FEW, C.J.: Joseph D. McMaster brought a medical malpractice claim against John H. Dewitt, M.D. and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. based on Dr. Dewitt's alleged negligence in overprescribing McMaster the drug Adderall. The circuit court granted summary judgment for both defendants, finding the statute of limitations barred McMaster's claim. We affirm.

I. Fact and Procedural History

Dr. Dewitt treated McMaster for Adult Attention Deficit Disorder and prescribed him Adderall. On May 13, 2008, McMaster was involuntarily committed to Palmetto Health Baptist "in a delusional and paranoid state." Following his discharge on May 28, Dr. Dewitt stopped prescribing Adderall to McMaster. On June 25, 2008, McMaster was once again admitted to the hospital "in a paranoid and psychotic state."

On June 16, 2011, McMaster commenced a medical malpractice action against Dr. Dewitt and Carolina Psychiatric. He alleged Dr. Dewitt negligently overprescribed him Adderall, which led to his psychosis and subsequent hospitalization. The complaint mentioned only his June 2008 hospitalization.

During a deposition, McMaster testified Dr. Dewitt told him in May the cause of his psychosis. Specifically, McMaster stated, "[Dr. Dewitt] called it Adderall induced psychosis when I talked to [him]." When asked what Dr. Dewitt did "wrong," McMaster stated, "[H]e just gave me too much medicine. . . . I mean, it was just way too much and I didn't know it until it was too late."

Dr. Dewitt and Carolina Psychiatric moved for summary judgment. They argued McMaster's claims were barred by the statute of limitations because it began to run when McMaster was hospitalized in May 2008. See S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-545(A) (2005). See id. (stating a medical malpractice claim "must be commenced within three years from the date of the treatment . . . giving rise to the cause of action or three years from date of discovery or when it reasonably ought to have been discovered").

Two days before the summary judgment hearing, McMaster filed an affidavit in which he claimed he was not aware of Dr. Dewitt's negligence until June 2008. McMaster explained in his affidavit that when he was hospitalized in May, "Neither [Dr. Dewitt] nor anyone else at that time suggested that Adderall . . . had caused me to have paranoid psychosis . . . or that the amounts of Adderall . . . prescribed to me by Dr. Dewitt had caused me any harm." Instead, he claimed it was not until he learned of his diagnosis in June that he "began to question whether amphetamines such as Adderall had been overprescribed to [him]." Although he "recalled that Dr. Dewitt's partner, Dr. Larry Nelson, had told [him] in May 2008 that Dewitt had a tendency to overprescribe amphetamines,"¹ he stated, "Dr. Nelson did not tell me that [Dr.] Dewitt had overprescribed amphetamines to me or that Adderall had caused me any injury."

The circuit granted summary judgment, finding that when McMaster filed his lawsuit in June 2011, it had been "more than three years after he discovered that he was hospitalized due to the Adderall prescribed by Dr. Dewitt." The court based this finding on McMaster's deposition testimony, in which he stated Dr. Dewitt told him in May he had suffered an Adderall induced psychosis. The circuit court refused to consider the affidavit submitted by McMaster, finding it "should be disregarded" as a "sham affidavit" under Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004).

II. Standard of Review

Summary judgment is appropriate when a plaintiff does not commence an action within the applicable statute of limitations. See Kreutner v. David, 320 S.C. 283, 286-87, 465 S.E.2d 88, 90 (1995) (affirming "the grant[ing] of summary judgment because the statute of limitations has expired"). In reviewing a decision to grant summary judgment, we apply the same standard as the circuit court. Vaughan v. Town of Lyman, 370 S.C. 436, 440, 635 S.E.2d 631, 633 (2006). Under this standard, summary judgment is appropriate when "there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and . . . the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law." Rule 56(c), SCRPC. "In determining whether any triable issue of fact exists, the evidence and all inferences which can reasonably be drawn therefrom must be viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party." Quail Hill, LLC v. Cnty. of Richland, 387 S.C. 223, 235, 692 S.E.2d 499, 505 (2010) (citation omitted). "However, it is not sufficient for a party to create an inference that is not reasonable or an issue of fact that is not genuine." Town of Hollywood v. Floyd, 403 S.C. 466, 477, 744 S.E.2d 161, 166 (2013).

While South Carolina courts have not established the standard for reviewing the circuit court's decision to exclude a sham affidavit, federal appellate courts use an abuse of discretion standard.² See Cothran, 357 S.C. at 218, 592 S.E.2d at 633

² See Nguyen v. Biondo, 508 F. App'x 932 (11th Cir. 2013) (stating "[t]he district court also did not abuse its discretion when it struck [the] affidavit" because it "was entitled to disregard [the] affidavit as a 'transparent sham'"); EBC, Inc. v. Clark

("find[ing] persuasive the reasoning of federal case law" in adopting the rule that a circuit court may exclude a sham affidavit). We adopt this standard and accordingly, must determine whether the circuit court acted within its discretion in refusing to consider McMaster's affidavit.

III. Statute of Limitations

McMaster argues the circuit court erred in granting summary judgment for two reasons: (1) a genuine issue of material fact exists regarding when he was put on notice that Dr. Dewitt acted negligently in prescribing him Adderall; and (2) the affidavit he submitted two days before the summary judgment hearing was improperly excluded as a "sham." We find the circuit court properly granted summary judgment.

A. Notice Under the Discovery Rule

Bldg. Sys., Inc., 618 F.3d 253, 270-71 (3d Cir. 2010) (reviewing district court's decision to exclude an errata sheet that contradicted prior testimony and applying the "sham affidavit" rule to find district court "did not abuse its discretion in refusing to consider . . . [the] contradictory errata sheet"); Cole v. Homier Distrib. Co., 599 F.3d 856, 867 (8th Cir. 2010) (addressing district court's decision to exclude contradictory affidavits and stating "[w]e review this holding for abuse of discretion"); Delaware Valley Floral Grp., Inc. v. Shaw Rose Nets, LLC, 597 F.3d 1374, 1381-82 (Fed. Cir. 2010) (holding appellant "fail[ed] to demonstrate that the district court abused its discretion in excluding" evidence that contradicted prior sworn testimony); Wolfe v. Jarnigan, 357 F. App'x 621, 623 (6th Cir. 2009) (addressing whether district court improperly considered a sham affidavit and stating "[w]e review the district court's decision to entertain or reject affidavits on this ground for abuse of discretion"); Scottsdale Ins. Co. v. Moreno, 133 F. App'x 415, 417 (9th Cir. 2005) (finding district court "abused its discretion by striking portions of [the] affidavits as shams"); Ralston v. Smith & Nephew Richards, Inc., 275 F.3d 965, 973 (10th Cir. 2001) ("[I]t is not an abuse of discretion to conclude—as the district court did—that these subsequent affidavits . . . fall within the ambit of creating a "sham fact issue."); Kalis v. Colgate-Palmolive Co., 231 F.3d 1049, 1055 (7th Cir. 2000) ("We review a district court's decision to strike or disregard parts of an affidavit in opposition to a motion for summary judgment for an abuse of discretion."); Torres v. E.I. DuPont De Nemours & Co., 219 F.3d 13, 20-21 (1st Cir. 2000) (finding "no abuse of discretion" regarding "district court's decision to strike the affidavits" because they were contradictory to prior testimony and provided no explanation for the contradictions).

Subsection 15-3-545(A) provides that a plaintiff must bring a medical malpractice claim "within three years from the date of the treatment . . . giving rise to the cause of action or three years from date of discovery or when it reasonably ought to have been discovered." We apply the discovery rule to determine when an action accrues. Dunbar v. Carlson, 341 S.C. 261, 266, 533 S.E.2d 913, 915-16 (Ct. App. 2000). Under the discovery rule, the statute begins to run when "the facts and circumstances of an injury would put a person of common knowledge and experience on notice that some right of his has been invaded or that some claim against another party might exist." Knox v. Greenville Hosp. Sys., 362 S.C. 566, 570, 608 S.E.2d 459, 462 (Ct. App. 2005); see also Dunbar, 341 S.C. at 266, 533 S.E.2d at 916.

Here, the evidence demonstrates McMaster suffered an injury in May 2008, the circumstances of which put him on notice to inquire into whether this injury gave rise to a claim against Dr. Dewitt. Dr. Dewitt prescribed McMaster Adderall to treat his attention deficit disorder, and in his deposition, McMaster testified three times he was aware in May that he was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis. The following is an excerpt from this deposition:

Q: [Y]ou knew that then, when you went in [to the hospital] that [Adderall] was the problem or when you got out?

A: No. I didn't know it when I went in [the hospital]. I didn't know that was the problem when I went in.

Q: But you knew it when you got out? When you talked to your boss?

A: When I talked to--talked to the doctors on the floor.

Q: Okay.

A: I mean, [Dr.] John [Dewitt] called it Adderall induced psychosis when I talked to [him].

Q: And that was in May of 2008?

A: Correct.

When asked what Dr. Dewitt did "wrong," McMaster stated, "[H]e just gave me too much medicine. . . . I mean, it was just way too much and I didn't know it until it was too late." The following exchange then took place:

Q: And that would've been when you went into the hospital in May--

A: Yeah.

Q: --of 2008?

A: Right.

.....

Q: And you were discharged at the end of May 2008 from the hospital?

A: May 2008. The first time, yeah.

Q: All right. And when you were discharged, did you know what was wrong with you?

A: From what I was told, it was Adderall induced psychosis.

This testimony indicates McMaster was aware in May he suffered an Adderall induced psychosis due to the medicine prescribed by Dr. Dewitt. As we will discuss, the record contains no admissible, material facts to the contrary. Thus, we find the circuit court properly granted summary judgment because the statute of limitations began to run in May 2008.

McMaster argues a question of material fact exists as to when his cause of action accrued because the discharge summary from his May hospitalization stated he was diagnosed with "[p]aranoid psychosis of unclear etiology," but the discharge summary from June contained the diagnosis: "Medication or drug induced psychosis." He contends that because the May discharge summary did not mention medication as the cause of his psychosis, there is a question of fact as to whether he was put on notice of a claim against Dr. Dewitt.

We find any conflict between the discharge summaries immaterial in light of McMaster's deposition testimony. Specifically, McMaster testified Dr. Dewitt told him in May he had "Adderall induced psychosis." McMaster certainly knew Dr. Dewitt was the one who prescribed him Adderall. This information, regardless of the diagnoses in the discharge summaries, "would put a person of common knowledge and experience on notice . . . that some claim against [Dr. Dewitt] might exist." Knox, 362 S.C. at 570, 608 S.E.2d at 462.

McMaster also argues summary judgment was improper because there is evidence indicating Dr. Dewitt did not know in May that Adderall caused his hospitalization. According to McMaster, the May discharge summary, which he claims does not link his psychosis to any medication, demonstrates Dr. Dewitt did not know the cause of McMaster's injury at that time. Instead, he argues it was not until June that Dr. Dewitt determined Adderall was the cause of his psychosis, as evidenced by the diagnosis in the June discharge summary. Therefore, McMaster asserts it was not possible for him to know in May that he had suffered an Adderall induced psychosis because not even Dr. Dewitt knew the cause of his May hospitalization.

We reject this argument. First, the record does not support the assertion that Dr. Dewitt did not know the cause of McMaster's May hospitalization. McMaster testified in his deposition that Dr. Dewitt told him he suffered an Adderall induced psychosis in May. In addition to this testimony, medical records from McMaster's May hospitalization indicate his illness was "likely substance induced from [prescription] pills" and due to "overutilization of Adderall." Furthermore, the May discharge summary—written by Dr. Dewitt—stated, "It was felt that the patient had been overusing his Adderall . . . [and] that might have precipitated this delusional condition."

Second, even assuming McMaster's allegation regarding Dr. Dewitt's knowledge to be true, this would not give rise to a genuine issue of material fact. See Town of Hollywood, 403 S.C. at 477, 744 S.E.2d at 166 ("[I]t is not sufficient for a party to create . . . an issue of fact that is not genuine."). Dr. Dewitt's knowledge is immaterial to our determination of when the statute of limitations began to run. Instead, under the discovery rule, the focus is on what McMaster knew and when he knew it—not how and from whom he learned it—and the record demonstrates McMaster knew the cause of his injury in May.

McMaster's argument also confuses the event that triggers the running of the statute of limitations under the discovery rule. McMaster claims the statute of limitations did not begin to run until he discovered that Dr. Dewitt's negligent conduct caused his injury. Under the discovery rule, however, the event that commences the running of the statute of limitations is the injury, if the facts and circumstances are such that a reasonable person would inquire into whether the injury gives rise to a claim against the defendant. See Knox, 362 S.C. at 570, 608 S.E.2d at 462; see also Arant v. Kressler, 327 S.C. 225, 229, 489 S.E.2d 206, 208 (1997) (rejecting appellant's contention that "the time of discovery is the time when the treating physician's actual negligence becomes known"). Here, the "injury" is the May hospitalization.³ Thus, the question before us is whether "the facts and circumstances of [the May hospitalization] would put a person of common knowledge and experience on notice . . . that some claim against [Dr. Dewitt] might exist." Id. (citation omitted). We find as a matter of law McMaster's May hospitalization, coupled with his knowledge that it was induced by Adderall, put him on notice of a claim against Dr. Dewitt and commenced the running of the statute of limitations.

B. Sham Affidavit

³ McMaster expressly stated at the summary judgment hearing that his May and June hospitalizations constituted the same injury:

[I]t's no question that this is an entire psychotic event that is occurring . . . from May 13th all the way up until he is discharged from the second hospitalization on July 10. The fact that he was dismissed and then had to come back shortly thereafter does not mean that they are not connected and that he was not continuing to be under that disability during that entire period of time.

Under McMaster's own theory of the case, the June hospitalization was a continuation of the May injury. Thus, his May hospitalization is the relevant injury for determining when the statute of limitations began to run. Cf. Benton v. Roger C. Peace Hosp., 313 S.C. 520, 523-24, 443 S.E.2d 537, 538-39 (1994) (holding that when injuries constitute two separate and distinct harms, the statute of limitations begins to run at different times for each injury).

McMaster also argues the circuit court erred in granting summary judgment because it refused to consider his affidavit, which contained evidence that he did not know in May he suffered a medication induced psychosis. We find the circuit court acted within its discretion.

A trial court may exclude an affidavit when it was submitted "to contradict that party's own prior sworn statement" in "an attempt to create a sham issue of material fact." Cothran, 357 S.C. at 218, 592 S.E.2d at 633. Our supreme court delineated the following considerations for "distinguishing between a sham affidavit and a correcting or clarifying affidavit":

(1) whether an explanation is offered for the statements that contradict prior sworn statements; (2) the importance to the litigation of the fact about which there is a contradiction; (3) whether the nonmovant had access to this fact prior to the previous sworn testimony; (4) the frequency and degree of variation between statements in the previous sworn testimony and statements made in the later affidavit concerning this fact; (5) whether the previous sworn testimony indicates the witness was confused at the time; (6) when, in relation to summary judgment, the second affidavit is submitted.

Id.

The circuit court listed these six considerations in its order and made findings to support its ruling. First, the court found McMaster "has not offered an explanation for his contradictory statements." We agree and find this consideration weighs in favor of excluding the affidavit. A deponent "cannot create a conflict and resist summary judgment with an affidavit that . . . does not give a satisfactory explanation of why the testimony is changed." Torres v. E.I. De Nemours & Co., 219 F.3d 13, 20 (1st Cir. 2000) (citation omitted). Explanations that may be satisfactory include the need to correct misstatements made during the deposition, Martin v. Merrell Dow Pharm., Inc., 851 F.2d 703, 705 (3d Cir. 1988), to "elaborate[] upon or clarif[y] information already submitted," Cole v. Homier Distrib. Co., 599 F.3d 856, 867 (8th Cir. 2010), and to alter testimony based on the discovery of new evidence, Ralston v. Smith & Newphew Richards, Inc., 275 F.3d 965, 973 (10th Cir. 2001). McMaster's affidavit contains no justification. In fact, the affidavit makes no reference to his deposition testimony at all. See Torres, 219 F.3d at 20-21 (affirming decision to strike contradictory affidavit because it provided no explanation and made "no reference to the contrary statements in [the] deposition at all").

McMaster contended in his Rule 59(e), SCRCF, motion and argues on appeal the circuit court erred in finding he offered no explanation because Dr. Dewitt "could not have told him a diagnosis of 'drug induced psychosis' until at least June 25, 2008" based on the diagnoses in the May and June discharge summaries. This assertion, with no accompanying allegation that his prior testimony was in error, does not explain why McMaster's testimony was contradictory. Because McMaster has provided no explanation for his contrary statements, we find the record supports the circuit court's finding as to this consideration.

The second Cothran consideration requires the circuit court to take into account "the importance to the litigation of the fact about which there is a contradiction." 357 S.C. at 218, 592 S.E.2d at 633. Under this consideration, the more important the fact contradicted by the affidavit is to the outcome of litigation, the more likely a circuit court will be justified in refusing to consider the affidavit. See Ralston, 275 F.3d at 973 (finding affidavit was a sham when it contradicted deposition testimony that was "detrimental to [plaintiff]'s sole remaining cause of action"); Martin, 851 F.2d at 705-06 (disregarding affidavit because the contradictory fact contained in the affidavit was "of considerable importance" to the litigation). The circuit court found "the date on which [McMaster] had notice of his claim is a central issue in this case." We agree. The statements in the affidavit claiming McMaster did not know in May that he suffered a medication induced psychosis directly contradict his prior testimony on a fact that is pivotal to whether the statute of limitations bars his claim. This consideration weighs in favor of excluding the affidavit.

Regarding the third Cothran consideration—"whether the nonmovant had access to this fact prior to the previous sworn testimony," 357 S.C. at 218, 592 S.E.2d at 633—the circuit court did not make a specific finding. However, it is obvious McMaster "had access" to this information because it was within his own personal knowledge. Thus, this consideration weighs in favor of excluding the affidavit.

As to the fourth consideration—"the frequency and degree of variation between" the deposition testimony and the statements in the affidavit, id.—the court found the "testimony in his prior deposition varies greatly from the statements in his affidavit." The record supports this finding. McMaster testified three times he knew in May that he was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis, and he never expressed doubt during the deposition as to when he learned this. Because his statement in the affidavit—"Neither [Dr. Dewitt] nor anyone else at that time [in May] suggested that Adderall or other medications had caused me to have paranoid psychosis"—directly contradicts his deposition testimony, this consideration weighs in favor of excluding the affidavit.

Regarding the court's finding as to the fifth consideration—"[t]here has been no indication that [he] was confused during his deposition"—McMaster asserts that on several occasions during his deposition, he stated his "memory was faulty," which he argues is adequate to show he was confused at the time. We decline to address this argument because McMaster did not assert to the circuit court that this portion of his deposition indicated he was confused. See Hill v. S.C. Dep't of Health & Envtl. Control, 389 S.C. 1, 21, 698 S.E.2d 612, 623 (2010) (stating "a matter may not be raised for the first time on appeal"). Additionally, the record on appeal does not include the portions of McMaster's deposition testimony in which he supposedly made these statements. See Rule 210(h), SCACR ("[T]he appellate court will not consider any fact which does not appear in the Record on Appeal.").

Finally, McMaster submitted the affidavit containing this new information "two days before [the motion for summary judgment] was scheduled to be heard." The last-minute submission of the affidavit indicates McMaster was attempting to create an issue of fact for purposes of summary judgment. See City of St. Joseph, Mo. v. Sw. Bell Tel., 439 F.3d 468, 476 (8th Cir. 2006) ("The timing of the affidavit . . . indicate[s] that the [plaintiff] engaged in a last-minute effort to create a genuine issue of material fact to prevent the . . . entry of summary judgment in [the defendant]'s favor."). This consideration weighs in favor of excluding the affidavit.

We find the circuit court acted within its discretion in refusing to consider the affidavit. The evidence in the record supports the circuit court's findings as to each applicable consideration, and those findings support the court's conclusion that the affidavit was submitted in "an attempt to create a sham issue of material fact." Cothran, 357 S.C. at 218, 592 S.E.2d at 633.

IV. Conclusion

We find the circuit court properly granted summary judgment because there was no genuine issue of material fact regarding whether McMaster's claims were untimely under the applicable statute of limitations.⁴ Thus, the order of the circuit court is AFFIRMED.

THOMAS and LOCKEMY, JJ., concur.

⁴ We decline to address McMaster's argument that summary judgment was inappropriate as to Carolina Psychiatric due to its failure to plead the statute of limitations as an affirmative defense. McMaster did not raise this argument to the trial court. See Hill, 389 S.C. at 21, 698 S.E.2d at 623.

Appellant,

v.

PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A.,

Respondents.

PETITION FOR REHEARING

The appellant respectfully petitions for a rehearing on the following grounds:

1. This medical malpractice lawsuit alleged that defendant's deviation from standard care most probably caused plaintiff to suffer an unnecessary injury of medication induced psychosis. Summary judgment was granted on the sole basis that the action was not commenced within three years of when plaintiff discovered the alleged malpractice.

2. The trial court based its summary judgment on two excerpts from plaintiff's deposition in which he said that defendant told him he had "Adderall induced psychosis." In deposition, he agreed that he was told of the "Adderall induced psychosis" in May 2008.
3. In affirming summary judgment on grounds that the action was barred by the statute of limitations, the Court overlooked material issues of fact as to whether plaintiff discovered within three years of the lawsuit that the cause of his psychosis was the medications prescribed by defendant. There was sufficient evidence to create an issue of material fact about whether plaintiff's medical malpractice claim was brought within the statute of limitations. The summary judgment was based entirely on conversations between plaintiff and defendant about the cause of plaintiff's psychosis in which the defendant told plaintiff that his psychosis was caused by the drug Adderall. The Court overlooked that the patient was dependent on the doctor to diagnose the cause of his psychosis and could know only what the doctor knew.
4. The Court misapprehended the basis of plaintiff's cause of action. The plaintiff alleged that defendant's medical prescriptions for psychotropic medications were outside standard medical care. Whether the statute of limitation applied should have been determined by when a reasonable person should have known or suspected that the prescription was at fault, not simply whether Adderall or other drugs were related to the psychosis. Determining that plaintiff should have known in May that the drug induced the psychosis is different from saying that he should have known that prescribing the drug in the first place was negligent. We all know that every drug can have side effects. But when the side effect happens, that is no reason to suspect that prescribing the drug was negligent.

