CLERK OF COURT
YORK COUNTY, SC

This matter comes before this Court for an Order setting restitution in the above-listed cases, be paid by the Defendant, Richard P. Krochmal, as a condition of his probationary sentence. The Court held a hearing in the matter on March 30, 2015, and subsequently requested memorandums of law be provided by both parties setting out any relevant law and/or statutory provisions in support of their respective positions on the proper restitution amount to be ordered in connection with the above-listed indictments.

Having considered the facts and circumstances of the case, and the law and analysis presented by both parties, the Court determines that restitution shall be set in the amount of Thirty Thousand One Hundred Dollars ($30,100.00). Such restitution shall be imposed as a condition of the Defendant's probation, which is currently serving, and shall be collected by the Department of Probation, Pardon, and Parole Services. Restitution payments shall be sent to:

Subject: in need of assistance ---State v. Krochmal, 2014-GS-46-563, 564,565, and 566

Mr. Dest and Mr. Petran;

I hope this email finds you both well.

On March 30, this Court conducted a hearing to determine Defendant's restitution related to four (4) charges of "Violations of the Uniform Securities Act Resulting in Loss of $1000.00 or Less". The plea to these charges was previously accepted before another judge. The State and Defendant "negotiated" a two and one half years sentence suspended upon the service of twenty-two days followed by sixty months of supervision for each charge. The sentences ran consecutively. However, determination of restitution was deferred.

When the defendant appeared before this Court, he had completed his active incarceration time.

Very little, if any, of the factual background that lead to Defendant being indicted was shared with this court. This court was able to conclude that the defendant had served as an investment advisor to the victim and had managed accountants belonging to the victim. At the hearing, only one witness was called. The victim was not present. Defendant presented an expert in forensic accounting who examined the transaction history between the Victim and Defendant. The State stipulated to the witness's credentials as an expert forensic accountant, and did not challenge his conclusions or methodology. The expert's opinion was that Defendant charged the Victim $159,800.00 in financial-service fees during the indictment period. His opinion was further that the Victim should have been only charged $129,700.00. Thus, he calculated the excess fees as $30,100.00. Also significant was the expert's opinion that the accounts managed accounts by the defendant profited by $157,417.30 during the indictment period.

The Defendant's position is that the proper amount of restitution is $30,100.00—the difference in fees actually charged and the amount that should have been charged (as determined by the expert). The State's position is that all fees charged ($159,800.00) should be returned as restitution.

Defense counsel asserts that since the accounts were profitable, returning all fees paid would be a windfall to the victim. This position does not seem unreasonable especially since this court knows nothing about the underlying facts, and that the accounts were profitable. The State asserts defendant should not be allowed to profit from his illegal activities. This position also seems unreasonable given that one of the indictments suggests Defendant was not properly licensed to provide investment services and this court belief that such a defendant should not be allowed to profit monetarily when providing unlicensed investment advice.

This Court examined S.C. Code Ann. § 33-1-508(a)(3) which establishes the criminal penalties for violating the Uniform Securities Act. This section provides that a person who is convicted of violating this section commits a misdemeanor and must be fined not more than $30,000.00 or imprisoned not more than three years, or both, if the person's actions resulted in loss to an investor of one thousand dollars or less, or if no losses are proven.

This Court also examined S.C. Code Ann. § 17-25-322 which governs the ordering of restitution including the manner and method of establishing restitution in criminal case. As set forth in subsection (A), the court shall order the defendant to compensate or make restitution for any pecuniary damages. To this court, pecuniary damages traditionally means the actual damages or loss suffered.

This Court's role, as previously mentioned, was exclusively to conduct the restitution hearing; in doing so, the Court may apply the factors outlined in 17-25-322(A) to determine the pecuniary damage or loss to the victim, and use the legislature's prescribed manner and method of determining restitution found in 17-25-322 (B)(1),(2),(3),(4),and (5). In the present case before this court, the factors listed in (B)(1),(2).(3),(4), and (5) do not seem relevant.

This Court is unsettled by the notion that it cannot take away monies that Defendant may have made by servicing the victim's accounts. However, this Court accepts that its role was not to determine incarceration, was not to impose a fine, or craft other aspects of the sentence. Again, this court's role was only to determine restitution.

In determining restitution, this court has attempted to determine the pecuniary damage or loss suffered by the victim as a result of the defendant's wrongful conduct. In the present case, the Violations of the Uniform Securities Act appear to arise from the fraudulent and deceitful manner he was charging fees. Nothing was shared with this court to suggest the transactions themselves were unlawful or illegal other than the manner in which the fees were charged. While this court agrees with the State that a defendant who violates the Uniform Securities should not be able to profit from those violations, when determining restitution, this court does not believe it is proper to speculate as to the amount of pecuniary loss to be ordered through an order of restitution.

Given the above background, this court needs assistance.

When this matter was presented to this court, the court was provided no guidance as to what law to apply to a post sentencing determination of restitution. This court has been reversed before when it sua sponte applied law to a matter that was not supported by either party. Therefore, this court requests the lawyers provide memorandums of law supporting their respective position. This court will appreciate receiving the memorandums within 30 days of this email. You may consider approaching the issue recognizing that the factual information presented to this court is not in dispute, as discussed above. This court desires to know which law or laws, it should be apply.

In advance thank you all for your attention and co-operation.

Mark Hayes

P.S. Mr. Dest you are included on this email because the public defender who represented Mr. Krochmal has moved on.

The Defendant was indicted by the York County Grand Jury on February 20, 2014 for the following four (4) offenses:

1. 2014GS4600563
   a. CDR 2615, Securities Fraud >$20k, S.C. Code § 35-1-508(a)(1)
      i. Date of offense "sometime in 2009, 2010, 2011"
      ii. employed a scheme to collect exorbitant fees from investments in Mutual Modeling Assoc. Inc. far in excess of the fee agreement
2. 2014GS4600564
   a. CDR 2615, Securities Fraud >$20k, S.C. Code § 35-1-508(a)(1)
      i. Date of offense "sometime in 2009, 2010, 2011"
      ii. transacting business in this State as an unregistered investment advisor
3. 2014GS4600565

a. CDR 3437, Forgery >$10k, S.C. Code § 16-13-0010(A)
   i. Date of offense "sometime in 2009"
   ii. forging the signature of Dr. [redacted] on an Investment Advisory Form(s) dated July 6, 2009

4. 2014GS4600566

a. CDR 3437, Forgery >$10k, S.C. Code § 16-13-0010(A)
   i. Date of offense "sometime in 2009"
   ii. forging the signature of Dr. [redacted] on an Investment Advisory Form(s) dated July 6, 2009

Pursuant to a negotiated plea agreement, on January 28, 2015, the Defendant pled guilty to lesser included offenses of each charge and was sentenced on each count to consecutive 2.25 years in SCDC suspended on the service of 22 days in the detention center and probation for 60 months. The plea agreement and the sentencing court agreed to hold a restitution hearing after the Defendant was released from his four (4) consecutive sentences of 22 days in the local county detention facility. He is currently on probation. Fines are available for these crimes; however, the State did not request fines during sentencing or in the plea negotiations.

$159,800 or $30,100

At the March 30, 2015 restitution hearing, the Defendant presented the testimony and reports from his retained expert, Marcus B. Hodge, CPA/ABV/CFF, MBA, CFE. To summarize, the Defendant's expert calculated the total dollar amount of money received by the Defendant from the victims during the offense period charged in the indictments, i.e. "sometime in 2009, 2010, 2011".

1. The Defendant's expert calculated that the total amount received by the Defendant from the victims during the indictment period was $159,800.
2. The Defendant argued that he is "entitled" to $129,700 as legitimate fees earned and that the restitution is therefore limited to the amount overcharged, i.e. $30,100 [$159,800 less $129,700].[1]
3. The State's position is that restitution is the entire amount ($159,800) received by the Defendant during the indictment period because the Defendant was engaged in criminal acts during that time period and cannot be entitled to any compensation for committing crimes.

Legal Issues

"When a defendant is convicted of a crime which has resulted in pecuniary damages or loss to a victim, the court must hold a hearing to determine the amount of restitution due the victim or victims of the defendant's criminal acts." S.C. Code § 17-25-322. The State submits that the legal authority for this Court is within the restitution statute. The Defendant has been convicted of a crime, and during the commission of his criminal acts he took money from the victims – they are entitled to restitution.

S.C. Code § 17-25-322 provides a general sessions court a mechanism to recover improper gains. In its request for memoranda, this Court referenced the subsections of S.C. Code § 17-25-322(B). The subsections of S.C. Code § 17-25-322

[1] The Defendant calculates his legitimate fees by citing a prior fee agreement (existing years prior to the indictment period) that he claims allows for approximately $60 per trade in addition to some periodic fees.

(B) are merely examples of permissive areas of analysis that "the court may take into consideration" and not meant as a limitation. S.C. Code Ann. § 17-25-322 (emphasis added).

In its request for memoranda, this Court stated "[n]othing was shared with this court to suggest the transactions themselves were unlawful or illegal other than the manner in which the fees were charged." The State has been consistent that the Defendant's "services" were illegal because he operated as an unregistered investment advisor (indictment 2014GS4600564).[2] All of the trades performed during the indictment period by the Defendant regarding the victim's investments were done so illegally because he was not a registered investment advisor. Not only was he unregistered, he also committed additional acts in his scheme to defraud the victims with bogus trades/fees (indictment 2014GS4600563). In addition, when questioned by the Securities Commissioner regarding the calculation of fees, the Defendant presented forged investment fee agreements (indictments 2014GS4600565 and 2014GS4600566).

The State submits that S.C. Code § 17-25-322 entitles the victims to restitution for the "fees" the Defendant charged while committing securities fraud. To hold otherwise could produce potentially absurd results. For example, an individual could pretend to be a medical doctor, say a plastic surgeon, and perform procedures on victims. Applying the Defendant's argument to its logical extreme would dictate that a hypothetical victim in this example would have to offset any [2] The Securities Act declares it unlawful for a person "to transact business in this State as an investment adviser unless the person is registered under [the Act] as an investment adviser or is exempt from registration as an investment adviser." S.C. CODE § 35-1-403(a).

restitution calculation with the cost for the "procedure" had it actually been performed by an actual licensed doctor.

The Defendant's fraud was layered. But it is undisputed that all of the trades during the indictment period were unlawful. Accordingly, all of the fees charged were a loss to the victims as a function of the Defendant's criminal acts. It should be noted that the Defendant argued that the victim's investment accounts increased in value and that he therefore performed a valuable [albeit illegal] service. The Defendant's assertion lacks any causality – there was no evidence presented that the capital gains in the victim's accounts were due to anything other than the positive performance of the mutual fund market as a whole. There was no evidence presented that the Defendant had any sort of Midas touch, to the contrary, the fact is the only service he rendered for the victims was fraud.

Amount of Loss v. Restitution Amount

There is some case law as well as secondary source material suggesting it is appropriate to offset the fair market value of services performed when calculating the amount of loss. However, "amount of loss" is a term of art for figuring out the applicable federal sentencing guideline offense level – it is not the same thing as restitution. See generally, commentary to Federal Sentencing Guidelines USSG, § 2B1.1, 18 U.S.C.A. See also, U.S. v. Hausmann, 345 F.3d 952, 960 (2003) (explaining amount of loss reduced by fair market value of services rendered by the defendant applies to "calculation of fraud victim loss amounts for sentencing guideline purposes"). Yet, even with the federal sentencing guidelines no offset would apply for this Defendant's services because he was "falsely posing as [a] licensed professional..." See commentary § (3)(F)(v). Similarly, there has been no evidence presented that the $129,700 the Defendant claims is based on any sort of fair-market-value calculation for the "services" rendered.

Conclusion

For these reasons, the State submits that S.C. Code § 17-25-322 entitles the victims to restitution for the $159,800 in "fees" the Defendant charged while committing securities fraud.

TO: THE HONORABLE J. MARK HAYES, II
PRESIDING JUDGE, SIXTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

The above-listed Defendant pled guilty on January 28, 2015, to the above-listed indictments. At the time of the plea, restitution was not determined. A restitution hearing was held on March 30, 2015, before this Court. In response to this Court's request for a memorandum of law regarding the Defense's position on the appropriate amount of restitution, the Defense respectfully submits this memorandum of law.

ARGUMENT

The Defense agrees that the victims in this case, Dr. [redacted] and Dr. [redacted] are entitled to some amount of restitution. The Defense submits that the appropriate of restitution in this case is $30,100, and requests that this Court order restitution. In support of its position, the Defense presents three distinct analyses below – that of case law, the provisions of the "restitution statute," and principles of contract law – all of which arrive at the same conclusion, that restitution should be limited to the amount of $30,100.

A. RELEVANT CASE LAW

While no specific case law exists that deals with the factual scenario of an unlicensed investment advisor, it is helpful to look cases involving other factual situations where licensure is required for a certain type of professional to do some manner of work. In South Carolina a license is required to do many things: practice medicine, practice law, be a barber, or build houses. The South Carolina Court of Appeals has previously decided a case involving facts that are ultimately very similar to those at issue here, making its analysis helpful to the present question of restitution before this Court.

In Lenz v. Walsh, 362 S.C. 603, 608 S.E.2d 471 (Ct. App. 2004) the Appellee, an unlicensed homebuilder, sued to enforce the final payment on a home he built for the Appellants. The Appellant homeowners counterclaimed for damages in the amount they had to spend to complete the home. The court ruled that although the Appellee could not sue to enforce the contract pursuant to state statute, the Appellants also could not recover the amount they spent to finish the home because it was not in excess of what they would have paid to the Appellee under the contract. In doing so, the court stated, "Allowing the Walshes to recover these sums would be indistinguishable from allowing them to recover money paid directly to the builder to purchase construction materials." Id. at 609, 474.

