PERSONALLY APPEARED before me James L. Floyd III ("Lee"), Esquire, who upon being duly sworn, deposes and states: .

1. That Deponent is an attorney at law licensed to practice law in the State of South Carolina.
2. That Deponent is and has been an active member of the South Carolina Bar since 2007 and is a senior associate with the law firm of Collins & Lacy, P.C.
3. That Deponent's law firm was retained by Plaintiff in this matter to effectuate collection of the account of South Causeway, LLC, including foreclosure of Plaintiff's Mortgage and defending the Plaintiff against numerous counterclaims and affirmative defenses asserted by South Causeway, LLC in the foreclosure action.
4. That Deponent and Attorney Joel W. Collins, Jr., Esquire, were the attorneys practicing at Collins & Lacy who represented the Plaintiff in the litigation of this matter. Joel W. Collins, Jr., Esquire, has forty-four (44) years of trial experience.

5. The Universal Note and Security Agreement, Mortgage, and Loan Agreement executed by South Causeway, LLC, provides for South Causeway, LLC to pay the attorney fees and costs incurred by Plaintiff in hiring an attorney to collect the Note, which includes attorney fees and costs Plaintiff incurred for the collection of this account and defense of the counterclaims asserted by South Causeway, LLC in the foreclosure action.

6. Your Deponent is informed and believes that Plaintiff is entitled to an award of its litigation costs and attorneys fees because the terms of the Note and other loan documents provide that Plaintiff may recover its costs and attorneys fees to collect the Note and its costs and attorneys fees to defend the counterclaims because the counterclaims were intertwined with the foreclosure action and challenged the validity and enforceability of the Note and Mortgage. Charleston Lumber Co., Inc. v. Miller Housing Corp., 318 S.C. 471, 483-84, 458 S.E.2d 431, 438-39 (Ct. App. 1995). A copy of this decision is attached hereto as Ex. 1.

10. That Plaintiff has incurred the actual sum of $179,566.52 in attorney's fees and $5,970.60 in costs and expenses with Collins & Lacy, P.C. for the prosecution of the foreclosure action and defense of Defendant's counterclaims, as reflected on the itemized invoice(s) attached hereto as Exhibit 2.

11. That Deponent is of the opinion and belief that the attorney fees requested are fair and reasonable under the six (6) applicable factors to be considered under Baron Data Systems, Inc. v. Loter, 297 S.C. 382, 377 S.E.2d 296 (1989):

(1) This litigation involved a complex commercial dispute, which included the defense of numerous counterclaims and affirmative defenses containing allegations of breach of contract, fraudulent misconduct, and unfair trade practices by Plaintiff;

- (2) The time actually devoted to the matter was necessary to complete extended discovery, numerous motions and depositions, and present the case at a six (6) day jury trial;
- (3) The professional standing of the attorneys at Collins & Lacy, P.C. is excellent and they regularly represent clients in matters similar to the issues presented in this case;
- (4) The contingency of compensation factor is inapplicable since this was not a contingency case;
- (5) The rates and the fee are consistent with those customarily charged in the Counties of Columbia and Georgetown for similar legal services; and
- (6) The beneficial results that Plaintiff has received in prevailing on its action to foreclose on a Note exceeding $5 million in value and prevailing on its defense of the counterclaims, which sought to invalidate the Note and/or to recover $8 million in claimed actual damages.

FURTHER DEPONENT SAYETH NOT.

Respectfully submitted,
COLLINS & LACY, P.C.

Court of Appeals of South Carolina.
CHARLESTON LUMBER COMPANY, INC., Respondent,
v.
MILLER HOUSING CORPORATION, and Robert E. Miller, Jr., Appellants.

No. 2318.

Heard Dec. 6, 1994.

Decided March 13, 1995.

Certiorari Denied March 21, 1996.