5. The Court overlooked that plaintiff could not begin to suspect that defendant had negligently over-prescribed Adderall until he was told that Adderall was the cause of his psychosis.
6. The Court overlooked and misapprehended when defendant knew that Adderall was the cause of plaintiff's psychosis. In May 2008, the defendant concluded plaintiff's hospitalization stating the cause or "etiology" of plaintiff's psychosis was "unknown." If unknown to doctor, then unknown to patient. Whether the defendant knew in May that Adderall was the cause of plaintiff's psychosis was a question of fact.
7. The Court misapprehended that plaintiff's affidavit was not timely and concluded that filing the affidavit only two days before the summary judgment motion hearing demonstrated that it was a "sham" affidavit. The plaintiff gave the deposition on October 4, 2012, and the court reporter completed the deposition transcript on October 18. The defendant moved for summary judgment on November 20, and the motion was heard on December 13, less than 30 days after the motion was filed. Under those circumstances, to file a notarized affidavit only 22 days after the motion, does not give inference as a matter of law that the affidavit was "sham" and demonstrated a misapprehension by the Court as to what was practical in considering, drafting, and formalizing an affidavit in response to defendants' motions for summary judgment.

8. The Court overlooked and misapprehended key medical records that had been submitted by plaintiff without objection in opposition to the summary judgment motion. The first was a discharge summary from the May hospitalization which showed that the hospitalization continued until May 28, 2008. At the conclusion of the hospitalization defendant dictated the discharge summary and stated expressly that plaintiff's diagnosis was "paranoid psychosis of unclear etiology." He made no mention of possible medication induced psychosis. In other words, as of May 28, defendant did not know what was causing plaintiff's psychosis. These documents raised material questions of fact about what defendant knew and when he knew it.
9. The found as a matter of law that plaintiff's hospitalization in May "coupled with his knowledge that it was induced by Adderall put him on notice of a claim against defendant and commenced the running of the statute of limitations. The Court overlooked and misapprehended the facts and circumstances. The plaintiff had been under the defendant's care for years. He had been on Adderall for many months prior to the May hospitalization. The defendant admitted him to the hospital in May for a "psychosis of unclear etiology." In the hospital, the defendant doctor questioned and suggested to him that his psychosis could be caused by abusing or overtaking Adderall or other drugs, but did not say to him that his psychosis could be caused by taking Adderall as prescribed. The plaintiff stated and the trial court found that plaintiff suspected physician misconduct only upon learning from the defendant a diagnosis of “Adderall induced psychosis” which was not documented until the June 28 hospitalization. The Court misapprehended what a person of common knowledge and experience could derive from being hospitalized for psychosis. This is a matter in which a reasonable person becomes suspicious of malpractice only after he learns that the doctor’s prescription was the cause of his psychosis. The Court misapprehended that the defendant’s knowledge is “immaterial to our determination of when the statute of limitations began to run.” The Court also misapprehended the plaintiff’s “own personal knowledge.” The patient in this instance could not know more than his doctor.

10. The Court found that other medical providers stated that plaintiff’s illness was “likely substance induced from [prescription] pills and “due to overutilization of Adderall.” The Court overlooked that there was nothing in the record showing this was conveyed to plaintiff by those providers. Moreover, “overutilization” under these facts and circumstances meant that the plaintiff was taking his Adderall in a manner not prescribed by defendant. The Court misapprehended that this should have placed plaintiff on notice that defendant committed malpractice in the way that he prescribed Adderall.
11. The Court found that defendant wrote in May that “It was felt that the patient had been overusing his Adderall . . . [and] that might have precipitated this delusional condition.” Overusing in this circumstance clearly meant taking medication in a way not prescribed and placed blame on the patient for his illness. The Court misapprehended that this should have placed plaintiff on notice that defendant committed malpractice in the way that he prescribed Adderall. The Court overlooked that once plaintiff denied “overusing” his Adderall, the defendant said the etiology of plaintiff’s psychosis was “unknown.”

12. The Court overlooked and misapprehended the general rule in South Carolina permitting a correcting affidavit to remedy a defect in previously sworn testimony. See Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004). Allowing a correcting affidavit to deposition testimony is consistent with Rule 30, SCRCivP, which allows a deponent to make “[a]ny changes in form or substance” that he “desires to make.”
13. The Court overlooked and misapprehended that the so-called “sham” affidavit rule is an exception to the general rule of allowing a correcting affidavit. See Cothran, 357 S.C. at 218 (Supreme Court found that Court of Appeals “misapplied” the sham affidavit rule to exclude a second affidavit rendered to correct an earlier affidavit). If the affidavit is to be ignored in a motion for summary judgment, the affidavit must have been submitted for the sole purpose of creating a “sham” issue of fact. See id. There was no purpose of “sham” in the plaintiff correcting a date, when the defendant’s own statements showed that in May 2008 he did not know that plaintiff’s psychosis was induced by Adderall and he could not have told plaintiff that it was.
14. The plaintiff explained that the medical records showed that defendant did not know during the May hospitalization that plaintiff’s psychosis was induced by Adderall. The Court overlooked the Supreme Court’s guidance in Cothran that a court should consider whether an explanation was offered for the inconsistencies between sworn statements.

15. The Court misapprehended that the South Carolina Supreme Court would apply an abuse of discretion standard for reviewing the circuit court's decision to exclude plaintiff's affidavit. The Court was previously reversed by the Supreme Court for misapplying the so-called "sham" affidavit rule. While the Supreme Court said there were circumstances in which a court could apply such a rule, the court would have to find that the sole reason for submitting the affidavit was to create a dispute of material fact where one would not otherwise exist. The Supreme Court has not pronounced that such a finding is at the discretion of the court.

Statement of Issues on Appeal

I. Did plaintiff present sufficient evidence to create an issue of material fact about whether plaintiff's medical malpractice claim was brought within the statute of limitations?

II. Did the lower court commit error when it entered summary judgment for a party that had not pleaded the statute of limitations as an affirmative defense?

Statement of the Case

This is a medical malpractice case arising from treatment of Joseph D. McMaster by John H. DeWitt, M.D., and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A.

Joseph D. McMaster commenced the action by filing a Notice of Intent to File Suit on June 16, 2011, in the Richland County Court of Common Pleas. He then filed a Summons and Complaint against the defendants on December 8, 2011. Defendant DeWitt answered on February 16, 2012, and Defendant Carolina Psychiatric Services answered on January 3, 2012. Each of the defendants generally denied the material allegations of the complaint. Defendant DeWitt raised the statute of limitations as an affirmative defense, but defendant Carolina Psychiatric Services did not raise the statute of limitations as an affirmative defense.

McMaster alleged that DeWitt and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A., deviated from generally recognized and accepted standards of care and failed to render medical care expected of a reasonably competent medical practitioner under the same or similar circumstance by prescribing to McMaster an amount of Adderall in excess of the maximum amounts directed by reasonably competent physicians exercising standard medical care under the same or similar circumstances. McMaster claimed the deviation from standard care most probably caused McMaster to suffer an unnecessary injury of medication induced psychosis. See Notice of Intent to File Suit (ROA 10); Complaint (ROA 12).

In giving notice pursuant to S.C. Code § 15-79-125(A) and then in his Complaint, McMaster outlined a long history with DeWitt and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. that began in 1993. He said DeWitt first prescribed Adderall to him in January 1999 for the purpose of improving his attention span. Initially the dosing for Adderall was 20 mg. twice per day. Over the course of treatment, Dr. DeWitt increased the dosing of Adderall, which was being prescribed to McMaster in addition to other drugs. By December 2007, DeWitt was directing McMaster to take Adderall XR 2 (extended release) in the amount of 30 mg twice a day and once every noon and to take Adderall Regular Release in the amount of 30 mg twice a day and once every noon. See Notice of Intent to File Suit (ROA 10); Complaint (ROA 12).

In support of his allegations, McMaster submitted the affidavit of Dave McAlister Davis, M.D., a board certified psychiatrist practicing in Atlanta. Dr. Davis stated that Dr. DeWitt deviated from standard medical care in prescribing an excessive amount of Adderall that caused McMaster to have a medication induced psychosis on or about June 25, 2008. McMaster was examined by defense counsel at deposition on October 4, 2012. See McMaster Deposition (ROA 67). The court reporter completed the transcript on October 18, 2012. See McMaster Deposition (ROA 67).

DeWitt moved for summary judgment on November 20, 2012, on grounds that the statute of limitations barred the plaintiff's action. See DeWitt's Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 22). Carolina Psychiatric Services moved for summary judgment on November 28, 2012, also on grounds that the plaintiff's action was barred by the statute of limitations. See Carolina Psychiatric Services Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 24). On December 12, 2012, two days before a scheduled hearing, McMaster filed and served an affidavit in response to the motions for summary judgment. The hearing then was rescheduled for oral argument on December 13 with the understanding that the affidavit would not be time-barred.

The Hon. Alison Renee Lee heard argument on the defendants' motions for summary judgment on December 13, 2012. On February 21, 2013, Judge Lee entered an order granting summary judgment to both DeWitt and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A., on the basis that "(p)laintiff's Complaint is barred by the statute of limitations and does not establish any potential liability on the part of Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. or Dr. Dewitt." See Order, filed February 21, 2013 (ROA 4). The court found as a matter of law that the statute of limitations in medical malpractice actions is three years, see S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-545, and that "(t)he three-year statute of limitations begins to run when the facts and circumstances of the injury would put a person of common knowledge and experience on notice that ... some claim against a party might exist." See Order (ROA 4)(citing Dunbar v. Carlson, 341 S.C. 261, 266, 533 S.E.2d 913, 916 (Ct. App. 2000)).

The court found that McMaster had been told in May 2008 the reason for his injury, which was "sufficient information to put the claimant on notice of a claim." See Order (citing Arant v. Kressler, 327 S.C. 225, 229, 489 S.E.2d 206, 208 (1997)). Basing its findings entirely on McMaster's deposition testimony, the court said McMaster knew he was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008 and that the statute of limitations began to run at that time. See Order (ROA 4).

The court acknowledged that McMaster had submitted an affidavit contradicting his deposition testimony, but the court found that the affidavit was a sham. See, Order (ROA 4).

McMaster filed a motion for reconsideration on March 5, 2013. Judge Lee denied the motion for reconsideration by order filed on March 11, 2013, without oral argument.

McMaster served notice of appeal as to the orders of summary judgment and denial of reconsideration on March 28, 2013.

Argument

I. Did plaintiff present sufficient evidence to create an issue of material fact about whether plaintiff's medical malpractice claim was brought within the statute of limitations?

Summary judgment is appropriate when it is clear there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Rule 56(c), SCRPC. Baird v. Charleston County, 333 S.C. 519, 511 S.E.2d 69 (1999). A trial court should grant a motion for summary judgment when pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with affidavits, if any, show there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and moving party is entitled to judgment as matter of law. Wells v. City of Lynchburg, 331 S.C. 296, 501 S.E.2d 746 (S.C. Ct. App. 1998). In determining whether any triable issue of fact exists so as to preclude summary judgment, the evidence and all inferences reasonably drawn therefrom must be viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. Strother v. Lexington County Recreation Comm'n, 332 S.C. 54, 504 S.E.2d 117 (1998). If triable issues exist, those issues must go to the jury for consideration. Rothrock v. Copeland, 305 S.C. 402, 409 S.E.2d 366 (1991). Summary judgment is a drastic remedy which should be cautiously invoked so that a litigant is not improperly deprived of a trial on disputed factual issues. Baughman v. American Tel. and Tel. Co., 306 S.C. 101, 112, 410 S.E.2d 537, 543 (1991).

On appeal from an order granting summary judgment, the appellate court applies the same standard that governs the trial court. Bovain v. Canal Ins., 383 S.C. 100, 105, 678 S.E.2d 422, 424 (2009). The appellate court is to review all ambiguities, conclusions, and inferences arising in and from the evidence in a light most favorable to the appellant, the non-moving party below. Hancock v. Mid-South Mgmt. Co., 381 S.C. 326, 329-30, 673 S.E.2d 801, 802 (2009); Osborne v. Adams, 346 S.C. 4, 7, 550 S.E.2d 319, 321 (2001); Williams v. Chesterfield Lumber Co., 267 S.C. 607, 230 S.E.2d 447 (1976).

The trial court based its summary judgment on two excerpts from McMaster's deposition:

Q: And you were discharged at the end of May 2008 from the hospital?

A: May 2008. The first time, yeah.

Q: Okay. All right. And when you were discharged, did you know what was wrong with you?

A: From what I was told, it was Adderall induced psychosis.

McMaster Deposition at 35 (ROA 81), ll. 4-11.

A: I mean, John called it Adderall induced psychosis when I talked to John.

Q: And that was in May of 2008?

A: Correct.

McMaster Deposition at 47 (ROA 83), ll. 3-6.

The court concluded that if McMaster knew his diagnosis in May 2008, then he was too late to commence an action when he filed his Notice of Intent to File Suit in June 16, 2011. Yet McMaster could not have known in May 2008 that his involuntary commitment for paranoia and hallucinations was caused by medication induced psychosis, because the diagnosis was not made until on or after June 25, 2008.

The court wrongly overlooked key medical records submitted by plaintiff's without objection. The first was a discharge summary from the May hospitalization which showed that the hospitalization continued until May 28, 2008. At the conclusion of the hospitalization DeWitt dictated the discharge summary and stated expressly that McMaster's diagnosis was paranoid psychosis of unclear etiology. He made no mention of possible medication induced psychosis. In other words, as of May 28, he did not know what was causing McMaster's psychosis.

The second document was DeWitt's discharge summary written after McMaster was readmitted into the hospital on June 25, 2008, for psychotic behavior manifested by paranoia, believing that he was being followed by the FBI. It was on this diagnosis that DeWitt stated the diagnosis of "medication or drug induced paranoia." See Discharge Summary 7/10/2008 (ROA 113).

Together, these discharge summaries raised a question of fact as to whether McMaster could have been told a diagnosis of medication induced psychosis before June 25, 2008, but they were overlooked by the court. DeWitt could not have told McMaster something in May 2008 that he did not yet know himself.

McMaster submitted an affidavit to correct the responses he made to the leading deposition questions of defense counsel that suggested he learned of the diagnosis in May 2008. In the affidavit, he stated, "Only after I was admitted to the hospital on June 25, 2008, did I know or have reason to know that the medications prescribed by Dr. DeWitt, including Adderall, were the cause of my paranoia and psychotic state."

If the affidavit had been accepted, the court would have found a material question of fact. Instead, the court wrongly rejected the affidavit as sham, and accepted only the deposition testimony. See Order (ROA 4).

When considering whether to reject an affidavit submitted in response to a motion for summary judgment, the court must consider whether the previous sworn testimony indicates the witness was confused at the time. See Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004). In rejecting McMaster's affidavit, the court asserted "there has not been an indication that Plaintiff was confused during his deposition." See Order (ROA 4). Yet, McMaster said several times during deposition that his memory was faulty.

Q: All right. Was your disability at all affected or created by the allegations against Dr.

DeWitt in this lawsuit?

A: I think so, yes.

Q: Why is that?

A: Just since that time, I haven't -- I'm just -- it's been very hard for me to -- to do anything really. My memory is terrible and forgive me, if I've gotten anything wrong so far, it's not intentional. I just really can't remember things. My memory is very bad.

McMaster Deposition at 13 ll. 5-15.

My memory is gone. I can't remember anything. I do the best I can. I used to be in politics. I could remember names. I was pretty good at names. I can't remember names, places, and it's -- it's terrible. I told Charley about this. It's just terrible. I got -- I just got to live with it.

McMaster Deposition at 37-38.

Moreover, at the time of his deposition, McMaster was not on his regularly scheduled medications, including the Adderall which treated his attention deficit disorder.

Q: When was the last time you took medicines on a regular basis?

A: Last month.

Q: What medicines were you taking then?

A: It was Adderall 20 mg twice a day.

Q: Who was prescribing that for you?

A: That last visit I had at Eastover, he did prescribe a prescription of Adderall before I left.

Q: That's the Dr. Franklin Watson?

A: Or something like that. Yeah. I'm sorry. I can't remember his name.

Q: That's okay. And that's at Eastover Psychiatric?

A: Yeah.

Q: In Charlotte?

A: Right.

Q: And you haven't been back to see him?

A: No. I've got an appointment to go back, but I had to get all the releases done. They haven't been done and those need to be sent to Keith Noland.

Q: Releases from your prior records?

Q: Okay.

A: And anybody else, I just signed it carte blanche and he was going to see me after he reviewed those.

Q: All right. And so why are you not taking the medicines now that you were taking last month?

A: Well, my appointment is next -- next week and just -- I don't have them right -- I'm -- I'm not taking them for this deposition and I'm not

Q: Did you just run out or did you --

A: Yeah. I ran out.

Q: -- not take them because you had a deposition?

Why -- why are you not taking them now?

A: I ran out --

Q: Okay.

A: -- and I didn't want to take them for the deposition either.

Q: All right. So when was the last time you've taken Adderall?

A: Last week.

McMaster Deposition at 20-22.

When taken with documented evidence showing that the diagnosis of medication induced psychosis was unknown to McMaster's doctors in May, the failure of memory is an adequate explanation for the statements of the affidavit that contraindicated the sworn statements given by McMaster in response to leading questions about the timing of DeWitt's diagnosis. See id.

The court stressed that the affidavit was submitted just two days before the summary judgment motions were scheduled to be heard. The court's concern over the timing of the affidavit was undue, however, given that the one of the motions was filed just 22 days before the filing of the affidavit and the second motion was filed only 13 days before the affidavit.

The court further should have recognized that it was important for McMaster to correct his deposition testimony by affidavit, since the statute of limitations turned on when DeWitt told him the diagnosis. In doing so, McMaster was correcting deposition answers that had been suggested to him by defense counsel, not long standing or repeated sworn testimony. See Cothran at 218.

The general rule in South Carolina is that a correcting affidavit should not be excluded. The "sham" affidavit rule is an exception to the general rule of allowing the affidavit. See Cothran, 357 S.C. at 218 (Supreme Court found that Court of Appeals "misapplied" the sham affidavit rule to exclude a second affidavit rendered to correct an earlier affidavit). Under the circumstances, McMaster's affidavit in response to the motions for summary judgment was submitted not for the sole purpose of creating a "sham" issue of fact. See id.

II. Did the lower court commit error when it entered summary judgment for a party that had not pleaded the statute of limitations as an affirmative defense?

Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. did not plead the statute of limitations. See Carolina Psychiatric Services Answer (ROA 19). Consequently, the court erroneously entered summary judgment on a defense not raised by the defendant's pleading. In South Carolina a statute of limitations defense is an affirmative defense that must be raised by the defendant's answer, before the defendant may avail himself of it. See R. 8(c), SCRCP; Davis v. Atkinson, 281 S.C. 102, 313 S.E.2d 648 (Ct. App. 1984).

Conclusion

The summary judgments for respondents should be reversed and the case remanded.

STATEMENT OF ISSUES ON APPEAL

- I. DR. DEWITT PROPERLY RECEIVED SUMMARY JUDGMENT BECAUSE THE PLAINTIFF SUED HIM MORE THAN THREE YEARS AFTER NOTIFICATION OF ANY MALPRACTICE.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On May 13, 2008, attorney Joe McMaster had an Adderall induced psychosis for which he was admitted to Palmetto Health Baptist Hospital. (R. p. 56, ll. 3-6). He remained hospitalized until May 28, 2008. (R. p. 56, ll. 7-9). Mr. McMaster had been a patient of Dr. John DeWitt, psychiatrist, since 1993. According to Mr. McMaster, during the May hospitalization, Dr. DeWitt told Mr. McMaster that his psychosis was Adderall induced. After the hospitalization, Dr. DeWitt stopped prescribing Adderall to Mr. McMaster. (R. pp. 80-83).

On June 16, 2011, more than three years later, Mr. McMaster filed a notice of intent to sue Dr. DeWitt, alleging that his psychosis was caused by Dr. DeWitt over-prescribing Adderall. (R. p. 10). Mr. McMaster knew that he had a medication induced psychosis when he was hospitalized in May of 2008. (R. pp. 80-83). Since Mr. McMaster sued more than three years after his hospitalization and after the statute of limitations expired, Dr. DeWitt moved for summary judgment on November 20, 2012. (R. p. 22). Dr. DeWitt's employer, Carolina Psychiatric Services, moved for summary judgment on the same grounds on November 28, 2012. (R. p. 24). Two days before the motion hearing was scheduled, Mr. McMaster submitted an affidavit contradicting his sworn deposition testimony. Judge Alison Renee Lee heard arguments on the motions on December 13, 2012, and entered an order granting summary judgment for both Defendants on February 21, 2013. (R. p. 4). Mr. McMaster filed a motion for reconsideration on March 5, 2013, which was denied by Judge Lee on March 11, 2013. (R. p. 9). Mr. McMaster served his notice of appeal on March 28, 2013.

FACTS

Dr. John DeWitt is a psychiatrist who treated Attorney Joe McMaster. Dr. DeWitt prescribed Mr. McMaster Adderall for the treatment of Adult Attention Deficit Disorder. On May 13, 2008, Mr. McMaster was involuntarily committed to Palmetto Health Baptist Hospital. He remained in the hospital until May 28, 2008, when he was discharged in good health. (R. p. 112). According to Mr. McMaster, Dr. DeWitt informed him that the hospitalization was a result of Adderall induced psychosis and ceased prescribing the medication. Mr. McMaster was admitted to the hospital about one month later on June 25, 2008, for paranoia. (R. p. 4).

