Case No. 2018-CP-40-05370

Richard A. Harpootlian

Respondent,

South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus,

Appellant.

APPELLANT SOUTH CAROLINA SENATE REPUBLICAN CAUCUS'S MOTION FOR AN INJUNCTION/STAY PENDING APPEAL AND FOR AN EXPEDITED DISPOSITION

Pursuant to Rules 62(c) & (g), SCRCP, and Rule 240, SCACR, Appellant South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus (the Caucus) submits this motion for the full Court's consideration. The Caucus moves for an injunction pending appeal of the circuit court's October 19, 2018 order to preserve the status quo in this matter. The Caucus further moves that the Court enter an expedited briefing schedule and hold an expedited hearing in light of the issues of public importance raised in this appeal that may have an effect on the November 6, 2018 election. For the reasons set forth below, the Court should grant this motion.

BACKGROUND

This appeal arises out of Respondent Richard A. Harpootlian's distaste for advertisements that conveyed accurate and important information for the voters of South Carolina Senate District 20 (Senate District 20) to consider in anticipation of the upcoming special election for this seat. Harpootlian is the Democratic nominee, and Benjamin Dunn is the Republican nominee for Senate District 20. Although these advertisements were politically inconvenient for Harpootlian, they were classic forms of political speech protected by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

One of the advertisements, a television ad paid for by the Caucus, called attention to Harpootlian's endorsement of U.S. Senator Bernie Sanders in the 2016 Democratic presidential primary as well as his support of a single-payer healthcare system. Another television ad cast Dunn, Harpootlian's opponent, in a positive light. The third objectionable advertisement came in the form of a mailer that called Harpootlian a liberal career politician and encouraged voters to support Dunn's candidacy. It is beyond dispute that the Caucus did not coordinate with Dunn's campaign in connection with the rollout of these advertisements.

Instead of disseminating his own information or explaining his position to the voters of Senate District 20, Harpootlian filed a lawsuit in circuit court seeking to, among other things, enjoin the Caucus from engaging in political speech that may be detrimental to his campaign. Harpootlian filed a verified petition, motion for a preliminary injunction, complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief, and motion to expedite discovery on October 12, 2018. Ex. C. That same day, the circuit court issued an order setting a hearing on the petition and motion for a preliminary injunction for October 15, 2018. Ex. B, Cir. Ct. Order Gr. Hr'g at 1-3. The circuit court also granted Harpootlian's motion to expedite discovery and required the Caucus to bring all invoices for expenditures made relating to Senate District 20.

At the October 15 hearing, the circuit court heard testimony from state Senator Shane Massey, who serves as Majority Leader of the South Carolina Senate and head of the Senate Republican Caucus. The parties stipulated to the admissibility of sixteen exhibits introduced by Harpootlian that related to the advertisements and expenditures on the Senate District 20 race. Following arguments of counsel, the circuit court took the matter under advisement. On the afternoon of October 19, 2018, the circuit court entered an order granting Harpootlian's motion for preliminary injunction. The circuit court enjoined and ordered the Caucus to do the following:

(a) cease and desist in purchasing or placing any further ads relating to the special election or the candidates running for state Senate District 20; and

(b) contact all television stations, cable networks, Internet companies, email companies, direct mail companies, telephone vendors, or any other advertising services with whom the Senate Republican Caucus has made or placed expenditures relating to state Senate District 20 and suspend dissemination of those communications.

Ex. A, Cir. Ct. Order Gr. Prelim. Inj. at 1.

This appeal followed. Because the circuit court failed to address the elements necessary for a preliminary injunction to issue and its analysis is legally flawed, this matter is before the full Court on the Caucus's motion for an injunction pending appeal.

STANDARD

Under Rule 62(c), SCRCP, in an appeal "from an interlocutory . . . judgment granting . . . an injunction, the court in its discretion may suspend, modify, restore, or grant an injunction during the pendency of the appeal upon such terms as to bond or otherwise as it considers proper for the security of the rights of the adverse party." The provisions of Rule 62, however, "do not limit any power of an appellate court or of a judge or justice thereof to stay proceedings during the pendency of an appeal or to suspend, modify, restore, or grant an injunction during the pendency of an appeal," nor do they prevent the Court from making "any order appropriate to preserve the status quo or the effectiveness of the judgment subsequently to be entered." Rule 62(g), SCRCP. Although parties should typically file a motion for injunction pending appeal with the circuit court, “when such an application is not practicable it may first be made to an appellate court or a judge or justice thereof.” Id.

The standard for an injunction pending appeal admittedly is a high one. As this Court has noted, “the power to make the order of injunction . . . ought not to be exercised unless the right of the appellant is very clear and beyond reasonable question.” Silverthorne v. Barnwell Lumber Co., 96 S.C. 32, 32, 79 S.E. 519, 519 (1913). By seeking an injunction pending appeal, an appellant is asking the Court to “practically revers[e] the judgment of the circuit judge.” Id. Nevertheless, this remedy is appropriate in the present situation because the Caucus’s right to advertise during the 45-day period leading up to the November 6, 2018 election is very clear and beyond reasonable question, and the circuit court erred in its findings to the contrary.

ARGUMENT

The Court should issue an injunction pending appeal because it is necessary to preserve the status quo. In the absence of an injunction pending appeal, the Caucus will suffer irreparable harm for which there is no adequate remedy at law. Further, because the Caucus’s right to spend money on the political speech Harpootlian finds offensive is very clear and beyond reasonable question, the Caucus is likely to succeed on the merits of this appeal.

“The purpose of an injunction is to preserve the status quo and prevent irreparable harm to the party requesting it.” Compton v. S.C. Dep’t of Corr., 392 S.C. 361, 366, 709 S.E.2d 639, 642 (2011); see also Poynter Invs., Inc. v. Century Builders of Piedmont, Inc., 387 S.C. 583, 586, 694 S.E.2d 15, 17 (2010) (asserting that “[a] preliminary injunction should issue only if necessary to preserve the status quo ante”). “The party seeking an injunction has the burden of demonstrating the facts and circumstances warranting an injunction.” Strategic Res. Co. v. BCS Life Ins. Co., 367 S.C. 540, 544, 627 S.E.2d 687, 689 (2006). For an injunction to issue, the moving party “must establish that (1) it would suffer irreparable harm if the injunction is not granted; (2) it will likely succeed on the merits of the litigation; and (3) there is an inadequate remedy at law.” Scratch Golf Co. v. Dunes W. Residential Golf Props., Inc., 361 S.C. 117, 121, 603 S.E.2d 905, 908 (2004). No “temporary injunction shall issue except upon the giving of security by the applicant, in such a sum as the court deems proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who is found to have been wrongfully enjoined.” Rule 65(c), SCRCP.

I. The motion for injunction pending appeal is properly before this Court.

At the outset, filing an application for an injunction pending appeal with the circuit court was “not practicable” here because (1) time is of the essence as the election is almost two weeks away, and (2) the likelihood of changing the circuit court’s mind three days after it issued an order preventing the Caucus from advertising for that election was slim to none. See Rule 62(g), SCRCP (noting that when filing an application for an injunction pending appeal with the circuit court “is not practicable it may first be made to an appellate court”). Given the importance of the issues and the need for expedited disposition, it would not have been practicable to wait for the circuit court to issue an order on the injunction pending appeal while this Court considered the merits. Thus, this motion is properly before the Court.

II. The circuit court’s order is deficient as a matter of law.

Turning to the circuit court’s order granting a preliminary injunction, it is fatally flawed because the court failed to analyze three of the four elements necessary for an injunction to issue. First, the circuit court gave short shrift to the irreparable harm analysis, simply finding that “campaign spending in excess of the legal limit constitutes an irreparable harm for which there is no adequate remedy at law.” Order at 4 ¶ 16. Even when putting aside the erroneous conclusion regarding campaign spending, a review of the statute upon which the circuit court relied to make this finding reveals that the circuit court’s analysis is erroneous. Under the statute, “[a] violation of this chapter by a candidate during this fifty-day period must be considered to be an irreparable harm for which no adequate remedy at law exists.” S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-530(5) (Supp. 2017) (emphasis added). This case has nothing to do with a candidate’s expenditures, and Harpootlian never filed a complaint against Dunn. Therefore, the circuit court erred as a matter of law in concluding that subsection 8-13-530(5) relieved the court of its duties to analyze the elements of irreparable harm and whether an adequate remedy at law existed.