Creditor brought action against debtor and its principal, seeking recovery of money judgment allegedly due on open account, collection of promissory note, and foreclosure of mortgage. Defendants filed counterclaims for fraud, violation of Unfair Trade Practices Act (UTPA), negligence, setoffs, and libel and slander. The Circuit Court, Charleston County, A. Victor Rawl, J., granted summary judgment against defendants on fraud and negligence counterclaims, granted creditor's motion for summary judgment for balance due on note and against defendants on setoff and libel and slander counterclaims, entered judgment for creditor on open account, awarded no damages to defendants on UTPA counterclaims despite jury finding in their favor, denied attorney fees to defendants under UTPA, and awarded attorney fees to creditor under note. Defendants appealed. The Court of Appeals, Cureton, J., held that: (1) notice of appeal's failure to reference one of five related suits was clerical error that did not warrant dismissal of appeal; (2) defendants did not establish fraud defense to liability on note; (3) questions of fact precluded summary judgment for creditor on fraud counterclaim; (4) defendants failed to prove elements necessary to be awarded attorney fees under UTPA; and (5) creditor was entitled to full amount of attorney fees requested under note, even if some fees were attributable to defending counterclaims.

Affirmed in part, reversed in part, modified in part, and remanded.

*433 *473 Edward J. Westbrook, of Ness, Motley, Loadholt, Richardson & Poole, Charleston, for appellants.

Steven L. Smith and Joe S. Dusenbury, Jr., both of Smith, Collins & Dusenbury, N. Charleston, for respondent.

CURETON, Judge.

Respondent, Charleston Lumber Company, Inc. (Charleston Lumber), brought six lawsuits against the appellants, Miller Housing Corporation and Robert E. Miller, Jr. (the Millers), seeking the recovery of money allegedly due on an open account, the collection of a promissory note, and the foreclosure of a mortgage on five separate lots.^{FN1} In its answer, 474 the Millers denied liability and asserted two counterclaims for fraud, a counterclaim for violation of the Unfair Trade Practices Act (UTPA), and an affirmative defense of negligence. Charleston Lumber then moved for summary judgment on the grounds that the Millers had suffered no damages pursuant to their fraud counterclaim, and the Millers had no basis for a negligence cause of action. The Millers likewise moved for summary judgment on the open account on the ground that Charleston Lumber did not have a personal guarantee from Robert E. Miller, Jr. regarding the alleged open account balance. On June 28, 1992, the trial court issued an order granting Charleston Lumber's motion for summary judgment against the Millers on the first counterclaim for fraud and on the negligence counterclaim.^{FN2} In the same order, the court denied the Millers' motion for summary judgment*434 on the open account, but allowed the Millers to amend their counterclaims to allege a set-off, general denial, causes of action for libel and slander, and violation of the UTPA.

FN1. The mortgage foreclosure causes of action were rendered moot when the first mortgage holder foreclosed and sold the subject properties.

FN2. In his order, the court stated that "[Charleston Lumber's] motion for summary judgment addressed three (3) of the five (5) causes of action raised by [Miller] in his counterclaim. The three causes of action in question where [sic] negligence, fraud, and violation of the Unfair Trade Practices Act."

Based on this order, the Millers amended their answer and counterclaims to include two counterclaims for violation of the UTPA, two set-offs, and one counterclaim for libel and slander.^{FN3} On September 9, 1993, the trial court granted Charleston Lumber's second motion for summary judgment for the balance due on the promissory note and against the Millers on their set-offs and libel and slander counterclaims.

FN3. Although one of the Millers' previous counterclaims for fraud was dismissed by the June 28, 1992 Order, the other counterclaim for fraud was not addressed in this Order, and in their amended answer, the Millers did not allege a counterclaim for fraud. In the amended answer, however, the Millers asserted two counterclaims for violation of the UTPA. The first UTPA counterclaim alleged that Charleston Lumber engaged in a deceptive bidding scheme whereby it would bid or quote a certain price, and after getting the job, would later bill the Millers for a higher amount. The second UTPA counterclaim alleged that Charleston Lumber reported confidential information to other suppliers concerning the Millers' credit history and this information was false.