Mr. McMaster's Notice of Intent and Complaint does not mention the May 2008 hospitalization. (R. p. 6; p.13, ¶ 10). However, he testified in his deposition that he knew his May 2008 psychosis was Adderall induced. (R. p. 5; pp. 80-83).

Judge Lee found "no genuine issue of material fact about the date [Mr. McMaster] was on notice of his claim." (R. p. 7). She relied upon:

- The pleadings (R. pp. 12-21);
- Deposition excerpts from Mr. McMaster, pp. 34-35, 46-47, 53-54 (R. pp. 27-28);
- Deposition excerpts from Dr. Dave Davis, pp. 35-36 (R. pp. 29-30);
- An affidavit by Mr. McMaster which includes a discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 7/2/2008 – 7/27/2008 and a discharge

summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 9/25/2008 – 12/2/2008 (R. pp. 40-42);

- A discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 5/13/2008 – 5/28/2008 (R. p. 112);
- Hospital records dated 6/25/2008 – 7/10/2008 (R. pp. 117-392);
- A detention order request from Columbia Mental Health dated 5/11/2008 (R. p. 102);
- Progress notes from Palmetto Health Richland dated 5/13/2008 and 5/17/2008 (R. p. 104-105); and
- An exam for emergency admission at Palmetto Health Richland dated 5/13/2008 (R. p. 109).

Judge Lee disregarded Mr. McMaster's affidavit which contradicted his deposition testimony as a sham affidavit. In addition, Judge Lee determined that tolling due to insanity under South Carolina Code Section 15-3-545(D) was not available to Mr. McMaster. (R. p. 7). She entered summary judgment for the Defendants finding that the Complaint was barred by the statute of limitations. (R. p. 7).

ARGUMENT

I. DR. DEWITT PROPERLY RECEIVED SUMMARY JUDGMENT BECAUSE THE PLAINTIFF SUED HIM MORE THAN THREE YEARS AFTER NOTIFICATION OF ANY MALPRACTICE.

The statute of limitations in medical malpractice actions is three years. S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-545. The statute begins to run when the circumstances of the injury would put a person of common knowledge on notice that some claim might exist. Dunbar v. Carlson, 341 S.C. 261, 266, 533 S.E.2d 913, 916 (Ct. App. 2000). In May 2008, Mr.

McMaster suffered an Adderall induced psychosis for which he was admitted to the hospital. His Adderall induced psychosis is the basis for his lawsuit against Dr. DeWitt. According to Mr. McMaster, in May 2008, Dr. DeWitt told him he suffered an Adderall induced psychosis, more than three years before Mr. McMaster filed his notice of intent to sue.

As Mr. McMaster testified in his deposition:

- Q: In your opinion, you were disabled beginning--
A: Yeah.
Q: --in May of 2008?
A: Yeah. Yeah.
Q: All right. And that was because of the Adderall?
A: Yeah. Yeah. This whole incident.
Q: All right. And you knew that then, when you went in that, that was the problem or when you got out?
A: No. I didn't know it when I went in. I didn't know that was the problem when I went in.
Q: But you knew it when you got out? When you talked to your boss?
A: When I talked to--talked to the doctors on the floor.
Q: Okay.
A: I mean, John [Dr. John DeWitt] called it Adderall induced psychosis when I talked to John.
Q: And that was in May of 2008?
A: Correct.

(R. p. 82, l.10 – p. 83, l.6).

Mr. McMaster also testified as follows:

- Q: Okay. What did Dr. DeWitt do wrong?
A: As far as I can tell, he just gave me too much medicine.
Q: All right.
A: I mean, it was just way too much and I didn't know it until it was too late.
Q: And that would've been when you went into the hospital in May --
A: Yeah.

Q: -- of 2008?

A: Right

(R. p. 80, ll. 8-18).

Q: And you were discharged at the end of May 2008 from the hospital?

A: May 2008. The first time, yeah.

Q: All right. And when you were discharged, did you know what was wrong with you?

A: From what I was told, it was Adderall induced psychosis.

(R. p. 81, ll. 4-11).

Thus, Mr. McMaster testified three times in his deposition that during his May 2008 hospitalization, he knew that he was being hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis. He even testified that Dr. DeWitt told him he was hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis.

After Mr. McMaster's hospitalization in May of 2008, Dr. DeWitt never prescribed Adderall to Mr. McMaster. According to Mr. McMaster's testimony:

Q: And certainly after your Adderall induced psychosis, where you went in the hospital in May, you weren't prescribed any more Adderall by Dr. DeWitt after that?

A: No.

(R. p. 86, ll. 21-25).

Mr. McMaster filed his notice of intent to sue Dr. DeWitt on June 16, 2011, more than three years after his May hospitalization. The statute begins to run when the circumstances of the injury would put a person of common knowledge on notice that some claim might exist. Dunbar, 341 S.C. at 266, 533 S.E.2d at 916. It is not the date on which a diagnosis is made. See id. ("The three-year statute of limitations begins to run when the facts and circumstances of the injury would put a person of common knowledge and experience on notice that some right of hers has been invaded or that some claim against a party might exist”); Strong v. Univ. of S. Carolina Sch. of Med., 316 S.C. 189, 190-91, 447 S.E.2d 850, 851-52 (1994) (“Under the discovery rule, an action accrues when the injury is discovered or reasonably ought to have been discovered”).

The date on which discovery should have been made is an objective, not subjective, question. When a claimant is told of the reason for an injury, this is sufficient information to put the claimant on notice of a claim. Arant v. Kressler, 327 S.C. 225, 229, 489 S.E.2d 206, 208 (1997) (finding that information on the reason for a D&C, told orally to the claimant, was sufficient to put a person of common knowledge on notice that some claim against the doctor might exist); see also Snell v. Columbia Gun Exch., Inc., 276 S.C. 301, 303, 278 S.E.2d 333, 334 (1981) (“The exercise of reasonable diligence means simply that an injured party must act with some promptness where the facts and circumstances of an injury would put a person of common knowledge and experience on notice that some right of his has been invaded or that some claim against another party might exist.”); Knox v. Greenville Hosp. Sys., 362 S.C. 566, 608 S.E.2d 459 (S.C. App. 2005) (citing Joubert, 534 S.E.2d 1, 9 (Ct. App. 2000)); Kreutner v. David, 320 S.C. 283, 465 S.E.2d 88 (1995). “Moreover, the fact that a plaintiff does not comprehend the full extent of his injuries is immaterial.” Dean v. Ruscon Corp., 321 S.C. 360, 364, 468 S.E.2d 645, 647 (1996); see also, Knox, at 2. “[T]he statute of limitations begins to run when the plaintiff should know that he might have a potential claim against another, not when he develops a full-blown theory of recovery.” Joubert v. S. Carolina Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 341 S.C. 176, 190, 534 S.E.2d 1, 8 (Ct. App. 2000).

She was still experiencing heavy, abnormal vaginal bleeding 3 weeks after the delivery. Id. She saw Dr. Kressler on January 24, 1990. During that visit, he told her that the bleeding was caused by Dr. Parr's failure to remove the entire placenta after delivery. Id. The next day, Dr. Kressler performed a dilation and curettage ("D&C") procedure in an effort to correct the problem. Id.

On March 27, 1990, Arant was diagnosed with Asherman's syndrome, a complication arising from the D&C procedure. Id. at 227-28, 489 S.E.2d at 207. She sued Dr. Kressler on February 2, 1993, claiming he negligently performed the D&C procedure. Id. During that suit, Dr. Parr testified to the standard of care at delivery regarding placenta removal. Id. at 228, 489 S.E.2d at 208. Arant moved to amend her pleadings to add Dr. Parr as a defendant. Id. The trial court denied her motion, and the South Carolina Supreme Court affirmed, holding that the claim against Dr. Parr was time barred under S.C. Code § 15-3-545. Id. at 228-29, 489 S.E.2d at 208. The court explained that the plaintiff became aware of her injury more than three years before filing her complaint. "By plaintiff's own admission, Dr. Kressler told her on January 24, 1990, that the reason she was bleeding ... was because Dr. Parr had not removed all of the placenta." Id. at 229, 489 S.E.2d at 208.

In Knox v. Greenville Hospital System, an emergency room nurse attempted to insert a needle into Mr. Knox's wrist on May 2, 2000. Mr. Knox screamed in pain as the nurse tried to insert the needle. The pain continued while he was in the emergency room. Mr. Knox told others in the emergency room that he was in pain and that he thought the nurse had hit a nerve. Upon discharge, the hospital told Mr. Knox to apply ice packs to his wrist and return if the pain did not subside. Id. at 568, 608 S.E.2d at 460-61. Mr.

Knox's pain continued, and he sought the opinion of an orthopedic surgeon. On July 26, 2000, the surgeon told Mr. Know that his radial nerve was permanently injured. The condition required surgery and pain management treatment. Id. at 568-69, 608 S.E.2d at 461. Mr. Knox sued the hospital on May 8, 2002.

As a governmental entity, the hospital was entitled to a two year statute of limitations. See S.C. Code Ann. § 15-78-110 (Supp. 2003). Id. at 570, 608 S.E.2d at 461-62.

Mr. Knox argued that he did not discover he had a claim until he was diagnosed by the surgeon on July 26, 2000, and thus had until July 26, 2002, to file his claim. The court held that Mr. Knox was on notice of his injury on May 2, 2000, when he felt pain at the insertion of the needle. The distinctive feature of the case was that Mr. Knox knew that his pain was not a normal reaction. Thus, a person of common knowledge and experience would be on notice of the claim on May 2, 2000. Mr. Knox's claim was barred because it was not brought by May 2, 2002. Id. at 571, 608 S.E.2d at 462.

Just as in Arant and Knox, Mr. McMaster knew he was hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008. Mr. McMaster stated this fact three times in his deposition. This is enough, according to South Carolina courts, to put him on notice of his claim.

A medical diagnosis is not a necessary element of notice. In Knox, the patient's only notice was pain. The patient knew that pain was abnormal, and the court held that his knowledge of that pain was enough to start the statute of limitations for malpractice. A later medical diagnosis did not re-start the statute of limitations. Mr. McMaster knew that he was hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008. Even without knowing more, he knew he had a claim against Dr. DeWitt.

Mr. McMaster filed an affidavit with the court two days before the motion hearing. In the affidavit, he states that he was not aware of the Adderall induced psychosis until approximately June 25, 2008. This affidavit directly contradicts his sworn deposition testimony. Judge Lee relied upon Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004), to distinguish Mr. McMaster's affidavit as a sham affidavit. Therefore, there was no genuine issue of material fact as to when Mr. McMaster became aware of the reason for his injury.¹

Mr. McMaster knew he suffered an Adderall induced psychosis when he was admitted to the hospital in May 2008. He testified to that knowledge three separate times in his deposition. He admits that after May 2008, he was not prescribed Adderall by Dr. DeWitt. Mr. McMaster's subsequent hospitalization in June 2008 does not restart the statute of limitations.

Mr. McMaster waited more than three years to file a notice of intent to sue Dr. DeWitt. As a result, he sued after the statute of limitations expired.

II. MR. McMASTER ASKS THIS COURT TO DISREGARD HIS DEPOSITION TESTIMONY BECAUSE HE WAS CONFUSED. TO PROVE HIS CONFUSION, HE IMPROPERLY RELIES UPON DEPOSITION EXCERPTS THAT HE DID NOT SUBMIT TO JUDGE LEE.

Mr. McMaster argues that Judge Lee overlooked medical records and considered only Mr. McMaster's deposition excerpts in finding Mr. McMaster's affidavit a sham. Judge Lee's order states that she considered the law, "the briefs filed by both parties, the arguments of counsel, and all matters submitted” before granting Defendants’ Motions for Summary Judgment. The matters submitted included:

- The pleadings (R. pp. 12-21);
- Deposition excerpts from Mr. McMaster, pp. 34-35, 46-47, 53-54 (R. pp. 27-28);
- Deposition excerpts from Dr. Dave Davis, pp. 35-36 (R. pp. 29-30); and
- An affidavit by Mr. McMaster which includes a discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 7/2/2008 – 7/27/2008 and a discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 9/25/2008 – 12/2/2008 (R. pp. 40-42).

In addition, Mr. McMaster’s lawyer submitted to the court at the motion hearing on December 13, 2012, a discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 5/13/2008 – 5/28/2008 (R. p. 112) and hospital records dated 6/25/2008 – 7/10/2008 (R. p. 117-392). Carolina Psychiatric Services’ lawyer entered the following items into the record at the motion hearing on December 13, 2012:

- A detention order request from Columbia Mental Health dated 5/11/2008 (R. p. 102),
- Progress notes from Palmetto Health Richland dated 5/13/2008 and 5/17/2008 (R. pp. 104-105); and
- An exam for emergency admission at Palmetto Health Richland dated 5/13/2008 (R. p. 109).

Mr. McMaster now relies upon portions of his deposition which he did not present to Judge Lee. These portions were not referenced in the oral arguments to Judge Lee (R.

pp. 43-66) nor were they submitted to Judge Lee or filed with the clerk of court. They are not part of the record because they were not presented to the trial court.

South Carolina Appellate Rule 210 states that “[t]he Record [on Appeal] shall not . . . include matter which was not presented to the lower court or tribunal.” S.C. App. Ct. R. 210. Thus, Mr. McMaster cannot reference pages 13, 20, 22, 37, and 38 of his deposition. He also cannot designate to be included in the record on appeal pages 1-7, 12-15, 21-22, 24-27, 36-38, 45, and 55-56 of the McMaster deposition and the Davis affidavit.

III. THE JUDGE CORRECTLY HELD THAT MR. McMASTER’S AFFIDAVIT CONTRADICTING HIS DEPOSITION TESTIMONY WAS A SHAM.

Mr. McMaster’s December 12, 2012 affidavit is a sham affidavit directly contradicting his deposition testimony. On December 12, 2012, two days before the motion hearing for summary judgment was scheduled, Mr. McMaster submitted an affidavit in which he testified that he did not know that he was hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis until after June 25, 2008. This testimony directly contradicts his deposition testimony. Mr. McMaster testified three times in his deposition that he knew he was hospitalized in May 2008 for Adderall induced psychosis.

Courts disregard a subsequent affidavit as a sham, or as not creating an issue of fact for purposes of summary judgment, when a party submits the subsequent affidavit to contradict that party’s own prior sworn statement. Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004) (citing Margo v. Weiss, 213 F.3d 55, 63 (2nd Cir. 2000); Rohrbough v. Wyeth Labs. Inc., 916 F.2d 970, 976 (4th Cir. 1990); Martin v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 851 F.2d 703, 705 (3rd Cir. 1988)), see also, McCleary v

Smith, 2012 WL 3598765 (D.S.C. 2012). In distinguishing a sham affidavit, the South Carolina Supreme Court set forth the following considerations:

- (1) whether an explanation is offered for the statements that contradict prior sworn statements;
- (2) the importance to the litigation of the fact about which there is a contradiction;
- (3) whether the nonmovant had access to this fact prior to the previous sworn testimony;
- (4) the frequency and degree of variation between statements in the previous sworn testimony and statements made in the later affidavit concerning this fact;
- (5) whether the previous sworn testimony indicates the witness was confused at the time;
- (6) when, in relation to summary judgment, the second affidavit is submitted.

Cothran, 357 S.C. at 218, 592 S.E.2d at 633 (citing Pittman v. Atlantic Realty Co., 359 Md. 513, 754 A.2d 1030, 1042 (2000)). In Cothran, the South Carolina Supreme Court found federal case law on sham affidavits persuasive, and provided the six considerations cited above for guidance. Id. at 217-218, 592 S.E.2d at 633. It held that courts “disregard a subsequent affidavit as a sham, that is, as not creating an issue of fact for purposes of summary judgment . . . [when a party submits] the subsequent affidavit to contradict that party’s own prior sworn statement.” Id. at 218, 592 S.E.2d at 633.

Judge Lee found that Mr. McMaster:

has not offered an explanation for his contradictory statements, and the date on which [he] had notice of his claim is a central issue in this case. In addition, [Mr. McMaster’s] testimony in his prior deposition varies greatly from the statements in his affidavit There has not been an indication that [Mr. McMaster] was confused during his deposition. Furthermore, in relation to summary judgment, the affidavit was submitted two days before this matter was scheduled to be heard.

(R. p. 6).

Mr. McMaster offered his affidavit to contradict his deposition to create an issue of fact. The affidavit does not state that he was correcting prior testimony. It does not state it was created to correct third parties' prior statements. The only information offered in this affidavit is a change in the date when Mr. McMaster learned of the reason for his hospitalization. It is solely Mr. McMaster's attempt to create an issue of fact by contradicting himself. There is no explanation offered for his self-contradiction. There is no explanation for Mr. McMaster's failure to correct the deposition earlier, though he had the opportunity to do so. (R. p. 53, ll. 3-7). Mr. McMaster does not explain why he testified three times in his deposition that he knew in May 2008 that he was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis. Mr. McMaster's affidavit does not mention his previous deposition, explain why he is now contradicting it, or indicate that he was confused.

Mr. McMaster claims that Judge Lee incorrectly found that he was not confused. He cites his own testimony that was not given to Judge Lee to argue his memory was faulty during his deposition. Mr. McMaster did not claim to be confused in his deposition or in his affidavit. He did not complain of being disoriented with regard to time, place, or identity. To the contrary, Mr. McMaster gave detailed and coherent answers. (R. pp. 80-81). He answered questions about his disability application, and he explained when he had filed the application. (R. p. 82). He recalled the name of a recent job interviewer, his number of shares in a company, and when he was paid for his shares. (R. p. 83). He even found that one of his medications was missing from a health record during the deposition, and testified to the side effects of that medication. (R. pp. 86-87).^{2 3}

Mr. McMaster is a lawyer and understands the importance of sworn testimony. He did not express any confusion at his deposition regarding sworn testimony. There is no contention that he was unable to truthfully and accurately answer questions at his deposition. In fact, he was asked at his deposition if he could answer questions and responded that he could as follows:

Q: My name is Ward Bradley and I'm going to take your deposition today.
A: Okay.
Q: Do you understand that Mr. McMaster?
A: Yes, sir.
Q: You are a lawyer?
A: Yes, sir.
Q: So you understand what a deposition is?
A: Yes, sir.
Q: And you understand what an oath is that you just took?
A: Correct.

(R. p. 67, 1.18 – p. 68 1.4).⁴ In addition, in his December 12, 2012 affidavit, Mr. McMaster does not testify that he was confused during his deposition. Under these factors, the court correctly found that Mr. McMaster's affidavit is a sham affidavit submitted to contradict his earlier sworn testimony, and the court rejected it.

² Mr. McMaster also recalled the names of doctors he had seen, their current practice location, and their specialty. (R. pp. 71-75). He was able to recall his arrest record and the reasons for his detainment. (R. pp. 69-70). He was able to recall his past employment and his rate of pay. (R. pp. 76-79). He was able to recall the names of company CEO's and companies with which he was trying to create a business relationship in 2005. (R. pp. 84-85). He recalled specific details from his hospitalization in a Lancaster treatment facility in 2001 and exhibited detailed knowledge about his medications at that time. (R. pp. 88-100).

⁴ Dr. DeWitt is including additional excerpts from Mr. McMaster's deposition which were not presented to Judge Lee to counter the excerpts Mr. McMaster now submits to this court which were not submitted to Judge Lee.

CONCLUSION

The affidavit offered by Mr. McMaster was correctly categorized as a sham affidavit and was correctly excluded. Mr. McMaster knew that he had a claim in May of 2008 and did not file the notice of intent to sue until June 16, 2011, after the statute of limitations expired. Thus, this Court should affirm Judge Lee's order for summary judgment.

STATEMENT OF ISSUES ON APPEAL

1. IS CAROLINA PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A. ENTITLED TO SUMMARY JUDGMENT FOR ALL OF THE REASONS STATED BY RESPONDENT DEWITT IN HIS INITIAL BRIEF, WHICH ARE INCORPORATED HEREIN BY REFERENCE?
2. DID CAROLINA PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A. PROPERLY RECEIVE SUMMARY JUDGMENT BECAUSE IT HAS NOT WAIVED ITS STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS DEFENSE?
3. DID CAROLINA PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A. PROPERLY RECEIVE SUMMARY JUDGMENT BECAUSE ITS AGENT, DR. DEWITT, RECEIVED SUMMARY JUDGMENT?

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On May 13, 2008, attorney Joe McMaster had an Adderall induced psychosis for which he was admitted to Palmetto Health Baptist Hospital. (R. p. 56, lines 3-6) He remained hospitalized until May 28, 2008. (Id., lines 7-9) Mr. McMaster had been a patient of Dr. John DeWitt, psychiatrist, since 1993. According to Mr. McMaster, during the May hospitalization, Dr. DeWitt told Mr. McMaster that his psychosis was Adderall induced. After the hospitalization, Dr. DeWitt stopped prescribing Adderall to Mr. McMaster. (R. pp. 80-83)

On June 16, 2011, more than three years later, Mr. McMaster filed a notice of intent to sue Dr. DeWitt, alleging that his psychosis was caused by Dr. DeWitt over-prescribing Adderall. (R. pp. 10-11) Mr. McMaster knew that he had a medication induced psychosis when he was hospitalized in May of 2008: (R. pp. 80-83) Since Mr. McMaster sued more than three years after his hospitalization and after the statute of limitations expired, Dr. DeWitt moved for summary judgment on November 20, 2012. (R. pp. 22-23) Dr. DeWitt's employer, Carolina Psychiatric Services, moved for summary judgment on the same grounds on November 28, 2012. (R. pp. 24-25) Two days before the motion hearing was scheduled, Mr. McMaster submitted an affidavit contradicting his sworn deposition testimony.

