Re: Anna Dillard Wilson v. S.C. Department of Motor Vehicles
Appellate Case No. 2015-000887

Dear Mrs. Kitchings:

I have consulted with opposing counsel about the difficulties of delivery of filings raised in her letter of December 18th, 2015, and we have concluded that the problem lies with the U.S. Postal Service.

This is regrettable, since the Post Office was once the standard for reliability embedded in the rules of civil procedure for the courts of the United States as well as South Carolina. To compensate for the delays occasioned by the performance of the Post Office, I have agreed with counsel that I will transmit any filings and correspondence in this appeal to the S.C. Department of Motor Vehicles by electronic mail as well as the United States Mail.

Time permitting, I will also hand-deliver the same filings to your office to avoid delay. I have, however, alerted counsel that this method of communication with the Department of Motor Vehicles is a courtesy, and not a concession to substitute for the South Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure, nor the rules of appellate procedure.

I trust this resolves the issue raised by the department.

Sincerely

John D. (Jay) Elliott
