STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA ADMINISTRATIVE LAW COURT

Kevin J. Daniels, #247291,

Appellant,

vs.

South Carolina Department of Corrections,

Respondent.

Docket No. 14-ALJ-04-0365-AP

ORDER OF DISMISSAL

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter is before the South Carolina Administrative Law Court ("ALC" or "Court") pursuant to the Notice of Appeal filed, by Appellant ("Inmate") above named, who is incarcerated with the South Carolina Department of Corrections ("SCDC"). Inmate contends that 388 days of credit is not being properly applied to his concurrent sentences and appeals the denial of his Step 2 grievance in which SCDC found that Inmate's sentence has been properly calculated.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Inmate is incarcerated for three separate offenses, listed in chronological order from the date of the offense, as follows:

1. Indictment 11-GS-32-00794: On October 7, 2010, Inmate committed a 3rd or subsequent property offense and on June 8, 2011 was sentenced to a 10 year suspended sentence and 3 years probation. However, Inmate was arrested on February 2, 2013, infra, and his probation was revoked. As a result, on March 15, 2013, Inmate received a 5 year sentence and credited time from the date of the arrest on February 2, 2013.
2. Indictment 12-GS-40-00680: On August 23, 2011, Inmate committed a 3rd or subsequent property offense and on September 3, 2012 was sentenced to serve 6 years. It was noted on Inmate's sentencing sheet that 388 days would be credited to this term of incarceration.
3. Indictment 13-GS-32-01526: On February 2, 2013, Inmate committed an offense of shoplifting and, on May 8, 2013, was sentenced to serve 8 years. This offense was deemed a violation of the terms of Inmate's probation related to his property offense from October 7, 2010, supra. It was noted on Inmate's sentencing sheet that credit would apply to this term of incarceration starting from the date of this offense, February 2, 2013.

The sentencing sheets contained in the record indicate that Inmate's 8 year and 6 year sentences are to be served concurrently.

ISSUE ON APPEAL

Did the Department calculate the Inmate's sentence correctly?

STANDARD OF REVIEW

The Court's jurisdiction to hear this matter is derived entirely from the decision of the South Carolina Supreme Court in Al-Shabazz v. State, 338 S.C. 354, 527 S.E.2d 742 (2000). The Court's appellate jurisdiction in inmate appeals is limited to state created liberty interests typically involving: (1) cases in which an inmate contends that prison officials have erroneously calculated his sentence, sentence-related credits, or custody status; and (2) cases in which an inmate has received punishment in a major disciplinary hearing as a result of a serious rule violation. Id.

When reviewing the Department's decisions in inmate grievance matters, the Court sits in an appellate capacity. Id. at 756. Consequently, the review in these inmate grievance cases is limited to the Record presented.

An Administrative Law Judge may not substitute his judgment for that of an agency "as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact." S.C. Code Ann. § 1-23-380(5) (2013). Furthermore, an Administrative Law Judge may not reverse or modify an agency's decision unless substantial rights of the Appellant have been prejudiced because the decision is clearly erroneous in view of the substantial evidence on the whole Record, arbitrary or affected by an error of law. See Section 1-23-380(5); See also Marietta Garage, Inc. v. South Carolina Dep't of Public Safety, 337 S.C. 133, 522 S.E.2d 605 (Ct. App. 1999); South Carolina Dep't of Labor, Licensing and Regulation v. Girgis, 332 S.C. 162, 503 S.E.2d 490 (Ct. App. 1998). "'Substantial evidence' is not a mere scintilla of evidence nor the evidence viewed blindly from one side of the case, but is evidence which, considering the Record as a whole, would allow reasonable minds to reach the conclusion that the administrative agency reached or must have reached in order to justify its action." Lark v. Bi-Lo, 276 S.C. 130, 135, 276 S.E.2d 304, 306 (1981). Accordingly, the possibility of drawing two inconsistent conclusions from the evidence does not prevent an administrative agency's finding from being supported by substantial evidence. Grant v. South Carolina Coastal Council, 319 S.C. 348, 461 S.E.2d 388 (1995).