Judge Alison Renee Lee heard arguments on the motions on December 13, 2012, and entered an order granting summary judgment for both Defendants on February 21,

2013. (R. pp. 4-8) Judge Lee found “no genuine issue of material fact about the date [Mr. McMaster] was on notice of his claim.” (R. p. 7). She relied upon:

- The pleadings (R. pp. 12-21);
- Deposition excerpts from Mr. McMaster, pp. 34-35, 46-47, 53-54 (R. pp. 26-36, 80-83, 86-87);
- Deposition excerpts from Dr. Dave Davis, pp. 35-36 (R. pp. 29-30);
- An affidavit by Mr. McMaster which includes a discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 7/2/2008 – 7/27/2008 and a discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 9/25/2008 – 12/2/2008 (R. pp. 40-42);
- A discharge summary from Palmetto Health Baptist dated 5/13/2008 – 5/28/2008 (R. p. 111);
- Hospital records dated 6/25/2008 – 7/10/2008 (R. pp. 117-392);
- A detention order request from Columbia Mental Health dated 5/11/2008 (R. p. 102);
- Progress notes from Palmetto Health Richland dated 5/13/2008 and 5/17/2008 (R. pp. 104-105); and
- An exam for emergency admission at Palmetto Health Richland dated 5/13/2008 (R. pp. 109-110).

Judge Lee disregarded Mr. McMaster's affidavit which contradicted his deposition testimony as a sham affidavit. In addition, Judge Lee determined that tolling due to insanity under South Carolina Code Section 15-3-545(D) was not available to Mr. McMaster. (R. p. 6) She entered summary judgment for the Defendants finding that the Complaint was barred by the statute of limitations. (R. p. 8)

Mr. McMaster filed a motion for reconsideration on March 5, 2013, which was denied by Judge Lee on March 11, 2013. (R. p. 9) Mr. McMaster served his notice of appeal on March 28, 2013.

STATEMENT OF THE FACTS

Dr. John DeWitt is a psychiatrist who treated Attorney Joe McMaster. Dr. DeWitt prescribed Mr. McMaster Adderall for the treatment of Adult Attention Deficit Disorder. On May 13, 2008, Mr. McMaster was involuntarily committed to Palmetto Health Baptist Hospital. He remained in the hospital until May 28, 2008, when he was discharged in good health. (R. p. 112) According to Mr. McMaster, Dr. DeWitt informed him that the hospitalization was a result of Adderall induced psychosis and ceased prescribing the medication. Mr. McMaster was admitted to the hospital about one month later on June 25, 2008, for paranoia. (R. p. 4)

Mr. McMaster's Notice of Intent and Complaint does not mention the May 2008 hospitalization. (R. p. 6; p. 13, ¶10) However, he testified in his deposition that he knew his May 2008 psychosis was Adderall induced. (R. p. 5; pp. 80-83).

ARGUMENT

- I. CAROLINA PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A. IS ENTITLED TO SUMMARY JUDGMENT FOR ALL OF THE REASONS STATED BY RESPONDENT DEWITT IN HIS INITIAL BRIEF, WHICH ARE INCORPORATED HEREIN BY REFERENCE.

Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. includes and incorporates, by reference, all of the arguments asserted by Respondent DeWitt in his Initial Brief. (Initial Br. of Resp't, pp. 4-15)

- II. CAROLINA PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A. PROPERLY RECEIVED SUMMARY JUDGMENT BECAUSE IT HAS NOT WAIVED ITS STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS DEFENSE.

Mr. McMaster argues, per Rule 8 of the South Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure and Davie v. Atkinson, 281 S.C. 102, 313 S.E.2d 648 (Ct. App. 1984), that Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. did not plead the statute of limitations defense in its answer and thus has waived this affirmative defense. This argument is valid, but is not a complete statement of the law. In Austin v. Conway Hospital, Inc., the South Carolina Court of Appeals took a step further and held that Davie meant only that "the statute of limitations must be pleaded at some point." 292 S.C. 334, 337, 356 S.E.2d 153, 155 (1987) (emphasis added). The court in Austin further cited Sauls-Baker Co. v. Atlantic C.L. R. Co., 109 S.C. 285, 969 S.E. 118 (1918), as support for this holding. In Sauls-Baker Co. the defendant was allowed to amend its pleadings to include a statute of limitations defense after the first trial and appeal, but before the second trial. 109 S.C. 285, 969 S.E. 118. Under this precedent, it is clear that Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. has not waived the statute of limitations as an affirmative defense. Furthermore, Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. timely made its Motion for Summary Judgment after

Mr. McMaster's deposition in which he stated he was aware upon admission to the hospital in May 2008 that his hospitalization was medicine-induced. The lower court properly granted summary judgment in its favor.

III. CAROLINA PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A. PROPERLY RECEIVED SUMMARY JUDGMENT BECAUSE ITS AGENT, DR. DEWITT, RECEIVED SUMMARY JUDGMENT.

Even if this Court finds that Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. waived its statute of limitations defense, the lower court nonetheless still properly granted Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. summary judgment because it properly granted Dr. DeWitt summary judgment.

If Dr. DeWitt is entitled to summary judgment on the statute of limitations issues, then so is Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. Mr. McMaster admits in both his Notice of Intent to File Suit and his Complaint that Dr. DeWitt was an employee of Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. (R. pp. 10-11; p. 12, ¶ 5) Mr. McMaster also asserts in both his Complaint that Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. is liable for malpractice through the actions of Dr. DeWitt. (R. p. 12, ¶ 6) Also, Mr. McMaster has not set forth in his pleadings or through discovery that Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. is liable to Mr. McMaster independent of any alleged negligence by Dr. DeWitt. In its Answer, Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. admits Dr. DeWitt was its employee. As such, there is no genuine issue of material fact as to the employee/employer relationship between Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. and Dr. DeWitt; Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. is only liable to Mr. McMaster if Dr. DeWitt is found liable. Because the lower court found complete summary judgment in favor of Dr. DeWitt, Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. is therefore relieved of any liability to Mr. McMaster.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated herein, Respondents urge this Court to affirm Judge Lee's order for summary judgment.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS
FOR THE FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

Civil Action No.: 2011-CP-40-08373

ORDER

FILED
2013 FEB 21 AM 11:05
JEANETTE W. McBRIDE
C.C.P. & G.S.

This matter came before the Court at a hearing on December 13, 2012, on the separate Motions for Summary Judgment of Defendants John H. DeWitt, M.D. ("Dr. DeWitt") and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. (collectively "Defendants"). Present at the hearing were Charles Henshaw, Jr., Esquire, counsel for Plaintiff Joseph D. McMaster, James Edward Bradley, Esquire, counsel for Dr. DeWitt, and Virginia Watson Williams, Esquire, counsel for Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. After considering the law, the briefs filed by the parties, the arguments of counsel, and all matters submitted, Defendants' Motions for Summary Judgment are GRANTED.

FACTS

Plaintiff has been under the care of Dr. Dewitt since 1993. Dr. Dewitt prescribed Adderall, Celexa, Remeron, and Provigil to Plaintiff. On May 13, 2008, Plaintiff was involuntarily committed to Palmetto Health Baptist Hospital in a delusional and paranoid state. Plaintiff alleges this was the result of an Adderall induced psychosis. Following his discharge on May 28, 2008, Plaintiff was not prescribed any more Adderall by Dr. Dewitt. Plaintiff was again admitted to the psychiatric unit of Palmetto Health Baptist in a paranoid and psychotic state on June 25, 2008, and was treated there until he was discharged on July 10, 2008. On June 16, 2011, Plaintiff filed a Notice of Intent to sue Dr. Dewitt, alleging that Dr. Dewitt was negligent in prescribing Adderall, which led to a medication induced psychosis. Plaintiff's Complaint alleges that Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A., Dr. Dewitt's employer, is liable under the theory of respondeat superior.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

Summary judgment is proper when there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. See Rule 56(c), SCRCF; Pittman v. Grand Strand Entertainment, Inc., 363 S.C. 531, 536, 611 S.E.2d 922, 925 (2005). In determining whether any triable issue of fact exists, the evidence and inferences which can reasonably be drawn therefrom must be viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. McNair v. Rainsford, 330 S.C. 332, 341, 499 S.E.2d 488, 493 (Ct. App. 1998). “[I]n cases applying the preponderance of evidence burden of proof, the non-moving party is only required to submit a mere scintilla of evidence in order to withstand a motion for summary judgment.” Hancock v. Mid-South Carolina Management Co., Inc., 381 S.C. 326, 330, 673 S.E.2d 801, 803 (2009).

DISCUSSION

In their respective Motions for Summary Judgment, Defendants argue that Plaintiff's Complaint is barred by the statute of limitations and does not establish any potential liability on the part of Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. or Dr. Dewitt.

The statute of limitations in medical malpractice actions is three years. See S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-545. “The three-year statute of limitations begins to run when the facts and circumstances of the injury would put a person of common knowledge and experience on notice that . . . some claim against a party might exist.” Dunbar v. Carlson, 341 S.C. 261, 266, 533 S.E.2d 913, 916 (Ct. App. 2000). When a claimant is told of the reason for an injury, this is sufficient information to put the claimant on notice of a claim. See Arant v. Kressler, 327 S.C. 225, 229, 489 S.E.2d 206, 208 (1997). “When there is conflicting testimony regarding the time of discovery, it becomes an issue for the jury to decide.” Id.

Defendants claim that Plaintiff knew he was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008, and that the statute of limitations began to run at that time. In his deposition, Plaintiff testified that he was told he had Adderall induced psychosis when he was discharged from the hospital in May 2008. McMaster Deposition, p. 35, lines 4-11. In response to additional questioning, Plaintiff testified that Dr. Dewitt told him he had Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008. Id. at p. 47, lines 3-6. Although Plaintiff was no longer prescribed Adderall by Dr. Dewitt after his May 2008 hospitalization, Plaintiff was admitted to the hospital again on June 25, 2008 for delusional and paranoid symptoms. Plaintiff filed his Notice of Intent to sue on June 16, 2011, more than three years after he discovered that that he was hospitalized due to the Adderall prescribed by Dr. Dewitt. Plaintiff's Notice of Intent omits the May 2008 hospitalization. Instead, the Notice of Intent only mentions the June 25, 2008 hospitalization. Even if the allegations in the Notice of Intent are true, Plaintiff's testimony indicates that he was aware that he suffered the Adderall induced psychosis due to the medicine prescribed by Dr. Dewitt when he was initially discharged in May 2008.

Plaintiff argues that his December 12, 2012 affidavit, in which he denies knowing that Adderall was the cause of his paranoia and psychotic state until June 25, 2008, creates an issue of fact. Plaintiff's affidavit directly contradicts his previous sworn testimony. A court may disregard a subsequent affidavit as a sham, or as not creating an issue of fact for purposes of summary judgment, when a party submits the subsequent affidavit to contradict that party's own prior sworn statement. See Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004). In distinguishing a sham affidavit, "the following considerations provide guidance: (1) whether an explanation is offered for the statements that contradict prior sworn statements; (2) the importance to the litigation of the fact about which there is a contradiction; (3) whether the nonmovant had access to this fact prior to the previous sworn testimony; (4) the frequency and degree of variation between statements in the previous sworn testimony and statements made in the later affidavit concerning this fact; (5) whether the previous sworn testimony indicates the witness was confused at the time; (6) when, in relation to summary judgment, the second affidavit is submitted." Id. Plaintiff has not offered an explanation for his contradictory statements, and the date on which Plaintiff had notice of his claim is a central issue in this case. In addition, Plaintiff's testimony in his prior deposition varies greatly from the statements in his affidavit. The affidavit alleges that Plaintiff did not know he was in the hospital as a result of an Adderall induced psychosis until June 25, 2008. There has not been an indication that Plaintiff was confused during his deposition. Furthermore, in relation to summary judgment, the affidavit was submitted two days before this matter was scheduled to be heard. As a result, Plaintiff's affidavit should be disregarded because it directly contradicts his previous sworn testimony.

Plaintiff argues that even if he discovered that he had a cause of action against Defendants in May 2008, the statute of limitations was tolled due to his insanity until he was discharged on July 10, 2008. Plaintiff relies on the tolling provisions of S.C. Code Ann. Section 15-3-40, which provide that:

If a person entitled to bring an action mentioned in Article 5 of this chapter . . . is at the time the cause of action accrued . . . insane; the time of the disability is not a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action, except that the period within which the action must be brought cannot be extended: (a) more than five years by any such disability, except infancy; nor (b) in any case longer than one year after the disability ceases.

Plaintiff argues that because he was “insane” from May 13, 2008, when he was involuntarily committed, until his discharge from his subsequent hospital stay on July 10, 2008, the statute of limitations began to run on July 10, 2008. On this basis, Plaintiff contends that the Notice of Intent, filed June 16, 2011, was within the three year statute of limitations.

However, the statute of limitations for medical malpractice actions, Section 15-3-545(A), provides that an action “to recover damages for injury to the person arising out of any medical . . . omission, or operation by any licensed health provider as defined in Article 5, Chapter 79, Title 38 . . . must be commenced within three years . . . or as tolled by this section.” (emphasis added). Section 15-3-545(D), the tolling provision, provides: “[n]otwithstanding the provisions of Section 15-3-40, if a person entitled to bring an action against a licensed health care provider . . . is under the age of majority . . . the time period or periods limiting filing of the action are not tolled for a period of more than seven years on account of minority.” The South Carolina Court has held that the inclusion of the phrase ‘or as tolled by this section’ in subsection (A) clearly indicates that the only tolling of § 15-3-545(A) intended by the legislature is that contained in subsection (D). See Harrison v. Bevilacqua, 354 S.C. 129, 137, 580 S.E.2d 109, 113 (2003). Consequently, the tolling provision of Section 15-3-40 for insanity cannot be applied to toll the medical malpractice statute of limitations, Section 15-3-545. Plaintiff argues that the insanity tolling provision of Section 15-3-40 is applicable because Section 15-3-40 applies to any “action mentioned in Article 5 of this chapter,” and the medical malpractice statute of limitations is contained within Article 5. However, Harrison is clear that the only tolling in a medical malpractice action is that provided in Section 15-3-545(D), which applies to minors. Therefore, tolling due to insanity under Section 15-3-40 is not available to Plaintiff.

There is no genuine issue of material fact about the date Plaintiff was on notice of his claim and the provisions of Section 15-3-40 do not toll the statute of limitations based upon insanity; therefore, Plaintiff’s Complaint is barred by the statute of limitations.

For the reasons set forth above, it is ORDERED that the Motions for Summary Judgment of Defendants John H. DeWitt, M.D. and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. are GRANTED and this matter is dismissed.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE SUIT

Pursuant to S.C. Code § 15-79-125(A), the plaintiff submits notice of intent to file suit against the defendants above-named and states the following:

John Howard DeWitt, M.D. and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. had been treating Joseph McMaster since 1993. Dr. DeWitt first prescribed Adderall to Mr. McMaster in January 1999 for the purpose of improving his attention span. Initially the dosing for Adderall was 20 mg. twice per day. Over the course of treatment, Dr. DeWitt increased the dosing of Adderall. By December 2007, Dr. DeWitt was directing Mr. McMaster to take Adderall XR 2 (extended release) in the amount of 30 mg twice a day and once every noon and to take Adderall Regular Release in the amount of 30 mg twice a day and once every noon. These appear to have been directed in addition to other drugs, including Celexa 20 mg q.d.; Remeron 15 mg Sol Tabs 1 qhs; and Provigil 200 mg 2 q.a.m.

On or about June 25, 2008, Joseph McMaster suffered a medication induced psychosis which resulted in him being admitted to the psychiatric unit of Palmetto Baptist Medical Center in a paranoid and psychotic state. He was treated there until July 10, 2008.

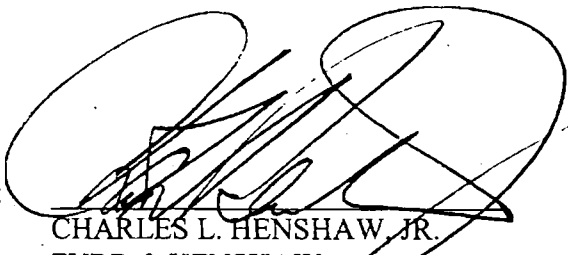

John H. DeWitt, M.D., was employed by Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A.

Dr. DeWitt and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. deviated from generally recognized and accepted standards of care and failed to render medical care expected of a reasonably competent medical practitioner under the same or similar circumstance by prescribing to Mr. McMaster an amount of Adderall in excess of the maximum amounts directed by reasonably competent physicians exercising standard medical care under the same or similar circumstances. The deviation from standard care most probably caused Mr. McMaster to suffer an unnecessary injury of medication induced psychosis.

Mr. McMaster believes that the conduct of Dr. DeWitt was negligent, and further that the conduct of Dr. DeWitt was reckless, wanton, willful, and grossly negligent.

Joseph D. McMaster gives notice of intent to file suit for his personal injuries. He has endured unnecessary physical pain and suffering, mental anguish and emotional distress, physical disability and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, and medical, hospital, and caretaking expenses, and he has lost income and lost earning capacity.

Disclosures pursuant to the South Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure are attached, and the affidavit of an expert as required by S.C. Code § 15-36-100 is also attached.

INTRODUCTION

The Defendant Dr. John Dewitt submits this memorandum in support of his motion for summary judgment based on the statute of limitations.

On May 13, 2008, the Plaintiff Joseph McMaster was admitted to Palmetto Health Baptist Hospital in a delusional and paranoid state. He alleges this was the result of an Adderall induced psychosis. On June 16, 2011, Mr. McMaster filed a notice of intent to sue Dr. Dewitt, alleging that his psychosis was caused by Dr. Dewitt over-prescribing Adderall. Mr. McMaster's action was brought more than three years after his hospitalization and after the statute of limitations expired. Therefore, the court should grant summary judgment to the Defendants.

DISCUSSION

A. Mr. McMaster testified that he knew he was admitted for Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008.

Dr. Dewitt treated Mr. McMaster for adult Attention Deficit Disorder and depression. As a part of this treatment, Dr. Dewitt prescribed Adderall to Mr. McMaster. On May 13, 2008, Mr. McMaster checked into Palmetto Health Baptist Hospital for an Adderall induced psychosis. He claimed he was being followed by Homeland Security and the FBI. Deposition of Joseph McMaster, p. 34-35, lines 19-3 (Attached as Exhibit A). Dr. Dewitt treated Mr. McMaster at Baptist Hospital for this delusional disorder. Mr. McMaster remained in the hospital until May 28, 2008. According to Mr. McMaster, Dr. Dewitt informed him during his May hospital stay that the hospitalization was a result of Adderall induced psychosis. As Mr. McMaster testified in his deposition:

Q: In your opinion, you were disabled beginning--

A: Yeah.

Q: --in May of 2008?

A: Yeah. Yeah.

Q: All right. And that was because of the Adderall?

A: Yeah. Yeah. This whole incident.

Q: All right. And you knew that then, when you went in that, that was the problem or when you got out?

A: No. I didn't know it when I went in. I didn't know that was the problem when I went in.

Q: But you knew it when you got out? When you talked to your boss?

A: When I talked to—talked to the doctors on the floor.

Q: Okay.

A: I mean, John [Dr. John Dewitt] called it Adderall induced psychosis when I talked to John.

Q: And that was in May of 2008?

A: Correct.

Deposition of Joseph McMaster, pages 46-47, lines 10-6 (Attached as Exhibit A).

Mr. McMaster also testified as follows:

Q: Okay. What did Dr. Dewitt do wrong?

A: As far as I can tell, he just gave me too much medicine.

Q: All right.

A: I mean, it was just way too much and I didn't know it until it was too late.

Q: And that would've been when you went into the hospital in May --

A: Yeah.

Q: -- of 2008?

A: Right

Deposition of Joseph McMaster, page 34, lines 8-18 (Attached as Exhibit A).

Q: And you were discharged at the end of May 2008 from the hospital?

A: May 2008. The first time, yeah.

Q: All right. And when you were discharged, did you know what was wrong with you?

A: From what I was told, it was Adderall induced psychosis.

Deposition of Joseph McMaster, page 35, lines 4-11 (Attached as Exhibit A).

Thus, Mr. McMaster testified three times in his deposition that during his May 2008 hospitalization, he knew that he was being hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis.

After Mr. McMaster's hospitalization in May of 2008, Dr. Dewitt never prescribed Adderall to Mr. McMaster. According to Mr. McMaster's testimony:

Q: And certainly after your Adderall induced psychosis, where you went in the hospital in May, you weren't prescribed any more Adderall by Dr. Dewitt after that?

A: No.

Deposition of Joseph McMaster, page 53, lines 21-25 (Attached as Exhibit A).

Although he was no longer prescribed Adderall by Dr. Dewitt, Mr. McMaster was readmitted to Baptist Hospital on June 25, 2008. This was his second hospitalization for delusional and paranoid symptoms.

Mr. McMaster filed his notice of intent to sue Dr. Dewitt on June 16, 2011, more than three years after his May hospitalization. The basis for the suit is that Dr. Dewitt was negligent in prescribing Adderall, which led to a medication induced psychosis. The notice of intent states the basis for claims against Dr. Dewitt as follows:

Dr. Dewitt and Carolina Psychiatric Services, P.A. deviated from generally recognized and accepted standards of care and failed to render medical care expected of a reasonable competent medical practitioner under the same or similar circumstance by prescribing to Mr. McMaster an amount of Adderall in excess of the maximum amounts directed by reasonably competent physicians exercising standard medical care under the same or similar circumstances. The deviation from standard care most probably caused Mr. McMaster to suffer an unnecessary injury of medication induced psychosis.

Notice of Intent to File Suit. In his notice of intent, Mr. McMaster completely omits the May 2008 hospitalization for Adderall induced psychosis. Instead, he only mentions his June 25, 2008 admission. Mr. McMaster's expert, Dr. Dave McAlister Davis, testified that Mr. McMaster suffered an Adderall induced psychosis for which he was hospitalized in May 2008. In his words:

Q: And the next sentence states, the amount of Adderall prescribed to Mr. McMaster was in excess of the maximum amounts directed by reasonably competent physicians exercising standard medical care under the same or similar circumstances.
Is that still your opinion?

