 strong technician and I know how to, I know how to do 24 projects, I know how to get from point A to point B in the 25 shortest time possible. Based on what I saw, it was a	1 A: I do not know. 2 Q: So you claim that the testing that was done was 3 flawed, correct? 4 A: Yes. 5 Q: But you admit that the hygienist reported finding 6 no evidence of mold contamination, correct? 7 A: Yes. Yes. 8 Q: Well, and you were shown a copy of the report? 9 A: I don't remember how — I did see a copy, but 10 I'm not sure if I had to go looking or what, but it was well 11 after it was done that I was told it had been done and it 12 may have been David Wilson. I'm not sure. 13 Q: And the hygienist said that the air in the lab was 14 cleaner than the outside air, correct? 15 A: Yeah, that's the same thing these employees in the 16 nickel bath were told, the situation I mentioned earlier. 17 Q: So you draw a parallel between the nickel bath 18 situation at — What company was that? 19 A: Cherokee Finishing. 20 Q: At Cherokee Finishing and the mold at Tietex? 21 A: With regard to that kind of a statement. I think 22 that's really an irresponsible statement. 23 Q: But you don't have any firsthand knowledge about 24 how the hygienist's tests were conducted, right? 25 A: I do not, but I do know, also another thing I'll
1 pathetic evaluation. They spent very little time and they 2 did not concentrate on the area where the complaint was, 3 which was the office area, and they did a little bit of 4 dabbling around in several different sections of the 5 laboratory when they should have been spending their time, 6 all of it, concentrated wise in the office area. 7 Q: Do you know who performed the testing? 8 A: I do not. 9 Q: Do you know whether mold testing was performed? 10 A: No. 11 Q: No, you don't know or, no, it wasn't? 12 A: Oh, did you say where it was performed? 13 Q: Mold testing. 14 A: And where? 15 Q: Well, I just asked you if you knew whether mold 16 testing was performed? 17 A: If I remember correctly, I believe the report said 18 something to the effect that there's nothing — In order 19 for it to have been tested for mold, it would have had to 20 have stated what it did, which was, you know, it was very 21 clear that kind of thing. 22 Q: So you believe mold testing was performed? 23 A: The paper showed it, but if I had to qualify it as 24 being performed, I would say no, being a technician. 25 Q: Do you know whether mildew testing was performed?	1 add to this, that all the furniture was sprayed, in the 2 general area where it was was sprayed with Lysol 3 periodically and it would have had to have been on weekends 4 and after hours, so it would had to have been — If they 5 were tested early in the week, it's a good possibility it 6 was right on top of Lysol treatment. 7 Q: And you weren't present during the test? 8 A: No, sir. 9 Q: What information do you have to support your 10 contention that the test was somehow faulty or unreliable? 11 A: The magnitude or degree of attention paid to the 12 area of complaint, which was the office area. They had so 13 much time to do testing, they had so much equipment to do it 14 with, and they, it looks like to me, from memory, it looks 15 like to me they delegated equal time to each of the four 16 sections of the laboratory rather than concentrated on that 17 one key area. 18 Q: So do you have any other information to support 19 your contention that the testing was faulty other than the 20 fact that they did not concentrate on the office? 21 A: No. 22 Q: Did you continue to complain about the mold smell 23 after the testing? 24 A: I don't recall. 25 Q: Do you claim that Jake Butts was the cause of the

1 smell?
2 A: Yes. I did have other employees concur with me
3 there. I don't recall names or anything, but regarding what 4 I envisioned, because I've seen this before and I certainly 5 don't fault Jake, but a house that's, you know, real shaded 6 or a older house, moisture problems, I've walked into houses
7 like that like looking for a house, when you're looking at 8 houses for sale, and you could smell that musty mildew.
9 And if one hangs their clothes in there, you know, it's 10 just going to, it's no way around the clothes smelling like 11 that.
12 Q: So you claim that Jake Butts wore clothes that 13 smelled like mildew?
14 A: Yes. Without question, yes. I'm not saying
15 everything he wore everyday, but many times.
16 Q: Did anybody, did you ever discuss that with 17 anybody at Tietex?
18 A: I'm sure I probably did, but not as a casual 19 thing. It would have been with maybe the plant nurse or 20 someone. And after Jake was aware of it, I wouldn't have, I
21 don't think I would have handled it unprofessionally as far 22 as going out and just, you know, making a joke of it or 23 something. I don't recall any details.
24 Q: And you claim his office furniture smelled like 25 mildew?

Page 94

1 A: Yes.
2 (Defendant's Exhibit 12 was marked for identification).
3 Q: Exhibit 12 is a series of e-mails beginning at the 4 bottom with an e-mail from Wade Wallace to you and then it
5 goes on with a message from you to Wade and then from Wade
6 to you all in early February, between the 2nd and the 5th.
7 Would you take a moment to look over that, please.
8 A: Okay.
9 (Reviewing document).
10 A: Okay.
11 Q: All right. You ready?
12 A: Yes.
13 Q: And would you agree with me that Exhibit 12 shows
14 that Tietex moved you from the lab to remove you from the 15 source of mold that you were complaining about?
16 A: I would prefer using the term banned, because I
17 was already situated in the plant and they just didn't 18 want me going back up there to do work anywhere in the 19 building.
20 Q: And that was because you had complained about the 21 mold, right?
22 A: In my opinion, no.
23 Q: All right. What evidence do you have to support
24 your opinion?
25 A: Now, I cannot, I cannot say what David Wilson

1 discussed. Obviously, David was only at Tietex for a few
2 years. I think he came in 2005, so he was totally unaware
3 of what occurred before then, only what he would be told. I
4 don't know his relationship with Wade and how this, why this 5 occurred. I don't know who was the stronger person. Was 6 Wade purely doing what David Wilson required because of what 7 he had experienced in his previous employment? That's 8 possible. But it also fits very well with, you know,
9 hindsight being 20/20 and my being able to get away from the 10 situation and become more objective and not so subjective,
11 it also fits in with a lot of other things that was a 12 malicious thing. If Wade were in control of this actually 13 happening just to get me away from being able to do the work
14 because they knew that was my lifeline. They knew the 15 laboratory building and everything in there was key for me
16 to be able to do my job.
17 Q: All right. Looking at Exhibit 12 and the e-mail
18 to you from Wade Wallace, it says, "I received your voice
19 mail this morning. As we discussed yesterday, we will do
20 whatever is necessary to shield you from any further 21 exposure to an environment(s) that might negatively affect 22 your health." Do you see that?
23 A: Yes.
24 Q: And then he goes on to say, "As David Wilson
25 directed, please do not enter the lab or any other work

1 areas that Jake occupies unless it is an approved exception
2 (see the next paragraph)." See that?
3 A: On this?
4 Q: Yeah, right at the — Here, let me show you.
5 Right down here.
6 A: Okay. Yes, I see that.
7 Q: All right. So you complained that the smell was 8 coming from Jake, Jake's clothes and his furniture, so the 9 company said, well, if it's impacting your health, don't go
10 in the lab, correct?
11 MR. STEWART: Object to the form of the question.
12 A: There's one thing I would say about that. When 13 this was being discussed and all, I said, "Okay. If you
14 believe that my exposure to Jake will take care of, and my 15 getting away from exposure to Jake will take care of the 16 problem, then going forward, I do not want Jake Butts coming 17 to see me nor in my office areas down here." He came when 18 he wanted to and he stayed as long as he wanted to.
19 Q: But weren't you removed from being supervised by 20 Jake so that you wouldn't have to interact with him?
21 A: He was still environmental and I was still doing
22 environmental.
23 Q: But that was part of the reason for removing you
24 from Jake Butts' supervision was so that you wouldn't have 25 to interact with him, right?

24 (Pages 93 to 96)

1 there."

2 A: Okay. So it was just a few days really, that was 3 the 2nd of February and then the 5th.

4 Q: So you were told not to enter the lab because, (A)
5 of the mildew smell which you associated with Jake Butts,
6 his clothes and his furniture, and you didn't think that
7 even a mask would be sufficient protection, correct?

8 A: There was no need for a mask. Let me just say
9 this. If a mask would keep mold spores from getting into 10 one's nose or sinuses or whatever, there was no need for a
11 mask in the other three areas of the lab, only in the office
12 area. That was a huge room with a door that closes and all 13 the other rooms were separate with closing doors.

14 Q: All right. Is it fair to say that you began
15 reporting to Wade Wallace around February 1, 2007?

16 A: I think, if I remember correctly, it was the 1st, 17 because that's come up a lot and I think it was.

18 Q: And the reason Wade Wallace became your supervisor
19 is because that you were complaining about Jake Butts and 20 not wanted to have any interaction with him because of the 21 smell you associated with him, right?

22 A: Probably not. I would say that it really stemmed
23 from a conversation I had with the owner several years
24 earlier when there was a lot of things that I was to be 25 working on and a lot of trivial stuff coming my way that

1 took a lot of time, but it wasn't necessarily stuff that I
2 should have been doing. The owner was discussing with me
3 the situation about getting me more involved. And I think
4 it was all triggered when one day he said to me, he said,
5 "Gary, I don't understand what's going on." He said, "There
6 are a number of projects over the last few years that you
7 should have been involved with." And I was physically
8 separate from the plant as far as an office goes, the main
9 plant, but not that I didn't go down there. I spent time
10 down there. But he said, "I don't understand why you're not 11 involved in some of these key projects and you should be.
12 In fact, you should be heading up some of them. What's 13 going on?" And I said, "Well, Martin, I don't know what 14 you're talking about, but in my opinion, they're projects I 15 don't even know about." Later we got back together and he 16 talked with another person in the plant that was actually 17 overseeing a lot of these projects and he said, "Well, they 18 tell me, Gary, they said that they have approached you on a 19 number of occasions when a key project is coming up and that 20 you always tell them that you have other things to do, that 21 you don't have time." And that was never the case.

22 Q: I'm a little lost. My question had to do with 23 Wade Wallace becoming your supervisor because you complained
24 about Jake Butts.

25 A: All right, this is what I'm getting to.

Page 103

1 Q: Okay.

2 A: Because the reason for that goes back to Martin.
3 Right after that, Martin and I also talked about the trivial
4 stuff I was doing. He saw what all crazy stuff I was doing
5 as far as things that were taking a lot of time and taking 6 me away from some key technical areas. So he then set
7 things in motion for me to get more involved in the plant.
8 And this Technical Finishing Manager arose from that and I
9 was in the process of getting relocated in the plant so that 10 I could do what he wanted, be closer to everything and get 11 away from a lot of the day-to-day stuff where you don't even 12 expect and it comes. That's how that happened.

13 Q: Was Wade Wallace supposed to assist in that 14 regard, getting you closer to these projects?

15 A: Ultimately, in my opinion, it just took a long 16 time to happen, but that was the end result of what I had 17 discussed with Martin.

18 (Off the Record for Lunch from 12:08 p.m. to 12:58 p.m.)
19 Examination Resumed by Mr. Suggs:

20 Q: Remember when I asked you about lawsuits that you
21 had been involved in?

22 A: Yes.

23 Q: I was going to ask you about whether your wife had 24 been involved in a lawsuit. Did your wife file a claim
25 against a hospital and doctors or both relating to some

1 surgery that she had?

2 A: It never got that far.

3 Q: Never got that far? Was it settled?

4 A: No. Nothing was — We were encouraged to do so
5 and it was looked into, but for several reasons, including 6 her health, we opted to not go along, but it never got to 7 where there was claims or anything like that or specifics.

8 Q: Okay. Just to make sure you told me everything
9 that you intended to before we broke for lunch, you were 10 telling me about why you thought that you were changed from 11 reporting to Jake Butts to reporting to Wade Wallace and 12 that had to do in part with Mr. Wildeman wanting you to be 13 closer to projects. Did I summarize it correctly?

14 A: I would say that that's certainly a good
15 possibility. I don't know all the details, but I think 16 that certainly is one of the viable reasons that it
17 happened.

18 (Defendant's Exhibit 13 was marked for identification).

19 Q: Okay. I'll show you what's been marked as Exhibit 20 13 and it is an e-mail from Wade Wallace to David Wilson and 21 you are the subject of the e-mail. Would you take a moment
22 and review that, please.

23 A: Yeah, I just saw that recently so I'm familiar
24 with it.

25 Q: Okay. February 7 was about six days after you

1 started reporting to Wade Wallace, correct? 2 A: Yes. 3 Q: And you told Mr. Wallace that you were overwhelmed 4 with personal or emotional problems to the point that you 5 couldn't function? 6 A: No. 7 Q: Tell me what happened. 8 A: There were two things that Wade Wallace wanted me 9 to do. And as time wore on and I'm able to look back now 10 too. Anything that I was doing that was a significant 11 function were being removed from me. There was two of those 12 in the very beginning when I started reporting to Wade that 13 he wanted me to get the information to Jake Butts so he and 14 whoever else could do those and I needed to train them and 15 give them whatever they needed so they could do those. That 16 was in the very beginning and that was paramount for Wade 17 for me to do that. Then I was in the midst of trying to 18 sort things out, find a place to work, and all this, and he 19 comes in on this particular day and the first question he 20 asked, "Have you completed those assignments that I gave you 21 a few days ago to do for Jake Butts?" And I said, "No, I 22 haven't. In fact, I've started on one of them, haven't 23 completed it, and I haven't even started the other." Then 24 he cut loose on me. I had never been talked down to in a 25 demeaning way in my life. It was unbelievable. And I said	1 contributed to how you were feeling? 2 A: What she went through was horrific and anything 3 she goes through negative, I suffer along with her big time 4 because we're so close. But this here is not what happened 5 that day. It did not happen. 6 Q: Let me just invite your attention to page 155 of 7 the hearing before the Employment Security Commission on 8 March 28. I've got it highlighted here. It says, "At this 9 time I was kind of, you know, nerve wise kind of a wreck 10 because of what my wife went through." Do you see that? 11 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response). That's still not 12 what happened here. And, also, I will say this about that 13 transcript, I put no credence, zero credence in that because 14 of when I went back and reviewed it and I got a copy of it, 15 they didn't send me a copy, what I was attributed to saying 16 and what I really said, there were so many fallacies it was 17 unbelievable. 18 Q: Tell me what was the matter with your wife in 19 2006. 20 A: She had a colonoscopy in late '05 and the doctor 21 that did the colonoscopy did a pre-exam and said he picked 22 up on a cyst on one of her ovaries. Anyway, he does the 23 colonoscopy and I went home one day and she was frantically 24 on the phone with the doctor. I got home about six. It 25 could have been that I would have gotten there later and
1 to him, I said, this is basically what I said, I'm 2 paraphrasing based on a very poor memory, but I said 3 something to him to the effect, I said, "Look, Wade, I've 4 got enough stress as it is and all that and all you're 5 doing now is there's no point in you talking to me," things 6 like that. You know, I don't remember the gist of it, but I 7 do know that's what this is. Then he goes back at some 8 point and creates this on the 9th, two days later, and sends 9 it. I never know about it until we start having the ESC 10 things. 11 Q: All right. Now, you see in the third line of that 12 second paragraph where it says, "He explained that his 13 personal life over the last year has made him so fragile 14 emotionally, that sometimes he has episodes like the one he 15 was experiencing." The last year in this context would have 16 been 2006, right? 17 A: That's correct. 18 Q: Was it 2006 that your wife was ill? 19 A: That's correct. 20 Q: Did that take a toll on you nerve wise and make 21 you kind of a wreck? 22 A: I got into a major sleeping problem caused mainly 23 by stress and it did not happen until I went back to work 24 and the way I was done after I got back to work. 25 Q: Would you say that your wife's condition	1 she'd been dead. But right after I got home, she actually 2 lost consciousness and when I got her to the hospital, she 3 had bled so much all day long. I didn't know about it, but 4 she was calling the doctor, what I would find out later, and 5 he was telling her it would stop, it would stop, don't worry 6 about it, and she was continuing to bleed to death. So, 7 anyway, they basically saved her life at the emergency room. 8 They were waiting for her when I got her there. 9 Q: She had an ovarian cyst? 10 A: No, this was a colonoscopy. This was purely from 11 the colonoscopy. 12 Q: Oh, I see. 13 A: Then after she got through that hospital stay and 14 started feeling somewhat better, it took weeks, then she 15 wanted to handle the ovarian cyst and she actually went to a 16 doctor that the guy that did the colonoscopy recommended. 17 She goes to him and during the course of the surgery which 18 ultimately came about, he severed a uterine connecting the 19 kidney to her bladder and she was in the hospital for three 20 days, two or three days blowing up while they were walking 21 her for gas and the whole time her abdomen was full of urine. 22 and she had a side drain that they put in as a precaution, 23 just a normal part of surgery. That was filling up very 24 irregularly fast. And the nurse kept saying, "This ain't 25 right." And the doctor that did the surgery came in and he

1 said, "Aw, it's normal." But, anyway, surgery was on 2 Monday. On Wednesday afternoon, evening I should say, they 3 found that a stent that had been put in to put the top and 4 lower part of the ureter back together, a temporary stent, 5 and then they sewed and they would take that out later. 6 That when the ureter was severed in the early part of the 7 surgery, then they had to call in a urologist, Dr. Kinard, 8 and he did a great job. And then when they went back in to 9 finish sawing her up and everything, they moved the stent 10 out of place so that the lower part of the stent was down 11 under the gallbladder and it had a "J" shape to it and it 12 was against the wall and urine could not go through that and 13 it was actually going through the severed area of her ureter 14 down into her abdomen. 15 Q: So that was all in 2006? 16 A: That was back to back. 17 Q: In 2006? 18 A: Yep. 19 Q: So that was quite a concern to you? 20 A: Oh, absolutely. 21 Q: Did you ever tell Wade Wallace that you were 22 overwhelmed with personal and emotional problems? 23 A: No, not in those --- Those are, I don't know what 24 I said, but I would never say anything like that. 25 Q: Did you ever tell Mr. Wallace that you were	1 these difficulties having to do with the colonoscopy and 2 related surgery and so forth, did the physician give you 3 medication to help you sleep and cope with her situation? 4 A: I actually, when I went back to work and realized 5 what was going on and I started having this serious sleeping 6 problem, I would literally stay up a night or two at a time. 7 I went back to the doctor. I'm not sure what the time frame 8 is relative to her being in the hospital, but I actually 9 went back to him to get his help or whatever. 10 Q: Did you seek help from the EAP as Mr. Wallace 11 suggested that you do in Exhibit 13? 12 A: No. 13 (Defendant's Exhibit 14 was marked for identification). 14 Q: All right. Have you had a chance to review 15 Exhibit 14? 16 A: I've seen all I need to see. 17 Q: Okay. Well, in the first paragraph he just talks 18 about that 3 a.m. call and how Martin Wildeman forwarded it 19 to Wade Wallace, correct? 20 A: It also says that I left Wade Wallace a phone 21 message and I doubt that seriously. I don't know why I 22 would have and don't recall it. 23 Q: Did Mr. Wallace commit to you as this e-mail says, 24 to get you a lab pad coater and vented hood? 25 A: Of course, I mean, Wade's aware of all this, so he
1 confused and disoriented? 2 A: Never. 3 Q: Did you say anything like that? 4 A: No. 5 Q: Did you tell him that your personal experiences 6 over the last year had made you fragile emotionally? 7 A: I don't know what I could have said that would 8 have triggered that. I think his words and whatever words I 9 might have used are quite different. 10 Q: Well, would you confess that you had been made 11 fragile emotionally because of your wife's condition like it 12 says in the transcript? 13 A: Not emotionally. 14 Q: Sir? 15 A: No, not emotionally. 16 Q: Have you ever had panic attacks? 17 A: I don't know what for sure one is. I was told I 18 had one and I don't agree with it when I was in Thailand. 19 Q: Was that working for Tietex? 20 A: Yeah. That's what it was described as and I don't 21 agree with it being a panic attack. 22 Q: Have you ever been told you had a nervous 23 breakdown? 24 A: No. 25 Q: During the time that your wife was experiencing	1 could have --- Oh, okay, so the second paragraph is not 2 necessarily related to the phone call, is that correct? 3 Q: Correct. 4 A: It wasn't mentioned in the phone call in other 5 words. I will say this about any and all equipment. There 6 were several pieces of equipment that Wade Wallace agreed to 7 purchase and, in fact, requisitions were done and they were 8 actually purchased. There were several pieces of equipment 9 in particular that I, one being a lab pad, tried my best to 10 get installed for a period of weeks and I guess months. And 11 this all started in probably maybe March. I'm not sure. 12 But there was always something wrong with where it was going 13 to go. Like the lab pad that was never installed. The burn 14 equipment was never put together. Because always someone 15 would find, no, we can't put it there, we can't put it 16 there. And I just finally arrived at the point it's not 17 going to be anywhere. But I stayed with it the entire time 18 I was there trying to get stuff installed. Anything that 19 was bought was never put in place. I'll just put it that 20 way. It was a matter of and to make things look and certain 21 way if I had to say now. 22 Q: But the equipment was purchased? 23 A: Some equipment was purchased, yes. 24 Q: And it was purchased to accommodate you because 25 you couldn't go in the lab?

1 A: That would have been the reason. 2 Q: And the third paragraph, you said you had read 3 enough, I wanted to make sure you read the third paragraph. 4 A: Yeah, but the thing there was not so much a being 5 bothered or anything. It was more taking a stand that why 6 am I, I'm down here, you've dumped all these key 7 manufacturing projects on me, why am I going to stay 8 involved with this environmental reporting which made no 9 sense. So I was really, let's get it to the guy that's 10 getting paid for it, even though I knew he couldn't do it. 11 That's what I was I was really after there. Why am I going 12 to have to do this, all these other major plant projects 13 you've given me. It didn't make sense. 14 Q: But Wade Wallace thought you had time to do it? 15 A: He did, apparently. 16 (Defendant's Exhibit 15 was marked for identification). 17 Q: Take a look, please, at Exhibit 15. And Exhibit 18 15 is just an e-mail from Wade Wallace telling you he 19 expected you to get the environmental report done on time, 20 right? 21 A: Yes. 22 Q: Was that reasonable? 23 A: For him to expect that, yes. 24 Q: And whose responsibility did you think it ought to 25 be?	1 second thing, environmental reporting. 2 A: I think those other paragraphs are taken out of 3 context. Those were not left on any message to anyone. It 4 was a general message that I left to Martin requesting a 5 meeting with him and it wouldn't have got specific. It 6 would have mentioned the problems I was having with sleep 7 for sure. 8 Q: So you agree that it would not have been 9 appropriate for you to leave Martin Wildeman a message about 10 not wanting to do the environmental report? 11 A: I'll agree with that, yes. I mean, I don't see 12 why that would even be necessary. 13 Q: Do you recall Mr. Wallace telling you to bring 14 these issues to him before going to Mr. Wildeman? 15 A: First of all, the relationship I had with Martin, 16 most of the time when we got together was a casual encounter 17 and he would say, "Come on in here," and it would involve a 18 project or something and he'd want to know how it was going. 19 And that meeting, that spur of the moment extemporaneous 20 meeting might evolve into our getting into other stuff, how 21 is it going for you and all that, and then some stuff 22 happening like that. But we've had a relationship that, I 23 mean, it's just there. It's just the way Martin was. He 24 never, you know, he never had a problem with it and he never 25 said, you know, you need to bring this. Anything he
1 A: The person in the job title of Environmental 2 Manager. 3 Q: Do you know who that was? 4 A: Over the period of my being there, it could have 5 been Jake Butts at that time, but Jake had it, John Knox had 6 it. There was a guy that was hired back in the early 2000s 7 that was hired specifically for that and he left the 8 company, so at that time I'm not sure who it was. 9 Q: And didn't you voice mail to Mr. Wildeman 10 protesting having to do the environmental report? 11 A: No. No. Are you talking about the one I left in 12 the middle of the night? 13 Q: Yeah, Exhibit 14. It says, basically, Wallace 14 says that Martin Wildeman forwarded your voice mail to him 15 and two things were bothering you. One was lack of 16 equipment and two was environmental reporting. 17 A: I wouldn't have -- I'm not seeing that. I'm 18 just seeing, "He was distraught over all that's been going 19 on." 20 Q: All right, look here. Exhibit 14, "Gary left 21 voice mail messages for both me and Martin one morning this 22 week at 3 a.m. Martin forwarded me the one he received. 23 Both messages consisted of him complaining about his 24 inability to sleep due to being distraught over 'all that's 25 been going on.'" The first thing, the equipment. The	1 suggested I do, I did it though, if it meant bringing 2 something up with whomever, I would always do that. 3 Q: Would you ever go around Wade Wallace to talk to 4 Mr. Wildeman about work related issues? 5 A: No. No. I say that. I probably need to qualify 6 that because if there were things happening that I saw were 7 dishonest or that kind of thing, regardless of who it was, 8 Wade or whomever it might be, I'm not going to go and, I 9 mean, you do what you have to do. It's sort of like your 10 house is on fire and you need to mow the grass, you're not 11 going to cut the grass, you do what you've got to do. But, 12 basically, generally I followed the chain of command. 13 Within reason I followed it and it's just the way things 14 were at Tietex with regard to what we had evolved to as far 15 as my relationship with Martin. 16 Q: But you admit going directly to Mr. Wildeman? 17 A: I don't remember enough about any specific 18 circumstances. I do know that I did that some, but I would 19 say most of the time it had to do with like barrier fabric 20 projects and things of that nature where he was wanting to 21 know about it. It was nothing unusual for Martin to grab up 22 somebody and start talking with them about something. 23 Q: When you began reporting to Wade Wallace, what did 24 Mr. Wallace tell you about his expectations for your 25 reporting to him?

1 A: I really don't recall to be honest.
2 Q: Did Mr. Wallace tell you he expected you to let 3 him know your whereabouts?
4 A: I don't think that came up that way, because at 5 the stage of the game, you might say, I mean, that was like 6 an understood thing. It was not like kindergarten or 7 something.
8 Q: So you understood you were supposed to let Wade
9 Wallace know where you were?
10 A: Our agreement was if I were, as far as where I 11 was, that to me would mean away from the plant, and our 12 agreement was keep the cell phone on was our agreement.
13 Q: But you agree with me that it's reasonable for a
14 supervisor to want to know the whereabouts of the employees
15 under his supervision, right?
16 A: At all times.
17 (Defendant's Exhibit 16 was marked for identification).
18 Q: You have before you Exhibit 16, which is a memo
19 from Wade Wallace to David Wilson.
20 (Reviewing document).
21 Q: You got that?
22 A: Yes, sir.
23 Q: Okay. Now, it's from Wallace to Wilson with a 24 copy to you and Mark Isbell, right?
25 A: Yes.

Page 118

1 Q: Do you have any evidence that this memorandum was
2 seen by anyone other than you, David Wilson, Wade Wallace,
3 and Mark Isbell?
4 A: I mean, right off the cuff, I don't know, I don't
5 know that I have an answer for that.
6 Q: Do you have any evidence that the memo, which is 7 Exhibit 16, was seen by anyone outside of Tietex or in the 8 context of this lawsuit and your claims against Tietex?
9 A: I really don't, I don't know.
10 Q: Okay. If you examine the memo, it's dated March 11 5, 2007. Did Wade Wallace have a conversation with you on 12 or about March 5 about the items listed in this memo?
13 A: Actually, I triggered this memo by requesting 14 it. And the way that happened, Mr. Wallace called me to his 15 ...
16 Q: Pardon me for interrupting and I'm going to let 17 you say whatever you want to. But my question was simply 18 did Wade Wallace have a conversation with you on March 5
19 about the items mentioned in the memo? And that's a yes or 20 no answer.
21 A: Yes.
22 Q: Okay. Now, with respect to the items listed in 23 the memo, tell me any parts of it that believe are not true?
24 A: All of it. We're talking in degrees when I say
25 that, but my assessment to make a strong statement is either

Page 119

1 one of those by itself is and I disagree with all of them.
2 Q: All right. Taking the first one that you become 3 emotional and overly vocal about problems before researching 4 the situation. What evidence do you have to support your 5 contention that that statement is not true?
6 A: It's just not me. Never done it.
7 Q: All right. "Not honoring the chain of command."
8 What evidence do you have to support your contention that 9 that statement is not true?
10 A: I can't go back and recreate everything, but I'll 11 say this, I think most of the time if there was a formal get 12 together with Martin Wildeman and one where we didn't just 13 run into each other, I would have run it by Wade.
14 Q: It says in the third bullet, "He harbors
15 negativity over past grievances with management." Did you
16 have some unresolved grievances with management at the time
17 that Wade Wallace began supervising you?
18 A: I'm not sure what he's referencing there. The 19 only thing I can say about this is this stems from some 20 discussion I had with him, so with that said, I feel like
21 for him to take and broadcast it this way was certainly way
22 out of line.
23 Q: Okay. My question was, when Wallace started 24 supervising you, did you have some unresolved issues with 25 the company that existed prior to his undertaking the

1 supervision of you?
2 A: Oh, I had, I had a lot of concern about the things
3 that had been going on since 2003.
4 Q: So you had those concerns when Wallace took over?
5 A: Well, this is all, anything he said here is 6 because he and I talked about some things and not anything
7 that he gathered otherwise. We would have had to have 8 discussed it.
9 Q: What kind of things did you tell Mr. Wallace?
10 A: I don't remember. I do not remember.
11 Q: And then the last bullet is, "He complains about 12 his ownership of environmental reporting." Now, that's 13 true, isn't it?
14 A: You know, again, that falls in the category,
15 here's a guy that I'm supposed to be reporting to and he's 16 going, anything I say to him he broadcasts it. What kind of 17 manager is that?
18 Q: When you say broadcast it, he sends it to David 19 Wilson, Mark Isbell, and you?
20 A: Why would I ever say anything else to him again.
21 Like I'm just having a discussion with him about something
22 I'm concerned about and then the next thing you know, he's 23 holding it against me and threatening me, basically.
24 Q: And he told you in this memo that you needed to 25 make significant progress within 30 days, correct?

30 (Pages 117 to 120)

Page 121

1 A: Yes.
2 Q: Did he tell you that when he sat down with you?
3 A: Without taking a lot of our time, this day was the 4 anniversary of like my 30 days or so and he calls me and 5 says, "Gary, we need to talk," to have a 30 day review. Go
6 to his office and he said, "Let's go down to David Wilson so
7 he can sit in on this." I had what seemed to be the flu
8 coming on and I felt, I mean, really, really terrible that 9 day. I do remember that. And he hits me with these things
10 here and it's purely verbal. There's no written, anything
11 written. And when I finished I said, "Wade, would you do me
12 a favor? Would you send me an e-mail covering what we just 13 talked about so I'll know what I need to improve on?" And 14 that's the e-mail that came.
15 Q: All right. Did you ever fail to attend meetings,
16 meaning that a meeting was scheduled that you were supposed
17 to be present for and you just didn't show up?
18 A: Never.
19 Q: Did you ever fail to return voice mails?
20 A: I'm sure over the years that everyone does that,
21 but it's not malicious or intentional. I never 22 intentionally ignored voice mails.
23 Q: And would that be the same for e-mails?
24 A: And same for e-mails. I'll just add this. I
25 don't spend a lot of time at the computer, didn't then.

Page 122

1 (Defendant's Exhibit 17 was marked for identification).
2 Q: I'm going to give you Exhibit 17. Before we get
3 to 17. You've told me that with respect to 16, at least the 4 first three bullets were not true in your opinion. At the 5 time that you talked to Wade Wallace, did you protest that 6 these things were not true?
7 A: When we were talking in our meeting when David
8 Wilson was present?
9 Q: Yes, sir.
10 A: I'm not sure what I said. I know I didn't feel
11 like contesting anything that day, so I don't recall how I
12 handled it.
13 Q: But those present in the meeting would have been 14 you, David Wilson, Wade Wallace, and nobody else?
15 A: That's correct.
16 Q: All right. Let's take a look at Exhibit 17, which 17 is April 4, 2007, e-mail from Wade Wallace to you and it's 18 talking about working in the lab. Just let me know when 19 you've read it.
20 (Reviewing document).
21 A: Yes, I've read it.
22 Q: Did you ask if you could work in the lab if you
23 signed a waiver?
24 A: Yes.
25 Q: And you were told that Tietex thought that the

Page 123

1 waiver might not be good.
2 A: Yes.
3 Q: Do you agree that Tietex was trying to protect you
4 from a negative impact to your health and from itself being 5 liable for negatively impacting your health?
6 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
7 A: The second part I'd say yes.
8 Q: You don't agree that Tietex was trying to protect 9 you from a negative impact to your health?
10 A: I don't feel that way, no.
11 Q: What evidence do you have that supports your 12 belief that Tietex was not trying to protect your health?
13 A: We could talk a long time there on my thinking of 14 that, so I'll just, if I may, leave it at that.
15 Q: All right. Did you ask if you could work in the 16 plant on Saturday and Sunday?
17 A: Absolutely.
18 Q: And were you told that you could only work when 19 the plant was operational?
20 A: There was one time I was told that and I don't 21 remember which came first, but I was later told that I 22 couldn't go in at all unless -- I'm sorry. Okay, I just 23 confused something in my own mind. Yes, I was told if it
24 were operational, then I could go in on like a weekend or 25 whatever.