Second, the circuit court failed to even address the matter of what bond would be appropriate for Harpootlian to post under the circumstances of this case. Notwithstanding the plain language of Rule 65, Harpootlian never posted security for the TRO or his request for a preliminary injunction, and the circuit court did not require a bond. Cf. Rule 65(c), SCRCF (stating “no restraining order or temporary injunction shall issue except upon the giving of security by the applicant, in such a sum as the court deems proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who is found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained”). This constitutes reversible error. See Headdon v. State Hwy. Dep’t, 197 S.C. 118, ___, 14 S.E.2d 586, 588 (1941) (holding the failure to require a bond prior to issuing an order that effectively continued at TRO constituted error); Hunt v. Smith, 18 S.C. Eq. 277, 280 (1 Rich. Eq.) (1845) (reversing and holding the lower court should have refused to issue an injunction because the applicant failed to comply with the law by not giving bond with sufficient security).

In sum, the circuit court erred as a matter of law in issuing a preliminary injunction because its analysis of two elements is legally flawed, and the court failed to even address the bond question or require Harpootlian to post a bond that would be commensurate with the drastic remedy he sought—the effect of which is to stifle constitutionally protected political speech.

III. The Court should issue an injunction pending appeal.

With this background in mind, the Court should issue an injunction pending appeal to preserve the status quo because the circuit court's order is legally deficient and the Caucus can meet the elements necessary for one to issue.

A. Issuing an injunction pending appeal would restore the status quo ante.

As noted above, “[a] preliminary injunction should issue only if necessary to preserve the status quo ante.” Poynter Invs., Inc., 387 S.C. at 586, 694 S.E.2d at 17. Here, the circuit court's order did not preserve the status quo ante. By issuing a preliminary injunction two weeks prior to the election, the circuit court upset the applecart by changing the rules under which the Caucus, as well as other similarly situated entities, have been operating for at least the past eleven years.

In 2007, the Senate Ethics Committee issued an advisory opinion that addressed the precise situation before the Court, concluding as follows:

If a legislative caucus makes a communication within forty-five days of an election that promotes or supports a candidate or attacks or opposes a candidate, regardless of whether the communication expressly advocates a vote for or against a candidate, the caucus must . . . report those funds as expenditures. A legislative caucus committee does not have to report, as contributions, the funds it receives that are used to pay for these communications and there is no limit on how much a legislative caucus committee can spend on these communications.

Further, a legislative caucus making [subsection 8-13-1300-31(c)] communications within 45 days of an election must identify the caucus in the communication.

Ex. D, S.C. Sen. Ethics Comm. Adv. Op. No. 2007-1 at 3–4 (July 23, 2007). By statute, this advisory opinion was legally binding as to the Senate's legislative caucus committees. See S.C. Code Ann. § 18-13-535(A)–(B) (Supp. 2017).

The circuit court, however, concluded the Senate Ethics Committee's advisory opinion was unpersuasive. In doing so, the circuit court ignored that the advisory opinion set forth the legal framework under which legislative caucus committees could operate in the forty-five days leading up to an election, and the law set forth therein was binding upon the Caucus. The status quo ante is not allowing Harpootlian to change the law to suit his political needs via declaratory judgment action. Rather, the status quo ante requires that all parties be allowed to operate under the existing framework that was legally binding on the Caucus. Because the circuit court's order disturbed and altered that status quo, the issuance of a preliminary injunction was improper. Therefore, this Court should issue an injunction pending appeal to restore the status quo ante. See Poynter Invs., Inc., 387 S.C. at 586, 694 S.E.2d at 17.

B. The Caucus will suffer irreparable harm for which there is no adequate remedy at law.

Next, the Caucus will suffer irreparable harm in the absence of an injunction pending appeal because the circuit court's order is allowing Harpootlian to stifle constitutionally protected political speech that the Caucus was allowed to distribute under South Carolina law.

As the circuit court noted in its order, the Caucus has spent over $100,000 on advertisements. These advertisements, as explained below, were permissible under South Carolina law because the election is less than forty-five days away. By not allowing the Caucus to air and distribute these advertisements, the circuit court is infringing upon the Caucus's constitutional and statutory rights to engage in political speech during the important final days leading up to the election. Meanwhile, with the circuit court's order in hand, Harpootlian has taken to the airwaves to blast the Caucus with misleading advertisements that will go unchecked for the next two weeks. Respectfully, this inequitable situation created by the circuit court's erroneous legal analysis will irreparably harm the Caucus because it cannot respond. As explained in greater detail below, the law allows the Caucus to spend any amount of money on communications in the forty-five days leading up to the election. To the extent Harpootlian has a problem with the law, he should take that matter up with the General Assembly. In the meantime, however, the Caucus is entitled to rely upon the binding legal authority that allows it to engage in these expenditures, and each day it is prevented from doing so only compounds upon the irreparable harm already sustained.

Because the circuit court's order does not allow the Caucus to engage in political speech that is expressly allowed under South Carolina law, the Caucus will suffer irreparable harm in the absence of an injunction pending appeal that suspends the operation of the circuit court's order. Further, because the underlying remedy given to Harpootlian was an injunction, the only remedy available to the Caucus is to have this Court issue an injunction pending appeal pursuant to Rule 62, SCRCP. No other adequate legal remedy exists.

C. The Caucus is likely to succeed on the merits of this litigation.

Additionally, the Court should issue an injunction pending appeal because the Caucus is likely to succeed on the merits of this appeal. As noted above, the circuit court's order entering a preliminary injunction is legally deficient and based upon an erroneous analysis of applicable law.

The U.S. District Court for the District of South Carolina has twice held that the definition of "committee" found in subsection 8-13-1300(21) of the South Carolina Code (Supp. 2017) was facially invalid on the ground that the definition is unconstitutionally overbroad. See S.C. Citizens for Life v. Krawcheck, 759 F. Supp. 2d 708, 727 (D.S.C. 2010) (Krawcheck I); S. Carolinians for Responsible Gov't, 854 F. Supp. 2d 336, 343 (D.S.C. 2012) (Krawcheck II). In Krawcheck I, the court found that "South Carolina cannot constitutionally impose committee restrictions on any group that distributes a communication that qualifies under [subsection] 8-13-1300(31)(c) without regard for the group's major purpose." 759 F. Supp. 2d at 727. The Krawcheck II court reached the same conclusion, finding the definition of “committee” was “overbroad and facially unconstitutional.” 854 F. Supp. 2d at 343. No parties appealed either case, and the General Assembly has not enacted a statute that revives the definition of “committee” so that it passes constitutional muster. Accordingly, these two district court decisions represent the only binding applicable law on the subject in South Carolina, and legislative caucus committees are not regulated by Title 8, Chapter 13.

But even if legislative caucus committees are regulated, subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) expands the definition of “influence the outcome of an election” to include the following:

any communications made, not more than forty-five days before an election, which promotes or supports a candidate or attacks or opposes a candidate, regardless of whether the communication expressly advocates a vote for or against a candidate. For purposes of this paragraph, “communication” means (i) any paid advertisement or purchased program time broadcast over television or radio; (ii) any paid message conveyed through telephone banks, direct mail, or electronic mail; or (iii) any paid advertisement that costs more than five thousand dollars that is conveyed through a communication medium other than those set forth in subsections (i) or (ii) of this paragraph. “Communication” does not include news, commentary, or editorial programming or article, or communication to an organization’s own members.

S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(31)(c) (Supp. 2017).

Here, it is beyond dispute that the Caucus has engaged in communications that fall squarely within the ambit of subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) because they were all made within forty-five days of the election. Further, the Caucus is unquestionably a “committee” under the Ethics Act. The definition of “committee” actually includes legislative caucuses, and the definition of “legislative caucus committee” says it is a committee. Therefore, because the Caucus is a committee that has engaged in communications pursuant to subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) at all relevant times in this lawsuit, the Caucus is not regulated by the Act because the definition of committee is unconstitutionally overbroad. Indeed, until the General Assembly changes the law to create a definition of “committee” that passes constitutional muster, the provisions the circuit court sought to impose upon the Caucus are inapplicable.