In Lenz, state law specifically prohibited the unlicensed homebuilder from enforcing the contract. Id. at 607, 473. State law also criminally prohibits this offense. This goes even further than the law that applies to the case at bar, which makes transacting business as an unlicensed investment advisor illegal, but makes no mention of enforcement of contracts. Even with such a prohibition, the court in Lenz held that the homeowners could not recover amounts paid to finish the home unless they were in excess of the contract amount. In short, the court determined that the Appellant homeowners had not suffered any damage or loss under the contract, even though the Appellee's actions constituted a criminal offense.

In making this determination, the Court of Appeals adopted the holding from a North Carolina Court of Appeals Case, Hawkins v. Holland, 97 N.C. App. 291, 388 S.E.2d 221 (Ct. App. 1990). In this case, the court held that homeowners could not recover payments that they had already made to an unlicensed builder under a residential building contract. The South Carolina Court of Appeals found the Hawkins court's reasoning to be persuasive, specifically the principle that "equity and the principles of restitution do not require that unlicensed contractors be completely uncompensated or that contracting homeowners receive the completed construction without cost." Lenz at 608, 473.

The Defense urges this Court to follow the same reasoning of the Lenz court in the case at bar. Even though Mr. Krochmal was not licensed at the time of the transactions and his actions thus constituted a criminal offense (for which he was prosecuted and to which he ultimately pled guilty), the only monetary loss suffered by the victims consists of the amount of money that they were charged in excess of the fee agreement. If the Lenz holding and reasoning is applied to this scenario, they would not be able to pursue damages for the correct payments made under the contract. Principles of equity and restitution do not require that an unlicensed investor be completely uncompensated or that the contracting clients receive the benefit of the investment contract without cost.

The Defense's position is therefore that the correct calculation for damages is the difference between what the victims should have been charged under the contract and what they were charged. The victims were charged $159,800; they should have been charged $129,700. The difference between the two amounts comes to $30,100, an amount that is proper and appropriate for restitution. Such a calculation would be consistent with the reasoning of the South Carolina Court of Appeals, as well as that of other jurisdictions, Id., in an analogous situation. The $159,800 would not be an appropriate restitution calculation because that amount does not in its entirety constitute a damage or loss.

B. S.C. CODE § 17-25-322 (THE RESTITUTION STATUTE)

South Carolina law contains a specific provision addressing the matter of restitution within criminal cases. S.C. Code § 17-25-322 (1996). This section provides for a hearing "[w]hen a defendant is convicted of a crime which has resulted in pecuniary damages or loss to a victim." Id. What can be extrapolated from this statutory provision are two requirements: (1.) the State must show a pecuniary damage or loss to the victim; (2.) the Defendant's actions were the proximate cause of that damage or loss.

S.C. Code § 17-25-322 is explicitly limited to "pecuniary damages or loss to a victim." Restitution is intended to reimburse a victim for his/her loss, repair damages suffered, or as it is often said, "make a victim whole again." In order to qualify as restitution, an amount must therefore qualify as "pecuniary damages or loss." What then, is meant by this term? Black's Law Dictionary defines "pecuniary loss" as "a loss of money or of something having monetary value." Black's Law Dictionary 957 (Bryan A. Garner ed. 7th ed., West 1999).

The State also argues that § 17-25-322 is a proper mechanism for determining restitution, but their argument disregards the plain language of the statute. Instead, the State argues for this Court to use "improper gains" as the measure of restitution, a term that appears nowhere within the text of the statute. This is not the definition of restitution in criminal cases as enacted by our legislature. Subsection (A) sets out this definition, while subsection (B) sets out guidelines by which a judge may determine the amount that constitutes the "pecuniary damages or loss" defined by the preceding subsection. None of the subsections that follow § 17-25-322(A) change or expand this explicit, plain, and limited definition. This Court should therefore analyze the appropriate restitution amount under the plain language of "pecuniary damages or loss."

The victims must therefore demonstrate a measurable pecuniary loss. Looking at the situation logically, the victims would need to show either that the Defendant, by making investments on their behalf without a proper license, had actually lost money on the investments, or that they could have made more money if he had been licensed or if they had hired a licensed individual. In any of these scenarios, the victims would able to show a measurable pecuniary loss or damage resulting directly from the Defendant's criminal actions. However, in this case, the victims made money on the investment transactions in question. They have failed to show that they would have made more money had they utilized a different investor. It would be an illogical analysis to say that a monetary gain equaled a pecuniary loss.

The State argues that the victims should be entitled to restitution in the form of all the fees; however, even if the victims had hired a licensed investor, they would have had to pay him similar fees. The only measurable loss in the case is $30,100, the amount of fees that the victims were improperly overcharged by the Defendant. Restitution under § 17-25-322 is not intended to be punitive, but to be restorative, to make one who has suffered a loss whole. Under S.C. Code of Laws §17-25-322 (1996), the Court should order restitution in the amount of $30,100.

C. CONTRACT LAW PRINCIPLES

This Court may also look for guidance in principles of contract law, specifically those that apply in the circumstances of a mistake or misrepresentation of fact in a contract. If a misrepresentation as to the quality of goods is discovered after delivery, the buyer has two possible remedies: (1.) to avoid the contract, return the goods, and receive the purchase price in return; or (2.) to retain the goods and receive an abatement in the price if they are worth less. See, e.g., Southern Iron & Equipment Co. v. Bamberg, Ehrhardt, & Walterboro Ry. Co., 151 S.C. 506, 149 S.E. 271 (1929), citing Gray v. Handkinson, 1 S.C. L. 278, 1 Bay 278, Adams v. Kibler, 7 S.C. 47 (1876), Kauffman Milling Co. v. Stuckey, 40 S.C. 110, 18 S.E. 218 (1893), Martin v. Seaboard A. L. Ry., 70 S.C. 8, 48 S.E. 616 (1904).

To ask for restitution in the amount request by the State and victims would be akin to a request to avoid the contract as a whole; however, such a request is impossible because the victims have already received the benefit from the contract – namely, profit off their investments during the time period in question. The victims have made no overtures of returning this financial gain, the benefit they received under the contract. Since the first of the contract law principles referenced above requires a buyer to return the goods (financial profit in this case) in order to avoid the contract in its entirety, the contract as a whole between the Defendant, Mr. Krochmal, and the victims, the [redacted] cannot be avoided.

The victims could receive restitution under the second theory, by which they would retain the goods/benefits and receive an abatement in price as their remedy. To receive remedy under this principle, however, the victims must demonstrate what abatement in price is appropriate, something that neither the victims nor the State on their behalf has shown. Namely, there has been no showing that Mr. Krochmal's services were worth less during the time period in question simply by dint of his unlicensed status. In addition to this showing, they would further be required to show by what amount his services were worth less by virtue of his being unlicensed, since this lesser value would form the content of the abatement. In the absence of either showing, the awarding of restitution in the form of an abatement would be inappropriate in this case.

This analysis under contract law theory would not invalidate the victims receiving any restitution; the victims would still be entitled to the $30,100 that they were overcharged by the Defendant for the services. An analysis under analogous contract law principles would merely limit their remedy to this amount versus that argued for by the State.

CONCLUSION

Whether the analysis is conduct using relevant case, pertinent statutory provisions, or established principles of contract law, one reaches the same conclusion. The appropriate restitution amount in this case is $30,100, an amount that represents the amount the victims in this case were overcharged on the contract with the Defendant. Any additional amounts constituting fees collected under the fee agreement, including the $159,800 advocated for by the State, are not proper for restitution because they do not constitute a loss on the part of the victims and thus do not fit under the legal definition of restitution in a criminal case. The Defense therefore respectfully requests that the Court order restitution in this matter in the amount of $30,100.

PROCEEDINGS

MR. PETRANO: Thank you, Your Honor. May it please the Court. This is state versus Richard Paul Krochmal. These are four true billed indictments from February 20th, 2014 here in York County. Your Honor, it was originally charged as two count of securities fraud. That's 2014-GS-46-00563 and 564. Those two securities fraud charges originated as securities fraud greater than $20,000, CDR code 2615. Your Honor, the second two charges are forgery charges. That's 2014-GS-46-00565 and 565. They were originally indicted as forgery CDR code 3437, and that would have been forgery greater than $10,000.

Your Honor, he's been -- he got a $10,000 surety bond on April 25th, 2014 with Judge Alford. And I notified the victims. They live in Portland, Oregon. I do have a -- when the time is appropriate a victim impact statement from them. They were notified. As an officer the court, they're not entirely pleased with the result that I've arranged for this, but nonetheless they understand it's my decision and they've been adequately informed per the South Carolina Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

THE COURT: I see. Go ahead.

MR. PETRANO: Thank you, Your Honor. Ultimately we got a negotiated plea package here, and I'm sure my counterpart from the public defender will correct me if I get any of this wrong. But ultimately he's going to plead to four lesser-included offense misdemeanors, each of the same flavor as indicted but the lesser-included offense misdemeanor version. And specifically the securities fraud, the 00563, he'll be pleading guilty to securities fraud less than $1,000. That will be CDR code 2617. Second securities fraud charge is 00564. That one will be the lesser-included offense misdemeanor version, CDR code 2167 once again. And then as to the two forgeries, Your Honor, that's 00565. He'll be pleading guilty to CDR code 0488. That's a forgery no dollar amount. And again, for the second forgery and the fourth charge -- that's 00566 -- he'll be pleading guilty to CDR code 0488, which is forgery no dollar amount.

Your Honor, we've crafted a sentence, a negotiated sentence where it will be consecutive. Each will be consecutive to each other two and one quarter years for each charge for an ultimate total of nine years in SCDC, suspended to 22 days for each misdemeanor for a total of 88 days of active time in the county detention center accompanied with 60 -- six, zero -- months probation.

Your Honor, we've also got to handle a restitution matter. Your Honor, we've agreed to delay that and defer that restitution. We're in same order of magnitude, but we disagree on the specific amount and will have to have a hearing on that with us presenting our own version. And Your Honor, as an officer of the court, I did agree to a delayed reporting until Friday for that 88 days of active time.

Your Honor, I don't know if you want me to pause now or go through the elements now.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor if I just may, there's some things in addition to those parts of negotiations. There is a PTUP provision negotiated for the probation and the state is -- as part of the negotiations, he's to be allowed to turn himself in at the earliest on Friday and the state is going to allow us to request the court to allow my client to turn himself in next week.

THE COURT: All right. So is the plea arrangement or I guess the negotiated sentence as announced by the attorneys, is that your understanding of the plea negotiations, sir?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir, I understand.

THE COURT: All right. And is your understanding as well?

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. VANSYCKEL: The primary focus being that he's to do 88 days here and then be placed on probation with the rest of the time hanging over his head.

THE COURT: All right. Very good. I'll go through the colloquy with the defendant and then I'll ask for the facts in just a minute.

MR. PETRANO: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Your name is -- is it Krochmal?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Krochmal, you're in front of me today on four different charges. You heard the solicitor -- I mean the attorney general go over with me the nature of the charges. Do you understand that?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Now, what you're pleading to are lesser-included offenses of original indictments. It does appear that the original indictments in these cases was considered by a grand jury; that is for forgery value at $10,000 or more, which is two of the indictments. That's cases 14-565 and 565. Cases 14-563 and 564 were indicted originally as violations of the security laws of $20,000 of more. You're pleading guilty to a lesser-included offense of a loss of $10,000 or less.

Let me ask the attorney general: It appears that these are property crimes, am I correct, securities violations?

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, we had discussed that earlier and I -- if I can anticipate where I think you're going is the property crime enhancement in the future.

THE COURT: Yes, uh-huh.

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, I'm not sure if that's on the specific list, but I certainly would interpret them as property crimes. But I know there's a specific list manifested under that enhancement provision.

THE COURT: There is, but they have specific dollar amounts, I usually consider that to probably to be a property crime.

But at any rate, sir, what I'm getting at is in the future if you were to plead guilty to or be found guilty of future property crimes, your pleas in these cases could possibly be used in the future to make those future sentences more severe. Do you understand that your pleas here might have consequences if you had later convictions?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So you understand that?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

THE COURT: Now, sir, do you suffer from any mental, physical, or nervous conditions, any conditions that would affect your ability to be able to reason or to make good decisions today?

THE DEFENDANT: No, sir.

THE COURT: Have you taken or used any drugs, medicines, or other substances that might have that effect on you?

THE DEFENDANT: No, sir, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So do you understand what you're doing?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Are you able to handle these matters today?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes. I have one request.

THE COURT: Well, I'll let you talk to your attorney about that in just a minute, and I'll give you a chance to speak freely later on.

THE DEFENDANT: Okay.

THE COURT: Now, sir, as far as your attorney is concerned, have you had an opportunity to discuss this matter with him fully?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Are you satisfied with his efforts thus far?

THE DEFENDANT: I most certainly am.

THE COURT: All right. Is there anything else you feel that you need to consult with your attorney before we proceed with the pleas?

THE DEFENDANT: No, sir.

THE COURT: Is there anything you feel that he has not yet done for you that he should do for you before we proceed with these pleas?

THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. I will tell you these are negotiated sentences that are being presented to me. I was not a party to those negotiations. For that reason, I'm not required to accept them. I will tell you that I will review the cases, go over the information. Later on if I decide that I'm not in a position to accept the negotiations, I will make you aware of that. And at that time I would give you an opportunity to withdraw your plea. Do you understand how I'm going to handle the plea?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Is that how you expected I would do this?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: All right. Now, as to these charges -- and one other thing I want to touch on before I talk about the charges. Restitution in this case apparently has been claimed; however, an agreement has not been reached at this time as to the amount of restitution. I have received the sentencing sheets indicating that that question will be deferred or put off to a future hearing if necessary. And do you agree that should occur?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Now, sir, as to these charges, you have the right to plead either guilty or not guilty. I will make you aware that although it's not as important as it might be in others that the forgery charge carries a possible sentence, maximum sentence of up to three years in each occurrence, and/or a fine in the discretion of the Court. Securities violation also carries not more than three years and/or a fine of not more than $30,000. Do you understand those are the possible sentences here?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Now, as to these charges, you have the right to plead either guilty or not guilty. How are you choosing to plead?

THE DEFENDANT: Guilty.

MR. PETRANO: On all four charges?

THE DEFENDANT: Correct.

THE COURT: Counselor, I'm sure you've consulted with your client thoroughly about these matters. Am I correct?

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Are you satisfied that he's understood the advice you've given him thus far?

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor, and I would just make the Court aware now or at the appropriate time Mr. Krochmal wants to make the Court aware of some medical conditions that he does have regarding his eyesight; however, he has been on the same medication during the entire course of our relationship and he has understood everything I've ever told him to my understanding, asked many detailed questions, has participated in discussions, we've reviewed much of the evidence together.

THE COURT: So it's your opinion he's been able to fully participate in his defense?

MR. VANSYCKEL: Absolutely, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Now, given your knowledge of his case, do you agree with the decision that he's made to offer a guilty plea in these cases?

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Sir, my information is you're 67 years of age. Is that accurate?

THE DEFENDANT: That's correct.

THE COURT: Level of education is?

THE DEFENDANT: Some graduate work. I have a degree from NYU and I did some graduate work.

THE COURT: I see. Are you currently married?

THE DEFENDANT: My wife died.

THE COURT: I see. I'm sorry to hear that. Children?

THE DEFENDANT: I have a stepdaughter who lives in California.

THE COURT: I see. And I assume she's an adult and is on her own?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

THE COURT: Are you currently employed in any way? I know you said you had some sort of disability?

THE DEFENDANT: No, I have some problems with my eyes right now.

THE COURT: I see. Now, sir, has anyone done anything to you, threaten you, put pressure on you, try to intimidate you, taken any actions at all to try to force you or try to make you offer the pleas that you offered (sic)?

THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Are you offering these pleas of your own free will?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Have you had sufficient time in which to consider these matters?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And has anyone offered you anything to get you to plea?

THE DEFENDANT: No --

THE COURT: Other than the negotiations?

THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And has anyone made any promises or guarantees to you about any matters including but not limited to things such as pardon, parole, probation, early release, or length of sentence other than the negotiations in this case?

THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Now, when you offer a guilty plea, Mr. Krochmal, you give up your constitutional rights as they relate to the charges that are before the Court. It's my responsibility to see that you understand those rights before I can accept your plea, and you are proceeding with your plea knowing of these rights and the fact you're going to give them up. So I'll go over those rights with you at this time. If you have a question concerning them, please let me know. I'll be glad to go back over them or give you additional explanation.

You have a constitutional right to have your case considered by a grand jury before it comes to this court for a plea. That's happened in each of these cases, but you're pleading to the lesser-included offense that was indicted. Do you understand that?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: You have a constitutional right to an attorney and your attorney is available if you should need him. You have a constitutional right to have these charges tried in front of a jury. At a jury trial under the law, you would be presumed innocent. That presumption would continue until such time as the state proved your guilt to the jury, and they would have to prove that guilt to the level of proof beyond a reasonable doubt. You would not have to prove anything at a trial on these charges, because of the presumption of innocence. Now, do you understand how a trial would function?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Now, at the trial you would have other constitutional rights that you could exercise. You have the right to have the clerk issue subpoenas to witnesses to require their attendance at trial. You would have the right to confront or question anyone who might testify during the trial. At the trial you can present the defense you might have to these charges. You'd also be given the opportunity to try to suppress the state's evidence against you. That includes statements you might have previously made. I will tell you at every stage of the proceedings, you have the right to remain silent. And if you chose to remain silent during your trial, the judge conducting that trial is required to instruct the jury that your silence cannot be used against you in any manner whatsoever. Did you understand the rights I've gone over?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Do you have any questions about them?

THE DEFENDANT: No, sir.

THE COURT: Do you understand that if I later accept your guilty pleas, you will have given up or waived those right as they relate to these four charges?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Now, does that fact in any way cause you to want to change or withdraw your plea?

THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Are you pleading guilty to these charges because you are guilty of those charges?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: At this time, I'm going to ask the solicitor to go over the evidence they have concerning the elements of the crime. I'll be asking you about this information when he finishes, so I'm asking you to please pay attention to what he says.

Yes, sir.

MR. PETRANO: Thank you, Your Honor. I'll start backwards with the forgery indictments, 565 and 566 because, frankly, it will be simplest. And Your Honor, that's basically a -- investment advisory agreement. May I approach, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. PETRANO: And my counterpart has a copy of this. This was the signatures -- and it's dated July 6, 2009, and it's got what are purported to be the signatures of the two victims in the case. Your Honor, a plain look at those, those appear to be copy-paste jobs and we had a SLED analyst look at those. And the PhotoShop is the word, but obviously in a generic way like Kleenex is a tissue. We don't know what he used specifically and we don't care, but the idea is those are forgeries. We also have statements from Dr. [redacted] and Dr. [redacted] that they absolutely did not sign those.

THE COURT: I see.

MR. PETRANO: The only active agreement is one dated in 2002. Those become relevant to the other two charges, the securities charges. And what I'll get at at that -- and I'll try to be brief as possible. But if I could just take a quick look at -- if you look at section 35 of our statute, that's the Uniform Security Act. And what it is is if you're going to sell securities in this state, you've got to follow certain procedures and technical aspects and be registered and whatnot if there's certain elements met. And there's a security commissioner in this state.

And what the 563 is that he engaged in a scheme to defraud, and basically they use the word "churning." But it's making too many trades so that he can get a fee on each of those and garner up some profit of his own beyond what he was accumulating for the fund itself. And I want to be perfectly clear, there's no debate the fund did accumulate some wealth. But it's our position that there was a scheme to defraud and to overdo charges and to overdo the trades so he could get the commissions. And we differ in our interpretation of what he could charge as commission for each of those trades. So nonetheless, that would have been the case at trial and that's the essence of 563. And also, I want to point out the scheme and artifice to defraud include the forgery as making up these bogus agreements which allow for a 5 percent fee versus the original in the actual true investment agreement issued in 2002, which was a much lower fee. So the forgeries are part of that scheme and artifice to defraud.

Second, the 564 is a securities fraud charge. What I was getting at in my long-winded explanation for section 35 is that when selling securities and doing business in this state as an investment adviser, you need to be registered with the securities commissioner. And 564 is a charge for operating as an investment adviser or whatnot and not being properly registered.

Your Honor, I think that's it in a nutshell, Your Honor. I also -- well, yeah. That should do it for the elements, Judge.

THE COURT: Okay. Now, Mr. Krochmal, you were present in the courtroom. You heard the attorney general go over the facts they're alleging; is that correct?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I heard the attorney general go over the facts.

THE COURT: Did you understand what he said?

THE DEFENDANT: I understand them.

THE COURT: Is that information true?

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, if you'd give me one moment. Your Honor, Mr. Krochmal wishes me to inform the Court he believes the state has enough evidence to provide that he wishes to plead guilty.

THE COURT: So he agrees that the state does have sufficient evidence on the element of the crime so that court will be in position to accept.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Is that true, Mr. Krochmal?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Now, have you told me the truth today, sir?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Did anyone tell you how to answer my questions?

THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: The answers you've given me, are they your own?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Is there any part of what you and I have discussed today that you'd like to reconsider what you've told me?

THE DEFENDANT: No.

THE COURT: All right. I'm going to accept the plea as having been freely and voluntarily given. The defendant is aware of the charges, aware of the possibility penalties, had the advice of counsel, he's satisfied with that advice. He has admitted there is sufficient evidence in the possession of the state to establish the elements of the crimes, and therefore I will accept the plea on that basis.

At this time, I'll be happy to hear from your attorney, Mr. Krochmal, and I'll give you the chance to speak if you'd like.

Yes, sir.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, before I get into mitigation, I would like to make the court aware that Mr. Krochmal and I have been working on this case for quite some time. There are lot of defense theories that we put forth. I'll make the Court aware that we did hire an expert, and at that point, there is the restitution issue. That information has been shared with Mr. Petrano. And our final report has not been created yet but will be shared with Mr. Petrano before the hearing.

Your Honor, this was a triable case. However, at the end of the day, although there were triable issues, we believe this is an appropriate resolution for Mr. Krochmal. We did investigate whether or not we should hire a document/handwriting analyst, but even if we had, the fact is that these were ultimately passed by Mr. Krochmal. We also did investigate whether or not the amounts in question met the elements; however, based on what the state is allowing Mr. Krochmal to plead to in terms of the charge level, we believe there is enough for the jury to find under a thousand dollars.

And so taking this to trial, we're not sure that there was enough evidence to do any better than this, and I've gone over that significantly with Mr. Krochmal and explained it in depth to him. We went over all the possible defenses, and at the end of the day, he understands that he is taking this in spite of the defenses he and I discussed on multiple occasions.

Your Honor, we would ask you to accept this plea. He does receive a social security income, he tells me. In addition he is very concerned that the [redacted] get their money back. He said that to me multiple times. He said that getting them their restitution is important and appropriate. He does hope to get through his current medical troubles fairly quickly. He tells he's had surgery in one eye and he believes he's going to have surgery on the other eye very soon. And that, Your Honor, is why we're asking that he be given some extra time before he has to report beyond this Friday. He's asking to not be required report until next Friday.

Mr. Krochmal had informed he had an eye appointment this morning that he missed. He rescheduled it for next week. He's had -- brought me numerous times medical-relating records relating to his eyes, and so we would ask the Court to give him time to get his affairs in order before having to report for the 88 days that he will have to serve in York County.

Your Honor, he's always shown up for court. He was here for his arraignment. He was here on Monday. Came back -- he came back this morning as he said he would. He's been here every time the court required him to be here. And when he doesn't make appointments, he at least calls and doesn't just blow me off, and he has made many appointments with me and been there for many of them.

THE COURT: All right. Let me ask you a question, Counselor. I believe it was indicated that maybe you work with the public defender's office.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So you would be, in effect, an appointed attorney in this case?

MR. VANSYCKEL: I am, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I don't -- I was looking at the sentencing sheets. It does provide that he be on probation. Law requires that he be responsible for the public defender fees if he's on that. So do you agree that needs to be added to the sheet?

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor. We have discussed the fact that he's going to be required to pay the $500 public defender fee. I apologize that was not part of the negotiations because we didn't think it need to be.

THE COURT: Oh, I know it. I -- it's just that since it's a negotiated sentence, before I added it, I wanted to be sure he had an understanding of that. Is that true? You understand that, Mr. Krochmal?

THE DEFENDANT: That's correct, sir.

THE COURT: I told you I'd give you a chance to speak freely. This is your chance to say anything you'd like to say.

THE DEFENDANT: Well, yeah. In response to the [redacted] they came to me in 2002 where they had gotten terribly -- or their account had declined substantially because of trouble in the markets at that point in time. From 2002 to 2010 I took their $300,000 and I made them close to a million. I did extremely well for them and I worked very, very hard. Very, very hard and diligently to increase the value of their accounts. I had some employees that did some things that were against the law, that broke the law and it's unfortunate that I have to accept responsibility for them. And in this case, I am accepting responsibility for things that other people did. I accept it. I'm guilty. I didn't supervise them. I didn't do what I was supposed to do. I accept the guilt.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you, sir.

Any prior record for this individual?

MR. PETRANO: No, Your Honor. No, Your Honor. The only thing that come up on the NCIC is this.

THE COURT: All right. Any other information the state needs to make me aware of?

MR. PETRANO: Yes, Your Honor. I have several small items. I've got a couple housekeeping matters, but first, may I approach? I've shared this with my counterpart. This is the victim impact statement. Dr. [redacted] and Dr. [redacted] are both psychologists -- mental health professionals up in Portland. They have their own [redacted] practice. And, Your Honor, one of the reasons the state was willing to make some very serious concessions in this case is because it would be devastating to their practice for them to have come down for a week and sit at a trial. Even if the state's part was only for a few days, they'd have to be available for potential rebuttal. And they have -- of course with that being their professional practice, they also indicated to me that they had some very delicate, quote, unquote, patients that it would be devastating for as well. So that's why we were willing to make some very significant concessions. But as you can read in their language here, this has significant impact on them.

Your Honor, I do have some problems with the language Mr. Krochmal just articulated to this court. It appears to me that he's trying to placate his responsibility in this and say he didn't do anything wrong but he's responsible indirectly. I disagree with that, and that's not what this indictment is for and that's not what the plea is about. Nonetheless, I understand you've already accepted his plea. I do disagree also with his math that he took 300 grand and turn it into a million. I disagree with that. As I said before, there was some accumulation of the wealth, but it was not 300 to a million.

Your Honor, I've got two minor pieces of housekeeping if I may, Your Honor. One is regarding a very small part of just jurisdiction for this court, and let me just get this out. There's some language in the forgery no dollar statute and it says -- and it could be read that only the magistrate would have jurisdiction for forgery no dollar amount. I want to explain how that's okay that we're here before Your Honor in general sessions court.

