

THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE SUPREME COURT

Timothy M. Cain, District Court Judge

RECEIVED

OCT 16 2018

S.C. SUPREME COURT

Case No. 2017-002538

Wilmot Shaw,

Plaintiff,

v.

Psychemedics Corporation,

Respondent.

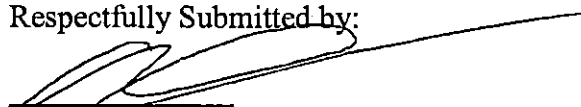

REQUEST FOR EXTENSION OF TIME

Plaintiff hereby requests and Defendant has consented to an extension of time to a subsequent term of court to participate in Oral Arguments in the above legal matter. The current date for oral arguments is set for October 18, 2018. The basis for this requested extension is not to delay the matter, but rather to give Plaintiff's counsel adequate time to prepare given recent unforeseen and tragic circumstances in Plaintiff's counsel's office.

Specifically, on or about early October 2018, Plaintiff's counsel had a tragedy in their office as Plaintiff's counsel's chief litigation paralegal's sister was shot and killed. As a result, Plaintiff's counsel has incurred great grief and increased obligations as a result and therefore requires additional time to prepare for oral arguments given the circumstances and pending bereavement ceremonies.

Plaintiff's counsel therefore moves for the rescheduling of Oral Arguments in the above action from October 18, 2018 to a subsequent term of court and Defense Counsel has consented to the rescheduling of the same.