The Caucus is also likely to succeed on the merits because all of the communications at issue in this case are exclusively covered by subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c). To be sure, subsection 8-13-1300(7) exempts from the definition of “contribution” anything of value given to a committee used to pay for subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) communications within forty-five days of the election. S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(7) (Supp. 2017). A plain reading of the statute reveals the Caucus is, therefore, permitted to raise unlimited funds during the 45-day period leading up to an election. See Hodges v. Rainey, 341 S.C. 79, 85, 533 S.E.2d 578, 581 (2000) (“The cardinal rule of statutory construction is to ascertain and effectuate the intent of the [General Assembly].”); Miller v. Doe, 312 S.C. 444, 447, 441 S.E.2d 319, 321 (1994) (“If a statute’s language is plain and unambiguous and conveys a clear and definite meaning, there is no occasion for employing rules of statutory interpretation and the court has not right to look for or impose another meaning.”).

The first part of subsection 8-13-1300(7) does provide, in pertinent part, that a “contribution” includes something “given to a candidate to influence an election.” Under subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c), though, the Caucus’s communications—by definition—are not “influencing the outcome of an elective office” because they are within the forty-five days. Although subsection 8-13-1300(7) uses “influence an election” and subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) uses “influence the outcome of elective office,” this has to mean the same thing. See Joiner ex rel. Rivas v. Rivas, 342 S.C. 102, 109, 536 S.E.2d 372, 375 (2000) (“It is well settled that statutes dealing with the same subject matter are in para materia and must be construed together, if possible, to produce a single, harmonious result.”).

Subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) unambiguously expands the general rule and reflects the General Assembly's intent for a different rule to apply during the 45-day period leading up to an election. See Denman v. City of Columbia, 387 S.C. 131, 138, 691 S.E.2d 465, 468–69 (2010) (“Where there is one statute addressing an issue in general terms and another statute dealing with the identical issue in a more specific and definite manner, the more specific statute will be considered an exception to, or a qualifier of, the general statute and given such effect.” (quoting Spectre, LLC v. S.C. Dep’t of Health & Env’tl. Control, 386 S.C. 357, 372, 688 S.E.2d 844, 852 (2010))). To construe subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) otherwise would render the statute meaningless. See Florence Cty. Democratic Party v. Florence Cty. Republican Party, 398 S.C. 124, 128, 727 S.E.2d 418, 420 (2012) (“This Court will not construe a statute in a way which leads to an absurd result or renders it meaningless.”).

Accordingly, the funds given to pay for a subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) communication are not considered “contributions” under the Act. Although the Caucus is restricted by the $5,000 direct contribution limit found in section 8-13-1316 of the South Carolina Code (Supp. 2017), the Caucus may spend any amount on subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) communications in the forty-five days leading up to an election because these are not “contributions” under South Carolina law. As noted above, this conclusion is consistent with the Senate Ethics Committee’s advisory opinion, which is binding on the Caucus and contains a persuasive analysis of the issues, and the circuit court erred in finding otherwise.

In light of the foregoing, the Court should enter an injunction pending appeal because the Caucus’s right to spend any amount on subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c) communications in the forty-five days leading up to an election is very clear and beyond reasonable question, and the Caucus is likely to succeed on the merits of this appeal.

D. The Court should require only a nominal bond.

Admittedly, the Court must accompany an injunction pending appeal with “such terms as to bond or otherwise as it considers proper for the security of the rights of the adverse party.” Rule 62(c), SCRCP. As noted above, Harpootlian never posted the required bond to accompany an injunction, and the circuit court failed to even address this issue. Under these circumstances, the Court should not require the Caucus to post a bond. To the extent the Court feels a bond is necessary under the rules, the Caucus respectfully submits it should only be required to post a nominal bond. Harpootlian has prevented the Caucus from spending over $100,000 in lawful advertising costs pursuant to subsection 8-13-1300(31)(c). Meanwhile, Harpootlian is paying for his own advertisements hammering the Caucus, knowing the Caucus has no ability to respond. The Caucus is not asking to upset the status quo ante. Rather, the Caucus is seeking to restore the status quo by having the circuit court’s erroneous order overturned so that the existing law remains in full force. Therefore, to the extent a bond is necessary, the Caucus should not be required to post a substantial bond in connection with this motion for an injunction pending appeal.

IV. The Court should decide this appeal on the motions or, in the alternative, set an expedited briefing schedule.

Finally, the Court should allow Harpootlian one day to file a return to this motion, dispense with briefing, decide this case on the merits, and issue an expedited opinion as soon as possible. See, e.g., McConnell v. Haley, 393 S.C. 136, 137, 711 S.E.2d 886, 887 (2011) (granting the petition for original jurisdiction, dispensing with briefing, and staying and enjoining an executive order the same day it was filed with the Court). Alternatively, the Court should enter an order setting an expedited briefing schedule that still allows for a swift resolution of these issues of public importance. Because the parties agreed to the evidence entered into the record at the hearing before the circuit court, and the questions raised in this appeal merely involve the interpretation of statutes and the constitution, agreeing to the contents of the Record on Appeal should not be an issue. From the Caucus's perspective, this appeal only requires the resolution of legal questions. Thus, the Caucus respectfully requests that the Court enter the following briefing schedule. Harpootlian shall have one day to file a return to the motion for injunction pending appeal. After the Court rules on the present motion, the parties shall have all final briefs served and filed by the end of this week with a hearing scheduled no later than Friday. All parties shall accomplish service via hand delivery to the attorneys and by sending a courtesy copy to all counsel of record via email to ensure timely receipt of all filings in this case. Further, no extensions should be granted in this matter.

CONCLUSION

Based upon the foregoing, the Court should enter an order enjoining or suspending the circuit court's October 19, 2018 order from taking effect pending the Court's resolution of this matter on appeal. This drastic remedy is necessary to preserve the status quo. Further, the Caucus respectfully requests that the Court enter an order setting an expedited briefing schedule and hearing to resolve this matter by the end of the week given the significant public importance of the issues and the potential effect any ruling could have on the November 6, 2018 election.

Attorneys for Appellant South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus

Columbia, South Carolina

October 22, 2018

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA)

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

COUNTY OF RICHLAND)

FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

Richard A. Harpootlian,

C/A No.: 2018-CP-40-05370

Plaintiff,

South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus,

PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

Defendant.

This matter is before the Court on a petition and motion for a preliminary injunction filed by Plaintiff Richard A. Harpootlian against Defendant South Carolina Republican Senate Caucus. For the reasons that follow, Harpootlian's motion is GRANTED and the Republican Senate Caucus is enjoined and ORDERED to:

(a) cease and desist in purchasing or placing any further ads relating to the special election or the candidates running for state Senate District 20, and

(b) contact all television stations, cable networks, Internet companies, email companies, direct mail companies, telephone vendors, or any other advertising services with whom the Senate Republican Caucus has made or placed expenditures relating to state Senate District 20 and suspend dissemination of those communications.

This preliminary injunction shall remain in place until dissolution, entry of final judgment, or further order of the Court. In issuing this preliminary injunction, the Court makes the following findings of fact and conclusions of law.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Having carefully considered and weighed the evidence in this case, including exhibits and testimony offered by the parties, the Court makes the following findings of fact by the preponderance of the evidence:

1. There is a special election for state Senate District 20 scheduled for Tuesday, November 6, 2018. The Democratic Party's nominee is the Plaintiff, Dick Harpootlian. The Republican Party's nominee is Benjamin Dunn.

2. The Senate Republican Caucus is comprised of the Republican members of the South Carolina Senate. The leader of the Senate Republican Caucus is Senator Shane Massey, who holds the position of majority leader.

3. On Friday, October 12, 2018, Plaintiff filed a verified petition and motion for a preliminary injunction, complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief, and motion to expedite discovery. Due to the chief administrative judge's unavailability to consider Plaintiff's request for an expedited hearing, the matter was referred to this Court.

4. That same day, the Court issued an order convening an emergency hearing on Plaintiff's motion for a preliminary injunction for Monday, October 15, 2018 at 2:00 p.m. The Court also granted Plaintiff's discovery request for all invoices for expenditures made relating to state Senate District 20 and exemplars of those expenditures.

5. The Court convened a plenary hearing on October 15.

6. The parties stipulated to the admissibility of 16 exhibits introduced by the Plaintiff, specifically: two ads running on television and Facebook (Ex. 1); a printed mailer (i.e., direct mail) sent to a District 20 voter (Ex. 2); quarterly reports from January 10, 2017 through October 10, 2018 filed by the Senate Republican Caucus with the South Carolina Ethics Commission (Ex. 3); and reports from four local television stations concerning ads placed by the Senate Republican Caucus (Exs. 4-16).