THE COURT: Yes, sir.

MR. PETRANO: One, that language was inserted as part of the 2010 omnibus crime bill. As you can see from that forgery document, our position is this was in '09. So that would have been before that language was inserted, so we're okay in general sessions court. The second argument is that this was an indictment for a clearer general sessions charge, which is the forgery in -- greater than $10,000. The CDR code 3437 and this being a lesser-included, the Court would have jurisdiction. I simply want to put that on the record in case it comes up in the future in some type of collateral attack on this matter.

And then just finally -- this is my own ignorance here. The delayed reporting, in what capacity is he out? I just want to make sure I have that correct for the record. Is he still on the bond or is does automatically go to probation until he reports? I just need to know that for my record, and just humbly request if I could be enlightened on that because I'm ignorant on how that works.

THE COURT: He'll be on probation immediately. They're going to sign him up right now.

MR. PETRANO: Thank you, and I think that's all I have unless I neglected something.

THE COURT: No, that's quite all right.

MS. SHELTON: One moment.

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, that was my concern and that's why I figure he would basically stay on the bond, but we needed some type of --

THE COURT: Well, once he's pled guilty and I've accepted the plea, I think the bond is released. I don't think there's going to be a bond. I think what you're looking at is if he fails to appear, he'll be subject to bench warrant by this court for failure to abide by the terms of his sentence.

MS. SHELTON: Your Honor, I think if you order that he start probation immediately, I think probation will sign him up. But they typically do not start until after the sentence is complete. But if it's pursuant to court order, they will go ahead and sign him up. That's my understanding.

PROBATION OFFICER: Sounds good.

THE COURT: I'll do that, then.

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, I apologize for the awkwardness. I just didn't want him out for a week not under anyone's authority.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, one my of senior assistant attorneys in the office has informed me that oftentimes probation treats it as a probation violation if they fail to report.

THE COURT: I have accepted the terms of the negotiation and issued the sentences requested. I have provided that the defendant may report on February the 6th, 2015. I have also provided upon his entering his active sentence, probation will be tolled until release I have deferred the restitution as requested. Good luck to you, sir.

(Whereupon, the proceedings were concluded.)

PROCEEDINGS

(State's Exhibit Number 1 was marked.)

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, this is a restitution matter continuation for the state versus Richard Paul Krochmal. Mr. Krochmal had pled guilty on January 28th, 2015 in front of Judge Couch, and part of that was to defer the restitution hearing. That's what we're here to do today. But there is a bit of a housekeeping matter, and on that, I will turn it over to the public defender's office, and I'll pick it up from there if that's okay, Your Honor.

MR. VANSYCKEL: May it please the Court. Your Honor, my name is Judah VanSyckel. I'm representing Mr. Krochmal. I want to put on the record that as of April 17th, I will no longer be with the 16th judicial circuit public defender's office. I'll be working with the attorney general office's, which would make this case a potential conflict for Mr. Krochmal. I've discussed this matter with Mr. Krochmal, and he has signed a waiver of conflict. I would pass this up at this time if I may.

THE COURT: Yes, sir. You can give it to the court reporter and she can mark it as a court's exhibit.

(Court's Exhibit Number 1 was marked.)

THE COURT: And you are Mr. Krochmal?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir, that's correct.

THE COURT: Sir, let me swear you in.

RICHARD P. KROCHMAL, after having first being duly sworn, testified under oath as follows:

THE COURT: Your lawyer is correct that he has explained -- that he has explained his future employment with you?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: And you are -- you're still in agreement to allow him to represent you in this hearing?

THE DEFENDANT: That's correct.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, sir.

Yes, sir. You may proceed.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Thank you, Your Honor. Just very briefly, as far as the history goes and the underlying charges here, Mr. Krochmal pled guilty to four separate true billed indictments. I'll just run through them very briefly. There are a pair of securities fraud charges and a pair of forgery charges. The securities fraud is 2014-GS-46-00-563, CDR code 2617. Ultimately the negotiated plea package was pleading guilty to the misdemeanor, the lowest lesser-included offense. And that particular securities fraud is for the overlapping scheme and artifice to defraud the investors here. The second securities fraud, that's 2014-GS-46-0564. Your Honor, it covers the same time period, but that particular charge is the operation as an unregistered investment advisor, while he had engaged in the scheme and artifice to defraud.

Your Honor, that leaves us with the two forgeries. That is 2014-GS-46-00565 and 566. Both of those relate to a financial document dated July 6th, 2009, where the two victims' names were portrayed on there under the signature portion, Dr. [redacted] and a Dr. [redacted] out of Oregon. Your Honor, it was the state's position that those were -- speaking generically here -- Photoshopped on, and Your Honor the defendant did plead guilty to those two as well.

Ultimately the activity in question here is from 2009 to 2011, and I think we can get more into detail on that as the restitution hearing goes on. And ultimately the sentence was a consecutive 2.25 years -- that's two and a quarter years -- suspended to a consecutive 22 days in jail for each charge. And then I believe he has now served his 88 days or the equivalent of 88 days in the local facility, and following that is 60 months of probation and there is a PTUP on that probation term.

Your Honor, the state has no witnesses and will be relying on some of the figures provided by the defense via their expert material, and I'll turn it over to them at that point.

THE COURT: Yes, sir, Mr. VanSyckel.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, at this time, the defense call Mr. Marcus Hodge to the stand. Mr. Hodge, please step to that chair.

MARCUS HODGE, after having first being duly sworn, testified under oath as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. VANSYCKEL

Q. Mr. Hodge, could you state your name for the record?

A. Marcus Barrett Hodge.

Q. Can you tell us what you do?

A. Yes, I'm a forensic accountant, fraud examiner, and business valuation analyst.

Q. Can you tell us the name of your company?

A. Yes, it's ASC Forensic.

Q. Okay. And can you tell us about your education?

A. Yes. I have a master of business administration with an accounting emphasis from Coastal Carolina University.

Q. Anything further?

A. Certifications. I have a -- I'm a certified public accountant license in Missouri and South Carolina. I have a -- I'm accredited in business valuation by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. I'm certified in financial forensics by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and I'm a certified fraud examiner by the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners.

Q. Have you ever been qualified as an forensic accountant for state and federal court?
A. Both state and federal court, yes.
Q. Okay. And have you ever not been qualified as a forensic accountant for court?
A. No.
Q. Okay.
MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, at this time would I move to qualify Mr. Hodge as an expert based on his education, experience, and training under Rule 702.
THE COURT: As a?
MR. VANSYCKEL: As a forensic accountant and fraud examiner.
THE COURT: Yes, sir.
MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, I have no objection and I join in the qualifications and agree.
THE COURT: All right, then you may proceed. We'll find him an expert in those two areas.
MR. VANSYCKEL: Thank you, Your Honor.
BY MR. VANSYCKEL
Q. Mr. Hodge, now that you've been qualified, can you tell me about any reports you prepared in this matter?
A. Yes, I have prepared a report.
Q. Can you explain what data you used to create this report?

A. Yes. The sources, information included several TradePMR accounts for Drs. [redacted] that -- male and female -- several TD Ameritrade accounts, the investigator's report, and the clocked indictments for this matter.

Q. Okay. And that information was -- that account information, was that provided to you by my office.

A. Yes, it was.

Q. Is this a copy of that report?

MR. VANSYCKEL: May I approach, Your Honor?

BY MR. VANSYCKEL

Q Is that a copy of your report?

A. Yes.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, at this time I'd like to enter this report into evidence.

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, I received a copy of that last week. I've gone over it. I have no objection. Just noting for the record by not having an objection to the introduction of the report, the state does not agree with the ultimate conclusions. But I would point out that it's our position that the underlying math is flawless.

THE COURT: All right. Then it will be admitted as Defense 1.

(Defendant's Exhibit Number 1 was marked and admitted.)

BY MR. VANSYCKEL

Q. Mr. Hodge, just for housekeeping purposes, you have both your tablet which has your work product on it and a copy of your report, as well as some notes up there; is that correct?

A. Yes, sir.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Does the state wish to inspect the notes?

THE WITNESS: No.

BY MR. VANSYCKEL

Q. Can you tell me the value of the accounts at the beginning of the indictment period and the end of the indictment period, Mr. Hodge?

A. Yes. At the beginning of the indictment period, the date being 1/1/2009, the value of the accounts was $546,071.38.

Q. And Mr. Hodge, very briefly, you prepared this report based on the 2002 agreement signed by Mr. Krochmal and the [redacted] is that correct?

A. That's correct, yes.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, at this time, I would just enter a copy of the 2002 agreement into evidence. This was provided to me by the state and they've obviously had a copy of it.

MR. PETRANO: And it's a four-page agreement and no objections, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Defense 2 and that is the agreement between the defendant and the [redacted]

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor, the victims.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. PETRANO: And Your Honor, I do have a copy for to be entered into evidence and a copy for your own records if you would like.

(Defendant's Exhibit Number 2 was marked and admitted.)

BY MR. VANSYCKEL

Q. Under the 2002 agreement, can you tell me, based on your calculations the amount of the base management fee that was supposed to charged?

A. Yes. $17,006.31.

Q. Okay. And that was just based on the value of the accounts as a percentage of the value of the accounts, just because they were worth this much, then I'm going -- there was a charge of a percentage of that, correct?

A. There's 8.66 quarters that passed through the indictment period. At the end of each quarter, I took the percentage that was called upon under the 2002 agreement, multiplied it by the amount, the balance of the account at the end of the each quarter.

Q. Okay. And can you tell me the number of transactions made by Mr. Krochmal?

A. 1,733.
Q. And Mr. Hodge, in doing your calculations, can you explain why some of the transactions listed in the account records didn't count for the purpose of fee calculations?
A. There were several -- what are called reinvested dividends, and those show up as purchases or -- for the most part purchases. Once they're received, they go back into the mutual fund and they're purchased again. Those do not trigger transaction fees. So I made sure to pull those out from the calculations.
Q. Okay. Mr. Hodge, the fee agreement contained three major provisions for payment: The base fee which is percentage of the assets, a $29.95 per trading fee, and a $31.95 per trade advisement fee, correct.
A. That's correct.
MR. VANSYCKEL: May I approach the witness, Your Honor?
BY MR. VANSYCKEL
Q. Mr. Hodge, would the base fee be provided for in item 6C?
A. Yes.
Q. On page 2?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And then the $21.95 fee, would that be provided for in 6C down under individual -- would the transaction fee of $29.95 per transaction be under 6C as well on page 2?

A. That's correct, yes.

Q. Okay. And then the $31.95 for each buy-sell transaction, would that be provided for under compensation $31.95 for each buy-sell transaction under individual support services?

A. That's correct.

Q. And that's on page 2 as well?

A. Yes.

Q. Mr. Hodge, what is the value of the base management fee?

A. Base management fee was $17,006.31.

THE COURT: Say that again.

THE WITNESS: $17,006.31.

THE COURT: Thank you.

THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.

BY MR. VANSYCKEL

Q. Mr. Hodge, what was the value of the base management fee and the $29.95 trading fee?

A. $68,909.66.

Q. Okay. And what was the value of the base fee, the trading fee, and the advisement fee?

A. $124,279.01.

Q. Mr. Hodge, did the agreement also contain another provision for payment of fee for quarterly reports?
A. Yes.
Q. What was value of that fee?
A. The value of that individual fee was -- I calculated $5,412.50.
Q. Mr. Hodge --
MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, may I approach the witness again?
BY MR. VANSYCKEL
Q. Again, the fee for the 125 cost basis reports, was that on page 2 under individual support services?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. The total value of all those fees during the indictment period was how much?
A. $129,700.
Q. And that's rounded up, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And Mr. Krochmal overcharged the [redacted] by how much under the 2002 agreement during the 2009 to 2011 indictment, during that period?
A. I calculated $30,100, and that's based on $159,800 less the $129,700.
Q. And you did not did any calculations regarding churning or whether or not the appropriateness of the transaction listed thereon?

A. No.
Q. But in your calculations, there was a rise in the value of the accounts absent the [redacted] contributions?
A. That's correct.
Q. Okay. Very briefly, looking at page 5 of the report, item 6, can you tell us what the increase of the value of the [redacted] accounts from 1/1/2009 to 2/28/2011 net of all fees charged by Mr. Krochmal and removing the contributions withdrawals by the [redacted]
MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, I object to that particular line item. It's irrelevant.
THE COURT: Okay. I'll let him proceed, and if it is --
MR. PETRANO: Thank you, Your Honor.
THE COURT: -- I'll disregard it.
A. Yes. It's $157,417.30.
BY MR. VANSYCKEL
Q. Okay. And why did you cut off the number on 2/28/2011?
A. 2/28/2011 represents the final month in which Mr. Krochmal's -- Mr. Krochmal would have had the ability to control any transactions with the [redacted]' accounts. On 2/23/2011, the [redacted] sent a letter that was stamped the same date to disallow Mr. Krochmal from having access to their accounts. So he wouldn't -- as of 2/28, he wouldn't have the ability to effect transactions in those accounts that are owned by the [redacted].

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, at this time I no further questions for Mr. Hodge.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. PETRANO

Q. Mr. Hodge, how did you calculate the 159 that I believe -- well, what did you call the 159? How did you phrase that?

A. That's the actual amount of fees that Mr. Krochmal charged during the indictment period.

Q. All right. And how did you calculate those?

A. That was calculated by the -- any indication of transaction fee going to Mutual Modeling & Associates. What -- I gathered from the TradePMR and TD Ameritrade accounts I reviewed. I took the sum of all those fees.