The remaining issues in the case, Charleston Lumber's suit on the open account and the Millers' two counterclaims for violation of the UTPA, were tried before a jury. Two sets of interrogatories*475 were submitted to the jury, the first asked the jury to determine the balance of the open account and whether Miller Housing Corporation, Robert E. Miller, Jr. or both were liable for it. The second set of interrogatories asked the jury to determine whether Charleston Lumber committed a violation of the UTPA, and if so, whether the Millers suffered actual damages as a proximate result of the unfair or deceptive acts.

The jury found for Charleston Lumber against Miller Housing on the open account, which it determined to be $24,884.36. Although the jury found that Charleston Lumber's actions constituted "an unfair or deceptive act," it awarded the Millers no damages because it concluded the Millers suffered no actual damages as a proximate result of the unfair and deceptive acts of Charleston Lumber. The Millers, nevertheless, moved for an award of attorney fees pursuant to the attorney's fee provision in the UTPA. Holding that attorney fees cannot be recovered unless the claimant has been awarded actual or nominal damages, the trial court denied the Millers' request for attorney fees, but awarded Charleston Lumber attorney's fees as provided for in the promissory note. The Millers appeal. We affirm in part, reverse in part, modify in part and remand.

FACTS

Charleston Lumber sells construction materials. Miller Housing was in the business of building homes and Robert E. Miller, Jr. was its Vice-President. Miller Housing began doing business with Charleston Lumber in the late 1970's. As is customary in the construction business, the Millers requested quotes from Charleston Lumber and other suppliers on homes they were building. If the Millers accepted Charleston Lumber's quote, Charleston Lumber would ship the materials and invoice them. Around 1987-88 Pelican Company of Conway, S.C. took over Charleston Lumber. After the takeover, the Millers began noticing an increase in errors in Charleston Lumber's invoices, all in Charleston Lumber's favor. Specifically, Charleston Lumber's invoiced price for an item would be higher than the price it had quoted in its bid. As a result of these errors, the Millers' personnel spent much more time than usual checking Charleston Lumber's invoices against its *476 quotes, correcting errors, and notifying Charleston Lumber of the mistakes.

After the Millers pointed out the mistakes, Charleston Lumber would agree to issue the Millers "credits" against the next month's statement. Charleston Lumber, however, often delayed or even failed to issue the promised credits. The Millers claim Charleston Lumber's actions were not inadvertent, but, instead, a concerted effort by Charleston Lumber's executives to intentionally delay giving the Millers credits to avoid showing an adverse impact on their sales in any one month.

*435 Since each incorrect monthly statement built on the last, the Millers claimed Charleston Lumber's practice of bidding low, billing high, and delaying credits created an accounting nightmare, and had a significant financial impact on them. In fact, Charleston Lumber's general manager was unable to reconcile the two examples of Charleston Lumber's monthly statements that the Millers' counsel showed him at trial. One of Charleston Lumber's own salesmen admitted that their executives met and agreed to delay issuing the credits.

According to the Millers, by December 1989, the account was so confused that they were unable to reconcile the Charleston Lumber statements with their own records. Charleston Lumber contended that the Millers owed it $149,000, this amount including all purchases, credits, and payments on the account up to December 31, 1989. In February 1990, Charleston Lumber presented Mr. Miller with a personal note for $149,000, representing the amount owed on the Millers' account.^{FN4} On February 15, 1990, Mr. Miller executed and delivered the promissory note on behalf of himself and Miller Housing in the amount of $149,000 to Charleston Lumber. As security for this Note, Mr. Miller also executed a blanket mortgage on several parcels of real property.

FN4. The Millers argue the correct amount due on the open account at that time was only $113,338.89.

By August 1990, the Millers had paid the note down to around $65,000 to $74,000. Mr. Miller offered to pay off the entire note in order to release the mortgage, but Charleston Lumber refused to accept the payment unless Mr. Miller 477 agreed to be personally responsible for another outstanding open account in the amount of $48,000.^{FN5} Mr. Miller refused.