Additionally, in Superintendent, Massachusetts Corr. Inst., Walpole v. Hill, 472 U.S. 445, 105 S. Ct. 2768 (1985), the U.S. Supreme Court held that "the relevant question is whether there is any evidence in the record that could support the conclusion reached by the disciplinary board." Moreover, in Al-Shabazz, the Court underscored that since prison officials are in the best position to decide inmate disciplinary matters, the Courts and therefore this tribunal adhere to a "hands off" approach to internal prison disciplinary policies and procedures when reviewing inmate appeals under the APA. Al-Shabazz at 757; See also Pruitt v. State, 274 S.C. 565, 266 S.E.2d 779 (1980) (stating the traditional "hands off" approach of South Carolina courts regarding internal prison discipline and policy).

DISCUSSION

Inmate contends on appeal that the 388 days of credit for time served being applied to Indictment 12-GS-40-00680 should also apply to Indictment 13-GS-32-01526, in order to reduce the total amount of time of incarceration that must be served. However, the Department argues that the sentencing sheets indicate that the credit only applies to Indictment 13-GS-32-01526. Furthermore, the Department notes that the credit pertains to time that transpired before the offense date of Indictment 13-GS-32-01526.

S.C. Code Ann. § 24-13-40 states in part that "The computation of the time served by prisoners under sentences imposed by the courts of this State must be calculated from the date of the imposition of the sentence." Furthermore, an inmate is not entitled to credit for detention that was served prior to the time he was charged with another offense. Crooks v. State, 326 S.C. 171, 175, 485 S.E.2d 374, 376 (1997).

Based upon the substantial evidence in the record, the Court finds that Inmate is being properly credited for time served. The sentencing order for indictment 12-GS-40-00680 clearly states that Inmate is to receive 388 days applied toward that particular sentence. Indictment 13-GS-32-01526 also clearly states that Inmate is to receive credit for time served commencing on February 2, 2013, which is the date of the offense and the date of the arrest.

Therefore, for the foregoing reasons the Decision appealed from is Affirmed and this appeal is hereby DISMISSED, WITH PREJUDICE.

INMATE'S REASON FOR APPEAL (state specific dissatisfaction):

SCDC has improperly calculated my sentence release date on indictment no. 2012GS4000680. The 388 days of jail time I was given credit for by the court on that sentence was not properly applied to my sentence calculation by SCDC the 388 days of jail time credit should have been applied to the total amount of sentences I was serving when #2012GS4000680 was activated by SCDC so as to reduce the total amt. of time I'd be required to serve before max-out on those sentences since the 388 days jail time credits were awarded to a concurrent sentence and all my sentences I'm serving are understood to be served concurrent to each other. Please adjust my sentence accordingly. #247291

RESPONSIBLE OFFICIAL'S DECISION AND REASON:

Your concerns have been reviewed. You have been given credit for all jail time credit due on your sentences. 2012GS4000680 sentenced on 9/13/12 clearly states you are to be given jail time credit in the amount of 388 days. 2013GS3201526 sentenced on 5/8/13 clearly states you are to be given jail time credit beginning 2/2/13. Furthermore, the jail time report from Lexington County shows you were detained on your probation violation 11GS32000794 beginning 2/2/13. While your sentences are concurrent, based on the jail time for each offense, your sentences do have different start and projected completion dates. All jail time has been correctly applied for each sentence.

Therefore, your grievance is denied.

You may appeal this decision under the Administrative Procedures Act to the Administrative Law Court. In order to appeal, you must fill out the attached Notice of Appeal Form and submit it as instructed on the form within 30 days of receipt.

WARDEN'S DECISION AND REASON:

Inmate Williams;

This is in response to KRCI-1090-13. All pertinent information and documentation has been reviewed. Nothing has been found to support your allegations that your jail time credit was not applied to your sentence. You were given jail time credit on offense number eleven for three hundred and eighty eight days. Your max out date of 6/26/2017 is correct. I see no error in your jail time credit.

Based on this information, your requested action is denied. If not satisfied with my response, see Step 5 below.