A: Yes.

Q: Other than that deviation, any other deviations in the standard of care with respect to the care given to Joe McMaster by Dr. Dewitt?

A: No.

Q: So that is the only deviation with respect to the standard of care on the part -- on the part of Dr. Dewitt?

A: Yes.

Q: Was the care given to Mr. McMaster by Dr. Dewitt, other than that deviation, appropriate?

A: Yes.

Q: What is the basis for your opinion that Dr. Dewitt deviated from the standard of care by prescribing too much Adderall to Joe McMaster?

A: It was an exceptionally high dose. And it appears that that's what precipitated his psychotic break in May. Actually, probably earlier, because according to the record, prior -- he was hospitalized in May. According to the record, this developed two or three months earlier.

Q: And it is your opinion then that the over prescription of Adderall by Dr. Dewitt led to or caused the hospitalization in May of 2008?

A: Yes. . . .

Deposition of Dave McAlister Davis, M.D., pages 35-36, lines 18-23 (attached as Exhibit B).

Even if the allegations in the notice of intent are true, Mr. McMaster knew of the consequences of this medication in May 2008 when he suffered the Adderall induced psychosis for which he was initially admitted to the hospital. According to Mr. McMaster, Dr. Dewitt told him the cause of his psychosis in May 2008, more than three years before Mr. McMaster filed his notice of intent to sue.

B. The statute of limitations began to run in May 2008 when Mr. McMaster had notice that he was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis.

The statute of limitations in medical malpractice actions is three years. S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-545. The statute begins to run when the circumstances of the injury would put a person of common knowledge on notice that some claim might exist. Dunbar v. Carlson, 341 S.C. 261, 266, 533 S.E.2d 913, 916 (Ct. App. 2000). The date on which discovery should have been made is an objective, not subjective, question. When a claimant is told of the reason for an injury, this is sufficient information to put the claimant on notice of a claim. Arant v. Kressler, 327 S.C. 225, 229, 489 S.E.2d 206, 208 (1997) (finding that information on the reason for a D&C, told orally to the claimant, was sufficient to put a person of common knowledge on notice that some claim against the doctor might exist).

Even if the June hospitalization was a result of Adderall induced psychosis, the statute of limitations bars Mr. McMaster's claim. The statute of limitations begins to run when a plaintiff knows or should know of a potential claim. Later damages do not reset the statute.

In Young v. South Carolina Department of Corrections, 333 S.C. 714, 721, 511 S.E.2d 413, 417 (Ct. App. 1999), Young complained of problems with vision in his right eye in January 1993. The prison medical staff examined him several times, but they did not refer him to an ophthalmologist until May 1993. The ophthalmologist diagnosed Young with a detached retina and told him that the prison medical staff waited too long to refer him. Young had retinal repair surgery. He developed a cataract as a result of his injury which was removed in July 1994. Young sued the Department of Corrections in July 1996.

The Department moved for summary judgment on the basis that Young missed the two-year statute of limitations. The trial judge granted the motion, and the Court of Appeals affirmed. On appeal, Young argued that the statute began to run in July 1994 when he developed a cataract. The court found the statute began to run in May 1993 when Young was told by the ophthalmologist that he had a detached retina.

Although Young did not know the extent of his injury until July 1994 when he developed a cataract, the Court held that statute of limitations began to run in May 1993 when Young was told about the delay in diagnosis of the detached retina. According to the Court, “the law is clear [that] the statute of limitations is not tolled during the period of time in which a plaintiff is merely unaware of the extent of an actionable injury.” Id. at 720, 511 S.E.2d at 416.

Likewise, Mr. McMaster was aware he suffered an Adderall induced psychosis when he was admitted to the hospital in May 2008. He testified to that knowledge three separate times in his deposition. After that point, he was not prescribed Adderall by Dr. Dewitt. Mr. McMaster’s subsequent hospitalization in June 2008 does not restart the statute of limitations.

Mr. McMaster waited more than three years to file a notice of intent to sue Dr. Dewitt. As a result, his action was brought after the statute of limitations expired.

C. Mr. McMaster’s December 12, 2008, affidavit is a sham affidavit that conflicts with his previous sworn testimony.

Mr. McMaster’s December 12, 2012 affidavit does not create an issue of fact because it is a sham affidavit directly contradicting his previous sworn testimony. On December 12, 2012, two days before this motion was scheduled to be heard, Mr. McMaster submitted an affidavit in which he testified that he did not know that he was hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis until after June 25, 2008. This testimony directly contradicts his deposition testimony. In his deposition, Mr. McMaster testified three times that he knew he was hospitalized for an Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008 – more than three years before he filed the notice of intent.

A court may disregard a subsequent affidavit as a sham, or as not creating an issue of fact for purposes of summary judgment, when a party submits the subsequent affidavit to contradict that party’s own prior sworn statement. Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004)(citing Margo v. Weiss, 213 F.3d 55, 63 (2nd Cir.2000); Rohrbough v. Wyeth Labs. Inc., 916 F.2d 970, 976 (4th Cir.1990); Martin v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 851 F.2d 703, 705 (3rd Cir.1988)), see also, McCleary v Smith, 2012 WL 3598765 (D.S.C. 2012)(citing Judge Alison Lee's trial order)(attached as exhibit C). All federal circuits and most state courts (including South Carolina) have adopted the sham affidavit rule. Attacking Affidavits, South Carolina Lawyer, January 2012, p. 38 (attached as exhibit D). In distinguishing a sham affidavit, the Supreme Court has set forth the following six considerations:

- 1) whether an explanation is offered for the statements that contradict prior sworn statements;
- (2) the importance to the litigation of the fact about which there is a contradiction;
- (3) whether the nonmovant had access to this fact prior to the previous sworn testimony;
- (4) the frequency and degree of variation between statements in the previous sworn testimony and statements made in the later affidavit concerning this fact;
- (5) whether the previous sworn testimony indicates the witness was confused at the time;
- (6) when, in relation to summary judgment, the second affidavit is submitted.

Cothran v. Brown, 357 S.C. 210, 218, 592 S.E.2d 629, 633 (2004) (citing Pittman v. Atlantic Realty Co., 359 Md. 513, 754 A.2d 1030, 1042 (2000))

Under these factors, Mr. McMaster's affidavit is a sham affidavit submitted to contradict his earlier sworn testimony, and the court should reject it.

1. Whether an explanation is offered for the statements that contradict prior sworn statements.

Mr. McMaster's December 12, 2012, affidavit does not even acknowledge his previous sworn testimony to the contrary. Instead, it directly contradicts his deposition testimony but offers no reason for doing so. Therefore, Mr. McMaster gives no explanation as to why his affidavit directly contradicts his previous sworn testimony.

2. The importance to the litigation of the fact about which there is a contradiction.

The contradiction Mr. McMaster attempts to create in his December 12, 2012, affidavit relates to a central issue in the case. That issue is when Mr. McMaster knew or should have known that he had a claim against Dr Dewitt. Mr. McMaster was on notice of this issue when he received the answer in this case which alleges the statute of limitations as a defense. Thus, when Mr. McMaster knew the reason for his hospitalization is a pivotal issue in the case, and it has been from the beginning. When Mr. McMaster was deposed he testified that he knew the reason for his hospitalization in May 2008. Two days before the motion for summary judgment was scheduled to be heard, he submitted an affidavit claiming that he did not know the reason for his hospitalization until June 25, 2008.

3. Whether the nonmovant had access to this fact prior to the previous sworn testimony.

Dr. Dewitt acknowledged that Mr. McMaster was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychoses in July, 2008. In fact, at Mr. McMaster's request, he wrote a letter to Mr. McMaster's family stating as follows:

I am writing you at this time at the request of my patient, Joe McMaster, to outline his recent psychiatric history and treatment and how it has affected his employment situation. As you know, Joe has been followed in my office for his psychiatric care since approximately 1993. He initially was treated for Adult Attention Deficit Disorder and depression. He has done well over the years with his compliance to treatment and response to psychotherapy and medication, but developed a drug induced psychosis in the late spring of this year, probably related to his prescription of Adderall, which caused him to have significant impairment in his judgment, frank paranoia and inability to function personally or vocationally. This alteration in mental status was not a product of voluntary intoxication of any other substance or of any other significant major mental illness. He was hospitalized at Baptist Medical Center as a result of this drug induced psychosis from May 13th through May 28, 2008 and was discharged in a much improved condition.

Letter from Dr. Dewitt to Frank McMaster dated July 23, 2008.

Mr. McMaster never contradicted that letter. Mr. McMaster testified in accord with that letter.

The first time Mr. McMaster has testified differently was in his December 12, 2012 affidavit.

Until that time, there was no indication whatsoever that Mr. McMaster did not know why he was hospitalized in May 2008.

4. The frequency and degree of variation between statements in the previous sworn testimony and statements made in the later affidavit concerning this fact.

Mr. McMaster testified three times in his deposition that he knew he was hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis in May 2008 because Dr. Dewitt told him at that time why he was in the hospital. Mr. McMaster's December 12, 2012, affidavit is in direct contradiction to his previous statements. The affidavit alleges that Mr. McMaster did not know that he was in the hospital as a result of an Adderall induced psychosis until June 25, 2008.

5. Whether the previous sworn testimony indicates the witness was confused at the time.

There is no indication in Mr. McMaster's deposition that he is confused or that he does not understand the questions. Mr. McMaster is a lawyer and understands the importance of sworn testimony. He did not express any confusion at his deposition regarding his sworn testimony. There is no contention that he was unable to truthfully and accurately answer questions at his deposition. In addition, the December 12, 2012, affidavit does not offer any explanation for the contradiction in testimony, and it does not make any argument that Mr. McMaster was confused during his deposition.

6. When, in relation to summary judgment, the second [statement] is submitted.

Mr. McMaster's December 12, 2012, affidavit was submitted at the absolute last minute — two days before this matter was scheduled to be heard. In addition, Mr. McMaster did not waive reading and signing of his deposition, and he made no corrections to his three deposition statements that directly contradict his December 12, 2012, affidavit.

As a result, Mr. McMaster's December 12, 2012 affidavit should be disregarded because it directly contradicts his previous sworn testimony and is submitted solely to create an issue of fact.

CONCLUSION

As he testified, Mr. McMaster knew that he had a claim in May of 2008 and did not file the notice of intent to sue until June 16, 2011 -- more than three years later. Thus, this court should grant Dr. Dewitt's motion for summary judgment.

NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION

TO R. GERALD CHAMBERS, JR., ATTORNEY FOR CAROLINA PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES, P.A. and JAMES EDWARD BRADLEY, ATTORNEY FOR JOHN H.
DeWITT:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the undersigned counsel makes the following motion to be heard by the Honorable Allison Renee Lee at such time as counsel is scheduled at the Richland County Judicial Center, 1701 Main Street, Columbia, South Carolina 29201.

The plaintiff moves for reconsideration of the summary judgment entered on February 21, 2013, and received by plaintiff's counsel in his office on Saturday, February 23, 2013.

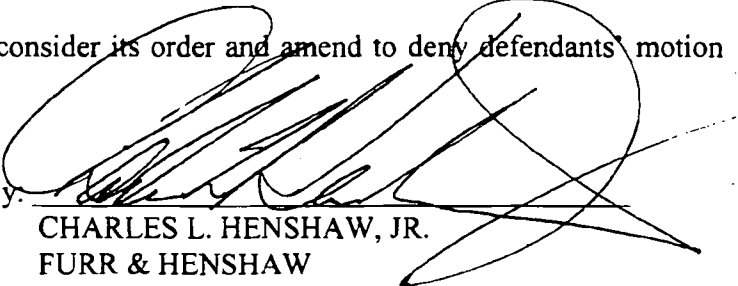

This motion is made pursuant to Rule 59(e) and is based upon the following grounds:

- (1) The court misapprehended or overlooked disputed material facts as to whether plaintiff could or should have known that his injury was caused by drug induced psychosis more than three years before commencement of the action. Mr. McMaster could not have discovered his right of action against Dr. DeWitt until after June 25, 2008, because he was not diagnosed with medication induced psychosis until sometime after that date.

- (2) The court misapprehended or overlooked or misapprehended disputed material facts as to whether defendant did or could have told plaintiff of his diagnosis of drug induced psychosis more than three years before commencement of the action;
- (3) The court misapprehended or overlooked plaintiff's explanation for "contradictory" statements between his affidavit and deposition based on records showing that the defendant could not have told him a diagnosis of "drug induced psychosis" until at least June 25, 2008;
- (4) The court misapprehended that plaintiff's affidavit was sham and that it was entitled to disregard the affidavit;
- (5) The court overlooked plaintiff's assertion that the disparate treatment of medical malpractice plaintiffs pursuant to S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-545 unconstitutionally denies them equal protection and the due process to be afforded pursuant to S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-40, which generally tolls statutes of limitation in instances of insanity.
- (6) The court has misconstrued Harrison v. Bevelacqua, 354 S.C. 129 (2003), in holding that S.C. Code Ann. § 15-3-40 cannot apply, overlooking for the following reasons:
 - a. Harrison is distinguishable because it concerned a judicially created tolling rule rather than an express legislatively created rule.
 - b. The legislature stated expressly in § 15-3-540 that the tolling provisions were intended to apply to any "action mentioned in Article 5 of this chapter." The medical malpractice statute of limitations is contained within Article 5.
 - c. Section 15-3-540 is specific as to persons under the disability of insanity.
 - d. The provisions of the tolling statute are more recent (1996 Act. No. 234, § 1) than the provisions of the medical malpractice statute of limitations (1988 Act No. 432, § 3).

- e. Allowing tolling for persons with the disability of insanity in all personal injury cases except for medical malpractice cases would be an impermissible discrimination under federal and state law. See U.S. Const. amend. XIV, cl. 1; S.C. Const., art. 1 § 3; Americans with Disability Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12131 (“no qualified individual with a disability shall, by reason of such disability . . . be subjected to discrimination by any such [public] entity”).

For these reasons, the court should reconsider its order and amend to deny defendants’ motion for summary judgment.

AFFIDAVIT

1. My name is Joseph D. McMaster.
2. I received treatment from John H. DeWitt, M.D. from the 1990's until July 2008 for attention deficit disorder.
3. Dr. DeWitt prescribed to me the drug Adderall and other medications for treatment of attention deficit disorder.
4. On May 13, 2008, after several months of abnormal behavior, I was involuntarily committed to the psychiatric unit at Palmetto Health Baptist in Columbia for what was described as a "paranoid psychosis of unclear etiology." I understand now that my conduct for several months prior to May 13, 2008, appeared abnormal to others, but during that time I felt that I was behaving normally.
5. After the May 13, 2008, hospitalization, Dr. DeWitt adjusted my medications by discontinuing Adderall and prescribing Provigil, after he questioned whether I was being non-compliant in taking Adderall. Neither he nor anyone else at that time suggested that Adderall or other medications had caused me to have paranoid psychosis. At that time, I did not know and no one had suggested that the amounts of Adderall or other medications prescribed to me by Dr. DeWitt had caused me any harm.

6. On June 25, 2008, I was admitted to the psychiatric unit at Palmetto Health Baptist in Columbia by Dr. DeWitt for what he described as a "paranoid and psychotic state." He diagnosed me with a "medication or drug induced" psychosis. I was discharged from Palmetto Health Baptist on July 10, 2008.

7. Only after I was admitted to the hospital on June 25, 2008, did I know or have reason to know that the medications prescribed by Dr. DeWitt, including Adderall, were the cause of my paranoia and psychotic state.

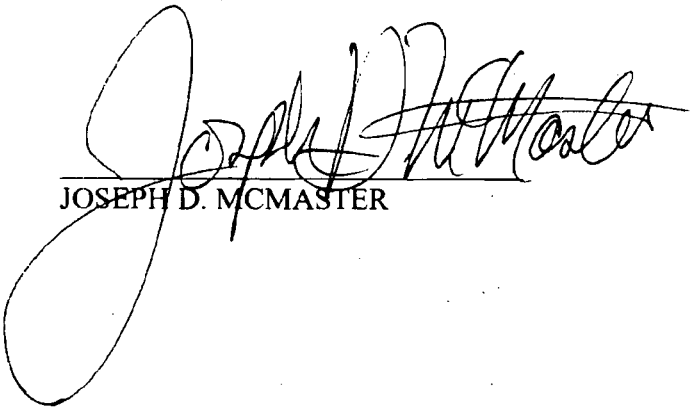

8. Before my hospitalization beginning on June 25, 2008, I did not know, understand, or appreciate that Adderall could cause me or any other patient to become psychotic or have delusions, paranoia, or hallucinations. Before the June 25, 2008, hospitalization, I knew, understood, and appreciated only that Adderall was for treatment of attention deficit disorder. I did not know, understand, or appreciate the formulation of Adderall or its pharmacokinetics or how it worked within the human body to affect attention deficit disorder.

9. Since December 2007 I had taken Adderall and other medications as prescribed by Dr. DeWitt in the amounts he directed, and I had no reason to know or believe that the amounts were excessive or prescribed in a manner that was outside generally recognized and accepted standards of medical care. Only sometime after my hospital admission on June 25, 2008, when I was told that I had been diagnosed with a medication induced psychosis did I have reason to suspect that Dr. DeWitt had treated me negligently. When I learned that I had suffered a medication or drug-induced psychosis, I recalled that Dr. DeWitt's partner, Dr. Larry Nelson, had told me in May 2008 that DeWitt had a tendency to over prescribe amphetamines (although Dr. Nelson did not tell me that DeWitt had overprescribed amphetamines to me or that Adderall had caused me any injury). Consequently, once I learned that my diagnosis was medication induced psychosis, I began to question whether amphetamines such as Adderall had been over prescribed to me.

10. I caused to be filed a notice of intent to bring suit against Dr. DeWitt and his practice on June 16, 2011, within three years of when I knew, suspected, or had reason to know (or any person could have reason to know or suspect) that John H. DeWitt had been negligent in his medical care of me.

1 THE COURT: Counsel, thank you for being accommodating in 2 rescheduling this hearing. This is Joseph D. McMaster versus John 3 DeWitt, Carolina Psychiatric Services, PA. The Plaintiff is 4 represented by -- my mind just went blank -- Charles Henshaw. Dr.
5 DeWitt is represented by Ward Bradley.

6 MR. Bradley: Ward Bradley. Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: I just wanted to make sure I have the right
8 person. And representing Carolina Psychiatric Services is --

9 MS. WILLIAMS: I'm Virginia Williams, here for Gerald 10 Chambers.

11 THE COURT: Virginia --

12 MS. WILLIAMS: Williams.

13 THE COURT: Williams. Thank you. And, again, I appreciate
14 you all accommodating the schedule to reschedule this. We're here
15 on motions for summary judgment that have been filed by the 16 Defendant. I have read the motions. I haven't read all of the 17 memoranda to the extent that you submitted them. As I understand
18 it, the issue relates to the statute of limitations. I understand
19 from Mr. Henshaw that there was an affidavit filed and I'm not sure
20 that that has made it to the file, yet.

21 MR. BRADLEY: Yes, Your Honor. It was filed yesterday.

22 THE COURT: If you can just loan me one, temporarily. I'll be 23 glad to --

24 MR. BRADLEY: Yes, ma'am. I hope I can.

25 MR. HENSHAW: You can have my copy, Judge.

1 MR. BRADLEY: Here's a copy on copy, Your Honor, or at least a
2 copy that shows the stamp --

3 THE COURT: If you'll give this one back to Mr. Bradley and 4 he'll make a copy and -- I'm going to give it back to you. She's 5 going to make a copy. This is Docket number 2011-CP-40-08373.
6 And, Mr. Bradley, I think you filed your motion first, so I'll hear
7 you first. Then I'll hear from Ms. Williams.

8 MR. BRADLEY: Thank you, Judge. Both motions I think will 9 have identical facts. I represent Dr. DeWitt. This is a medical 10 malpractice case, which would have a three year statute of 11 limitation, which is the basis for our motion for summary judgment.
12 Dr. DeWitt is a psychiatrist who treated Joe McMaster as planned.
13 In his treatment, he prescribed a medicine called Adderall, which 14 is a treatment for Adult Attention Deficit Disorder. And he had 15 prescribed it to Mr. McMaster for many years.

16 In May, 2008, Mr. McMaster -- actually, May 13, 2008,
17 Mr. McMaster was checked into Palmetto Baptist Hospital in Adderall
18 induced psychosis. He was treated there for two weeks by Dr.
19 DeWitt and the other people at the hospital -- Dr. DeWitt has 20 privileges there -- and he was released. He went back to the 21 hospital a month later, on June 25, in another psychosis. He was 22 treated then and released as well.

23 In June -- actually June 16, 2011, he filed a notice of intent
24 to sue Dr. DeWitt. That was more than a year after he was released
25 from his initial hospitalization for psychosis, more than three

1 years after his initial hospitalization for psychosis, and that's
2 the basis for our motion for summary judgment based on the statute
3 of limitations. That is that if what he says is true and that is 4 that Dr. DeWitt prescribed him too much medicine which caused him
5 to have psychosis in May of 2008, that he filed the lawsuit too
6 late because he waited until June of 2011, more than three years
7 later.

8 In his deposition, I asked Mr. McMaster when he first learned
9 what had caused him to go into the hospital in 2008. And I've 10 actually excerpted that testimony beginning on page 2 of our 11 memoranda and it is attached as exhibit A right after the 12 deposition. He actually testified to it three times at different
13 points in his deposition and in the first excerpt there on page 2, 14 he says that in 2008 is when he began to be disabled because of 15 Adderall. And then I asked him when he found out that was a 16 problem, when he found out the Adderall caused the problem and he 17 says, I mean John -- it's there at the bottom of page 2 -- and 18 that's Dr. DeWitt's first name, John, called it Adderall induced 19 psychosis when I talked to John. And I said and that was in May of 20 2008? He says correct. So that's the first time he acknowledged
21 in his deposition that when he was in the hospital in May, 2008 it
22 was because of his Adderall induced psychosis.

