Clerk of Court
Kershaw County

In this post-divorce litigation Plaintiff William T. Moore has filed two Complaints first, Mr. Moore sued in 2009 to reduce child support. Then, in 2011, he filed an action seeking a change of custody.

The parties were married December 6, 1986, and divorced April 12th, 2006. At the time of the divorce the two older sons of the parties were 17 and 15. Their twin daughters were 9 years old.

At the time of this trial, in November 2012, the two older sons were 23 and 21, and the twin girls were 15 years old, turning 16 the next month, after conclusion of the trial.

The parties were earlier divorced by a Decree filed March 8, 2006, issued by the Hon. Rolly W. Jacobs, and filed the records of the Clerk of Court for Kershaw County on April 12, 2006, under docket number 2004-DR-28-0045. Earlier, child support for the four children born of the marriage was set pursuant to Order of Separate Support and Maintenance, entered under docket number 2003-DR-28-00083, and filed February 24, 2003 in the records of the Clerk of Court for Kershaw County.

In the initial litigation instituted by Plaintiff, to reduce his child support, the Hon. Donna Strom issued her pendente lite Order October 21, 2009, under docket number 2009-DR-28-449, recognizing that two of the four children of the parties were now emancipated, and reducing child support from $1,273 a month to $730 a month. Judge Strom found that Defendant, although having retired since issuance of the Decree of separate support and maintenance, nevertheless had the ability to work part time for 20 hours a week, earning $8.00 an hour, so Judge Strom imputed additional income to him in setting this support.

When Plaintiff instituted the second case in 2011, the parties entered into a Consent Order filed May 4, 2011 under docket number 2011-DR-28-186, agreeing that Carrie Tanner, Esquire, of the Kershaw County Bar would be appointed Guardian ad Litem, and that each party would be evaluated by psychiatrist Dr. Marc Harari, who would provide his reports to the Guardian ad Litem, who should in turn share them with the attorneys. A separate and more complete order appointing a Guardian ad Litem was filed May 26, 2011, giving the Guardian plenary powers to investigate the custodial fitness of each party.

Pursuant to Status Conference Order filed May 15, 2012, under docket number 2011-DR-28-186 these two actions were merged under single docket number, that of 2011-DR-28-186.

At the call of the case, the parties appeared, accompanied by counsel. The parties announced that they had reached a partial agreement, basically resolving the issues of custody and visitation, but leaving for litigation a number of financial issues. The terms of the parties' agreement were stated on record, in the presence of the parties. Each party was sworn, and questioned. Each party understood the agreement, and had no questions concerning the meaning thereof. Neither was subject to any threats or coercion. Also, neither was under the influence of alcohol or mood altering substances, during negotiations or on the days of trial. Both parties testified they realized they could have had a trial on these issues, but wished to waive it, and agree to the terms to which they could agree. Both parties were satisfied with services of counsel. Each party testified he or she realized that, if the agreement was approved as an Order of the Court, it would be enforceable as an Order of the Court, including use of the Court's contempt power to incarcerate, fine, or compel community service. Both parties testified they believe their agreement was in the best interest of the remaining minor children, and further, each party knowingly, freely and voluntarily entered into the agreement and wished the Court to adopt, incorporate, and approve their agreement as a final Order.

The Guardian recommended the agreement of the parties to the Court, as being in her opinion in the best interest of the children.

The Court has considered the testimony of the parties and the guardian, as well as the parties' respective financial declarations, and finds the agreement of the parties, as set forth at the conclusion of this Decree, is fair and equitable, and is in the best interest of the two remaining minor children born of the marriage. The Court therefore will adopt and incorporate the parties' agreement as a Decree of this Court.

The issues remaining to be litigated by the parties and to be decided by the Court are the amount of child support, including an award of retroactive child support, to be paid by Plaintiff, together with his proportionate contribution to the uninsured healthcare expenses incurred by the remaining minor children, as well as the issues of attorney's fees and guardian ad litem fees.

Thereafter, the Plaintiff called the Guardian as his first witness. Defendant also called as a witness his sister Jane Warrenton, and Defendant himself testified. Plaintiff called as her first witness Lisa Gill, whose testimony was concluded at the end of the first day trial. Plaintiff herself testified on the following day of trial. Both parties introduced a number of documentary exhibits in evidence.

Based on the record before me, I make the following findings of fact and conclusions of law:

1. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of this action and personal jurisdiction of the parties in this post decree litigation. Venue is proper.
2. Plaintiff's first witness was Carrie Hall Tanner, the duly appointed Guardian ad litem for the two remaining minor children of the parties, twins Molly Kathryn Moore and Hannah Elizabeth Moore, both born December 31st, 1996. Ms. Tanner testified that, from the beginning, this action was never truly a change of custody case. Instead, she testified that she believed that after Plaintiff had a heart attack in 2010, he experienced an awakening, and wanted to spend more time with the children. Likewise, his daughters wanted to spend more time with him, although, the Guardian testified, the girls always wanted to live primarily with their Mother, Defendant Lisa C. Moore.

3. The Guardian testified that both girls were very intelligent, and were enrolled in honors classes in high school and making excellent grades.
4. The Guardian further testified that she had no opinion as to whether or not the girls would choose to exercise their prerogative to have over night visitations with their Father on Sundays or Wednesdays, (this being a portion of expanded, elective visitation by agreement of the parties). The Guardian testified any opinion would be speculative. The Guardian testified that she had calculated the visitation schedule to be exercised by Defendant as comprising 103 over-nights during the calendar year. Later in the trial, this testimony was corroborated by the introduction into evidence of Defendant's 8, a calendar showing the calculations of these over night visits.
5. The Guardian testified that she believed it was in the best interests of her wards that the strict Restraining Order against either party discussing the litigation with the girls should continue. The Guardian noted that Defendant had, prior to her awareness of this problem, engaged in extensive discussions with the girls about the litigation, and in fact had kept a file in his house for them to review, while he visited.
6. The next witness was Plaintiff himself. While Plaintiff had several lines of work during the marriage, primarily he was employed by the South Carolina Department of Public Safety for 23 years.

DAM

7. Earlier, Mr. Moore had worked in retail sales, as a production plant worker, and a trucker. However, his chief employment has been in law enforcement, with Camden Police Department, for several stints, as well as the South Carolina Department of Public Safety. In early 2006, he purchased an additional 2 years of service with the state, for $59,000, and retired. Plaintiff chose to retire in June 2006, three months after the parties were earlier divorced, in April 2006. At the time he retired, Defendant was earning gross income in excess of $75,000 a year. However, at the time of divorce when the child support was set, Defendant only declared gross monthly income of $5,313 (or $63,756 per year). See Defendant's exhibits 1 & 2. He was 51 years of age when he retired, and he was 57 years of age at the time of trial.
8. Plaintiff testified that his health was better now than before he had a heart attack in 2010. He testified that he retired because he wanted more time with the children. (However, on cross-examination, Plaintiff could not explain why, even after he retired, he never exercised the entirety of the expanded visitation allocated to him under the Modification of Visitation Agreement dated March 8, 2006, which was incorporated in the Decree of Divorce).
9. Defendant agreed in his testimony that, after he retired, he still could have worked. Defendant testified that since 1978 he has been overseer of Long Leafed Plantation, owned by the Rose family. He bush hogs, plows, and deer hunts on the property. Defendant asserts that since his retirement he has not had any earned income. His only income claimed on his financial declaration form is gross of $3,544.55 a month, as pension, retirement and annuity income.

DAM

He pays a premium for health and dental insurance for the children of $90 a month. Defendant asserts that he draws no income nor is he otherwise compensated from his duties as overseer at Long Leaf Plantation.

10. Since the divorce, the Defendant has worked for his sister Jan Warrenton (who was his next witness) in a warehouse business established by her husband. Again, Defendant testified that he was not compensated for this work in the warehouse. Plaintiff conceded that he had sold some items from the warehouse on ebay, and had received at least several thousand dollars from these sales.
11. Defendant has a high school education, plus a two year degree in criminal justice.
12. Since the separation of parties, the Defendant has lived with his mother, on Roberts Street in Camden, in a 1200 sq ft brick cottage in which his mother has a life estate. Defendant and his three sisters are the remaindermen. There are two bedrooms in the residence. When his two daughters visit, the Defendant sleeps on the couch, and allows his daughters use of his bedroom.
13. Plaintiff admitted filing a financial statement (in evidence as Defendant's exhibit 6) with BB & T dated May 3, 2011, in which he claimed total assets of $711,317, total liabilities of $125,352, with a net worth of $585,964. He also asserted annual income of $41,400 a year.
14. At trial, the Defendant owned four vehicles, and had access to and use of an additional four vehicles. Since the divorce the Defendant has made four trips to Maine to vacation, where he boated, and ate out. He estimated he had made some 20 trips to Disney World, costing $2,000 a trip. He also purchased a

$6,000 timeshare at Disney World, although he could not recall where he had gotten the money to buy the timeshare. He had taken four or five vacations to Gatlinburg, Tennessee, Williamsburg, Virginia, and to the beach. The Defendant had recently bought four four-wheelers, which cost approximately $3,500, but he could not remember where he got the money.

15. Since the divorce he had become a one third owner of a 5.6 acre tract in Pickens, South Carolina, which contained a mountain house. He also had become a part owner in a family lake house.
16. Defendant testified he lived very cheaply, merely paying the utilities at his mother's residence. He estimated his total out of pocket living expense to be $1,200 a month. Defendant eats all meals out. Defendant does not cook. Defendant admitted that he had never spent a penny on his children except as Court ordered.
17. Defendant described the custody action he instituted as a second complaint as "my children's lawsuit", and admitted he had been keeping the children up to date on the litigation until recently, when the guardian had cautioned him against this. Previously, Defendant showed them the court papers in the file that he kept at home.
18. Defendant admitted telling the girls that their mother lies. When the Defendant mother would call Plaintiff father with matters of concern of the children, Plaintiff would in turn tell the girls the conversation that he had with their mother, apparently attempting to recruit the children to his side, and failing to support their mother, their primary custodian, in her effort to involve him in co-parenting the children.