Page 124

1 Q: And if the plant was down, you could go in but you
2 could only do office work, not lab bench work, right?
3 A: That was what I was going to say. One would 4 supersede the other. I was told at one time I couldn't go
5 in at all, even with the plant, I mean, if the plant were 6 not running, I couldn't go in at all.
7 Q: And that was changed to you could go in and do
8 office work.
9 A: One way. I don't know which came first. I don't 10 remember.
11 Q: But at one point you could go in and do office
12 work?
13 A: That's correct.
14 Q: And that lasted until your last day of work?
15 A: I don't know. Again, I don't know which came 16 first, that particular document or the other verbal. It
17 could have been verbal, it could have been written where I
18 couldn't go in at all unless the plant were running.
19 Q: But you understood that by Wade Wallace saying you
20 could not operate lab equipment or production equipment or 21 handling of dyes or chemicals when the plant was down and 22 there weren't any other employees there was for safety
23 reasons, right?
24 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
25 A: Well, it could be done under that pretense but I

1 knew. I had done all those things without question and I 2 was the key person as far as all the issues of doing those 3 things and the safety issues related to them and I had done 4 so for 12 1/2 years without ever being told I couldn't come 5 in on weekends, I couldn't come in at night, I couldn't come 6 in when people weren't there. That was never an issue until 7 I started reporting to Wade Wallace. 8 Q: Do you dispute that it was for safety reasons? 9 A: For a yes or no, I'll say yes. 10 Q: All right. And what do you claim the real reason 11 was? 12 A: To keep me from doing the projects I was assigned. 13 Q: And why would Wade Wallace want to do that? 14 A: Well, we've talked about all that before in other 15 meetings and things, but it's involved. 16 Q: Tell me. 17 A: As I've said before, I mean, hindsight being 20/20 18 and I don't have a lot going for me except I do have an 19 analytical mind and I can put pieces of puzzles together and 20 it's clear to me that entire time I was working for him, it 21 was an effort to create cause so I could be terminated. 22 Q: And what evidence do you have to support your 23 belief? 24 A: All the things put together. To make me fail at 25 projects. Keep projects that were assigned and be sure I	1 Q: Can you identify anybody else other than the two 2 you just named, Martin Wildeman and the other guy? 3 A: I would periodically see someone from information 4 services that worked in like the computers' area in to do 5 something, but otherwise, no. I mean, the other 6 manufacturing folks that were salaried and all and the 7 department managers, no, they worked normal hours. 8 (Defendant's Exhibit 18 was marked for identification). 9 Q: Well, I guess there's something I don't understand 10 and that is why couldn't you do the lab work during, say, 8 11 to 5 and if other work was to be done and needed to be done 12 after 5 o'clock, make that your office work? 13 A: The other stuff had to do with managing people and 14 running the laboratories and stuff like that, which had to 15 be done when they were there. In other words, if I went off 16 on, and we're talking about some high level projects in many 17 cases that require a good ability to concentrate and so 18 forth and might be interrupted, and any time I attempted to 19 take on something like that, if I had time to do it, between 20 regular hours ... 21 Q: Excuse me. You could have done your environmental 22 reporting and prepared those documents as office work if the 23 plant wasn't running, couldn't you? 24 MR. STEWART: Object to the form. 25 A: Most of the environmental stuff was done hours
1 failed at them, couldn't do them, and so forth. 2 Q: Do you have any evidence that any other employees 3 were allowed to work when the plant was not operational? 4 A: During my entire time at Tietex, and you could go 5 back to the records kept by the gatekeepers that when they 6 did have folks on the gates and kept records of those coming 7 in, you will see that I was — The only other person I 8 ever saw in there, two people I ever saw in there when the 9 plant wasn't running that I remember would be Robert 10 Fontaine, a key grey mill guy, and Martin Wildeman, the 11 owner. And I was there many weekends trying to do work and 12 ... 13 Q: Do you claim you actually did lab work when the 14 plant was down before Wade Wallace became your supervisor? 15 A: I did. Again, there was a couple of years leading 16 up to that that were kind of dead years, but going back 17 before, say, 2004 and back, I did most of my lab work when 18 the plant, outside of the 8 to 5 hours, I'll put it that 19 way. Because I was so involved with running my other jobs 8 20 to 5, that I had to do these other things outside hours. 21 Q: Was the plant operational? 22 A: Most of the time not. If it were weekends, not, 23 not at all. 24 Q: But you were the only employee who did that? 25 A: For the most part. For the most part.	1 wise, time wise, was done outside of the 8 to 5. Much of 2 that was done at home. Things like that, there was no 3 point, some of it was no point in going to work to do. I 4 carried it home with me. 5 Q: Take a look at Exhibit 18, please. And that has 6 to do with the C237 and T602 projects and it's dated June 7 18, 2007. See that? 8 A: Yes, sir. 9 Q: And that memo is addressed to you from Wade 10 Wallace with a copy to David Wilson and Mark Isbell just 11 like the other one, right? 12 A: Yes. 13 Q: Did you receive a copy of it about the time it was 14 written? 15 A: Yes. 16 Q: Do you have any evidence that this memorandum was 17 seen by anyone else other than the addressees? 18 A: Not offhand I don't. 19 Q: Do you have any evidence that this memorandum has 20 been seen by anyone outside of Tietex or outside the scope 21 of this lawsuit or the other claims that you have made? 22 A: I'm sure my wife has seen it. 23 Q: Because you showed it to her? 24 A: Yeah. 25 Q: Okay. Anybody else?

1 A: I don't know. I don't recall.
2 Q: You don't have any other evidence?
3 A: Not right now, no. Nothing comes to mind.
4 Q: All right. C237 was the development and 5 qualification of a Tietex coating compound formula to 6 replace the current coating formula, is that right?
7 A: It was a mattress fire barrier fabric, Tietex
8 fabric coated with a chemical compound. At the time it was 9 purchased outside and applied at Tietex and was sold to your 10 mattress manufacturers as a barrier fabric.
11 Q: Okay. And T602 was a finish formula change. Is 12 that right?
13 A: T602 was a product that I jointly came up with 14 with a guy named Zhiping Ni. He came up with the fabric.
15 Q: With who?
16 A: Z-h-i-p-i-n-g and his last name is N-i, Chinese.
17 He invented the fabric and I came up with a formula to put 18 on the fabric and it evolved into a Tietex product called 19 T602.
20 Q: Did Mr. Ni work for Tietex?
21 A: Yes.
22 Q: Okay.
23 A: And, anyway, the product was originally run on a
24 pad finish, on one pad finish, and that particular finish
25 was more suited for running window fabrics, finishing window

1 fabrics. And so we were doing this on that, a unit with the 2 goal of taking it elsewhere. Wade came to me one day and 3 wanted to know if I could create a foam finish so we could,
4 instead of running it through just an old watery pad
5 finishing and padding it on, could I create a foam finish
6 because we had, I don't know, three other machines there
7 that were equipped with foam finish units. He said, "If we 8 can do that, then we can free up this number ten range we're 9 needing for window fabrics." So ultimately, what that led 10 to was that project where I was investigating doing a foam
11 finish on T602 instead of a pad finish.
12 Q: So these two assignments were made to you?
13 A: Absolutely. These two projects no one else there 14 could have taken them on. I was the only one that could 15 have even come close to ...
16 Q: And they were priority projects?
17 A: Big time. Well, I would say that the C237 was 18 definitely big time priority.
19 Q: Were you working on 237 before you started working
20 with Wade Wallace?
21 A: I had done work on weekends and had come up with a
22 formula that would come close to but not, I hadn't gone far 23 enough with it, to replace the business that was currently 24 coming from a company called Noveon.
25 Q: Was the answer yes?

Page 131

1 A: Yes. Yes.
2 Q: At the time this memo was written, which is 3 Exhibit 18, had you been working on the 237 project for 4 about six months?
5 A: Yes.
6 Q: Had you made any progress?
7 A: Oh, yeah. Had actually on January 26 ran a trial
8 that, effectively, gave us what we needed.
9 Q: And you say you initiated the project?
10 A: Not really. Martin Wildeman would be the one that 11 prompted it and I was reporting to Jake Butts at the time.
12 This would have been November, December '06 when Martin came 13 to me and — He accosted me. He came over to me in a 14 meeting and he says, "Gary, we've got a major problem and 15 need your help." Basically what he said was, "We've got 16 this barrier business that's only going to grow. We've got 17 good volume now, we're not making any money, because we 18 can't be cost effective." And he said, "The biggest part of 19 it is this compound we're buying from Noveon and I
20 understand you've been doing some work and that you might 21 can help us come up with a cheaper compound." So that 22 started it.
23 Q: Did you tell the management of Tietex that 24 developing the C237 coating would result in significant cost
25 savings to the company?

Page 132

1 A: Yes.
2 Q: And that was versus the compound that Tietex was 3 using at the time, right?
4 A: Yes.
5 Q: Did Tietex project the savings that you predicted
6 into the budget?
7 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
8 A: No.
9 Q: Do you know?
10 A: At the time I started working on the project —
11 On January 26, real quickly, January 26, '07, we had the 12 successful trial. I was not reporting to Wade Wallace. Six 13 days later after having the successful trial, I was 14 reporting to Wade Wallace. And the direction we were going 15 with this and the way we were going to do it was totally 16 changed.
17 Q: Now, you say you ran a successful trial before
18 reporting to Wade Wallace?
19 A: Yes.
20 Q: Were you successful in developing a compound that 21 could be produced commercially?
22 A: Yes.
23 Q: And who would be a witness to that?
24 A: Harry Sparrow.
25 Q: Say again.

33 (Pages 129 to 132)

1 A: Harry Sparrow, like the bird. 2 Q: Anybody else? 3 A: He was integrally involved in it. I don't know if 4 there was anyone else involved. He and I were the key 5 people that worked on this. 6 Q: Do you know if Wade Wallace started a parallel 7 project to develop a replacement because you hadn't made 8 sufficient progress? 9 A: He did not. 10 Q: Do you know if he worked toward doing that on a 11 parallel basis? 12 A: I'm looking, I'm able to look back now and I know 13 there was a lot of resentment in my getting involved with 14 Martin, even though I did not cause it. When Martin came to 15 me and Mark Isbell and Wade Wallace would find out about 16 this later, they highly resented it based on things that 17 would happen because they felt like, first of all, that was 18 casting a real bad light on what they had already done 19 because the areas that were being complained about were 20 theirs. It was their responsibility. Wade Wallace was the 21 key person at Tietex that called on Noveon and the lady 22 there. He was the key liaison and going all the way back to 23 months before I started reporting to Wade and Martin coming 24 to me, he was that person and we were getting overcharged by 25 Noveon big time. And, anyway, as it moves along, this	1 Q: Okay. T602, did you tell Wade Wallace that the 2 lab samples for this project were promising? 3 A: Oh, absolutely they were promising. They were 4 well above my expectations. 5 Q: Did you recommend a production trial? 6 A: Yes. 7 Q: Who was present at that trial? 8 A: Ron Simms would have been the key figure. Ron 9 Simms oversaw all plant trials. If there was going to be a 10 plant trial in finishing, Ron would be the one to put it 11 together. 12 Q: Ron Simms. Who else? 13 A: Grady Corbin would have been the department 14 manager. 15 Q: All right. C-o-r-b-i-n? 16 A: Yes, sir. 17 Q: Who else? 18 A: That's all I can come up with right now. 19 Q: So it was you, Simms, and Corbin? 20 A: Yes. 21 Q: Wade Wallace was not present? 22 A: Wade was not — Now, we had more than one trial. 23 Q: Well, let's talk about the production trial. Is 24 that the first trial? 25 A: I'd have to go back and review it. Now, I've got
1 relationship was continuing. When I started to reporting to 2 Wade in February of '07, that relationship continued and 3 since that ... 4 Q: Mr. Harris, I'm going to let you tell me whatever, 5 but I don't understand how what you're telling me relates to 6 the question about whether you know if Wade Wallace was 7 successful in his endeavor to develop a project, a product 8 like 237. 9 A: I thought I said no. 10 Q: Okay. 11 A: Then I was explaining why. 12 Q: All right. Well, do you want to give me some more 13 explanation? 14 A: Only that there is, you know, there's this stuff 15 that happened in February that shows he was, he and I both 16 were working on C237 in tandem separately. 17 Q: So you agree he was working along a parallel 18 course with you? 19 A: It was put down that way. 20 Q: But you claim he was not successful? 21 A: I'm claiming that he wasn't working on it. I'm 22 claiming that all that ultimately would happen would be 23 Noveon lowered their price and then it was passed off as an 24 advanced product or something when all they did was lower 25 their pricing.	1 good notes on all this, but I'd have to go back. I'm sorry, 2 I don't, I can't answer that, but I have good notes if I 3 need to later. 4 Q: Do you recall Wade Wallace being present? 5 A: I recall Wade Wallace dropping in and then 6 dropping out. 7 Q: So he wasn't present the whole time? 8 A: No. 9 Q: Did you tell Wade Wallace that the results of the 10 trial were comparable to the current product? 11 A: Well, we actually reviewed the results. You know, 12 there was no — I did show him the lab results where they 13 were tested and we had some samples that were not good where 14 we put a certain amount of finish on and we had some samples 15 that comparable where we put more finish on, which led us 16 to believe, hey, we can vary the amount of finish and maybe 17 we've got something. But I had no expectations going into 18 this trial as far as it being something we'd be able to do. 19 Q: All right. I'm just reading it from the bottom of 20 page 336 of Exhibit 18. "Although I was not presented the 21 actual numerical results of the first production trial, Gary 22 assured me that the results were comparable to the current 23 product." And my question is did you give that assurance to 24 Wade Wallace that the results were comparable to the current 25 product?

1 A: No. 2 Q: What did you tell him? 3 A: I said based on the results, in effect now, this 4 is in effect, based on the results, another plant trial was 5 warranted. 6 Q: And did you do another trial? 7 A: Yes. 8 Q: Was it successful? 9 A: I think we tried two more trials and, again, I'd 10 need to go back and really read to get all the details, but 11 I believe it was the second trial when there was a bent bar 12 that was an integral part of the machinery and this would 13 have been Ron Simms' operator, something for them to pick up 14 on. You'd have to have been there and seen what I had to do 15 as my part of it to know that I couldn't have picked up on 16 it. But they ran, we only had a small amount of yardage to 17 run, and all the yardage was run with a bent bar. All the 18 finish was on one side or the other and the middle of the 19 fabric had no finish, so it was a mechanical malfunction 20 that should have been caught. 21 Q: The second trial for various reasons was not 22 successful? 23 A: That's correct. 24 Q: And how about the third trial, it wasn't 25 successful either, was it?	1 A: One quick comment. 2 Q: Just tell me whether Wade Wallace said that or 3 not, then you can explain. 4 A: Oh, yes. May I explain now? 5 Q: Yes. 6 A: On or about June 15, 14, 15, Mark Isbell, Wade's 7 boss, went to Martin Wildeman. This is what he told him 8 pretty much. And so I didn't know about that. And then on 9 the 18th, three of four days later, I'm called to Wade's 10 office and I see this. 11 Q: "This" meaning Exhibit 18? 12 A: Yes, sir. All right. Then, and this was at a 13 time when, you know, I knew I was going to be terminated. It 14 was just a matter of when then. And, you know, it didn't 15 matter about procedure or anything, but I went to see Martin 16 and I showed him this and he said to me, he looks at it and 17 he reads it. He said, "That's the same thing that Mark 18 Isbell talked with me about back a week, a week and a half 19 ago." 20 Q: Do you think that Mark Isbell prompted Wade 21 Wallace to give you this warning to pave the way for you 22 getting fired? 23 MR. STEWART: Objection to form. 24 A: I mean, I would classify it as, you know, could be 25 a final written warning.
1 A: The third trial was a failure because of Mark 2 Isbell. We were prepared. We had the bar fixed and we were 3 prepared to run the trial on the machine we had run the 4 first two on. And the word comes to the management and 5 department level, Mark Isbell says we need to run this over 6 on number three instead of two, and two totally different 7 machines. And anyone that, you know, to know what I know, I 8 know, and Ron said right away, said, "You know, that's a 9 mistake. We can't do this," because of the variables that 10 are introduced. And there were several things that we were 11 set up to do on two that we couldn't do on three. And we, 12 essentially, had the same kind of fabric come off of that 13 trial as we did on the second one, a very uneven finish. 14 And I could go back in my notes and give you a good, clear 15 explanation of that, but I don't recall otherwise. 16 Q: Did you do anything wrong or make any mistakes 17 with regard to either the T602 or the C237 projects? 18 A: No. No. When I say that, I mean I did what I was 19 supposed to do and would have done under any circumstances. 20 And these kind of projects are highly involved and technical 21 and it's where my expertise is and I was very aware of 22 everything I needed to do and did my best to see that it was 23 done. 24 Q: But Wade Wallace told you that he thought your 25 performance on these two projects was unacceptable, correct?	1 Q: That wasn't my question. My question is do you 2 think Mark Isbell was behind it to pave the way for your 3 termination? 4 A: Yes. 5 MR. STEWART: Same objection. 6 Q: And do you think that he was behind it because he 7 wanted to see you replaced by his friend, Guzman? 8 A: I don't think that. 9 Q: This is Tietex document 314 and I'm going to show 10 your lawyer the last paragraph of it. This is Attachment 10 11 for the EEOC, Gary G. Harris, April 24, 2008. 12 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response). 13 Q: See that. "Importantly, the report was prompted 14 by Mark Isbell when it went to the owner just a few days 15 before." That's what you just told me, right? 16 A: It is. 17 Q: "The trip appears to have been directly related to 18 paving the way for termination of Harris and bringing 19 someone else on board. (See attachment 9)." And that 20 someone else was Guzman, right? 21 A: Yeah. The key word there is appears. 22 Q: Okay. Which that's what you thought? 23 A: I thought it was a possibility. I mean, again, 24 that's hindsight. Obviously, I didn't know anything about 25 Ms. Guzman until the fall. That's all looking back.

35 (Pages 137 to 140)

Page 141 1 Q: But you knew that Isbell and Guzman were friends, 2 right? 3 A: That's what I was told. 4 Q: And on June 18, Wallace told you you had 30 days 5 to improve, correct? 6 A: Yes. 7 Q: Did you have any conversations with Mark Isbell 8 about either C237 or T602? 9 A: Not the I recall. 10 (Defendant's Exhibit 19 was marked for identification). 11 Q: You have before you Exhibit 19. Have I given you 12 plenty of time to read it? 13 A: I'm fine if you're going to just ask specific 14 questions because it's quite voluminous. 15 Q: Well, are you familiar with it? 16 A: Yes. 17 Q: Now, this memo is addressed like the others to 18 David Wilson from Wade Wallace to CC: Mark Isbell, so it's 19 Wilson, Wallace, and Isbell, right? 20 A: Yes. 21 Q: Now, you weren't addressed on the memo, were you? 22 A: No. 23 Q: Did you get a copy of this document on or about 24 the time that you were terminated? 25 A: I don't remember. I may have but I don't	Page 143 1 Q: Okay. And you contend that these other things 2 weren't true anyway at the time, right? 3 A: I do. 4 Q: After being told not to do so, did you continue to 5 come in and work in the chemical lab areas late at night and 6 on weekends? 7 A: Never once. 8 Q: It says here, "Gate records and management 9 observation indicate that he has continued to do this." See 10 that? 11 A: That's a lie. Let me just say this. If there 12 were any gate records that showed I came in the plant at any 13 time, it was at a time when it was okay to be there. 14 Otherwise, I'm smart enough to know I could have gone in and 15 out of the plant, I could have gone in and out of the lab 16 building, if I had have wanted to, and they would have never 17 known it. There was no need to use the gate, the main gate 18 and the card that's required. I could have parked outside 19 and gone into the lab building, which was outside. It 20 wasn't in the main gate enclosure. And, also, there was a 21 gate going from the lab building into the main plant, so had 22 I wanted to violate what he had asked me to do, he would 23 have never known it and that is just an untruth. And I'll 24 say again, I never once, not just in that area, in no area 25 did I go against anything he asked me to do. I did
Page 142 1 remember. 2 Q: Okay. Do you have any evidence that this document 3 was seen by anyone else other than perhaps you, David 4 Wilson, Wade Wallace, and Mark Isbell? 5 A: No. 6 Q: Who informed you of the termination of your 7 employment? 8 A: David Wilson. 9 Q: Were you told that you were being terminated for 10 failing to improve on the issues that had been addressed to 11 you in the two former meetings and memoranda? 12 A: Generally what I was told was it's not one 13 specific thing, but just a whole lot of things that have 14 added up. 15 Q: Well, Wade Wallace claims in the second paragraph 16 that you still had the issues that he had pointed out back 17 in March, right? 18 A: Yes, he does. 19 Q: With the exception of the environmental reporting. 20 I mean, see that at the bottom of that paragraph? He says, 21 "With the exception of the environmental reporting." So I 22 take it what he means by that is environmental reporting was 23 no longer an issue. Do you agree? 24 A: I take it that he says I wasn't complaining about 25 it.	Page 144 1 everything he required, no question. 2 Q: And then the bottom part of it says that on the 3 C237 and T602 projects, that you didn't get them done and 4 that you instead of working on the projects, you took 5 vacation. 6 A: Those projects ended on the 18th of June. I can't 7 go into the details, it's just too cumbersome again. But, 8 no, as of June 18, those projects were dead. And I can tell 9 you why if you'd like to know, but ... 10 Q: Okay, tell me why. 11 A: Okay. On the C602 [sic], per my recommendation 12 ... 13 Q: Whoa, whoa, whoa. On the T602? 14 A: Yes, that's one of them, one of the two. I was 15 going to give you both of them. 16 Q: Okay, go ahead. 17 A: As of the 18th of June when that final written I 18 call came out, I had made a recommendation to Wade back when 19 he wanted me to investigate foam finishing the project, I 20 said, "Why don't we take ..." There was an available pad 21 that wasn't being used. I said, "Why don't we take this pad 22 and move it over and put it on the front of the number two 23 tenner frame where we've been doing the foam finishing 24 trials." As of the 18th of June, the decision had been 25 formalized and made and in the works to start doing T602

1 on a new pad, I mean, a used pad that was being installed.
2 So that project was killed because of that decision. We're 3 not going to foam finish anyway, no need to go forward with 4 it.
5 Q: All right.
6 A: The C237, the Noveon folks had already reduced
7 their price by about, I don't know, 20 or 25 cents a pound,
8 and was further working on getting it on down. And the word
9 was rather than go to and continue on with this and have to 10 go to another vendor or whatever, let's just continue to 11 deal with folks we're used to and they'll get our price in 12 order. So that's ultimately what happened. They lowered
13 the price on down into the seventies. So the direction I
14 was going in both cases were brought to a halt.
15 Q: Let me ask you some questions about your vacation.
16 You agree that you took multiple vacation days between 17 Monday, June 18, and Wednesday, July 18, don't you?
18 A: I remember putting in for a week vacation in June.
19 I don't remember anything else. And then asking to add two 20 days to that.
21 Q: Okay. You don't dispute that you left a voice
22 mail message on the morning of Tuesday, June 19, asking to 23 be out that day, June 19, and the next day, June 20?
24 A: I don't recall that. I may have, but I don't
25 recall it.

Page 146

1 Q: All right. And on Saturday, June 23, you
2 requested a week of vacation beginning the next Monday, June
3 25, correct?
4 A: I did request a week of vacation and I followed
5 that up with a phone call requesting that I add July 2 and 3
6 to that. I was going to have seven consecutive working days
7 for vacation.
8 Q: So you left a voice mail message on the afternoon
9 of July 3 indicating that you would be taking the entire 10 week beginning Monday, July 9 through 13?
11 A: No.
12 Q: What evidence do you have to dispute that?
13 A: On the afternoon of July 3, I had received a phone
14 call and been put on administrative suspension or whatever
15 you call it.
16 Q: Before your suspension, you called in and said you
17 wanted to be off July 9 through July 13.
18 A: I don't recall that, I don't at all.
19 Q: None of these vacation days were approved in 20 advance were they?
21 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
22 A: If advance is before the vacation, actually was 23 what happened, yes.
24 Q: Well, the day of is not before, is it?
25 A: No. No, I'm talking about like the week,

1 requested a week and the two days that followed. No, those 2 were all advanced then. Those weren't the day of.
3 Q: Well, when you call in on Saturday, which is not a
4 traditional work day, and ask for vacation beginning the 5 next Monday, that's not in advance, is it?
6 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
7 A: And Saturday what date?
8 Q: The 23rd of June.
9 A: That was covered with an e-mail. That week of 10 vacation was covered with an e-mail.
11 Q: You agree that you were required to request
12 vacation days in advance don't you?
13 A: I think that's pretty normal and I think I was one
14 of those that followed pretty close the way we did things
15 there.
16 Q: Well, let me just be clear. You agree that you
17 were supposed to request vacation in advance, don't you?
18 A: Certainly.
19 Q: And you say that this vacation didn't interfere
20 with the projects because as far as you were concerned,
21 those projects were over on June 8, is that correct?
22 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
23 A: The projects were over, yes.
24 Q: And you took the vacation days immediately after 25 being given a warning on June 18, which is Exhibit 19.

1 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
2 A: That's correct.
3 Q: Now, during the period from June 18 to July 18,
4 did you submit any data to Wallace about these two projects,
5 C237 or T602?
6 A: Not that I remember.
7 Q: Now, you were scheduled to fly to Indiana on June
8 14 to visit a customer and return on the 15th, right?
9 A: If the dates are correct, yes.
10 Q: And you flew to Indiana?
11 A: I'm not sure where I flew to.
12 Q: You flew toward Indiana?
13 A: Somewhere, Detroit or somewhere. I'm trying to 14 remember, but the next leg was to go into Indiana.
15 Q: So you turned around and came home?
16 A: Yes.
17 Q: And you did not visit with the customer?
18 A: No.
19 Q: You claimed you had got a headache on the plane?
20 A: In fact, this trip was arranged by Wade Wallace
21 through the sales manager who wanted me to go and I was not 22 to visit a customer.
23 Q: Was that Steve Acker?
24 A: Yes.
25 Q: The sales manager was?

37 (Pages 145 to 148)

Page 149

1 A: Right.
2 Q: And you were to meet Acker and the customer in 3 South Bend?
4 A: For lunch.
5 Q: I'm sorry?
6 A: He was having meetings in the morning and I was 7 going to meet them for lunch.
8 Q: And you returned to the plant without having met
9 with the customer.
10 A: That's correct.
11 Q: And you did not tell Wade Wallace that you had 12 aborted the trip.
13 A: You know, that's an area that I can't say for sure
14 anything on right now, but when I got back in, I'm confident
15 that I would have called him. But Steve Acker, when I 16 called him, I told him the situation I was having and he and 17 I together decided it best that I wait, I waited as long as 18 I could before the flight was to leave for South Bend, and 19 nothing had let up and we decided it best that I either
20 spend the night there or come on back.
21 Q: You don't have any evidence that you told Wade
22 Wallace that you had aborted this trip, do you?
23 A: I mean, I have no records of any kind in writing
24 or anything.
25 Q: And you don't recall doing it?

Page 150

1 A: I know I would have. I know I would have called
2 him and left a message if I didn't get him and told him
3 the — It was toward the end of, I don't remember, it was 4 sort of toward the end of the week. I was in pretty sick
5 shape when I got back.
6 Q: You see in the memo it says, "He never informed me
7 of this and while I thought he was in Indiana."
8 A: I disagree with that. I think he may have ignored
9 anything I may have informed him on there and used that like 10 that. But I think the most important thing in that 11 particular scenario is his approving me to go there for no
12 good reason and I didn't even know about and wasn't in on 13 it.
14 Q: Hexion, July 3. Are you with me?
15 A: I know Hexion.
16 Q: July 3?
17 A: Yes.
18 Q: Did you leave a message for Wade Wallace telling 19 him that you would be at Hexion in Greenville all day on 20 July 3?
21 A: I left — You say in Greenville?
22 Q: Yes, Hexion in Greenville.
23 A: No, they're not in Greenville.
24 Q: Where are they?
25 A: They're in, they're near Spartanburg. Roebuck.

Page 151

1 Q: All right, Roebuck. Did you leave a message for 2 Wade Wallace telling him you would be at Hexion in Roebuck
3 on July 3 and that you would be at Hexion all that day?
4 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
5 A: No. No.
6 Q: Did you leave him a message at all?
7 A: Yes.
8 Q: What did the message say?
9 A: It said that — Let me just real quickly say it
10 had to do with a project that I was going to work on that I
11 couldn't work on at the plant and could work on it at Hexion
12 and other places. So the message was that there was a 13 serious ant problem at my house that I encountered when I
14 got home and my wife was literally berserk with ants in two 15 or three different places coming into the house and she's 16 highly allergic to them, fire ants. Now, I don't know at 17 what point before that I had left Wade any message, but at 18 that point I left Wade a message and said, "Wade, I've got a 19 serious problem. First thing in the morning I'm going to do
20 my best to get it taken care of and as soon as I finish, I'm 21 going to go on over to Hexion and work on the project." And 22 he knows the project that I was referencing.
23 Q: What time did you leave that message?
24 A: My guess, I think it was early, in early evening
25 after I got home from work.

Page 152

1 Q: On what date?
2 A: This would have been the 2nd.
3 Q: So you say you didn't leave him a message on the 4 3rd?
5 A: The 3rd is the day I was at Hexion.
6 Q: Did you ever get permission from Wade Wallace to 7 go work at Hexion?
8 A: Oh, yes.
9 Q: When?
10 A: The same permission I had to go to Rohm and Haas
11 or any ...
12 Q: Sort of standing permission in your mind?
13 A: And let him know I was going and when and cell
14 phone on.
15 Q: Did you go to Hexion?
16 A: Yes.
17 Q: What time did you get there?
18 A: I'm going to use a little wider — Well, it
19 would have been around 12:30.
20 Q: But you didn't do any work at Hexion?
21 A: I couldn't get in.
22 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
23 A: Couldn't get in.
24 Q: So the answer to my question is, no, you did not 25 do any work?

38 (Pages 149 to 152)

1 A: That day, no. No. 2 Q: What time did you leave Hexion? 3 A: I would say and, again, I'm looking back and 4 guesstimating, 1:15 to 2:00 or something like that. 5 (Defendant's Exhibit 20 was marked for identification). 6 Q: How about take a look at Exhibit 20. 7 (Reviewing document). 8 Q: Do you have any reason to dispute the entries on 9 Exhibit 20? 10 A: The thing that's written here, I don't recall. 11 Q: Which thing? 12 A: Received voice mail on the 19th. 13 Q: "Left voice mail on morning of June 19"? 14 A: Yeah, to be out 19th and 20th. I don't remember 15 that. 16 Q: Okay. 17 A: "left voice mail on afternoon of July 3 ... was 18 suspended." 19 Q: "... before he was suspended." 20 A: And without question, that's not true. I mean, it 21 makes no sense is the reason I say that. I can't imagine 22 that. 23 Q: Well, you would agree with me that June 9 through 24 13 should have been July 9 through 13, right? 25 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.	1 Q: So your work day doesn't normally begin at 1:30 2 p.m., right? 3 A: When I was with Tietex, no. 4 Q: The most this document shows is that you stopped 5 by Hexion and signed in, correct? 6 MR. STEWART: Object to the form. 7 A: I mean, if you take it for what's here, yes, 8 that's true. 9 Q: And you had told Mr. Wallace that you would be at 10 Hexion all day? 11 A: I didn't say that, no. 12 Q: What did you say? 13 A: What I said earlier, I had an ant problem that had 14 to be fixed and as soon as I took care of it, I was going to 15 Hexion. 16 Q: All right. 17 A: No time given. 18 Q: And there was nobody at Hexion to let you in so 19 you left? 20 A: There were people at Hexion that I later would 21 find out that they were having a meeting that included the 22 technicians, the people I would normally call and spoken 23 with and gotten to come to the door. It included key 24 management and everything. They have several buildings and 25 that particular building, they were having a meeting and I
1 A: I don't know. 2 (Defendant's Exhibit 21 was marked for identification). 3 Q: Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit 21. 4 Do you contend that this is the Hexion Visitors' Register? 5 A: Absolutely. 6 Q: How did you get it? 7 A: I got it from a girl named Pam Westmoreland. She 8 copied this for me right out of the manual. 9 Q: Out of the what? 10 A: Out of the, whatever you call it, register. I 11 call it a manual. 12 Q: What do you contend that this Visitors' Register 13 proves? 14 A: Well, it shows that I signed it. 15 Q: It says, "7/3 Gary Harris, Tietex, 1:30." 16 A: 1:30. 17 Q: Is that 1:30 p.m.? 18 A: So I guess I got there at 1:30. 19 Q: Is that 1:30 p.m.? 20 A: Yes. 21 Q: And your work day doesn't typically begin at 1:30, 22 does it? 23 A: My work day begins usually when I get up. 24 Q: So not 1:30 p.m.? 25 A: This was not a typical day. No.	1 made phone calls one after another to everyone I knew there 2 over a period of time, waited and tried it again, waited and 3 tried it again. 4 Q: You couldn't get in? 5 A: Couldn't get in. 6 Q: So you left? 7 A: Yes. 8 Q: And you didn't see a living sole at Hexion? 9 A: At that time I did not know of a procedure that 10 they had ... 11 Q: Just please answer the question. Did you see a 12 living sole at Hexion? 13 A: Yes. 14 Q: Who? 15 A: I don't know their names. I saw folks at Hexion. 16 I mean, to answer your question, I saw, physically saw 17 people there, here and there, but they weren't the people I 18 was there to see. They weren't in that building. 19 Q: You didn't see anybody you knew the name of? 20 A: No. 21 Q: Or who knew you? 22 A: No. 23 Q: So this sign in sheet that's Exhibit 21 is the 24 only proof that you have that you were at Hexion? 25 A: Probably some phone calls.