7. Plaintiff also presented testimony from state Senator Shane Massey who testified he is the Senate Republican Caucus's majority leader and the person responsible for authorizing the communications at issue in this case. Concerning the Court's discovery order Senator Massey produced copies of invoices reflecting the caucus's spending in the District 20 special election to date and testified that all exemplars of the Caucus's communications with voters had already been filed or admitted into evidence.

8. Senator Massey testified one of the Republican Senate Caucus's objectives is political, namely to add to its membership or, in the case of District 20 which was previously held by a Republican Senator, not lose members.

9. He also agreed that the purpose of the television and Facebook ads and direct mail was to support Mr. Dunn's election and, by extension, Plaintiff's defeat.

10. Further, Senator Massey conceded the caucus has already spent in excess of $5,000 to support Mr. Dunn's candidacy, but when pressed could not offer an exact amount.

11. The Court has reviewed the invoices furnished by the caucus (Ex. 17) which total $198,242.10 excluding the three $5,000 contributions the Republican Senate Caucus made directly to Mr. Dunn's campaign. This figure is in line with the television ad-buy reports (Exs. 4-16), which together reflect $135,355 in television advertising (only counting the "revised" buy reflected in Exs. 4 and 5 once).

12. Senator Massey agreed that, as of October 10, 2017, the Senate Republican Caucus had in excess of $800,000 cash on hand in the caucus's "operating account" and that he could authorize the caucus to spend every penny in District 20 (subject to possible protestation of caucus colleagues).

13. He explained that the Senate Republican Caucus's spending in District 20 occurred from the caucus "campaign account," which he conceded was funded by the transfer of, at times, hundreds of thousands of dollars from the operating account. Those fund transfers are detailed in the caucus' Ethics Commission disclosures (Ex. 3).

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

In granting Plaintiff's motion for a preliminary injunction, the Court makes the following conclusions of law:

14. Rule 65 of the civil rules provides that no temporary injunction shall be issued without notice to the adverse party. Rule 65(a), SCRCP. "A preliminary injunction should issue only if necessary to preserve the status quo ante, and only upon a showing by the moving party that without such relief it will suffer irreparable harm, that it has a likelihood of success on the merits, and that there is no adequate remedy at law." Poynter Invs., Inc. v. Century Builders of Piedmont, Inc., 387 S.C. 583, 586-87, 694 S.E.2d 15, 17 (2010).

15. Plaintiff argues the Senate Republican Caucus's spending on Mr. Dunn's behalf exceeds the $5,000 limit imposed by South Carolina Code § 8-13-1316(A) and that, absent an injunction, he has been and will continue to be irreparably by further dissemination of caucus' communications, which Plaintiff argues "will inhibit the conduct of a fair, lawful electoral process." See Pl.'s Pet. ¶ 21.

16. The Court agrees that, if correct, campaign spending in excess of the legal limit constitutes an irreparable harm for which there is no adequate remedy at law. See S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-530(5) (noting that 50-days prior to an election, any person may petition the court of common pleas alleging the violations complained of and praying for appropriate relief by way of mandamus or injunction, or both[.]") and that the alleged violation "must be considered to be an irreparable injury for which no adequate remedy at law exists.").

17. Accordingly, the Court turns to the merits of this dispute and concludes Plaintiff is likely to prevail on the merits of his claim.

18. The South Carolina Ethics Act provides, in relevant part, that within an election cycle, "a political party through its party committees or legislative caucus committees may not give to a candidate contributions which total in the aggregate more than: ... (2) five thousand dollars in the case of a candidate for any other office." S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1316(A).

19. A "legislative caucus committee" includes, in relevant part, "a committee of either house of the General Assembly controlled by the caucus of a political party[.]" Id. § 8-13-1300(21)(a).

20. There is no dispute the Senate Republican Caucus is a "legislative caucus committee" within the meaning of § 8-13-1300(21).

21. A "contribution" within the meaning of the Ethics Act, includes in relevant part, an "in-kind contribution or expenditure ... or anything of value made to a candidate or committee to influence an election[.]" S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(7) (emphasis added). Likewise, an "expenditure" under the Act is any "purchase, payment, loan, forgiveness of a loan, an advance, in-kind contribution or expenditure, a deposit, transfer of funds, gift of money, or anything of value for any purpose." Id. § 8-13-1300(12). Further, an "in-kind contribution or expenditure" is defined as "goods or services which are provided to or by a person at no charge or for less than their fair market value." Id. § 8-13-1300(20).

22. By way of example, Senator Massey testified that, as a senate candidate, a supporter could not spend $10,000 to host a fundraiser for his campaign without violating the $1,000 per individual, per campaign cycle limitation on candidates for the South Carolina Senate. See id. § 8-13-1314(A).

23. Plaintiff argues the Senate Republican Caucus is making in-kind contributions or expenditures on Mr. Dunn's behalf in violation of the $5,000 limit on caucus contributions imposed by § 8-13-1316(A). The Court agrees.

24. However, the Senate Republican Caucus does not agree and offered several arguments in defense of caucus spending.

25. First, the caucus points to two cases: S.C. Citizens for Life, Inc. v. Krawcheck, 759 F. Supp. 2d 708 (D.S.C. 2010) (Krawcheck I) and South Carolinians for Responsible Government v. Krawcheck, 854 F. Supp. 2d 336 (D.S.C. 2012) (Krawcheck II). The Senate Republican Caucus reads Krawcheck I and Krawcheck II for the proposition that its spending is no longer constrained by the Ethics Act because the federal courts have struck down the definition of "committee" under § 8-13-1300(6) as unconstitutionally broad.

26. Second, the caucus points to § 8-13-1300(7) (defining "contribution") and § 8-13-1300(31) (defining "influence the outcome of an elective office"), which the caucus reads together to allow unlimited campaign expenditures on behalf of its party nominee within the 45-day pre-election period.

27. Third, the caucus argues its conduct is authorized by an opinion issued by the South Carolina Senate Ethics Committee: Advisory Opinion 2007-1 (July 23, 2007).

28. The Court disagrees for reasons it will address in turn.

29. In Krawcheck I, a non-profit corporation seeking to disseminate factual information on human fetal development, abortion, abortion alternatives, and related issues challenged the Ethics Act's definition of the "committee"—codified at § 8-13-1300(6)—as unconstitutionally broad under the First Amendment. Krawcheck I, 759 F. Supp. 2d at 709–10.

30. Specifically, the corporation sought to spend approximately $15,000 to disseminate a “voter guide” via direct mail to voters in a state house district in advance of a general election. Id. at 711. The corporation argued (1) the term “committee” in § 8-13-1300(6) was facially unconstitutional for overbreadth; (2) the term “influence” in § 8-13-1300(31)(c) was facially unconstitutional for overbreadth; and (3) the term “influence” in § 8-13-1300(31)(c) was facially unconstitutional for vagueness. Krawcheck I, 759 F. Supp. 2d at 711–12. The district court granted summary judgment in the corporation’s favor concluding “the definition of ‘committee’ located at S.C. Code Ann. § 8–13–1300(6) is facially invalid on the ground that the definition is unconstitutionally overbroad.” Id. at 720.

31. Looking primarily to the U.S. Supreme Court’s decision in Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1 (1976) and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit’s decision in North Carolina Right to Life Inc. v. Leake, 525 F.3d 274 (4th Cir. 2008), the Krawcheck I Court reasoned the Ethics Acts’ definition of “committee” was unconstitutional because the regulatory mandates that accompanied “committee” status under the Ethics Act applied to groups like the corporation, it burdened more speech than what the First Amendment allowed. See Krawcheck I, 759 F. Supp. 2d at 712–20.

32. In Buckley, the Supreme Court upheld a campaign contribution restriction imposed by the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 (FECA), holding the FECA’s purpose “to limit the actuality and appearance of corruption resulting from large individual financial contributions” was a sufficiently weighty interest capable of justifying the FECA’s limited restraint on speech. See Buckley, 424 U.S. at 26–29. The Court reasoned,

To the extent that large contributions are given to secure a political quid pro quo from current and potential office holders, the integrity of our system of representative democracy is undermined. Although the scope of such pernicious practices can never be reliably ascertained, the deeply disturbing examples surfacing after the 1972 election demonstrate that the problem is not an illusory one.

Buckley, 424 U.S. at 26–27; see also Citizens United v. FEC, 558 U.S. 310, 344 (2010) (striking down a prohibition on corporate independent expenditures, while explaining Buckley's decision upholding contribution limits to candidates turned on "the potential for quid pro quo corruption [that] distinguished direct contributions to candidates from independent expenditures.").