19. Plaintiff asserted that he had done nothing wrong, and that the Defendant was totally at fault at the divorce of the parties. Defendant further explained "that's why we're here (in court)". He agreed that he had made such statements in the past Defendant as "I will not talk with you (Plaintiff) or do anything you ask"; "I'm not willing to put the children's interest first and work with Lisa"; "I enjoy my daughters being unhappy at their mother's house"
20. Defendant admitted that, until he was ordered in 2009 by Judge Strom, he had never transported his children to any extracurricular activities. He admitted he had never taken the children to the doctor or dentist. He admitted he had never had any contact at any point in time with any school teachers. He admitted he did not have a residence suitable for his daughters, either at his mother's house or lake house. For example, there is no dedicated bedroom for these girls, anywhere, at present in any residence occupied by Defendant.
21. Most concerning, the Defendant admitted that he viewed pornography regularly and masturbated.
22. Defendant's sister Jan Warrenton testified about Defendant's work in the warehouse. He had helped unload trucks, and had free access to take what he wished of the inventory in the ware house to sell on ebay. Defendant took clothing, radios and refrigerators, to Ms. Warrenton's knowledge to resell. Plaintiff rested his case after her testimony.
23. Defendant's first witness was Lisa Gill, a neighbor in Camden who had heard discussions between the parties concerning their children. She corroborated

Plaintiff's stated refusal to cooperate and work with Defendant mother in the best interest of the children.

24. Defendant testified on the second day of trial. Defendant has a four year degree from USC in marketing, and at present is employed as an appraiser and real estate agent. She also earns extra income from catering. Her total income from all sources year to date at trial was $17,487, averaging $1,748 a month. At the time child support was last set, in 2003 she declared gross monthly of $1,625. See Defendant's exhibits 2 & 4.
25. Defendant in her testimony corroborated the nonproductive behavior of Plaintiff since the divorce, in failing to assist her in parenting the children. She also testified that she believed that he was under employed, and had the ability to earn substantial income.
26. Defendant has been unable to take any vacation since the divorce of the parties, although she has been able to continue to reside in the former marital residence, which was allocated to her in property division. Her consumer debt has significantly increased, from less than $10,000 at the time of divorce (Defendant's exhibit 4) to approximately $32,000 at present.
27. Defendant requested an award of retroactive child support, and an increase in present child support. Court finds and concludes that this request should be granted, retroactive to the date of filing litigation in this case, June 19, 2009.
28. It is well settled that a Family Court may impute income to an unemployed or underemployed party for purposes of calculating child support obligations. See SC Code Ann. Regs. 114-4720 (Supp. 2012).

DAM

Specifically, the South Carolina Child Support Guidelines Regulation requires:

"In order to impute income to a parent who is unemployed or underemployed, the court should determine the employment potential and probable earnings level of the parent based on that parent's recent work history, occupation qualifications, and prevailing job opportunities and earning levels in the community", (27 S.C. Code Ann. Regs. 114-4720 (A) (5) (b) (Supp. 2012). The South Carolina Supreme Court in Arnal v. Arnal, 311 S.C. 10, 636 S.E. 2d 864 (Ct. App. 2006) held that "a parent seeking to impute income to the other parent need not establish a bad faith motivation to lower a support obligation in order to prove voluntary underemployment." (371 S.C. at 13, 636 S.E.2nd at 866).

Nevertheless, "the motivation behind any purported reduction in income or earning capacity should be considered in determining whether a parent is voluntarily underemployed", Spreeuv v. Barker, 385 S.C. 45, 62, 682 S.E. 2nd 843, 851 (Ct. App. 2009). Here, Plaintiff has a work history that shows he has a broad range of abilities – operating heavy equipment, working outdoors in self directed tasks, unloading trucks, organizing inventory, and successfully marketing goods for sale on the internet are all wide ranging, useful occupational qualifications which are also part of Plaintiff's recent work history. There are continuing job opportunities in these areas of work in the semi-rural communities, such as Camden, where Plaintiff resides. The court finds that Plaintiff could easily be employed full time, earning a minimal income of $12 an hour, which would allow him to gross at least an additional $25,000 a year.

29. Further, the Court is convinced that Plaintiff has not been truthful with the Court concerning the amount of his true income since he's retired. Plaintiff has made substantial expenditures for example, on vacations to Disney World. He estimated each trip cost about $2,000 and he admittedly has gone to Disney World 20 times over the last 6 years. He spent $3,500 on four wheelers, and could not explain where the money came from. He also bought a $6,000 time share at Disney World, and again could not identify the source of funds for the purchase price. The Court finds that the Plaintiff is earning money "under the table", and this money does not appear in Plaintiff's bank accounts, nor is it reported on his tax returns. However, Plaintiff is spending these funds, and again his expenditures since the divorce reaffirm the Court's assessment that he has a more substantial earning capacity, and in fact does earn more income than from his retirement accounts.

30. Plaintiff's true income is $3,545 from his retirement, plus an additional ability to earn, and imputed earnings of, $2,083 a month, for a total of $5,628.
31. Defendant's income is, as reported, $1,748 a month, which is a slight increase from her earnings at the time of the divorce, seven years ago. As above noted Plaintiff pays a premium of $90 a month for health insurance coverage for the children. The date of filing of the initial Complaint for reduction of child support in this case, is June 19th, 2009. I specifically find that Judge Strom in her Pendente Lite Order filed October 21, 2009 reserved "the issue of retroactivity of the child support changes..." as an issue for decision on the merits now.
32. Pursuant to the attached guidelines worksheet, Defendant should be paying $881 a month child support, which support is awarded retroactive to the date of filing of the initial pleadings in this case, June 19th, 2009.

33. It has been 51 months since filing, through September 2013, and there is an incremental difference between the monthly child support Plaintiff has been paying, ($730), and the amount he should have been paying, ($881), of $151 a month, which for the last 51 months amounts to a lump sum arrearage of $7,700.
34. I find and conclude that Plaintiff should pay by direct deposit to Defendant's designated checking account $ 881 a month child support, commencing October 2, 2013, and continuing on the second day of each month thereafter, until further order of the Court.
35. I further find that Plaintiff may pay the accrued arrearage of retroactive child support in the amount of $200 a month, for a period of 39 months with the final payment in the amount of $100. Again these payments should be made by a direct deposit by Plaintiff into Defendant's checking account, on the 16th day of each month, commencing October 16th, 2013, and continuing each and every month for the next 38 months, with the final 39th payment being in the amount of $100.

I find and conclude that Plaintiff plainly has the ability to make these child support payments, which total, $1081 per month. Specifically, Plaintiff testified that his living expenses were $1,200 a month. Plaintiff's financial declaration shows that his net monthly income is, after taxes, $2,524. This is from his retirement only, but Plaintiff, even if he chooses not to work at present, he still should have $1,443 to meet his own needs, during the period of time he is paying back the accrued child support arrearage.

DAM

36. I also find and conclude that Defendant is entitled an award of attorney's fees and costs. In deciding whether to award attorneys fees, this Court in it's discretion should consider:

1. Each party's ability to pay his or her own fees;
2. The beneficial results obtained by the attorney;
3. The parties' respective financial conditions;
4. The effect of the fees on each party's standard of living.

Bennett v. Rector, 389 S.C. 278, 697 S.E. 2nd 715 (Ct. App. 2010)

37. Here, each of these four factors militate an award of fees to Defendant Mother. Mr. Moore's income is approximately three times that of Mother's. She does not have the ability to pay her own fees. Mother's attorney has obtained beneficial results across the board for Mother. The parties' respective financial conditions are that Plaintiff's assets have grown significantly since the divorce, and he has no debt. Defendant has not acquired any assets since the divorce, and her debt has significantly increased. Plaintiff has accrued substantial assets since the divorce. It would further diminish Defendant Mother's standard of living, and certainly negatively impact on the minor children, if Defendant had to pay the majority of her fees in the case.

38. Plaintiff has incurred, according to her exhibit 9, through date of trial attorney's fees and costs totaling of $20,509.55. In determining the amount of a reasonable attorney's fee award, this Court should consider six factors:

- (1) The nature, extent, and difficulty of the case;
- (2) The time necessary devoted to the case;

- (3) Professional standing of counsel;
- (4) Contingency of compensation;
- (5) Beneficial results obtained;
- (6) Customary legal fees for similar services.

Glasscock v. Glasscock, 304 S.C. 158, 403 S.E.2d 313 (1991).

Here, the Court finds and concludes that the sum of $12,000 is a just, fair and equitable amount for Plaintiff to reimburse Defendant for fees and costs. The Court notes that Plaintiff's unrealistic claim for primary custody, which he conceded only less than a week before trial, after he had instituted this litigation a year and a half before, necessitated the trial of this case. This was relatively complex litigation. There was a Guardian appointed who had complete psychological evaluations performed on each party. Full discovery was pursued by both sides, including Interrogatories, Requests for Production, and Depositions of each party were taken. The trial of the case subsumed two days, even after the primary issue of custody was settled. According to Defendant's counsel's affidavit, 64 hours were spent by her attorney working on the file, which the Court finds reasonable. The professional standing of Plaintiff's counsel is excellent. She's been a member of the Bar of the state of South Carolina for over 36 years. This case was well prepared and well tried, by both counsel. The contingency of compensation is significant. As is evidence by Defendant's attorney's fee bill, while some payments have been made by Defendant, those payments were intermittent and partial. The beneficial results obtained are good. Defendant's attorney's hourly rate of $300 an hour is customary in this community for legal services, and even on the low side for an attorney of her stature and experience.

