Re: Kiawah Development v. SCDHEC
Appellate Case No. 2016-000707

Dear Ms. Kitchings and Mr. Shearouse:

The South Carolina Coastal Conservation League filed a Notice of Appeal and a Motion to Transfer the above-referenced case on March 30, 2016. The appeal arises from an Order on Remand after the Supreme Court's December, 2014 Opinion. On remand, Kiawah Development moved to admit new evidence, which was denied. Thus, the Administrative Law Court did not hear or admit new evidence and the record on appeal that was previously filed with the initial appeal contains all of the evidence.

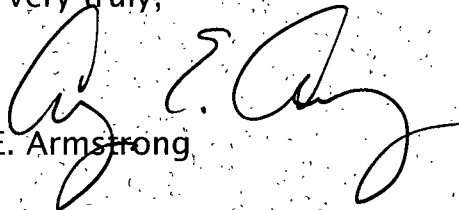

Since the case was remanded the parties have submitted various motions and briefings. The motions, as well as the orders on appeal would necessarily become part of the record on appeal. However, Appellant believes that there is no reason to request the transcript of the hearing below pursuant to SCACR Rule 207. Further, Appellant believes that it would be prudent and efficient to utilize the record on appeal filed in connection with the initial appeal.

Appellant requests that it be allowed to utilize the original record on appeal, should the Supreme Court still have copies, and only file a supplemental record on appeal containing motions, orders and briefing associated with the remand.

Please advise whether this is an acceptable manner to handle the proceeding.

Yours very truly,

Amy E. Armstrong
