STATEMENT OF ISSUE ON APPEAL

Whether the trial judge erred in refusing the defendant's request to charge mere presence when the defendant's testimony indicated he was innocent and only near the place where a crime occurred?

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On August 1, 2013, a Marion County grand jury indicted appellant for possession of marijuana with intent to distribute and murder. R. 605. On February 23, 2015, appellant was tried before the Honorable Donald B. Hocker and a jury. R. 1. Fitzlee McEachin represented the State. R. 1. Henry Anderson, Jr. and Scott Floyd represented appellant. R. 1. The jury convicted appellant on both charges. R. 585, ll. 2 – 16. Judge Hocker sentenced appellant to concurrent terms of five years' imprisonment for the marijuana charge and forty-five years' imprisonment for murder. R. 602, l. 21 – 603, l. 2. This appeal follows.

ARGUMENT

The trial judge erred in refusing the defendant's request to charge mere presence when the defendant's testimony indicated he was innocent and only near the place where a crime occurred.

Appellant testified in his own defense. He never even saw the shooting victim, Stanley Witek ("Witek"), and was in the wrong place at the wrong time. R. 532, ll. 17 – 23. Appellant was walking to a friend's house at approximately 9:00 AM. R. 515, ll. 4 – 16. He knocked on his friend's door, but his friend was not home. R. 515, l. 9 – 517, l. 6. Along the way he passed at least four stores. R. 517, ll. 14 – 17.

Appellant received a phone call from a man named BJ who wanted to buy marijuana. R. 519, l. 20 – 520, l. 17. Appellant walked past several other stores and made his way to Jones Avenue. R. 520, ll. 5 – 10. Appellant thought he saw a police officer observe him trying to make the sale. R. 521, ll. 3 – 8. Appellant ran. R. 521, ll. 9 – 10. Appellant testified, "I was scared. I was being chased by the police." R. 539, ll. 18 – 20. He was also on probation. R. 522, ll. 21 – 24. The police caught appellant and arrested him. R. 521, ll. 16 – 19.

Cyrus Sloan ("Sloan") was Witek's neighbor. R. 126, l. 25 – 127, l. 4. He was inside reading the paper when he heard gunshots. R. 129, ll. 15 – 25. He looked out of his door and saw a person running in the direction of Jones Avenue. R. 130, ll. 7 – 24. Sloan called 911. R. 131, ll. 9 – 15. He told the police that the man he saw running had a red ski mask. R. 131, ll. 9 – 15. Sloan walked across the street and found Witek, who had been shot. R. 134, l. 21 – 136, l. 21. Witek had been shot three times. R. 475, ll. 16 – 477, l. 1.

Officer Jack McCaskill (“McCaskill”) with the Marion Police Department responded to the dispatch call. R. 417, l. 11 – 418, l. 17. He drove toward Jones Avenue. R. 418, ll. 20 – 24. He was looking for “a male subject wearing a black jacket and a red ski mask.” R. 419, ll. 3 – 5. On Jones Avenue, Officer McCaskill saw a man “wearing a black and gray jacket and he had in his hand what appeared to be a red ‘boggan – a red toboggan.” R. 419, ll. 6 – 11. Once Officer McCaskill turned his car around, the man began to run. R. 420, ll. 7 – 11. Officer McCaskill and other police officers chased the man. R. 420, l. 19 – 425, l. 16. They took the man they chased – appellant – into custody. R. 12 – 16. The police found marijuana on appellant. R. 427, ll. 14 – 22.

The police did not find a gun on appellant. In fact, they never found the gun that was used to kill Witek. Tr. 109, ll. 7 – 8. The police found a red hat behind a house on Jones Avenue. R. 409, l. 20 – 410, l. 14. The State’s best evidence was gunshot residue found on appellant’s clothing and hands and the testimony of a jailhouse snitch. R. 336, ll. 15 – 22. R. 338, ll. 8 – 9. R. 338, l. 10 – 339, l. 19. The snitch, Don Oliver (“Oliver”), claimed appellant admitted killing Witek. R. 448, l. 6 – 449, l. 5. R. 453, ll. 10 – 13. Oliver told the police about appellant’s supposed confession while he was awaiting sentencing on a strong-arm robbery charge. R. 463, ll. 3 – 18. Appellant denied admitting to any crimes to Oliver. R. 528, l. 3 – 529, l. 10.

Appellant requested a charge on mere presence. R. 541, l. 25 – 542, l. 6. Judge Hoeker denied the request for a mere presence charge. R. 541, l. 25 – 542, l. 6. The trial judge ruled that the mere presence charge was not applicable to someone who was only in the “general vicinity.” R. 541, l. 25 – 542, l. 6. The court reasoned that the charge applied only when the defendant was “at the actual crime scene.” R. 541, l. 25 – 542, l. 6.

The trial judge erred in not charging mere presence. A trial judge should give a requested charge if there is any evidence to support that charge. State v. Burriss, 334 S.C. 265, 262, 513 S.E.2d 104, 108 (1999). When the evidence presents a rational inference that justifies a specific charge, a trial court should instruct the jury on that charge. See State v. Geiger, 370 S.C. 600, 606, 635 S.E.2d 669, 673 (Ct. App. 2006) (citing State v. Tyndall, 336 S.C. 8, 22, 518 S.E.2d 278, 285 (Ct. App. 1999)).

A mere presence instruction explains that the prosecution has to prove every element of the crime and that mere presence at the crime scene is not enough to sustain a conviction. See State v. Mattison, 380 S.C. 326, 669 S.E.2d 635 (Ct. App. 2008) Further, the trial judge is required to charge the current and correct law of South Carolina. Sheppard v. State, 357 S.C. 646, 594 S.E.2d 462 (2004); State v. Zeigler, 364 S.C. 94, 610 S.E.2d 859 (Ct.App. 2005). The court had a duty to tailor its instruction to the facts of this case. State v. Fuller, 297 S.C. 440, 377 S.E.2d 328 (1989).

The failure to charge mere presence where it is called for by the evidence is reversible error. See State v. Kimbrell, 394 S.C. 51, 362 S.E.2d 630 (1987). There was ample evidence to support the mere presence instruction. Appellant testified he was on Jones Avenue and walking through the neighborhood where Witek was shot. The police testified about where appellant was apprehended, which was close to the crime scene. The trial judge drew an arbitrary geographical distinction that is not founded in the law.

Appellant’s defense was that he was in the wrong place at the wrong time. Appellant only ran because he was on probation and thought the police saw him try to sell marijuana. An instruction on mere presence was vital to the jury's understanding of appellant's defense. This Court should reverse and remand this case for a new trial.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, this Court should reverse appellant's murder conviction and grant him a new trial.