Q. So in the report, you've got a copy of -- for example, all the Trade PMR statements, and in those statements, there's line items for various and sundry fees, and those are the fees afforded to -- and that you assigned to Mr. Krochmal, correct?

A. As actual fees that he charged, yes, sir.

Q. Okay. And in those line item charges on those TradePMR statements, there's a reference description, for lack of a better phrase?

A. That's correct, yes.
Q. For example, just pick one. What would that description look like?
A. For instance, the TD Ameritrade accounts would have a monthly management fee or quarterly management fee. The TradePMR accounts would have a date description followed by a balance of the account.
Q. All right. And you have those in your -- you have what appears to be a Microsoft Surface -- I'm not sure what level, but obviously some type of tablet on your lap?
A. That's correct, yes.
Q. And it has the underlying support material that you developed for this report, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And I would imagine then you're able to re-sort things and whatnot?
A. I can, yes.
Q. All right. And can you sort -- basically what I would like to do, sir, if I may ask you, can you tell me approximately -- tell the Court approximately -- what were the fees for January 2011 for the TradePMR?
A. January 2011, $16,661.50.
MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, may I approach the witness?

BY MR. PETRANO

Q. Sir, I took your report and I re-sorted it, and I believe that total matches what you just described. Sir, if I could just ask you to take a few minutes and look at this re-sort, and I used an Excel function called a pivot table to do that based on your data. Sir, do you agree generally with what I provided you?

A. Yes, I do.

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, may I approach? I have a copy for you.

BY MR. PETRANO

Q. So this is exactly what Mr. Krochmal charged the [redacted] for January 2011 based directly off of the TradePMR statements. I've got that right?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And it's separated by account number because they had several different account numbers for TradePMR that he managed; is that correct?

A. That's correct, yes.

Q. So I believe at the top we start with account number 1527, and for the purposes here, would you agree sir that one account is the same as the other account? It doesn't really matter? I mean, there's nothing special about 4566 or 1527?

A. I would distinguish them in balances.

Q. Okay, but --
A. More or less.
Q. To your knowledge, sir, did they have different requirements? Was one supposed to be a conservative type of investment approach where one was supposed to be more of cash flow? I'm making things up because I don't know what I'm talking about, but do you follow what I'm saying?
A. I do. I didn't track the fees based on any kind of investment approach.
Q. Okay. So if we start at 1527, sir, in the column labeled "descriptions" and I just want to point out again, those descriptions, that's straight from the TradePMR statement and that's data that would have been put in by Mr. Krochmal, correct?
A. I would assume Mr. Krochmal or an agent thereof.
Q. Okay. So I'm running through with these -- and stop me if I'm wrong here. I see January 5th through January 10th and then there's a balance of $438,000 and some change, and the fee there is $569. Is that pretty much what it says?
A. January 5th, yes, that's correct.
Q. All right. And then the next one says January 10th through January 13th. There's a balance and a fee of $701; is that correct, sir?
A. That's correct.

Q. All right. And you would agree, sir, that January 10th appears in both of those; is that correct?
A. That's correct, yes.
Q. And on to the third item. I've got January 12th through January 17th. There's a balance and then there's a fee of $606; is that correct, sir?
A. That's correct.
Q. And then finally Number 4, sir, I've January 14th through January 19th. There a balance and a charge of $495. Do you understand with that, sir?
A. That's correct, yes.
Q. And obviously, sir, and stop me if I'm wrong here, but when looking at lines three and lines four, there's clearly an overlap of the 14th, the 15th, the 16th, and the 17th. He's charging for those days multiple times; is that correct, sir?
A. It does look he is -- there is an overlap, yes.
Q. Okay. And then earlier, sir, you had indicated approximately $129,000 that is what -- and these are my words, not yours -- what Mr. Krochmal could have charged based on the line items in the 2002 agreement?
A. I believe my exact words were what he should have charged.
Q. Okay.
A. Under the 2002 agreement, yes.

Q. And is that should have charged, is that something you see in what he did charge? I mean, does it look like he was charging by transaction and by quarterly, or does it look all over the place, like he was just jumping in and grabbing money when he felt like it?

A. That's a great question. It looks like there -- and it's possible there's multiple types of fees within there. They're not distinguished between the fees that were agreed upon under the 2002 agreement.

Q. And so just to be clear, you actually worked backward to get the 129. It's not as though you got the based off of any kind of statement or breakdown that Mr. Krochmal provided to the [redacted]

A. That's correct, yes.

Q. All right. And you had spoken, sir, of the various Ameritrade charges. And I believe you called them monthly charges and quarterly charges, sir?

A. Yes.

Q. Could you elaborate on that a little bit?

A. That appears to be related to what we described as the base management fee for most of the these. It could be a -- could also be for the quarterly reports too. Some of them correspond with the $125 quarterly reports.

Q. And what -- and if you could help me, point me to -- I believe that's page 440 of your big report?

A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. All right and you've got separated here, and the first group of rows that you have is associated with a account number 1183. Am I reading that correctly?
A. That's correct.
Q. There's approximately a dozen rows, give or take. Would you agree with that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. And these descriptions, the words that you've got in the column labeled "description" for each row, where did those words come from, sir?
A. I believe those would have come from the statements.
Q. Okay.
A. If I'm not mistaken, yeah.
Q. And I'd like to start from the bottom of that account number 1183 grouping that you've got. And I -- the final item on the bottom of the grouping, sir, begins with April 23, 2009. Do you see where I'm at?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. And that's listed as a monthly management fee, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And that's listed as $415 and some change, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And we move up one line item, sir. That's again a monthly management fee, correct?

A. That's correct.
Q. And then we move up one more line item, sir. That's again a monthly management fee, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And those are all dated in April; is that right?
A. That's correct, yes.
Q. So that would be three monthly management fees in April?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And finally, sir, your ultimate conclusion in your report which you stated here -- and stop me if I'm wrong, sir. I don't want to put words in your mouth. All of that presupposes that 2002 agreement is legitimate, correct?
A. That does, yes, sir.
MR. PETRANO: No further questions, Judge.
THE COURT: Any redirect limited to what he went into?

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. VANSYCKEL
Q. Just to be clear, Mr. Hodge, the account information you had included how many trades were made per month?
A. Yes, it does.
Q. And your calculation is based on how many trades were made each month and then how much the value should have been per trade?

A. That's correct, yes.

Q. Okay. And that was based on the statements of TradePMR and Ameritrade, correct?

A. That's correct, yes.

Q. And the amount you're calculating is what should have been calculated -- what would have been calculated regardless of what was actually taken out of the accounts?

A. That's correct. The 129 figure, that's what -- what my calculation what Mr. Krochmal should have charged under the 2002 agreement.

Q. And that's not tied to the actual withdrawals from the accounts?

A. No, that's representative of those.

Q. Okay. Can two transactions be registered on the same day?

A. Yes.

Q. So multiple -- could multiple or more than two transactions be registered on the same day?

A. Yes.

Q. And if there is a fee on each transaction, then you could have a fee, a separate fee over intervening -- the same date periods?

A. Could you rephrase that? If you have a --

MR. VANSYCKEL: I'll withdraw the question. Nothing further, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Related what he just went into?

MR. PETRANO: No, Your Honor, just as a matter of housekeeping. I did not move my little piece of paper in. Your Honor, it's simply a re-sorting of what he's already provided so don't know if that's necessary. But if you want me to, I will, and just leave it at that?

THE COURT: Any objection to it become a piece of evidence? I've already viewed it.

MR. PETRANO: Without objection.

THE COURT: Let me ask a question you've got that on your tablet. The document itself is quite lengthy. Is it possible to have that document reduced to one of those plug-ins that if I take a look at it, I can look at it on the computer as opposed to have that large document?

MR. PETRANO: I was emailed a copy.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor, I could email it to the Court however the Court would like and cc the attorney general's office. Or if the Court would like me to burn it to a CD, I don't know if our office has a USB stick at this time.

THE COURT: If you could burn it to CD that would be great. If that thing come into my inbox, I'll never receive it under e-mail. So if you could do it on a CD, that would be great. Thank you.

Any reason why the witness cannot be excused?

MR. VANSYCKEL: No objection.

MR. PETRANO: No objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you. You may be excused. Thank you for coming.

MR. VANSYCKEL: At this time, Your Honor, I guess we're merely arguing status. I understand my client will have some restitution to pay. We agreed to that going into this hearing. Based on Mr. Hodge's calculations, we believe the amount owed is no more than $30,100.

THE COURT: Say that again.

MR. VANSYCKEL: No more than $30,100. Your Honor, the state made mention that this was a 2002 agreement but they question the validity of it. Your Honor, it wasn't until that the [redacted] contacted the attorney general's office, was my understanding, not until 2009. So from 2002 until sometime in 2009, Mr. Krochmal was managing their money. They were receiving reports. They had access to their accounts. They were reviewing them and not a word was said. In addition, the accounts rose in value during the indictment period. Mr. Hodge did testify as to how much the accounts rose in value independent of their further contributions.

While the state may argue that he should have never had any fees paid to him whatsoever, Mr. Hodge's testimony is that Mr. Krochmal did raise the level of the value of the accounts substantially. And my client, though he didn't have his proper registration and though he charged more than he should have under the agreement, did do work for the [redacted] did increase the value, and took fees. And so we would argue that my client is due to make them whole only in the amount of over the agreement. Your Honor to say otherwise would be to provide the [redacted] with a windfall.

This is a situation where Mr. Krochmal did work. He relied on the 2002 agreement. The [redacted] have not denied the fact they signed the 2002 agreement. There's never been an allegation that the 2002 agreement was invalid. And so to provide -- to make Mr. Krochmal pay more than the $30,100 would be to provide the [redacted] with a windfall. It would be unjust enrichment on their part. My client should be paid for his work, but they should be returned the money over which they were charged, the money that they were overcharged. So Your Honor, we would ask that the court order no more than $30,100 in restitution. Thank you.

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, basically our argument is the opposite. Your Honor, $159,809 that the defense expert calculated, that's money he -- that the defendant actually took during the period of the indictment, not back when he was in New Jersey 2002. That's for the actual indictment period. These were their numbers, not mine. I do agree with the math. It's $159,809. That's exactly what the [redacted] are entitled to. Your Honor, we do agree that the 2002 agreement is void, is invalid, does not exist, cannot exist. Your Honor, he pled guilty to and he was indicted for operating as a unregistered investment advisor. In the indictment you'll see for yourself, it's SC code 35-1-403 subsection A. To transact business in this state as an investment advisor, must be registered. Your Honor, everything he did at that point was illegal, all of it. He doesn't get to earn money doing an illegal act.

Your Honor, I don't want to use the incorrect word here and sound disrespectful to the Court, but anything else I would respectfully submit would be an absurd reading of the restitution statute. Your Honor, I'm going make an example. It's a farfetched example, but I'm sure in the criminal jurisprudence of this state, folks have been hired to do -- to commit murder and you can't say well, the defendant still owes his 3,500 bucks because he did kill the victims's wife. That would be absurd, Your Honor. These were illegal acts, all of them. It's $159,000.

And let me just back it up. As far as what is -- the phrasing was what Mr. Krochmal could have earn or should have charged based on the agreement, your Honor, he wasn't doing that. He wasn't even operating off the agreement. Even if one was to presuppose that the agreement was somehow valid and was somehow legitimate -- let's say he was registered. Your Honor, he was just dipping into that fund. Look at the breakdown that was authenticated and articulated by the expert. These are overlapping days. He's saying it's a fee for January 5th through January 11th. Then the next day the next fee is January 7 through January 13th. You can't have management fees overlapping the same days. I understand that there are trade charges. But just plain common sense reading of the management fees, you can't have them for the same account for the same day multiple times. That's not management.

And Your Honor, as far as the churning goes, that's really an element of this. The point is he's an unregistered advisor and/or he engaged in a scheme and artifice to defraud; one, by the forgery itself and two, by just not agreeing to the agreement, even if it was valid. Again, he was just dipping into the account grabbing it. These weren't based on trades. They weren't based on legitimate quarterly management fees.

Your Honor, and on to that, there's quarterly management fees and there's monthly management fees. If you read the agreement, it alludes to what would be charged as opposed to. You don't get to charge both, Your Honor. I don't think a fair reading of the agreement would allow that, and once again, the agreement isn't valid. But you've got -- as the expert articulated -- in April there are several monthly management charges. Your Honor, those aren't monthly management charge. Those are just Mr. Krochmal dipping into the fund whenever he needs cash.

Once again, this was a criminal act. He does not get to be paid for a criminal act. That's all I've got, Judge.

THE COURT: Reply.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Your Honor, my client -- against my advice -- wishes to address the Court. I would ask the Court be willing to hear him at this time.

MR. PETRANO: I have it's no objection. I think it's actually relevant under the restitution statute 17-25-322, subsection B.

THE COURT: All right, sir. What we do, you need to come on up here and testify, be subject to examination and cross-examination.

THE DEFENDANT: Excuse us for one moment.

MR. PETRANO: Your Honor, thankfully my client has changed his mind.

THE COURT: Let me tell y'all where I'm at with this to see if either of you can provide my any additional argument that might be to assist. All right. We have -- I'm being presented four charges: One charge of forgery value $10,000 or more. Another charge of forgery $10,000 or more, and then two violations of the Uniform Securities Act resulting in loss of $20,000 or more, two of those. If I understand what has now been presented to me factually -- first of all, I have to now -- and the defendant has pled to those, and that plea has been accept by a judge. So the facts that form the foundation of those indictments, I'm bound to accept those facts. Okay.