39. The Court therefore finds that $12,000 is a just, true and fair amount of attorney's fees for Plaintiff to reimburse Defendant. This amount is approximately 60% of the attorney's fees and costs incurred by Defendant.
40. The Court will allow Plaintiff substantial time to pay these fees. Plaintiff shall pay the first installment of reimbursement of fees, in the amount $6,000, directly to Defendant within 90 days of the date of this Order. Plaintiff shall pay the second installment of fees, again in the amount of $6,000, directly to Defendant within 180 days from the date of this Order. The Court notes that Plaintiff, since the divorce of the parties has expended large lump sums of money for things like a time share at Disney World and four-wheelers. The Court is requiring of Defendant, in paying these attorney's fees, to do nothing less than he has already done in these earlier, elective expenditures.
41. Finally, the Guardian ad Litem appeared on the initial day of trial and was present while the parties placed on the record their partial settlement agreement which did resolve all issues involving custody and visitation. At the Court's request, the Guardian recommended that the Court approve and adopt the parties' settlement agreement, as being in the best interest of her two minor wards. At that time, the Guardian also presented her bill to the Court and the parties. The Guardian's total fees are $4,492.50. Each party has paid her an initial retainer of $500, so that the total balance due is $3,492.50. The Court finds and concludes that each party should be responsible for payment of one half of the balance of the remaining balance of the Guardian's fees, $1746.25 a piece.

Now, therefore, in the view of the above, it is ordered and as agreed upon by the parties:

- A. Plaintiff and Defendant shall share joint custody of their daughters, primary custody with Defendant and secondary custody with Plaintiff;
- B. Defendant shall claim both children as dependants for state and federal income tax returns;
- C. The Plaintiff shall continue to maintain the current health insurance coverage for the benefit of the minor children, plus he shall add dental insurance coverage for them beginning in December 2012, and maintain this Dental Plus insurance coverage through June 2015. Defendant shall pay the first $250 per year per child of any uninsured medical, dental, orthodontic, ophthalmological, or counseling expenses incurred by the minor children but not paid by insurance; thereafter, Plaintiff should pay 76% and Defendant should pay 24% of all such uninsured expenses; Defendant shall give Plaintiff written documentation of the incurrence of such expense, including the final bill from the medical provider as well as any documentation in her possession showing the amount insurance has paid on the bill, and the Plaintiff shall directly reimburse the Defendant within 30 days after receipt of this documentation his share of this expense.
- D. The parties will continue to use the internet program "My Family Wizard" for purposes of communication, each paying their appropriate annual fees for the enrollment in and use of this program.

- E. Plaintiff shall visit with his daughters on alternate weekends, beginning after school on Thursday and continuing through Sunday at 6:00 pm, with the children having, at their own option and election the ability to spend Sunday night with Plaintiff. If the children exercise that option, then Plaintiff shall get the children to school on time on Monday morning, appropriately dressed and rested, with their homework done; in the Summer he shall return them to Defendant's home by 10:00am. Plaintiff will also insure that the children attend at least the Sunday evening activities at their church, these activities currently consisting of bells, and youth group; further, Plaintiff shall get the children to Sunday service if the children are playing bells or participating in youth group services Sunday morning;
- F. Plaintiff shall also visit with the children on Wednesdays, again with the children having the option to elect to spend Wednesday night with Plaintiff, in which case he shall be responsible for getting them to school, on time, appropriately dressed, rested, and fed with their homework done. ORDER INFORMATION

This order ends does not end the case.
Additional Information for the Clerk:

This matter came before the Court on July 14, 2015 as a motion filed by the Plaintiff to compel the Defendant to resolve the fee dispute through the Resolution of Fee Dispute Board of the South Carolina Bar. In the fee agreement signed by Defendant, the agreement directly states that "any dispute concerning the fee due pursuant to this agreement shall be submitted by the dissatisfied party for a full, final resolution to the Resolution Fee Dispute Board of the South Carolina Bar, pursuant to Rule 416 of the South Carolina Appellate Court Rules." Because the Defendant disputes the fee for numerous alleged reasons, this Court finds that it is proper to take these matters up with the Resolution Fee Dispute Board pursuant to the signed contract. The other counterclaims and potential legal malpractice claim may remain under the Circuit Court jurisdiction. The Plaintiff's motion to compel resolution through the Fee Dispute Board is granted.

ORDER INFORMATION

This order ends does not end the case.

Additional Information for the Clerk:

This matter came before the Court on January 27, 2016 as a 59(e) motion to amend the December 4, 2015 Order. Defendant's counsel argues Rule 10 of SCRAP Rule 16 provides that "consent may be withdrawn" after parties agree to take a fee matter to the Fee Disputes Resolution Board (the Board), however this is an erroneous interpretation of the phrase. The "consent may be withdrawn" language refers specifically to the email correspondence among the Board, the client, and the lawyer. It does not refer to the consent of taking the matter in front of the Board. Furthermore, the South Carolina Uniform Arbitration Act makes clear that the Act does not apply to "a pre-agreement entered into when the relationship of the contracting parties is such that of a lawyer-client." § 15-48-10(b)(3). Therefore, the motion for reconsideration is denied.

ANSWER AND COUNTERCLAIM OF DEFENDANT
(Jury Trial Demanded)

FILED FOR RECORD
2014 DEC -11 AM 9:39
JONATHAN L. ALD
CLERK OF COURT
KERSHAW COUNTY, S.C.

The Defendant, Lisa C. Moore, by and through undersigned counsel, answers Plaintiff's Complaint and makes Counterclaims as follows:

GENERAL DENIAL

1. This Defendant denies each and every allegation of the Complaint not specifically admitted herein.

SPECIFIC DENIAL

2. Defendant admits the allegations of paragraphs 1 and 2.
3. Defendant denies the allegations of paragraphs 3 through 9.

FOR A FIRST AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

4. This Defendant incorporates by reference the above paragraphs and defenses as if repeated herein verbatim.

BY WAY OF A SECOND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

FAILING TO EXHAUST ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES

AND/OR CONDITIONS PRECEDENT TO FILING SUIT

5. The alleged Contract at issue, which was attached to Plaintiff's Complaint, specifically provides that any dispute concerning the fee due pursuant to the agreement shall be submitted by the dissatisfied party for a full, final resolution to the Resolution Fee Disputes Board of the South Bar.

6. Plaintiff failed to satisfy this administrative remedy/condition precedent and Defendant pleads this as a complete defense and bar to Plaintiff's Complaint.

COUNTERCLAIMS

FOR A FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

BREACH OF CONTRACT ACCOMPANIED BY A FRAUDULENT

ACT

7. By reference, Defendant repeats the above allegations as if repeated here verbatim.

8. Plaintiff agreed to represent Defendant in connection with an action in the Family Court.

9. As such, Plaintiff implied and warranted that she would represent the Defendant competently, diligently and that her fees to the Defendant would be reasonable.

10. Plaintiff had a fraudulent intent in breaching the contract of representation with the Defendant. More specifically, Plaintiff's goal in representing the Defendant was to do as little as possible for Defendant while at the same time over inflating her bills and misrepresenting the number of billable hours she worked on the Defendant's file in an effort to churn or milk the file unlawfully for excessive and unreasonable fees.

11. In fact, Plaintiff accomplished her goals of file churning and file milking through numerous fraudulent acts including but not necessarily limited to:

- a. overstating the actual number of hours she worked on Defendant's file and then billing Defendant for time she did not actually work;
- b. Unlawfully and illegally attempting to bill Plaintiff for time that she initially represented to the Defendant was for free consultations and for time that was spent which pre-dated the fee agreement between the parties;
- c. Having paralegals or other support staff in her office perform work on the file but then billing the Plaintiff as if this work was actually performed by her so she could bill the file at higher hourly rates for time she did not actually work on the file;
- d. In billing the Plaintiff for administrative tasks such as "Printing emails" which should not be properly or reasonably billed as attorney work;
- e. In representing to the Family Court total hours worked that were significantly lower than what she represented she worked to the Defendant and then billing the Defendant for the higher amount;
- f. In such additional and further particulars as may be learned in discovery and/or proven at trial.

12. Defendant hereby demands judgment against Plaintiff for all actual, special and punitive damages in an appropriate amount.

FOR A SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

VIOLATION OF SOUTH CAROLINA UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES ACT

13. By reference, Defendant repeats the above allegations as if repeated here verbatim.

14. Plaintiff has engaged in a pattern and practice of acts which violate the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act, S.C. Code §§ 39-5-10 et. seq.

15. More specifically, Plaintiff has a pattern and practice of overbilling clients and charging clients unreasonable high rates for poor, sloppy and incompetent legal representation that she provides.

16. Thereafter, when clients, such as the Defendant to this lawsuit and specifically including the Defendant to this lawsuit, are unwilling and/or unable to pay Plaintiff's overinflated and unreasonably high legal bills, Plaintiff sues them knowing that they will not be able to afford another attorney or adequately defend themselves against the unfair and unlawful attempts to gouge them.

17. In the last few months, Plaintiff has filed a dozen or so "collection actions" against her former and/or existing clients in the Lexington, Richland and Kershaw County Courts of Common Pleas.

18. In most situations, Plaintiff is able to unfairly and unlawfully take advantage of her former and/or existing clients by obtaining default judgments against them or otherwise manipulating the legal process against her clients to siphon off additional money that she did not in fact earn because she overbilled her clients and tried to collect unreasonably high fees by overbilling.

19. In addition, Plaintiff typically gets a sizeable retainer from her clients and she got a sizeable retainer from the Defendant to this action. Plaintiff then sets out to make up and overinflate "billable time" so she can burn through the retainer and demand additional payments from clients. In demanding additional payments, Plaintiff intimidates clients and she intimidated the Defendant to this action by telling clients including the Defendant to this action that she will withdraw as their attorney; that the Court will rule against the clients their case if happens since the Court will see that Plaintiff is not being paid and the Court will protect a lawyer's fees; and that the clients will lose their case if they don't pay the Plaintiff additional money.

20. The Defendant to this action was the victim of Plaintiff's plan and scheme. More specifically, Plaintiff used the vary tactics outlined above to unfairly milk unreasonably high fees from the Defendant and when the Defendant could no longer pay or would no longer pay, Plaintiff fell back to her time tested practice of suing her client.