4. In response to the Order to Supplement the Record on Appeal, on August 15, 2014, SCDC submitted a manual maxout date calculation worksheet on appellant's eight-year sentence. SCDC completed the calculation using the eight-year sentence because that sentence is longer, and ends later than appellant's other sentences. As a result, the eight-year sentence controls the duration of appellant's incarceration. Specifically, appellant is projected to complete his eight-year sentence on June 28, 2017, which compares to a projected completion date of November 28, 2015 on the five-year sentence and a completion date of April 22, 2012 on the 388-day sentence.
 5. On August 22, 2014, appellant filed a Motion to Compel requesting that SCDC be required to perform manual date verifications on his other sentences.
 6. SCDC has submitted a manual verification that the eight-year sentence that controls the duration of appellant's incarceration is correct. Completing an additional verification on appellant's sentences of lesser duration could not result in an earlier projected release date, but completing such a verification would require several hours of additional manual calculations by SCDC personnel.
 7. Therefore, because performing a manual date verification would impose a substantial burden on SCDC personnel without the possibility of having an impact on appellant's release date, appellant's motion to compel should be denied.

WHEREFORE, respondent requests the Court DENY appellant's motion to compel.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case is before the Administrative Law Court ("ALC") pursuant to the appeal of Kevin Daniels (appellant), an inmate incarcerated with the Department of Corrections ("SCDC"). Appellant filed a Step One Grievance on July 25, 2013, claiming his sentences was not being calculated properly. This grievance was denied when it was determined the sentences had been implemented correctly. Appellant filed a Step Two Grievance on September 12, 2013. The Step Two Grievance was also investigated and denied. Appellant received the final agency determination on March 7, 2014, and he filed his Notice of Appeal on March 31, 2014.

Because appellant's sentence has been properly implemented, the final determination of the Department should be affirmed.

JURISDICTION

The ALC's jurisdiction to hear this matter is derived entirely from the decision of the South Carolina Supreme Court in Al-Shabazz v. State, 338 S.C. 354, 527 S.E.2d 742 (2000). In McNeil v. South Carolina Department of Corrections, 00-ALJ-04-00336-AP (September 5, 2001), the ALC interpreted the breadth of its jurisdiction pursuant to Al-

Shabazz. That decision holds that the ALC's appellate jurisdiction in inmate appeals is limited to two types of cases: (1) cases in which an inmate contends that prison officials have erroneously calculated his sentence, sentence-related credits, or custody status; and (2) cases in which the SCDC has taken an inmate's created liberty interest as punishment in a major disciplinary hearing. Jurisdiction of the ALC was most recently addressed in Sullivan v. SCDC, 355 S.C. 437, 586 SE.2d 124 (2003).

In this case, Appellant contends that SCDC has incorrectly calculated his sentence. Consequently, this case falls within the range of cases considered by this Court on appeal.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

A reviewing court will not disturb findings of an administrative agency if its findings are supported by substantial evidence on record as a whole. Pearson v. JPS Converter & Industry Corp., 327 S.C. 393, 489 S.E.2d 219 (Ct. App. 1997). "Substantial evidence" is evidence which, considering record as a whole, would allow a reasonable mind to reach the conclusion reached by the administrative agency. Hendley v. S.C. State Budget & Control Bd., 325 S.C. 413, 481 S.E.2d 159 (Ct. App. 1996). The possibility of drawing two inconsistent conclusions from the evidence does not prevent an administrative agency's finding from being supported by substantial evidence. Grant v. S.C. Coastal Council, 319 S.C. 348, 461 S.E.2d 388 (1995). Administrative agencies are afforded wide latitude in making decisions, as shown in the deferential standard of appellate review. Heater of Seabrook, Inc. v. Public Svc. Comm'n of S.C., 332 S.C. 20, 503 S.E.2d 739 (1998).

ARGUMENTAPPELLANT'S SENTENCE HAS BEEN CORRECTLY
CALCULATED BY RESPONDENT

In this appeal, appellant claims he should be receiving additional pre-conviction jail time credit on his current sentences. However, contrary to appellant's claims, his jail time credit has been correctly calculated.

On June 8, 2011, appellant plead guilty to third or subsequent property offense on indictment number 2011-GS-32-00794. He was sentenced to a term of ten years' incarceration, suspended upon the service of time served and three years' probation.

On September 13, 2012, appellant plead guilty to a separate charge of third or subsequent property offense on indictment number 2012-GS-40-00680. He was sentenced to six years' incarceration suspended upon service of 388 days' time served.