1 Q: I'm sorry? 2 A: I mean, we don't have it here, but I suspect some 3 phone calls will validate I was there as well during some 4 time. 5 Q: Oh, you mean phone calls that you claim you made 6 from the lobby ... 7 A: Yeah. 8 Q: ... to the interior of the plant? 9 A: Yeah. And also some other records. 10 Q: What other records? 11 A: Phone calls. 12 Q: But there aren't any individuals who can 13 substantiate your being there? 14 A: That's correct. Not that they saw me or anything 15 like that, that's correct. 16 Q: And you admit that you were at Hexion at most for 17 about 30 minutes? 18 A: No. I mean, earlier when you asked me and, again, 19 I haven't looked at this since, what's it been, a year and a 20 half or so, but just trying to recall a time, I said 12:30, 21 getting there at 12:30 and leaving, what 1:15 to 2:00 or 22 something to that effect. Well, now that I see that I was 23 actually there at 1:30 because I forgot, probably would have 24 left more like 2:15 to 3:00 o'clock. 25 Q: All right. Let me invite your attention to the	1 places I hadn't been before. With that said, I called this 2 guy that I knew that he had told me of two different places 3 that he could get me a place to work, to do lab work, 4 because he was aware of my situation as far as needing a 5 place to work and so forth. And he wasn't a friend, he was 6 an acquaintance from chemical sales. He and I met, I don't 7 ... 8 Q: Can you just tell me where you went? 9 A: All I know is he and I met somewhere, I don't 10 remember. I cannot call where we met but it was for him for 11 the purpose, he couldn't go with me to tell me how to get to 12 Chemurgy and all that. And we met for a period of time, I 13 don't know how long, and when I left him I went looking for 14 Chemurgy and to see if the folks were there and all this 15 and I was going to go ahead and introduce myself and see if 16 what their schedule was the balance of the week and I was 17 going to go ahead and just break that ice and get in with 18 those guys. 19 Q: So you went to Chemurgy about 4:30 p.m.? 20 A: No, it would have been before then. Maybe. I 21 probably was leaving there about that time. I don't 22 remember. Because it probably took me, I don't know, 30 or 23 45 minutes of driving. 24 Q: You didn't see anybody at Chemurgy, did you? 25 A: No.
1 ESC transcript March 28, 2008, page 171. "Question. And 2 you stayed there for about 30 minutes." "Claimant." That's 3 you. "My guess is 30 minutes." "Question. Pardon me?" 4 "My guess is 30 minutes." "Question. Thirty?" "Claimant. 5 An estimate, from memory, an estimate." 6 A: Okay. 7 Q: Do you agree with 30 minutes? 8 A: About 30 minutes because I don't know, I didn't 9 keep a record of it. I would say, probably now I would 10 change that to at least 30 minutes because of what I did. 11 Because I was fairly, it was a time when I was concerned 12 about getting in and finishing the project. I'll put it 13 that way. 14 Q: And you agree with me that Wade Wallace, based on 15 your phone call, expected you to be at Hexion? 16 MR. STEWART: Object to the form. 17 A: Yes. 18 Q: What did you do when you left Hexion? 19 A: What I did after Hexion was probably, in my mind 20 anyway, it was like I was at a loss. I had tried to get 21 this project done. And let me say this, I've never 22 mentioned this before, but in the back of my mind, I knew 23 that there were places other than Hexion and I chose Hexion 24 because they were close. I could have just as easily gone 25 to Rohm and Haas or somewhere else or to one of these new	1 Q: And the guy you met, was it Dean Roberts? 2 A: Dean Roberts. 3 Q: So on July the 3rd you went to Hexion for about 30 4 minutes and you went to Chemurgy but didn't speak to 5 anybody. 6 A: That's correct. 7 Q: And how long do you claim you were at Chemurgy? 8 A: I'm going to guess and say it probably took, for 9 me to find the place, between 30 minutes to an hour maybe. 10 Q: How long did you actually stay on the premises 11 there? 12 A: There was no sign of anybody there. 13 Q: Did you telephone Wade Wallace and tell him you 14 couldn't get into Hexion and you were going to go somewhere 15 else? 16 A: No, I did not. 17 Q: Did you instruct a Hexion employee to bring 18 sulfuric acid to you at the Tietex plant? 19 A: No, I did not. 20 Q: Did a Hexion employee bring you sulfuric acid at 21 the Tietex plant? 22 A: I was told he did. 23 Q: And that was George Henderson? 24 A: Yes. 25 Q: And did you, in fact, want sulfuric acid, you have

1 some need for it?
2 A: The sulfuric acid would have been used, had I been 3 able to get into Chemurgy, it would have been used as —
4 Like I said, I didn't feel welcome at Hexion, and if I could 5 just get the chemical then I was going to go, if they were 6 open at the end of the week, I was going to go over and 7 finish the project. I did not tell Hexion to bring any 8 acid, period. What I told Hexion was, if you will get some 9 acid together — and if I remember correctly, I'll pick it
10 up, leave it at the guard house or something. I don't 11 remember the details exactly, but I can come back by and get 12 it. They got a guard house that stays open. And I don't 13 remember the details.
14 Q: It would have been against Tietex's procedure to 15 have George Henderson bring you a beaker of sulfuric acid,
16 wouldn't it?
17 A: Well, again, going back to earlier, those are the 18 kind of procedures I would have put together. And it
19 depends on how he brought it and how it was — it would 20 have had to have been wrapped properly, MSDS. It had to be 21 a safe container and so forth. It wasn't a beaker, by the 22 way. I was told later, I talked with George and he said it
23 was a sealed container that was proper for acid.
24 Q: And Wade Wallace told you that he had been trying 25 to get in touch with you all day on July the 3rd, didn't he?

1 A: No.
2 Q: And didn't Wade Wallace finally reach you on your
3 cell phone about 3 in the afternoon?
4 A: No.
5 Q: When did he reach you?
6 A: First of all, I would object to the finally 7 because I'm confident I had my cell phone on the whole time,
8 and I received a phone call from him between 4:30 and 5
9 o'clock. He wanted to know where I was.
10 Q: Did you tell him that you had been at Hexion?
11 A: I told him exactly what had happened, which is 12 what we've already talked about.
13 Q: Did you tell Wade Wallace that you had been to 14 Hexion?
15 A: Yes.
16 Q: Did Wade Wallace tell you he knew you hadn't been 17 at Hexion?
18 A: I don't — No, he didn't say that to me when we 19 were talking on the phone.
20 Q: Did Mr. Wallace tell you he knew you hadn't been 21 at Hexion because George Henderson, the lab manager from 22 Hexion, had brought sulfuric acid to the Tietex plant
23 looking for you?
24 A: I don't know that we discussed that or not. I
25 don't recall discussing that in our phone call. May I —

Page 163

1 Just a key part of that phone call was, he gets in touch
2 with me, wants to know where I am. And I tell him, I give 3 him, I spend time telling him the events, and then he says,
4 "Well, I'm putting you on administrative suspension. I
5 don't want you back in the plant until when I'm back from 6 vacation on July 8th, whatever, July 18 or something.
7 Q: Will you agree with me that it would look
8 suspicious to a reasonable person for them to have an 9 employee who was supposed to be at Hexion, and then a Hexion
10 lab manager shows up at Tietex looking for him?
11 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
12 A: I would say no.
13 Q: You don't think that looks suspicious?
14 A: Not under the circumstances. I mean, if a 15 person's looking for something, trying to create something,
16 yes.
17 Q: All right. You tell Wallace you're going to be 18 at Hexion. Henderson shows up at Tietex looking for you.
19 He's from Hexion. Now, don't you think that looks 20 suspicious?
21 A: What time did Mr. Henderson, may I ask what time
22 he came?
23 Q: I don't know.
24 A: See, that's the key. Wade Wallace said he came 25 right after lunch when, in fact, George Henderson came at

1 the end of the day when he was on his way home from work.
2 And all he announced was Gary Harris had come by and needed
3 acid, left a message, left a message he needed acid.
4 Q: Well, didn't you say that the call to you was 5 between 4:30 and 5:30?
6 A: Yes.
7 Q: Well, that would have been consistent with the 8 time that you say Henderson went by there, right, at the end
9 of the day?
10 A: Yeah, but inconsistent with when Wade said he came 11 by. Wade said he came by like 1:30.
12 Q: But Henderson asked the people at Tietex where you
13 were, and they said, well, he's supposed to be at Hexion.
14 A: I don't believe he, I don't believe he asked that 15 question.
16 Q: You don't believe who asked what question?
17 A: I don't think George Henderson asked where I was.
18 All he was doing, he knew that I was going to come back at 19 some point and pick up acid, and he decides — that's the 20 way George is — as a courtesy he decided, well, on my way
21 home I'll just drop this acid off to Gary and he won't have 22 to pick it up. And he didn't call me or anything and say he 23 was going to do that.
24 Q: Well, for all Wade Wallace knew you could have 25 been fishing or cutting the grass or anything else other

41 (Pages 161 to 164)

1 than working, right?
2 A: That's true.
3 Q: And wouldn't it have been reasonable for Wallace
4 to expect you to call him and say, look, my plans have 5 changed. I can't go in to Hexion. I'm going to make other
6 arrangements?
7 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
8 A: I think that's one of those marginal questions
9 that could go either way. I mean, I'll agree but then again
10 I think I could give a reason that it's okay.
11 Q: During this conversation did Wade Wallace ever
12 say, well, tell me where you've been all day?
13 A: Well, when he called me he wanted to know where I
14 was, and I explained to him about what had transpired and, I
15 mean, just right on top of that — we probably talked no
16 more than, I want to say three minutes. He said, "Well, I'm 17 going to put you on administrative leave or suspension,"
18 whatever it's called, "and I don't want you back in here."
19 Now, the other part that I had a problem with there, why did 20 he not want me to come on back in right then and talk with 21 him. Why did he ban me then? I mean, that still bothers me
22 and I don't understand that.
23 Q: Did you hang up on Wade Wallace?
24 A: No.
25 Q: Did the telephone get disconnected?

Page 166

1 A: No, we were talking and it was after he had told
2 me all that and everything, and I don't know if it's where I
3 was driving or what, but we got cut off.
4 Q: Do you know what Wade Wallace did to investigate?
5 A: No, I don't.
6 Q: Do you know who he talked to?
7 A: Oh, I do. I think he called both those fellows,
8 George Henderson and Dean Roberts. Word was he called them.
9 Q: Do you know if he talked to anyone else?
10 A: Not to my knowledge.
11 Q: Do you know the content of Wallace's conversation
12 with Henderson?
13 A: No, but I will say this, that it was pretty strong
14 according to what George said. George said he felt it to be 15 highly unprofessional, the way it was handled because it
16 made me look kind of, maybe something I didn't need to be 17 made to look like.
18 Q: Well, what do you claim that Wade Wallace said to 19 George Henderson that you object to?
20 A: I can't recall that, I'm sorry.
21 Q: So you don't have any evidence that Wade Wallace
22 said anything to George Henderson that would have been 23 defamatory towards you. It was just unprofessional, is that 24 what you're saying?
25 A: Probably more so unprofessional, yeah, if I had to

Page 167

1 say one or the other.
2 Q: And what you know about that conversation you
3 learned from who, Wade Wallace or George Henderson?
4 A: From George. George actually called me about it.
5 Q: And does Dean Roberts work for Spartan Chemical?
6 A: He works for — he did, I'm not sure. I haven't
7 talked with him in a long time, but he was with Spartan
8 Chemical at the time.
9 Q: And you said that you have some information that 10 Wallace called Roberts.
11 A: Right, yeah, Dean and Wade Wallace were reasonably
12 close and they had a, I mean, I don't know if it was a 13 friendship relationship but they were pretty close.
14 Q: Do you know what Wade Wallace said in that 15 conversation?
16 A: I don't.
17 Q: So you don't have any claims that Wade Wallace
18 made any remarks about you to Dean Roberts that were 19 defamatory.
20 MR. STEWART: Object to the form.
21 A: I don't know. I don't know of any right now, no.
22 Q: Now, your employment was terminated on July 19,
23 2007, for unsatisfactory performance, correct?
24 A: Yes.
25 Q: Do you know who made the decision to terminate

Page 168

1 your employment?
2 A: No.
3 Q: Do you know how old David Wilson is?
4 A: No.
5 Q: Do you know how old Wade Wallace is?
6 A: When I went to work for him, I think he was 33.
7 Q: Do you know how old Martin Wildeman is?
8 A: Well, I think he was like around 30, 31 in '94, so
9 do the math, whatever that is, mid-forties?
10 Q: How about Reed Cunningham, do you know how old he 11 is?
12 A: I do not know.
13 Q: How about Mark Isbell?
14 A: Mark is, I'd say he's somewhere mid to upper 15 forties, I don't know.
16 Q: And then you're just basing your best guess on how 17 these gentlemen appear?
18 A: I mean, there's a lot of stuff out there that I
19 could go by, but I'm just giving you an off-the-cuff general
20 answer based on trying to answer.
21 Q: Reed and David's about as old as you are.
22 A: I doubt that.
23 Q: Close.
24 A: I doubt that.
25 (Defendant's Exhibit 22 was marked for identification.)

42 (Pages 165 to 168)

1 Q: You mean how many depositions we're going to take
2 and so forth.
3 A: Yes.
4 Q: Now, there are a number of documents that we got
5 from the EEOC that you gave the EEOC, but when it came time
6 to respond to our Request for Production, we didn't get 7 those documents from you. Do you know why?
8 A: No.
9 Q: You don't know why you would have given the EEOC
10 documents you didn't give to us?
11 A: I guess, you know, are you saying that if I gave 12 EEOC a document at any time that I was supposed to give it
13 to other people?
14 Q: Well, here's the deal. We made a Freedom of 15 Information Act to the EEOC to give us everything in their 16 file on you, and they did that. And it contained documents
17 that when it came time for, when we compared what we got 18 from the EEOC with what we got from you, we got things from 19 the EEOC that we didn't get from you.
20 A: But you did get them.
21 Q: From the EEOC, not from you.
22 A: Well, you know, I'm obviously not an attorney and 23 I don't really — I'm sure there's something there I don't 24 understand, okay? I'm sorry.
25 Q: Well, I just want to make sure that we've gotten

Page 250

1 all there is to have, that you don't have other documents
2 like these recordings that you told us about that we haven't
3 gotten yet.
4 A: In other words, any documents that may show up
5 that I have at some point, at a deposition or whatever,
6 which this is the, you know, this is really the, I guess the 7 first time we've met like this other than ESC ...
8 Q: Right. If the document is relevant to your case.
9 A: So in other words, I can give you all my 10 documents. I would love to.
11 Q: Okay, well, that's what we want. Do you have 12 documents you haven't given your lawyer yet?
13 A: Yes. I've got plenty of documents.
14 Q: That are relevant to this case?
15 A: I don't know. Some of them are and — I'm not 16 the expert there. But there's like all this accumulated 17 crap I got.
18 Q: Can we have an agreement that you will give those 19 documents to your lawyer and if he decides they're relevant,
20 he can give them to us?
21 A: If that's the way you want to do it, yes.
22 MR. SUGGS: Do you agree with that?
23 MR. STEWART: I agree with that, yes.
24 A: That said, that said, one of the key documents
25 that I have is a document that shows — and I've mentioned

Page 251

1 this before, I think, in the hearing — but I have a
2 document that shows where I purchased chemicals on the 3 morning of July 3 from Lowe's. It spells out chemicals, it
4 spells out the time that I checked out and all that. Is 5 that the kind of thing we're talking about?
6 Q: Yeah.
7 A: Okay.
8 Q: Absolutely.
9 A: Anything I got like that I'll give to my attorney.
10 I've got, I mean, I'd love to share it.
11 MR. STEWART: I'll look over it and try to get it
12 to you in an expedited fashion.
13 A: One quick question, if I have, like, for example,
14 going back to February of '07 following a visit to my office
15 by Mr. Wallace, and I made a series of notes and comments
16 and dated it, and that kind of thing, would that be 17 considered a document that you would want?
18 Q: Uh-huh (affirmative response), absolutely. Look 19 at these. This is Tietex 266 to 272, and show them to your 20 lawyer so he can see them, too. And 274, 275, and 277, 278.
21 A: Yes, sir.
22 Q: Now, do those documents have anything to do with 23 your lawsuit?
24 A: I suspect what this has to do with is simply 25 demonstrating that, in fact, I did have something to do with

Page 252

1 the environmental at Tietex because I got a call from Mark
2 Delledone and I made notes on what he said. This was, this
3 ended up being a crude way of investigating and not meeting
4 somewhere like at Tietex, but we did it by phone. And one
5 of the things that he said — and I've got notes about five
6 or six different things he said about Tietex — he said
7 Tietex claims that you did not have any employees reporting
8 to you or has had none reporting to you and he said Tietex
9 also complains that you haven't had anything significant to 10 do with the EPA OSHA stuff at Tietex. And so this would be,
11 you know, this is something I kept. These are records I
12 gathered and then I produced quarterly reports for EPA and 13 that kind of thing. That's all that is, just to show in 14 fact — and let me say this. What I have in that area
15 versus what I produced is very, very limited because most of 16 the stuff that I had in forms of memos and documents and 17 things were left at Tietex.
18 Q: Well, 266 is a document on Tietex letterhead,
19 right?
20 A: That's correct, yes.
21 Q: Signed by you as Gary Harris, Senior Research
22 Chemist.
23 A: Yes.
24 Q: This is Tietex document, isn't it?
25 A: A Tietex document?

63 (Pages 249 to 252)

1 MR. SUGGS: Object to the form, leading. 2 Q: Do you have a reason as to your beliefs? 3 A: Well, as I said before, and part of this was 4 hindsight because I went into the situation in spite of any 5 negatives when I started reporting to Wade, in spite of 6 knowing my qualifications versus his, I went in with an open 7 mind and ready and willing to give him 110 percent and do 8 everything possible to make it a good situation. But after 9 those first instances where he, like on around February 5 or 10 6, after I'd been with him for less than a week he comes in 11 and just unloads on me when no one else is around, and then 12 out in public he's Mr. nice guy when everyone else is 13 around. And then he did that again later. I knew then that 14 this would not, nothing that I had to do with Tietex going 15 forward was going to pass because I was out, I would soon be 16 out the door. I mean ... 17 Q: Let me stop you. That's not a good question to 18 ask. Why do you think they did not want your C237 project 19 to make this stuff internally succeed? Why? 20 A: I don't know. 21 Q: Do you have any ideas? 22 A: Well, first of all, I know Mark Isbell — a lot 23 of this is hindsight — resented me highly. And if you 24 look back, I can now look back and see all the pieces of the 25 puzzle and being a technician and a highly technical person,	1 Q: Let me ask you this. Last time you heard or you 2 knew, how much were they getting the product from Noveon 3 for? 4 MR. SUGGS: Object to the form, requires 5 speculation and an answer based totally on hearsay. 6 Q: You can answer. 7 A: I remember something to the tune of the mid 8 seventies based on a friend of mine who he and I had a 9 conversation and he was, and we'd spent some time together, 10 and he was still working at Tietex at the time. 11 Q: What was the name of the ... 12 MR. SUGGS: Whoa, whoa, whoa. Move to strike. 13 Speculation, hearsay. 14 Q: What was the name of the salesperson from Noveon 15 that Wade Wallace dealt with? 16 A: Lisa Bowes. 17 Q: If you will, tell me how many inaccuracies you see 18 in this memo, Defendant's Exhibit Number 18, as it relates 19 to the T602 formula. 20 A: The second trial as well as the third trial is a 21 correct statement. They were unsuccessful. But, okay, they 22 were unsuccessful. The test results that he, of course, he 23 generalizes a lot and he doesn't, he basically is highly 24 misleading as to what really happened. He doesn't spell out 25 that the second trial was a failure because of a significant
1 that's easy for me to take the pieces now after getting away 2 from the situation and becoming very objective, for me to 3 look back and put all the pieces together and see that the 4 guy just hated me 5 Q: Let me ask ... 6 A: ... and I was an adversary ... 7 Q: Let me ask ... 8 A: ... in his opinion. 9 Q: ... about Noveon now. Does Tietex still get this 10 formula that they listed at .885 cents per pound at the time 11 of this memo from Noveon? 12 MR. SUGGS: Object to the form in that there's no 13 basis for this witness's answer to that question. 14 Q: You can answer. To the best of your knowledge. 15 A: I would learn that they dropped the price further 16 and, as I said before, it was my understanding that 17 ultimately they lowered the price and gave the product 18 another name. I don't, in my opinion, based on some stuff I 19 saw, I don't think they really came up with another product. 20 They simply just lowered the price. At this time I don't, I 21 haven't kept up with what's going on over there, so I don't 22 know what they're doing now. I don't know if they're buying 23 from Noveon or whomever. I don't, you know, and if you'd 24 have asked me probably a year ago, I couldn't have told you 25 because I haven't really ...	1 machine problem with regard to a bar being bent and this was 2 overlooked by the machine operator as well as the technician 3 that was overseeing the trial. And they ran the allotted 4 yardage with a bent bar causing uneven distribution of the 5 finish, and therefore an unsuccessful trial. And he does 6 not say in here that his boss, Mark Isbell, is directly 7 responsible that the third trial was unsuccessful in that he 8 chose to at the last minute move the trial to a machine 9 totally different from the machine that the trial was and 10 the mix was made for, and all the adjustments and everything 11 that were already learned that needed to be made from the 12 early trial, first trial, that we didn't get to try in the 13 second trial because the bar, and we had them tried but we 14 didn't get good results because of the bent bar, we couldn't 15 assay or whatever any accomplishments that were made with 16 these changed settings to fine tune. And finally in the 17 third trial, and the — one thing I'll add, the reason Mark 18 Isbell changed to the other machine, in my opinion, either 19 he was highly ignorant and incompetent or it was malicious 20 in order to undermine the trial. It's one of the two, 21 there's no other option. He just didn't know what he was 22 doing, or if he did, he was highly malicious. That said, he 23 already at the point in time he made that decision had made 24 another decision that we weren't going to go forward with 25 any more attempts to foam finish that product anyway because

Dear Gary:

We are pleased to offer you the position of Senior Research Chemist in our Printing and Finishing Department. This position reports to Dave Hughston, Plant Manager, Printing and Finishing.

The purpose of this letter is to provide you with a summary of the offer, as follows:

1. Your base salary will be $55,000 per year. As an exempt employee, you will be paid monthly, and paychecks are issued on the 25th of each month. For information, we provide direct payroll deposit. To begin the direct deposit process, you will need to provide us with a deposit slip for your banking account.
2. We have provided you with handouts which outline our fringe benefits package. Each of these will be explained in greater detail to you on your first day of employment. In the meantime, however, if you have any questions, please let me know.
3. We will provide you with certain relocation-related benefits. These include:
 - a) We will pay all costs associated with the move of your household goods, clothing, furniture, etc. from Galax, Virginia to Spartanburg, South Carolina.
 - b) We will provide reasonable temporary housing for you for a period of up to sixty days. This will consist of a furnished apartment plus utilities.
 - c) We will pay you the equivalent of one month's salary ($4,583.33 gross amount) for incidental relocation-related expenses. Payment will be made on your request following the closing of the purchase of your Spartanburg residence or the lease of an apartment by you as your permanent address.

- d) We will pay up to $5,000 toward closing costs associated with the purchase of your Spartanburg residence. (This does not apply to rental of property.) This benefit will be available to you for a period of up to twelve months following the date of your employment.
- e) Any other requests for assistance during the pre-relocation period must be reviewed and approved in advance.
- f) All items listed above which relate to relocation shall be handled in accordance with all applicable state and federal tax laws. You are encouraged to consult with your tax advisor to make the necessary plans.

We remind you that on the first day you report to work you will need to bring with you certain documents which will be used for form I-9 purposes. Suggested documents are a valid driver's license and a birth certificate or social security card.

This letter summarizes our offer. Nothing herein should be construed as a contract of employment or as a promise of any specific terms for any determined period of time.

We have enjoyed meeting with you and hope that you will accept our offer to join Tietex. We will be available to help you get settled in Spartanburg and to help you in any way as you begin your career with us.

Sincerely,

Thanks. I got your voice mail this morning where you mentioned that your original thoughts on wearing a mask may have been wrong and that it may still not be enough protection. I spoke with David Wilson and we do not want to take any chances with your health. Please do not enter the lab under any circumstances, even if you are wearing a mask. Give me a the list of items you need and I will have them relocated without any need for you to go up there.

As I stated in a phone message earlier today, I am working on a list of needed equipment, etc. for the new work area. This is a very important undertaking and I want to be sure that it is handled correctly and thoroughly in the beginning on my part.

I hope to have this completed by the end of the week.

Gary,

I received your voicemail this morning. As we discussed yesterday we will do whatever is necessary to shield you from any further exposure to an environment(s) that might negatively affect your health. As David Wilson directed please do not enter the lab or any other work areas that Jake occupies unless it is an approved exception (see next paragraph). In addition, we will protect your new work areas from any potential exposure by directing Jake not to enter those areas. You have set up a temporary work place in the office/lab in the compounding area so this area will be protected. Also, you are free to utilize or permanently relocate your work area to the color shop area and this area will be protected as well. Both of these locations have ample countertop and sink space for laboratory bench work. If there are any tools, supplies, or equipment in the lab that you need for your work, please make a list and I will have them moved to your new work area.

As we discussed by phone today there may be exceptions to entering the lab in order to perform your job duties. One specific example is that your project work will require you to witness testing on the bench burn apparatus. It is neither practical or economical to relocate the bench burn testing outside of the lab due to the smoke venting and ambient room conditioning needed. Therefore you will need to enter the lab to do so. In these situations always wear proper respiratory protection in the form of a mask with sufficient coverage and filtration to keep out any potential irritants. You have indicated that you have tried this approach and feel it will work fine for periods of limited exposure. If you encounter any more job functions where it is not practical or economical to move the equipment, please let me know and we will consider the same procedure for these situations.

Thanks for you cooperation,

Subject: Gary Harris

Per our conversation, I'd like to document the discussion I had with Gary Harris on Wed 2/7/07.

Gary called me mid afternoon on Wed and stated that at that moment his personal and emotional problems had overwhelmed him and he was confused, disoriented, and could not function. He did not know what to do. I immediately went out to his office to discuss his problem in person. He explained that his personal life over the last year has made him so fragile emotionally that sometimes he has episodes like the one he was experiencing. As we talked he felt better and mentioned that the project work I had assigned him would be help keep his mind off his personal problems.

I took that opportunity to remind Gary that Tietex is committed to our employees well being and that at any time we would support him if he felt he needed to utilize EAP. He said that that was not necessary and that he could work through it. I also asked him to be open with me if in any case this personal problem interfered with his ability to perform his job as we would need to sit down with HR to find a resolution.

When I left him he assured me that he was OK and thanked me for my support and patience.

Subject: Voicemails from Gary this week

Gary left voicemail messages for both me and Martin one morning this week at 3am. Martin forwarded me the one he received. Both messages consisted of him complaining about his inability to sleep due to being distraught over "all that's been going on."

The first thing that was bothering him this week have been that his work area has been moved from the lab and he is still not set up to easily do his bench work. I have covered this with him several times and he has asked for a lab pad coater and a vented hood. I have committed to both but he must understand it will take some time to locate, acquire, and install the equipment. In the meantime he is to make do with the pad in the beam dye area and/or seek chemical tech resource time from Robert Culbreth in the lab (coordinating with Jake). Robert is qualified and trained to do this and can help if Gary needs something done on the pad in the lab since he cannot go up there.

The second thing bothering him is his responsibilities regarding environmental reporting. He has a report due March 1 and is concerned about having to do it due to his project work. I have reviewed his project work and it does not consume all of his time. Unless he convinces me otherwise, I see no reason that his projects would interfere with his ability to get this report done on time. I made this clear to him. Although his environmental reporting duties have not changed, he does not think this should continue to be his responsibility. Regardless I have made it clear to him that it still is his responsibility and must be done.

I will update Martin as he was confused by Gary's email. I will also encourage Gary to bring his problems to me first since I am his immediate manager.

Gary,

You left me a voicemail this week expressing concerns over the upcoming environmental report(s) due March 1st. As we discussed when you transitioned into the Development/Improvement department, your environmental reporting duties have remained unchanged. There is a possibility that we could transition these duties to the engineering department at a later date. However, this may take some time and you will need to continue with it until it happens.

You expressed concern about getting it done. Please be sure to complete this on time. If you have difficulty managing this task and your project work, please see me tomorrow when I am back in the office so that I may understand the situation better.

Thanks,

During the last thirty days as Gary Harris has transitioned into his new role, several issues relating to his work have been identified. In the best interest of Tietex and Gary, these issues were discussed with him today so that he can improve upon them. Here are the points we discussed.

- He becomes emotional and overly vocal over a problem before researching the situation and makes statements and accusations without research or data.
- He is not honoring the chain of command by informing senior management with complaints and problems before covering them with his immediate manager.
- He harbors negativity over past grievances with management and continues to be negative towards the current management culture.
- He complains about his ownership of environmental reporting.

As we discussed these issues are not sustainable and it is mandatory that Gary make significant progress towards resolving these issues within the next 30 days.

Subject: Gary Harris Work Performance

During the last ninety days some issues relating to Gary Harris' project work have been identified. In the best interest of Tietex and Gary, these issues were discussed with him today so that he can improve upon them. Here are the points we discussed.

Of Gary's multiple duties two projects were identified ninety days ago as priorities and he was instructed to give them his most thorough and diligent focus. The first project was the development and qualification of a Tietex coating compound formula as a replacement for the current coating used on C237. Gary actually began work on this project prior to his reporting to me. His lab coating work began in December 2006 so the project has been ongoing for over six months. The second project was to develop a finish formula change and process to enable T602 to be finished with the parabolic applicator instead of a pad application. The project was assigned and work began ninety days ago.

Although the first project has been on going for six months no significant progress has been made toward completion. This project was initiated solely by Gary and he convinced senior management that it was completely feasible in order to gain support. He committed to developing a compound that would cost between $0.60 and $0.62 per pound verses the current product which cost $0.885 per pound. Despite months of lab work in house and at four different chemical supplier locations and numerous production trials he has been unsuccessful in creating a viable product. The formulation which Gary developed has proven to be much more complicated to reproduce commercially than initially promised. Gary exercised poor judgement by making claims and commitments that he could not deliver. This project was included in corporate financial improvement goals. Due to the failure of this project I have personally had to begin parallel project work with other suppliers to develop a suitable replacement to achieve the financial commitment of the project.

The scope of the second project to develop a finish formula and process for parabolic application of T602 was a technical challenge. However, Gary informed me that lab samples were promising and recommended a production trial. Although I was not presented the actual numerical results of the first production trial Gary assured me that the results were comparable to

the current product. From this I approved a scale up run for statistical qualification. The second trial, as well as a third were unsuccessful. These subsequent failures concerned me and I personally recalled samples from the first trial that Gary assured me was a success. I witnessed them being tested and found that the product from that initial trial did not perform comparable. By this I can conclude that Gary did not conduct adequate scientific and numerical analysis of the first trial. This negligence was costly in that two subsequent production trials could have avoided. In addition, this negligence in applying the proper scientific analysis is unacceptable in the work of a Sr. Research Chemist.

Obviously the two issues regarding the C237 project failure and poor analytical practices demonstrated in the T602 project are not sustainable. It is mandatory that Gary make significant progress towards resolving the problems with the C237 project and improving on his analytical practices within the next 30 days.

Subject: Gary Harris Work Performance

Despite efforts to counsel Gary Harris we continue to have issues with his work practices and performance. These issues are listed in the following paragraphs. On this basis I am recommending that we terminate his employment immediately.

In February 2007 he was reprimanded for the following issues:

- He becomes emotional and overly vocal over a problem before researching the situation and makes statements and accusations without research or data.
- He is not honoring the chain of command by informing senior management with complaints and problems before covering them with his immediate manager.
- He harbors negativity over past grievances with management and continues to be negative towards the current management culture.
- He complains about his ownership of environmental reporting.

With the exception of the environmental reporting he continues to have these issues.

In April 2007 he was instructed not to come in and work in the chemical lab areas at nights or on weekends for safety reasons. Gate records and management observation indicate that he has continued to do this.

In June 2007 he was reprimanded for the two following issues and given a thirty-day deadline for resolution. It was made completely clear that failure to complete this task and resolve this issue would jeopardize his employment.

- Failure to complete the project to replace the current C237 coating compound with formula of his design.
- Not conducting and reporting adequate scientific and numerical analysis to substantiate lab and plant trials.

He has not demonstrated any effort to complete the C237 project. Despite the deadline to complete the project within four weeks he took two vacation days the first week, five the second week, and was planning to take five days the fourth week. This would have accounted for more than 50% absenteeism during this time and no effort to complete the project as instructed. None of these days were approved in advance. He left messages the day of the vacation without any advance notice despite my request that he have them pre-approved. In addition he has not submitted to me any scientific data on any of his other projects.

I recently found out that also in June that Gary missed an important trip to visit a customer and did not inform me. He was scheduled to fly to Indiana on June 14 to visit with United Shade and return on June 15. On the way there he suffered a headache and returned to SC a day early and did not see the customer. He never informed me of this and while I thought he was in Indiana.

In July 2007, prior to the end of his thirty-day deadline several more issues have arisen.

- Only July 3, 2007 he did not show up for work and left me a message that he would be at Hexion in Greenville all day. He did not get permission for this trip. Later I found out directly from the Hexion representative that he did not show up. Although he did see another supplier in Greenville briefly, he has no been able to adequately account to me his whereabouts for the entire day.
- Also on this day he instructed the Hexion representative to deliver sulfuric acid to him at the plant without an MSDS. This is in direct violation of company policy.

In the last three months he has also demonstrated other poor work habits that are affecting his work performance.

- Does not return calls or emails consistently. His co-workers consistently complain of this as it affects their ability to complete their tasks that are contingent on his work.
- Does not keep consistent work hours and often cannot be physically located at the facility. Gate entries indicate an erratic pattern of coming and going that is not approved in advance.

In light of the continued problems with Gary's work practices and performance I am recommending that we terminate his employment at Tietex. Gary has been counseled about these issues, but at this point I have lost confidence in his ability to perform his job in a satisfactory manner.

1 daughter and she said, "Gosh, he invented everything at Tietex" and this is the 2 most incredible thing I ever seen. And they said, "not one time did he ask how she 3 was." That turned out to be a huge hospital bill and so I'm thinking, you know ...
4 I don't know. Maybe I shouldn't say that. It ... it's all a mess in that time and
5 when he tried to get me to move down to the plant, I said, "Jake, all of my stuff is 6 up here. There is nothing down there for me to work with." And at this time, I
7 was kind of, you know, nerve-wise, kind of a wreck because of what my wife went 8 through. He said, "No, you need to move down there." So, I forgot why I
9 prohibited ... I ran into the owner and I literally ran into him somewhere in ... and 10 I told him, "if they want me to move down there" and he said, "That doesn't make 11 any sense to me." So I went back and so I ... I stayed up there. And Jake, at that 12 time, had moved up there, but several months later he literally moved up.