With that, I've now been presented testimony to establish how much restitution is owed as a result of the plea to these four charges. I've been presented expert testimony from a gentleman where the state does not even contest his expertise that has done a forensic analysis of many years of securities work that was done by the defendant on behalf of the defendant -- I mean on behalf of the victims. And for years, he operated these accounts, and I've been told by the expert witness that due to his work, the accounts actually increased in value just alone based on his work. Even though they did make financial contributions to the account, taking out how much money they put in, they made money off of his work.

And so your position is that due to the fact that -- your position is that as a result, he should only be responsible for those fees that have been identified by the expert witness that exceed that which he would have been paid under the operating agreement if he had complied with the operating agreement.

MR. VANSYCKEL: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And the state's position is that well, due to the fact that he has now pled guilty to the two forgery charges and also to the two Securities Act charges, that everything that he did, although so be it he made money for these people, everything he did while he was managing these people's money was illegal, and that under the law as it is in South Carolina, your position is that the law does not require him to receive a dime of any fees, even if it was fees that were beneficial to the victims. Because otherwise we would have a lot of people out there engaging in illegal activities, charging money, and that's contrary to the public policy of our state. Is that correct?

MR. PETRANO: Yes, Your Honor. You want me to expand on that or just stop?

THE COURT: I just want to be sure I understand what y'all's positions are.

MR. PETRANO: Yes.

THE COURT: I think I get what you're asking me to do. Do you want to --

MR. PETRANO: No, Your Honor that's all I have. I do just have one bit of clarification regarding how interpreted and articulated what you've heard. Your Honor, it's the state's position, and I believe we discussed this at the plea, which Your Honor did not take. But Your Honor, Mr. Krochmal did not make the [redacted] any money. The [redacted] money is what made the money. Your Honor, you could have thrown darts at a dart board. They had hundreds and hundreds of thousands of dollars. That's what made the money. And Judge, I parallelled this -- the way you so elegantly articulated it at the very closing before I start talking just this very moment, I paralleled to the construction. I believe there's a statute on point; that's why I didn't want to articulate it as far as being parallel because there's a specific statute. But the jurisprudence speaks to this phenomenon. When you have an unlicensed contractor do home repairs, they're not allowed to sue the homeowner for failure to pay. They're an unlicensed contractor. That's an illegal act. They don't collect money off it. That's the parallel I'm trying to draw here, although I don't think it's directly on point to the construction scenario because there's a statute on point for that, which we don't have in this particular scenario. I'm relying simply on the restitution statute. I hope that make sense.

THE COURT: I think I understand your position. Okay. And y'all are going to get me the CD?

MR. PETRANO: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I'll look forward to receiving the CD.

(Whereupon, the proceedings were concluded.)

Introduction

Asc. Forensic, LLC has been engaged by Judah Vansyckel, Esq. (Mr. Vansyckel) to calculate the amount of fees Mr. Richard Krochmal (Mr. Krochmal) should have charged [redacted]s) during the indictment period of 1/1/2009 to 2/28/2011 under the terms of the 2002 agreement[1] between the [redacted] and Mutual Modeling Associates, Inc. (MMA), a company in which Mr. Krochmal was the sole member. This engagement has been conducted in accordance with the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants' (AICPA) Statement on Standards for Consulting Services No. 1.

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

2002 Agreement: Measurable[2] Terms for Fees Charged During the Indictment Period

1. $29.95 would have been charged for each buy/sell order (trade)
2. $31.95 would have been charged for advisory services related to each trade
3. Quarterly fees based on a percentage of assets
4. $125 maximum amount for end-of-year cost basis report for each account
5. $125 for quarterly individual portfolio reports for each account

Measured Activity Observed During the Indictment Period

1. 1,733 trades took place in the [redacted] TD Ameritrade and TradePMR accounts.
2. 8.66 quarters during the indictment period

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

Calculation Detail

1. Covered Period: 1/1/2009 to 2/28/2011[3]

2. Sources of Information Considered:

    a. TD Ameritrade statements for account #'s ending:

        i. 1183

        ii. 1210

        iii. 1213

        iv. 1217

        v. 1221

    b. TradePMR statements for account #'s ending:

        i. 0420

        ii. 1527

        iii. 7183

        iv. 4901

        v. 4566

    c. Clocked Indictments for The State v. Krochmal

    d. SCAG Office's Investigative Report, supplements, case files & notes

    e. National Comprehensive Report for Mr. Krochmal

    f. Financial Industry Regulatory Authority Report (FINRA) report for Mr. Krochmal

    g. Investment Advisor Public Disclosure Form ADV for MMA of the Carolinas, LLC

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

3. Calculation Components: Fees Mr. Krochmal Should Have Charged

a. 51,903.35 = $29.95 transaction fee for each trade X 1,733 trades[4]

b. 55,369.35 = $31.95 advisory fee for each trade X 1,733 trades[5]

c. 17,006.31 = Quarterly fees[6] based on a percentage of assets

d. 5,412.50 = $125 for each periodic report X 5 accounts X 8.66 quarters

129,691.51 = Fees Mr. Krochmal would have charged under the 2002 agreement

129,700.00 Rounded

4. Calculation: Fees Mr. Krochmal Actually Charged[7]

159,809.82 : Actual amount of fees charged by Mr. Krochmal during the indictment period

159,800.00 Rounded

5. I do not have an opinion as to the appropriateness of the frequency of Mr. Krochmal's trading activity related to the [redacted] accounts, because the 2002 agreement did not contain any language which limited the frequency of Mr. Krochmal's trading activity.

6. $157,417.30: Increase in the value of the [redacted] accounts from 1/1/2009 to 2/28/2011 net of all fees charged by Mr. Krochmal. This increase also removes the contributions and withdrawals made by the [redacted]

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

[1]: Please see Exhibit A for a copy of the 2002 agreement.

[2]:Measurable Terms

1. Include terms for fees from the 2002 agreement which can be calculated based on the available evidence.

a. Compensation section of 2002 agreement:

6. COMPENSATION: Client initials required.

A. _____ $ _____ HOURLY RATE: For services including investment research, consultation, and investment advice, compensation will be charged at an hourly rate of $125, or a subsequently published rate.

B. _____ $ _____ FLAT FEE: For services rendered the Client agrees to pay a flat fee.

C. [redacted] PERCENT OF ASSETS for which Advisor is providing ongoing investment advice and portfolio supervision (see schedule below). Please note that the minimum quarterly fee is $125 or $500 annually.
*Transaction fees of $29.95 are collected for the purchase and sale of each security.

Value of Invested Assets*	Quarterly Fee	Annualized Rate
up to $149,999.	0.3125%	1.25%
$150,000(+) ~ $499,999	0.2500%	1.00%
$500,000(+) ~ $749,999.	0.2375%	.95%
$750,000(+)	0.2250%	.90%
Other:	0.1875%	.75%

Other: Simple fixed interest accounts may be calculated on an annualized rate of .75%. Accounts are invoiced and debited quarterly. The amount of the fee is based upon the market value of the account as of the last business day of each calendar quarter, and may be calculated individually for each client account.

_____ B. Preliminary Analysis and Recommendations.

Value of Assets	One-time Fee	Minimum Fee
up to $248,999	0.75%	$625
from $250,000 to $499,999	0.50%
over $500,000	0.25%

[redacted] INVOICE PROCESSING FEE: An invoice-processing fee of $2.50 will be added for all electronic payments.

[redacted] INDIVIDUAL SUPPORT SERVICES

$ 20 Transfer-On-Death Registration. $125 (not to exceed) : End of year cost basis reports.
$125 for individual portfolio reports for each account, maximum fee: $375. $31.95 for each buy/sell transaction.
$ 10 for signature guarantee or notary service.

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

b. The following terms could not be measured based on the available evidence, or were considered irrelevant:

I. $10 Signature guarantee or notary service: The frequency of signature guarantees or notary services provided to the [redacted] during the indictment period is currently unknown. Therefore, the fee(s) associated with these services has not been considered in this calculation.

II. $20 Transfer-On-Death Registration: There was not a death event that would have triggered this fee during the indictment period.

III. One-time fees for preliminary analysis and recommendations: It is unknown if this was a further subsection of (6)(C) or a separate section under (6). However, it is unlikely that Mr. Krochmal provided preliminary analysis and recommendation services to the [redacted] during the indictment period, as this appears to be a service that Mr. Krochmal would have provided to new clients or for changing strategies of existing clients. There is not any evidence that the [redacted] met either criteria during the indictment period.

IV. Quarterly fee for simple fixed interest accounts: A simple fixed interest account is not a standard type of account. This description may relate to certificates of deposit, bonds and/or annuities. However, I did not observe any accounts or subaccounts in the available evidence which held certificates of deposit, bonds, annuities or any account(s) with simple and/or fixed interest characteristics.

V. $2.50 invoice processing fee added to all electronic payments. There is not enough evidence to determine whether this fee should be included in the calculation.

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

VI. Other:

i. The 2002 agreement does not contain language which limits the frequency of trades or the amount per trade. Accordingly, I do not have an opinion as to whether trades initiated by Mr. Krochmal on behalf of the [redacted] were excessive.

ii. Oral modifications to the fee terms of the 2002 agreement may be evidenced by the action(s) or inaction(s) of each party. I did not find evidence outside of the 2009 agreement that any modification(s) were made or requested by either party. In the event modifications to the 2002 agreement were actually made, my calculations may be materially different. Still, I did not apply fee terms to my calculations which deviated from the 2002 agreement.

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

[3]: The indictment period described within each clocked indictment:

sometime in 2009, 2010, 2011

1. The language in each indictment did not provide specific cutoff periods to calculate the fees considered in my calculation so I requested specific guidance from Mr. Vansyckel. Mr. Vansyckel in turn requested guidance from the prosecutor, which, upon receipt, Mr. Vansyckel relayed to me on 11/25/2014:

   The State AG has clarified that he intends for the indictment to cover the entire time period listed in the indictments, not just that period of time when the funds were being handled at TradePMR.

   I interpreted the above message to mean the cutoff period began on 1/1/2009.

2. I used 2/28/2011as the ending cutoff period for three reasons:
   a. The last observed transaction which Mr. Kochmal would have been able to control occurred on 2/16/2015.

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

b. On 2/23/2011, the [redacted] sent the following letter to TradePMR which effectively terminated Mr. Krochmal's access to the [redacted] accounts.

[4]: Please see Exhibit B for transaction fee detail. Transaction fees are normally deducted by the brokerage firm from the proceeds used to trade securities. In the [redacted] case, transaction fees were paid by MMA while the [redacted] accounts were with TradePMR (please see below) from around June 2009 to April 2011.

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

Due to the arrangement with TradePMR described in the form above, I considered transaction fees to have been paid by MMA while the [redacted] accounts were with TD Ameritrade from January 2009 to May 2009.

I did not consider transaction fees for this calculation to be incurred for reinvested dividends or transactions involving the purchase or sell of money market funds. I also did not consider fees in this calculation that were actually charged by TD Ameritrade or Trade PMR directly from the [redacted] accounts.

[5]: Please see Exhibit B for advisory fee detail. Advisory fees of $31.95 were charged for each trade, and would have been in addition to the $29.95 transaction fee.

This report has been prepared, and is intended to be used, only for the referenced engagement. This report is not to be distributed to any parties outside of the engagement.

Recommendations are based on information provided by the Client as to assets, liabilities, earnings, obligations and willingness to assume risk. MUTUAL MODELING® ASSOCIATES, INC. provides advisory services to individual clients, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and other businesses.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE CLIENT The Client agrees that the Advisor and MMA will not be liable for inaccuracies, incompleteness, or material changes in the Client's information or investment objectives provided by the Client. The Client acknowledges that MUTUAL MODELING® ASSOCIATES, INC. does not and will not practice law or accounting or act as a casualty insurance agent. Obtaining such services is the responsibility of the Client.

Our investment philosophy is a basic one. We believe that investments take time to achieve success. We urge our clients to be wary of "get rich quick" schemes and to focus on long range planning with regard to their investments.

TYPES OF INVESTMENTS In the course of advising our Clients we may consider or recommend investments such as domestic and foreign equities listed on securities exchanges or traded over-the-counter, warrants, US Government securities, municipal and corporate bonds, certificates of deposit, mutual funds, variable life insurance or annuities, or direct participation programs investing in real estate, energy, equipment leasing or other business interests. While the firm doesn't encourage the borrowing of funds to make investments, from time to time the implementation of investment recommendations may result in margin transactions.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS The process of securities analysis employed may included fundamental, technical, or cyclical analysis as well as charting techniques. Sources of information may include financial publications, on-site inspections, reports prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission and company press releases. MMA and its Investment Advisory Associate use the sources they believe are reliable but cannot guarantee the results of any advice given.

Fees are agreed to in advance. If a securities transaction generates a commission in a managed account, the commission amount will be applied towards the quarterly fee. Clients agree to pay a service charge, if billed, of 1½% per month for accounts not paid within 30 days. No more than $2500 is payable in advance and would be refundable on a pro rata basis in the event of termination of the contract. The Investment Advisory Contract may be terminated at any time by the Client, MMA or the Advisory Associate. Contracts are not transferable by the firm without the prior written consent of the Client.

In accordance with Sterne Agee's obligation under SEC Rule 606, upon customer request, Sterne Agee will disclose to its customer the identity of the venue to which the customer's orders were routed for execution in the six months prior to the request; whether the orders were directed orders or non-directed orders; and the time of the transactions, if any, that resulted from such orders.

