SC Court of Appeals

CASE # 18-AJ-04-0285-AP

GRANT NO: PCI-0217-18

Notice
of Intent to Appeal

Now cometh the sovereign to this court
in regard to appealing this case:

- ① SCDC provided no chain of custody disposition for this alleged weapon they say I had and the judge did not enforce them to do so which is required to sustain a conviction, you must have a disposition of the evidence to show forth it was turned in to the contraband officers to be processed.
- ② procedural due process of chain of custody of evidence was denied to be produced by SCDC and the Judge Deborah Brooks Purden which show this judge was not fair and impartial there's no way to keep a conviction absent of evidence.
- ③ There's no evidence of this alleged (home made axe) no disposition of the chain of custody only a picture, and SCDC hiding this because it's a setup it came from QYA #121 there switch and informant gave it to them to use to set me up.
- ④ This appeal should be granted as well permission to proceed (Informa pauperis).