33. In Leake, the Fourth Circuit's sought to apply Buckley's strictures by discerning whether the organization at issue was primarily engaged in regulable, election related speech. See Leake, 525 F.3d at 287–88.

34. As the Fourth Circuit's decision in Leake explained, Buckley's holding "is based on the recognition that 'only unambiguously campaign related communications have a sufficiently close relationship to the government's acknowledged interest in preventing corruption to be constitutionally regulable.'" Krawcheck I, 759 F. Supp. 2d at 714 (quoting Leake, 525 F.3d at 281).

35. Thus, the district court's decision striking down the Ethics Act's definition of "committee" in Krawcheck I expressly recognized "that legislatures have the well established power to regulate elections," by enacting campaign finance restrictions on political campaigns; but was instead concerned with limits on ordinary political expression outside an election context. See Krawcheck I, 759 F. Supp. 2d at 714 (quoting Buckley, 423 U.S. at 13–14 & 80 and Leake, 525 F.3d at 281). Further, the court reasoned the corporation's challenge to the term "influence" was "no longer viable" based on its ruling striking down the term "committee," but went on to conclude "that South Carolina's attempt to define the scope of communications that may be susceptible to some level of regulation does not contain an inherent constitutional infirmity." Krawcheck I, 759 F. Supp. 2d at 721–28.

36. Two years later, another member of South Carolina's District Court agreed the definition of "committee" under § 8-13-1300(6) was unconstitutionally broad in response to a facial challenge by a nonprofit organization seeking to communicate with citizens about cutting taxes and school choice. See Krawcheck II, 854 F. Supp. 2d at 337–338 & 344 (granting summary judgment on claim "for a declaration that, on its face, the South Carolina Ethics Code's definition of 'committee' found in South Carolina Code § 8-16-1300(6) is overbroad and facially unconstitutional.").

37. Like Krawcheck I, the district court in Krawcheck II looked to Buckley, reasoning:

The Supreme Court holds laws aimed at regulating political speech to be permissible only in the limited situation where the speech is "unambiguously related to the campaign of a particular ... candidate." Buckley[, 424 U.S. at 80]. An organization can be subjected to speech regulations like those found in the South Carolina Ethics Code only if it is "under the control of a candidate or the major purpose of which is the nomination or election of a candidate." Buckley, 424 U.S. at 79[].

Krawcheck II, 854 F. Supp. 2d at 342.

38. In short, while Krawcheck I and Krawcheck II struck down the Ethics Act's definition of "committee", neither precedent limited a state's ability to regulate political speech under the control of a candidate or for which the major purpose is the nomination or election of a candidate.

39. Turning back to the matter at hand, the Court concludes that neither Krawcheck I and Krawcheck II, nor the absence of a constitutional "committee" definition under the Ethics Act, has any bearing on the question here.

40. The Ethics Act regulates the conduct of the Senate Republican Caucus using the definition "legislative caucus committee" found at § 8-13-1300(21)(a). The constitutionality of this provision has not been litigated, nor does the Senate Republican Caucus challenge it here.

41. That decision is prudent as regulation of a “legislative caucus committee” appears to fall squarely within the bounds of permissible campaign regulation under Buckley and its progeny. This conclusion is bolstered by the Ethics Act itself.

42. For example, South Carolina Code § 8-13-1300(17), which defines what constitutes an “independent expenditure” under the Ethics Act also explains what expenditures are not independent as a matter of law: “Expenditures by party committees or expenditures by legislative caucus committees based upon party affiliation are considered to be controlled by, coordinated with, requested by, or made upon consultation with a candidate or an agent of a candidate.” S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(17). So independent actors are freed from some of the regulatory obligations imposed by the Act by virtue of their independents, legislative caucus committees are presumptively under the control of a candidate and therefore subject to regulations tailored to address the concerns engendered in Buckley.

43. This conclusion comports with Senator Massey’s testimony, which candidly acknowledged the Senate Republican Caucus’s desire to influence the outcome of District 20’s special election in favor of Mr. Dunn.

44. In light of the foregoing discussion, the Court finds Krawcheck I and Krawcheck II to have no adverse bearing on the $5,000 contribution limit imposed on a legislative party caucus by § 8-13-1316(A). To the contrary, the Senate Republican Caucus’s political activity appears to fall well within the range of constitutionally permissible campaign finance regulations.

45. The Senate Republican Caucus also contends that, when read together, subsections (7) and (31) of § 8-13-1300 allow unlimited campaign spending on Mr. Dunn’s behalf within the 45-day pre-election period. The Court disagrees.

46. This argument turns on what is not a “contribution,” including, in relevant part:

a gift, subscription, loan, guarantee upon which collection is made, forgiveness of a loan, an advance, in-kind contribution or expenditure, a deposit of money, or anything of value made to a committee, other than a candidate committee, and is used to pay for communications made not more than forty-five days before the election to influence the outcome of an elective office as defined in Section 8-13-1300(31)(c). These funds must be deposited in an account separate from a campaign account as required in Section 8-13-1312.

S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(7)(b) (emphasis added). Put differently, while the caucus is correct that certain in-kind contributions or expenditures made to a committee within a 45-day pre-election window are exempt from the definition of “contribution,” that exception contains an exception that excludes in-kind contributions or expenditures made to “a candidate committee.”¹

47. The Court’s review of § 8-13-1300(31), defining what it means to “influence the outcome of an elective office,” fails to alter this conclusion as that subsection merely seeks to define regulatable political speech under the Act. Thus, while § 8-13-1300 enumerates certain conduct that constitutes “influence” over an election—including communications within the 45-day window as set forth in subsection (c)—there is no real dispute the caucus is attempting to influence the election. Instead, the issue here turns on whether the caucus’s pre-election activity is a “contribution,” which is resolved affirmatively under subsection (7)(b).

48. Here, the Senate Republican Caucus readily admits it is attempting to influence the outcome of the election in Mr. Dunn’s favor. The relevant question is whether its efforts to do so are illegal in-kind contributions or expenditures in excess of § 8-13-1316(A). To the extent the caucus believes its in-kind contributions or expenditures on Mr. Dunn’s behalf are exempted from the definition of “contribution,” that conclusion is unsupported by a plain, unambiguous reading of § 8-13-1300(7)(b).

¹ A. “candidate” is defined by the Ethics Act as a person seeking election to a statewide or local office. S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(4). There is no dispute Mr. Dunn is a “candidate” within the meaning of the Act.

49. Finally, the Senate Republican Caucus argues its conduct has been condoned by a Senate Ethics Committee opinion, specifically Advisory Opinion 2007-1. The Court disagrees.

50. The Advisory Opinion purports to construe subsections (7) and (31) of § 8-13-1300 to explain the “45-day rule.” The Advisory Opinion reads the 45-day rule to mean that communications made during the 45-day pre-election window must be reported as “expenditures” but are not “contributions” and “therefore, are not subject to the contribution limitations of the Ethics Act.” S.C. Sen. Ethics Comm. Adv. Op. at 1 (July 23, 2017) (hereafter, “Adv. Op.”).

51. Having reviewed the Advisory Opinion, the Court finds it unpersuasive for three reasons.

52. First, the Senate Ethics Committee’s construction of a legislative enactment is entitled to no deference in this declaratory judgment action. The separation of powers doctrine grants the General Assembly the power to legislate, while reserving matters of statutory construction to the courts. See Amisub of S.C., Inc. v. S.C. Dep’t of Health & Env’tl. Control, 407 S.C. 583, 591, 757 S.E.2d 408, 412–13 (2014); Hodges v. Rainey, 341 S.C. 79, 85, 533 S.E.2d 578, 581 (2000). The legislative ethics committees perform a different function.

53. Article III, §§ 11 and 12 of the South Carolina Constitution grants the General Assembly authority over the conduct of its members. Gantt v. Selph, 423 S.C. 333, 340, 814 S.E.2d 523, 527 (2018), reh’g denied (June 27, 2018).

54. To the extent the Senate Ethics Committee issued guidance indicating it would not bring an enforcement action against a member based on its interpretation of the Ethics Act, this Court has no role in reviewing that decision; however, that decision, and the reasoning underpinning that decision is neither binding nor persuasive with this Court in a declaratory judgment action such as this.