13 HEARING OFFICER: Okay.

14 CLAIMANT: But I mean this is just ... it could go on and on and 15 stuff like that. I wouldn't want to inconvenience you with nothing else, so. I can 16 say that concerning new procedures regarding chemicals and all, initially, in the 17 beginning, when we did the ... what we call a "QAF Program" for describing how 18 we need things, I actually wrote and signed off how we bring in chemicals and off.
19 So, I was very familiar with how we did it. And so, you know, if I'm in there ...
20 I'm aware of a ... so I taught it, I very much understood. In fact, when Mr. Wilson
21 came to work for us, we had had this [INAUDIBLE] that had been involved in ...
22 in ... in the safety area and whatever. And it was his responsibility to do the 23 MS/DS codes and weed out ... that responsibility became Mr. Wilson's when he 24 ... he came in at Tietex, I think he said "2005" and our lab kept him maybe two 25 hours to get the MS/DS notes from a mess to at least workable. And in his hands 26 ... we had stumbled upon that. I just say that the March 5th get together was sort of 27 like the February occurrence when Mr. Wallace came into the office and ... and it 28 what was awesome, it was out of the blue, he really stoned at me verbally, but in 29 ... in a way that was really mean. But March 5th, was the situation where Mr.
30 Wallace called me and said, "Gary, you will come to my office at this time for a 31 30-day review." And I go to his office and he says, "We need to go down to Mr.
32 Wilson's office" and we went to his office ... of Mr. Wilson and conduct this 33 meeting so he ... he'd be a part of it. And then when we get down there, it's like 34 all this stuff. And by the way, this is how my employer was: That day, I had the

1 A: They did not rehear it if that's what you mean. 2 They refused to rehear it. 3 Q: So that the decision of the District Court stood. 4 A: That's correct. 5 Q: And the District Court refused or I should say 6 declined, the District Court declined to rule on your State 7 claims of breach of contract, breach of contract accompanied 8 by fraud, and defamation, correct? 9 A: That was my understanding. 10 Q: And there was no claim in your previous lawsuit 11 filed in 2008 for intentional infliction of emotional 12 distress, correct? 13 A: I do not recall. 14 Q: You don't recall whether there was or not? 15 A: I do not recall that. It may have been. I 16 haven't looked at these documents in a while. 17 Q: Okay. All right. Let's go back to Exhibit 1. 18 A: Okay. 19 Q: And show me any claim in that Complaint for 20 intentional infliction of emotional distress. 21 A: Are you telling me it's not in there? 22 Q: Yes, sir. 23 A: Okay, then I'm going to concur with you and not 24 even waste our time. 25 Q: All right.	1 don't know if he did it in Greenville or in Spartanburg. 2 (Defendant's Exhibit 17 was marked for identification). 3 Q: Let me show you Exhibit 17 and invite your 4 attention to the second paragraph which says, "WHEREAS, THE 5 RELEASOR ..." 6 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response). 7 Q: And then it refers to Gary Harris versus Jerry 8 Campbell, Pioneer Chemicals. And it talks about being filed 9 in the Court of Common Pleas for Spartanburg County. See 10 that? 11 A: Yes. 12 Q: And it says "venue later transferred to Greenville 13 County." See that? 14 A: Yes. 15 Q: And you settled that lawsuit with Jerry Campbell 16 and Pioneer Chemicals for $9,000? 17 A: I settled it for — I don't want to waste our 18 time here today, but just to get away from it, I settled it 19 for an amount of money he owed me, outright owed me. 20 Q: Look at paragraph 1. 21 A: Okay. 22 Q: Now, that paragraph recites a figure of $9,000. 23 Is that what you settled for? 24 A: You're talking about $9,000 on this? 25 Q: Yeah, on Exhibit 17, paragraph 1 on the first
1 (Defendant's Exhibit 4 was marked for identification). 2 Q: I'll show you what's been marked as Exhibit 4. 3 And that's the Complaint in Spartanburg County, South 4 Carolina, that you filed pro se on October 21, 2011, isn't 5 it? 6 A: Yes. 7 (Defendant's Exhibit 5 was marked for identification). 8 Q: And Exhibit 5 is the Amended Complaint filed in 9 Spartanburg County that Mr. Lazenby filed for you, right? 10 A: Yes. 11 Q: Now, in your pro se Complaint, which is Exhibit 4, 12 you didn't allege intentional infliction of emotional 13 distress, did you? 14 A: No. 15 Q: But it is raised in the Amended Complaint that Mr. 16 Lazenby filed for you, isn't it? 17 A: Yes. 18 Q: Now, you brought suit against Pioneer Chemical, 19 right? 20 A: I did, yes. 21 Q: And you sued Pioneer Chemical in Circuit Court in 22 Spartanburg County, correct? 23 A: I really don't recall where that was filed. I 24 know that attorney David Alford, it was his idea, in 25 essence, to do it. We were into another situation and I	1 page. 2 A: I don't, maybe I'm overlooking something. I don't 3 see $9,000 on that. 4 Q: Let me show you. 5 A: You said paragraph 1, that's paragraph ... 6 Q: Paragraph numbered 1. 7 A: Oh, okay. Yes. It says $9,000. 8 Q: And that's what you settled for? 9 A: That's correct. 10 (Defendant's Exhibit 20 was marked for identification). 11 Q: I'll show you what's been marked as Exhibit 20. 12 You brought a FINRA claim against Wachovia and Jeremy Bishop 13 in May 2009? 14 A: Yes. 15 Q: And FINRA is the Financial Industry Regulatory 16 Authority? 17 A: It has to do with regulating the securities 18 industry, and I'm not sure about what the letters mean. 19 Q: And your case was arbitrated? 20 A: It turned out that way. 21 Q: And the Arbitrator ruled for Wachovia? 22 A: I would say mostly. 23 Q: The Arbitrator assessed hearing fees against you 24 in the amount of $1,575? 25 A: There were hearing fees. I don't recall that

1 litigation with Tietex, have you been sued?
2 A: Not to my knowledge. I'm having to think about it
3 a little bit because the questions are, you know, it's 4 somewhat broad and I have to kind of, well, is that being 5 sued or is it not. But I don't recall of anything that 6 would be considered a lawsuit against me.
7 Q: Okay. I don't mean any disrespect by this 8 question, but since the earlier deposition that you gave,
9 have you been arrested?
10 A: Not to my knowledge.
11 Q: Have you been convicted of a crime?
12 A: No.
13 Q: Since your earlier deposition, have you had any 14 major physical illnesses or injuries?
15 A: I mean, I've got things that I probably should see 16 a doctor for, but I haven't been to the doctor since I think 17 the last time was 2008. I've got some problems that 18 definitely need attention, but for obvious reasons I could 19 go into, they'll just have to keep needing attention.
20 Q: Do you have any physical limitations?
21 A: Again, that's a broad question. I apologize for 22 taking it that way. I think what you mean is, relative to 23 what I think you mean, I don't. But, I mean, I've got like 24 a major hernia. Does that matter?
25 Q: Does it limit what you can do?

Page 26

1 A: I don't let it.
2 Q: And so you haven't seen a doctor since 2008?
3 A: I'm thinking that it was, I remember I had a
4 situation that I felt like I couldn't handle myself and it
5 looked like a serious eye infection or something and that 6 was the last time I recall going to the doctor.
7 Q: Do you know when that was?
8 A: I think it was the summer of 2008.
9 Q: Are you taking any medications now?
10 A: No.
11 Q: When you gave your deposition in the Federal 12 lawsuit that you brought against Tietex and were put under 13 oath, did you tell the truth?
14 A: My deposition?
15 Q: Yeah.
16 A: Yes.
17 (Defendant's Exhibit 8 was marked for identification).
18 Q: I'll show you what's been marked as Exhibit 8. Do
19 you recognize Exhibit 8 as your Responses to Tietex's First 20 Interrogatories in this case that was submitted January 20, 21 2012?
22 A: I mean, that's what it appears to be without 23 reading all through it.
24 Q: All right. The pages aren't numbered, but look if 25 you will at the last page before the Certificate of Service.

Page 27

1 A: Okay.
2 Q: That's it, the one that bears the signature, the 3 next page down.
4 A: Oh, okay.
5 Q: Do you recognize your signature and the date, 20th
6 of January 2012?
7 A: Yes.
8 Q: Now, take a look at Exhibit 4.
9 A: Okay.
10 Q: Now, in your pro se Complaint, which is Exhibit 4, 11 you allege that certain communications were defamatory. And 12 one of those was the February 9, 2007, e-mail from Wade
13 Wallace to David Wilson. And that's in your Complaint at 14 paragraphs 19 and 38.
15 A: Okay.
16 Q: In this lawsuit, do you claim that e-mail was
17 defamatory?
18 A: I definitely think it was. For a third party
19 reading that and believing it, would have to be. It showed 20 a definite, to me, it's my thinking on that, it showed a 21 definite disregard for a person's stability mentally and 22 that kind of thing. I mean, the memo was so farce and 23 whatever.
24 Q: Is your answer yes?
25 A: Ask me again, please.

Page 28

1 Q: In this lawsuit, do you claim that the February 9, 2 2007, e-mail from Wade Wallace to David Wilson was
3 defamatory?
4 A: Yes.
5 Q: Now, let's do it that way. I'm not going to cut
6 you off, but if you'll give me a yes and if you want to 7 continue and explain, I'm not going to cut you off. Okay.
8 A: Okay.
9 Q: But it's going to be clearer. Now, the March 5,
10 2007, memo from Wade Wallace to David Wilson with a carbon
11 copy to Mark Isbell and you is referenced in your Complaint, 12 Exhibit 4, at paragraph 20 and at paragraph 39.
13 A: I remember that. Okay.
14 Q: Do you claim in this lawsuit that the March 5, 15 2007, memo from Wallace to Wilson was defamatory?
16 A: Yes.
17 Q: The June 18, 2007, memo from Wallace to you with a 18 cc: to David Wilson and Mark Isbell is mentioned in your 19 Complaint, Exhibit 4, at paragraphs 26, 27, 28, and 40. Do 20 you claim in this lawsuit that the June 18, 2007, memo was 21 defamatory?
22 A: Yes.
23 Q: All right. July 18, 2007, memo from Wade Wallace
24 to David Wilson with a carbon copy to Mark Isbell is 25 mentioned in your pro se Complaint, Exhibit 4, at paragraph

1 41. Do you claim the July 18, 2007, memo from Wallace to 2 Wilson was defamatory? 3 A: Yes. 4 Q: In your Complaint at paragraph 36, you refer to 5 "rumors in the industry" that you were terminated from 6 Tietex for falsifying a test report. Do you claim that 7 those rumors in the industry were defamatory? 8 A: Yes. 9 Q: All right. That's a claim in this lawsuit? 10 A: Yes. 11 Q: In your Complaint, Exhibit 4, paragraphs 35 and 12 42, you refer to your ban from the premises on July 3, 2007, 13 by Wade Wallace. Do you claim in this lawsuit that ban from 14 the premises was defamatory? 15 A: Yes. 16 Q: All right. These are the only written or verbal 17 statements or actions that you are claiming are defamatory? 18 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form of the question. 19 A: That includes whatever may be, but without, 20 obviously, not having the time to expand on that here --- 21 There's another issue that was just right on the tip of my 22 tongue that you didn't mention. There was the issue of 23 being banned on July 3, which I say was defamatory. Also, 24 and I don't recall exactly what you said there, the detailed 25 wording, but the fact that I was banned from going to the	1 A: I may have, but they don't come to mind right now. 2 I cannot --- We can sit here for a week and I can probably 3 come up with a bunch of stuff that should have been 4 mentioned that's going to be possible. But I will just 5 simply say this, I reserve the right to anything that has 6 happened that's not on there since the time to be, you know, 7 be able to include that as defamation. But to sit here 8 today and say that what you've listed is the only 9 considerations as far as defamation go and that's going to 10 be it, I don't think that's proper. I can't sit here and 11 under the whatever, the duress of what we're doing and start 12 trying to think and, you know, speculate on it. We don't 13 have the time. 14 Q: I've got all the time there is. If you've got any 15 other claim, let's hear it right now. 16 MR. LAZENBY: I'm going to object to the form. 17 A: Well, right now, being, you know, a poor amount of 18 sleep and everything, there's just not a lot coming to mind 19 in that area. I mean, I can start thinking, but gain, it's 20 going to be things that, well, probably that or probably not 21 that type thing. But I'm not --- In other words, let me 22 just word it this way. I'm not hiding anything from you. 23 I'm being open with you on the question. And right now 24 there's just nothing that I can add. 25 MR. LAZENBY: Can we take a short break?
1 laboratory building in itself, I'm considering that 2 defamatory, very much so. When I was banned from going to 3 the lab building on February 1, 2007, when I was assigned to 4 report to Wade Wallace. 5 Q: Okay. In addition to the list of items that we 6 went through and you said were issues in this lawsuit, you 7 would add to that your banning from the laboratory during 8 the time that you worked for Tietex? 9 A: That's correct. 10 Q: Is there anything else that you claim was 11 defamatory that's an issue in this lawsuit? 12 A: As far as what's in that what you've got there? 13 Q: No, what we're going to litigate in this case. 14 I'm asking you what your claims are. That's what we're here 15 for. 16 A: I don't think there's something off the cuff I 17 want to start speculating on that may be out there that I've 18 overlooked. 19 MR. SUGGS: All right, counselor. You want to get 20 your witness to answer the question. 21 MR. LAZENBY: I think he's answered the question. 22 MR. SUGGS: I don't think he's answered it at all. 23 Q: Mr. Harris, I'm asking you right now, do you have 24 any other claims of defamation other than what we've gone 25 through? If you do, I want to know what they are.	1 MR. SUGGS: Sure. 2 (Off the Record) 3 Examination Resumed by Mr. Suggs: 4 (Defendant's Exhibit 9 was marked for identification). 5 Q: Mr. Harris, I'm going to give you Exhibit 9, which 6 are your Answers to Tietex's First Interrogatories in the 7 United States District Court suit that was filed back in 8 September 2009. 9 (Defendant's Exhibit 10 was marked for identification). 10 Q: And then I'm going to give you Exhibit 10, which 11 are your Responses to Tietex's First Request to Admit that 12 was submitted in this lawsuit. 13 A: Okay. 14 Q: Now, you claimed in your Federal lawsuit, which 15 was the earlier lawsuit, that the March 5, 2007, memo and 16 the June 8, 2007, memo --- I'm sorry --- June 18. March 5, 17 2007, memo, June 18, 2007, memo and the rumors about the 18 reason for your termination were defamatory, correct? 19 A: Without looking, I'll agree with that. Yeah, it 20 sounds truthful. 21 Q: All right. And you also claimed in your Federal 22 lawsuit that statements Wade Wallace made to George 23 Henderson and Dean Roberts on July 3, 2007, were defamatory, 24 correct? 25 A: Based on what I was told, yes.

1 Q: Now, you're not making that claim in this lawsuit 2 are you? 3 A: No. 4 Q: Now, in your earlier United States District Court 5 lawsuit, you didn't claim that the February 9, 2007, e-mail 6 was defamatory, correct? 7 A: I don't recall doing that, no. 8 Q: So the claim about the February 9, 2007, e-mail 9 being defamatory is a new claim made for the first time in 10 this lawsuit, correct? 11 A: Yes, and if I may add to that. That's not that it 12 should have not been part of the first one. 13 Q: Okay. 14 A: It was an oversight or a mistake or whatever on 15 the part of my representation. 16 Q: Okay. And in your earlier lawsuit in Federal 17 Court, you didn't claim that the July 18, 2007, memo from 18 Wallace to Wilson was defamatory, did you? 19 A: For the same reason that I just said to the 20 previous question. The same reasons, no, I did not. 21 Q: So that your claim that the July 18, 2007, memo 22 was defamatory is a claim being made for the first time in 23 this lawsuit? 24 A: That's correct. 25 Q: And in your earlier Federal lawsuit, you didn't	1 this point in time here that referenced emotional stress and 2 all had actually occurred mostly six months to a year 3 earlier that was referenced. It was done in a way to make 4 it appear, I don't know if it was made to appear that way, 5 but it did appear in the testimony that it was going on at 6 this time and, actually, the biggest issues I had with 7 stress had to do with work related and my wife's 8 hospitalization related issues that all occurred back in the 9 spring of 2006 primarily. And then as time wore on, that 10 gradually, you know, improved or whatever, went away. 11 Q: Well, in your conversation with Mr. Wallace that 12 led to Wade Wallace preparing this memorandum dated February 13 9, 2007, you said to Mr. Wallace, "Look, Wade, I've got 14 enough stress as it is," correct? 15 A: That was probably something to the effect of 16 testimony. But I think, also, if you look, you will see 17 that — And he references February 7, he references my 18 calling him to come down, that I was having troubles. When, 19 in fact, the real story was he came to my office that 20 morning and asked me, the leading question was, "Have you 21 done these two assignments that I requested you get done?" 22 I hadn't even had time to do them. And I said, "Well, no, 23 Wade, I haven't had time. I've been working on" And 24 that led to an explosion. And so this memo, I don't know 25 when this memo was done. According to this, it was done two
1 claim that your ban from the premises on July 3, 2007, was 2 defamatory, did you? 3 A: No, not that I recall. I don't think so. 4 Q: So being banned from the premises is a new claim 5 being made for the first time in this lawsuit? 6 A: As far as I know, yes. 7 Q: And you didn't claim in your earlier lawsuit that 8 being banned from the laboratory was defamatory, did you? 9 A: As far as I know, that's correct. 10 Q: And that's being made for the first time in this 11 lawsuit. 12 A: As far as I know, yes. 13 (Defendant's Exhibit 13 was marked for identification). 14 Q: Mr. Harris, you have before you Exhibit 13? 15 A: Yes. 16 Q: And that's the February 9, 2007, e-mail from Wade 17 Wallace to David Wilson? 18 A: Yes. 19 Q: And in your prior deposition, you talked about 20 stress and emotional issues around the time this memorandum 21 dated February 9, 2007, was written, didn't you? 22 A: There were questions asked of me, in your records 23 in our under oath deposition and previous testimony, there 24 were questions that were asked regarding that. And if you 25 can go back and look at my deposition, you'll see that at	1 days later and I never saw it until we started having our, 2 after I was terminated later is when this shows up and I 3 never was copied on it. So all this showed up, and I'm 4 starting to ramble a little bit, but in the conversation I 5 had with Mr. Wallace, in essence, it was after he was really 6 verbally abusing me and "We can find another chemist," and 7 all that kind of talk. Which is the way he typically 8 operated if nobody was around to hear it. And it was, 9 "Look, Wade, you don't have to talk to me like that." You 10 know, I'd never been talked about, no one in my life had 11 ever had reason to even talk like that to me. And it was 12 incredible. It was amazing. And I think I might have 13 said this before, but if there were any doubt about my 14 going to be terminated, it was removed that day. And I'd 15 only been reporting to him for, well, in essence, less than 16 a week. 17 Q: In the course of this conversation that you were 18 having with Mr. Wallace that led to the February 9, 2007, 19 memo, you admit that you said, "Look, Wade, I've got enough 20 stress as it is." 21 A: I think I said that, yes. 22 Q: And you admitted that in 2006, which was the year 23 prior to this e-mail, your wife was ill and you had stress 24 and sleep issues arising from her illness, correct? 25 A: The sleep issues, actually, arose directly from

1 work stress, the way I was done after I went back to Tietex 2 from her situation. I was, obviously, as anyone would be, 3 very concerned about my wife and what she went through. 4 That's pretty normal stuff that we can deal with. But when 5 you throw in work stress, a place you're giving 60 and 70 6 hours a week into it, it becomes a different ball game. 7 Q: All right. I'm going to read from your 8 deposition, page 106, line 18. 9 MR. LAZENBY: Hold on. Let me get there so he can 10 read along. 11 Q: Ready? 12 MR. LAZENBY: He's there, yes. 13 Q: Okay. All right. Line 18, you with me? 14 A: Yes. 15 Q: "Question: Was it 2006 that your wife was ill?" 16 "Answer "That's correct." 17 A: Yes. 18 Q: Question, "Did that take a toll on you nerve wise 19 and make you kind of a wreck?" 20 Answer "I got into a major sleeping problem caused 21 mainly by stress and it did not happen until I 22 went back to work and the way I was done after I 23 got back to work." 24 That was your prior testimony, right? 25 A: Yes.	1 Q: So you admitted in your prior deposition and to 2 the Employment Security Commission that around the time that 3 this memorandum that Wade Wallace wrote on February 9, 2007, 4 that you were emotional due to personal stresses. 5 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 6 A: No, I don't agree with that. I think that any 7 references I made to emotional stress that had to do with my 8 wife had to have been talking about 2006 and, in particular, 9 early in 2006. That was what I intended to have said. 10 Q: And you claim Mr. Wallace came to your office and 11 asked you if projects had been completed and you told him, 12 no, that they had not been completed.⁹ And then you assert 13 that when you told Mr. Wallace that they hadn't been 14 completed, that he verbally abused and threatened you that 15 if they were not completed by a certain date, your 16 employment would be terminated? 17 A: He told me something to the effect, "If you don't 18 have those done by like Friday, we'll find another chemist." 19 Q: Did that mean to you your employment would be 20 terminated? 21 A: Yes. 22 Q: So Wade Wallace was warning you that you had to 23 complete your projects timely or your job was in jeopardy? 24 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 25 A: Those two particular projects he wanted, for some
1 Q: And you told the South Carolina Employment 2 Security Commission that you were a nervous wreck, correct, 3 because of what your wife went through. 4 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 5 A: I think it's very broad and general. It could be 6 for a lot of reasons, that happened to be part of it. I 7 don't recall what I told them. But I would say that, I 8 mean, someone could make a statement like that. That could 9 be a very opinionated statement. 10 Q: All right. This is the Employment Security 11 Commission transcript, February 5, 2008, see that? 12 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response). 13 Q: This is your testimony on page 55, that runs over 14 from prior pages starting on 152. Just read what's 15 highlighted there, please, sir. 16 A: You want me to read it? 17 Q: Yes. 18 (Reviewing document). 19 A: "Answer: And at this time I was kind of, you 20 know, nerve wise, kind of a wreck because of what 21 my wife went through." 22 Q: That's what you told the Employment Security 23 Commission under oath, right? 24 A: Yeah. Taking that out of context, out of that 25 total picture there, that was said.	1 reason, done and done right away. He wanted me to drop 2 everything else. 3 Q: Was Mr. Wallace warning you that you had to 4 complete these projects in a timely fashion or your job was 5 in jeopardy? 6 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 7 A: Those two projects, yes. May I add, those two 8 projects had nothing to do with, they in particular had to 9 my moving two areas of my responsibility to another employee 10 so I would no longer — It was something Tietex needed 11 done that he didn't want me being the person they had to 12 depend on. He wanted me to move those two assignments to 13 another area to someone else so that if something happened 14 to me, I assume, later, you know. This is looking back at 15 it later. That they wouldn't have to worry about knowing 16 how to do that stuff. It was too, just to procedural 17 projects that only I could do. 18 Q: Wade Wallace was your supervisor, right? 19 A: That's correct. 20 Q: And it was Mr. Wallace's job to make sure that you 21 completed assigned projects in a timely fashion, wasn't it? 22 A: That would be true. 23 Q: And warning you to finish projects on time is not 24 abusing or harassing, is it? 25 A: No. That in itself, no.

1 guess when did he show up at your office, I think it was 2 probably early in the morning. Because if he came to see 3 me, typically, it was early in the morning just to come 4 around and see what was going on. And he would come in and 5 just say hey or that kind of thing. And so I would have had 6 to have said that what really happened happened early in the 7 morning. So you disagree on who initiated the conversation 8 and the time of day, right? 9 A: I disagree not so much with the time of day as who 10 initiated the conversation and what was said, what really 11 took place in that conversation. 12 Q: And you say during the conversation that his 13 primary focus was these projects that hadn't been completed? 14 A: They weren't — Let me just say this. They were 15 more, I would put them — I see a project as something 16 kind of big. It was more of an assignment. 17 Q: These assignments that hadn't been completed. 18 A: Okay. 19 Q: All right, is there anything else about the memo, 20 which is Exhibit 13, that you claim is incorrect? 21 A: I mean, I think I've pretty well covered it by 22 just saying generally, this doesn't represent what happened 23 that morning or that afternoon or whenever. It is not 24 representative of what took place. 25 Q: Well, did you tell Mr. Wallace that the	1 to show that this e-mail, which is marked Exhibit 13, was 2 ever seen by anyone other than Wade Wallace and David Wilson 3 except for this litigation, do you? 4 A: No, I don't. 5 Q: And that February 9, 2007, e-mail that's dated 6 Exhibit 13, was an internal Tietex communication between two 7 Tietex managerial employees, right? 8 A: Yes. 9 Q: One of them was Wade Wallace, who was your 10 supervisor, correct? 11 A: That's correct. 12 Q: And the other one was David Wilson who was the 13 Human Resource Manager? 14 A: Yes. 15 Q: So both Wallace and Wilson had legitimate business 16 need to know about and discuss personal and emotional 17 problems that you might have been facing that would have 18 impacted your job performance or suggested that it would be 19 prudent to refer you to EAP, correct? 20 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 21 A: In the big picture, yes, that certainly should 22 have been proper or would have been. 23 Q: Well, if you were under stress in performing your 24 job duties, that would be a legitimate issue for your 25 supervisor and HR to discuss, wouldn't it?
1 assignments hadn't been completed in part because of your 2 personal and emotional issues? 3 A: No. 4 Q: During the course of the conversation, did Mr. 5 Wallace suggest that you go to Tietex's EAP? 6 A: No. 7 Q: Is there any part of this memo, which is Exhibit 8 13, that you agree was said? 9 MR. LAZENBY: You can take your time and look at 10 the entire document. 11 A: Okay. 12 (Reviewing document). 13 A: I can't recall specifically everything, but my 14 answer is, no, I don't agree with any of that. What I'm 15 basing it on is, like I said, I cannot recall February 7, 16 2007, but I can look at those things that are said there and 17 know whether or not I would have said them. I mean, whether 18 they fit or not. And my answer is no. I think all of it is 19 totally representative of what took place, totally non- 20 representative of what took place. 21 Q: So your opinion is that what Mr. Wallace wrote in 22 Exhibit 13 is not representative of what was said? 23 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 24 A: That's correct. 25 Q: You don't have any evidence or other information	1 A: Normally, yes. 2 Q: And your struggles with anxiety, depression, 3 insomnia, and stress had previously resulted in you missing 4 work time, right? 5 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 6 A: I had no depression. I've never had any 7 depression. 8 Q: Well, these mental and emotional issues resulted 9 in you taking a two week medical leave, right? 10 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 11 A: I was approved for that, and I only took a few 12 days. 13 Q: You didn't take two weeks? 14 A: No. 15 Q: Were you approved for two weeks? 16 A: Yes. Well, I believe it was two weeks based on 17 memory. But I only took a few days and realized that I 18 think I was kind of addicted to work. 19 Q: Look back at Exhibit 11, page 185. 20 A: Okay. 21 Q: Entry for 4/7/2006, second to the last sentence in 22 that block, "After discussion, will give two weeks medical 23 leave of absence from work to taper off his Klonopin 24 gradually over a two week period." See that? 25 A: Yes.

1 Q: And is it your claim that you were approved by the 2 doctor for two weeks of medical leave after having been
3 treated for anxiety and depression and insomnia, but you
4 didn't take it?
5 A: I took, I don't remember how many days, but it was 6 less than a week. And as far as, I mean, I'm just trying 7 to, you know, think and remember some of this as we talk and 8 you ask questions. But my problem that I conveyed to the 9 doctor had to do with work stress primarily and I do not 10 recall going to him asking for time off. It's my opinion,
11 based on memory, that he wanted to know if I thought that 12 would do me some good or whatever. I may be wrong. It
13 could have been -- I do not recall, in other words, 14 going to him. I was going to him just for my problem with 15 sleep primarily. The sleep was very difficult and, of 16 course, anxiety, stress, to me that's the same thing.
17 But, in essence, that's it. I did not take the full two 18 weeks.
19 Q: Are you suggesting that you didn't go to him
20 asking for two weeks off, that the doctor recommended you
21 take two weeks off?
22 A: I cannot recall the conversation we had. But my 23 memory is that we were talking about options and that's 24 something that I don't even know that I would have been 25 aware of as something as a remedy or potential help. Again,

1 I'm not going to sit here and just pure speculation, because 2 I cannot recall what we talked about. But that would be my 3 thinking, that he was looking to help me and may have come
4 up with that as a suggestion.
5 Q: All right. Your lawyers got those in a nice stack
6 for you, so find Exhibit 2 if you will.
7 A: Okay.
8 Q: And turn if you will to page 4.
9 A: Okay.
10 Q: And Exhibit 2 is the Magistrate Judge's Order and 11 Report, isn't it?
12 A: It is.
13 Q: And if you will look with me on page 4 at that 14 paragraph that begins, "On February 7, 2007," just read that 15 to yourself.
16 (Reviewing document).
17 A: Okay.
18 Q: The Magistrate Judge found that you told Wade
19 Wallace that you were overwhelmed by personal emotional
20 problems, that your wife was ill during this period of time, 21 and that you were stressed, sleepless, and a wreck due to 22 your wife's illness, didn't he?
23 A: For the record, I disagree with a lot of what's in 24 here. And I, to say that he found that, I don't know. I'm 25 not a lawyer. That's what it says. What you read is what

1 it says. But not being an attorney, I'm just simply saying
2 that the stuff in here that really represents what we've 3 already talked about that I disagree with.
4 Q: And the Magistrate Judge found that Mr. Wallace
5 offered you assistance through the Employee Assistance
6 Program, didn't he?
7 A: For what I just said, I mean, I cannot, I mean,
8 there are things in here that I know to be wrong, and I
9 cannot ...
10 Q: Well, look, it's fine with me if you say, yes, he 11 found that but I disagree with him.
12 A: Okay. I'll just say yes and know that I probably 13 disagree with it.
14 Q: Okay.
15 A: I'll just say yes.
16 (Defendant's Exhibit 16 was marked for identification).
17 Q: I'll show you what's been marked as Exhibit 16,
18 and that's the March 5, 2007, memo from Wade Wallace to 19 David Wilson with a copy to Mark Isbell and you, correct?
20 A: That is correct.
21 Q: And you see the handwriting at the bottom, it
22 says, "Discussed with Gary on 3/5/2007"?
23 A: Yes.
24 Q: And that signature, do you recognize as David 25 Wilson's?

1 A: It appears. I don't know his signature, but that
2 does say David something, W.
3 Q: Do you remember discussing this memorandum which 4 is marked Exhibit 16 with Mr. Wilson?
5 A: I do not.
6 Q: But you don't deny that he discussed it with you?
7 A: I recall discussing something with him regarding 8 some issues and, in essence, his telling me, if you want to 9 keep your job, I would recommend you just go do it and keep 10 your mouth shut. And that may have been after this if, in 11 fact, and apparently I did discuss it with him. But since 12 the -- Now, what I'm taking this to mean, Mr. Suggs, is 13 that he and Wade Wallace discussed it with me and then it
14 was on 3/5 that we discussed it. And then I requested that 15 Wade Wallace send me an e-mail to document all these things
16 so I would know what I needed to improve on. So I think I'm 17 responsible for the e-mail having been sent.
18 Q: Well, now, when you say e-mail, you mean Exhibit
19 16, right?
20 A: That is correct.
21 Q: So you admit that Exhibit 16 was prepared at your 22 request to document the meeting regarding Tietex's 30-day
23 review of your progress after you were transferred to Wade
24 Wallace's supervision?
25 A: Yes.