Subsequently, on February 2, 2013, appellant committed a shoplifting offense, and he was arrested the same day. On March 15, 2013, appellant's probation was revoked on indictment number 2011-GS-32-00794 and appellant was sentenced to five years' incarceration. Then, on May 8, 2013 appellant plead guilty to the shoplifting charge on indictment number 2013-GS-32-01526. He was sentenced to eight years' incarceration.

S.C. Code Ann. § 24-13-40 provides that with limited exceptions, inmates are entitled to credit for time served prior to trial and sentencing. However, an inmate is not entitled to credit for detention prior to the time he was charged with an offense. See Crooks v. State, 326 S.C. 171, 175, 485 S.E.2d 374, 376 (1997) (holding that an offender could not receive credit for detention before an offense was charged). If a written sentencing order directs that an inmate receive a specific amount of pre-conviction jail time credit, then the written order is controlling. See Tant v. SCDC, Op. No. 27392 (S.C. Sup. Ct. filed May 28, 2014 (“We see no reason why the Department should not be able to rely on unambiguous sentencing sheets as indicative of the intended sentence.”) (petition for rehearing pending); Mention v. SCDC, unpublished S.C. Sup. Ct. Order filed October 20, 1999 (“In our opinion, the Department of Corrections’ authority to run the state’s prison system does not give it the power to change a sentence imposed by a trial court.”) (copy attached).

Appellant’s pre-conviction jail time has been calculated correctly. On indictment number 2012-GS-40-00680, the sentencing order directs that appellant should receive 388 days of pre-conviction credit, and he has received 388 days as ordered.

On indictment number 2013-GS-32-01526, the sentencing order states appellant should receive “credit for time from Feb. 2, 2013.” As noted in SCDC’s final agency decision appellant has received credit from February 2, 2013 on that sentence.¹

As to appellant’s probation revocation, the jail time report provided by the Lexington County Sheriff’s Department reflects that appellant was arrested on February 2, 2013 until his sentencing on March 15, 2013. Based on this documentation, appellant has been credited for pre-revocation credit from February 2, 2013.

Because SCDC has correctly determined appellant was not entitled to any pre-conviction jail time credit May 11, 2007 to May 30, 2008, the final agency decision should be affirmed.

¹ Appellant argues he should receive 388 days of credit toward his sentence on indictment number 2013-GS-32-01526 based upon the credit he received on indictment number 2012-GS-40-00680. Appellant’s argument is incorrect for two reasons. First, the sentencing order reflects only credit from February 2, 2013. Second, according to the

RESPONDENT'S FINAL AGENCY DECISION IS SUPPORTED BY SUBSTANTIAL EVIDENCE

The record conclusively establishes that the "substantial evidence on the whole record" supports the Department's final agency decision. Appellant has the burden of proving that the decision of the Department is clearly erroneous, or arbitrary or capricious, or an abuse of discretion. See Porter v. Public Service Comm'n, 333 S.C. 12, 507 S.E.2d 328 (1998).

CONCLUSION

Based on the reasoning above, the Department of Corrections respectfully requests the final agency decision be affirmed.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Ms. Ingraham: 247291-2013-07-03-1

I'm writing you about my sentence computation. About 3 days ago I talked to Ms. York the casemngr. about my sentence computation in her office. I'm not satisfied with the answers she gave me about my sentence so, I'm appealing to you. Please correct my sentence computation. I'm serving 3 concurrent sentences. On my 6 yr. sentence I was given 388 days jail time credit. Those 388 days jail time credits should be applied to my total sentence, however, due to the erroneous sentence construction by SCDC the 388 days jail time credit has been misapplied to my sentences and I've been indirectly denied the full credit to my sentences.

Please calculate and apply the 388 days jail time to my concurrent sentences to reduce the amount of time I must serve to max-out my sentences. The sentence for indictment no. 2012 GS 4000680 has never been activated by a court of competent jurisdiction, therefore SCDC has no authority to impose that sentence on me at this time. Please give this matter your immediate attention.

DISPOSITION BY STAFF MEMBER:

Ms. York has researched this issue and consulted with inmate record and sentencing has been correctly. I do understand from Ms. York that you have discussed this with Classification staff.