23 The second time it starts at the bottom of that page and it
24 goes on the next page. I asked what did Dr. DeWitt do wrong? He 25 says he gave me too much medicine. And I say -- he says, I mean it

1 was just way too much and I didn't know about it until it was too
2 late. And I say that would've been when you went to the hospital
3 in May? Yes. Of 2008? Answer, right. And I asked again at a
4 different point and you were discharged at the end of May 2008 from 5 the hospital, May 2008, the first time? Yeah. And when you were 6 discharged, did you know what was wrong with you? From what I was 7 told, it was Adderall induced psychosis. So three times in his 8 deposition he testified that he knew in May, 2008 that he was in 9 the hospital and he was in the hospital for Adderall induced
10 psychosis.

11 He actually testified the first time that the reason he knew 12 about it was because the Defendant, Dr. DeWitt, told him that in 13 May of 2008. So it's clear from his deposition testimony that he 14 knew in May, 2008 that he was hospitalized for an Adderall induced
15 psychosis and Dr. DeWitt is who had prescribed him Adderall.

16 The whole basis of his lawsuit as set forth in his notice of 17 intent and also in his expert's deposition, which is also excerpted
18 in our memo, is that Dr. DeWitt prescribed him too much Adderall, 19 which caused him to go into a psychosis. So it's clear that the 20 base of his lawsuit is the Adderall prescription, Dr. DeWitt is who 21 was prescribing Adderall, and that he testified three times in his 22 deposition that he knew in May 2008 that he was in the hospital for 23 Adderall induced psychosis.

24 The statute of limitations begins to run when a plaintiff knew
25 or should have known that they had a claim and a comment from a

1 doctor that this was why you were in the hospital is enough to
2 begin the statute running. And there's a case that's excerpted in 3 there where I've actually cited, Arant versus Kressler, which is 4 489 Southeastern 2d 206, and in that case where a woman had had a
5 DNC, she was told by the doctor why it was and that was the problem
6 with her pregnancy. And that was sufficient to put her on notice
7 that she might have a claim against the doctor. And that was the 8 case where a Plaintiff had alleged hey, I didn't know that I had 9 this injury until later, but the court said no, when the doctors
10 told you and you acknowledged that you were told that, that's when 11 the statute begins to run. And the reason why we cited that case 12 is because it's similar to Mr. McMaster's own testimony where he 13 says that in May of 2008, Dr. DeWitt told him why he was in the 14 hospital for Adderall induced psychosis.

15 We've also cited Young versus South Carolina Department of 16 Corrections, which is 511 Southeastern 2d 413. And that's the case
17 where Mr. Young had a detached retina. He went to see the doctors
18 at the Department of Corrections. They did not refer him to an 19 ophthalmologist until several months later. When he went to see 20 the ophthalmologist, the ophthalmologist told him hey, you have a 21 detached retina and you should've been referred sooner. Mr. Young 22 acknowledged that in his own testimony and later he developed a
23 cataract and he brought the lawsuit more than two years, because it 24 was a governmental entity, after he had been told by the 25 ophthalmologist that there was a problem with his notice. And the

1 court said no, you can't bring it on a later date if the doctor
2 told you you had a problem and told you the reason for it when you
3 were there originally. And that's enough to put you on notice.

4 Those cases, Young versus South Carolina Department of 5 corrections and Arant versus Kressler, say when the doctor tells 6 you what the problem is, that's when the statue starts to run.
7 That combined with Mr. McMaster's testimony himself that in May of 8 2008, Dr. DeWitt told him -- and his other testimony three times
9 during his deposition that he knew during his initial 10 hospitalization why he was in there, is what starts the statute
11 running.

12 Now, yesterday we received an affidavit from Mr. McMaster and 13 that affidavit essentially says this. I didn't know why I was in 14 the hospital for two weeks in May of 2008. I didn't know that this 15 was a problem. I didn't know that until a month later, which would 16 be within three years.

17 The problem with that affidavit is it directly contradicts the 18 sworn testimony in his deposition that he made three times. The 19 South Carolina Supreme Court has said in Cochran versus Brown that 20 you cannot submit a later affidavit to contradict previous sworn 21 testimony as a basis to resist summary judgment. So, essentially,
22 if you testify one way in your deposition, you can't later submit
23 an affidavit the exact opposite of what you said before to create a 24 factual issue that can go for a summary judgment. You're stuck
25 with what you said in your deposition.

1 The only factual issue that they can create is this. They
2 submitted an affidavit in which they contradict what
3 Mr. McMaster said in his deposition. In his affidavit, he says I
4 didn't know until June. In his deposition he says I knew in May 5 and the court says that that's a sham affidavit. And there are six
6 factors the court looks at in determining whether it's a sham
7 affidavit. They're laid out in our memo. One of them is whether 8 there's an explanation for why you're saying one thing in a sworn 9 statement now and why you said something different in your 10 deposition. There's been no explanation of that.

11 The second factor is the importance to the litigation, which 12 this question is what the litigation turns on because if he knew in 13 May, 2008 he missed the statute of limitations and that's what he 14 said in his deposition and we've alleged that as an affirmative
15 defense to our answer.

16 The third factor is whether the non-moving, that would be us,
17 knew this fact before his deposition and we didn't know what he was 18 going to say until we took his deposition. In his deposition he 19 said he knew in May because Dr. DeWitt told him.

20 Number four is the frequency and degree of variation between 21 the statements and the previous sworn statement and the statements
22 on the later affidavit. He testified three times in the deposition
23 that he knew in May of 2008 and now he's submitting an affidavit
24 saying that he didn't know until June so they're completely
25 opposite and he's testified three times that way.

1 Five, whether the previous sworn testimony indicates that he
2 was confused at the time. There is no indication that
3 Mr. McMaster was confused during his deposition. There's been no
4 testimony or affidavit submitted to say that. In fact, he reserved
5 the right to read and sign the deposition. I don't know if he's 6 ever done that because I haven't seen it but he reserved the right
7 to do so and he hasn't made any corrections to the deposition.

8 And six, when in relation to summary judgment, the second
9 affidavit was submitted -- well, it was submitted at the absolute
10 last minute because the motion was originally scheduled for 11 tomorrow. He submitted it yesterday.

12 So to sum up, the statute of limitations is three years. Mr.
13 McMaster went in the hospital in May 2008. He brought the lawsuit
14 in June 2011. He testified in his deposition three times that he 15 knew why he was in the hospital in May, 2008. He even testified 16 that my client, Dr. DeWitt, told him why he was in the hospital in 17 May of 2008. The law is when the doctor tells you what you're in 18 for, that's enough to start the statute of limitations running.
19 That puts you on notice that you have a claim or potential claim.
20 And his last minute affidavit to the contrary should be disregarded
21 by the court under Cochran versus Brown because it directly
22 contradicts previous sworn testimony. Thank you.

23 THE COURT: Ms. Williams, is there anything that you wish to 24 add before I have Mr. Henshaw respond?

25 MS. WILLIAMS: Yes, Your Honor. My name is Jenny Williams.

1 I'm here on behalf of Carolina Psychiatric Services. For a large
2 portion of the time that Dr. DeWitt was treating Mr. McMaster, he 3 was working at Carolina Psychiatric Services so that's how we are 4 involved in this lawsuit.

5 I agree with everything that has been set forth on behalf of 6 Dr. DeWitt. I just wanted to submit to the Court some excerpts
7 from the medicals while he was at the hospital in May of 2008,
8 which support that he was there for the Adderall induced psychosis
9 and that information was available to Mr. McMaster at that time.

10 On the last page is the detention order request from May 11,
11 2008 which is leading up to his admission into the hospital. Under 12 the summary of conversation it says paranoia, delusional, likely 13 substance induced from prescription pills. So even as early as May 14 11th, there was indication that his problems could be from 15 prescription pills.

16 On the following page is a note presented by the physician
17 5/13/08. It says he's been under the care of Dr. DeWitt and 18 prescribed for depression ADHD as well as prescribed Adderall. And 19 then continuing on down to the bottom diagnosis; psychosis, 20 depression, and ADHD by history, possible delusion secondary to 21 overutilization of Adderall. And it continues on -- Your Honor, 22 again, it's referenced on the following page. You can read for 23 your information but it's very clear that Mr. McMaster was aware 24 that he was in the hospital for the Adderall induced psychosis in 25 May of 2008.

1 And then the second set of documents -- the reason they're
2 separate, the first set came from the documents we received from 3 Plaintiff's counsel so I wanted to maintain that order. And the 4 second, smaller set came from documents that we actually subpoenaed
5 from the hospital so that's why I separated them out. But in the 6 second set, again it says on the first page that he was being
7 treated for depression, ADHD by psychiatrists, and taking high
8 levels of Adderall which may be playing a role in his symptoms and 9 that document is dated 5/13/08. And then again the last page of 10 that second set it notes that he is taking Adderall. And also 11 underneath the health of the patient where there is items to be 12 checked off, it is checked that it is possible that he's overusing
13 Adderall so that's all I would like to add on behalf of Carolina
14 Psychiatric Services.

15 THE COURT: But you would acknowledge, though, that while 16 these are the medical records, the statute begins to run from the 17 time when he should've known?

18 MS. WILLIAMS: Yes, Your Honor. Yes, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Yes, sir, Mr. Henshaw.

20 MR. HENSHAW: Thank you, Your Honor. Your Honor, we would 21 make two points in response to the motion for summary judgment.
22 One turns entirely on whether or not this is a question of fact 23 that remains to be decided by a jury in this case as opposed to 24 being decided by you today as a matter of law. And the second
25 generally is a matter of law having to do with the total provision

1 for the statute of limitations. I will submit Plaintiff's exhibit
2 one and two to the Court.

3 I provided these to Mr. Bradley and to you, Your Honor. The 4 chronology here is that, as Mr. Bradley has already stated, Mr.
5 McMaster was admitted to Baptist Medical Center, the mental health
6 unit there on May 13, 2008. What you have there, I believe in 7 Exhibit 1 is the discharge summary, from that hospitalization which 8 indicates that hospitalization continued until May 28, 2008 and 9 this is the discharge summary of Dr. DeWitt himself. It indicates
10 that during his hospitalization he made a diagnosis of Mr. McMaster
11 in which the diagnosis was paranoid psychosis of unclear etiology, 12 rule out bipolar psychosis, rule out bipolar type versus history of 13 mixed substance abuse, history of adult attention deficit disorder.

14 Your Honor, during his hospitalization, as the affidavit
15 reflects, there were discussions about Adderall but there were also 16 discussions about other aspects of Mr. McMaster's drug use,
17 including whether or not he had abused cocaine. Dr. DeWitt
18 suspected that and suggested that in his records.

19 Number two, there were questions about whether or not
20 Mr. McMaster himself had been inappropriately abusing Adderall, 21 requesting Adderall from other doctors, over taking Adderall, in 22 addition to anything prescribed by Dr. DeWitt. Those features of 23 the fact pattern were included in both of those discharge summaries
24 and the affidavit merely stands as an amplification of these 25 questions that Mr. McMaster was asked at the deposition in regard

1 to whether or not there were other facts that were being considered
2 at the time that would explain why he was behaving in a psychotic
3 fashion.

4 Now, what is important, Your Honor, is -- what this affidavit
5 does very clearly is answer the question and creates a question, in 6 fact by doing so, as to when did you, Joe McMaster, begin to 7 reasonably suspect or know that Dr. DeWitt had committed 8 malpractice on you. The questions that were asked in the 9 deposition were not framed as that question but instead were framed
10 more on the lines and suggestion well, didn't you know that 11 Adderall could be involved and he said yes, it was suggested to me
12 that it could be. That's not the same thing as saying I knew, I
13 suspected that in fact, Dr. DeWitt had committed malpractice on me
14 at that time. And he couldn't have because the facts within the 15 record, Dr. DeWitt's own statements in those records, indicate at 16 the end of that hospitalization it was an etiology that was 17 uncertain and he says it as his principal diagnosis, psychosis
18 etiology uncertain.

19 Now, Exhibit 2 is different than that, clearly different than 20 that, because Exhibit 2 indicates that Mr. McMaster goes back into 21 the hospital on June 25, 2008 and comes out of the hospital on July 22 10, 2008, again, back in the same unit, again, back in for 23 psychotic behavior manifested by paranoia, believing that he's 24 being followed around by the FBI but the difference -- and the 25 significant difference in these statements by Dr. DeWitt is that

1 here Dr. DeWitt clearly says that it's a diagnosis of medication or 2 drug-induced paranoia.

3 And so it only could have been after July -- June 25, 2008
4 that Mr. McMaster could've known that there was a reason to 5 question the treatment that had been given to him by Dr. DeWitt.
6 To me, Your Honor, it's as simple as this. A cancer patient who 7 has been misdiagnosed as having cancer cannot know that there has 8 been -- that they have a legal right until they first know that 9 they have cancer. The diagnosis first has to be made in order for 10 the patient to be able to even recognize or suspect. And it may be 11 that that's not a question of law but certainly it's a question of 12 fact and if it's a question of fact, summary judgment is not 13 appropriate. And Mr. McMaster could not have known this diagnosis
14 until Dr. DeWitt himself knew because he's the one who had to state 15 it. And it's on that basis that Mr. McMaster came to the 16 conclusion that he had a legal right.

17 The second point, Your Honor, we would make in regard to our 18 defense against the statute of limitation is that there is a 19 provision, 15-340, that states that if a person is entitled to 20 bring an action mentioned in article five of this chapter and an 21 action under chapter 78 of this title except for a penalty of 22 forfeiture against the sheriff or other officer for escape is that 23 at the time of the cause of action approved either, one, within the 24 age of 18 years or, two, in same, the time of the disability is not 25 part of the time limited for the commencement of the action except

1 for that period within which the action must be brought could not
2 be extended more than five years by such disability or in case
3 longer than one year after the disability ceases.

4 Those records that are in front of you, Your Honor, indicate
5 that Joe McMaster suffered from a mental condition of paranoia at 6 least from May 13 until July 10, 2008. This statute should apply
7 as a tolling provision for that period of time under which 8 circumstances were clearly within the period of time allowed by the 9 statute of limitations. Those are the points that we would make,
10 Your Honor. I'd be glad to answer any questions you may have.

11 THE COURT: Any response, Mr. Bradley?

12 MR. BRADLEY: Thank you, Judge. The relevant question really
13 is when Mr. McMaster knew or should have known that he had a claim.
14 He was asked in his deposition when he knew that he had an Adderall
15 induced psychosis and the answer was in May, as clear as a bell.
16 And, in fact, Dr. DeWitt told him that in May. So he knew he was 17 having psychosis as a result of the medicine that he was taking,
18 according to his own testimony. He cannot create an issue of fact
19 by impeaching himself. What he's trying to do is say well, when I
20 said that -- I couldn't have said that, that couldn't be true, what 21 I swore to you under oath before, because nobody knew it. He swore 22 under oath that Dr. DeWitt told him that. The question -- I'm 23 sorry.

24 THE COURT: Go ahead.

25 MR. BRADLEY: The question is: What did he know at the time or

1 what should he have known at the time. And he testified that he
2 knew it. In his own deposition that he knew that's why he was in 3 the hospital because Dr. DeWitt told him May, 2008. And the whole
4 Sham Affidavit rule is you're stuck with what you say at your 5 deposition. You can't go back later and impeach yourself to create
6 an issue of fact, which is what they're trying to do by putting up
7 the medical records saying he couldn't have known this at the time
8 because the medical records don't say it. But, in fact, he swore 9 under oath that he did know it at the time. That's the question.

10 You have to take what he said under oath as true and what he 11 said under oath is that I knew it. Now, the second part of that is 12 -- sort of the implication -- well, he didn't know enough. He knew 13 he had the Adderall induced psychosis but he didn't know this was 14 medical malpractice and that's not the legal standard. The 15 standard is if you knew you had a bad result from some treatment
16 you received, then that's what puts you on inquiry notice and the 17 case on that is the Arant versus Kressler case I cited before. And 18 I'd like for your convenience just to give you a copy, Judge, if 19 that would be okay.

20 THE COURT: That's fine.

21 MR. BRADLEY: The law is that when you're on notice -- not 22 when you know for sure that there's negligence, but when you're on 23 notice that something your physician did had a bad result, that's 24 what puts you on notice. You can look on page three where the 25 court is addressing this same argument that Mr. Henshaw is making

1 -- the Supreme Court is addressing the same argument in a different
2 factual context. They're saying the appellate asserts the time of 3 discovery is the time when the treating physician's actual notice
4 becomes known. And the court says to the contrary. "We object to 5 this contention and held the plaintiff's injury was readily
6 discovered when she was told that her injury was caused by the 7 treating physician's follow-up care." She was told what the 8 problem was so the fact that he was told what the problem is and 9 what caused it, an Adderall induced psychosis, is enough to put him
10 on notice. That's what the case says and that's what the law is.
11 So it's not a question of fact because it's what he said and he 12 can't create a question of fact by impeaching himself.

13 THE COURT: Does the statute -- if he was hospitalized from 14 May 13th until May 28th would the statute end up tolling during 15 that time or for that matter, the time period from June 28th
16 through July 2nd or July 10th, would that --

17 MR. BRADLEY: That's an excellent question. It's my 18 understanding the way that -- let me back that up. He got out of 19 the hospital on May 28th. The notice of intent was filed June 16,
20 2011. So his hospitalization from May 13th to May 28th shouldn't 21 make any difference, assuming he knew, by his own testimony -- he 22 didn't say I was crazy, I didn't know, I was disabled. He said I
23 knew.

24 The end of May is when he got out. Just assuming it was May 25 28th -- just assume that's the date the statute starts to run, he

1 still didn't file until June 16, 2011, so that would have no
2 consequence, whatsoever.

3 THE COURT: So the June hospitalization wouldn't, in effect,
4 toll during the three-year period?

5 MR. BRADLEY: Well, my understanding is a month later he was 6 hospitalized on June 25th for about a week. And I assume the 7 argument that they're making is that they get an extra week on the 8 statute of limitations because he was hospitalized for a week in 9 June because there's no argument that after July, 2008 he was 10 impaired in any way. It's my understanding the tolling provision
11 works -- and I haven't looked through it all -- in order to toll it
12 you have to be in the minority at the time it starts it doesn't 13 just add extra time.

14 So I think the argument Mr. Henshaw's making is, look on June 15 25th until July so-and-so, I was in the hospital for two weeks and 16 I was psychotic and therefore I should get an extra two weeks on 17 the statute of limitations, I guess is what his argument is, you
18 tack it on the end. And even if we did it that way, it's still two 19 weeks and he's still 16 days late so he doesn't make it. If you
20 say during the two weeks you were in the hospital from June 25th
21 through July whatever you were told, he still wouldn't have filed
22 until June 16, 2011, even if you give them the very last day of 23 May, May 28th, that's 18 days after he knew that he was 24 hospitalized for Adderall induced psychosis.

1 So even if the law is that what happens is you take your time
2 when you're hospitalized for a psychotic condition and add it on 3 the statute of limitations, he still doesn't make it. I don't
4 think that's what the law is. I think it's that the statute can't 5 expire while you're in a psychotic condition but I haven't done the 6 research on that.

7 Finally, they haven't submitted any proof whatsoever that he
8 was insane such that he couldn't manage his legal affairs. On June 9 25th, he voluntarily checked himself into the hospital for feelings
10 of paranoia. Not that he was disabled or insane by it, but just 11 that he had feelings of paranoia. And I don't know why paranoia
12 would impair you from attending to your legal business. They 13 haven't submitted proof of that that would toll the statute. So 14 even if they toll it, they don't toll it enough to get in under 15 three years and we don't think their interpretation of law is the 16 way it works, Judge.

17 THE COURT: Anything further, Ms. Williams?

18 MS. WILLIAMS: No, Your Honor.

19 MR. HENSHAW: Your Honor, if I may, the hospitalization date
20 times is not what's critical to the tolling statute. What's 21 critical to the tolling statute is whether or not my client, under 22 that statute, would have been considered insane for a period of 23 time and for the period of time that he would have been insane,
24 using the language of the statute, is the time that it was tolled.

1 If you read those two documents together that Dr. DeWitt
2 wrote, it's no question that this is an entire psychotic event that 3 is occurring at least from when he is voluntarily committed from 4 May 13th all the way up until he is discharged from the second
5 hospitalization on July 10. The fact that he was dismissed and 6 then had to come back shortly thereafter does not mean that they
7 are not connected and that he was not continuing to be under that 8 disability during that entire period of time. Under that 9 situation, the calculation clearly is that our notice is timely
10 even under Mr. Bradley's argument.

11 But, I do think this, Your Honor, in all fairness, it's 12 probably a question of fact. I think that when you suggest that 13 somebody qualifies under the tolling provision for disability of 14 insanity, then that is a question of fact and I don't think that 15 that's something that this Court will answer. I think that a jury
16 very well may answer it differently -- I mean, will answer it one 17 way or the other, but I'm not sure that the Court, as a matter of 18 law under what is presented to you today, can say there's not a 19 question of fact there.

20 So, again, the motion for summary judgment should be denied.
21 Again, back to what Mr. McMaster knew, he did not know that there
22 was a diagnosis that this was a medically induced psychosis, not 23 just paranoia. Paranoia was the manifestation of the psychosis so
24 please don't accept Mr. Bradley's definition of Dr. DeWitt's own
25 diagnosis where he says this man has a psychosis.

1 I think that as the facts play out psychosis will be deemed to
2 be a form of insanity. Paranoia can be a form of insanity but not
3 necessarily always, but certainly a psychosis is. But under any 4 circumstances Mr. McMaster could only know what Dr. DeWitt told him
5 and that's what he says in his deposition, that's what he told me.
6 But Dr. DeWitt couldn't have told him that if Dr. DeWitt himself is 7 not willing to say in his own medical records.