1 admitted that you had failed to return voicemails and 2 e-mails, but you said that your failure was not malicious or 3 intentional, correct? 4 A: It was normal. 5 Q: Sir? 6 A: It was normal. You know, it was like a situation 7 where I didn't do it. 8 Q: You agree that you said that earlier? 9 A: I would think I would have. 10 Q: And in your earlier deposition, you admitted that 11 you didn't contest the first three bullets on Exhibit 16 12 during the meeting, but you said in your opinion, the points 13 were not true, correct? 14 A: During the course of our meeting, I recall having 15 ... 16 Q: Hold on a minute. I said I wouldn't interrupt 17 you, but give me a yes or no and then go on your ... 18 A: Yes. I mean, no, I did not directly contest them 19 during the meeting. You're right. 20 Q: Okay. Did you want to say something else? 21 A: I was just going to simply say, I was sick that 22 day. I actually had what I believe was the flu and I 23 didn't feel like contesting anything or I may have. 24 Q: All right. And you admitted that at times you 25 went directly to Mr. Martin Wildeman rather than using the	1 A: Yes. 2 MR. LAZENBY: Fred, when we get to a good stopping 3 point, can we just take another short break? 4 MR. SUGGS: Sure. I'll ask a few more questions, 5 but if you say let's do it now, that's fine. I've just got 6 a few more in this line to ask. 7 MR. LAZENBY: Sure, that's fine. 8 Q: You admitted it was not appropriate for you to 9 complain to Mr. Wildeman about having to do the 10 environmental reporting, correct? 11 A: I would have thought that would have, had I done 12 that, that would have been not appropriate. 13 Q: Are you claiming you didn't do it? 14 A: I'm claiming I didn't do it. 15 Q: Sir? 16 A: Yes, I'm claiming I did not complain to him about 17 having to do, nor did I complain in the true sense to anyone 18 about having to do the environmental reporting, Mr. 19 Wildeman, Mr. Wallace. 20 Q: And you admit that the only folks in the meeting 21 about Exhibit 16, which is the March 5, 2007, memorandum, 22 were you, Mr. Wallace, and Mr. Wilson, right? 23 A: That's correct. 24 Q: And this was an internal Tietex communication 25 between Tietex management employees?
1 chain of command, correct? 2 A: Well, there were times when I went to Mr. 3 Wildeman. In my training and all at Tietex, there was no 4 chain of command. That was the normal Tietex. People 5 all the time went directly to my technicians and bypassed 6 me, which included Wade Wallace, and told them what they 7 wanted done. On the other hand, my technicians went to 8 whomever they wanted to, whether it be Mr. Wildeman or 9 personnel or to Wade Wallace or whomever. They didn't tell 10 me, they would go do it. That's just the way things were at 11 Tietex. 12 Q: But you admit that you did go directly to Mr. 13 Wildeman? 14 A: I don't recall going directly to him. I recall 15 leaving a phone message wanting to meet with him. But 16 mostly those, any encounters I had with Mr. Wildeman 17 generally were coincidental. 18 Q: Look at your prior deposition, page 116, line 16. 19 A: Okay. 20 Q: "Question: But you admit going directly to Mr. 21 Wildeman? 22 Answer: I don't remember enough about any 23 specific circumstances. I do know that I did that 24 some ..." 25 Did I read that correctly?	1 A: Yes. 2 Q: And the e-mail was between your supervisor, Mr. 3 Wallace, and David Wilson who was the Human Resource 4 Manager, correct? 5 A: As far as I know. 6 Q: And Mark Isbell was Wade Wallace's boss? 7 A: That's correct. 8 Q: So all three of these individuals were management 9 employees at Tietex who had a legitimate business need to 10 discuss the issues listed in Exhibit 16, weren't they? 11 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 12 A: I as a manager would have never handled it like 13 that. I would have, in private. If I had these kind of 14 problems, I wouldn't wait till 30 days were up. Each 15 accusation by itself is a major problem. I would have, had 16 I had a major problem with the people that reported to me, 17 it would have been in private and head-to-head and I would 18 have never gone and for some reason spread it in and around 19 that this stuff happened and it didn't. 20 Q: Well, all three of the individuals, Wallace, 21 Isbell, and Wilson were managerial employees at Tietex, 22 right? 23 A: That's correct. 24 Q: And if you had issues with your supervisor or with 25 the Company, they had a legitimate reason to discuss those

1 Q: The Magistrate Judge found that you'd been working 2 on the C237 Project for six months, had predicted 3 significant cost savings for Tietex, and failed to deliver a 4 compound that was acceptable to Tietex, correct? 5 A: That's what it says. I mean, that's what he, 6 according to your word "found," that's what he found. 7 Q: And if we go back and look at Exhibit 18, then 8 that was an internal communication between Tietex managerial 9 employees, wasn't it? 10 A: It was. 11 Q: And the communication was between Wade Wallace, 12 who was your supervisor, and David Wilson, who was the Human 13 Resource Manager, right? 14 A: And myself, yes. 15 Q: And Mark Isbell who was Wade Wallace's supervisor 16 was copied, right? 17 A: Correct. 18 Q: And you agree that all of these individuals had a 19 legitimate reason to be concerned with your performance, 20 correct? 21 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 22 A: You know, I don't necessarily agree to that. I 23 mean, I'm okay with what you say, but I don't necessarily 24 agree with it. 25 Q: Well, don't you agree that Wade Wallace as your	1 satisfaction of your supervisor, and a project that you said 2 earlier the failure to finish on time might put your job in 3 jeopardy, wouldn't it have been appropriate for Wade Wallace 4 to involve Human Resources? 5 A: For the exact same reasons of what we discussed in 6 the March 5, this again is untruthful. I mean, I just have 7 to say it. This is a pretext memo and everything in here is 8 not for the right reasons. So with that said, I can't, you 9 know, to answer your question, it's got to be based on what 10 this is really all about. And, I mean, I agree with you 11 that Wade Wallace should have been concerned about my lack 12 of performance, absolutely, but it wasn't there. He had no 13 reason and was never given a reason. 14 Q: Okay. So you disagree with the content of the 15 memo? 16 A: Again, exactly like March 5, absolutely. 17 Q: All right. 18 A: A hundred percent. 19 Q: And in your opinion, the content of Exhibit 18 is 20 incorrect? 21 A: Yes. 22 Q: And in Wallace's opinion, since he wrote it, would 23 you agree that Wallace's opinion was your progress on C237 24 and T602 had not been satisfactory? 25 A: I don't think that was his opinion. I think he
1 supervisor had a right to be concerned about these two 2 assignments of C237 and T602? 3 A: Certainly as my supervisor he did. 4 Q: All right. And don't you agree that Mark Isbell 5 as Wade Wallace's boss had a legitimate reason to discuss 6 the status of these projects which the Company was counting 7 on for cost savings with Wade Wallace and David Wilson? 8 A: For the same reasons, going back to the March 5, 9 memo, for the same reasons, I think he should have handled 10 it directly with me and in private and had me sign 11 something. And if he was genuinely concerned about this, 12 then that's the way it should have been handled. In other 13 words, I think that anyone at Tietex should have been 14 concerned about my performance as an employee there and we 15 can take it to anyone in the plant who had a job there. 16 They certainly should be concerned that I was going my job. 17 I do not agree that David Wilson and Mark Isbell necessarily 18 needed to know about this. 19 Q: All right. It would have been okay with you if 20 Exhibit 18 had been just written from Wade Wallace to you? 21 A: I would have preferred that. And, you know, we 22 could have handled the situation. You know, if that was 23 the intent of making things better, we could have worked it 24 out. 25 Q: But if you weren't performing on a project to the	1 made this up. I do not agree with that. He knew better. 2 That was not his opinion. He expressed something here 3 that's not truthful for a reason. That was not his opinion. 4 He was never given any reason for that opinion. 5 Q: Do you agree that if your job status with the 6 Company was in jeopardy, that Mark Wilson would have had a 7 need to know it? I'm sorry, Mark Isbell. Pardon me, I 8 misspoke. 9 A: Well, let me just say this if I may. I agree 10 that, yes, he needed to know it because, I mean, David would 11 have needed to know it. A lot of people would have needed 12 to have known that. But we can go and we can find this, but 13 let's don't. This e-mail was actually prompted by Mark 14 Isbell. I mean, he's the one that caused this. He went and 15 set the stage for this to happen about a week or five days 16 earlier. So to answer your question, he already knew about 17 it. He knew this was coming. It wasn't like this was 18 written and then Mr. Isbell was surprised. He knew this was 19 coming. He helped do this. 20 Q: And how do you know that? 21 A: Based on what Mr. Wildeman told me. 22 Q: What did Mr. Wildeman tell you? 23 A: Following this here, of course, you can't imagine 24 where I was at this time. I knew it was just a matter of 25 time when I saw this. And I mentioned this to Mr. Wallace.

1 I said, "If you don't mind, I'm going to ..." At this time 2 for some reason, I went ahead and got approval to go see and 3 let him know that I was going to go see Mr. Wildeman. I set 4 up a formal appointment and I carried this in there to Mr. 5 Wildeman. And he looks at it and he reads it and he says, 6 "You know, this is exactly what Mark Isbell discussed with 7 me about a week ago or maybe ten days ago." He said, "This 8 is exactly what he discussed with me. He told me about 9 these two projects that you had failed in and something had 10 to be done." So that's, that's how I know Mark had to have 11 known this was coming. 12 Q: Well, T602 and C237 were projects that were 13 important to the Tietex facility, correct? 14 A: Should have been. I mean, I would have thought, 15 yeah. 16 Q: So it would have been reasonable for Wade Wallace 17 to keep his boss, Mark Isbell, informed about the progress 18 that you were making on those two assignments, right? 19 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 20 A: I think it would have been reasonable, yes. 21 Q: Okay. 22 A: Normal, reasonable. 23 Q: And then if --- Who did Mark Isbell report to? 24 A: At that time I believe he reported to Reed 25 Cunningham.	1 than Wilson, Wallace, and Isbell saw Exhibit 19 at around 2 the time it was prepared, do you? 3 A: No, I do not. 4 Q: And, of course, you've seen it in the course of 5 litigation, right? 6 A: Oh, yes. 7 Q: You don't have any evidence or information that 8 Tietex disclosed Exhibit 19 to anyone in the Company other 9 than Wilson, Wallace, and Isbell, do you? 10 A: No. 11 Q: And you don't have any information that Tietex 12 revealed Exhibit 19 to anyone outside of Tietex, do you? 13 A: No. 14 Q: And you admit that you were told that your 15 termination of employment was based on a lot of issues that 16 added up? 17 A: Yes. 18 Q: And you admit that you took vacation after getting 19 the June 18, 2007, memo which is Exhibit 18? 20 A: Approved vacation. I admit approved vacation. 21 Q: You started taking what you claim is approved 22 vacation after you got the June 18, 2007, warning which is 23 Exhibit 18? 24 A: I took approved vacation for the week of June 25, 25 and I had two days approved for the first week or the
1 Q: All right. But Martin Wildeman was the owner? 2 A: Yes. 3 Q: So Mr. Wildeman had a real interest in how that 4 plant was performing, right? 5 A: I would think so, yes. 6 Q: And it would have been reasonable for Mark Isbell 7 to say, you know, these projects, C237 and T602, are not 8 progressing as we had hoped, wouldn't it? 9 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 10 A: Well, again, I'll just say this. Yes, I agree 11 with that. It would have been reasonable had that been the 12 case. But, again, this is not truthful stuff. This is 13 pretext stuff in this memo. 14 (Defendant's Exhibit 19 was marked for identification). 15 Q: I'll show you what's been marked as Exhibit 19. 16 Exhibit 19 is the July 18, 2007, memo from Wade Wallace to 17 David Wilson with a copy to Mark Isbell, right? 18 A: Yes. 19 Q: And in your earlier deposition, you claimed you 20 couldn't recall if you received a copy of this document at 21 the time your employment was terminated. 22 A: That's fair, yeah. 23 Q: Do you recall today whether you did or not? 24 A: I don't recall getting one. 25 Q: And you don't have any evidence that anyone other	1 following week, July 2 and 3. Those were all approved. And 2 that's the only vacation. 3 Q: All right. And turn with me back to Exhibit 2. 4 A: All right. 5 Q: Page 7. 6 A: Okay. 7 Q: The second full paragraph. 8 A: Okay. 9 Q: It starts with, "According to Mr. Wallace ..." 10 See that? 11 A: Yes. 12 Q: "... the plaintiff made no effort to complete the 13 C237 project. Instead, the plaintiff began taking multiple 14 days of vacation immediately after being given the warning 15 on June 18." Did I read that correctly? 16 A: Yes. 17 Q: That's what the Magistrate found, didn't he? 18 A: Well, yes. May I add a little bit? 19 Q: Sure. 20 A: The June 18 memo was given to me. Right after 21 that, the same afternoon before I left Mr. Wallace's office, 22 he said, "I'd like for you to start on the triblend project. 23 Going forward we need to go start working on that, and I'd 24 like for you to make it your priority project." He told me 25 that on June 18. "I want you to make that triblend ..." We

1 talked a little bit before June 18 about could we get into 2 that. And on June 18, I mean, it was like do this, and then 3 the next thing, I get this June 18, what I call a final 4 written warning. And then the next thing I know, Mr. 5 Wallace wants me to do the triblend. So for this to say 6 that I ignored the C237, I was doing exactly what Mr. 7 Wallace had asked me to do, which was start on and 8 prioritize the triblend project. That's exactly what he 9 told me. 10 Q: All right. You admit you failed to visit a 11 customer in Indiana and did not tell Mr. Wallace about you 12 not meeting with that customer, correct? 13 A: I will just say yes, but may I add to that? 14 Q: Sure. 15 A: I did not recall whether or not I had told Mr. 16 Wallace about having to abort the trip. But I left it in 17 the hands of Steve Acker who was with me. And I almost can 18 say without, it's a knowing without knowing, that I said, 19 "Would you call Mr. Wallace and tell him what has happened, 20 that I've got to fly back?" So I would have thought that 21 Mr. Acker would have handled that for me. Anyway, with that 22 said, I'm still looking for an itinerary which will show 23 that Wade Wallace and Steve Acker got together and planned 24 this trip for me to play golf. Fly up, on the same morning 25 that I would fly up, be picked up by Steve Acker. We would	1 A: Okay, I have. 2 Q: All right. And the Magistrate Judge credited Mr. 3 Wallace that the plaintiff never told Mr. Wallace he had not 4 met with the customer in Indiana, correct? 5 A: That's what it says, yes. 6 Q: And you admit you were supposed to go to Hexion, 7 but claim you couldn't get in? 8 A: No, July 2 and 3, if I wanted to go to Hexion, it 9 was up to me. It wasn't like I was supposed to. I was on 10 vacation July 2 and 3. That's never been a big issue, but 11 it should have been. 12 Q: Well, you admit that you told Mr. Wallace that you 13 were going to Hexion? 14 A: Out of pure courtesy, not that I had to. 15 Q: And that you went there, you claim, but you 16 couldn't get in? 17 A: That's correct. 18 Q: And you admit you didn't do any work at Hexion? 19 A: No. I mean, yes, I admit I didn't do any work at 20 Hexion that day. 21 MR. LAZENBY: I'm going to object to the form. I 22 don't know what day you're referring to. 23 A: July 3. 24 Q: We're referring to ... 25 A: July 3.
1 have lunch, go play golf with a customer, and then he would 2 take me back to the airport. Now, that was really strange 3 to me on June 14 with all this negative going on that it's 4 okay for me to fly and play golf. But I am confident had 5 that trip not been aborted and I had gone and played golf, 6 then what we would have been looking at today would have 7 been a report where Gary Harris claimed he was going to 8 visit and customer and told me he was going to do that and 9 instead he was going to play golf. That was orchestrated, 10 in my estimation, to really add to all the other. And it 11 was, it was a, it just happened, thank God, that, I mean, I 12 thought I was having a hemorrhage or something in my brain 13 on the airplane. It was tremendous. And, ultimately, 14 breaking out in sweat. And discussed this with Mr. Acker 15 after the first landing when before I flew on to where he 16 was. And it was his and I decision that it was best I 17 didn't continue the trip. 18 Q: Turn with me, please, to Exhibit 2, page 7. 19 A: Okay. 20 Q: And come down to the last full paragraph, which is 21 the paragraph before "On the evening of Monday, July 2 ..." 22 A: Okay. 23 Q: Got it. Read that to yourself. 24 A: You're talking about the Indiana thing? 25 Q: Yeah.	1 Q: ... July 3, 2007. Correct, Mr. Harris? 2 A: That's correct. 3 Q: So you admit you didn't do any work at Hexion on 4 July 3, 2007? 5 A: That's correct. 6 Q: And you admit you told Mr. Wallace you were going 7 to Hexion as soon as you took care of an ant problem at your 8 home? 9 A: Out of pure courtesy, yes. 10 Q: And you admit that when you couldn't get in 11 Hexion, you left? 12 A: After some time of trying to get in, I left a 13 message for one of the technicians and then I left. 14 Q: And you admit there was no one who saw you at 15 Hexion who could substantiate you being there? 16 A: As far as I know. 17 Q: And you admit you were only at Hexion for about 30 18 minutes? 19 A: Thirty or 45, I don't remember exactly. I'd say 20 30 to 45. 21 Q: Look at your deposition at page 158. 22 A: Okay. 23 Q: All right. This actually starts at 157, last 24 line. 25 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response).

1 Q: 157, the last line. You there? 2 A: Yes. 3 Q: Okay. 4 "Question: All right. Let me invite your 5 attention to the ESC transcript March 28, 2008, 6 page 171. 'Question. And you stayed there for 7 about 30 minutes.' 'Claimant.' That's you. 'My 8 guess is 30 minutes.' 'Question. Pardon me?' 9 'My guess is 30 minutes.' 'Question. Thirty?' 10 'Claimant. An estimate, from memory, an 11 estimate.' 12 Answer: Okay. 13 Question: Do you agree with 30 minutes? 14 Answer: About 30 minutes because I don't know, I 15 didn't keep a record of it. I would say, probably 16 now I would change that to at least 30 minutes 17 because of what I did." 18 A: Okay. That's consistent. 19 Q: And you admit that Mr. Wallace expected you to be 20 at Hexion? 21 A: No. Wait a minute. Let me just say that he was 22 aware that at some point I was going to be going to Hexion. 23 I was on vacation. I had no intention, I had no intention 24 of going to Hexion, finishing a project, and going back to 25 Tietex.	1 where I was as if I were at work, but I wasn't. And I let 2 him know that I was going to Hexion. And there was no 3 reason in our scheme of things and the way we had arranged 4 things, there was no reason that when I couldn't get in at 5 Hexion that I would need to call him and just every little 6 detail. 7 Q: Pick up your deposition, please, and turn to page 8 160. 9 A: Okay. 10 Q: Line 13. 11 "Question: Did you telephone Wade Wallace and 12 tell him you couldn't get into Hexion and you were 13 going to go somewhere else? 14 Answer: No, I did not." 15 Did I read that correctly? 16 A: Yes. 17 Q: And you admit that when Wallace telephoned you on 18 your cell phone to ask where you had been and you explained 19 that at that point Mr. Wallace suspended your employment? 20 A: Yes. 21 Q: And he suspended your employment with pay, 22 correct? 23 A: I would later find out, yes. 24 Q: And Exhibit 19 was an internal Tietex 25 communication between Tietex managerial employees, right?
1 Q: Then look at your deposition, page 158. 2 A: Okay. 3 Q: Line 14. 4 "Question: And you agree with me that Wade 5 Wallace, based on your phone call, expected you to 6 be at Hexion? 7 Answer: Yes." Did I read that correctly? 8 A: "Object to the form." Yes, that's what it says. 9 But ... 10 Q: Did I read it correctly? 11 A: You did. You know, that's an opinion. 12 Q: And you claim that you tried to get into work 13 somewhere else but admitted you never notified Mr. Wallace 14 that you were not going to be at Hexion? 15 A: That was not in our way of doing things. I was 16 required to keep a cell phone on when I was not at Tietex. 17 Q: You claim that you tried to get into work 18 somewhere else but you admit that you never told Mr. Wallace 19 that you were not going to be at Hexion, correct? 20 A: I had not — Let me just answer it this way, 21 because I think that's a difficult way of, the way it's 22 worded is difficult. I had told Mr. Wallace, again, out of 23 courtesy, just to let him know what I was doing, something I 24 did not need to do. I was on vacation. I was coming off of 25 vacation to help him out. And I was just letting him know	1 A: Yes. 2 Q: Wade Wallace who was your supervisor and David 3 Wilson who was the Human Resource Manager? 4 A: Yes. 5 Q: And a copy to Mark Isbell who was Wade Wallace's 6 supervisor and in your chain of command? 7 A: Yes. 8 Q: And this was a recommendation for termination, 9 right? 10 A: Yes. 11 Q: Exhibit 19 recommended that your employment be 12 ended, right? 13 A: That's correct, yes. 14 Q: So Mr. Wilson in Human Resources would have had a 15 need to know that, right? 16 A: Yes. 17 Q: And Mark Isbell, who was Wade Wallace's boss would 18 have had a need to know that Wade Wallace was recommending 19 that one of his employee's employment be ended, right? 20 A: In a normal situation, yes. 21 MR. SUGGS: This is probably a good time to take a 22 break if you're ready. 23 MR. LAZENBY: Sure, that's fine. 24 (Off the Record) 25 Examination Resumed by Mr. Suggs:

1 Q: If you will, Exhibit 2, page 7. 2 A: Okay. 3 Q: And take that first full paragraph which says, 4 "According to Mr. Wallace, the plaintiff made ..." 5 A: Okay. 6 Q: And just read that to yourself. 7 (Reviewing document). 8 A: Okay. 9 Q: All right. The Magistrate Judge found that you 10 took vacation immediately after being given a warning, 11 failed to improve on the issues in the memorandum of March 12 5, ignored directions not to work in the lab on nights or 13 weekends, maintained inconsistent or erratic work hours, and 14 failed to return phone calls and e-mails," correct? 15 A: Yes, that's what it says. But just as we move 16 forward, and I should have already addressed this, because I 17 need to understand. When you say "the Magistrate Judge 18 found," can you tell me what that actually is saying, in 19 other words, that I would understand? 20 Q: Yeah, that's what he found as fact. 21 A: But what this says is, it says, he's just 22 reciting, "According to Mr. Wallace," and then he goes on to 23 say what Mr. Wallace said. He is not necessarily agreeing 24 with it. And that's my take on this. 25 Q: Oh, you don't think the Magistrate is agreeing	1 at Hexion on July 3, but that you never told Mr. Wallace 2 that you were unable to gain entry to Hexion to work, and 3 that your failure to do so was unreasonable, correct? 4 A: That my failure to inform Mr. Wallace? 5 Q: Yes. 6 A: I'm not seeing that. I'm not seeing the 7 unreasonable in this paragraph. I don't see where it says 8 it was unreasonable. 9 Q: All right. Look down on page 8. 10 A: Okay. 11 Q: You see where it says, this is in the next to the 12 last full paragraph, "The plaintiff admits it would have 13 been reasonable for him to call Mr. Wallace and tell him 14 that his plans had changed." 15 A: It says that, yes. But it doesn't mean that it 16 was something that I had to do or needed to do. It's just 17 simply saying, yeah, that was an option that would have made 18 sense. In other words, it wouldn't have been ridiculous. 19 That's what I meant. It wouldn't have been ridiculous for 20 me to have called Mr. Wallace. 21 Q: And if you look at the paragraph at the bottom of 22 page 8 where it starts with "George Henderson." 23 A: Okay. 24 Q: Read that to yourself, please. 25 (Reviewing document).
1 with Mr. Wallace? 2 A: He's saying, "According to Mr. Wallace, the 3 plaintiff made no effort to complete the C237 ..." and then 4 he goes on and adds to that. So in my interpretation of 5 that, he's just saying what Mr. Wallace said. Is that 6 correct, or am I wrong? 7 Q: You're incorrect. He is crediting Mr. Wallace 8 with truthful testimony. 9 A: Okay. Okay. 10 Q: And if you look at the next paragraph, just read 11 that to yourself. 12 (Reviewing document). 13 A: Okay. 14 Q: And the Magistrate Judge found that you returned 15 home from a trip without seeing the customer and without 16 telling your supervisor that you had not seen the customer, 17 correct? 18 A: Yes. 19 Q: And if you look at the next paragraph that starts 20 on page 7 and goes over to page 8, why don't you take a 21 moment to read that to yourself. 22 (Reviewing document). 23 A: Okay. 24 Q: The Magistrate Judge found that you left a 25 voicemail for Mr. Wallace stating that you would be working	1 A: Okay. 2 Q: The Magistrate Judge found that Wade Wallace 3 learned you were not at Hexion only when George Henderson 4 from Hexion came to Tietex to deliver a chemical and 5 revealed that you were not at Hexion, correct? 6 A: Yes. 7 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 8 Q: And on page 9. 9 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response). 10 Q: Read that top paragraph to yourself, please. 11 A: Okay. 12 (Reviewing document). 13 A: Now, to be sure I don't waste time and get into 14 areas I shouldn't get into, just because I do not agree 15 with this, I'm just agreeing with what it says. Is that 16 correct? 17 Q: That is correct. I'm not asking you to agree it's 18 correct, I'm just asking you to agree that that's what the 19 Magistrate found. 20 A: That's what it says, yes. I mean, I've read it. 21 MR. LAZENBY: Let me just place an objection. And 22 if you'll allow this to be a running objection so I won't 23 object to every question. But I do want to object to the 24 characterization that these are findings of facts and that 25 the section is titled "Facts Presented," and not findings of

1 fact on page 1 of this Order. 2 MR. SUGGS: Okay. Well, you've got a standing 3 objection. 4 MR. LAZENBY: Thank you. 5 Q: Did you have any opportunity to read the first 6 paragraph on page 9? 7 A: Yes. 8 Q: And the Magistrate found that when Mr. Wallace 9 contacted you by telephone, you were unable to give him a 10 satisfactory explanation of your whereabouts so he suspended 11 you. 12 A: That's what it says, yes. 13 Q: And continuing on page 9 with the second 14 paragraph, would you read that to yourself. 15 A: Okay. 16 (Reviewing document). 17 A: Okay. 18 Q: The Magistrate found that your employment was 19 terminated for your performance deficiencies which were 20 documented in the March 5, 2007, memo and the July 18, 2007, 21 memo, correct? 22 A: Yes. 23 Q: Now, look please at Exhibit 3. And if you will, 24 turn to page 3. And this is the District Court Judge's 25 opinion, right?	1 were failing to meet Tietex's expectations. 2 A: Correct. 3 Q: And she found that you admitted ignoring 4 directives by Wallace not to work in the plant for safety 5 reasons while the plant was not operating. That's on page 6 5. 7 A: Yes, it says that, correct. 8 Q: Now, let's go back to Exhibit 2 and go to page 14. 9 A: Okay. 10 Q: All right. If you look at the third full 11 paragraph that begins with the word "First." 12 A: Okay. 13 Q: How about read that to yourself. 14 (Reviewing document). 15 A: Okay. 16 Q: The Magistrate Judge found as fact that Tietex had 17 articulated the deficiencies in your performance in 18 memoranda dated March 5, June 18, and July 18, correct? 19 A: Yes. 20 Q: And those were exhibits in this deposition 16, 18, 21 and 19, correct? 22 A: Yes. 23 Q: And the Court found that you attempted to 24 contradict Tietex's dissatisfaction with your performance by 25 your subjective assessment of yourself as a valuable,
1 A: Yes. 2 Q: And Judge Childs concurred with the Magistrate 3 Judge's findings in determining that you failed to meet 4 Tietex's expectations because the C237 compound was too 5 expensive to produce. And you can see that at the bottom of 6 page 3. 7 A: I see that. 8 Q: So that's what she found, correct? 9 A: That's what it says, yes. 10 Q: And that if you look at the top of page 4, I'll 11 give you an opportunity to read that down to part B. 12 "Vacation Days." 13 (Reviewing document). 14 A: Oh, yeah, I've read it. 15 Q: Okay. And the Magistrate Judge found that you 16 failed to meet Tietex's expectations in that you had been 17 working on the C237 project for six months and had predicted 18 it would result in significant cost savings for Tietex but 19 it didn't, correct? 20 A: That's what it says, yes. 21 Q: And she found that Tietex determined that the 22 compound you produced was too complicated to commercially 23 produce, right? 24 A: That's what it says here. 25 Q: And she found that you took vacation time when you	1 outstanding, and exemplary performer, correct? 2 A: That's what it says. 3 Q: And the Court found that your subjective view of 4 your performance didn't overcome the perception of Tietex, 5 correct? 6 A: Yes, that's what it says. 7 Q: All right. If you look at page 4 of Exhibit 2. 8 Exhibit 13 is the February 9, 2007, memorandum. And you can 9 see that this first paragraph on page 4 deals with that 10 February 7, 2007, memo, can't you? 11 A: Yes. 12 Q: And, in fact, in the last line of that paragraph, 13 the Court references Exhibit 13, correct? 14 A: Yes. 15 Q: So the Court quoted the information in Exhibit 13 16 as fact, correct? 17 A: I mean, I'm not sure why they did this, but I 18 would say it appears to be that way. I'm not sure what they 19 consider fact or what. 20 Q: All right. 21 A: I'll agree to that if that's what you say. 22 Q: All right. Let's look down at the last paragraph 23 that starts out, "On February 22." Do you see that? 24 A: Yes. 25 Q: How about take a moment to read that to yourself.

1 was not telling the truth and could not be relied on. In 2 summary judgement, it's very important. If there's any 3 conflicts with whether someone is not telling the truth, 4 that comes in question. That's what that was all about. It 5 wasn't a matter of showing whether it happened in May of 6 February, it was about showing somebody not telling the 7 truth. 8 Q: Okay. 9 A: If he said this one time and he said that the 10 other time. 11 Q: Look back at the paragraph we looked at previously 12 on page 14 of Exhibit 2. 13 A: Okay. 14 Q: And you can see the citation in the middle of that 15 paragraph to Exhibits 16, 18, and 19. See that? 16 A: Yes. 17 Q: And then read the sentence to yourself that is 18 right before that citation to those exhibits. 19 (Reviewing document). 20 A: I think I've read what you asked me to. 21 Q: Okay. The Magistrate Judge found that Tietex had 22 legitimate reasons for terminating your employment based on 23 the employment deficiencies noted in Exhibits 16, 18, and 24 19, correct? 25 A: That's correct.	1 A: I do. 2 Q: You do. Who is that? 3 A: Ann Weaver. 4 Q: Who? 5 A: Ann Weaver. 6 Q: Who is she? 7 A: All I know her as is Ron Weaver's wife and both of 8 them worked at Tietex and they eventually got married. She 9 was Ann someone else. 10 Q: Does she still work at Tietex? 11 A: No. 12 Q: Where does she work now? 13 A: I don't know. 14 Q: Do you have any contact information on her? 15 A: No. 16 Q: Tell me what you claim Ann Weaver said. 17 A: She told me that there were things being said and 18 she thought I ought to know about them. And I didn't really 19 pursue it that much. She said, "I'm just going to tell you 20 that. There's been some things spread out there about you. 21 You need to know about them." And I said, "Do you think the 22 Tietex folks ..." She wasn't at Tietex then. I said, "Do 23 you think any of the sales folks at Tietex would know?" She 24 said, "It might be that. It might be that they would, they 25 should. They're apparently involved in it."
1 Q: And let's go to Exhibit 3 and go to the bottom of 2 page 3. 3 A: Okay. 4 Q: And look at page 3 through page 5. 5 (Reviewing document). 6 A: Okay. 7 Q: And the District Court in reviewing the evidence 8 and the Magistrate's Report found as fact that the 9 performance deficiencies cited by Tietex, which are listed 10 in the memoranda in Exhibits 16, 18, and 19 were true, 11 right? 12 A: Yeah, they concurred with the Magistrate Judge, 13 yes. 14 Q: Right. Okay. Now, let me invite your attention 15 to your claim about rumors in the industry. 16 A: Okay. 17 Q: Are you with me? And you claim it was reported to 18 you that a former Tietex employee who had previously worked 19 in sales for Tietex told you there were rumors about you in 20 the market, right? 21 A: Yes. 22 Q: And you don't recall the name of this former 23 Tietex sales employee? 24 A: Yes. 25 Q: Yes, you don't?	1 Q: Okay. Did Ann Weaver tell you what was being 2 said? 3 A: No. 4 Q: She just said generally there were rumors? 5 A: She said some bad — I don't remember exactly. 6 But it was obviously negative what she implied to me, or 7 actually said was that it was negative stuff, general stuff. 8 And I'm not the kind of person to start digging for details 9 and I didn't really pursue it with her. I didn't ask her 10 for much. 11 Q: When did you have this conversation with Ann 12 Weaver? 13 A: I don't remember. It would have been, obviously, 14 after I was terminated. And it could have been, I mean, 15 maybe somewhere there's some where I was asked this same 16 kind of a question, there may be some record when it was. 17 But my thinking right now just based purely on memory is 18 that it was probably in the fall of 2007. It could have 19 been 2008 sometime, but it wasn't that long, not that far 20 out from my termination. 21 Q: Where did the conversation with Ann Weaver take 22 place? 23 A: It would have been probably by telephone. 24 Q: Who called whom? 25 A: I do not recall the reason why I was talking with

1 her. There was several times we talked with each other, by 2 the way, because at that time I was trying to restart a 3 career and I knew Ann fairly closely. 4 Q: At the time of the conversation with you, who did 5 Ann Weaver work for? 6 A: I don't know. I don't remember. Oh, at the time. 7 Oh, you were saying now while ago. At the time, I believe 8 it's something like Clama, Lava, Clama. I know there's a 9 Lava and there's a Clama, but it was either Lava or Clama. 10 Q: If I set out to find Ann Weaver, where would I 11 start looking? 12 A: Probably go to Pam. I mean, if I were you, Pam, 13 I'm sure, she knows a lot of people who's worked at Tietex 14 and the sales folks. She could trace it down for you. I 15 mean, I'm being serious. 16 Q: When's the last time you talked to Ann Weaver? 17 A: Probably three years. Let me see. At least three 18 years ago. 19 Q: When did it occur to you that Ann Weaver was the 20 person who reported these rumors in the industry? 21 A: That she reported them? 22 Q: Yes. 23 A: In other words, saying when did we first talk? 24 Q: No, no. When I took your deposition in the 25 Federal case, I asked you who it was that told you about	1 time, I would not have told you. There's absolutely no 2 reason why I wouldn't have mentioned that. So, you know, 3 I'd need to go do some digging now to figure out when I 4 first learned it was Ann Weaver. 5 Q: At the time you had the conversation ... 6 A: But I ... I'm sorry. 7 Q: At the time you had the conversation with Ann 8 Weaver, what was she doing? What was her job? 9 A: She was in sales, mattress fabric sales. 10 Q: But you're not sure of the name of her employer? 11 A: Not right now, no, absolutely not. That's been, 12 like I said, three plus years since I talked with her. 13 Q: Okay. As a result of Ann Weaver telling you about 14 rumors in the market, you telephoned Tietex employee Jimmy 15 Fleming who worked in Tietex's color shop? 16 A: No. At that time Jimmy Fleming was in sales when 17 I made the phone call. 18 Q: Look at page 216 of your deposition, line 13. 19 A: Okay. 20 Q: "Question: Tell me who Jimmy Fleming is. 21 Answer: He's a young fellow that was working in 22 the color shop, just various jobs in the color 23 shop ..." 24 Is that ... 25 A: Yes. Please, can I ask you to read the rest of it
1 these rumors and you said you didn't know. 2 A: Well, maybe I didn't at the time. I was still in 3 a lot of — If I told you that, I meant it. 4 Q: And I'm asking you now when did it occur to you 5 that it was Ann Weaver? 6 A: Well, I know it was Ann Weaver. I mean, it didn't 7 occur to me. I know it and it's just a matter of when did 8 it happen. Did it happen before July of 2009 or after? But 9 at the time, if I in fact said what you said I said there, I 10 meant it. If I'd have known it was Ann Weaver when you 11 asked me the question, you would have gotten her name. 12 There's no reason not to give it to you. 13 Q: Look at page 217 of your deposition. 14 A: Okay. 15 Q: All right. We'll just start at the top. This is 16 part of your answer. 17 "— and I'm not 100 percent sure about the person 18 that told me, but they did work at Tietex and 19 they're out in the sales force, and they said they 20 had heard a rumor about me out in the market. 21 Question: You don't know the name of this person? 22 Answer: The one that alerted me first, I don't 23 recall." 24 A: Well, I'll just tell you right now, there's 25 absolutely no reason had I known it was Ann Weaver at that	1 and you'll see what I'm talking about. 2 Q: "... right before I left there he ended up getting 3 some sort of a degree from, I don't know if it was 4 a community college or what but once he got that 5 he was given a job in ticking sales, working in 6 the sales marketing area for ticking fabrics. 7 Fairly young fellow." 8 A: Yes. 9 Q: So where did he work? 10 A: He was in sales at the point in time I was 11 terminated and he was going into sales pretty much right 12 about that time. So by the time I was calling him on the 13 phone whenever it was later, he was actually out there in 14 the sales force. And I knew Jimmy. He and I had a fairly 15 close relationship. 16 Q: Okay. As a result of your conversation with Ann 17 Weaver, you called Jimmy Fleming? 18 A: I called him because I had his cell phone number 19 and I knew him and I knew he would tell me the truth. 20 Q: Is it true that you called him as a result of your 21 conversation with Ann Weaver? 22 A: Yes. 23 Q: And Jimmy Fleming told you that a ticking 24 manufacturer's representative in Texas asked him if it were 25 true your employment had been terminated for preparing a

