

THE SOUTH CAROLINA COURT OF APPEALS

Terence Terrell Bryan, #254638, Appellant,

v.

State of South Carolina, Respondent.

Appellate Case No. 2016-000113

RECEIVED

SC Court of Appeals

MOTION FOR EXTENSION

I, the pro se Appellant, hereby move for an extension of time & states
1. LAW LIBRARY The U.S Supreme Court has held that prisoners have a right of access to an adequate law library in order to have "a reasonably adequate opportunity to present claimed violations of Fundamental Constitutional rights to the courts." Bounds v. Smith, 430 U.S. 817, 821, 97 S.Ct. 1491 (1997).

2. The law library at the prison is suppose to open at 6:30 a.m but we are released out of the dorm at 9:20 a.m. or Flat out denied.

3. The law library is supposed to open on weekends & nights. Since I been here the law library has never opened on weekends or nights.

4. If an I/M has a court deadline & needs additional law library time he is to go to the law library at 9:00 a.m

5. The result of the cumulative effect of the above is I have not had, "a reasonably adequate opportunity to..." use the law library, so I'll know how to "... present claimed violations..."

6. WHEREFORE, I pray the court order to the prison to follow its own rules in order to provide meaningful access to THIS court.
