Jenny:

Thank you for taking my call. I have never asked for a delay in oral argument before; but I have an oral argument scheduled for Thursday at 10 am in the referenced case. I had knee surgery on Friday and expected to bounce back quicker than I have. Opposing counsel, Bobby Stepp, who I am copying on this email, asked me to rely that he has "no objection" to my request to continue oral argument to next month.

I am going into the office today but am nowhere near back to normal and I just think I need a delay to do the best job for my client.

Please let me know as soon as you can whether this can be accomplished. I will be leaving home for the office shortly. Beth is copied on this email so she knows you may be emailing or calling.