Page 121 1 false testing report. 2 A: Yes. 3 Q: And you don't know the name of the person who 4 allegedly asked Fleming if your employment had been 5 terminated at Tietex for falsifying test results, do you? 6 A: I do not and did not pursue getting it. I 7 intentionally did not pursue getting that information. 8 Q: And you don't know for what company that person 9 worked? 10 A: I do not. I can't sit here and say I know exactly 11 where the person works. But it was like a knowing without 12 knowing. I just didn't bother pursuing it. I didn't, for a 13 lot of reasons, I didn't want to start opening a can of 14 worms and digging in and scaring people off and all that. I 15 had all I needed and wanted. 16 Q: You've never spoken to this unknown person? 17 A: Not at this time, no. 18 Q: Do you know what Jimmy Fleming told this unknown 19 person about whether Tietex had terminated your employment 20 for falsifying test results? 21 A: I cannot sit here and say that we brought that up. 22 The only thing I can remember about ... 23 Q: Is the answer yes or no? Do you know what Jimmy 24 Fleming told him in answer to his questions? 25 A: No.	Page 123 1 Q: All right. Well, back when you gave your 2 deposition in the Federal case, you said that you thought 3 that Fleming said Kenny Parrish was present. 4 A: And I think it today. You know, I mean, just 5 simply saying ... 6 Q: What evidence do you have that Parrish was there? 7 A: Based on what Jimmy Fleming told me. 8 Q: Did you ever talk to Kenny Parrish? 9 A: Not specifically about that. 10 Q: Now, when do you claim this conversation occurred? 11 A: I can't, because I'm not sure. I'm just simply 12 saying, obviously, it had to have been after I was 13 terminated. And if we were putting out a guess, it would have 14 ranged some time between the fall of 2007 on up into 15 possibly some time in 2008. 16 Q: Could it have been summer of 2007? 17 A: No, it had to have been after I was terminated to 18 have made sense that I would have been told all this in a 19 phone call and then that Ann Weaver would have called me or 20 I called her, whatever, that we talked. Because at the time 21 we talked, I was actually trying to restart a career. 22 Q: So just so we're clear, I'm talking about when 23 Jimmy Fleming's conversation with the ticking manufacturer's 24 representative occurred. Do you know when that was? 25 A: No.
Page 122 1 Q: Now go ahead. 2 A: He did, I don't know if I asked him this, I 3 probably did. Was there anyone else there that heard that 4 from Tietex? And he said Kenny Parrish knew about it. So 5 both he and Kenny Parrish knew about it. 6 Q: Did he say definitely that Kenny Parrish was 7 present? 8 A: Yes. They were together. In fact --- Well, let 9 me just say, I gathered from what we discussed in that phone 10 conversation that Kenny Parrish was with him that particular 11 moment when that occurred. 12 Q: All right. Turn with me to page 217 of your 13 deposition. 14 A: Okay. 15 Q: Line 22. 16 "Question: And you don't know the name of this 17 person that was talking to Fleming? 18 Answer: No, I do not. He would if he remembers. 19 And anyway it was, and anyway once I was told what 20 I was told, and I asked him if anybody else was 21 there and I think he mentioned that Kenny Parrish, 22 who worked at Tietex at the time was also present 23 there on that particular assignment." 24 A: I mean, I agree that you've read what I'm reading, 25 yeah.	Page 124 1 Q: And you don't have any evidence that any 2 representative of Tietex made any statements to this unknown 3 named ticking manufacturer representative about you, do you? 4 A: Not at this time, no. 5 Q: Do you have any evidence that any representative 6 of Tietex made any statement to anyone in the industry about 7 the reasons for your termination? 8 A: Only that I have evidence, not evidence but --- 9 Well, I guess you could call it evidence that may have 10 occurred, but to say that I have evidence that absolutely 11 that occurred, I don't. 12 Q: Now, when you refer to your ban from the premises 13 on July 3, 2007, you're talking about Wade Wallace 14 suspending you until he returned from vacation, correct? 15 A: Yes. 16 Q: And I think you said earlier you were suspended 17 with pay. 18 A: That's what happened. 19 Q: And that was on the day, that suspension was on 20 the day that you had told Mr. Wallace you were going to be 21 working at Hexion, correct? 22 A: That was the day that I was going to be doing work 23 at Hexion, July 3. 24 Q: And Wade Wallace telephoned you on July 3 to learn 25 where you had been because he had information that you were

1 not at Hexion, right? 2 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 3 A: I will say yes, but I'd like to add something to 4 that. In real life when this happened, and this is my 5 speaking today when I know a lot more than I knew in 2009. 6 I've forgotten information, obviously, with the passage of 7 time, but I've also been able to become less subjective to 8 the matter. And it's pretty clear to me today that what 9 happened on July 3 was that Wade Wallace expected, based on 10 our miscommunication, my thinking that he was going on 11 vacation on, leaving the last day being the 6th, and his 12 knowing that it was the 3rd and assuming I knew that, he 13 expected me back in there with information from Hexion 14 toward the end of the day on the 3rd. And I have no problem 15 with understanding that he wanted me back in there so he 16 could terminate me before he went on vacation. And so what 17 happened, everything is calm. None of this other stuff 18 that's in these reports about July 3 that he said happened. 19 Later after the fact, he's trying to make it look like I 20 disappeared for the whole day. But, actually, he did not 21 get alarmed at all about anything on July 3 until George 22 Henderson showed up between 4 and 4:30 with sulfuric acid. 23 And then, and I can just imagine that Mr. Wallace is 24 thinking, he'll be back in here by 5 o'clock and we'll take 25 care of things. And all at once he gets notice that somehow	1 other than you and Wallace, right? 2 A: On our phone call? 3 Q: Yeah. 4 A: That's correct. 5 Q: And it was during that call that Wallace told you 6 you were suspended, correct? 7 A: That's correct. 8 Q: Do you know if Wade Wallace told anyone at Tietex 9 that you were suspended? 10 A: I don't know that for a fact, but based on what 11 happened later, at some point he told some other people I 12 would learn later. 13 Q: Do you know if Wade Wallace told anyone outside of 14 Tietex that you were suspended? 15 A: I later learned from the Textile Rubber plant 16 manager that he had passed that information along. 17 Q: Textile Rubber plant manager. Who is that? 18 A: In Charlotte. I can't recall his name right now, 19 but he's the guy that headed it up at the time. 20 Q: And he's in Charlotte? 21 A: Yes. And it was reported to me that Wade Wallace 22 had told him. I was actually still involved with Textile 23 Rubber and he called and told them I was suspended. 24 Q: Who reported that to you? 25 A: I'd have to look. I think it may have -- I
1 somehow George Henderson has come by with something for me 2 and then, of course, that's when everything starts, after 4 3 o'clock. Up until then, he had no reason to be not calm and 4 ready to do whatever he was going to do. So that really got 5 him highly concerned that, man, he's not going to be around 6 here for me today. So he starts doing all this stuff. He 7 calls me like 4 whatever, 4:40 or whatever, and gets me on 8 the phone. My cell phone has been on all afternoon. He 9 calls me and he says, "Gary, will you come to my office?" 10 And I said, "Wade, I'm not there." I said, "I'm on my way 11 to Hexion to pick up some acid." Then he flew off the 12 handle like he can do and started, "What do you mean you're 13 not here," and all this. And he said, "I tell you what, I'm 14 putting you on suspension and I don't want you back in here 15 until I'm back from vacation." And there may have been a 16 few more little comments in there thrown in. He asked me to 17 explain something but he flew off the handle. And then we 18 were on the phone and I was driving going out kind of, I 19 guess, where you could get cut off. And then the next thing 20 you know, we don't have a connection. But, anyway, that was 21 the phone call. That was the essence of the phone call that 22 was made to me. 23 Q: In this telephone call that you described between 24 you and Wade Wallace on July 3 where Wallace telephone you 25 to find out where you had been, no one was on the phone	1 don't know. It may have been George Henderson. Because 2 George had a very close relationship with them and George 3 was working with me. I was directed to go to Textile Rubber 4 by Wade Wallace and, ultimately, George Henderson got 5 involved with me because he sold some of the key products to 6 Textile Rubber that I needed to change over to for my 7 successful formula. In going to Textile Rubber, another 8 story, I had to totally try to reformulate because they only 9 had certain ingredients they would use. And I believe it 10 was George Henderson that ultimately let me know of that 11 phone call. I'm trying to think of the guy's name as we 12 speak. But he was telling me that this guy told, had been 13 called by Wade Wallace and told this information. 14 Q: What information do you have to establish that 15 Wade Wallace told this unknown named person from Textile 16 Rubber that you had been suspended? 17 A: Well, I would have, somewhere I would have 18 knowledge or access to the actual person. I'm just saying 19 today, I believe it was George Henderson. It's logical 20 based on the connections I had with Textile Rubber and who 21 all was involved. 22 Q: You believe that George Henderson told you that 23 this unknown named Textile Rubber person told Henderson that 24 Wade Wallace had told the person from Textile Rubber that 25 you had been suspended?

1 A: Yes. I've got the name now if you want it. Les 2 Davis. Is that okay? Les Davis, Textile Rubber. 3 Q: It was true that you had been suspended. 4 A: That's true. 5 Q: Do you have any information that Wade Wallace told 6 Les Davis at Textile Rubber anything other than the bare 7 fact that you had been suspended? 8 A: The only information I have is like second hand 9 what George Henderson told me. And as far as giving you any 10 details on what George told me, I don't know exactly. I'm 11 just saying the essence of it was that Wade Wallace told Les 12 Davis that you had been suspended or something to that 13 effect. That's based on memory. And I cannot sit here and 14 give you details on that. 15 Q: That's what you remember? 16 A: That's what I remember, yes. 17 Q: Do you have any evidence or information that 18 anyone outside of Tietex other than Les Davis and George 19 Henderson knew you had been suspended? 20 A: Well, all of my connections knew I had been 21 suspended. 22 Q: I'm sorry? 23 A: The people that I knew that I spoke with 24 frequently or dealt with, they knew I had been suspended. 25 Q: Is that because you told them?	1 A: I'm sure I do, but I cannot, I mean, I'm not in a 2 position today to start naming specifics, but I'm absolutely 3 sure of that that I do. 4 Q: Do you have any new witnesses or documents to 5 support your contention that the statements made in your 6 performance reviews and warnings were not true? 7 A: When you say "new," other than what you already 8 have? 9 Q: Yeah. 10 A: I would say yes to that. 11 Q: Who and what? 12 A: Well, just the first thing that comes to mind is 13 I've got an affidavit that's been taken but never, I mean, 14 been done but never been used. 15 Q: From whom? 16 A: I've got one from Van Johnson. 17 Q: Have you given that to your lawyer? 18 A: This is very recent. I haven't had an 19 opportunity. This was just done recently. 20 Q: So you claim you've got an affidavit from Van 21 Johnson that you haven't given to your lawyer? 22 A: I've got an affidavit from Van Johnson and I 23 haven't, I have not yet given it. It's just fairly recent. 24 And, also, I haven't made a decision to use it or not. I'll 25 be glad to give it to him and do whatever, but at this point
1 A: Partly and who knows. I think there's probably 2 situations, I'd have to go back and dig, but situations 3 where people were aware, even more so than the suspension, 4 was being banned from the lab as far as that kind of thing 5 being a negative matter for me. Once I was banned from the 6 lab, and that was something that was learned, and all the 7 people that I dealt with out in the industry started shying 8 away from me and didn't want to have anything to do with me, 9 in essence, because ultimately they were looking out after 10 themselves and their business and they felt like I was a 11 negative. 12 Q: Okay. Is it fair to say that you disagree with 13 the statements that Wade Wallace made in the memoranda that 14 we've been examining about your performance? 15 A: Totally. I totally disagree with what he said 16 about my performance. 17 Q: And your disagreement is based on your own 18 subjective view of how you performed, correct? 19 A: No. No. It's based on my view, my objective view 20 as a manager and my understanding of Wade Wallace as a non- 21 technical person and not having a clue about how someone 22 technical is supposed to do things. 23 Q: All right. Since you gave your deposition in your 24 Federal lawsuit, have you any additional information 25 supporting your view that your performance was adequate?	1 in time, it's been something, I really haven't even 2 discussed it with him much, you know. I've mentioned a few 3 things ... 4 MR. LAZENBY: Don't go into what we discussed. 5 A: Okay. I'm just saying — Okay. I'm just saying 6 that I've got an affidavit. It was done. There's nothing 7 wrong with it, and it may or may not come into play. 8 Q: Who else do you have affidavits from? 9 A: As far as not being given to my representation, I 10 don't know of, right now I'm not sure that I have any, any 11 more. I mean, I say that by saying I know there's 12 affidavits, but I'm not sure which ones I have, which ones 13 I've decided to use, which ones I've turned over. As far as 14 I know, the one from Van Johnson is so recent and all. When 15 I say recent, it hasn't been that long ago. I don't 16 remember the date on it, but it was the most recent one and 17 I just haven't — For reasons I cannot go into here, I 18 haven't decided whether I want to even use it or not. 19 Q: Where is this affidavit? 20 A: Probably at the house. 21 Q: Is it in your automobile? 22 A: It wouldn't be. 23 Q: I'm sorry? 24 A: It wouldn't be in my automobile. 25 Q: What does it say?

1 Q: Anybody else? 2 MR. LAZENBY: Larry what? 3 A: Starkey. 4 Q: Lisa Boaz who works, I don't know where she works 5 now. I believe she's with another chemical company. 6 Q: Anybody else? 7 A: Where I'm having to produce actual names, you 8 know, I mean, formal names, I don't have any more names 9 right now. There are definitely a couple of other areas 10 that I believe if I had the names, I would give them to 11 you. 12 Q: Have you talked to Larry Starkey about what he 13 knows? 14 A: Across the board, I have not, and this is mostly 15 intentional, I have not pursued getting details from the 16 folks once I had what I wanted or near about. 17 Q: Mr. Harris, have you talked to Larry Starkey about 18 what he knows about the alleged defamatory rumors, yes or 19 no? 20 A: No. I have talked with Larry Starkey, though, but 21 not about what you said. I want to qualify that. 22 Q: Have you talked to Jerry Daniels about the 23 allegedly defamatory rumors? 24 A: No. 25 Q: Have you talked to Lisa Boaz about the allegedly	1 Q: You state in response to Interrogatory 12, 2 "Clearly by legal definition, all written correspondence by 3 Wallace referenced in 9 or 10 were published. The Plaintiff 4 relies on the legal definition." What's the legal 5 definition of published in the context of a defamation case? 6 A: Well, at the point in time this was written, I was 7 representing myself and it's been more than a year ago and 8 there's no way I can sit here and even come close. 9 Q: Is your answer I don't know? 10 A: My answer right now would be a don't remember. 11 Obviously, that information was pertinent at the time I did 12 that. 13 Q: How does the definition of published apply to 14 documents that are circulated within a business to a limited 15 number of managerial employees? 16 MR. LAZENBY: I'm going to object to the form of 17 the question. 18 A: I'm not going to speculate on that. But it was 19 very clear, as I say. 20 Q: Is your answer you don't know? 21 A: My answer is I don't remember. 22 (Defendant's Exhibit 6 was marked for identification). 23 Q: You recognize Defendant's Exhibit 6 dated June 14, 24 1994, as the Offer Letter that you received from Tietex? 25 A: Yes.

1 defamatory rumors? 2 A: That's a broad question. Again, I'm just going to 3 say no because I haven't gotten into details where to me, to 4 answer your question with a yes, but I haven't gotten into 5 some significant details. 6 Q: You have Exhibit 8 before you? 7 A: Yes. 8 Q: Turn to your Answer to Interrogatory 12. It's on 9 the 19th page. You didn't bother to number the pages, so it 10 may be somewhat difficult for you to find, but it's closer 11 to the back than it is to the front. 12 MR. LAZENBY: Did you say what number it responds 13 to? 14 Q: Twelve. 15 A: Okay. I guess that's it. 16 Q: You got it? 17 A: Yes. 18 Q: It doesn't look like it to me. 19 A: Okay. Maybe it's the wrong one. 20 Q: First of all, do you have Exhibit 8? 21 A: Yes. You said 19? 22 Q: Twelve. 23 A: Oh, 12. I'm sorry. You said 19th page and at 24 what number. Okay, I was just looking for Item 19. I got 25 you.	1 (Defendant's Exhibit 7 was marked for identification). 2 Q: And do you recognize Exhibit 7 as an Intake Form 3 for when you first started to work at Tietex that's dated 4 July 13, 1994? 5 A: Yes. 6 Q: And it says your service date is July 13, 1994, 7 right? 8 A: Yes. 9 Q: Take your deposition, please, and turn to page 60. 10 A: Okay. 11 Q: Line 3. 12 A: Okay. 13 Q: "Now, if you will look, please, at Exhibit 6, the 14 second page, which is Bates Numbered 229 ..." 15 A: Okay. 16 Q: So that's the same document you have before you 17 now, which is Bates Numbered 229. 18 "Do you see the bold underlined language ..." 19 A: Yes. 20 Q: "... that's two paragraphs above Mr. Woodward's 21 signature?" 22 A: Yes. 23 Q: "Answer: Yes." 24 A: Yes. 25 Q: "It says, This letter summarizes our offer.

I can't cite them or anything, 16 but I knew they were like written warning, verbal 17 warnings, and then written warnings and then 18 termination. I knew that was in there. 19 Question: All right. Well, it would be fair to
1 whenever, correct? 2 Answer: Yes." 3 A: Yes. 4 Q: Line 22, page 61, middle of the line. 5 "... but you didn't have any kind of written 6 Contract of Employment when you were hired, did 7 you? 8 Answer: Nothing formal that I know of." 9 25, that's the last line on page 61, the middle of the 10 line. 11 "... during the time that you worked for Tietex, 12 nobody ever gave you a written Contract of 13 Employment to sign, did they? 14 Answer: No." 15 Q: Do you have any information today that you didn't 16 have in July 2009 that would change your answers from when 17 you gave this deposition? 18 A: I don't know if it's represented in here, but my 19 answer then, I would have probably tried to steer in the 20 direction of the promises that were made to me which led to 21 my taking the job in the first place. 22 Q: Would your answers to these specific questions be 23 different today? 24 A: No. 25 Q: Let's look at page 63, line 15.	1 say then, that you don't know what policies in the handbook 2 that you would contend today created a Contract of 3 Employment? 4 Answer: Yeah, I don't really feel like I could 5 answer that question, so I'll just say I don't 6 know the answer. 7 Question: You don't know. It's fair. Look, you 8 can say yes, you can say no, you can say yes and 9 no and qualify it, and you can say I don't know. 10 Answer: I'll say I don't know then. 11 Question: So you don't know what in the Handbook 12 that you would base your contract claims on? 13 Answer: I don't know, I mean, I've got my 14 thinking but I don't think it's, again, I don't 15 think it's — The answer would be, no, I'm not 16 sure. No, I'm not able to put my finger on 17 something right now, but I have my thinking on it. 18 I don't know. 19 Question: Okay. Now, there is a breach of 20 contract claim in your Complaint which we just 21 talked about. Then there is a second claim that's 22 breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent 23 act. What do you claim that Tietex did that was 24 fraudulent? 25 Answer: I'm not exactly sure where that is right

1 now. I'll say I'm not sure right now." 2 Did I read that correctly? 3 A: Yes. 4 MR. LAZENBY: I just want to object to the form, 5 that there were several objections in within there that you 6 skipped over. 7 Q: That's fine. I skipped over them. I confess. 8 MR. LAZENBY: Well, it is what it is. 9 Q: The document speaks for itself. 10 MR. LAZENBY: Right. 11 Q: Would your answers to those questions that I just 12 read to you be any different today than they were in 2009 13 when you gave those answers? 14 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 15 A: In essence, in other words, the actual being what 16 I would say would probably be essentially the same. 17 Q: You were never bullied when you worked for Tietex, 18 were you? 19 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 20 A: Well, you've got to get into the definition. But 21 the closest thing I would ever, I mean, obviously — well, 22 not obviously, but the way I was treated by everyone else at 23 Tietex in that area was pretty what you would expect. But I 24 would certainly look at what Wade Wallace did to me and the 25 way he did it. In the position that he was in because he	1 bullied, I will definitely say yes without question. 2 Q: All right. How do you claim you were bullied? 3 A: Anytime, like on February 7, when he had the 4 opportunity with nobody else around, he was two different 5 people in private with me versus out in the middle. Mr. 6 nice guy out in the public and all this. Behind closed 7 doors, different ball game. The threats and the threatening 8 tone of voice. You know, I cannot recall all the language 9 and the way it was said and the tone of voice. It was just 10 incredibly abusive. And then in the final analysis, you 11 know, the end of it would always be get your act in order or 12 we'll find another chemist to hire. In essence, that would 13 be the kind of, those kind of encounters would end up with 14 that kind of a comment. 15 Q: So these were threats that you were going to get 16 fired if you didn't do your job? 17 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 18 A: I mean, as to the reason for them, that was the 19 way they came off to me. As to the reason behind them, I 20 can't sit here and say what his motives were. 21 Q: All right. Were all the threats threats about 22 what was going to happen to you if you didn't do your job? 23 A: Yes or no, no. 24 Q: No? 25 A: My answer to that question the way you asked it is
1 had control over me, was bullying me around, you know, 2 because he could or whatever. 3 Q: You claim you were bullied when you worked at 4 Tietex by Wade Wallace? 5 A: If you want to call it that. I think we've got to 6 get into what that means. But I'm not going to expand on 7 what we first said and then convert it into, yes, I was 8 bullied. Because without knowing what we are talking about 9 in terms of definition. I was pushed around and shown high 10 disrespect. Treated like an animal. If had to put it in 11 terms, I was treated like an animal. 12 Q: Mr. Harris, how about turn to Exhibit 5, page 8. 13 A: Okay. 14 Q: Paragraph 44. This is your claim. "Defendant 15 employee agents, with full knowledge and forethought, using 16 their position of power and authority over Plaintiff, sought 17 to bully Plaintiff to achieve their own ends, knowing the 18 emotional damage they would and did inflict upon Plaintiff." 19 So that's your claim. 20 A: Now, are you reading 45? 21 Q: 44. 22 A: I'm sorry. I mean, I think it's well written. 23 Q: You claim you were bullied by Wade Wallace? 24 A: If we're not going to do a definition, yes. In 25 other words, I'm leaving to my interpretation of being	1 no. 2 Q: All right. What were the other threats other than 3 threats that you were going to get fired if you didn't do 4 your job? 5 A: Well, again, you're getting in if you didn't do 6 your job, which, I mean, how broad is that. It had to do 7 with things like specifics like getting those assignments 8 done. That would be one of them. I cannot sit here — 9 I'm just going to stop right now and say that to sit here 10 and just throw stuff out that happens to come to mind. 11 There were other, there were other things said other than 12 get those assignments done or you're out of here type 13 thing. 14 Q: As we sit here today, can you relate any of them? 15 A: Relate? 16 Q: Yeah, tell me any of them, any of the threats that 17 Wallace made other than threats that you were going to get 18 terminated if you didn't do your job. 19 A: It wasn't so much the wordage as it was — That 20 was important and it was abusive, but it was his mannerisms. 21 Q: All right. Don't characterize as abusive, tell me 22 what was said. 23 A: I'm not going to — I can get that information, 24 but I'm not going to sit here today and guess exactly and 25 bring back something very important.

1 Q: Where are you going to get that information? 2 A: I would have it somewhere. 3 Q: What do you mean? 4 A: I'm sure with all the stuff I've got, that 5 somewhere along the way, we would have that. Probably from 6 previous testimony. 7 Q: Do you have any documents you haven't given to 8 your lawyer? 9 A: Not that I consider — Other than that affidavit 10 that could be important. I'm not aware of anything right 11 now. Now, there's plenty of documents I haven't given him 12 that at this point in time I don't consider part of the case 13 going forward. They could become that. See, when Mr. 14 Wallace banned me and the term I used, confiscated by four 15 filing cabinets and a bunch of boxes in both desks, it was 16 three months before I got probably half of what I had in 17 those back and it was all personal. So I did have 18 documents. So I do have documents, in other words. 19 Q: All right. Is it true that today you can't tell 20 me about any threat that Wade Wallace made to you other 21 than a threat that you were going to lose your job if you 22 didn't do the projects that he assigned correctly and on 23 time? 24 A: Well, I can give you an in essence account of it. 25 Do you want me to give you an essence what he said to me or	1 another chemist." He walks out and slams the door. 2 Q: And you claim that's an ... 3 A: That's, in essence, what happened. 4 Q: And you are giving that as an illustration of 5 being bullied by Wade Wallace and you claim that happened on 6 February 7, 2009, correct? 7 A: That kind of thing, exact kind of thing happened 8 on the 7th. 9 Q: All right. And that's recorded, at least Mr. 10 Wallace's opinion of how the conversation went, is recorded 11 in Exhibit 13, which is dated February 9, 2007, correct? 12 A: Yes. 13 Q: Is that the only incidence of bullying that you 14 have? 15 A: Without thinking back of the whole scenario that 16 spring, I would have to rate March 5 and what happened there 17 as in the same category. 18 Q: And the conversation on March 5 was recorded in 19 the memorandum marked Exhibit 16, correct? 20 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 21 A: Yes. 22 Q: Correct? 23 A: Yes. 24 Q: You're going to have to answer verbally so she can 25 take it down.
1 just — I can't sit here and verbatim and tell you what he 2 said. 3 Q: Tell me the best you can. 4 A: He comes into the office and says, "Mr. Harris." 5 And this is in essence, okay. These are not word for 6 word. 7 Q: Is this on February 7? 8 A: This is on February 7. This is that particular 9 day. 10 Q: I'm sorry? 11 A: This is that particular day. It's not March 5, 12 which is another day, it's February. And he comes in and, 13 basically, wants to know, "How you doing? Have you done 14 those two projects you were supposed to get that I wanted 15 you to get for I believe it was Jake Butts and get them to 16 him?" And I said, "No, Wade. In fact, I just, I've been 17 working on this, I've been working on that, all these other 18 things that I need to do and you've wanted me to do and all 19 that." "What do you mean you haven't got those? What do 20 you think this is around here?" He said, "I'm getting tired 21 of this. How long is it going to be before you get those? 22 You know, we're going get tired of this kind of crazy 23 thing." I'm not going to throw in the profanity. And then, 24 "I'll tell you what, you better have those and you better 25 have those by Friday or we're going to be looking for	1 A: I'm sorry? 2 Q: You have to answer verbally so she can take it 3 down. 4 A: Oh, okay. Yes. I'm sorry. 5 Q: Tell me why you claim that the conversation that 6 you had with Wade Wallace on March 5, 2009, was bullying of 7 you by Mr. Wallace? 8 A: First I would say that it was probably more 9 intimidation than bullying. I consider bullying as much 10 stronger and harsh and unnecessary. And I think it was 11 toned down because of the presence of David Wilson. There 12 was certainly not this arrogant, high level arrogant 13 threatening like tone of voice and all that. The things 14 that were said there was I'm sitting in there. Mr. Wilson 15 was sitting away and I was sitting across from Wade, and Mr. 16 Wilson was off to the side. And he starts in with all these 17 things in a very boastful manner and arrogant, really 18 arrogant tone of voice about all these things that I've not 19 done. And I'm sitting there and I can't believe it. First 20 of all, as I said earlier, I was half sick with the flu or 21 something. And I'm sitting there and just, you know, I 22 mean, what's going on here? And I actually looked over for 23 Mr. Wilson as if I wanted, you know, are you kidding me? 24 Can I have some help? And I think, I don't remember any 25 comments, but I think I made some comments to Mr. Wilson

1 about this. In the final analysis, after all of that, my 2 comment was, "Wade, would you do me a favor? You're telling 3 me this is stuff I've done and I need to shape up on. Would 4 you please send me an e-mail so I can be sure to know what I 5 need to do to correct it." He said, "Be glad to." But 6 before I said that to him, he had already said, "You've got 7 30 days to shape up or we're going to be looking for another 8 chemist." And it was done in a tone of voice that was 9 pretty hateful. 10 Q: The entire conversation on March 5, 2009, occurred 11 in the presence of David Wilson and it was all work related, 12 correct? 13 A: It was, what he told me I had to do was work 14 related. 15 Q: Correct. 16 A: Well, it had to do with my job. It had to do with 17 what he, not my job directly, but my character, conducting 18 myself properly and all that. It had to do with my job in 19 general, if that's what you mean. 20 Q: Are there any other incidents of bullying other 21 than the incident that you related that you claim happened 22 on February 7 and the incident on March 5, 2009? 23 A: The whole spring, once all that happened and a 24 long the way the entire spring, I mean, you can look back at 25 everything you've got and you'll see that there's a lot that	1 that's recorded in Exhibit 19 that you claim is bullying. 2 A: Again, it was more his tone of voice and yelling 3 type tone of voice. And, you know, "I'm banning you from, 4 I'm banning you from Tietex property until I get back from 5 my vacation." And, you know, that is one thing to say, but 6 to scream it and just really in the questions he's asking, 7 asking them in a hateful manner. Just very disrespectful. 8 Q: And all of this conversation on July 3 that you 9 claim was evidence of bullying arose from his inquiries 10 about where you had been that day, correct? 11 A: No. I'll say no to that and say it really arose 12 from the fact I was not in the plant. 13 Q: That's what really ticked him off. And he 14 thought, he said, "Gary, you come to my office." And then, 15 "What do you mean you're not here?" And then na, na, na. I 16 said, "Well, wait a minute. Wait a minute." And I started 17 trying to tell him what's happened. I'd been to Hexion and 18 this happened. I'm trying to get the project done that he 19 wanted done so I can get the information to him Thursday, on 20 and on and on. And it's somewhere along the way I'm the one 21 that throws in all this quick talk and everything and 22 explanation trying to explain, that I throw in where I've 23 been. So it's after I've said all that that he, you know, 24 says I'm banning you from Tietex. In a hateful, very 25 hateful way, "I'm banning you from Tietex property. I do
1 didn't happen. For some reason, there's nothing, not a 2 whole lot showing up in April and May. But I do remember, 3 and I cannot here today sit here and tell you dates or 4 anything, but I do remember there was a time or two after 5 all that and before June 18 that there was an encounter or 6 two but I cannot sit here today and give you dates or 7 information on it. 8 Q: So the only two events that you can tell me about 9 today that were incidents of bullying occurred on February 10 7, 2009, and March 5, 2009. Is that correct? 11 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 12 A: Maybe we can throw in July 3. 13 MR. LAZENBY: I think you said 2009. Did you mean 14 2007? 15 Q: I said 2007? 16 MR. LAZENBY: You said 2009. 17 Q: I meant 2007. Thank you. I wrote 2009. So the 18 only two events I asked you about were February 7, 2007, and 19 March 5, 2007, and your response was, "Well, we can throw in 20 July 3." 21 A: Yeah, I would consider what he did when he called 22 on the phone totally unnecessary and uncalled for. And he 23 really got carried away when he found out I was not there in 24 the plant. 25 Q: Tell me what Mr. Wallace said to you on July 3	1 not want you back on the property until I'm back from my 2 vacation." Something to that effect. 3 Q: You've given me three incidents of bullying. The 4 incident that you claim occurred on February 7, which is 5 recorded in Exhibit 13; the incident that occurred on March 6 5, 2007, which is also recorded in one of the exhibits; and 7 the incident on July 3, 2009, which is recorded in Exhibit 8 19. Any other incidences that you claim were bullying? 9 A: Not at this moment I don't have any to offer. 10 Q: And the March 5 was Exhibit 16. Now, with respect 11 to February 7, 2007, where did this alleged bullying occur? 12 A: In a small little, I always describe it as a 13 little dungeon like office in the very back of the Tietex 14 main plant facility, just right off of the Compounding 15 Department. 16 Q: And the only folks present were you and Mr. 17 Wallace? 18 A: In that room. 19 Q: Was somebody nearby? 20 A: Ricky Miller would have been outside the door 21 there somewhere working. 22 Q: Any information that Miller heard the exchange 23 between you and Wallace? 24 A: Not to my knowledge. 25 Q: After your meeting with Mr. Wallace in February of

March 14, 2013

1 2007, did you discuss the event with anybody?
2 A: While I was still employed?
3 Q: Yeah.
4 A: That probably, I can't — Let me just say that,
5 as I've said before and it's in other documentation, I went
6 to see David Wilson early on after something like February 7
7 happened and that could have, that could actually have 8 predated, preceded anything that happened regarding the 9 March 5 meeting and the resulting memo. But at some point I
10 met with — If I had to say, I met with David Wilson after 11 that February 7 encounter and that was when I was told by 12 him, I mean, I went to him because what happened was 13 uncalled for. I mean, it was gross. And at one point early
14 on when I was in with Wade Wallace, I went to David Wilson
15 to just say, "Look, you know, this is not necessary. I
16 mean, I'm a human being. You know, I want to be treated
17 like one." And in essence what he told me was, and I
18 realized then I could forget it. There was no help.
19 Something was up. He says to me, in essence again, I don't 20 remember exactly the wordage. But he said, basically, "You
21 know, I'd advise you to go, just go do your job and keep 22 your mouth shut if you want to keep your job." Something to 23 that effect is what David Wilson told me.
24 Q: Did you complain about the conversation in 25 February with Wade Wallace to anyone other than Mr. Wilson?