In addition, Sterne Agee has prepared reports pursuant to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's Rule 606 which requires all brokerage firms to make publicly available quarterly reports on their order routing practices. The reports provide information on the routing of "non-directed orders" -- any order that the client has not specifically instructed to be routed to a particular venue for execution. For these non-directed orders, Sterne Agee has selected the execution venue on behalf of its clients. Each report identifies the venues most often selected by Sterne Agee, sets forth the percentage of various types of orders routed to the venues, and discusses the material aspects of Sterne Agee's relationships with the venues.

Pursuant to SEC Rule 605, Sterne Agee is also required to provide information on a monthly basis regarding orders executed as market maker in the over-the-counter market during the preceding month. You can obtain this information by accessing:

If you have any questions regarding the availability of order information or routing, please contact Aimee Casey at 205.271.6212 or acasey@sterneagee.com.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. End of Statement

The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value.
Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements. Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

Introducing/clearing arrangements

The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.

Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.

The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.

Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.

Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. EXTENDED HOURS TRADING RISK DISCLOSURE

You should consider the following points before engaging in extended hours trading. "Extended hours trading" means trading outside of "regular trading hours." "Regular trading hours" generally means the time between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

ACCOUNT NUMBER 0420

ROTH IRA REGULAR CONTRIBUTION

Statement Period: 06/01/10 to 06/30/10

MESSAGES

- Risk of Lower Liquidity. Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and sell securities. Generally, the more orders that are available in a market, the greater the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity it is easier for investors to buy or sell securities, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities purchased or sold. There may be lower liquidity in extended hours trading as compared to regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all.

- Risk of Higher Volatility. Volatility refers to the changes in price that securities undergo when trading. Generally, the higher the volatility of a security, the greater its price swings. There may be greater volatility in extended hours trading than in regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all, or you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

- Risk of Changing Prices. The prices of securities traded in extended hours trading may not reflect the prices either at the end of regular trading hours, or upon the opening the next morning. As a result, you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

- Risk of Unlinked Markets. Depending on the extended hours trading system or the time of day, the prices displayed on a particular extended hours trading system may not reflect the prices in other concurrently operating extended hours trading systems dealing in the same securities. Accordingly, you may receive an inferior price in one extended hours trading system than you would in another extended hours trading system

- Risk of News Announcements . Normally, issuers make news announcements that may affect the price of their securities after regular trading hours. Similarly, important financial information is frequently announced outside of regular trading hours. In extended hours trading, these announcements may occur during trading, and if combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may cause an exaggerated and unsustainable effect on the price of a security.

- Risk of Wider Spreads . The spread refers to the difference in price between what you can buy a security for and what you can sell it for. Lower liquidity and higher volatility in extended hours trading may result in wider than normal spreads for a particular security.

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne Agee website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne Agee, Sterne Agee may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne Agee and its affiliate companies.

MESSAGES

Any questions concerning your monthly statement, please contact us at 352-332-1938.
Thank you for your business.

Internal Revenue Service reporting requirements mandate that the Form 1099 report of dividends, interest, and sales of investments be mailed to taxpayers no later than January 31 each year. Frequently, Sterne Agee receives information from issuers that amend the originally issued Form 1099 information. Our experience is that most, but not all, revisions take place in February. Therefore, we will aggregate all February revisions and mail any corrected 1099's in late February. Starting in March, we will mail corrected Form 1099's on a weekly basis until the week of April 1. It is our suggestion that if you hold securities positions susceptible to revisions of their distributions (the majority of revised Form 1099's come from mutual fund shares and REITs), you wait until early April before completing your 2010 tax return. Otherwise, you may be required to amend your original return and incur additional preparation time and expense. Please consult your tax advisor for the proper handling of Form 1099. Any questions that you may have regarding your account transactions should be directed to your Broker-Dealer.

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne Agee website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne Agee, Sterne Agee may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne Agee and its affiliate companies.

MESSAGES

In accordance with Sterne Agee's obligation under SEC Rule 606, upon customer request, Sterne Agee will disclose to its customer the identity of the venue to which the customer's orders were routed for execution in the six months prior to the request; whether the orders were directed orders or non-directed orders; and the time of the transactions, if any, that resulted from such orders.

In addition, Sterne Agee has prepared reports pursuant to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's Rule 606 which requires all brokerage firms to make publicly available quarterly reports on their order routing practices. The reports provide information on the routing of "non-directed orders" -- any order that the client has not specifically instructed to be routed to a particular venue for execution. For these non-directed orders, Sterne Agee has selected the execution venue on behalf of its clients. Each report identifies the venues most often selected by Sterne Agee, sets forth the percentage of various types of orders routed to the venues, and discusses the material aspects of Sterne Agee's relationships with the venues.

Pursuant to SEC Rule 605, Sterne Agee is also required to provide information on a monthly basis regarding orders executed as market maker in the over-the-counter market during the preceding month. You can obtain this information by accessing:

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. EXTENDED HOURS TRADING RISK DISCLOSURE

SEP IRA ACCOUNT NUMBER 1527

SEP-IRA Statement Period: 06/01/10 to 06/30/10

MESSAGES

You should consider the following points before engaging in extended hours trading. "Extended hours trading" means trading outside of "regular trading hours." "Regular trading hours" generally means the time between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

- Risk of Lower Liquidity. Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and sell securities. Generally, the more orders that are available in a market, the greater the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity it is easier for investors to buy or sell securities, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities purchased or sold. There may be lower liquidity in extended hours trading as compared to regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all.

- Risk of Higher Volatility. Volatility refers to the changes in price that securities undergo when trading. Generally, the higher the volatility of a security, the greater its price swings. There may be greater volatility in extended hours trading than in regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all, or you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

- Risk of Changing Prices. The prices of securities traded in extended hours trading may not reflect the prices either at the end of regular trading hours, or upon the opening the next morning. As a result, you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

SEP IRA ACCOUNT NUMBER 1527

SEP-IRA Statement Period: 06/01/10 to 06/30/10

MESSAGES

- Risk of Unlinked Markets. Depending on the extended hours trading system or the time of day, the prices displayed on a particular extended hours trading system may not reflect the prices in other concurrently operating extended hours trading systems dealing in the same securities. Accordingly, you may receive an inferior price in one extended hours trading system than you would in another extended hours trading system

- Risk of News Announcements . Normally, issuers make news announcements that may affect the price of their securities after regular trading hours. Similarly, important financial information is frequently announced outside of regular trading hours. In extended hours trading, these announcements may occur during trading, and if combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may cause an exaggerated and unsustainable effect on the price of a security.

- Risk of Wider Spreads . The spread refers to the difference in price between what you can buy a security for and what you can sell it for. Lower liquidity and higher volatility in extended hours trading may result in wider than normal spreads for a particular security.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne Agee website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne Agee, Sterne Agee may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne Agee and its affiliate companies.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne Agee website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne Agee, Sterne Agee may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne Agee and its affiliate companies.

MESSAGES

Any questions concerning your monthly statement, please contact us at 352-332-1938.
Thank you for your business.

Internal Revenue Service reporting requirements mandate that the Form 1099 report of dividends, interest, and sales of investments be mailed to taxpayers no later than January 31 each year. Frequently, Sterne Agee receives information from issuers that amend the originally issued Form 1099 information. Our experience is that most, but not all, revisions take place in February. Therefore, we will aggregate all February revisions and mail any corrected 1099's in late February. Starting in March, we will mail corrected Form 1099's on a weekly basis until the week of April 1. It is our suggestion that if you hold securities positions susceptible to revisions of their distributions (the majority of revised Form 1099's come from mutual fund shares and REITs), you wait until early April before completing your 2010 tax return. Otherwise, you may be required to amend your original return and incur additional preparation time and expense. Please consult your tax advisor for the proper handling of Form 1099. Any questions that you may have regarding your account transactions should be directed to your Broker-Dealer.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. End of Statement

The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. IMPORTANT DISCLOSURE: FINRA Rule 5320 Disclosures FINRA Rule 5320 generally prohibits a broker-dealer that accepts and holds an order in an equity security from its customer or a customer of another broker-dealer without immediately executing the order from trading that security on the same side of the market for its own account at a price that would satisfy the customer order, unless it immediately thereafter executes the customer order up to the size and at the same or better price at which it traded for its own account.

Institutional Accounts and Large Orders. With respect to the orders of an "institutional account," as defined in NASD Rule 3110, or for orders of 10,000 shares or more (unless such orders are less than $100,000 in value), Rule 5320 permits a broker-dealer to, and Sterne Agee may, trade an equity security on the same side of the market for its own account at a price that would satisfy such customer order provided that certain notice is provided to the customer and the customer is provided a meaningful opportunity to opt in to the Rule 5320 protections with respect to all or any portion of its order.

Institutional accounts and persons placing orders for 10,000 shares or more not otherwise subject to the protections afforded by Rule 5320 may "opt in" to the Rule 5320 protections by providing written notice (i) with respect to any particular order, at the time of placing an order to the representative taking your order, and (ii) with respect to all orders for your account, to Sterne Agee, Attn. ECM Compliance, 800 Shades Creek Pkwy, Suite 550, Birmingham, Alabama, 35209.

Market Making Activities. Sterne Agee engages in market making activity in various equity securities. With respect to NMS stocks, as defined in Rule 600 of SEC Regulation NMS, Sterne Agee generally sends orders to other market centers on an agency basis. Sterne Agee has developed and implemented internal controls, including information barriers, that operate to prevent its market making desk from obtaining knowledge of customers orders not routed to it and, accordingly, our market making desk may trade for our own account prior to completion of your order and at the same or a better price than you receive.

"Not Held" Orders. When you place an order with us and leave the price and time of execution to our discretion (a "not held order"), we may trade in the security for our own account prior to completion of your order and at the same or a better price than you receive.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements. Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

Introducing/clearing arrangements

The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.

Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.

The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.

Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.

Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.

Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.

It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

MESSAGES

You should consider the following points before engaging in extended hours trading. "Extended hours trading" means trading outside of "regular trading hours." "Regular trading hours" generally means the time between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

- Risk of Lower Liquidity. Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and sell securities. Generally, the more orders that are available in a market, the greater the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity it is easier for investors to buy or sell securities, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities purchased or sold. There may be lower liquidity in extended hours trading as compared to regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all.

- Risk of Higher Volatility. Volatility refers to the changes in price that securities undergo when trading. Generally, the higher the volatility of a security, the greater its price swings. There may be greater volatility in extended hours trading than in regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all, or you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

- Risk of Changing Prices. The prices of securities traded in extended hours trading may not reflect the prices either at the end of regular trading hours, or upon the opening the next morning. As a result, you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

MESSAGES

- Risk of Unlinked Markets. Depending on the extended hours trading system or the time of day, the prices displayed on a particular extended hours trading system may not reflect the prices in other concurrently operating extended hours trading systems dealing in the same securities. Accordingly, you may receive an inferior price in one extended hours trading system than you would in another extended hours trading system

- Risk of News Announcements . Normally, issuers make news announcements that may affect the price of their securities after regular trading hours. Similarly, important financial information is frequently announced outside of regular trading hours. In extended hours trading, these announcements may occur during trading, and if combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may cause an exaggerated and unsustainable effect on the price of a security.

- Risk of Wider Spreads . The spread refers to the difference in price between what you can buy a security for and what you can sell it for. Lower liquidity and higher volatility in extended hours trading may result in wider than normal spreads for a particular security.

In accordance with Sterne Agee's obligation under SEC Rule 606, upon customer request, Sterne Agee will disclose to its customer the identity of the venue to which the customer's orders were routed for execution in the six months prior to the request; whether the orders were directed orders or non-directed orders; and the time of the transactions, if any, that resulted from such orders.

In addition, Sterne Agee has prepared reports pursuant to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's Rule 606 which requires all brokerage firms to make publicly available quarterly reports on their order routing practices. The reports provide information on the routing of "non-directed orders" -- any order that the client has not specifically instructed to be routed to a particular venue for execution. For these non-directed orders, Sterne Agee has selected the execution venue on behalf of its clients. Each report identifies the venues most often selected by Sterne Agee, sets forth the percentage of various types of orders routed to the venues, and discusses the material aspects of Sterne Agee's relationships with the venues.

In accordance with to our obligation under SEC Rule 607, please see the following disclosures:

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available.
Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. MESSAGES

Any questions concerning your monthly statement, please contact us at 352-332-1938.
Thank you for your business.

Internal Revenue Service reporting requirements mandate that the Form 1099 report of dividends, interest, and sales of investments be mailed to taxpayers no later than January 31 each year. Frequently, Sterne Agee receives information from issuers that amend the originally issued Form 1099 information. Our experience is that most, but not all, revisions take place in February. Therefore, we will aggregate all February revisions and mail any corrected 1099's in late February. Starting in March, we will mail corrected Form 1099's on a weekly basis until the week of April 1. It is our suggestion that if you hold securities positions susceptible to revisions of their distributions (the majority of revised Form 1099's come from mutual fund shares and REITs), you wait until early April before completing your 2010 tax return. Otherwise, you may be required to amend your original return and incur additional preparation time and expense. Please consult your tax advisor for the proper handling of Form 1099. Any questions that you may have regarding your account transactions should be directed to your Broker-Dealer.

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne Agee website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne Agee, Sterne Agee may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne Agee and its affiliate companies.

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURE: FINRA Rule 5320 Disclosures

FINRA Rule 5320 generally prohibits a broker-dealer that accepts and holds an order in an equity security from its customer or a customer of another broker-dealer without immediately executing the order from trading that security on the same side of the market for its own account at a price that would satisfy the customer order, unless it immediately thereafter executes the customer order up to the size and at the same or better price at which it traded for its own account.

