

Goldie Grier Reeves
Hawthorne Suirtes Hotel#1213
Greenville, South Carolina 29615

June 8,

June 8, 2015

RECEIVED

JUN 15 2015

SC Court of Appeals

Dear Ms. Abbott Kitchings
office of the court of appeals
120120 Senate Street
Columbia, South Carolina 29201

RE: Reeves v Reeves
Appeal Court Case 3023-002-082

Dear Ms. Abbott Kichings:

Last Sunday Morning I met with a distressed mother of four boys .
Who was staying in the room next to mine. She as it turned out had been abandoned by he husband in the Charleston Area, However his attorney was from Greenville and the hearing was in Greenville, She had a broken foot and was hobbling around in the laundry. She thought the judge may have been Verdin. I gave her chnage for her wash and she asked if I knew an attorney so, I loked up the Ask an Attorney number. I had in the past counseled abused women with Rape crisis Center.

During the hearing her husband got rowdy and the baliff threatened to put him in jail. The judge changed the venue for Charleston since she had no carto easily get to Greenville.

Ifelt very badly for her and we met for coffee the next mornig
HER boys stayed in their room so she could speak candidly. Her mother was coming to pick the family up later that day. I wished her good luck but really couldn't do much more.

When I left the dining area, a clerk at the desk mentioned she had seen a postal package for me. guests don't have individual mail boxes. I have a small kitchen and don't go to the service desk or dining area often.

THE package was from Ms. Mary Lyn Best a court reporter. It held a transcript from a family court and a refund chck from an over estimate of her work.
The woman I helped promised to let me know how things turned out for her & the boys. She had some family so I was cofident she'd have some help.

Sincerely Yours,

Goldie reeves

CC; Mr. Terry Chasteen esquire
Ms. DEsiree Allan

Goldie Reeves
48 McPrice Court Ste 1213
Greenville, SC 29615

© Walter Knabe

GREENVILLE SC 296

12 JUN 2015 PM 3 L

Ms. Jenny Abbott Kitchings
1220 Senate Street
Columbia, South Carolina 29201

RECEIVED

JUN 15 2015

SC Court of Appeals

29201372320