Page 158

1 A: I don't think so. I don't recall that.
2 Q: Did you receive any medical treatment as a result
3 of this conversation with Wade Wallace in February of 2007?
4 A: I would think not. If I may, the answer is no to 5 that. But I will say this about at the point in time this 6 happened and, actually, when it did happen, before this 7 February 7 incident actually took place, there was a
8 tremendous change that came over me regarding the job
9 situation. It was like I went from hoping things would be 10 corrected at Tietex, mainly by the ownership. I went from 11 hoping that, you know, this guy's going to right the ship
12 and things are going to be what they need to be. There was 13 a lot of negative went on there for years and it hurt the 14 Company. So I'm waiting, it's like I'm going down this 15 rapid river or something approaching a waterfall and I'm 16 hoping something happens before I go over the waterfall.
17 Well, when I was demoted and put under Wade Wallace, I went 18 over the waterfall. And, in essence, it was almost like a 19 relief that, you know, it's like you could quit wondering 20 now, you know what's going to happen. You don't have to 21 worry about what's going to happen anymore. And so as far
22 as any doctor visits and all that — The important thing
23 there is this as far as that medication. Just to answer
24 your question about medicine. The second time around with a 25 sleep bout, I realized what was causing it and was able to

Page 159

1 resolve that issue. And I found out it had to do with 2 medication. As far as trying to address the stress and all
3 that, the medication only made it worse.
4 Q: With respect to the March 5, 2007, encounter with 5 Mr. Wallace, that occurred in Mr. Wilson's office?
6 A: March 5 was in Mr. Wilson's office.
7 Q: Was anybody else present?
8 A: No.
9 Q: Did you complain to anyone about that meeting and 10 the resulting memo which is Exhibit 16?
11 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form.
12 A: I don't recall. I mean, I cannot recall that.
13 Q: Did you discuss that meeting with Mr. Wallace and 14 Mr. Wilson with anyone who had not been present at the 15 meeting?
16 A: I don't recall, no. I mean, I'd have to answer
17 no, I don't recall.
18 Q: Did you get any medical treatment as a result of 19 your March 5, 2007, meeting with Mr. Wilson and Mr. Wallace?
20 A: I would say no and for the same reasons, I would 21 not have. In late '06 I swore off of ever going back on any 22 kind of medication for helping stress and sleep and there's 23 no way I'd ever go back there.
24 Q: And with respect to the July 3, 2009, phone call,
25 you already said that ...

Page 160

1 A: July 7. I mean, I'm sorry, 2007?
2 Q: Yes. Thank you. You already said that the only
3 two on the line were you and Mr. Wallace, right?
4 A: Yes.
5 Q: Did you complain to anyone about how Mr. Wallace
6 spoke to you during that telephone conversation?
7 A: I never had a chance.
8 Q: Did you get any medical treatment as a result of 9 that telephone call?
10 A: No.
11 Q: All right. Now, your Complaint also claims that 12 you were intimidated. Would your evidence or is your 13 evidence of intimidation any different from that which you
14 have given me about being bullied?
15 A: I just put a tone, a tremendous tone of, I don't 16 want to use that word here on the recording, but it was just 17 an incredible arrogance that existed that I would call what 18 you're saying.
19 Q: Listen to my question. I'm going to let you tell
20 me whatever it is you want to tell me, but there's no sense
21 in me having you repeat if the evidence is the same. And 22 I'm just asking if the evidence of what you claim was 23 intimidation is the same evidence that you just gave me
24 about being bullied? If it's the same say yes. If it's 25 different, tell me what's different.

1 A: No. 2 Q: You never had any traps set for you when you 3 worked at Tietex, did you? 4 MR. LAZENBY: Object to the form. 5 A: Yes. 6 Q: What? 7 A: All those memos, the whole, the whole 8 conglomeration or whatever you want to call it, that whole 9 accumulation of all that we've gone over was, in essence, a 10 trap to get me out the door for cause if I didn't leave 11 because of being treated like a dog. You know, we'll treat 12 him like a dog and, hopefully, he'll just quit and get out 13 of here. If he doesn't, we'll create cause along the way. 14 It's as clear as a bell the cause created by the policy 15 manual policies. So I would call that a trap. You know, 16 this is the way we're going to do it. 17 Q: So you would say that your employment was 18 terminated for pretextual reasons, right? 19 A: Yes. 20 Q: And you claim that was a trap? 21 A: Yes. 22 Q: You were never undermined when you worked at 23 Tietex, were you? 24 A: Yes. I mean, that's a very broad term. Yes, I 25 was undermined.	1 suggest if you, I want to get you involved because we've got 2 to have something to them by next Friday. This was like the 3 end of one week. We had a week to work on it. So in the 4 final analysis, by Tuesday I had fabric in Sealy's hands for 5 evaluation. I believe it was Sealy. It might have been 6 Serta. And they highly approved of the new product. And by 7 Friday we had production on the way to them. And I was 8 working through, I believe it was Dennis St. Louis who 9 handled that account and he was reporting back to me. And 10 he said, "They love it. It looks great." Anyway, in the 11 final analysis — See, these were the kind of things 12 Martin Wildeman never knew about as to who got credit for 13 what. But one year later, approximately, in a meeting — 14 And I didn't go out racing flags and this saved an account. 15 And one year later in a meeting, Jake Butts, he and Gene 16 Pannell take credit for it. That's what I'm talking about. 17 That happened frequently. 18 Q: Any other incidents of Jake Butts or Gene Pannell 19 undermining you by taking credit for your work? 20 A: There's another one. You don't want to hear this 21 surely. 22 Q: If it's an issue in this lawsuit, I want to hear 23 about it. If it's not an issue in this lawsuit, I don't. 24 A: Well, I mean, I don't see it as a significant 25 issue except it just points to the way Tietex was managed
1 Q: How? 2 A: Various people taking credit for things I did. 3 Q: Who? 4 A: Jake Butts, Gene Pannell, David Westbrooks. 5 Q: Who was the second name? 6 A: Gene Pannell. 7 Q: How do you spell that? 8 A: Pannell. 9 Q: How did Jake Butts take credit for what you did 10 that undermined you? 11 A: Well, let's see, where do we go with that. 12 There's a number of possibilities that would apply. One 13 would be where there was a, Tietex was in a tremendous bind 14 with Sealy and had been threatened that they would lose 15 business if they didn't have a solution to a skidding issue 16 where the one-sided mattresses were too easily sliding on 17 the box springs when they were constructed by I believe it 18 was Sealy. And it was just something that Sealy had been 19 trying to get Tietex to correct for the better part of the 20 year. And Gene Pannell and Jake Butts were working on it. 21 I hadn't been involved in that project. I was called in one 22 day and it was right on top of receiving an ultimatum from 23 Sealy. Jake Butts told me the story. He said Gene Pannell 24 and Mel Flynn had been working on this for close to a year 25 and they've made a little progress, but not a lot. I	1 and the owner not being involved, but you're just asking me 2 to tell you. 3 Q: I'm asking you for any evidence that you have that 4 you were undermined. And you said you were undermined by 5 these people taking credit for your work. 6 A: Okay. This one I believe would have to do with 7 the lawsuit because it involves Wade Wallace. While I was 8 reporting to Wade Wallace, the manager of purchasing, Paul 9 Gam I believe is his name or whatever. But David Westbrooks 10 had gone to him, to Paul, and had this form filled out that 11 I needed to sign to approve purchase of a chemical. And 12 Paul, he gave it to Paul to give to me to sign. I was the 13 person that approved chemicals. And when Paul gave it to 14 me, I refused to sign it because I knew Tietex could buy 15 that product for half the price from the original 16 manufacturer. I knew that the person that David Westbrooks 17 was trying to buy it from actually purchased it from over 18 here and put another label on it and upped the price. And I 19 told Paul that. And later, I'm reporting to Wade Wallace, 20 Wade brings it up. And he says, "Are you going to sign 21 that?" He said, "They're wanting to purchase that 22 chemical." And I told Wade the story. I said, "Wade, I 23 can't do that in all good conscious." I said, "It's not 24 right for the Company when I know we can get the product 25 over here that's made over here at this other company for

Things like I need for you to move down in 4 the plant. 5 Q: Did you ever hear your ... 6 MR. SUGGS: Pardon me a minute. I want to make 7 sure I understand. March, April, and May of what year? 8 Q: 2006 9 MR. SUGGS: 2006, okay. 10 Q: Did you ever hear your superiors discussing the 11 amount of medical bills that Tietex had to pay because of 12 your wife? 13 A: I never heard that discussed. 14 Q: Did you see a memo to that effect? 15 A: No, I don't recall seeing a memo. But I do recall 16 somewhere along the way, and without remembering exactly, 17 Jake Butts seemed to be very much interested in that area. 18 Q: Did you get the impression that your wife's 19 medical bills was a reason for them trying to get rid of 20 you? 21 MR. SUGGS: I object to the impression. 22 A: I would say that being an older employee with an 23 older spouse that, generally, that was a take on the way 24 things were going at Tietex, I would think that anything 25 like that that would enable a company to cut costs would be	Page 219 1 he raise his voice? 2 A: I would say there were times when he raised his 3 voice. Again, there was another person in there and he was 4 more controlled than he would have been had we been alone. 5 Q: I'm sorry, I meant to go in chronological order 6 and start with February 7. On February 7 when y'all were 7 alone, did he raise his voice? 8 A: Big time. 9 Q: How would you characterize it? 10 A: Just what I did earlier where, I guess, gave an 11 example in essence of what came out of him. 12 Q: Would you characterize it as yelling at you? 13 A: Oh, absolutely. 14 Q: Screaming at you? 15 A: Yelling, screaming, just all over me. 16 Q: Did he use profanity? 17 A: I don't recall that specifically. I won't say he 18 did not, because at the time it was happening, I wasn't 19 trying to figure out is he cursing me or not. I don't 20 recall the wordage except I know what he was saying and the 21 essence of what he was saying. But for me to throw a curse 22 word in would probably be acceptable as to what I believe 23 happened. 24 Q: Was that the first time that he had ever yelled 25 at you?
Page 218 1 a consideration. I mean, if you look at, just real quickly, 2 what I did early on in my career enabled Tietex to hire more 3 employees. It created business. 4 Q: I just want to talk about this ... 5 A: That's what I'm going to get to. What was 6 happening then in the time frame you're talking about was 7 causing Tietex --- Things like eliminating employees in 8 order to report a profit. Just purely getting rid of 9 employees off a machine so processing improvement could 10 say, "Look how much money we saved the company." Those kind 11 of things which would include, you know, getting rid of 12 people because of high medical bills if they're potentially 13 going to cause the company, were all the kinds of things 14 that were done. Not that they were the right thing to do 15 for the Company, but it was so somebody could make it look 16 like the Company was doing better than it was. 17 Q: And you had stress and anxiety in 2006 caused by 18 your work that you sought medical treatment for? 19 MR. SUGGS: Object to the form, leading. 20 A: All of the issues that I had in 2006 that had to 21 do with going to the doctor I would relate specifically to 22 the way I was done in my job. 23 Q: I want to talk about your encounters with Wade 24 Wallace. I believe you mentioned there were three different 25 incidents, February 7, March 5, and July 3. On March 5, did	Page 220 1 A: Yes. 2 Q: Was that shocking to you? 3 MR. SUGGS: Object to the form, leading. 4 A: I mean, I had only been reporting to him for six 5 or seven days. 6 Q: I'm sorry, I didn't hear your answer. Was that 7 shocking to you? 8 MR. SUGGS: Leading. 9 A: Oh, it was a big surprise. It was incredibly. 10 I'd never in my life been done like that. 11 Q: That's what I was going to ask you next. Has 12 anybody at Tietex ever yelled at you before? 13 A: Not only not at Tietex, I'd never been treated 14 like that by anyone anywhere and even my parents in my 15 entire life. 16 Q: Have you ever yelled at any of your employees? 17 A: Never. 18 Q: Is yelling at an employee at work something that 19 you would consider acceptable at Tietex? 20 A: I wouldn't consider it acceptable anywhere. 21 Q: Do you think Tietex would consider it acceptable? 22 A: At the time, I mean, I would characterize Tietex, 23 In all the places I've ever worked, as very unprofessional, 24 very mismanaged, and a place that probably should have been 25 shut down because of the laws that were broken.

1 Q: And still, no one had ever yelled at you before
2 Mr. Wallace?
3 A: Never, nowhere.
4 Q: I think you mentioned that he also slammed the 5 door.
6 MR. SUGGS: Object to the form, leading.
7 Q: Did he slam the door?
8 A: I think he did. I mean, I'm trying to remember
9 that particular day. Yeah, I think he went out and slammed
10 the door.
11 Q: Did he do anything else during the meeting or 12 during the incident that was physical in nature?
13 A: Not like, you know, like threatened with his fist 14 or something? No, he would never. I don't think he would 15 have done that.
16 Q: So did you feel physically intimidated? Did he 17 ever stand up?
18 MR. SUGGS: Objection, leading.
19 A: I never felt physically intimidated by Wade
20 Wallace. It was a matter of, I mean, if I'd wanted to like 21 have a physical battle with Wade Wallace and that was the 22 only issue, that would have never been an issue and I never 23 would have had no problem with it. It was a matter of,
24 actually, knowing I couldn't do that. You know, I've got 25 to take this. I've got to take this treatment. I can't

Page 222

1 jump the guy, I'd definitely be out the door. But that was 2 never an issue as far as his physically threatening me. He 3 would know better than that.
4 Q: Is there anything else about the mannerisms of the 5 incident that you haven't discussed here today?
6 A: As far as Wade Wallace?
7 Q: Yes.
8 A: There was something I was going to say that eludes
9 me right now. It's something we didn't get into while ago
10 but came up. You triggered it but I've lost it again.
11 Q: And did you complain to David Wilson about this 12 initial incident with Mr. Wallace?
13 A: As I've already testified earlier, I'll probably 14 just leave it at that. I believe I did and the response I
15 got was, you know, basically, I just needed to go do my job
16 and keep my mouth shut and everything would work out or I
17 might lose my job if I kept pushing stuff like that. I 18 don't know that there's anything else there. I think I've 19 already testified to that.
20 Q: Did you believe that was an acceptable response?
21 A: I just saw David Wilson as part of whatever was 22 going on and that I was like, I wasn't surprised necessarily 23 by it. David Wilson was new at Tietex. He was what he had 24 been told. He'd only been there since like 2005, '6, along 25 in that time frame, and he had no clue of what had gone on

Page 223

1 before that. So he came into a situation and I think he was 2 pretty well man handled and controlled as to the way he was 3 doing. That doesn't excuse it though.
4 Q: When were you banned from the lab building?
5 MR. SUGGS: Object to the form, leading.
6 A: I was banned from the lab building pretty much the 7 day I started reporting to Wade Wallace on February 1, 2007.
8 Q: What was the reason given to you for why you were 9 banned from the lab building?
10 A: My health.
11 Q: Do you believe that to be truthful?
12 A: I know it's not truthful.
13 Q: What do you believe the reason was for being 14 banned from the lab?
15 A: So I couldn't, in essence, so I couldn't really do
16 the work. It was just a nice little opening that for that 17 to take place and this stuff on the surface looked 18 reasonable. Yeah, we can do that and make it very difficult
19 for him. But it was really to put me in a situation where I
20 would have a very difficult time getting work done.
21 Q: Tell me about the, I want to talk about the C237
22 compound. But let me ask a specific question. How did it
23 come about the issue of your trying to develop a less costly
24 version of that?
25 A: I was actually in the technical building one day

Page 224

1 and Mark Wildeman came in and came to me and told me, in
2 essence, he opened with, "Gary, we've got a serious problem
3 and I want to ask for your help." And he went on to tell
4 me Tietex had good business in the C237 type fabrics
5 programs and there were others other than C237. He said,
6 "We've got really good business." He said, "But we're not 7 making any money and we've got competition coming at us with 8 lower prices and we simply cannot lower prices."
9 Q: C237 is a fire retardant?
10 A: It's a fire retardant fabric for the mattress
11 industry.
12 Q: And how was Tietex obtaining C237?
13 A: The product consisted of a fabric made by Tietex
14 that was back coated with a compound that came from Novion.
15 And together that was, once that compound was back coated 16 onto the fabric, that was the final product that after 17 inspection and all would ultimately go to the customer.
18 Q: Did you tell upper management that you could 19 develop a similar compound?
20 A: What I was asked. I mean, I did not go out and in 21 any way shape or form broadcast that, "Hey, look, we're 22 paying too much money. I can do better for us." That was 23 the way things were presented at one time before. But the 24 essence of it was Martin Wildeman came to me and asked me
25 that question. "Is there any way ..." After he did the

1 Q: I want to ask about your vacation time. In 2 general, did you have to ask for vacation time in advance? 3 A: Generally, that would be the thing to do and I 4 always tried to do that. But like, just like the chain of 5 command thing, the vacation thing. Tietex was a very 6 different company in terms of lax. 7 Q: Let me just ask you this question. When did you 8 put in for vacation for June 25? 9 A: I sent an e-mail on like a Saturday. Something 10 came up that had to do with some problems at the house 11 primarily with some rotting wood and windows and work I had 12 started that I needed to complete. It would have been on a 13 Saturday morning before that Monday. 14 Q: So you requested on Saturday to have vacation 15 approved for the 25th? 16 A: Yes. 17 Q: I'm sorry, Saturday, for vacation to be approved 18 that following Monday? 19 A: Yeah. 20 Q: And did you ask for a week and then did you also 21 ask for July 2 and 3 at that time? 22 A: I didn't include that in the e-mail. On Monday, I 23 believe it was the following Monday, I called Wade to be 24 sure it was okay. And then he said, "Well, while I'm at it, 25 I'd like to go ahead and add July 2 and 3 to that.	1 place and in my final days there, which was Reed Cunningham, 2 he relied on them. You go to him and you've got a problem, 3 "Well, as long as Reed Cunningham is okay with it, I'm okay 4 with it." He was out of the loop. He pretty much what he 5 knew was what he was told by those that were, you know, he 6 had his ears. 7 Q: Finally, you last gave a deposition over three 8 years ago in the summer of 2009 and you've been asked 9 questions about everything. But in general, has your view 10 of this lawsuit changed in the last three years? 11 A: It has. Back in 2009, well, there's pros and 12 cons. The negative is that with the passage of time, there 13 are definitely some things that I lost feel for and lost 14 memory of. But at the same time, I've gained some 15 information and my, back when Mr. Suggs was asking me 16 questions in July of 2009, purely due to the what I would 17 call subjectivity, it was difficult to answer some of those 18 questions objectively because of the subjectivity. Today 19 versus then, I would say that -- Well, let me just put the 20 statement like this. If I thought there was any doubt about 21 my claim wasn't legitimate and all this in 2009, that doubt 22 is no longer there. I mean, what I thought may have 23 happened, today I know happened. To be able, it's like the 24 projects I worked on to solve a problem, and I've mentioned 25 this before, the only really what I believe to be a decent
1 Q: This is Monday the 25th, you asked Wallace if you 2 could have the 2nd and 3rd? 3 A: Based on what I remember, yes. 4 Q: And was that approved? 5 A: Yes. 6 Q: Did it have to be approved in writing or how was 7 that done? 8 A: Typical. I mean, like I said, the Tietex was very 9 loosely run in those areas, especially for people that were 10 in management. If you needed a vacation, I was told, well, 11 you know, it's pretty open. If you need a day of vacation 12 and you've got vacation coming, if you need it tomorrow, all 13 you've got to do is ask. And if it's not a problem, you can 14 have it. 15 Q: Was Tietex open during the week of July 4? 16 A: Tietex was down. As far as I know, they were down 17 for one day, that was the 4th, Wednesday. 18 Q: The rest of the week they were open? 19 A: Yes. 20 Q: How was Mr. Martin Wildeman involved in the 21 management of Tietex when you were there? 22 A: I think he probably spent more time in the lab 23 piddling around with little things and trying to figure out 24 this, you know, invent things by far and away than he did 25 actually running the company. He relied on whoever was in	1 talent I have is to take a few facts and come up with an 2 answer, a solution that's pretty decent and pretty reliable 3 and pretty accurate. And I think I know exactly what 4 happened from, you know, 2007 in February right on up until 5 July, I mean, and the reasons for it. 6 Q: And have you told us all that here today? 7 A: I think we've pretty well touched on most of it. 8 MR. LAZENBY: Okay. All right. Thank you very 9 much. Those are all the questions I have. 10 MR. SUGGS: I have a statement for the record. I 11 demand immediate production of the Van Johnson Affidavit so 12 that we can evaluate it and determine quickly whether we 13 need to reopen this, the deposition. 14 MR. LAZENBY: I'll certainly consult with my 15 client and obtain any document and determine whether it's 16 subject to production and let you know as soon as possible. 17 MR. SUGGS: Well, if it's a statement, we've asked 18 for it a long time ago. 19 MR. LAZENBY: I'll look at it and see if it's 20 subject to being produced. 21 22 23 24 (There being no further questions, 25 the deposition adjourned 5:08 p.m.)

Per our conversation, I'd like to document the discussion I had with Gary Harris on Wed 2/7/07.

Gary called me mid afternoon on Wed and stated that at that moment his personal and emotional problems had overwhelmed him and he was confused, disoriented, and could not function. He did not know what to do. I immediately went out to his office to discuss his problem in person. He explained that his personal life over the last year has made him so fragile emotionally that sometimes he has episodes like the one he was experiencing. As we talked he felt better and mentioned that the project work I had assigned him would be help keep his mind off his personal problems.

I took that opportunity to remind Gary that Tietex is committed to our employees well being and that at any time we would support him if he felt he needed to utilize EAP. He said that that was not necessary and that he could work through it. I also asked him to be open with me if in any case this personal problem interfered with his ability to perform his job as we would need to sit down with HR to find a resolution.

When I left him he assured me that he was OK and thanked me for my support and patience.

Subject: Gary Harris' Transition

During the last thirty days as Gary Harris has transitioned into his new role, several issues relating to his work have been identified. In the best interest of Tietex and Gary, these issues were discussed with him today so that he can improve upon them. Here are the points we discussed.

- He becomes emotional and overly vocal over a problem before researching the situation and makes statements and accusations without research or data.
- He is not honoring the chain of command by informing senior management with complaints and problems before covering them with his immediate manager.
- He harbors negativity over past grievances with management and continues to be negative towards the current management culture.
- He complains about his ownership of environmental reporting.

As we discussed these issues are not sustainable and it is mandatory that Gary make significant progress towards resolving these issues within the next 30 days.

Subject: Gary Harris Work Performance

During the last ninety days some issues relating to Gary Harris' project work have been identified. In the best interest of Tietex and Gary, these issues were discussed with him today so that he can improve upon them. Here are the points we discussed.

Of Gary's multiple duties two projects were identified ninety days ago as priorities and he was instructed to give them his most thorough and diligent focus. The first project was the development and qualification of a Tietex coating compound formula as a replacement for the current coating used on C237. Gary actually began work on this project prior to his reporting to me. His lab coating work began in December 2006 so the project has been ongoing for over six months. The second project was to develop a finish formula change and process to enable T602 to be finished with the parabolic applicator instead of a pad application. The project was assigned and work began ninety days ago.

Although the first project has been on going for six months no significant progress has been made toward completion. This project was initiated solely by Gary and he convinced senior management that it was completely feasible in order to gain support. He committed to developing a compound that would cost between $0.60 and $0.62 per pound verses the current product which cost $0.885 per pound. Despite months of lab work in house and at four different chemical supplier locations and numerous production trials he has been unsuccessful in creating a viable product. The formulation which Gary developed has proven to be much more complicated to reproduce commercially than initially promised. Gary exercised poor judgement by making claims and commitments that he could not deliver. This project was included in corporate financial improvement goals. Due to the failure of this project I have personally had to begin parallel project work with other suppliers to develop a suitable replacement to achieve the financial commitment of the project.

The scope of the second project to develop a finish formula and process for parabolic application of T602 was a technical challenge. However, Gary informed me that lab samples were promising and recommended a production trial. Although I was not presented the actual numerical results of the first production trial Gary assured me that the results were comparable to the current product. From this I approved a scale up run for statistical qualification. The second trial, as well as a third were unsuccessful. These subsequent failures concerned me and I personally recalled samples from the first trial that Gary assured me was a success. I witnessed them being tested and found that the product from that initial trial did not perform comparable. By this I can conclude that Gary did not conduct adequate scientific and numerical analysis of the first trial. This negligence was costly in that two subsequent production trials could have avoided. In addition, this negligence in applying the proper scientific analysis is unacceptable in the work of a Sr. Research Chemist.

TIETEX - SC

Obviously the two issues regarding the C237 project failure and poor analytical practices demonstrated in the T602 project are not sustainable. It is mandatory that Gary make significant progress towards resolving the problems with the C237 project and improving on his analytical practices within the next 30 days.

Subject: Gary Harris Work Performance

Despite efforts to counsel Gary Harris we continue to have issues with his work practices and performance. These issues are listed in the following paragraphs. On this basis I am recommending that we terminate his employment immediately.

In February 2007 he was reprimanded for the following issues:

- He becomes emotional and overly vocal over a problem before researching the situation and makes statements and accusations without research or data.
- He is not honoring the chain of command by informing senior management with complaints and problems before covering them with his immediate manager.
- He harbors negativity over past grievances with management and continues to be negative towards the current management culture.
- He complains about his ownership of environmental reporting.

With the exception of the environmental reporting he continues to have these issues.

In April 2007 he was instructed not to come in and work in the chemical lab areas at nights or on weekends for safety reasons. Gate records and management observation indicate that he has continued to do this.

In June 2007 he was reprimanded for the two following issues and given a thirty-day deadline for resolution. It was made completely clear that failure to complete this task and resolve this issue would jeopardize his employment.

- Failure to complete the project to replace the current C237 coating compound with formula of his design.
- Not conducting and reporting adequate scientific and numerical analysis to substantiate lab and plant trials.

He has not demonstrated any effort to complete the C237 project. Despite the deadline to complete the project within four weeks he took two vacation days the first week, five the second week, and was planning to take five days the fourth week. This would have accounted for more than 50% absenteeism during this time and no effort to complete the project as instructed. None of these days were approved in advance. He left messages the day of the vacation without any

000019

advance notice despite my request that he have them pre-approved. In addition he has not submitted to me any scientific data on any of his other projects.

I recently found out that also in June that Gary missed an important trip to visit a customer and did not inform me. He was scheduled to fly to Indiana on June 14 to visit with United Shade and return on June 15. On the way there he suffered a headache and returned to SC a day early and did not see the customer. He never informed me of this and while I thought he was in Indiana.

In July 2007, prior to the end of his thirty-day deadline several more issues have arisen.

- Only July 3, 2007 he did not show up for work and left me a message that he would be at Hexion in Greenville all day. He did not get permission for this trip. Later I found out directly from the Hexion representative that he did not show up. Although he did see another supplier in Greenville briefly, he has no been able to adequately account to me his whereabouts for the entire day.
- Also on this day he instructed the Hexion representative to deliver sulfuric acid to him at the plant without an MSDS. This is in direct violation of company policy.

In the last three months he has also demonstrated other poor work habits that are affecting his work performance.

- Does not return calls or emails consistently. His co-workers consistently complain of this as it affects their ability to complete their tasks that are contingent on his work.
- Does not keep consistent work hours and often cannot be physically located at the facility. Gate entries indicate an erratic pattern of coming and going that is not approved in advance.

In light of the continued problems with Gary's work practices and performance I am recommending that we terminate his employment at Tietex. Gary has been counseled about these issues, but at this point I have lost confidence in his ability to perform his job in a satisfactory manner.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

C. A. No.: 2011-CP-42-4538

DEFENDANT TIETEX'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER PROHIBITING OR LIMITING ANY FURTHER DEPOSITION OF TIETEX'S EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT WADE WALLACE

COMES NOW Defendant Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), pursuant to South Carolina Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c), and requests that the Court enter a Protective Order precluding Plaintiff from continuing the deposition of a Tietex representative, Wade Wallace, who has been deposed on two separate occasions for twelve (12) hours on the same issues. Tietex shows as follows in support of its motion:

1. Plaintiff Gary G. Harris ("Harris") originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008—C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action").

2. Harris asserted claims against Tietex in the First Action alleging (1) violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), (2) breach of contract, (3) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (4) defamation.

3. All of Harris' claims in the First Action concerned his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

4. Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris' assertion of the federal ADEA claim.

5. Both parties engaged in thorough discovery in the First Action upon removal to federal court, including Harris taking the deposition of Tietex Representative Wade Wallace on December 23, 2009, for four (4) hours.

6. After the completion of discovery in federal court, Tietex moved for summary judgment with respect to all of Harris' claims.

7. On October 28, 2010, the Federal Court granted Tietex's motion on Harris' ADEA claims and chose not to address Harris' remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice.

8. Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action") on October 21, 2011, relying on the same factual allegations he made in the First Action.

9. Harris amended his Complaint in the Second Action. The Amended Complaint alleges identical claims as those alleged in the First Action (except his ADEA claim) and adds a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress.

10. Identical to the First Action, all of Harris' claims in the Second Action arise from his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

11. Notwithstanding that Harris has already taken Mr. Wallace's deposition in the First Action for four (4) hours on the same facts on which Harris now relies in the Second Action, and that Harris deposed Wallace for eight (8) hours on Wednesday, June 12, Harris wants to continue to depose Wallace for an indefinite period of time without limitation.

12. Rule 26(c), SCRCP, permits the Court to "make any order which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden by expense, including . . . (1) that the discovery not be had."

13. Tietex requests that the Court exercise its power under Rule 26(c) and enter a Protective Order prohibiting Harris from continuing to depose Mr. Wallace. There is nothing on the face of the Amended Complaint in the Second Action suggesting that Mr. Wallace would have discoverable information not already provided in his four (4)-hour deposition in the First Action or his eight (8)-hour deposition on Wednesday, June 12.

WHEREFORE, Tietex requests that the Court enter a Protective Order directing that Mr. Wallace's deposition noticed for June 12, 2013, be deemed complete and prohibiting Harris from continuing to depose Mr. Wallace.

Dated this 13th day of June, 2013.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

C. A. No.: 2011-CP-42-4538

DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO STAY DISCOVERY PENDING RULING ON DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

COMES NOW Defendant Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), and requests that the Court enter an Order staying further discovery in this action pending a ruling on Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment. Tietex shows as follows in support of its motion:

1. Plaintiff Gary G. Harris ("Harris") originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008—C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action").
2. Harris asserted claims against Tietex in the First Action alleging (1) violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), (2) breach of contract, (3) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (4) defamation.
3. All of Harris' claims in the First Action concerned his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.
4. Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris' assertion of the federal ADEA claim.
5. Both parties engaged in thorough discovery in the First Action upon removal to federal court.

6. After the completion of discovery in federal court, Tietex moved for summary judgment with respect to all of Harris' claims.

7. On October 28, 2010, the Federal Court granted Tietex's motion on Harris' ADEA claims and chose not to address Harris' remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice.

8. On May 26, 2011, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit affirmed the award of summary judgment in Tietex's favor.

9. On October 21, 2011, Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action"), relying on the same factual allegations he made in the First Action.

10. On March 8, 2012, Harris's current counsel entered his appearance.

11. On August 10, 2012, the Court granted Harris's motion to amend his Complaint.

12. On September 5, 2012, Harris amended his Complaint in the Second Action. The Amended Complaint alleges identical claims as those alleged in the First Action (except his ADEA claim) and adds a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress.

13. Identical to the First Action, all of Harris' claims in the Second Action arise from his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

14. On January 11, 2013, Tietex moved for a protective order prohibiting Harris from taking the deposition of a Tietex representative (Wade Wallace) whom Harris had already deposed in the First Action.

15. On January 14, 2013, Harris moved for a protective order prohibiting Tietex from taking Harris' deposition in the Second Action.

16. On February 4, 2013, The Honorable J. Derham Cole held a hearing on the cross motions for protective orders and denied both motions. Judge Cole specifically directed both parties not to “re-plow the same ground” as was covered in the depositions in the First Action.

17. On March 14, 2013, Tietex took Harris’ deposition in the Second Action, focusing the examination on whether Harris possessed any new evidence to support his claims. Harris’ testimony made clear that the Second Action is nothing more than an attempt to re-litigate the same issues on which the Federal Court already ruled in the First Action, under the guise of state law claims rather than the federal ADEA claim.

18. On May 1, 2013, Tietex filed its Motion for Summary Judgment in the Second Action. Tietex’s Motion for Summary Judgment relies heavily on the doctrine of collateral estoppel, as the Federal Court has already reached and issued clear conclusions of fact and law regarding the very issues that Harris is attempting to re-litigate in the Second Action.

19. On June 12, 2013, Harris took Mr. Wallace’s deposition in the Second Action for eight (8) hours and left the deposition open. Notwithstanding Judge Cole’s directions at the hearing on February 4, 2013, the entire eight (8) hours of examination consisted of “re-plowing the same ground” as Mr. Wallace’s deposition in the First Action.

20. On June 13, 2013, Tietex moved for a protective order prohibiting Harris from continuing Mr. Wallace’s deposition in the Second Action. The Honorable Roger L. Couch entered an Order on the same day in which he limited the continuation of Mr. Wallace’s deposition to a maximum of four (4) additional hours.

21. On June 25, 2013, Harris completed Mr. Wallace’s deposition in the Second Action, continuing to “re-plow the same ground” that was already covered in Mr. Wallace’s deposition in the First Action.

22. After completing Mr. Wallace's deposition, Harris' counsel stated his intent to depose at least six additional individuals, purportedly as fact witnesses: (a) Martin Wildeman, Tietex's owner; (b) Reed Cunningham, Tietex's President; (c) David Wilson, Tietex's former Human Resources Director; (d) Timothy Mark Isbell, Tietex's former Vice President of Manufacturing; (e) Patricia Guzman, a former Tietex employee who absorbed portions of Harris' duties after his separation; and (f) George Henderson, an individual who was deposed in the First Action. Harris's counsel has already issued subpoenas to Mr. Isbell, Ms. Guzman, and Mr. Henderson for depositions to take place on August 1-2, 2013.

