

The South Carolina Court of Appeals

Doraine E. Martin, Respondent,

v.

South Carolina Department of Corrections and State
Accident Fund, Appellants.

Appellate Case No. 2017-001191

---

ORDER

---

Appellants have filed an appeal from the Administrative Law Court's orders, which entertain Respondent's motion to enforce a subpoena and to compel the production of documents and deposition testimony in a case pending before the South Carolina Workers' Compensation Commission. Respondent has filed a motion to dismiss, arguing the underlying orders are not immediately appealable. Appellants did not file a return.

This court is compelled to dismiss this appeal because section 1-23-610(A)(1) of the South Carolina Code (Supp. 2016) provides that judicial review may only be sought from a final decision of the Administrative Law Court. See Charlotte-Mecklenburg Hosp. Auth. v. S.C. Dep't of Health & Envtl. Control, 387 S.C. 265, 266, 692 S.E.2d 894 (2010) (dismissing an appeal from an interlocutory order pursuant to § 1-23-610). It must be noted, however, that section 1-23-600(A) of the South Carolina Code (Supp. 2016) expressly excludes cases arising under the Workers' Compensation Commission from the oversight of the Administrative Law Court. Respondent's motion to dismiss is granted, and the remittitur will be sent as provided in Rule 221, SCACR.