21. As outlined and pleaded above, Plaintiff's action is capable of repetition and in fact Plaintiff has repeated this practice several times in recent months.

22. As a direct and proximate result of Plaintiff's conduct, Defendant has suffered damages. More specifically, Plaintiff has already billed and collected unreasonably high fees from the Defendant; unreasonably high fees that Plaintiff should be forced to disgorge because of her unlawful behavior and tactics as outlined and pleaded more fully above.

23. Defendant hereby demands judgment against Plaintiff for all actual, special, punitive damages in an appropriate amount and treble damages where provided by statute.

FOR A THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

ABUSE OF PROCESS

24. By reference, Defendant repeats the above allegations as if repeated here verbatim.

25. Plaintiff has used the courts and specifically this lawsuit, as an unlawful attempt to extort additional legal fees from the Defendant; legal fees that are unreasonably high because Plaintiff has attempted to bill Defendant for work that she did not in fact perform and she attempted to bill Plaintiff for more time than she actually worked on Defendant's file.

26. In filing this lawsuit, Plaintiff has an ulterior motive – in essence to unlawfully blackmail the Defendant to extort more money from her for illegally high and unreasonable fees.

27. Defendant hereby demands judgment against Plaintiff for all actual, special and punitive damages in an appropriate amount.

FOR A FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

CONVERSION

28. By reference, Defendant repeats the above allegations as if repeated here verbatim.

29. In paying Plaintiff a retainer, Defendant had an interest in those funds and that money until earned as a lawful and reasonable legal fee.

30. Plaintiff unlawfully and illegally converted the retainer fees by disbursing those fees to herself and by utilizing fraudulent, unlawful and unreasonably high fees.

31. Defendant did not give Plaintiff authority or permission to draw fees from her retainer for unlawful and unreasonably high fees.

32. Defendant hereby demands judgment against Plaintiff for all actual, special and punitive damages in an appropriate amount.

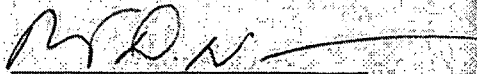

RESERVATIONS OF FURTHER DEFENSES AND COUNTERCLAIMS

33. Defendant specifically reserves any further defenses and/or counterclaims she may have against the Plaintiff. Specifically, Defendant intends to file a legal malpractice claim against Plaintiff once she obtains an expert affidavit attesting to Plaintiff's malpractice.

WHEREFORE, having fully answered Plaintiff's Complaint and made counterclaims of her own, Defendant prays that the Court issue an Order(s) dismissing Plaintiff's claims with prejudice; that judgment be rendered for the Defendant and against the Plaintiff on Defendant's counterclaims against Plaintiff; that Plaintiff be taxed with all costs and where provided by statute or rule reasonable attorney's fees; and that the Court award the Defendant such other relief in law or equity that the Court deems just and proper.

In accordance with the United States Constitution and Constitution for the State of South Carolina, Defendant demands a trial by jury.

Respectfully submitted,

The Plaintiff, replying to the Counterclaim of the Defendant, would respectfully show unto the Court:

SOUTH CAROLINA JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT

1 THE COURT: This is a motion to compel. Well, it looks
2 like two motions to compel; one filed by the plaintiff, one
3 filed by the defendant. Is that correct?

4 MR. DODSON: That's correct, Your Honor.

5 MR. TETTERTON: One is the defendant's motion to compel
6 discovery, which was filed first. The other motion is the 7 plaintiff's motion to, I guess, compel arbitration, to compel
8 resolution and fee dispute resolution which was filed second.
9 I don't know the order in which Your Honor wants to hear
10 these motions this morning.

11 THE COURT: All right. Let me hear the motion on the fee
12 dispute, because I guess if that is resolved, then -- 13 depending on which way it is resolved, then we can hear the 14 motion to compel. Yes, sir.

15 MR. TETTERTON: Thank you, Your Honor. Your Honor, we 16 have filed that motion to have this matter sent to the 17 Resolution and Fee Dispute Board and the reason that we have 18 done that is because attached to the complaint is the fee
19 agreement entered into between Mr. Dodson's client and my 20 client. That fee agreement specifically spells out in capital
21 letters, any dispute concerning fees pursuant to this
22 agreement shall be submitted by the dissatisfied party for a
23 full and final resolution to the Resolution and Fee Dispute
24 Board of The South Carolina Bar pursuant to the Rule 416 of 25 the South Carolina Appellate Court Rules. That's in paragraph

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 seven on page two of the fee agreement attached to the 2 complaint.

3 Also, in paragraph eight, page three, it again says that
4 any dissatisfied party would have the right and should file a
5 complaint or file a claim, for a full and final resolution to 6 the Resolution and Fee Dispute Board of The South Carolina
7 Bar.

8 Your Honor, we take the position that that is mandatory,
9 that they both agreed to it, and that this matter should be 10 sent to the Fee Dispute Committee.

11 Now, a dispute has arisen between the young lady she 12 represented and my client about the reasonableness of the 13 fees. That is entirely within the jurisdiction of the fee
14 dispute board under Rule 2 of Rule 416, when there is a
15 dispute arising and the parties have a continuing difference
16 about the fair and proper amount of fees. So, the Fee Dispute
17 Board would definitely have jurisdiction to hear this matter
18 and if they have raised, I believe that they have raised some 19 issues in their answer in their counterclaim about unfair
20 trade practices or reasonableness of the fees. If that comes 21 up in the Fee Dispute Committee, then the Committee, at that 22 time, has the right to refer the case on to the Lawyer
23 Misconduct Board. If that comes up in the fee dispute 24 hearings, they have the right at that time to send it on to 25 somewhere else.

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 We are saying she is bound by her own contract that she
2 made and she is the party that seems to be dissatisfied. She
3 is the party that has to bring this action in the fee dispute
4 case. We can't bring it or my client can't bring it because 5 we are not dissatisfied with our own fees, obviously.

6 If you look at the pleadings, Your Honor, the answer and 7 counterclaims, she admits that this matter should have been 8 sent to the Fee Dispute Committee. He is saying we have 9 failed to try to get all our administrative relief in this 10 answer and counterclaim and I would refer Your Honor to the 11 answer and counterclaim where he said that she had to -- in 12 his answer he says, alleged contract issues provide any 13 dispute concerning the fees due pursuant to the agreement
14 shall be submitted by the dissatisfied party for a full and 15 final resolution to The Resolution and Fee Dispute Board of 16 the South Carolina Bar. It says that in his answer. By his 17 own admission, it's in there. A contractual arrangement
18 between two parties shall be sent to the Resolution and Fee
19 Dispute Board.

20 THE COURT: All right. Yes, sir.

21 MR. DODSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

22 MR. TETTERTON: If I may, Your Honor?

23 THE COURT: Oh, I'm sorry.

24 MR. TETTERTON: Again, Your Honor, I can hand up the 25 final court order of a family court judge. The final order of

1 the family court judge is a twenty page order. A couple of 2 things. The Family Court Order following the guidelines of 3 Ascot versus Ascot found after considering all six factors of 4 the fees that this was a relatively complex litigation that 5 took at least two days of trial after extensive discovery.
6 The hours spent by the attorney, my client, the Court found
7 were reasonable. She had professional standing of a counselor
8 with thirty-six years of experience. She was well prepared.
9 The case was well-tried. She obtained beneficial results and 10 her rate of $300 an hour were customary but also on the low
11 side for this action and experience. And so, that was 12 unappealed from Horry, Your Honor, where the Court found that 13 everything that she charged this client for were reasonable 14 under the circumstances based on criteria set up in cases and 15 we think this has to be sent to The Resolution and Fee
16 Dispute Board.

17 THE COURT: All right. Yes, sir.

18 MR. DODSON: Thank you, Your Honor. Robert Dodson for the 19 Defendant, Lisa Moore. The reason Your Honor should not send 20 this to The Fee Dispute Resolution Board is because under 21 Rule 416 of the Appellate Court Rules and then specifically 22 Rule 9 under Rule 416. If I may approach, I have a copy of 23 that Rule, Your Honor. (Hands document to Mr. Tetterton and 24 to Judge Benjamin) You cannot prospectively through a
25 contract bind a client to resolve fee disputes at the Fee

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 Dispute Resolution Board. That has to be done by consent of 2 the parties after there is a fee dispute, but you can't,
3 before there is a fee dispute, you can't prospectively bind a
4 client by popping that into a fee contract. There simply is 5 no authority for that. There is no authority and he has cited
6 absolutely no case law where a circuit court compelled
7 somebody to effectively arbitrate a case for The Fee Dispute
8 Resolution Board, because they put something in a fee
9 agreement with a client.

10 And the other point that I would make here is this: it
11 is effectively arbitration because it takes away her
12 constitutional right to a jury trial, but it does not comply
13 with the South Carolina Uniform Arbitration Act. That clause
14 in the fee agreement that he is referring to simply does not 15 comply with The Uniform Arbitration Act. So, you can't hobble
16 together between The Uniform Arbitration Act, the fee
17 agreement, and Rule 9 that I passed up to Your Honor some 18 sort of holding that when his client initiates a lawsuit in 19 this court and effectively tries to basically get her into 20 default because she, this client has done this a lot. She 21 goes and sues a lot of clients for fees. She has a long
22 history of this. She gets them in default, but this time, Ms.
23 Moore did not go into default. Ms. Derrick initiated this 24 lawsuit and my client is exercising her right to a trial by 25 jury and there is simply nothing under Rule 9 that I passed

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 up which is a part of Rule 416 of the Appellate Court Rules,
 2 that vests Your Honor with the authority to compel this kind
 3 of arbitration. There is nothing in The Uniform Arbitration
 4 Act that was complied with and there is absolutely no
 5 appellate law in this state where this has been done. And so,
 6 for those reasons, we oppose the motion.