Institutional Accounts and Large Orders. With respect to the orders of an "institutional account," as defined in NASD Rule 3110, or for orders of 10,000 shares or more (unless such orders are less than $100,000 in value), Rule 5320 permits a broker-dealer to, and Sterne Agee may, trade an equity security on the same side of the market for its own account at a price that would satisfy such customer order provided that certain notice is provided to the customer and the customer is provided a meaningful opportunity to opt in to the Rule 5320 protections with respect to all or any portion of its order.

Institutional accounts and persons placing orders for 10,000 shares or more not otherwise subject to the protections afforded by Rule 5320 may "opt in" to the Rule 5320 protections by providing written notice (i) with respect to any particular order, at the time of placing an order to the representative taking your order, and (ii) with respect to all orders for your account, to Sterne Agee, Attn. ECM Compliance, 800 Shades Creek Pkwy, Suite 550, Birmingham, Alabama, 35209.

Market Making Activities. Sterne Agee engages in market making activity in various equity securities. With respect to NMS stocks, as defined in Rule 600 of SEC Regulation NMS, Sterne Agee generally sends orders to other market centers on an agency basis. Sterne Agee has developed and implemented internal controls, including information barriers, that operate to prevent its market making desk from obtaining knowledge of customers orders not routed to it and, accordingly, our market making desk may trade for our own account prior to completion of your order and at the same or a better price than you receive.

"Not Held" Orders. When you place an order with us and leave the price and time of execution to our discretion (a "not held order"), we may trade in the security for our own account prior to completion of your order and at the same or a better price than you receive.

That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.

Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.

The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.

Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.

Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System: The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.

Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.

It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements. Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

EXTENDED HOURS TRADING RISK DISCLOSURE

You should consider the following points before engaging in extended hours trading. "Extended hours trading" means trading outside of "regular trading hours." "Regular trading hours" generally means the time between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

ROTH IRA ACCOUNT NUMBER 4901

ROTH IRA REGULAR CONTRIBUTION Statement Period: 06/01/10 to 06/30/10

MESSAGES

- Risk of Lower Liquidity. Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and sell securities. Generally, the more orders that are available in a market, the greater the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity it is easier for investors to buy or sell securities, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities purchased or sold. There may be lower liquidity in extended hours trading as compared to regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all.

- Risk of Higher Volatility. Volatility refers to the changes in price that securities undergo when trading. Generally, the higher the volatility of a security, the greater its price swings. There may be greater volatility in extended hours trading than in regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all, or you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

- Risk of Changing Prices. The prices of securities traded in extended hours trading may not reflect the prices either at the end of regular trading hours, or upon the opening the next morning. As a result, you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.

- Risk of Unlinked Markets. Depending on the extended hours trading system or the time of day, the prices displayed on a particular extended hours trading system may not reflect the prices in other concurrently operating extended hours trading systems dealing in the same securities. Accordingly, you may receive an inferior price in one extended hours trading system than you would in another extended hours trading system

ROTH IRA REGULAR CONTRIBUTION Statement Period: 06/01/10 to 06/30/10

MESSAGES

- Risk of News Announcements . Normally, issuers make news announcements that may affect the price of their securities after regular trading hours. Similarly, important financial information is frequently announced outside of regular trading hours. In extended hours trading, these announcements may occur during trading, and if combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may cause an exaggerated and unsustainable effect on the price of a security.

- Risk of Wider Spreads . The spread refers to the difference in price between what you can buy a security for and what you can sell it for. Lower liquidity and higher volatility in extended hours trading may result in wider than normal spreads for a particular security.

If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. End of Statement

The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Any questions concerning your monthly statement, please contact us at 352-332-1938.
Thank you for your business.

Internal Revenue Service reporting requirements mandate that the Form 1099 report of dividends, interest, and sales of investments be mailed to taxpayers no later than January 31 each year. Frequently, Sterne Agee receives information from issuers that amend the originally issued Form 1099 information. Our experience is that most, but not all, revisions take place in February. Therefore, we will aggregate all February revisions and mail any corrected 1099's in late February. Starting in March, we will mail corrected Form 1099's on a weekly basis until the week of April 1. It is our suggestion that if you hold securities positions susceptible to revisions of their distributions (the majority of revised Form 1099's come from mutual fund shares and REITs), you wait until early April before completing your 2010 tax return. Otherwise, you may be required to amend your original return and incur additional preparation time and expense. Please consult your tax advisor for the proper handling of Form 1099. Any questions that you may have regarding your account transactions should be directed to your Broker-Dealer.

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. (Sterne Agee) for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne Agee and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne Agee or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne Agee's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.

Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne Agee, and until you give Sterne Agee written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne Agee may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.

Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.

Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.

Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.

Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne Agee has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.

Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne Agee as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne Agee is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne Agee immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne Agee and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne Agee, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne Agee are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne Agee or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne Agee having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne Agee will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne Agee and not received if you report to Sterne Agee non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne Agee shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne Agee. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne Agee IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne Agee considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne Agee website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne Agee, Sterne Agee may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne Agee and its affiliate companies.

Order Availability and SEC Rules 605 and 606 Disclosure:

In accordance with Sterne Agee's obligation under SEC Rule 606, upon customer request, Sterne Agee will disclose to its customer the identity of the venue to which the customer's orders were routed for execution in the six months prior to the request; whether the orders were directed orders or non-directed orders; and the time of the transactions, if any, that resulted from such orders.

In addition, Sterne Agee has prepared reports pursuant to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's Rule 606 which requires all brokerage firms to make publicly available quarterly reports on their order routing practices. The reports provide information on the routing of "non-directed orders" -- any order that the client has not specifically instructed to be routed to a particular venue for execution. For these non-directed orders, Sterne Agee has selected the execution venue on behalf of its clients. Each report identifies the venues most often selected by Sterne Agee, sets forth the percentage of various types of orders routed to the venues, and discusses the material aspects of Sterne Agee's relationships with the venues.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements.
Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. (2) That Sterne, unless and until obligations of the customer to Sterne are discharged, may from time to time and without notice to the customer pledge or re-pledge, hypothecate, or re-hypothecate any or all securities now or hereafter held, purchased or carried by Sterne or may lend the same, or deliver the same on contracts for other customers without Sterne having in its possession and control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. (3) That Sterne will replace at no charge any certificate mailed to you by Sterne and not received if you report to Sterne non receipt within 90 days of mailing date. (4) The customer has the right to receive, in the course of normal business operations, the delivery of the following: a) any free credit balances to which the customer is entitled; and/or b) any fully paid securities purchased on margin upon full payment by the customer of any indebtedness to this firm. (5) That bonds and preferred stocks which are callable in part and which we hold for customers (except for those held in custodian accounts), are held in bulk segregation, and in the event of a call, the securities to be called will be selected by an automated random selection in which the probability of a customer's holding being selected is proportional to the holdings of all customers of such securities held in bulk by us. (6) That Sterne shall not be responsible for the destruction or loss of any securities, placed in the custody of a foreign bank, broker or other custodian, resulting from war, civil commotion, enemy action, governmental acts or other causes beyond the control of the depository or Sterne. (7) That, in the absence of specific instructions to the contrary, orders for securities and options which are multi-listed and directed by Sterne IBD for execution will be directed to the marketplace which Sterne considers will provide the "best execution" including price improvement. In accordance with SEC Rule 11AC 1-3 and amendments to Rule 10b-10 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, all securities firms are required to periodically notify their customers of the existence of certain fee income. Visit the Sterne website at www.salclient.com for details of possible order flow and other data required under SEC Rule 11AC 1-6. Details available upon written request. Your IBD may route orders and will have details available to you upon request. (8) That for the protection of the customer as well as that of Sterne, Sterne may at its discretion and without prior notice to the customer, monitor and/or record any and all telephone conversations which the customer may have with employees of Sterne and its affiliate companies.

Did you know.....

There is a convenient method for you to borrow funds against your existing brokerage account. You may apply the borrowings to pursue additional investment opportunities within your account or to meet other personal financial needs.

Based on the value of the securities in your account, you may be able to borrow up to $25,820.13. Please contact your Broker Dealer for more information. This borrowing capacity is subject to market fluctuations and account activity.

Borrowing on margin for investment or cash withdrawals increases the risk to your account. You can lose more than you invest. Sterne Agee can force the sale of securities or other assets in your account without your authorization to meet a margin call. You are not entitled to choose which securities are sold to meet a margin call. Sterne Agee can raise the in-house margin minimum without prior notice. You are not entitled to an extension of time to meet a margin call.

End of Statement

Introducing/clearing arrangements
The transactions being reported on this statement are being cleared by Sterne, Agee &Leach, Inc. ("Sterne") for your introducing broker dealer ("IBD"), whose name appears on the front of this statement, pursuant to an Agreement for Securities Clearance Services. That Agreement allocates various functions between Sterne and your IBD. Included among the responsibilities and functions allocated to your IBD are the opening of your account, acceptance of all orders from you, the providing of investment advice for your account, monitoring and supervision of all activity in your account, and establishing commission rates and fees charged to you. Your Registered Representative is not an employee of Sterne or any of its affiliates, but is employed by your IBD, which is solely responsible for supervising your Registered Representative's activities. You should have received a letter that specifies the allocation of duties as indicated above. If you have not received this letter, please contact your IBD or Sterne's Customer Service Department directly at 561-368-4355 and a copy of the allocation of responsibilities will be provided to you.
Your Instructions--As clearing agent for your IBD, which has introduced your account to Sterne, and until you give Sterne written notice to the contrary (by registered mail, return receipt requested, Attention: Customer Service Department), Sterne may accept from your IBD, without inquiry or investigation, any instruction relating to transactions in your account, including instructions for the withdrawal or transfer of property to or from your account.
Valuation--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. Most security values are based on "last sale" prices. The actual market value may be greater or less than that which is shown. If the account statement does not provide an estimated value for Direct Participation Programs (DPP) or Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT) securities, then you should understand that (1) DPP or REIT securities are generally illiquid, (2) the value of these securities may be different than their purchase price, and; (3) if applicable, that accurate valuation information is not available. Contact your IBD if you require an actual bid.
Mutual fund distributions are credited to your account on the day that transmission is received from the mutual fund paying agent. Should the transmission date be subsequent to the dividend payable date and after the closing date of this statement, the market value shown for your mutual fund(s) may be understated.
The prices assigned to Certificates of Deposit have been provided by a national pricing service and derived from a "Market Driven Pricing Model." This price may not be the actual price you receive upon sale.
Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the account total value. Bonds may be subject to extraordinary call features. You should review the offering documents pertaining to those bonds or contact your IBD for additional information.
Securities classified as penny stocks--The market prices have been obtained from quotation services we believe to be reliable; however, we cannot guarantee their accuracy. If this statement contains an estimated value, you should be aware that this value may be based on a limited number of trades or quotes. Therefore, you may not be able to sell these securities at a price equal to or near the value shown. Also, the amount you receive from a sale generally will be reduced by the amount of any commissions or similar charges. If an estimated value is not shown for a security, a value could not be determined because of a lack of information. Securities for which a price is not available are marked "Unavailable" and are omitted from the total.
Cost basis reporting is informational only and may not accurately reflect your original cost. Changes can be made by contacting your IBD.
Margin/Credit balances--If this is a margin account, this is a combined statement of your general account and of a special miscellaneous account maintained for you under section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection upon request. Any customer free credit balance may be used in the business of this firm subject to the limitations of 17 CFR 240 15c3-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Money balances invested in money market mutual funds represent shares in that mutual fund. While money market mutual funds seek to maintain a net asset value of $1 per share, there is no guarantee that they will do so.
Retain this statement. This statement contains information needed to verify interest charges on subsequent statements. Further information with respect to commissions and other charges related to the execution of listed option transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. Such information will be made available from your IBD.
Changes in investment objectives or needs--You should advise your IBD of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation. Sterne has no supervisory or agency relationship with your IBD. Therefore, the accuracy, genuineness and suitability of all transactions processed on your behalf are the sole responsibility of your IBD.
Custody--Note that customer funds and/or securities are held by Sterne as your clearing firm and not by your IBD which acts as your introducing brokerage firm. Sterne is responsible for custody of assets received by it and as evidenced by entries on this statement. In order to protect your rights under the Securities Investor Protection Act (SIPA), any discrepancies in balances or positions should be reported to your IBD and Sterne immediately, and in writing, at the address in the column on the right. This statement will otherwise be deemed conclusive.
It is agreed between Sterne and the Customer: (1) That all transactions are subject to the constitution, rules, regulations, customs, usages, rulings and interpretations of the exchange or market, and its clearing house, if any, where the transactions are executed. Customer agrees to abide by the terms of the Customer Agreement and the fully disclosed clearing agreement between clearing firm and IBD. Did you know.....

There is a convenient method for you to borrow funds against your existing brokerage account. You may apply the borrowings to pursue additional investment opportunities within your account or to meet other personal financial needs.

Based on the value of the securities in your account, you may be able to borrow up to $24,605.82. Please contact your Broker Dealer for more information. This borrowing capacity is subject to market fluctuations and account activity.

Borrowing on margin for investment or cash withdrawals increases the risk to your account. You can lose more than you invest. Sterne Agee can force the sale of securities or other assets in your account without your authorization to meet a margin call. You are not entitled to choose which securities are sold to meet a margin call. Sterne Agee can raise the in-house margin minimum without prior notice.
