

The South Carolina Court of Appeals

Ross Buchanan, Appellant,

v.

South Carolina Department of Employment and Workforce and Upstate Machine and Manufacturing, LLC, Respondents.

Appellate Case No. 2017-002378

ORDER

Appellant has filed a motion to reinstate this appeal, which was dismissed due to Appellant's failure to correct deficiencies to Appellant's initial brief and to provide a designation of matter. Appellant argues he did not prepare the designation of matter because he is "waiting for an answer from the court and [Respondent]" as to whether a transcript is required. Appellant further argues that if a transcript is required, the dismissal of this appeal was premature.

Rule 207(a)(1) of the South Carolina Appellate Court Rules provides that "[u]nless the parties otherwise agree in writing, appellant must order a transcript of the entire proceedings below." Here, Appellant has failed to provide proof that he has ordered the transcript or that the parties have otherwise agreed in writing. Within ten days of this order, Appellant shall provide proof that he has ordered the transcript and made sufficient payment arrangements with the court reporter. Upon receipt, or the expiration of ten days, this court will consider Appellant's motion to reinstate.
