Re: Appellate Case 2016-001063 Jarmuth v International Club;
Respondent did not serve copy of Initial Response Brief on Appellant;
Copy unavailable for download from web docket
Appellant has 4 whole work days left IF copy becomes available today

Dear Madam Clerk:

As of today I have not received my copy of Respondent's Initial Response Brief which, per the case clerk, was received by the Court of Appeals yesterday with a post mark of November 28, 2016, and likewise according to the case clerk, with a certificate of service dated November 29, 2016.

I spoke to the case clerk about not seeing the Initial Response Brief on the web docket on Tuesday, when she confirmed the Court had not received the brief that day.

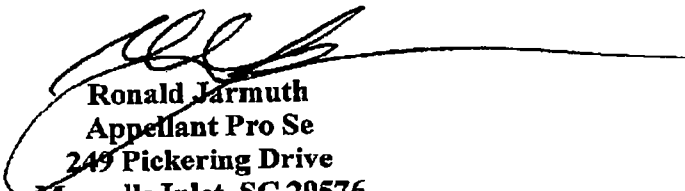

Yesterday I again spoke to the case clerk, whereupon she confirmed that the Court had just received the Initial Response Brief. Assuming that the court's copy gets posted on the web docket sometime late today, this leaves me with only 4 whole work days to prepare my Initial Reply Brief, together with my adjusted Designations of Record on Appeal. I note that in the past it has often taken several days for a document received by the Court of Appeals to get posted on the web docket for downloading.

I would greatly appreciate it if you could expedite getting the Initial Response Brief scanned in and posted, so that I will not have to waste the Court's time with a Motion to Extend the filing date for my Initial Reply Brief. I note that the Respondent did in fact get an after – the fact extension to file their Initial Response Brief which they apparently never actually served me with.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Ronald Jarmuth