23. None of the witnesses Harris intends to depose can alter the undisputed facts on which Tietex relies in support of its Motion for Summary Judgment. Nearly all of the facts on which Tietex relies in its Motion for Summary Judgment come directly from the Federal Court's factual findings in the First Action (and are quoted verbatim from the Federal Court's Orders). All of these facts are conclusively determined and indisputable under the doctrine of collateral estoppel. See Pye v. Aycock, 325 S.C. 426, 436, 480 S.E.2d 455, 460 (Ct. App. 1997). The limited facts that do not come from the Federal Court's factual findings come directly from Harris' testimony and are equally indisputable.

24. Rather than unnecessarily waste the time and resources of the parties and numerous third-party witnesses that Harris intends to depose, Tietex seeks an Order staying further discovery pending a ruling on its Motion for Summary Judgment.

25. Rule 26(c), SCRCP, permits the Court to "make any order which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden by expense."

WHEREFORE, Tietex requests that the Court enter an Order quashing the deposition subpoenas that Harris has already served, staying any further discovery pending a ruling on Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment, and awarding any additional relief the court deems just and proper.

Dated this 2nd day of July, 2013.

MEMORANDUM SUPPORTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO STAY DISCOVERY
PENDING RULING ON DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT,
SUPPORTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER, AND
OPPOSING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF WITNESSES

COMES NOW Defendant Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), and submits this memorandum (1) in support of its Motion to Stay Discovery Pending Ruling on Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment ("Motion to Stay"), (2) in support of its Motion for Protective Order, and (3) in opposition to Plaintiff Gary G. Harris's ("Harris") Motion to Compel Production of Witnesses ("Motion to Compel").

On July 2, 2013, Tietex filed its Motion to Stay because none of the six (6) individuals Harris intends to depose can change the indisputable and conclusive findings of fact the Federal Court has already issued in nearly identical litigation between Harris and Tietex. The Federal Court's Orders preclude the existence of any genuine dispute of material fact in this matter, as an application of the Federal Court's findings to Harris's state law claims in this action makes clear that Harris' claims fail as a matter of law. Tietex's Motion to Stay should be granted to prevent the parties and third-party witnesses from incurring the unnecessary expense and burden associated with Harris's six (6) proposed depositions.

Should the Court grant Tietex's Motion to Stay, Tietex's Motion for Protective Order and Harris's Motion to Compel would become moot. If the Court denies Tietex's Motion to Stay, the Court should grant Tietex's Motion for Protective Order and deny Harris's Motion to Compel in accordance with the apex doctrine. Harris seeks permission to depose Tietex's Owner (Martin Wildeman) and President (Reed Cunningham). However, neither Mr. Wildeman nor Mr. Cunningham possesses any unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information. Accordingly, Harris should be prohibited from taking the depositions of Tietex's Owner and President and should be ordered to obtain the discovery he seeks through less intrusive methods. Alternatively, the duration of Mr. Wildeman's and Mr. Cunningham's depositions should be expressly limited to no more than 2 hours to ensure that Harris does not harass, annoy, or unduly burden Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham through an unnecessarily lengthy deposition.

A. Factual and Procedural Background.

Harris originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008—C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action"). Harris asserted claims against Tietex in the First Action alleging (1) violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), (2) breach of contract, (3) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (4) defamation. All of Harris' claims in the First Action concerned his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris' assertion of the federal ADEA claim. Both parties engaged in thorough discovery in the First Action upon removal to federal court. After the completion of discovery in federal court, Tietex moved for summary judgment with respect to all of Harris' claims. On October 28, 2010, the Federal Court granted Tietex's motion on Harris' ADEA claims and chose not to address Harris' remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice. On May 26, 2011, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit affirmed the award of summary judgment in Tietex's favor. On July 26, 2011, the Fourth Circuit denied Harris's petition for rehearing of his appeal.

On October 21, 2011, Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action"), relying on the same factual allegations he made in the First Action. On March 8, 2012, Harris's current counsel entered his appearance. On August 10, 2012, the Court granted Harris's motion to amend his Complaint. On September 5, 2012, Harris amended his Complaint in the Second Action. The Amended Complaint alleges identical claims as those alleged in the First Action (except his ADEA claim) and adds a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress. Identical to the First Action, all of Harris' claims in the Second Action arise from his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

On January 11, 2013, Tietex moved for a protective order prohibiting Harris from taking the deposition of a Tietex representative (Executive Vice President Wade Wallace) whom Harris had already deposed in the First Action. On January 14, 2013, Harris moved for a protective order prohibiting Tietex from taking Harris' deposition in the Second Action. On February 4, 2013, The Honorable J. Derham Cole held a hearing on the cross motions for protective orders and denied both motions. Judge Cole specifically directed both parties not to "re-plow the same ground" that was covered in the depositions in the First Action.

On March 14, 2013, Tietex deposed Harris in the Second Action, focusing the examination on whether Harris possessed any new evidence to support his claims. Harris' admissions made clear that the Second Action is nothing more than an attempt to re-litigate the same issues on which the Federal Court already ruled in the First Action, under the guise of state law claims rather than the federal ADEA claim.

On May 1, 2013, Tietex filed its Motion for Summary Judgment in the Second Action. Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment relies heavily on the doctrine of collateral estoppel, as the Federal Court has already reached and issued clear conclusions of fact and law regarding the very issues that Harris is attempting to re-litigate in the Second Action.

On June 12, 2013, Harris took Executive Vice President Wallace's deposition in the Second Action for eight (8) hours and left the deposition open. Notwithstanding Judge Cole's directions at the hearing on February 4, 2013, the entire eight (8) hours of examination consisted of "re-plowing the same ground" as Mr. Wallace's deposition in the First Action.

On June 13, 2013, Tietex moved for a protective order prohibiting Harris from continuing Mr. Wallace's deposition in the Second Action. The Honorable Roger L. Couch entered an Order on the same day in which he limited the continuation of Mr. Wallace's deposition to a maximum of four (4) additional hours. On June 25, 2013, Harris completed Mr. Wallace's deposition in the Second Action, continuing to "re-plow the same ground" that was already covered in Mr. Wallace's deposition in the First Action.

After completing Mr. Wallace's deposition, Harris' counsel stated his intent to depose at least six additional individuals, purportedly as fact witnesses: (a) Martin Wildeman, Tietex's Owner; (b) Reed Cunningham, Tietex's President; (c) David Wilson, Tietex's former Human Resources Director; (d) Timothy Mark Isbell, Tietex's former Vice President of Manufacturing; (e) Patricia Guzman, a former Tietex employee who absorbed portions of Harris' duties after his separation; and (f) George Henderson, an individual who was deposed in the First Action. Harris's counsel has issued subpoenas to Mr. Isbell, Ms. Guzman, and Mr. Henderson for depositions to take place on August 1-2, 2013. On July 9, 2013, Harris filed his Motion to Compel the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham. In conjunction with this memorandum, Tietex has filed its Motion for Protective Order and supporting Affidavits seeking to prohibit or expressly limit the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham.

B. Arguments and Authorities.

1. Tietex's Motion to Stay would Promote Judicial Efficiency and Convenience of the Parties and Third-Party Witnesses, as the Court can Rule on Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment in the Absence of the Depositions Harris Intends to Take.

None of the six witnesses Harris intends to depose can alter the undisputed facts on which Tietex relies in support of its Motion for Summary Judgment. Nearly all of the facts on which Tietex relies in its Motion for Summary Judgment come directly from the Federal Court's factual findings in the First Action and are quoted verbatim from the Federal Court's Orders. All of these facts are conclusively determined and indisputable under the doctrine of collateral estoppel. See Pye v. Aycock, 325 S.C. 426, 436, 480 S.E.2d 455, 460 (Ct. App. 1997). The limited facts that do not come from the Federal Court's factual findings come directly from Harris' sworn depositions and are equally indisputable.

The undisputed and conclusively determined facts on which Tietex relies fully equip the Court to rule upon Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment. Harris will not be prejudiced by a stay of discovery, as nothing in Harris's proposed discovery can alter the facts that already entitle Tietex to summary judgment. Those facts will remain the same no matter how many depositions Harris takes and no matter how much discovery he conducts. The stay that Tietex seeks would promote judicial efficiency and the convenience of the parties and third-party witnesses that Harris intends to depose. Rather than unnecessarily wasting the time and resources of the parties and numerous third-party witnesses by allowing Harris to continue "re-plowing old ground," Tietex's Motion to Stay should be granted.

2. If the Court Denies Tietex's Motion to Stay, Tietex's Motion for Protective Order Should be Granted and Harris's Motion to Compel Should be Denied under the Apex Doctrine.

Harris's Motion to Compel and Tietex's Motion for Protective Order would both be rendered moot if the Court grants Tietex's Motion to Stay. If the Court denies Tietex's Motion to Stay, the apex doctrine mandates that Tietex's Motion for Protective Order be granted based on Tietex's Owner (Mr. Wildeman) and President (Mr. Cunningham) lacking any unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information in this matter.

"The determination of whether to allow the deposition of a high-ranking corporate executive necessarily involves an examination of what some courts have termed the apex deposition rule." Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Sanders, 724 S.E.2d 353, 359 (W. Va. 2012). The rationale for and application of the apex doctrine is stated as follows:

"Recognizing that the highest positions within a juridical entity rarely have specialized and specific first-hand knowledge of matters at every level of the complex organization, courts have adopted the apex-deposition rule in the corporate context to (1) promote efficiency in the discovery process by requiring that before an apex officer is deposed it must be demonstrated that the officer has superior or unique personal knowledge of facts relevant to the litigation, and (2) prevent the use of depositions to annoy, harass, or unduly burden the parties. Of course, no court has applied the apex-deposition rule to hold that an apex or high-ranking corporate officer cannot be deposed under any circumstances. . . . Rather, courts have applied the rule to ensure that discovery is conducted in an efficient manner and that other methods of discovery have been attempted before the deposition of an apex officer is conducted. Moreover, those cases adopting the apex-deposition rule in the corporate context do not shift the burden of proof, but merely require the party seeking discovery to demonstrate that the proposed deponent has unique personal knowledge of the subject matter of the litigation and that other methods of discovery have not produced the desired information only after the party opposing discovery has moved for a protective order and has made a showing regarding the lack of the proposed deponent's personal knowledge and that other discovery methods could produce the required information. In other words, after the party opposing the deposition demonstrates by affidavit or other testimony that the proposed deponent lacks personal knowledge or unique or superior information relevant to the claims in issue, then the party seeking the deposition of the high-ranking corporate officer or public official must demonstrate that the relevant information cannot be obtained absent the disputed deposition.”

Id. at 359-60 (quoting Alberto v. Toyota Motor Corp., 796 N.W.2d 490, 495 (Mich. Ct. App. 2010) (internal citations omitted).

As Owner and President of Tietex, Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham are clearly “apex” or “high-ranking” corporate officers. The Affidavits of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham demonstrate that neither of them possesses unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information related to Harris’s claims. Harris’s Motion to Compel offers nothing concrete to dispute this fact, as it simply states in a vague and conclusory fashion that Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham allegedly “have detailed knowledge” regarding this matter. To satisfy the apex doctrine, Harris must come forward with specific information regarding the alleged need for Mr. Wildeman’s and Mr. Cunningham’s testimony in light of Mr. Wildeman’s and Mr. Cunningham’s Affidavits, and Harris must show why he cannot obtain the supposed information in the absence of their depositions.

The only discoverable information in Mr. Wildeman’s and Mr. Cunningham’s possession that relates to Harris’s claims involves Wade Wallace and Mark Isbell consulting with them and seeking their approval before terminating Harris’s employment. Mr. Wallace has already given 16 hours of deposition testimony in this litigation and the First Action, giving Harris more than ample opportunity to elicit testimony regarding Tietex’s reasons for terminating Harris’s employment. Thus, the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham would be duplicative and unnecessary with regard to the only discoverable information in their possession.

To the extent Harris is convinced that he somehow needs Mr. Wildeman's and/or Mr. Cunningham's explanation regarding Tietex's reasons for terminating Harris's employment—the only information he can reasonably obtain from them through discovery—Harris can elicit that information through less intrusive means than taking their depositions. For example, Harris can serve interrogatories on Tietex specifically requesting Mr. Wildeman's and/or Mr. Cunningham's explanation regarding Tietex's reason for terminating Harris's employment. This would comport with the rationale for the apex doctrine and protect Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham from the annoyance, harassment, and undue burden associated with appearing for an unnecessary deposition.

As an alternative to prohibiting the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham in their entirety, the Court should issue an Order expressly limiting the duration of the depositions. Based on Harris doing nothing more than re-plowing old ground during Mr. Wallace's deposition for 12 hours—after a specific direction from Judge Cole not to do so—Tietex is concerned that Harris would similarly attempt to annoy, harass, and subject Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham to undue burden by stretching their depositions beyond a reasonable time. The extremely limited scope of discoverable information in Mr. Wildeman's and Mr. Cunningham's possession dictates that anything more than 2 hours of deposition testimony would be unreasonable. A 2-hour limit would reduce the probability of Harris engaging in a "fishing expedition" and would further the purpose of Rule 26(c).

C. Conclusion.

Tietex's Motion to Stay should be granted because the undisputed and conclusively determined facts entitle Tietex to summary judgment, and no further discovery can alter those facts. Should the Court deny Tietex's Motion to Stay, Tietex's Motion for Protective Order should be granted (and Harris's Motion to Compel denied) based on the apex doctrine, with Harris' proposed depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham prohibited entirely or limited to a duration of no more than 2 hours.

C. A. No.: 2011-CP-42-4538

DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

COMES NOW Defendant Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), and requests that the Court enter a Protective Order prohibiting or expressly limiting Plaintiff Gary G. Harris' ("Harris") proposed depositions of Tietex's Owner (Martin Wildeman) and President (Reed Cunningham). Harris' Motion to Compel Production of Witnesses seeks an order compelling Tietex to produce Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham for depositions. However, Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham do not possess any unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information in this matter. Harris should be required to obtain the discovery he seeks through less intrusive methods in accordance with the apex doctrine. Alternatively, Harris' depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham should be limited to no more than two hours each based on their lack of unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information.

Tietex's Motion for Protective Order is supported by the pleadings on file (specifically including its Motion to Stay Discovery Pending Ruling on Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment), the Memorandum in support of this Motion that is filed contemporaneously, and the Affidavits of Martin Wildeman and Reed Cunningham that are attached.

WHEREFORE, Tietex requests an Order prohibiting or expressly limiting Harris' proposed depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham.

PENDING RULING ON DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT,
SUPPORTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER, AND
OPPOSING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF WITNESSES

COMES NOW Defendant Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex"), and submits this memorandum (1) in support of its Motion to Stay Discovery Pending Ruling on Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment ("Motion to Stay"), (2) in support of its Motion for Protective Order, and (3) in opposition to Plaintiff Gary G. Harris's ("Harris") Motion to Compel Production of Witnesses ("Motion to Compel").

On July 2, 2013, Tietex filed its Motion to Stay because none of the six (6) individuals Harris intends to depose can change the indisputable and conclusive findings of fact the Federal Court has already issued in nearly identical litigation between Harris and Tietex. The Federal Court's Orders preclude the existence of any genuine dispute of material fact in this matter, as an application of the Federal Court's findings to Harris's state law claims in this action makes clear that Harris' claims fail as a matter of law. Tietex's Motion to Stay should be granted to prevent the parties and third-party witnesses from incurring the unnecessary expense and burden associated with Harris's six (6) proposed depositions.

Should the Court grant Tietex's Motion to Stay, Tietex's Motion for Protective Order and Harris's Motion to Compel would become moot. If the Court denies Tietex's Motion to Stay, the Court should grant Tietex's Motion for Protective Order and deny Harris's Motion to Compel in accordance with the apex doctrine. Harris seeks permission to depose Tietex's Owner (Martin Wildeman) and President (Reed Cunningham). However, neither Mr. Wildeman nor Mr. Cunningham possesses any unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information. Accordingly, Harris should be prohibited from taking the depositions of Tietex's Owner and President and should be ordered to obtain the discovery he seeks through less intrusive methods. Alternatively, the duration of Mr. Wildeman's and Mr. Cunningham's depositions should be expressly limited to no more than 2 hours to ensure that Harris does not harass, annoy, or unduly burden Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham through an unnecessarily lengthy deposition.

A. Factual and Procedural Background.

Harris originally filed a lawsuit against Tietex in this Court on August 15, 2008—C.A. No. 2008-CP-42-4316 ("First Action"). Harris asserted claims against Tietex in the First Action alleging (1) violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), (2) breach of contract, (3) breach of contract accompanied by a fraudulent act, and (4) defamation. All of Harris' claims in the First Action concerned his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

Tietex removed the First Action to the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina based on Harris' assertion of the federal ADEA claim. Both parties engaged in thorough discovery in the First Action upon removal to federal court. After the completion of discovery in federal court, Tietex moved for summary judgment with respect to all of Harris' claims. On October 28, 2010, the Federal Court granted Tietex's motion on Harris' ADEA claims and chose not to address Harris' remaining state law claims, dismissing them without prejudice. On May 26, 2011, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit affirmed the award of summary judgment in Tietex's favor. On July 26, 2011, the Fourth Circuit denied Harris's petition for rehearing of his appeal.

On October 21, 2011, Harris filed a pro se Complaint in the present action ("Second Action"), relying on the same factual allegations he made in the First Action. On March 8, 2012, Harris's current counsel entered his appearance. On August 10, 2012, the Court granted Harris's motion to amend his Complaint. On September 5, 2012, Harris amended his Complaint in the Second Action. The Amended Complaint alleges identical claims as those alleged in the First Action (except his ADEA claim) and adds a new claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress. Identical to the First Action, all of Harris' claims in the Second Action arise from his employment with Tietex and his separation therefrom.

On January 11, 2013, Tietex moved for a protective order prohibiting Harris from taking the deposition of a Tietex representative (Executive Vice President Wade Wallace) whom Harris had already deposed in the First Action. On January 14, 2013, Harris moved for a protective order prohibiting Tietex from taking Harris' deposition in the Second Action. On February 4, 2013, The Honorable J. Derham Cole held a hearing on the cross motions for protective orders and denied both motions. Judge Cole specifically directed both parties not to "re-plow the same ground" that was covered in the depositions in the First Action.

On March 14, 2013, Tietex deposed Harris in the Second Action, focusing the examination on whether Harris possessed any new evidence to support his claims. Harris' admissions made clear that the Second Action is nothing more than an attempt to re-litigate the same issues on which the Federal Court already ruled in the First Action, under the guise of state law claims rather than the federal ADEA claim.

On May 1, 2013, Tietex filed its Motion for Summary Judgment in the Second Action. Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment relies heavily on the doctrine of collateral estoppel, as the Federal Court has already reached and issued clear conclusions of fact and law regarding the very issues that Harris is attempting to re-litigate in the Second Action.

On June 12, 2013, Harris took Executive Vice President Wallace's deposition in the Second Action for eight (8) hours and left the deposition open. Notwithstanding Judge Cole's directions at the hearing on February 4, 2013, the entire eight (8) hours of examination consisted of "re-plowing the same ground" as Mr. Wallace's deposition in the First Action.

On June 13, 2013, Tietex moved for a protective order prohibiting Harris from continuing Mr. Wallace's deposition in the Second Action. The Honorable Roger L. Couch entered an Order on the same day in which he limited the continuation of Mr. Wallace's deposition to a maximum of four (4) additional hours. On June 25, 2013, Harris completed Mr. Wallace's deposition in the Second Action, continuing to "re-plow the same ground" that was already covered in Mr. Wallace's deposition in the First Action.

After completing Mr. Wallace's deposition, Harris' counsel stated his intent to depose at least six additional individuals, purportedly as fact witnesses: (a) Martin Wildeman, Tietex's Owner; (b) Reed Cunningham, Tietex's President; (c) David Wilson, Tietex's former Human Resources Director; (d) Timothy Mark Isbell, Tietex's former Vice President of Manufacturing; (e) Patricia Guzman, a former Tietex employee who absorbed portions of Harris' duties after his separation; and (f) George Henderson, an individual who was deposed in the First Action. Harris's counsel has issued subpoenas to Mr. Isbell, Ms. Guzman, and Mr. Henderson for depositions to take place on August 1-2, 2013. On July 9, 2013, Harris filed his Motion to Compel the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham. In conjunction with this memorandum, Tietex has filed its Motion for Protective Order and supporting Affidavits seeking to prohibit or expressly limit the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham.

B. Arguments and Authorities.

1. Tietex's Motion to Stay would Promote Judicial Efficiency and Convenience of the Parties and Third-Party Witnesses, as the Court can Rule on Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment in the Absence of the Depositions Harris Intends to Take.

None of the six witnesses Harris intends to depose can alter the undisputed facts on which Tietex relies in support of its Motion for Summary Judgment. Nearly all of the facts on which Tietex relies in its Motion for Summary Judgment come directly from the Federal Court's factual findings in the First Action and are quoted verbatim from the Federal Court's Orders. All of these facts are conclusively determined and indisputable under the doctrine of collateral estoppel. See Pye v. Aycock, 325 S.C. 426, 436, 480 S.E.2d 455, 460 (Ct. App. 1997). The limited facts that do not come from the Federal Court's factual findings come directly from Harris' sworn depositions and are equally indisputable.

The undisputed and conclusively determined facts on which Tietex relies fully equip the Court to rule upon Tietex's Motion for Summary Judgment. Harris will not be prejudiced by a stay of discovery, as nothing in Harris's proposed discovery can alter the facts that already entitle Tietex to summary judgment. Those facts will remain the same no matter how many depositions Harris takes and no matter how much discovery he conducts. The stay that Tietex seeks would promote judicial efficiency and the convenience of the parties and third-party witnesses that Harris intends to depose. Rather than unnecessarily wasting the time and resources of the parties and numerous third-party witnesses by allowing Harris to continue "re-plowing old ground," Tietex's Motion to Stay should be granted.

2. If the Court Denies Tietex's Motion to Stay, Tietex's Motion for Protective Order Should be Granted and Harris's Motion to Compel Should be Denied under the Apex Doctrine.

Harris's Motion to Compel and Tietex's Motion for Protective Order would both be rendered moot if the Court grants Tietex's Motion to Stay. If the Court denies Tietex's Motion to Stay, the apex doctrine mandates that Tietex's Motion for Protective Order be granted based on Tietex's Owner (Mr. Wildeman) and President (Mr. Cunningham) lacking any unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information in this matter.

"The determination of whether to allow the deposition of a high-ranking corporate executive necessarily involves an examination of what some courts have termed the apex deposition rule." Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Sanders, 724 S.E.2d 353, 359 (W. Va. 2012). The rationale for and application of the apex doctrine is stated as follows:

"Recognizing that the highest positions within a juridical entity rarely have specialized and specific first-hand knowledge of matters at every level of the complex organization, courts have adopted the apex-deposition rule in the corporate context to (1) promote efficiency in the discovery process by requiring that before an apex officer is deposed it must be demonstrated that the officer has superior or unique personal knowledge of facts relevant to the litigation, and (2) prevent the use of depositions to annoy, harass, or unduly burden the parties. Of course, no court has applied the apex-deposition rule to hold that an apex or high-ranking corporate officer cannot be deposed under any circumstances. . . . Rather, courts have applied the rule to ensure that discovery is conducted in an efficient manner and that other methods of discovery have been attempted before the deposition of an apex officer is conducted. Moreover, those cases adopting the apex-deposition rule in the corporate context do not shift the burden of proof, but merely require the party seeking discovery to demonstrate that the proposed deponent has unique personal knowledge of the subject matter of the litigation and that other methods of discovery have not produced the desired information only after the party opposing discovery has moved for a protective order and has made a showing regarding the lack of the proposed deponent's personal knowledge and that other discovery methods could produce the required information. In other words, after the party opposing the deposition demonstrates by affidavit or other testimony that the proposed deponent lacks personal knowledge or unique or superior information relevant to the claims in issue, then the party seeking the deposition of the high-ranking corporate officer or public official must demonstrate that the relevant information cannot be obtained absent the disputed deposition.”

Id. at 359-60 (quoting Alberto v. Toyota Motor Corp., 796 N.W.2d 490, 495 (Mich. Ct. App. 2010) (internal citations omitted)).

As Owner and President of Tietex, Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham are clearly “apex” or “high-ranking” corporate officers. The Affidavits of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham demonstrate that neither of them possesses unique or superior personal knowledge of discoverable information related to Harris’s claims. Harris’s Motion to Compel offers nothing concrete to dispute this fact, as it simply states in a vague and conclusory fashion that Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham allegedly “have detailed knowledge” regarding this matter. To satisfy the apex doctrine, Harris must come forward with specific information regarding the alleged need for Mr. Wildeman’s and Mr. Cunningham’s testimony in light of Mr. Wildeman’s and Mr. Cunningham’s Affidavits, and Harris must show why he cannot obtain the supposed information in the absence of their depositions.

The only discoverable information in Mr. Wildeman’s and Mr. Cunningham’s possession that relates to Harris’s claims involves Wade Wallace and Mark Isbell consulting with them and seeking their approval before terminating Harris’s employment. Mr. Wallace has already given 16 hours of deposition testimony in this litigation and the First Action, giving Harris more than ample opportunity to elicit testimony regarding Tietex’s reasons for terminating Harris’s employment. Thus, the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham would be duplicative and unnecessary with regard to the only discoverable information in their possession.

To the extent Harris is convinced that he somehow needs Mr. Wildeman's and/or Mr. Cunningham's explanation regarding Tietex's reasons for terminating Harris's employment—the only information he can reasonably obtain from them through discovery—Harris can elicit that information through less intrusive means than taking their depositions. For example, Harris can serve interrogatories on Tietex specifically requesting Mr. Wildeman's and/or Mr. Cunningham's explanation regarding Tietex's reason for terminating Harris's employment. This would comport with the rationale for the apex doctrine and protect Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham from the annoyance, harassment, and undue burden associated with appearing for an unnecessary deposition.

As an alternative to prohibiting the depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham in their entirety, the Court should issue an Order expressly limiting the duration of the depositions. Based on Harris doing nothing more than re-plowing old ground during Mr. Wallace's deposition for 12 hours—after a specific direction from Judge Cole not to do so—Tietex is concerned that Harris would similarly attempt to annoy, harass, and subject Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham to undue burden by stretching their depositions beyond a reasonable time. The extremely limited scope of discoverable information in Mr. Wildeman's and Mr. Cunningham's possession dictates that anything more than 2 hours of deposition testimony would be unreasonable. A 2-hour limit would reduce the probability of Harris engaging in a "fishing expedition" and would further the purpose of Rule 26(c).

C. Conclusion.

Tietex's Motion to Stay should be granted because the undisputed and conclusively determined facts entitle Tietex to summary judgment, and no further discovery can alter those facts. Should the Court deny Tietex's Motion to Stay, Tietex's Motion for Protective Order should be granted (and Harris's Motion to Compel denied) based on the apex doctrine, with Harris' proposed depositions of Mr. Wildeman and Mr. Cunningham prohibited entirely or limited to a duration of no more than 2 hours.

Plaintiff,

MOTION TO COMPEL ENTRY UPON AND INSPECTION OF PREMISES

Defendant.

(PRIORITY MATTER)

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that Plaintiff Gary Harris will move before this Court at such time and place as counsel may be heard for an Order compelling Defendant to allow entry upon and inspection of the premises of Plaintiff's former place of employment pursuant to Rule 34, SCRCF. Plaintiff will show at the motion hearing that Defendant has refused to allow Plaintiff access following a proper discovery request. Defendant's actions under the circumstances also perpetuate a pattern of delay in this case, which is subject to be called to trial on or after February 3, 2013.

On November 18, 2013, Plaintiff's counsel wrote to Defendant's counsel and formally requested a site visit to the premises of Plaintiff's former place of employment. Given that time is of the essence in this case, Plaintiff's counsel specifically asked whether a motion would be necessary, or whether Defendant would respond to the request. (Exhibit 1, November 18, 2013 letter from Lazenby to Suggs).

Counsel for Defendant did not object to the request; rather, he inquired about the scope and purpose of the visit. Counsel for Plaintiff clarified that "[o]ur claims involved several significant events that occurred in the plant and the separate lab area. I need to see Mr. Harris' old office, the lab, and his new office to better understand and prosecute our claims. I also want to see the grounds and the proximity to the highway." (Exhibit 2, November 18, 2013 emails between Suggs and Lazenby). Counsel for Plaintiff also indicated that he would take photographs, which would be kept confidential. (Exhibit 2).

Plaintiff's counsel followed up on the site visit again by email on November 20, 2013. Defendant's counsel responded that he was "waiting to hear." (Exhibit 3, November 20, 2013 emails between Lazenby and Suggs).

On December 12, 2013, Plaintiff's counsel again requested that Tietex advise when it would make the site visit available. Defendant's counsel responded that he would contact Plaintiff's counsel about the site visit the following week. (Exhibit 4, December 12, 2013 emails between Suggs and Lazenby).

On December 17, 2013 – and for the first time since Plaintiff's request almost 30 days earlier – Defendant's counsel stated that he was not "authorized" to arrange the site visit, and stated that Plaintiff's counsel must submit a "formal" request for consideration. (Exhibit 5, December 17, 2013 email from Suggs to Lazenby). Defendant's counsel first took the position on December 23, 2013 that Plaintiff's request was not proper under the rules. (Exhibit 6, December 23, 2013 email from Suggs to Lazenby).

Rule 34 requires that "[t]he request shall set forth the items to be inspected either by individual item or by category, and describe each item and category with reasonable particularity. The request shall specify a reasonable time, place, and manner of making the inspection and performing the related acts." Plaintiff's request plainly complied with this standard. Further, the rules of civil procedure should be construed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every action. Rule 1, SCRPC.

This Motion is also made pursuant to Rule 37, SCRPC to compel Defendant to cooperate in the discovery process in this litigation. Additionally, this Motion is made upon the grounds that the interest of justice will not be served by requiring Plaintiff serve yet another request for a site visit, and where Defendant will not be prejudiced by the enforcement of the November 18, 2013 request.

Our claims involve several significant events that occurred in the plant and the superato lab area. I need to see Mr. Harris' old office, the lab, and his new office to better understand and prosecute our claims. I also want to see the grounds and the proximity to the highway. I don't know that I can be any more specific without revealing my mental impressions and my trial strategy. I also want to take photos as I mentioned, and I will agree that all photos will be treated as confidential.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

COUNTY OF SPARTANBURG

Gary G. Harris,

Plaintiff,

v.

Tietex International, Ltd.,

Defendant.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

C. A. No.: 2011-CP-42-4538

DEFENDANT'S RENEWED MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

Defendant Tietex International, Ltd. ("Tietex") submits this Renewed Motion for Summary Judgment under Rule 56, SCRPC. There is not a genuine dispute as to any material fact with respect to Plaintiff Gary G. Harris' ("Harris") claims, and Tietex is entitled to summary judgment. Tietex shows as follows in support of this Motion:

1. When Tietex first moved for summary judgment in this action—relying largely on the doctrine of collateral estoppel—Harris' counsel insisted that Tietex's motion was premature given his alleged inability to complete all of the discovery he needed to prove his case.
2. Judge Frank R. Addy, Jr., denied Tietex's motion and granted Harris permission to take the depositions of two Tietex executives.
3. Harris noticed those depositions; however, on January 14, 2014—two days before they were scheduled to take place—his counsel inexplicably cancelled the depositions and made clear that he would not be taking the depositions before trial.
4. Harris has not engaged in any discovery since Judge Addy denied Tietex's first motion for summary judgment.

5. Because no additional discovery has taken place and the trial of this matter is now imminent, Tietex requests that the Court examine the undisputed facts in the record, which make clear that Harris' claims fail as a matter of law.

6. Harris has never identified any contractual obligation with which Tietex was required to comply when terminating his employment, rendering his contract claims insufficient as a matter of law.

7. Even if Tietex were obligated to provide progressive discipline to Harris—though the record demonstrates no such obligation—Tietex did so by giving Harris two written warnings (the second of which Harris himself characterized as his “final written warning”) before terminating his employment.

8. Harris' defamation claims fail because (1) Harris has failed to produce any evidence beyond his own conclusory allegations that the allegedly defamatory statements were false, (2) all of the allegedly defamatory statements were internal memoranda from Harris' supervisor to his own supervisor and Human Resources regarding Harris' performance deficiencies, making the statements subject to a qualified privilege, and (3) Harris has not produced any evidence of actual malice or that Tietex otherwise exceeded the scope of the privilege.

9. To the extent Harris' defamation claims are viewed separately, Harris' defamation claims that he did not raise in his federal lawsuit against Tietex must be dismissed as untimely under the statute of limitations and under the doctrine of res judicata.

10. While the statute of limitations on the state law claims asserted in his first lawsuit may have been tolled under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(d), no tolling applies to Harris' defamation claims that he did not assert in his first lawsuit.

11. Tietex is entitled to summary judgment on Harris' outrage claim because Harris has failed to allege (and certainly cannot prove) any facts that would permit his outrage claim to proceed to trial.

12. Harris' outrage claim must be dismissed as untimely under the statute of limitations and under the doctrine of res judicata, as Harris did not raise his outrage claim in his federal lawsuit against Tietex and first did so on September 5, 2012—more than five years after any event on which the claim could be based.

13. While the statute of limitations on the state law claims asserted in his first lawsuit may have been tolled under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(d), no tolling applies to Harris' outrage claim that he did not assert in his first lawsuit.

In support of this Motion, Tietex relies upon the pleadings already on file as well as the supporting memorandum (and attachments thereto) Tietex is filing with this Motion.

WHEREFORE, Tietex respectfully asks the Court to dismiss Harris' lawsuit in its entirety and to award such further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Dated this 3rd day of January, 2014.

Respectfully submitted,