7 THE COURT: All right. Let me ask you this. You are 8 saying that -- Rule 9 says exclusive upon consent, so it's 9 your position that her consenting to it in the contract is 10 not consent?

11 MR. DODSON: It is not, because you cannot, you have to,
 12 the whole way that the Fee Dispute Resolution Board is set up 13 is that either the client can file a claim directly with the 14 Fee Dispute Resolution Board and the attorney is bound. The 15 attorney can file a claim with The Fee Dispute Resolution
 16 Board and The Fee Dispute Resolution Board can ask the client
 17 effectively, "Do you consent". But those procedures are 18 accurately disputed as already arisen. There is nothing in 19 Rule 416 or any other statutory authority that says that you
 20 can prospectively do this. Absolutely nothing. No case law, 21 no statute. And you can go to the Uniform Arbitration Act and 22 it specifically sets forth what you have to do with an 23 arbitration clause in South Carolina to be enforceable and 24 among other things that has to be put in bold letters,
 25 capital letters, on the front of the contract. That was not

1 done here. That is why I said earlier, you can't cobble all
2 these things together to create a new procedure.

3 The other point I would say is, she waived it because 4 she filed this lawsuit, not my client. She can't march into 5 court initiating this lawsuit hoping that she's going to come
6 over here and get my client into default and then when my 7 client gets a lawyer and the lawyer stands up and says,
8 "Huh-uh, we dispute the fee. We think you've committed fraud
9 in the way that you billed her. We think there are other 10 improprieties in this and we want a jury trial, then she 11 says, "No, no, no. I want a do-over. I want to go to the Fee
12 Dispute Resolution Board even though I'm the one that 13 initiated this lawsuit. There is just simply no law for that.
14 It is not provided for in Rule 9, it's not provided for in 15 any appellate law that I see.

16 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

17 MR. TETTERTON: Your Honor, if I may. I don't know how 18 Mr. Dodson plans on getting around a final order of a family
19 court judge when that judge found that these fees were 20 reasonable and he's talking about trying to get his client
21 into default when the family court found that his client,
22 even though there was a fee agreement, his client made some 23 payments, but those payments were intermittent and partial.
24 But I think he has a problem on appeal with a final order
25 from family court judge who has found the fees were

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 reasonable and at no time did she, she had an attorney at 2 those hearings, and at no time did she raise any issue about
3 the fees being unreasonable. I think the case is very simple,
4 she just doesn't want to pay her lawyer for getting
5 beneficial results and doing a good job for her.

6 And all during discovery, Your Honor, we've provided
7 this on a disk for Mr. Dodson. There are letters and letters
8 in here and emails back and forth where she says, "I intend 9 to pay," and there are letters and emails from my client to 10 her telling her you are behind on your payments, you've got 11 to pay some so that we can continue your case and so it shows
12 this matter started half-way back through this case that she 13 intended to not pay my client and as she is now, she's just 14 trying to get out of paying her. If you look at Rule 9, Your 15 Honor, and I agree with Your Honor that Rule 9 says she must 16 consent in writing and be bound by the final decision of the 17 board. She consented to that in the fee contract spelled out
18 in capital letters. And in number 2, it's spelled out again
19 in smaller capital letters, but she agreed to this 20 resolution. If she had problems at the beginning, she 21 shouldn't have signed the agreement. I think she's bound,
22 that's a contractual matter, and I think she's bound by the 23 contract. This does not come under the Arbitration Act. This 24 is a contractual matter between a client and her lawyer and 25 the Fee Dispute Resolution Board can settle this matter very

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 simply. I have the family court order if you'd like me to 2 pass it up.

3 THE COURT: That would be great. Thank you. And let me
4 hear from you all as to the motion to compel. I'm going to 5 take a look at the Uniform Arbitration Act. If this is as Mr.
6 Tetterton says, that it is not arbitration and therefore does
7 not apply. I'll give you an opportunity to respond to that.
8 All right. He says it does not fall under the Uniform
9 Arbitration Act, I'm assuming you are saying that it is not 10 an arbitration, it's a fee dispute.

11 MR. DODSON: You cannot do an end run around the Uniform
12 Arbitration Act, because that's what the Fee Dispute
13 Resolution Board is, it's essentially an arbitration panel of 14 a lawyer or a panel of lawyers that decide fee disputes
15 between clients and lawyers and if that's what she wanted,
16 then she, at a bare minimum, has to comply with the Uniform
17 Arbitration Act in her contract. She's a lawyer. She ought to 18 know how to do that. She didn't do it. I mean, that Act
19 specifically says if this is subject to arbitration, you've 20 got to put that on the front of the contract. It has to be in 21 bold type, capitalized, and when you look at the contract, it
22 simply wasn't done. He can say all he wants to that this
23 isn't subject to the Uniform Arbitration Act, but his motion
24 is to effectively take away my client's constitutional right
25 to a trial by jury and send it over to the Fee Dispute

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 Resolution Board. That's the same thing as sending it to the 2 American Arbitration Association or some other Arbitration.
3 It may not be the AAA, but it's just another arbitration body
4 with rules and procedures that are for arbitration. He cannot 5 do an end run around like Ms. Derrick is attempting to do.

6 The other thing, as far as the merits of the case, I'm 7 happy to address those at a later time, but we are not to 8 that point.

9 THE COURT: The what in the case?

10 MR. DODSON: The merits. He wanted to get into the merits
11 of the case and I'd be happy to get into the merits of the 12 case, but I don't want to do it today, because I don't think
13 that's relevant to the issues before you.

14 THE COURT: What is the motion to compel?

15 MR. DODSON: The motion to compel, the first thing that I
16 have sought is Ms. Derrick's file, because it's not Ms.
17 Derrick's file, it's Ms. Moore's file. Our courts have been 18 very clear, and if I may approach, Your Honor. I have two 19 ethics advisory opinions from the bar. I've already provided, 20 prior to the hearing, copies to plaintiff's counsel, but the 21 bar has made very, very clear that a lawyer cannot hold a
22 client's file hostage pending resolution of some fee dispute
23 or pending payment of a fee. I've simply asked for the file
24 and they won't give it to me, so that's the first thing that 25 I'm seeking through my motion to compel and I can take the

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 other issues later, but that's certainly the most important
2 thing.

3 THE COURT: All right. Has she not given her a copy of 4 the file?

5 MR. TETTERTON: No, Your Honor. What we have done is, he
6 did not ask for that in his motion to produce. He only asked
7 for certain things out of the file and Rule 34, I think,
8 specifically says that the request shall specify a reasonable
9 time and place to make a copy. He hasn't done that. So, we 10 have no objection to him coming at a reasonable time and 11 place to copy the file.

12 MR. DODSON: Your Honor, it's not her file. Okay? It's my 13 client's file. If you read those ethics advisory opinions, 14 they makes clear that if a lawyer wants to obtain a copy of 15 the file, the lawyer may do that at the lawyer's cost, but 16 it's not my obligation to go and look at the file and copy it
17 at my expense. That's her lawyer's obligation.

18 MR. TETTERTON: It's not in the letter of production,
19 Your Honor. If he had requested ---

20 MR. DODSON: I ---

21 THE COURT: Hold on one second. I think you all are 22 asking for -- he's saying under the Rules, if there wasn't a 23 lawyer that you have to ask for it in your request to 24 produce, which the motion to compel is filed pursuant to.
25 Correct?

1 MR. DODSON: That's correct, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: You are talking about something which she, I
3 think the ethics opinions are pretty clear and she has to 4 turn her file over to her. So, but for purposes of the motion
5 to compel, I think you have to ask for it first before I can
6 grant the motion to compel. I understand what you are saying,
7 Mr. Dodson, she owes it to her anyway, but you are saying she
8 owes it to her based on the Rules, which I'm in agreement
9 with is that she has to give her a copy of the file.

10 MR. DODSON: Judge, it's number 13. Here's what I asked
11 for. Please produce copies of all defendant's file material
12 including, but not necessarily limited to; notes, pleadings,
13 discovery, billings, correspondence, including emails text
14 messages or other electronic correspondence, research and/or 15 draft documents of any kind. I further followed up in a 16 letter to Mr. Tetterton and I specifically clarified, I want 17 the file. I don't know that I can make it any clearer than 18 that.

19 MR. TETTERTON: I may stand corrected. Just one second,
20 Your Honor.

21 MR. DODSON: I can pass up the discovery request if Your 22 Honor would like.

23 THE COURT: I don't have it.

24 MR. TETTERTON: We'll make it very simple, Your Honor. We 25 will give her the file.

1 THE COURT: I think even though for the purposes of the 2 Rules of Civil Procedure, I still think she has to give her a
3 copy of the file based on -- that's what I've always 4 practiced. She has to give her the file. It's her file and 5 she has to give her a copy of the complete file. I will go
6 ahead and grant the motion and he is saying he's going to 7 turn it over to you anyway and so we will grant the motion as 8 the motion to -- or they are going to consent to, I don't 9 want to say grant, they are going to consent to turn over the 10 documents. Is that correct, Mr. Tetterton?

11 MR. TETTERTON: Yes, Your Honor.

12 MR. DODSON: And I just want to make clear, I want the 13 whole file.

14 MR. TETTERTON: I don't have a problem with that.

15 MR. DODSON: It's been a problem to this point.

16 MR. TETTERTON: There's not been a problem. It's been a 17 definite misunderstanding.

18 THE COURT: All right.

19 MR. TETTERTON: He just needs to say when he wants to 20 show up and a particular time and place he wants to meet at.

21 MR. DODSON: Judge, again ---

22 THE COURT: Under the rules, I think you have to make a
23 copy, give her a copy and Ms. Derrick has to keep a copy.

24 MR. TETTERTON: Exactly. We just need to know when he 25 wants to pick it up or how he wants to pick it up.

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 THE COURT: How big is the file?