55. Second, the Court disagrees with the Advisory Opinion's conclusion, specifically:

Because (31)(c) communications are specifically exempted from the definition of contribution, legislative caucus committees are not restricted by the $5,000 contribution limit found in Section 8-13-1316. Therefore, a legislative caucus committee may spend any amount on (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election.

Ad. Op. at 2 (emphasis original). This reasoning is flawed.

56. Subsection (31)(c) simply defines one category of communications designed to "influence the outcome of an elective office"—it contains no express permission or restriction on legislative caucus committees. That limitation is expressly provided in § 8-13-1316(A).

57. Subsection (7), on the other hand, contains an express limitation on a "contribution" during the 45-day pre-election period by excluding in-kind contributions and expenditures to "a candidate committee" from the list of items that are not a contribution.

58. Moreover, neither subsection (7) or (31)(c) places any limitation on the clear, unambiguous limitation imposed by § 8-13-1316(A). Notably absent from the Advisory Opinion is an explanation connecting the definitional sections outlined above with the conclusion that § 8-13-1316(A).

59. Third, this Court does not find § 8-13-1316(A) to be ambiguous, therefore there is no need to construe the statute. Nevertheless, if statutory construction was warranted, the rules that govern that analysis all weigh against the reading adopted by the Advisory Opinion.

60. "What a legislature says in the text of a statute is considered the best evidence of the legislative intent or will. Therefore, the courts are bound to give effect to the expressed intent of the legislature." Rainey, 341 S.C. at 85, 533 S.E.2d at 581 (quoting Norman J. Singer, Sutherland Statutory Construction § 46.03 at 94 (5th ed. 1992)). As Senator Massey conceded during his testimony, § 8-13-1316(A) is clear, unambiguous, and requires no special training to understand the restriction imposed. The Court agrees.

61. “Courts will reject a statutory interpretation which would lead to a result so plainly absurd that it could not have been intended by the legislature or would defeat the plain legislative intention.” Jones v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 364 S.C. 222, 232, 612 S.E.2d 719, 724 (Ct. App. 2005) (citing Unisun Ins. Co. v. Schmidt, 339 S.C. 362, 529 S.E.2d 280 (2000); Kiriakides v. United Artists Communications, Inc., 312 S.C. 271, 440 S.E.2d 364 (1994)). Senator Massey testified that in addition to the in-kind expenditures challenged by Plaintiff, the Senate Republican Caucus made a direct contribution of $5,000 to Mr. Dunn’s campaign from each election cycle (see also Ex. 17 (check copies)). Asked to explain these direct contributions in excess of the $1,000 limit imposed by § 8-13-1314(A), he cited the first portion of § 8-13-1316 to authorize Mr. Dunn’s campaign to accept $5,000 from the Senate Republican Caucus. But when asked why the latter part of that same statute, which expressly limits legislative caucus committee contributions to $5,000, he rejected the notion that it applied and referred to the statutes discussed above. The Court finds this explanation to strain credulity.

62. Finally, “[t]he general rule of statutory construction is that a specific statute prevails over a more general one.” State v. Taub, 336 S.C. 310, 317, 519 S.E.2d 797, 801 (Ct. App. 1999) (citing Wooten v. South Carolina Dep’t of Transp., 333 S.C. 464, 511 S.E.2d 355 (1999); Atlas Food Sys. & Serv., Inc. v. Crane, 319 S.C. 556, 462 S.E.2d 858 (1995)). The Senate Republican Caucus’s position frustrates this canon, asking the Court to find the specific limitation imposed by § 8-13-1316(A) is effectively preempted within the 45-day pre-election window based on a convoluted reading of § 8-13-1300(7) & (31). The Court finds such a reading untenable and declines to adopt that view.

63. In light of the foregoing, the Court concludes that Plaintiff is likely to prevail on the merits and, accordingly, is entitled to a preliminary injunction.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, the Senate Republican Caucus is enjoined as set forth above. The preliminary injunction shall remain in place until dissolution, entry of final judgment, or further order of the Court.

AND IT IS SO ORDERED.

ORDER SETTING HEARING ON PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION AND DISCOVERY ORDER

2018 OCT 12 AM 10:51
JEANETTE M. McBRIDE
C.C. CLERK
RICHLAND COUNTY
FILED

This matter is before the Court on a verified petition and motion for a preliminary injunction complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief, and motion to expedite discovery filed by Plaintiff Richard A. Harpootlian, the South Carolina Democratic Party's nominee for state Senate District 20, against Defendant South Carolina Republican Senate Caucus. For the reasons that follow, Harpootlian's motion for a discovery order is GRANTED and a hearing on the petition and motion for a preliminary injunction is set for Monday, October 15, 2018 at 2:00 pm at the Richland County Courthouse located at 1701 Main Street, Columbia, South Carolina.

Harpootlian's petition and complaint alleges the Republican Senate Caucus is violating the South Carolina Ethics Act by purchasing positive and negative television and Internet ads and contacting voters with direct mail that advocates for the election of the Republican Party nominee for state Senate District 20, Benjamin Dunn, and Harpootlian's defeat. Specifically, Harpootlian alleges that the Senate Republican Caucus is a "legislative caucus committee" within the meaning of South Carolina Code § 8-13-1300(21), which means the caucus's ability to contribute to Dunn's campaign is limited to $5,000 in the aggregate. See S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1316(A) ("a political party through its party committees or legislative caucus committees may not give to a candidate contributions which total in the aggregate more than: ... (2) five thousand dollars in the case of a candidate for any other office.”). A “contribution” under state law includes “in-kind contribution[s] or expenditure[s], ... or anything of value made to a candidate or committee to influence an election[.]” S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(7).

In support of his allegation, Harpootlian’s petition and complaint include exemplars of the positive and negative television and Internet ads, exemplars of promoted Facebook posts featuring the ads, and an example of direct mail sent to a District 20 voter. These submissions indicate they are “Paid for by the S.C. Senate Republican Caucus.” Further, Harpootlian also attached an “ad-buy report” from a local television station evidencing 103 spots placed by the “South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus” from October 9 to October 15, 2018, the cost of which is reported by the document as $33,325. Harpootlian claims this is a fraction of the total expenditures.

Rule 65 of the civil rules provides that no temporary injunction shall be issued without notice to the adverse party. Rule 65(a), SCRCP. “A preliminary injunction should issue only if necessary to preserve the status quo ante, and only upon a showing by the moving party that without such relief it will suffer irreparable harm, that it has a likelihood of success on the merits, and that there is no adequate remedy at law.” Poynter Invs., Inc. v. Century Builders of Piedmont, Inc., 387 S.C. 583, 586–87, 694 S.E.2d 15, 17 (2010).

Having considered the verified petition and complaint and reviewed the applicable law, the Court finds an expedited hearing on Plaintiff’s motion for a temporary injunction is warranted as there appears to be evidence of an ongoing violation of the Ethics Act in the form of in-kind contributions, specifically, ads advocating for the election and defeat of candidates for state Senate District 20, that appear to exceed the contribution limits imposed by South Carolina Code § 8-13-1316(A). The Court finds further that the special election set for Tuesday, November 6, 2018 is quickly approaching and failure to maintain the status quo by temporarily enjoining the Senate Republican Caucus from engaging in further electioneering in state Senate District 20 would constitute an irreparable injury because there is no remedy at law (or in equity) once the Senate Republican Caucus's message is disseminated to the voters. Accordingly, the Court finds it appropriate and necessary to convene a hearing on this matter to consider Plaintiff's request for a temporary injunction.

Accordingly, along with the summons and complaint, Plaintiff shall serve a copy of this Order and hearing notice on the Senate Republican Caucus in accordance with Rule 4. Plaintiff is ordered further that copies of the same be served on Benjamin Dunn to afford him an opportunity to appear and be heard if he so chooses.

Further, as to Plaintiff's motion to expedite discovery, the Court GRANTS Plaintiff's request and ORDERS the Senate Republican Caucus to bring the two categories of documents requested by Plaintiff's motion to expedite discovery to the temporary injunction hearing. See Rule 26(d), SCRPC (authorizing the court to enter orders concerning the sequence and timing of discovery).

Plaintiff,

v.

South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus,
Defendant.