8 And I think that the affidavit in that context reflects that 9 there is some question as to what the days really were where Dr.
10 DeWitt was actually telling his patient look, you have a medically 11 induced psychosis. We know that he doesn't use that terminology in 12 the first hospitalization that ended on May 28th, but we do know
13 that he used it in the second hospitalization that began on June 14 25, 2008 sometime within that hospitalization.

15 So, again, as a factual question as to what Mr. McMaster knew,
16 I agree with Mr. Bradley's interpretation of the case law, that 17 it's a question of what the plaintiff knew and when they knew it or 18 what they could have reasonably have known or suspected but in this 19 case it's a factual question as to what Mr. McMaster knew, when he 20 knew it, what he could've reasonably suspected and then, of course,
21 then there's the question of whether his disability applies to have 22 kept him from acting on it.

23 It's interesting that the disability statute references
24 minors. It very well may be that a child who is 17 years old can,
25 in fact, know that he has legal rights against an individual, but

1 the disability statute doesn't say that the disability discontinues
2 once he understands and appreciates that. It continues on for the 3 period of the disability all the way up until the very end of it,
4 even if the person is capable of understanding and appreciating
5 that he's got these legal rights. I don't think it's any different
6 for a situation for a person under the disability of insanity.

7 Consequently, I think that we are entitled to go forward and I
8 would hope that at some point the Court will rule that, as a 9 question of law, the tolling provision absolutely applies and the 10 statute of limitations is not even a question in this case but at 11 the very least, I think it's a question that the jury will have to 12 decide.

13 THE COURT: Thank you all very much. I'll reread everything
14 and look at the statute and all of the information that you've 15 provided to me. I'll either ask somebody to prepare an order, 16 depending on what it is.

17 MR. BRADLEY: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Thank you and I appreciate you again for coming
19 early.

20 MR. BRADLEY: Your Honor, have a good holiday if I don't see
21 you before the holiday.

22 THE COURT: You all do the same. Thank you. Have a good
23 holiday to all of you.

24 MR. HENSHAW: Happy holiday.

25 (WHEREUPON, THE HEARING WAS CONCLUDED.)

1 everybody?

2 MR. CHAMBERS: Correct.

3 MR. J. BRADLEY: Correct. It is.

4 MR. W. BRADLEY: Understood.

5 MR. HENSHAW: And so by anyone's continued presence
6 in this room that to me is an -- is both an 7 expressed and an implied statement that the 8 people here agreed to be bound by that order.
9 Is that also understood by everybody?

10 MR. W. BRADLEY: Absolutely.

11 MR. J. BRADLEY: That's fine.

12 MR. HENSHAW: Anybody disagree with that? Okay.

13 Thank y'all very much. I appreciate that. So
14 with that. We can now proceed.

15 JOSEPH D. MCMASTER, having been duly sworn, testifies
16 and deposes as follows:

17 MR. MCMASTER - EXAMINATION BY MR. BRADLEY:

18 Q: My name is Ward Bradley and I'm going to take
19 your deposition today.

20 A: Okay.

21 Q: Do you understand that Mr. McMaster?

22 A: Yes, sir.

23 Q: You are a lawyer?

24 A: Yes, sir.

25 Q: So you understand what a deposition is?

1 A: Yes, sir.

2 Q: And you understand what an oath is that you
3 just took?

4 A: Correct.

5 Q: All right. How many family members would you
6 have that live in Richland County?

7 A: I have my father, my brother John, his wife
8 Judy, their son Greg, Henry, his wife Peggy,
9 their -- their son Henry D., and their daughter
10 Mary Rogers, George, and Will, his wife Beth, 11 their son William, their daughter Dargon, and 12 their son Hunter, Frank. These are my brothers
13 and their family. Frank, his wife Brenda, and 14 me of course and I have -- I have an ex-wife in 15 Blythewood. I have two children. I don't know
16 if you can call it Richland County or not. My 17 son Joe and my daughter Ellen.

18 Q: Any other family members living in Richland
19 County?

20 A: Let's see. Yeah. I've got a distant cousin,
21 not distant, Bill McMaster, his wife Adelaide.
22 I don't -- I don't know the names of their 23 children. One of them name's Creighton. He's 24 a cousin. How -- I mean, how close?

25 Q: That's fair enough.

1 Harrison Road and I helped a homeless guy get
2 back on his feet. It was kind of risky, but he
3 had no place to live. He used to work for 4 Henry, so he stayed there rent-free. I got him
5 on social security and SSI. Now he's back over 6 with Henry, but at the time, he was more or 7 less dying. I -- I -- you know it's not
8 something I could write off on my taxes, but 9 that's what I did.

10 Q: Anything else you can think of?

11 A: That's about it.

12 Q: Have you ever been arrested?

13 A: Yeah. I got pulled over. I didn't have 14 insurance once about -- in 2008 and they --
15 they took me in for that and I had a pistol up
16 underneath the -- the seat. The concealed 17 weapon's permit had expired and they took in 18 and I spent the night in jail.

19 Q: Was that in Beaufort?

20 A: Yes. That's correct.

21 Q: Did you plead guilty to any of those charges?

22 A: No. I -- I -- I think it was probation I got 23 off on for the concealed -- for the concealed
24 weapon.

25 Q: Any other times?

Draft Copy

1 A: Recently, I got jerked into court for a -- a
2 child support, but that was -- yeah. Child
3 support. I spent a night in jail for that.

4 Q: Okay. Was that in the last year or so?

5 A: Yeah.

6 Q: Any other times?

7 A: Best I can remember, there was once in Myrtle
8 Beach I got pulled over for a municipal 9 ordinance for overloading a jeep. That's about 10 all I can remember.

11 Q: Were you arrested for that or just get a 12 ticket?

13 A: No. They -- well, we spent the night in jail.

14 Q: All right.

15 A: Yeah.

16 Q: Was that when you were in college or something?

17 A: Yeah.

18 Q: How did you get here today?

19 A: I walked.

20 Q: All right. Do you have a driver's license now?

21 A: No. It's suspended.

22 Q: Why is it suspended?

23 A: I got a ticket in North Carolina and I hadn't 24 been able to pay it and my insurance has -- has 25 lapsed since then.

1 Psychiatric.

2 Q: Why were you going to North Carolina for that
3 treatment?

4 A: I lost faith in Columbia physicians.

5 Q: Okay. How long did you see Keith Noland?

6 A: You know, I think it was a year, maybe two.
7 Maybe just a year because I saw him while he 8 was at -- there's another group -- before I saw 9 Keith, I saw a guy named Semeko and he was at 10 a group called -- is it the Pres -- it's 11 Presbyterian Psychiatric. It was located near 12 the Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte.

13 Q: So you saw Semeko at Presbyterian?

14 A: Yeah. And Keith Noland was there at the time
15 and Semeko went into private or went into 16 hospital practice -- residency -- not residency
17 -- I don't know what it's called, but he went 18 to just do a hospital practice and he gave me
19 to Keith Noland and Keith was still there for 20 about six months and then he went into private 21 practice and I saw him -- and then he closed.

22 Q: All right. Do you know what he's doing now?

23 A: No. I don't.

24 Q: Do you know why he closed his practice down?

25 A: (Shakes head negatively.)

Draft Copy

1 Q: All right. Is there any other doctors that
2 you've seen for treatment? I know you said
3 Franklin at Eastover Presbyterian --

4 A: I think that's his name.

5 Q: -- Semeko --

6 A: I think Franklin or Watson. I can't remember.

7 Q: So we've got three doctors in North Carolina.
8 Franklin or Watson at Eastover Psychiatric,
9 Semeko at Presbyterian Psychiatric --

10 A: Well, none of those -- you were asking me about 11 disability. None of those were used for the 12 disability analysis.

13 Q: Right. And the only one you mentioned on that 14 was Jo Marturano, right?

15 A: Yeah.

16 Q: All right.

17 A: Yeah.

18 Q: So the ones you've seen in North Carolina are 19 Keith Noland, Semeko, and Eastover Psychiatric?

20 A: Yeah. I did see another group. The Mehta. I
21 don't know what they're -- they're -- they are 22 Indian and I wasn't satisfied with them and 23 they left -- I left there.

24 Q: What's the name there?

25 A: Dr. Mehta. He's got two -- he's got a wife.

1 Q: Is it M-A-T-A?

2 A: Could be. Dr. Mehta and his wife. They have
3 a joint practice. I think they closed too.
4 They --

5 Q: Is that in North Carolina?

6 A: Yeah. It's in --

7 Q: It's in Charlotte?

8 A: -- Charlotte.

9 Q: What was the name of the practice?

10 A: Piedmont Psychiatric.

11 Q: All right.

12 A: I was -- I went there looking -- looking for 13 somebody out of town and went there and wasn't
14 satisfied with them and went over to Semeko.

15 Q: Okay. So you've given me the names of Mehta,
16 Semeko, Noland, and Franklin or Watson --

17 A: Yeah.

18 Q: -- of doctors that you've seen in Charlotte?

19 A: Right.

20 Q: Is there any other ones?

21 A: No.

22 Q: And we know you've seen Jo Marturano here?

23 A: In Columbia.

24 Q: Right.

25 A: That was shortly after I got out of the 1 hospital.

2 Q: Okay. And we know you saw Dr. DeWitt here?

3 A: Correct.

4 Q: Is there any other doctors that you've seen?

5 A: I mean, I've been in the hospital since then,
6 I mean.

7 Q: What were you in the hospital since then for?

8 A: I had two fainting spells recently and had to 9 go into the hospital.

10 Q: What hospital did you go into?

11 A: The first one I went into was Baptist Hospital
12 and the second one was Richland Memorial.

13 Q: When were you at Richland?

14 A: That was in March of this year.

15 Q: And I know you've been to Doctors Care on 16 Forest Drive?

17 A: Correct. Yeah. Yeah. Thank you.

18 Q: Is there any other doctors that you can think
19 of that you've been to see?

20 A: I do have a diet doctor I go to see. He's in 21 West Columbia to -- for my weight. Goodson.
22 It's called Goodson's Practice, but the doctor
23 is -- that's on call, I don't know his name.

24 Q: The name of the practice is Goodson?

25 A: It's Carolina Barometric -- Bariatric or

1 something like that.

2 Q: Carolina Bariatric --

3 A: It's in West --

4 Q: -- in West Columbia?

5 A: Right.

6 Q: All right. Any other doctors you can think of?

7 A: I think that's it. That's a passel of them.

8 I can't -- if I've missed one, I'm sorry.

9 Q: All right. Are you under the influence of any 10 medications today?

11 A: No.

12 Q: Are you taking any medicines at all --

13 A: No.

14 Q: -- on a regular basis?

15 A: No.

16 Q: When was the last time you took medicines on a
17 regular basis?

18 A: Last month.

19 Q: What medicines were you taking then?

20 A: It was Adderall 20 mg twice a day.

21 Q: Who was prescribing that for you?

22 A: That last visit I had at Eastover, he did
23 prescribe a prescription of Adderall before I
24 left.

25 Q: That's the Dr. Franklin Watson?

1 Fund?

2 A: $50,000 approximately.

3 Q: All right. How long did you work at the
4 Department of insurance?

5 A: Forgive me. My memory is bad, but I think I
6 can give you -- I was there in 2003 and I
7 stayed there until July of 2005. I don't
8 remember what month it was. It was 9 approximately around March of 2003 that I was 10 there because I remember it coincided with my 11 divorce.

12 Q: All right. What were you paid at the 13 Department of insurance?

14 A: Like 42 -- $42,000.

15 Q: Why did you leave that job?

16 A: I -- it was a toxic environment. I had a 17 political background, a Republican political 18 background and it was -- mostly it was -- in 19 those days it was toxic for Republicans, but 20 that's -- and I -- I was having a hard time
21 with my supervisor, Gwen Fuller and David
22 Belton. David in particular would ask --
23 didn't have as much experience as I did and 24 would ask me to sign his pleadings and I would 25 sign them and give the case back to him, but

1 then he wanted me to continue doing -- working
2 on his cases that weren't mine and I couldn't
3 do that anymore and so I left.

4 Q: That was in 2005?

5 A: Yes.

6 Q: So what did you do between 2005 and 2007?

7 A: I lived at Geiger Street looking for a job and 8 defended myself against eviction actions.

9 Q: All right.

10 A: And saw John as regularly as I could.

11 Q: Okay. Before you worked at the Department of 12 insurance, where did you work?

13 A: I was trying -- I got into private placement.
14 I'd left my law firm around 200 -- 2000 or 2001
15 officially and I got into private placement.
16 I -- I moved to my house and I started an
17 office at a -- I used to live on Pine Branch
18 Road and we -- I had some clients forindia.com
19 was one. I was trying to raise money for them
20 for a private placement where we would get 21 stock if we raised money for them and I had 22 several of those clients. I can't remember all 23 their names, but after the .com fiasco, which 24 most of these companies were, all the money
25 dried up and

Draft Copy

1 Q: So before you worked for the Department of
2 insurance, you worked out of your house --

3 A: Yes. Correct.

4 Q: -- for two or three years?

5 A: That's right.

6 Q: And what you were doing was trying to solicit
7 funds for companies?

8 A: Yeah.

9 Q: All right.

10 A: And in return, I would get stock.

11 Q: And before that, where did you work?

12 A: Tompkins & McMaster.

13 Q: How long did you work at Tompkins & McMaster?

14 A: From 1986 to 2000.

15 Q: Why did you quit that job?

16 A: I wanted to get into private placement. I just 17 really wanted -- that's something that I wanted
18 to do and I told Henry and them that, you know,
19 I wanted to go out on my own and dad said, you
20 know, no hard feelings if that's what you want
21 to do.

22 Q: Why didn't you go back to them after you left
23 the Department of insurance?

24 A: There wasn't a place for me. I mean, it's just 25 -- it wasn't there -- and besides we were

1 having that disagreement over my uncle's house,
2 so it wasn't the time to go back.
3 Q: But the firm is owned by your family, right?
4 A: That's correct.
5 Q: Okay. And you didn't go back to them after you
6 left?
7 A: No. I mean, it wasn't -- no.
8 Q: The Second Injury Fund as well?
9 A: No.
10 Q: You didn't ever go back with them either?
11 A: Uh-huh (affirmative response).
12 Q: Okay.
13 A: I mean, I still go over there, but I don't --
14 I'm -- I'm not on the -- I'm not making a
15 salary from them right now.
16 Q: Are you doing any work over there?
17 A: I've been trying to take business over there.
18 I have been trying to take business over there,
19 but I haven't done any work as an attorney, no.
20 I'm on inactive status right now.
21 Q: Okay. You don't have a law license anymore?
22 A: Yeah. Yeah. I do.
23 Q: You do?
24 A: Yeah. I'm just inactive. I haven't taken the 25 CLEs and I went inactive this year.

1 Q: -- which I believe to be an order from the
2 South Carolina Supreme Court. Have you seen
3 that order before, Mr. McMaster?

4 A: No.

5 Q: So you didn't realize you'd been suspended from 6 the practice of law?

7 A: No.

8 Q: Okay. What did Dr. DeWitt do wrong?

9 A: As far as I can tell, he just gave me too much
10 medicine.

11 Q: All right.

12 A: I mean, it was just way too much and I didn't
13 know it until it was too late.

14 Q: And that would've been when you went into the 15 hospital in May --

16 A: Yeah.

17 Q: -- of 2008?

18 A: Right.

19 Q: All right. And when you went into the 20 hospital, what was wrong with you?

21 A: I was having hallucinations.

22 Q: Tell me about it. Give me an explanation.

23 A: I thought I was being followed by Homeland
24 Security. I thought I was -- I thought my 25 house was bugged. I was paranoid. I thought

1 everybody was out to get me. I just -- I
2 thought the FBI was following me and I -- I
3 can't explain why.

4 Q: And you were discharged at the end of May 2008
5 from the hospital?

6 A: May 2008. The first time, yeah.

7 Q: Okay. All right. And when you were 8 discharged, did you know what was wrong with 9 you?

10 A: From what I was told, it was Adderall induced
11 psychosis.

12 Q: All right. How have you been damaged from what 13 you say Dr. DeWitt did wrong?

14 A: Reputation has been damaged.

15 Q: All right.

16 A: When I got out of the hospital -- right when I
17 went into the hospital -- let me back up a
18 little bit. I had a child support order. I
19 had to come in and rectify. I was put in the 20 hospital at the exact time. The child support
21 hearing went into effect -- commenced. Frank 22 showed up on my behalf, my brother Frank, and 23 said Joe can't make it, he's in the hospital.
24 They rescheduled. Reese Williams being a good
25 lawyer for Elizabeth, my ex-wife, came in the 1 with the Adderall?

2 A: No. I had a job.

3 Q: All right. Okay. And your disability began
4 when you started in the hospital on May of 5 2008?

6 A: Yeah. The -- my disability didn't start
7 kicking in they -- I didn't file immediately as 8 I got out. I tried to get a job and couldn't,
9 so disability officially began in 2009.

10 Q: I understand that. In your opinion, you were 11 disabled beginning --

12 A: Yeah.

13 Q: -- in May of 2008?

14 A: Yeah. Yeah.

15 Q: All right. And that was because of the 16 Adderall?

17 A: Yeah. Yeah. This whole incident.

18 Q: All right. And you knew that then, when you
19 went in that, that was the problem or when you
20 got out?

21 A: No. I didn't know it when I went in. I didn't 22 know that was the problem when I went in.

23 Q: But you knew it when you got out? When you
24 talked to your boss?

25 A: When I talked to -- talked to the doctors on

1 the floor.

2 Q: Okay.

3 A: I mean, John called it Adderall induced
4 psychosis when I talked to John.

5 Q: And that was in May of 2008?

6 A: Correct.

7 Q: All right. You said you were looking for a
8 job. Where did you look for a job?

9 A: I've forgotten the name of this place. South
10 Carolinas Workers' Compensation Fund. I was 11 interviewed by Harry Gregory.

12 Q: Anywhere else?

13 A: I sent lots of applications, but no bites and 14 it was too -- yeah.

15 Q: Where did you send applications?

16 A: I can't remember.

17 Q: Okay. Did you ever consider going back into 18 private placement again?

19 A: Well, I -- I have a million shares in a company
20 called Harbor Mastery, but they don't send me
21 checks or haven't sent me checks in a while and 22 I have been trying to promote that company so 23 that it could eventually create some income for 24 me during 2005, 2006, and -- no -- yeah 2005
25 and 2006, I got some -- I got paid for that.

1 Promoting them. I went to the Department of
2 Homeland Security and they looked at the
3 company and the product that we had available.
4 It's an internet platform for port security and 5 we secured one -- we secured one client, the 6 Port of Tampa, and while I'm getting back on my 7 feet, I have been trying to promote them, but
8 I'm not getting paid for it.

9 Q: Okay. So you are doing some -- what would you
10 call that then?

11 A: Promotion. It's not lobbying because I'm not 12 registered.

13 Q: Right. Who are you promoting Harbor Mastery
14 to?

15 A: Investors right now because they're trying to 16 -- the company is trying to break into 17 Australia. We want to get ports in Australia
18 to use this system.

19 Q: So you've been raising money or trying to raise 20 money --

21 A: Yeah. I haven't --

22 Q: -- for Harbor Mastery?

23 A: -- yeah. I haven't raised any. I mean, I tell 24 people about it. We have meetings with some -- 25 some folks to see if they're interested, but

1 nobody's written a check.

2 Q: Where is that company located?

3 A: Tampa, Florida.

4 Q: Who would the other principals of the company
5 be?

6 A: The CEO is George Rogers -- excuse me, George
7 Walters.

8 Q: Okay. Just a second. We don't have to play
9 that. All right. Let's take a break? We've 10 been sitting here for about an hour. Let's
11 stretch a minute?

12 (Off the Record)

13 Q: All right. Mr. McMaster, has your child
14 support been modified some way since it was 15 originally entered?

16 A: We had a hearing April -- no -- yeah it was 17 April the 19th and due to my status of being on 18 -- being disabled, among other things, child
19 support has been discontinued and I'm to pay --
20 pay back the arrearage.

21 Q: What's your arrearage that you've got?

22 A: I don't know yet.

23 Q: Okay.

24 A: It's supposed to be recalculated based on the 25 amounts that I gave Elizabeth during -- due to

1 Adderall XR 30 mg?

2 A: Yeah.

3 Q: All right. Would that have been a prescription
4 that you had filled at CVS?

5 A: I mean, it yeah. I mean, if that's what it
6 says.

7 Q: And that would've been about a month before you
8 were hospitalized with the psychosis or maybe
9 not a month, a couple of weeks?

10 A: I think so. Yeah.

11 Q: All right.

12 A: Let me see this XR 30 mg --

13 Q: The reason I ask you about that is it looks 14 like Dr. DeWitt would've prescribed that for 15 you, is that right?

16 A: That's what it says, but it -- yeah.

17 Q: As far as I can tell, that's the last
18 prescription for Adderall that Dr. DeWitt ever
19 wrote for you, is that correct?

20 A: I think so.

21 Q: All right. And certainly after your Adderall
22 induced psychosis, where you went in the 23 hospital in May, you weren't prescribed any 24 more Adderall by Dr. DeWitt after that?

25 A: No. It was mostly -- it was Provigil is what he

1 prescribed and I don't see that there, though.
2 Provigil should be on there. I don't see the
3 Provigil on there.

4 Q: What is Provigil?

5 A: It's something he gave me instead of Adderall
6 that's for narcolepsy and it -- really it -- it
7 really made me sick as well.

8 Q: When you say it made you --

9 A: There it is, right there. There it is.

10 Q: -- Provigil?

11 A: I call it Provigil.

12 Q: Okay. All right.

13 A: 7/10/2008.

14 Q: All right. And did it make you sick to your 15 stomach? What -- when you say it made it you
16 sick --

17 A: It could've just --

18 Q: -- what do you mean?

19 A: -- it just -- it could've just been right after 20 I got out of the hospital, it just didn't -- it
21 didn't sit well -- I don't think it sat well
22 with me at any time. I couldn't tell, but it
23 -- you do -- you can't sleep on it. It's -- 24 it's for narcolepsy, which is -- I mean, it's 25 -- I'm not a doctor, but I know it has been

1 A: -- Charley to see it. Okay.

2 Q: All right. I believe this to be a record of
3 your visit to the Lancaster Rehabilitation
4 Center that you referenced before, is that 5 correct?