2 MR. TETTERTON: I don't know. I don't have it.

3 THE COURT: I think she has to go pick it up, now. I'm 4 not going to make them mail it. Is she in ---

5 MR. DODSON: I'll be more than happy to have my client
6 pick up the file.

7 THE COURT: All right.

8 MR. TETTERTON: I think it's probably two banker boxes,
9 Your Honor. This thing has been going on several years.

10 MR. DODSON: Okay.

11 THE COURT: Okay. She is going to pick the file up and 12 once she has it, because it's two banker boxes, how much time
13 do you think you need to have it copied to get it to her?

14 MR. TETTERTON: About three weeks, Your Honor, or thirty 15 days. If it's two banker boxes full, we'll have to find a 16 copier.

17 THE COURT: What I'll do is give her fifteen days to get 18 that ready and you can notify Mr. Dodson when it's ready to 19 be picked up. All right.

20 As to the -- I would like to look at the Uniform
21 Arbitration Act and also the fee dispute resolution and so I
22 will get something back to you all on that within the next
23 couple of weeks, also. On the fee dispute, I'm going to take 24 it under advisement and get something back to you. I'm 25 assuming there is no authority one way or the other on the

LISA C. MOORE VERSUS JEAN P. DERRICK

1 fee dispute?

2 MR. TETTERTON: No.

3 MR. DODSON: I looked. I couldn't find anything.

4 MR. TETTERTON: The purpose of the board is to establish
5 proceedings to provide resolutions of dispute. Attorney's
6 fees, costs or disbursements between a client and an attorney
7 may be resolved expeditiously, fairly, and professionally and 8 so the Fee Dispute and Resolution Board has jurisdiction on 9 this.

10 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

11 MR. DODSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

12 Whereupon, the hearing was concluded.

INDEX OF WITNESSES

(WHEREUPON, no witnesses were called during these proceedings.)

EXHIBITS

(WHEREUPON, no exhibits were introduced during these proceedings.)

JANUARY 27, 2016

2 (WHEREUPON, the proceedings began at
3 2:17 p.m.)

4 THE COURT: I believe this is Mr. Dodson's
5 motion.

6 MR. DODSON: It is, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Actually, this is a Kershaw County
8 case. It is 2014-CP-28-940.

9 Yes, sir?

10 MR. DODSON: Thank you, Your Honor. I
11 promised your law clerk I would take no more than 12 seven and a half minutes.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. DODSON: I intend to keep my promise to 15 her.

16 THE COURT: All right.

17 MR. DODSON: As Your Honor will recall, this 18 was an action that was initiated by Jean Derrick,
19 who is a lawyer over in Lexington. She sued --
20 this is one of numerous cases where she has sued
21 her client for fees. We answered and served
22 counterclaims, and after the action was commenced
23 she filed a motion to send her part of the case,
24 the original claim, to the Fee Dispute Resolution
25 Board, and Your Honor granted that motion to send

1 just the initial complaint to the Fee Dispute
2 Resolution Board. And I filed, timely filed, a
3 motion for reconsideration.

4 My motion for reconsideration is based on four 5 grounds.

6 First of all, under Rule 416 of the Appellate
7 Rules of Civil Procedure which sets out the Fee
8 Dispute Resolution Board, Rule 10 of Rule 416 talks
9 about commencing an action in the Fee Dispute
10 Resolution Board.

11 And I want to kind of be careful about how I
12 word this, because I'm not trying to come across as 13 snotty when I say this, but nothing in that rule,
14 416, specifically Rule 10, vests the Court with the 15 authority to compel a motion to send the case to 16 the Fee Dispute Resolution Board.

17 My second point that I would make is even if 18 the contract or the fee agreement by the parties is 19 viewed as some sort of consent to the Fee Dispute
20 Resolution Board, Rule 10 of Rule 416 specifically
21 says -- and I'm reading right from my rule book --
22 Such written consent may be withdrawn by written
23 notice served on all other parties or attorneys.

24 So certainly she can withdraw her consent even 25 if the Court were to view the initial fee agreement

1 as her consent to that.

2 My third point is that this is an arbitration.
3 The Fee Dispute Resolution Board is, in effect, an 4 arbitration body. It may not use that word
5 "arbitration," but arbitration is not a word that
6 is defined in the South Carolina Uniform
7 Arbitration Act, so we have to go to a common law
8 definition of it.

9 And the common law definition, which I quoted
10 in the motion, in my motion for reconsideration
11 itself, this is exactly what it describes. That 12 essentially there is a body or a panel that is 13 going to decide the issues for the parties to that 14 arbitration.

15 And you cannot compel arbitration in an 16 attorney-client fee dispute like this for a couple
17 of reasons.

18 First, the contract at issue doesn't contain,
19 you know, prominent bold letters typed on the front
20 or stamped on the first page of the contract, and;
21 second, even if it did, under our Uniform
22 Arbitration Act, attorneys can't compel arbitration
23 in their fee agreements.

24 My fourth point that I would make is a fairly 25 obvious point, but I'll make it anyway. And it is

1 this. Ms. Derrick initiated this lawsuit. She 2 filed the original summons and complaint in this 3 action. And she -- this is not the first time she
4 has done it. She has done this numerous times
5 where she has sued clients for fees. And so she 6 made her bed.

7 She wanted the Court to decide the issues that
8 she brought before the Court. And she can't get a
9 Mulligan or a do-over or a takeaway and file the 10 initial action here and then say, Nope, I don't 11 want -- I take it back. I want to go to the Fee
12 Dispute Resolution Board.

13 And so for those four reasons, we would ask
14 the Court to either alter or amend its prior ruling
15 and deny the motion, or at least further explain in 16 a written order, Number One, how the Court --
17 again, not trying to be disrespectful or snotty --
18 has the authority to compel the Fee Dispute
19 Resolution Board -- and that is not provided in the 20 rules itself -- why my client, Ms. Moore, couldn't 21 withdraw consent for that because that is provided
22 for in the rules. And then, further, how the 23 arbitration -- it would be proper under the Uniform
24 Arbitration Act. And then, finally, why
25 Ms. Derrick's action of initiating this lawsuit and

1 bringing this lawsuit doesn't constitute some sort
2 of a waiver.

3 Thank you, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Let me just ask. I think in doing
5 the Form 4, I did not dismiss the counterclaim.

6 MR. DODSON: That's correct, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Nor did I dismiss the suit. If I
8 remember correctly, her suit was for breach of 9 contract; is that correct?

10 MR. DODSON: I believe that is right. I think
11 there was also a quantum meruit claim, but I think 12 that that was the initial action.

13 THE COURT: All right. And so the breach of 14 contract case would not be appropriate for the Fee
15 Dispute Board; is that correct?

16 MR. DODSON: My contention is none of it would
17 be appropriate before the Fee Dispute Resolution
18 Board.

19 THE COURT: All right. No, just as to your 20 fourth point as to why did she bring it in an 21 action at law and not -- and that she is trying to 22 change and now do it before the Fee Dispute Board.

23 I guess my next question is -- and I know you
24 are saying it is arbitration -- but the decision
25 before the Fee Dispute Board is subject to being

1 appealed to the circuit court; is that correct?

2 MR. DODSON: Honestly, I'm not sure of the 3 answer to that.

4 THE COURT: Because I have heard them before.
5 That is -- yes, where they have appealed the 6 decision of the Fee Dispute Board.

7 MR. DODSON: Well, in arbitration -- you know,
8 arbitration, you can appeal arbitration awards as 9 well. I mean, the grounds for those appeals are 10 very limited, but arbitration awards themselves can 11 be appealed to one body or another, it is just the 12 grounds for them are very limited.

13 So I don't know that -- sort of foreseeing
14 where Your Honor is going, I don't know that that 15 is really dispositive to the question about whether 16 or not this is in fact arbitration.

17 And I think when you look at the procedures
18 that are set forth in Rule 416 about how this Fee
19 Dispute Board operates, it is an arbitration body.
20 It is an arbitration body set up for -- by the 21 bar -- for a limited purpose of settling certain 22 fee disputes if the parties consent, but that is,
23 you know -- not to be cliché, but it is kind of 24 cliché. It if walks like a duck and quacks like a
25 duck, it is a duck. And if it looks like

1 arbitration and acts like arbitration, it is
2 arbitration. And that is what our position is.

3 THE COURT: But the -- and I'm looking at the 4 rules. I'm asking these questions. When I look at 5 the Uniform Arbitration Act and the rules
6 pertaining to it, this fits specifically in a
7 different section, Rule 416. I understand you
8 believe that it basically takes on the same effect
9 as arbitration, but is there any case law or 10 anything that says that this is actually considered
11 arbitration and would be subject to the rules of 12 arbitration?

13 MR. DODSON: I am not aware of case law on the 14 issue one way or another, nor am I aware of any
15 case law one way or another on whether the Court
16 can compel arbitration through the Fee Dispute
17 Resolution Board under a written contract.

18 THE COURT: Well, yes, and I don't believe the 19 order says arbitration, it is just that --

20 MR. DODSON: I understand.

21 THE COURT: In the contract. The only issues
22 that were being sent to the Fee Dispute Board are 23 just the issues she had regarding her. She said --
24 I believe her only complaint was that she did not 25 get the services that she was supposed to pay for,

1 and that is why she did not pay them. I think that
2 is -- something to that effect.

3 MR. DODSON: And she may -- yes, you are 4 right.

5 THE COURT: Something to that.

6 MR. DODSON: She told me --

7 THE COURT: She also claims legal malpractice.
8 And none of that stuff would go to the Fee Dispute
9 Board under the current order.

10 MR. DODSON: Under the current order, I
11 understand. It sort of, you know, gets into 12 another thing, sort of bifurcating it out, because,
13 you know --

14 THE COURT: Well, I don't know if it
15 bifurcates it. I think what it does is basically 16 says she has to -- based under the contract, she 17 has to go to the Fee Dispute Board. But I'm not 18 sure how it disturbs the current suit. Maybe
19 that -- or your counterclaim.

20 MR. DODSON: Well, I mean, it doesn't disturb 21 them in the sense that -- as Your Honor just 22 pointed out, the current order doesn't dismiss her
23 counterclaims. Those are still preserved and she 24 is still entitled to her right to a trial by jury
25 on those issues. It is only the initial claims

1 that Ms. Derrick brought.