C/A NO.: _____

PETITION AND MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION
COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF AND MOTION TO EXPEDITE DISCOVERY

Plaintiff Richard A. Harpootlian hereby files this petition and motion for a preliminary injunction, complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief, and motion for expedited discovery and an expedited schedule. Mr. Harpootlian would respectfully show unto the Court as follows:

PARTIES, JURISDICTION, AND VENUE

1. Plaintiff Richard A. Harpootlian is a resident of Richland County, South Carolina and the duly elected nominee of the South Carolina Democratic Party for state Senate District 20.
2. Defendant South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus (Senate Republican Caucus) is "legislative caucus committee" within the meaning of South Carolina Code § 8-13-1300(21).
3. The Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of any action filed in this dispute pursuant to Article V, Section 11 of the South Carolina Constitution and the Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act, S.C. Code Ann. §§ 15-53-10 et seq.
4. Venue is proper in Richland County pursuant to South Carolina Code § 15-7-30(C), because the most substantial part of the acts and omissions giving rise to the allegations here occurred in Richland County, South Carolina.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

5. On or about October 2, 2018, the Senate Republican Caucus began running paid television and Facebook ads within 45 days of an election claiming Plaintiff—the duly elected nominee of an opposing political party and legislative caucus committee—was “too extreme” for public office.

6. A copy of the Senate Republican Caucus’s attack ad is attached as Exhibit A.

7. Both the ad itself and Facebook posts promoting the ad indicate it is “Paid for by the S.C. Senate Republican Caucus” and expressly advocate for Plaintiff’s defeat on Tuesday, November 6. For example:

South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus
Sponsored • Paid for by S.C. Senate Republican Caucus

Dick Harpootlian would embarrass our State Senate district by bringing attention to himself, rather than representing our best interests
On November 6th, say NO to Dick Harpootlian and his extreme politics

South Carolina Senate Republican Caucus
Sponsored • Paid for by S.C. Senate Republican Caucus

Dick Harpootlian supports the extreme single-payer health care medical plan backed by socialist Bernie Sanders. Single-payer health care would drive up costs for South Carolinians while significantly lowering our standard of care for all seniors, families and patients! On November 6th, say NO to Dick Harpootlian and his extreme politics.

8. On or about October 10, 2018, the Senate Republican Caucus began running paid television and Facebook ads within 45 days of an election touting the credentials and campaign promises of Benjamin Dunn—the duly elected nominee of the South Carolina Republic Party and the Senate Republican Caucus.

9. A copy of the Senate Republican Caucus's positive ad is attached as Exhibit B.

10. The ad indicates it is "Paid for by the S.C. Senate Republican Caucus."

11. On October 11, 2018, one of Mr. Harpootlian's supporters received direct mail delivered by the U.S. Postal Service that advocates for Mr. Dunn's election and against Mr. Harpootlian (Exhibit C). The mail indicates it is "Paid for by SC Senate Republican Caucus[.]"

12. The South Carolina Ethics Act provides, in relevant part, that within an election cycle, "a political party through its party committees or legislative caucus committees may not give to a candidate contributions which total in the aggregate more than: ... (2) five thousand dollars in the case of a candidate for any other office." S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1316(A).

13. A "contribution" within the meaning of the Ethics Act, includes in relevant part, an "in-kind contribution or expenditure ... or anything of value made to a candidate or committee to influence an election[.]" S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(7).

14. An "expenditure" under the Act is any "purchase, payment, loan, forgiveness of a loan, an advance, in-kind contribution or expenditure, a deposit, transfer of funds, gift of money, or anything of value for any purpose." S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1300(12).

15. According to just one television station's "ad buy" records (Exhibit D), the Senate Republican Caucus has purchased 103 of the aforementioned ads at a total cost of at least $33,325 worth of air time.

16. This is only a fraction of the total spending by the Senate Republican Caucus relating to state Senate District 20 as it is presently unknown how much was spent to film and produce the ads, the full extent of the air-time purchased, the cost of the ad space purchased on Facebook or possibly other Internet sites, the cost of designing and printing mail, and the total universe of recipients.

17. Moreover, these ads are being purchased with pecial interest money raised by the Senate Republican Caucus in increments of tens of thousands of dollars and in excess of what the candidates themselves could raise from their respective supporters whose financial contributions are limited to $1,000 per individual, per election cycle. See S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1314(A).

18. A list of the contributions accepted by the Senate Republican Caucus since 2008 is attached as Exhibit E.

19. The Senate Republican Caucus has willfully and knowingly violated and continues to violate the Ethics Act by making these illegal campaign expenditures to influence the November 6 special election for state Senate District 20.

20. A violation of Article 13 of the Ethics Act is a crime. S.C. Code Ann. § 8-13-1520.

21. Absent a preliminary injunction, declaratory relief, and a permanent injunction from the Court, the Mr. Harpootlian and the constituents he seeks to serve will suffer an irreparable injury for which there is no adequate remedy at law and will inhibit the conduct of a fair, lawful electoral process.

22. Specifically, the Senate Republican Caucus is engaged in electioneering activity on behalf of its party's nominee using corporate special interest money raised in excess of the limits the candidates themselves could raise from these lobbyist principals and special interest donors. Further, because of these false, misleading, and deceptive campaign expenditures advocating for Mr. Harpootlian's defeat and Mr. Dunn's election, Mr. Harpootlian's campaign committee is being forced to spend tens of thousands of finite campaign dollars raised ethically within the legal limits imposed by the Ethics Act.

23. In short, the Senate Republican Caucus is attempting to buy this election for its nominee in violation of the Ethics Act.

PETITION AND MOTION FOR A PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION (Rule 65(a), SCRPC)

24. Each of the foregoing paragraphs are incorporated herein.

25. Rule 65 of the civil rules provides that no temporary injunction shall be issued without notice to the adverse party. Rule 65(a), SCRPC. "A preliminary injunction should issue only if necessary to preserve the status quo ante, and only upon a showing by the moving party that without such relief it will suffer irreparable harm, that it has a likelihood of success on the merits, and that there is no adequate remedy at law.” Poynter Invs., Inc. v. Century Builders of Piedmont, Inc., 387 S.C. 583, 586–87, 694 S.E.2d 15, 17 (2010).

26. A preliminary injunction should issue here because the Senate Republican Caucus is illegally engaged in electioneering to help its party’s nominee by communicating with voters in anticipation of the November 6 special election. As such, Plaintiff has already been irreparably harmed, but that harm will continue and be exacerbated by each, additional illegal communication sent by the caucus. Once disseminated to the electorate, there is no relief at law.

27. Accordingly, a preliminary injunction should issue mandating the Senate Republican Caucus: (a) cease and desist in purchasing or placing any further ads relating to the special election or the candidates running for state Senate District 20 and (b) contact all television stations, cable networks, Internet companies, email companies, direct mail companies, telephone vendors, or any other advertising services with whom the Senate Republican Caucus has made or placed expenditures relating to state Senate District 20 and suspend dissemination of those communications until dissolution of the TRO or further order of the Court.

FOR A FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
(Declaratory Relief)

28. Each of the foregoing paragraphs are incorporated herein.

29. Pursuant to South Carolina Code § 15-53-20, the Court should declare that the Senate Republican Caucus has violated the Ethics Act and continues to violate the Ethics Act by making in-kind contributions to its party nominee in excess of the limitation imposed by South Carolina Code § 8-13-1316(A).

30. Further, the Court should determine and declare the precise dollar amount the Senate Republican Caucus has illegally contributed in excess of the legal contribution limit and the precise number of voter contacts resulting from those expenditures.

FOR A SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
(Injunctive Relief)

31. Each of the foregoing paragraphs are incorporated herein.

32. Pursuant to South Carolina Code § 15-53-120, the Court should enter a temporary and, after a plenary merits hearing, permanent injunction enjoining the Senate Republican Caucus from any further violation South Carolina Code § 8-13-1316(A) and any such further relief necessary to conform the caucus's conduct to the law and effectuate the orders and judgment of this Court.

MOTION FOR EXPEDITED DISCOVERY

33. Pursuant to Rules 16, 26, and 57 of the civil rules, Plaintiff moves for a discovery order requiring the Senate Republican Caucus to produce documents at the temporary injunction hearing.

34. Specifically, the Court should require the caucus to produce the following documents, electronically stored information, and tangible things:

a. All invoices for all expenditures made relating to state Senate District 20; and

b. Exemplars of those expenditures if used to communicate with registered voters (e.g., television or Internet ads, mail, email, text).