FN5. In September 1990, Charleston Lumber alleged the open account to be delinquent in the amount of $48,000. In its complaint filed one month later, Charleston Lumber alleged an outstanding balance of approximately $28,042.40; and at trial in September 1993, Charleston Lumber alleged an outstanding balance of approximately $24,844.39.

Charleston Lumber then filed this suit to foreclose on the mortgage on five pieces of property which secured the $149,000 note. Charleston Lumber alleged the note to be due and owing in the amount of $74,000. Charleston Lumber also filed suit against the Millers to receive the $28,042.20 outstanding balance on an open account which Mr. Miller allegedly personally guaranteed in June 1983.

The Millers appeal the trial judge's orders for summary judgment, his refusal to award them attorney fees based on the UTPA, and the awarding of attorney fees to Charleston Lumber.

I.

We first note that Charleston Lumber maintains this appeal should be dismissed on jurisdictional grounds. Charleston Lumber asserts the trial court should be affirmed on all issues because the Millers have not appealed one of the cases and therefore should be bound by the trial court's ruling in the unappealed case.

Charleston Lumber brought five lawsuits (Case Nos. 90-CP-10-5028 through 90-CP-10-5032) to enforce the collection of the $149,000 promissory note. The five suits were identical except for the differing property descriptions. They all sought to collect the balance due on a single note. The Millers submitted identical answers, counterclaims, and amended answers to the five suits. Although the trial court never consolidated the five cases, the judge signed a single order for all of them.

The Millers filed its first notice of appeal on December 28, 1993, which listed all the cases except Case No. 90-CP-10-5032. The Millers' amended notice of intent to appeal also neglected to mention this case. Charleston Lumber argues since all five of the complaints sought a single recovery and all of the Millers' counterclaims sought a single recovery, the failure to appeal one of the cases is a fatal error. We disagree.

*478 [1][2] Clerical errors in a notice of appeal do not destroy the appeal. Moody v. Dickinson, 54 S.C. 526, 32 S.E. 563 (1899) (the court may properly allow an appellant to correct a mere clerical error in the title to his notice of intention to appeal where there is no prejudice to the appellee). We find this error was 436 clerical in nature, and does not warrant a dismissal of the appeal. Charleston Lumber does not allege any prejudice as a result of the omission, and there can be no doubt that Charleston Lumber had notice that the Millers had appealed all cases. Charleston Lumber's effort to take advantage of a mere clerical error by which they were in no way prejudiced or misled is rejected. Both notices of appeal clearly state, "Robert E. Miller, Jr. and Miller Housing Corporation appeal from the following Orders and/or Judgments of The Honorable Circuit Court." Thereafter, each of the orders is described and attached. We therefore find this court has jurisdiction to hear this appeal.

As relates to the merits of this case, the Millers first argue the trial court erred in granting summary judgment against them on the $149,000 note because they claim the note was procured as part of a misrepresentation scheme.

[3][4] Rule 56 of the SCRCP provides that a trial judge may grant summary judgment if there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. In addition, it must be shown that further inquiry into the facts is not needed to clarify the application of the law. Butts v. AVX Corp., 292 S.C. 256, 355 S.E.2d 876

(Ct.App.1987). In ruling on a motion for summary judgment, the evidence and the inferences which can be drawn therefrom should be viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party. Cafe Assoc., Ltd. v. Gerngross, 305 S.C. 6, 406 S.E.2d 162 (1991).

[5][6] A note by its terms is an unconditional promise to pay money and parol evidence may not be introduced to vary its terms or otherwise inject conditions not apparent on its face. Ray v. South Carolina Nat'l Bank, Inc., 281 S.C. 170, 314 S.E.2d 359 (Ct.App.1984). The execution of a note in payment of an open account operates to cut off all defenses to the account to which the maker then had knowledge *479 where it is clear from the record the person knew or should have known the operative facts upon which the note was based. Berry v. Atlas Metals, Inc., 152 Ga.App. 437, 263 S.E.2d 179 (1979).