2 However, in bifurcating out the original
3 claims that the Plaintiff brought from the 4 counterclaims that the Defendant asserted, there
5 are issues in both of those. For example, the 6 reasonableness of the fee is in part based on the 7 quality of the legal services, the novelty of the 8 issues, and the hours worked, you know.

9 And so the quality of the legal services, the 10 hours that are worked is one of the things that 11 we're going to bring up. And we have already 12 talked to one of Ms. Derrick's former paralegals
13 that basically is going to testify that she is a 14 chronic over-biller, she represents that she has 15 worked hours that in fact she didn't work.

16 Well, those are going to be -- that is going 17 to be testimony that is going to be important in 18 the Fee Dispute Resolution Board as the current 19 order reads because if she didn't work the hours,
20 she is not entitled to the additional fee. But it
21 also goes in with the other claims about unfair
22 trade practices and this kind of issue of 23 chronically over-billing clients for work that she 24 didn't perform.

25 So those are -- just to give Your Honor -- I

1 mean, there is a lot of overlap between the two.

2 THE COURT: So you are just -- I guess your
3 issue is the fact that your client would have to 4 litigate both -- litigate the same issues, one to 5 the Fee Dispute Board and one to a jury?

6 MR. DODSON: That is one of the -- I mean,
7 that is certainly one of my concerns, yes.

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. DODSON: But I think --

10 THE COURT: I did not dismiss any of the 11 claims.

12 MR. DODSON: You didn't. And I agree. I
13 mean, I understand that, Your Honor. I just, with 14 all due respect to Your Honor and this Court in the 15 prior order, I just take issue with whether or not 16 the Court can properly compel the original action
17 before the Fee Dispute Resolution Board, even 18 recognizing that the counterclaim would remain with 19 this Court.

20 THE COURT: Well, the original action also 21 remains with the Court, because this is a breach of 22 contract; right? That would not -- I guess what 23 I'm saying is, it is almost -- I'm trying to think
24 of a good example -- of someone filing a complaint,
25 but then also going through some other grievance

1 process where they are running parallel?

2 MR. DODSON: Well, I don't know that they 3 are --

4 THE COURT: I don't know about parallel,
5 but --

6 MR. DODSON: Well, I don't know that they are 7 on parallel tracks. They may not be on 8 perpendicular tracks. But I think there is going
9 to be some overlap at some point in the future
10 because, you know, you have the problem of if the 11 Fee Dispute Resolution Board says she is entitled
12 to some money, but then, you know, you get a jury
13 that says she committed legal malpractice in the 14 very case or that she committed -- that she has 15 violated the Unfair Trade Practices Act in the 16 legal malpractice action, you know, I'm not sure I
17 can get into questions of offset, and it just 18 becomes I think a quagmire, a complicated mess.

19 THE COURT: All right. Let me ask you this 20 also. Did she ever send something saying she 21 withdrew her consent?

22 MR. DODSON: I don't know that she has ever
23 given her consent, other than what is in the --

24 THE COURT: Agreement?

25 MR. DODSON: In the agreement itself. Because

1 the way that the rule reads, Rule 10 of Rule 416,
2 is that if Ms. Derrick had completed an application
3 and filed with the Fee Dispute Resolution Board,
4 then those papers that she would file would get
5 served on Ms. Moore, my client, and she could 6 either consent or not consent to it. So we never 7 even got to that process.

8 THE COURT: Let me ask. I guess I'm a little
9 confused. The Fee Dispute Board, Ms. Derrick --
10 you are saying Ms. Derrick could have filed her
11 initial action with the Fee Dispute Board to 12 enforce your client to pay her?

13 MR. DODSON: I think she could have. I
14 believe, if I read the rule right, Ms. Derrick --

15 THE COURT: I'll go back and look at it,
16 but --

17 MR. DODSON: -- initiated it, yes. I think 18 so. I may be wrong on that. I know a client can 19 initiate it.

20 THE COURT: I know your client could have
21 initially filed a fee dispute with her.

22 MR. DODSON: And she is not -- I mean, to be
23 clear, Your Honor, my client is not, at this point
24 I mean, she -- my client never filed with the Fee
25 Dispute Resolution Board at all. So she never

1 filed a claim saying, I want back the money that I
2 have already paid Ms. Derrick, because she already
3 paid Ms. Derrick a sizeable amount. She never 4 filed anything with the Fee Dispute Resolution
5 Board saying, I want that money back.

6 I think at some point -- and it was after the 7 commencement of this lawsuit -- Mr. Tetterton sent 8 me an e-mail or a letter or something along the 9 lines of, Ms. Derrick would go to the Fee Dispute
10 Resolution Board. And I e-mailed him back and 11 said, We don't agree to that.

12 So -- but there is nothing, I mean, as far as 13 the Fee Dispute Resolution Board is concerned as 14 the case sits right now, we don't exist, because 15 there has just been nothing filed over there that 16 I'm aware of.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. DODSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: I'll see what he has to say.

20 All right. Yes, sir?

21 MR. TETTERTON: I will do the easy part first,
22 Your Honor. He is citing Rule 10 saying that she 23 had to withdraw by written consent, she had to 24 withdraw consent. That is not what the rule says
25 at all.

1 If you read the rule very carefully: After
2 the initial correspondence, all other
3 correspondence shall be sent by regular mail or 4 with the consent of the client or lawyer by e-mail.
5 That is the consent that he is misreading. Such 6 written consent may be withdrawn by written notice
7 served on all other parties or attorneys.

8 That section right there, plain black and 9 white, says that the written consent, if you agreed
10 to do it by e-mail, that written consent, doing it
11 by e-mail, can be withdrawn. So he is misreading
12 that. That is the easy part of that.

13 The other thing is, Your Honor, this is a 14 contract case. You have read the contract. And in 15 two separate paragraphs in the fee agreement, which 16 is dated April of 2000 -- some three years before
17 the final order of the Court, it was spelled out
18 explicitly in the contract in two different
19 locations that the parties would -- if anyone was 20 dissatisfied or there was any dispute, it would be 21 sent to the South Carolina Fee Dispute Resolution
22 Committee.

23 It is spelled out not only there in the 24 contract, in the agreement, but also in his answer.
25 In Paragraph 4 of his answer, he says that we

1 didn't send it to them or it hadn't been submitted
2 to them and that it is supposed to be sent there.
3 In Paragraph 4 of his answer he says that. So he's 4 admitting that it should be. I'm sorry, Paragraph
5 5 of his answer.

6 Now, he refers to the Arbitration Act saying
7 this is arbitration. First of all, he is trying to 8 get you to rewrite contract law. We all know that 9 the contract on the four corners of the contract is 10 not ambiguous. The contract speaks for itself. So
11 arguing the contract against the arbitration -- I
12 mean, excuse me, the Fee Dispute Committee
13 provision in the contract, he is trying to get this 14 Court to rewrite contract law. This Court already 15 has to look at the four corners of the contract,
16 and it very explicitly spells it out.

17 Then he is trying to say this is arbitration.
18 We have gone over this before, Your Honor, in the 19 other motion, (B)(3) of the Uniform Arbitration Act,
20 specifically, in black and white: A fee agreement
21 entered into between the relationship of the 22 contracting parties is such that of lawyer-client
23 shall not apply to that agreement.

24 The legislature in its intent said: Any 25 agreement between a lawyer and a client is excluded

1 from the Uniform Arbitration Act.

2 What he is trying to do is come in through the 3 back door and say, Well, you are bound by the 4 Arbitration Act, but yet the act itself, the 5 legislative intent was for it to be excluded. So
6 not only is he trying to rewrite contract law, he
7 is trying to get this Court to rewrite legislation.

8 Your Honor, this case -- the legislative 9 intent was for it to be only arbitration cases, not 10 fee dispute cases. If you look at 416, that is the 11 exclusive remedy for fee disputes. There is no
12 dispute that this is not a dispute case. This is a 13 fee dispute case.

14 So fee dispute -- or the Resolution Fee
15 Dispute Committee, or the board, has exclusive
16 jurisdiction -- jurisdiction to hear those cases.

17 Now, that act -- I mean, that 416 does not put 18 the burden on the lawyer, it puts the burden on the 19 client. The client has to file. It says: The 20 client shall file if she is dissatisfied with the 21 fee. And the fee is included -- the definition of 22 the fee in that particular act covers everything
23 about the fee, any dispute about the fee:

24 Overpayment, underpayment, anything.

25 Now, Your Honor, this case went for three

1 solid years. There was a final order by the Family
2 Court judge, unappealed from, unappealed, which 3 made a finding that this -- and she asked for 4 attorney's fees, said that this was complex
5 litigation, full discovery, two full days of trial,
6 64 reasonable hours by the attorney, who had a
7 professional standard of excellence, 36 years of 8 practicing law, she was well prepared, the case was 9 well tried, she obtained beneficial results, and 10 her hourly rate of $300 was customary, even though
11 on the low side.

12 His client waits three years, doesn't pay the 13 lawyer, and now all of sudden she is trying to get 14 out of paying the lawyer, doesn't want to go to the 15 Fee Dispute Committee.

16 The exclusive jurisdiction of this case is 17 with the Fee Dispute Board. And I can cite Your 18 Honor Bailey v. Bailey. That is 312 S.C. 454, 441
19 S.E.2d 525.

20 THE COURT: One more time.

21 MR. TETTERTON: 312 S.C. 454, 441 S.E.2d
22 525 -- 325, Bailey v. Bailey, which says that: Any 23 dispute about the fee remains in the jurisdiction
24 of the Resolution or the Fee Dispute Board.

25 I think this Court ruled correctly on my

1 motion to compel this case going to the Fee Dispute
2 Committee first. This Court has already in its
3 order said, We are going to leave all these other
4 causes of action open. So that does not prevent
5 him from, if he gets that far, of having a jury
6 trial on all his causes of action in the complaint,
7 nor does it prevent Ms. Derrick from having her day
8 in court on her breach of contract.

