Ms. Hackett,

I just saw your response regarding the extension request in State v. Bash. I am very concerned that you have not yet received the copy of the extension request I sent out yesterday. It was placed in our outgoing mailbox yesterday afternoon, and it was picked up by a staff member from your office with the other appellate defense mail towards the end of the day yesterday. Please confirm it was not received with that mail, and I will send you another copy today. Thank you, and sorry for the inconvenience.

Sincerely,

Mark R. Farthing

Ms. Matthews,

Thank you for your telephone call today regarding the case of State v. Walter Bash. During the call, you made me aware of a request by the state for a five day extension in which to file a petition for rehearing. As I mentioned, I have not received a copy of the request, but I looked it up on C-Track while we were on the phone. You asked if I opposed the request, and I responded that I do not oppose the request. You further asked if I would send you an email to that effect. Please accept this email as confirming our telephone call and confirming that I do not have any opposition to the state's request for a five day extension in which to file the petition for rehearing.

I have copied Mr. Farthing, the attorney for the state, on this email. If you need any additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me.
