SC Court of Appeals

Dear Honorable Court:

Enclosed, please find my Record on Appeal. I apologize for not sending this earlier but I was waiting for the State's response to my Amended Initial Brief and did not know this was due. Clearly I am not skilled in the law.

I respectfully ask for this Court's indulgence in any breach of Court rules or protocol as I only get from four to six hours a week in our law library here which is extremely limited in scope. For instance, the SCACR book I was using, Rule 240 was only a single paragraph, with an effective date of September 1, 1990. Also I did not know that civil procedure rules were not applicable here.

At the present time, I am not sure if I am to wait for a response from the State before I submit a Final Brief or sure if I correctly understood Rule 211. As I understand, my Final Brief is to be the same as my Amended Initial Brief with only references to the Record on Appeal added. If so, I planned to do this with footnotes.

There are two important facts that I omitted from my last brief without realizing this and I feel that these facts could be somewhat critical in the consideration of my Appeal. Is there any way to include these two facts?

First, I was never served with nor did I ever see any of these indictments prior to my trial. Second, the only copies that I have received were in my trial counsel's file sent to me with which I used to file my PCR Application and none of them are clock stamped by the Clerk's Office, which seems odd.

Is there any way to include these assertions for this Court's consideration? Also, is there any guide booklet or any other printed information available, and if so, may I be provided with such.

Sincerely yours,

Cedric L Woods, 265789