6 A: Does it say that?

7 Q: Well, that's why I'm asking you. You're the 8 one who went there. I'm asking if this is your 9 record from going there? It's got your name on 10 it. It says that you were going to a 11 rehabilitation center and you said you went to 12 Lancaster --

13 A: 2001, well --

14 Q: -- one.

15 A: It doesn't say that on -- yeah. I mean, I'm 16 presuming that it is without the document
17 saying it, itself, but okay.

18 Q: I mean, you did go to that facility --

19 A: But I never --

20 Q: -- in January of 2001, right?

21 A: I think it was January 2001, yes. I know I did
22 go there, correct.

23 Q: And do you know if this is your record from 24 there or not?

25 A: I've never seen this.

1 Q: Okay. Do you --

2 A: And I don't -- and I'm not sure why I've never
3 seen this either.

4 Q: That's all right.

5 A: I should've seen this before now.

6 Q: Do you want to take a little bit longer time to 7 look at it before I ask you questions about it?

8 A: No. I think it's -- I think it's -- go head.

9 Q: All right. Do you recall going there for a 10 chemical dependency?

11 A: That's why I went.

12 Q: Okay. And one of the problems you had is that 13 you were verbally violent with your friends and 14 your family?

15 A: That's -- that's what I felt.

16 Q: Okay. All right.

17 A: I felt I was losing my temper a little too
18 much.

19 Q: All right. And did you say that you had chosen
20 to self-medicate instead of using what was 21 prescribed by your doctor?

22 A: No. I never said that.

23 Q: Do you see where it says that in the record?

24 A: Yeah.

25 Q: It says, he states that currently he has chosen

Draft Copy

1 to self-medicate instead of using what was
2 prescribed by his physician to manage the ADD?

3 A: Well, I do remember taking Soma and that was 4 for pain.

5 Q: Okay.

6 A: But I --

7 Q: So do you remember saying that you chose to 8 self-medicate instead of following --

9 A: No.

10 Q: -- your --

11 A: No. I never --

12 Q: -- physician --

13 A: -- said that. I don't recall saying that at 14 all.

15 Q: As far as your concerned, that record is wrong?

16 A: Yeah.

17 Q: Okay. All right. And do you see where it
18 says, he reports that at least --

19 A: Let me back up, back up here?

20 Q: Sure.

21 A: Taking Soma, I think was a bad idea ultimately 22 because I was having desperate neck pains and 23 I shouldn't have been taking that, in 24 retrospect, while going to see John because I
25 don't think that was a wise idea. Now I went

1 to Tucker Weston to take those medications and 2 Tucker, I think, is dead, but Tucker knew I was
3 going to see John.

4 Q: Where did Tucker practice medicine?

5 A: Dr. Tucker Weston, he's an orthopedic -- I
6 mean, he may be dead. I don't know.

7 Q: Okay.

8 A: An orthopedic surgeon. He was over off of 9 Barnwell Street.

10 Q: Was he in practice with other doctors or was he 11 just by himself?

12 A: Just by himself.

13 Q: Did he have a name, or was it just Dr. Tucker
14 Weston?

15 A: Tucker Weston. Yeah. Tucker Weston. Just --

16 Q: Tucker Weston, MD?

17 A: Yes, sir.

18 Q: All right. And it was on Barnwell Street? And 19 he --

20 A: Yeah. I think he's dead.

21 Q: And he was prescribing the Soma for you?

22 A: Yes. Yeah. He sure was.

23 Q: Where were you getting those prescriptions
24 filled?

25 A: I thought I was getting them filled at CVS. I

1 mean, I got everything filled at CVS at the
2 time. I lived right over off Pine Branch and
3 Forest Drive.

4 Q: Okay.

5 A: Somas were a bad idea. Daddy found them and 6 took them away from me.

7 Q: All right. But Dr DeWitt wasn't prescribing
8 the Soma?

9 A: No. He wasn't. No.

10 Q: Did you tell Dr. DeWitt you were taking Soma?

11 A: No.

12 Q: Don't you think you should've told him that?

13 A: Yes.

14 Q: All right. And you said that you didn't --
15 that you felt you were an addict?

16 A: No. The Max Alert too. These are things --
17 those are the things I was telling you about 18 that you can get at the grocery -- at the -- 19 you can get at the filling station.

20 Q: Okay.

21 A: They don't sell them anymore because they're -- 22 apparently some soldiers at Fort Jackson took 23 them and died of heart attacks during basic 24 training.

25 Q: All right. But you said that you did not feel

Draft Copy

1 you were an addict or that you did feel --

2 A: My wife -- my wife thought I was and I was
3 going to retrieve the marriage the best way I
4 could.

5 Q: I understand. The reason --

6 A: And I -- and I shot up there and I went to this 7 place and spilled my guts according to what 8 apparently was evident to her and seemingly 9 everybody else according to her.

10 Q: Do you see where it says patient reports that 11 he does feel he is an addict, but not an 12 alcoholic?

13 A: Yeah.

14 Q: Well, is that something that you said?

15 A: I don't remember that, no.

16 Q: Did you say that you were an addict?

17 A: No.

18 Q: Did you feel that you were addicted to 19 chemicals?

20 A: No.

21 Q: All right. The only reason you went there was 22 because of your wife?

23 A: Yes.

24 Q: Even though you didn't think you had a problem?

25 A: Well, I wasn't sure. I wasn't -- I thought

1 perhaps maybe I was an addict. John didn't
2 think I was an addict. John was continuing to 3 prescribe the medication and I was trying to,
4 you know, I was trying to alleviate the
5 symptoms of whatever it was that was causing me
6 to go to him in the first place because I had
7 bad insomnia, depression, lack of concentrating
8 -- it could've been the marriage. I'm not
9 sure, but I was going to do everything that I
10 could to salvage my marriage and apparently to 11 Elizabeth, that's what was wrong with me.

12 Q: All right.

13 A: And it wasn't the marriage, it was me and the 14 medications I was taking.

15 Q: But you didn't feel you were an addict?

16 A: No. I mean --

17 Q: Looking back, do you think you were an addict?

18 A: I'm not sure.

19 Q: All right. Did you have a problem with 20 alcohol? Did you have --

21 A: If I would've had a professional say you're an 22 addict, I would've really thought that, but 23 nobody was telling me that. John --

24 Q: The people at Lancaster didn't say you were an 25 addict?

Draft Copy

1 A: Well, John wasn't telling me that.

2 Q: Did the people at Lancaster say that you were?

3 A: I self -- I walked in there by myself and said
4 I think I need help.

5 Q: Right.

6 A: They didn't say that. All that you see here
7 apparently is what I said, but --

8 Q: Okay.

9 A: -- I don't remember saying I was an addict.

10 Q: You do remember telling them you were taking 11 ten Somas a day?

12 A: No.

13 Q: Okay. Were you taking ten Somas a day?

14 A: They'll kill you. A Soma will kill you. It'll 15 shut your heart down. I can't take ten Somas
16 a day.

17 Q: All right. So that would be another error in 18 these records?

19 A: Yeah. There's no way I can take ten Somas a 20 day.

21 Q: And it says an unknown amount of Maxalerts and 22 amphetamine?

23 A: Yeah.

24 Q: Did you tell them you were taking an unknown
25 amount of amphetamine?

Draft Copy

1 A: No. I -- I mean, I told them -- what I told
2 them was that I'd taken Maxalerts and Soma and 3 I think, I, you know, I think I need some help.

4 Q: But you didn't know --

5 A: I didn't say specifically an unknown amount
6 that I didn't know.

7 Q: Did you know how much you were taking?

8 A: Well, they're not prescribed, so you really
9 don't know how much you're taking, maybe, no --
10 I don't know how much I was taking. I would 11 take a bottle every now and then.

12 Q: A whole bottle of them?

13 A: Not at once.

14 Q: I see.

15 A: They'd come in like 30 and you might take one
16 or two.

17 MR. HENSHAW: Ward, when you get to an appropriate
18 stopping place, let's talk about taking a
19 break, okay?

20 MR. BRADLEY: All right. Maybe we'll finish this 21 record. And if you want to take a break, we 22 can?

23 MR. HENSHAW: I understand you're on a line of 24 questions. I -- I'm not trying to say break
25 now.

Draft Copy

1 MR. BRADLEY: All right. We're about finished with
2 this one, then we'll take a break.

3 A: See, he lacks knowledge of the disease process.
4 See, I -- I do -- I did not have knowledge of 5 the disease process.

6 Q: Right.

7 A: And I don't -- and it presented me with a very
8 high potential for relapse if in fact I was 9 having a -- if I was in there for that or not,
10 but it was sketchy. I went to this place to 11 salvage my marriage and I thought that this was 12 my problem and I did have -- I wasn't -- I
13 couldn't have taken ten Somas a day. I think 14 that's a little exaggerated. I don't know how 15 much they were -- I don't remember having that 16 conversation.

17 Q: So you think that's an error in the record?

18 A: Well, I know I didn't take ten in a day and I
19 know I -- and it's very unlikely that I said
20 that because I just couldn't take ten a day.
21 I wouldn't -- I just -- you can't take ten of 22 those things a day. It's -- it would kill you.

23 Q: Do you see --

24 A: I mean, it'll shut your heart down. It's a 25 muscle relaxant.

Draft Copy

1 Q: Do you see where it says, patient reports that
2 he started his using prescription drugs, which 3 is currently his drug of choice, approximately 4 seven years ago after a diagnosis of arthritis
5 to his neck?

6 A: That was the Soma.

7 Q: So you had been taking the Soma for seven
8 years?

9 A: It seems like a long time. I can't say that 10 for sure. Seven years is a long time. What is 11 the date of this? That's a long -- I don't --

12 Q: Is that another error in the record or is that 13 true?

14 A: It's very possible. Because seven years of 15 Soma is a long time. You can check. I had a 16 -- an accident that exacerbated my neck, which 17 had been injured in playing football when I was 18 in high school and the accident took place over 19 in front of Wal-Mart on Forest Drive and that 20 was in the 90s, so -- what's the date of this 21 thing?

22 Q: This is 2001.

23 A: I think that was the -- I don't know -- the 24 late 90s. I don't think I was taking it for 25 seven years, no.

1 Q: All right. So where it says in this record
2 that you had been taking it for seven years,
3 that's another error?

4 A: Well, I don't -- I just think -- I don't know
5 where the seven years comes from, but I can
6 confirm to you like I already have and that
7 seems like a long time to take that stuff. I
8 think that I was -- if -- if -- if Tucker
9 Weston is still around, you can prove me wrong,
10 but you know, seven years, I don't think I took 11 it for seven years. I think more like three,
12 so --

13 Q: Just --

14 A: I mean, that's --

15 Q: This record says that you started taking it
16 seven years before you came in, right?

17 A: That's -- that's what this document says, yeah.

18 Q: And you think this document is an error?

19 A: Yes.

20 Q: All right. Because it wasn't seven years?

21 A: No.

22 Q: How many years was it?

23 A: Three at the most. Three, maybe four.

24 Q: So before you --

25 A: To the best of my recollection, seven years is

1 a long time. That would've meant I was taking
2 them back in -- well, you know, you can do the 3 math.

4 Q: All right. So for seven year -- at least three
5 or four, you had been taking Soma?

6 A: Yes, sir.

7 Q: And you think where it says seven years is an 8 error in this record?

9 A: Yeah. I don't think it's -- no -- yes. Yes,
10 I think it's an error.

11 Q: And during this three or four years that you
12 had been taking Soma while you went to see Dr.
13 DeWitt, did you ever tell him you were taking 14 these other drugs?

15 A: I never told him about the Soma, I don't think.

16 Q: All right. Do you think he could properly
17 treat you if you were taking other medicines he 18 didn't know about?

19 A: You know, I don't know -- I don't know if I
20 told him or not, but I don't think I -- had I
21 been doing that without his knowledge, I don't 22 think that was a good idea.

23 Q: All right. You just can't remember whether you
24 told him or not?

25 A: No.

DISCHARGE SUMMARY

NAME: McMaster, Joseph D
HOSPITAL NO: 313858
DICTATING PHYSICIAN: John H. Dewitt, M.D.

ADMITTED: 05/13/2008
DISCHARGED: 05/28/2008
DOB: 11/02/1959

FINAL DIAGNOSES: Axis I

Paranoid psychosis of unclear etiology, rule out bipolar psychosis, rule out bipolar type 1 versus 2; history of mixed substance abuse; history of adult attention deficit disorder.

Axis II
None.

Axis III
Celiac sprue.

Axis IV
Severe.

Axis V
Global assessment of functioning at the time of admission was 20, at the time of discharge was 80-90.

HISTORY OF PRESENT ILLNESS: Mr. Joe McMaster is a 48-year-old divorced white male with a history of depression and ADD who had become increasingly bizarre and delusional over the 2-3 month period prior to admission. He had been followed in my office for several years for adult ADD and depression and had actually done relatively well, but had some decline in the past few years with increasing problems with financial difficulties, inability to keep a job for any length of time and began to develop delusions about being followed and someone being out to get him. He had history of previous inpatient substance abuse treatment and in the past had abused medications. It was felt that the patient had been overusing his Adderall and possibly getting Adderall from other physicians that might have precipitated this delusional condition. The patient also had a history of noncompliance with his outpatient treatment as far as attending appointments and asking for early refills on prescriptions.

MENTAL STATUS EXAMINATION: This is a disheveled white male who is inattentive, distracted, clearly delusional and paranoid. He is wanting to isolate and not interact with people. Has not been threatening or hostile to anyone, except he did get in an argument just a few days prior to this admission when he asked a complete stranger if the stranger was following him. He almost got into _____ with that individual, and his cousin had to intervene. The patient has not been really taking care of his personal hygiene or conducting his life appropriately. He was convinced that his brother was mistreating his parents and several other delusions.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: Unremarkable.

LABORATORY DATA: Showed serum ferritin of 2.7, serum iron 19, TIBC 436. RPR was nonreactive. Urine drug screen is positive for amphetamine and cocaine metabolites.

CONSULTATION: A general medical evaluation by Dr. Rahman. No complications.

HOSPITAL COURSE:

1. The patient was admitted to the 5th Averyt adult psychiatric unit in very paranoid and dysfunctional state. He was treated with Abilify to improve his psychosis. Psychological testing was obtained which basically was not valid because the patient endorsed too many items. He did not clearly have significant mood symptoms, except for some possible depression. He was also placed on Zyprexa to decrease his manic thinking and improve his sleep. The patient began to gradually improve and was tolerating his psychotropic medications well without EPS or tardive dyskinesia. Several family meetings were held with his brothers, and they felt like he had improved to the point where he was more functional and was ready for discharge. He was stable and ready for discharge by 5/28/08 on the following medications:
2. Remeron 30 mg 1 q. h.s.
3. Zyprexa Zydis 10 mg 1 q. h.s.
4. Hemocyte Plus 1 daily.
5. Abilify 20 mg 1 daily.

AXIS I: Medication or drug induced psychosis. Major depressive disorder, recurrent and severe, by history. Attention deficit disorder.
AXIS II: None.
AXIS III: Iron deficiency anemia. Rule out celiac sprue.
AXIS IV: Severe.
AXIS V: GAF at the time of admission was 20. At the time of discharge it was 90.

HISTORY OF PRESENT ILLNESS: This patient is a 48-year-old divorced white male who is a long-term outpatient in my practice with a history of onset of severe paranoia and delusional thoughts related to probable use and possible overuse of adoral for his ADD without hyperactivity. The patient had not been using any other substances. He had become very hypervigilant. He thought people were following him. He was convinced of this and again he called the police and did very bizarre and erratic things. The patient had a similar episode about 3-4 weeks ago and after treatment in the hospital this episode had resolved.

On mental status examination this is a paranoid, disheveled white male who is inattentive. His thought process is jumbled. He has poor insight. He is not hallucinating. He is quite paranoid and fearful. Judgment is impaired. Insight also is significantly impaired. No abnormal motor movements.

Physical examination is unremarkable.

LABORATORY DATA: Unremarkable.

CONSULTATIONS AND COMPLICATIONS: Dr. Abdulrahman saw the patient.

HOSPITAL COURSE: The patient was admitted to the Psychiatric Unit in a paranoid and psychotic state. He was placed on Seroquel for sleep and Abilify. The dose was adjusted to a maximum dose of 30 mg q. h.s. He was also placed on Provigil to improve his attention and cognition. He began to improve dramatically and is ready for discharge after total resolution of his psychotic state. He was discharged on 07/10/2008 with the following medications:

1. Seroquel 100 mg one q. h.s.
2. Hemocyte Plus one q.d.
3. Abilify 15 mg two q. PM.
4. Provigil 200 mg 2 q. d.
5. Restoril 30 mg one q. p.r.n. sleep.

FOLLOW UP: Follow up in 2-3 weeks.

Consultation Report

ADMITTING PHYSICIAN: Dr. Dewitt.

REASON FOR CONSULTATION: Medical management.

HISTORY OF PRESENT ILLNESS: A 48-year-old male with history of ADD and depression, who was having paranoid behavior, has not been sleeping. He has a gluten allergy and has not been compliant with diet. Denies chest pain, shortness of breath, palpitations, fever or chills. No nausea or vomiting.

ALLERGIES: Phenobarbital and gluten (wheat).

SOCIAL HISTORY: He is single. Does not smoke. Does not drink alcoholic beverages. Denies illicit drugs.

FAMILY HISTORY: He has several siblings in good health. His mother and father are living; his mother has dementia.

PAST MEDICAL HISTORY: Hypertension, iron deficiency anemia, celiac sprue, ADD. Two admissions to the psychiatric floor for paranoid behavior. One admission to Palmetto Baptist Medical Center recently for near syncope.

REVIEW OF SYSTEMS: As above in the history of present illness, otherwise negative.

MEDICATIONS: See MAR.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: General: A well-developed, well-nourished male in no acute distress, cooperative. Blood pressure 140/80, respirations 18, he is afebrile, pulse rate 70. HEENT: Pupils equal, round, reactive to light and accommodation, extraocular muscles intact, pharynx benign. Neck: Supple, nontender, no adenopathy or goiter. Lungs: Clear to auscultation. Heart: Regular, no murmurs or gallops. Abdomen: Soft, nontender, no organomegaly, normoactive bowel sounds. Extremities: Good range of motion in upper and lower extremities. No peripheral edema. Neurologic Exam: Awake, alert, deep tendon reflexes symmetric in upper and lower extremities.

ASSESSMENT AND PLAN:

1. Iron deficiency anemia. Will continue his Hemocyte Plus supplements. Check his iron studies in a few weeks.
2. Low B12, most likely secondary to malabsorption from celiac sprue. Continue Cerefolin.
3. Elevated blood pressure reading. Will observe for now.
4. Behavioral changes and ADD. Management as per Dr. Dewitt.

On behalf of Three Rivers Medical Associates, I would like to thank Dr. Dewitt for allowing us to participate in the care of this patient.

Psychological Evaluation

Psychological Evaluation

DATE OF EXAMINATION: 07/02/2008

REFERRING PHYSICIAN: Dr. John Dewitt

HISTORY OF PRESENT ILLNESS: This patient is a 48-year-old, Caucasian male with a history of depression and attention-deficit disorder who has become increasingly delusional and disorganized over 2-3 months. He has been experiencing increasing difficulty with finances, difficulty managing employment, and is beginning to believe that he is being followed. He has had a previous inpatient admission for substance abuse. He was felt to be in need of inpatient management and was admitted to the service of Dr. John Dewitt. Psychiatric examination indicated paranoid psychosis of unclear etiology, history of mixed substance abuse, and history of adult attention-deficit disorder. He was seen in medical consultation by Dr. Abdulrahman. His assessment was iron deficiency anemia, celiac sprue, and hypertension.

EXAMINATION: The patient was referred for both neuropsychological testing and objective psychological testing. The testing was not completed until the day of his discharge, and I did not have an opportunity to examine the patient. The following information is based on the objective test scores only.

At the time of the examination, the patient was alert. There was no fluctuation in the level of consciousness noted. He was oriented to personal information and place. Temporal orientation was normal.

On the Seven Minute Auditory Continuous Performance Test he made 1 error of omission and 0 errors of commission. He was able to recite the months in the reverse order, perform Serial 3 additions, and the Key test without error.

During the examination there was no evidence of perseveration, imitation/utilization behavior, or difficulty in achieving or maintaining task set. Alternating figures were normal. Complex motor sequences were percentile, and 25-minute delayed recall in the 65th percentile.

Visual Naming as average (52). Controlled Oral Word Association was average (38).

His copy of the Rey Complex Figure was average (32). Judgment of line orientation was high average (27).

He was administered the Personality Assessment Inventory. He did produce a valid profile; however, there were no clinically significant elevations noted on the Full or subscale profiles.

IMPRESSION:

1. This is an incomplete evaluation. The following information is based on the patient's performance on tests only.
2. Neuropsychological testing was within normal limits and no consistent with cognitive or central nervous system impairment.
3. Objective psychological testing was not revealing. The reason for the discrepancy between the Personality Assessment Inventory and his clinical presentation is not known.

I would like to thank Dr. Dewitt for referring this patient for evaluation. If I can be of further help in the management of this case please do not hesitate to contact me.

Comment: The patient was hospitalized here at Baptist in May, 2008, committed by family, for paranoia and a belief his brother was mistreating their parents. During that admission, the patient did not want family contacted. Currently the patient is bright, communicative, and denying any depression or suicidal thoughts. He believes, however, that he is being followed. He agrees he may be paranoid but somewhat irritated this thought may be true and no one will entertain the possibility. Pt. denies any other symptoms, other than poor sleep prior to admission.