PRAYER

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Richard A. Harpootlian requests that the Court grant his petition for a TRO and motion for expedited discovery and order and declare that:

i. A hearing on Plaintiff's motion for a preliminary injunction be set as soon as possible;

- ii. The Senate Republican Caucus is temporarily enjoined from any further electioneering expenditures related to the special election for state Senate District 20;
- iii. The Senate Republican Caucus must take immediate, affirmative action to suspend any expenditures already placed with television stations, Internet companies, direct mail houses, telephone vendors or any other third-party media outlet;
- iv. The Senate Republican Caucus must produce at the hearing on the preliminary injunction the records identified above;
- v. The Senate Republican Caucus has violated the Ethics Act in an amount and incidents the number of which will be determined by the Court during a final hearing;
- vi. The Senate Republican Caucus be permanently enjoined as set forth above;
- vii. Plaintiff recover all fees, costs, damages, or penalties allowable by law; and
- viii. The Court order any further relief it deems just and proper.

EXHIBIT D

SOUTH CAROLINA SENATE ETHICS COMMITTEE

Advisory Opinion 2007-1

Monday July 23, 2007

SUBJECT: SOUTH CAROLINA CODE SECTION 8-13-1300(7) AND (31), "THE 45-DAY RULE"

SUMMARY: This advisory opinion is given to clarify the interpretation of Section 8-13-1300(7) and (31) of the South Carolina Code, which has been referred to as the "45-day rule". The "45-day rule" provides that certain communications made within the final 45 days before an election must be reported as "expenditures" but are not "contributions" and, therefore, are not subject to the contribution limitations of the Ethics Act.

QUESTIONS:

1. What are communications as defined by Section 8-13-1300(31)(c)?
2. Are there any restrictions on how much a legislative caucus committee can spend on (31)(c) communications?
3. Where should a legislative caucus committee deposit funds to be used on (31)(c) communications? Must those funds be reported?
4. Must a legislative caucus committee report expenditures on (31)(c) communications?
5. May a legislative caucus committee transfer funds to a 31(C) third account from existing legislative caucus accounts?

DISCUSSION:

There has been some confusion regarding what is commonly referred to as the 45-day rule, and the impact of the rule on communications made by legislative caucus committees during the 45-day period preceding an election. The requirements the rule places on legislative caucus committees can be determined by an examination of current law.

Section 8-13-1300(31)(c) of the South Carolina Code expands the definition of "influence the outcome of an election" to include:

(c) any communication made, not more than forty-five days before an election, which promotes or supports a candidate or attacks or opposes a candidate, regardless of whether the communication expressly advocates a vote for or against a candidate. For purposes of this paragraph, "communication" means (i) any paid advertisement or purchased program time broadcast over television or radio; (ii) any paid message conveyed through telephone banks, direct mail, or electronic mail; or (iii) any paid advertisement that costs more than five thousand dollars that is conveyed through a communication medium other than those set forth in subsections (i) or (ii) of this paragraph. "Communication" does not include news, commentary, or editorial programming or article, or communication to an organization's own members.

However, it is important to note that the expanded definition provided by subsection 31(c) only applies to the types of communications described that are made within 45 days of an election.

Section 8-13-1300(7) defines the term "contribution". This section provides in part:

"Contribution" does not include . . . (b) a gift, subscription, loan, guarantee upon which collection is made, forgiveness of a loan, an advance, in-kind contribution or expenditure, a deposit of money, or anything of value made to a committee, other than a candidate committee, and is used to pay for communications made not more than forty-five days before the election to influence the outcome of an elective office as defined in Section 8-13-1300(31)(c). These funds must be deposited in an account separate from a campaign account as required in Section 8-13-1312.

Section 8-13-1300(7) exempts from the definition of "contribution" anything of value given to a committee used to pay for 31(C) communications made within 45 days of an election. This language makes it clear that funds given to pay for a (31)(c) communication are not considered contributions, even though they fall within the definition of influencing the outcome of an election.

Because (31)(c) communications are specifically exempted from the definition of contribution, legislative caucus committees are not restricted by the $5,000 contribution limit found in Section 8-13-1316. Therefore, a legislative caucus committee may spend any amount on (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election.

Legislative caucus committees must deposit funds used for (31)(c) communications in a separate account pursuant to the last sentence of 8-13-1300(7). However, they do NOT have to report the receipt of funds to be used for (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election. Section 8-13-1308(G) provides in part:

Notwithstanding any other reporting requirements in this chapter, a political party, legislative caucus committee, and a party committee must file a certified campaign report upon the receipt of anything of value which totals in the aggregate five hundred dollars or more. For purposes of this section, "anything of value" includes contributions received, which may be used for the payment of operation expenses of a political party, legislative caucus committee, or a party committee.

This section requires legislative caucus committees to report all contributions over $500, whether used for operating expenses or campaign purposes. Because funds to be used for (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election are not contributions, they do not have to be reported like operating funds and campaign funds.

However, funds used to pay for (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election are expenditures as defined by the Ethics Act. Section 8-13-1300(12) defines expenditure as a purchase, payment, loan, forgiveness of a loan, an advance, in-kind contribution or expenditure, a deposit, transfer of funds, gift of money, or anything of value for any purpose. Therefore, a legislative caucus committee must report money spent on (31)(c) communications.

Section 8-13-1302 requires legislative caucus committees making expenditures on (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election to maintain an account of their expenditures; the name and address of each person to whom an expenditure is made including the date, amount, purpose, and beneficiary of the expenditure; and any proof of payment for each expenditure. Pursuant to Section 8-13-

1308(D)¹, legislative caucus committees making (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election must file a pre-election report showing expenditures to or by the committee for the period ending twenty days before the election.²

Legislative caucus committees making (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election are required to immediately file a campaign report upon incurring expenditures in excess of $10,000 in the case of a candidate for statewide office and $2,000 in the case of a candidate for any other office within the calendar quarter in which the election is conducted or twenty days before the election (whichever period is greater). Pursuant to Section 8-13-1308(D)(2), the expenditure does not have to be made, only incurred, to trigger this section's reporting requirements. Certified campaign reports must contain the total expenditures made by or on behalf of the committee and the name and address of each person to whom an expenditure (from campaign funds) is made including the date, amount, purpose, and beneficiary of the expenditure.

Further, legislative caucus committees maintain two banking accounts. One account described in Section 8-13-1300(34) is maintained for operational expenses, which are defined as:

for salaries and/or fringe benefits for part-time, full-time, temporary and/or contract employees; meeting expenses; travel, utilities; communications and/or communications equipment whether leased or purchased; printing or printing services; postage; food and/or beverage; advertising; consulting services; and/or any other expenditures which are not authorized contributions to a candidate, committee, or ballot measure committee.

Because these funds are not to be made to, controlled by, coordinated with, or requested by a candidate or candidate committee, expenditures from these funds do not have to be reported. Persons giving to this fund must be identified, but there is no limit to the amount that may be given. The second account is a campaign account and is restricted to deposits of funds that are contributed to candidates and spent in cooperation with candidates as specified by Section 8-13-1308. Funds deposited into the campaign account are considered contributions and are subject to the applicable limits, so it would not be appropriate to use funds from the campaign account for 31(c) communications.

Due to the requirement that legislative caucus committees report expenditures made for 31(c) communications, it is advised that the caucuses open a third account to deposit funds for this purpose. Funds deposited into the 31(c) account may include transfers from the operations account or new funds deposited directly into the account. Again, because funds deposited into the campaign account are considered contributions, funds from the campaign account should not be transferred to the 31(c) account.

Finally, a legislative caucus making (31)(c) communications within 45 days of an election must identify the caucus in the communication. Section 8-13-1354 requires committees or persons making expenditures on communications "supporting or opposing a public official, a candidate, or a ballot measure" to identify their name and address. By definition, a (31)(c) communication is a communication made within 45 days of an election "which promotes or supports a candidate or attacks or opposes a candidate."

CONCLUSION:

If a legislative caucus makes a communication within forty-five days of an election that promotes or supports a candidate or attacks or opposes a candidate, regardless of whether the communication expressly advocates a vote for or against a candidate, the caucus must deposit the funds used to pay for that communication in a separate account and must report those funds as expenditures. A legislative caucus committee does not have to report, as contributions, the funds it receives that are used to pay for these communications and there is no limit on how much a legislative caucus committee can spend on these communications.

Due to the expenditure reporting requirements, it is advised that a caucus open a third account for funds used to make 31(c) communications. If a legislative caucus committee chooses to use its existing funds for 31(c) communications, it may only use funds transferred from its operations account and not funds deposited in its campaign account.

Further, a legislative caucus making 31(c) communications within 45 days of an election must identify the caucus in the communication.