9 But I don't see how in the world he can get
10 around this case being excluded from the Uniform
11 Arbitration Act or included in the 416 Fee Dispute
12 Committee -- fee dispute. And she has not -- this 13 part of 410. I'm sorry, Rule 10 of 416, he just 14 misread that. That is not what it says.

15 THE COURT: One quick question. His position
16 is that he doesn't think that this Court has the 17 jurisdiction to compel his client to the Fee
18 Dispute Board.

19 MR. TETTERTON: Well, he wants this Court to 20 rewrite contract law, Your Honor. This is a 21 contract, unambiguous, plain on its face, which 22 says: They will submit any fee disputes to the 23 Resolution Fee Dispute Committee.

24 So he is asking this Court to disregard
25 contracts between two of the parties, both whom

1 relied on this contract. Ms. Derrick, for three 2 years, relied on the fact that she was under an
3 obligation to perform services for Ms. Moore, which 4 she did, as found by the Family Court judge. She 5 did a great job. Was underpaid for $300 an hour.
6 That case was unappealed from. So Mr. Dodson is 7 asking this Court to rewrite contract law.

8 THE COURT: All right.

9 MR. TETTERTON: And the contract is plain on 10 its face. I think this case should go to the Fee
11 Dispute Board first, and then we'll figure it out
12 in the civil court on all these other -- I mean, 13 the other court, about all these other causes of 14 action.

15 THE COURT: All right.

16 MR. TETTERTON: Thank you.

17 THE COURT: All right. I'll take a look at 18 that. I'll look at Bailey v. Bailey. It has been 19 a while. I did some research on it, there is just 20 not anything really out there. I'll take a look at 21 Bailey v. Bailey and read over the Fee Dispute
22 Resolution rule again.

23 MR. TETTERTON: 416.

24 THE COURT: The appeals. And I'll get
25 something back to you.

1 MR. TETTERTON: And, Your Honor, again, I
2 invite your attention to (B)(3) of the Uniform
3 Arbitration Act.

4 THE COURT: I'll take a look.

5 MR. TETTERTON: Which specifically excludes
6 lawyer-client grievances.

7 Thank you, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

9 MR. DODSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

11 concluded at 2:44 p.m.)

NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO COMPEL

KERSHAW COUNTY, SC
APR 28 PM 4:15
FOR RECORD

TO: ROBERT D. DODSON AND THE DEFENDANT ABOVE NAMED

YOU WILL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Plaintiff by and through her undersigned counsel, will move before the Court ten (10) days after filing this Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel or as soon thereafter as may be scheduled by the Court, for an Order compelling the Defendant to submit this fee dispute to the Resolution of Fee Disputes Board of the South Carolina Bar.

The motion is based upon the following:

1. The Defendant retained the Plaintiff to represent her in a highly litigious domestic dispute with her ex-husband which ended in a Final Order of the Family Court of the Fifth Judicial Circuit.
2. The Defendant signed a fee agreement with the Plaintiff providing inter alia, "ANY DISPUTE CONCERNING THE FEE DUE PURSUANT TO THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE SUBMITTED BY THE DISSATISFIED PARTY FOR A FULL, FINAL RESOLUTION TO THE RESOLUTION FEE DISPUTES BOARD OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA BAR, PURSUANT TO RULE 416 OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA APPELLATE COURT RULES," paragraph 7 at page 2; "Any dispute concerning the fee due pursuant to this contract shall be submitted by the dissatisfied party for a full, final resolution to the Resolution Fee Disputes Board of the South Carolina Bar, pursuant to Rule 416 of the South Carolina Appellate Court Rules," paragraph 8 at page 3 (Exhibit A).

3. The Defendant in her Answer to the Plaintiff's Complaint, has raised the issue as to whether the Plaintiff's fees were fair and proper, further alleging a genuine difference as to the fair and proper amount.
4. Further, the Defendant in her Answer alleges "The alleged contract at issue... any dispute concerning the fee due pursuant to the agreement shall be submitted by the dissatisfied party for a full, final resolution to the Resolution Fee Disputes Board of the South Bar."
5. Plaintiff's Counsel certifies that prior to filing this motion, the Defendant's attorney had been given the opportunity in a good faith attempt to submit this matter to the Resolution Fee Dispute Board of the South Carolina Bar. To date, Defendant's counsel has not responded to this request.

Respectfully submitted,

Derrick's right to receive reasonable compensation in that event. Docket No.: 2014-CP-28-940

2015 DEC 16 AM 11:53
CLERK OF COURT
KERSHAW COUNTY, S.C.

TO: THE HONORABLE DEANDREA G. BENJAMIN, SOUTH CAROLINA
CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE, PLAINTIFF AND HER ATTORNEY, WILLIAM TETTERTON, ESQUIRE.

Defendant respectfully moves the Court for an Order altering or amending the Court's prior Order dated December 4, 2015. This Order was received by Defense Counsel via U.S. Mail on December 8, 2015. This Motion is made pursuant to Rule 59(e), other applicable court rules, case law and such other authority as may be relevant. The legal and factual basis for the Motion is set forth below.

The Plaintiff to this lawsuit is a lawyer suing her client for additional attorney's fees she claims she is owed. The Plaintiff moved the Court for an order compelling Defendant to submit the claim to the Resolution of Fee Disputes Board of the South Carolina Bar (hereinafter Fee Disputes Board). This Court's Order dated December 4, 2015 granted Plaintiff's Motion on the grounds that: "Because the Defendant disputes the fee for numerous alleged reasons, this Court finds that it is proper to take these matters up with the Resolution Fee Dispute Board pursuant to the signed contract."

Plaintiff moves that the Court amend and/or clarify its Order because Rule 10 of SCRAP Rule 416 which creates the Fee Disputes Board mandates that the process be voluntary and each party must consent to having the dispute resolved by the Fee Disputes Board. Even if the fee agreement/contract may be viewed by this Court as the Defendant's consent, Rule 10 of the Fee Disputes Board's rules provides that "consent may be withdrawn..." Defendant seeks clarification and/or amendment from the Court's December 4, 2015 Order as to why she cannot withdraw any consent she may have previously given through the fee agreement/contract at issue. More specifically and with all due respect to this Honorable Court, Defendant should not be compelled to participate in the Fee Disputes Board's process, as this process was designed to be a voluntary process which should not be compelled by this Court.

Defendant also moves the Court for an order which clarifies and/or alters or amends the Court's December 4, 2015 Order because the Court's Order, in effect, would compel mandatory arbitration and the contract at issue does not comply with the South Carolina Uniform Arbitration Act (S.C. Code Ann § 15-48-et. seq.) such that arbitration can be compelled or mandated by the Court. The term "arbitration" is not defined under the South Carolina Uniform Arbitration Act (hereinafter SCUAA). Black's Law Dictionary defines arbitration as: "A process of dispute resolution in which a neutral third party (arbitrator) renders a decision after a hearing at which both parties have the opportunity to be heard." A careful review and analysis of SCRAP Rule 416 shows that it meets the common law definition of arbitration. However, the fee agreement/contract at issue here does not comply the SCUAA for at least two reasons. First, the fee agreement/contract does not state that it is subject arbitration "in underlined capital letters, or rubber-stamped prominently, on the first page of the contract..." S.C. Code Ann § 15-48-10(a). Just as importantly, arbitration cannot be compelled because the contract/fee agreement is "that of lawyer-client" and is excluded from mandatory arbitration pursuant to S.C. Code Ann § 15-48-10(c). With all due respect to the Honorable Court, the Court's Order fails to explain or clarify why the process it is compelling the Defendant to participate in is anything but arbitration and the Order fails to explain why arbitration can be compelled given the wording of the SCUAA.

For the foregoing reasons, Defendant seeks an Order from this Court altering or amending its previous Order dated December 4, 2015 such that Plaintiff's Motion which is the subject of Order is denied. In the alternative, Defendant seeks an Order from this Court altering or amending its previous Order as outlined more fully above.

Respectfully submitted,

Re: Derrick v. Moore
Civil Action No. : 2014-CP-28-940

Dear Judge Benjamin:

In yesterday's argument before you on my motion to compel the parties to submit the dispute to the Resolution of Fee Dispute Board for the South Carolina Bar, Mr. Dodson argued that this matter was governed by §15-48-10, and I of course said that statute did not apply. You advised Mr. Dodson and me that you were going to review that particular statute. I would invite your attention to section (b)(3) of that statute which is an exception for "a pre-agreement entered into when the relationship of the contracting parties is such that of lawyer client."

By copy of this letter, I am advising Mr. Dodson of my communication with the Court.

I certainly appreciate your indulgence.

Sincerely,

William S. Tetterton

RE: Jean P. Derrick v. Lisa C. Moore
Civil Action No.: 2014-CP-28-940

Dear Judge Benjamin:

Ordinarily I do not write the Court to make legal arguments following a motions hearing. However, since opposing counsel wrote you first, I felt compelled to respond especially since Mr. Tetterton made my point for me (apparently without even recognizing it). I will explain.

In his letter to you dated July 15, 2015 Mr. Tetterton writes that he "would invite your attention to section (b)(3) of that statute [the Uniform Arbitration Act] which is an exception for 'a pre-agreement entered into when the relationship of the contracting parties is such that of lawyer client.'" That is exactly my point. A lawyer cannot preemptively compel a client to waive their constitutional right to a trial by jury by inserting some clause or provision into a fee agreement. That is what the Plaintiff in this case did when she inserted a clause in her fee agreement trying to compel her client to resolve disputes through the Resolution of Fee Disputes Board. As Your Honor is aware, the Fee Dispute Board is effectively an arbitration body established by the bar. However, a lawyer cannot force a client to participate in this venue and that is why the Court should deny the Motion to Compel filed by the Plaintiff.

Thank you. With kind regards, I am,

Very truly yours,