The Millers asserted fraud by Charleston Lumber as a defense to the $149,000 note. In South Carolina, the party bringing an action for fraud or deceit, based on a misrepresentation, must prove the following by clear, cogent and convincing evidence:

(1) a representation; (2) its falsity; (3) its materiality; (4) either knowledge of its falsity or a reckless disregard of its truth or falsity; (5) intent that the representation be acted upon; (6) the hearer's ignorance of its falsity; (7) the hearer's reliance on its truth; (8) the hearer's right to rely thereon; and (9) the hearer's consequent and proximate injury.

First State Sav. and Loan v. Phelps, 299 S.C. 441, 385 S.E.2d 821 (1989); M.B. Kahn Const. Co. v. South Carolina Nat'l Bank of Charleston, 275 S.C. 381, 271 S.E.2d 414 (1980).

[7] The Millers admit the mortgage and note were duly signed, witnessed, and probated. Nevertheless, they assert the amount of the note was incorrect because they were overcharged for certain materials and not promptly credited. However, the record reveals that prior to signing the note, the Millers had all the information necessary to compute what they assert to be the correct balance. The Millers therefore cannot claim ignorance of the falsity of Charleston Lumber's representation that they owed $149,000.

[8][9] Furthermore, the Millers were not reasonable in relying on Charleston Lumber's representations. Whether reliance is justified in a given situation requires an evaluation of the circumstances involved, including the positions and relations of the parties. Elders v. Parker, 286 S.C. 228, 332 S.E.2d 563 (Ct.App.1985). The Millers began noticing an increase in errors in their account with Charleston Lumber as early as 1987. Charleston Lumber did not present Mr. Miller with the note until February 15, 1990. Mr. Miller testified that Charleston Lumber was exercising leverage over him and threatening to withhold critical materials if he refused to sign the note. Thus, by his own testimony, Miller *480 was not reasonable in relying437 on Charleston Lumber's representations. The time to have undertaken an examination of the amount of the note was before Mr. Miller signed it. We therefore affirm the trial court's summary judgment order in regards to the Millers' liability on the note.

III.

The Millers also claim the trial court erred in dismissing their counterclaim for fraud. We agree, and reverse the trial court's order of summary judgment against the Millers on their counterclaim for fraud. The trial court incorrectly held as a matter of law that the Millers failed to show the first and last elements of fraud, i.e., a representation and damages proximately caused by the representation.

[10][11] It is well settled in South Carolina that where one promises to do a certain thing, having at the time no intention of keeping the agreement, it is a fraudulent misrepresentation of fact, and actionable as such. Davis v. Upton, 250 S.C. 288, 157 S.E.2d 567 (1967). In Thomas & Howard v. Fowler, 225 S.C. 354, 82 S.E.2d 454 (1954), the Supreme Court held that fraud is actionable when it is grounded in a promise coupled with a present intention not to fulfill it. During the summary judgment hearing on the fraud counterclaim, the Millers' counsel persuasively argued:

[T]here has been, we believe, actual fraud in the way that Charleston Lumber conducted its business knowing it was overbilling Miller Housing, knowing it would take a lot of effort by Miller Housing to catch it.

When errors were caught and credits were due and intentionally delaying giving credits because "sometimes people forget the credits are due." Obviously Charleston Lumber is going to dispute the inference from the facts, but we think that it is information that a jury needs to hear.

This isn't just a case, Your Honor, of unintentional overbilling [on a] sporadic basis.... Mr. Ritchie, their [Charleston Lumber] credit man admitted that he couldn't point to one bill for any period that was correct.... We have evidence ... that an internal Charleston Lumber corporate decision was made to delay giving credits because sometimes people forget them. That is the testimony*481 in the record by a former Charleston Lumber employee. Obviously, they dispute it happened, but [the testimony creates] a question of fact.

Viewing the record in the light most favorable to the Millers, we find there was sufficient evidence to create a question of fact as to whether or not Charleston Lumber had made promises to the Millers with the present intention not to fulfill them.

[12][13] The trial court also improperly ruled as a matter of law that the Millers failed to show any damages as a result of the alleged fraud. The Millers alleged damages of lost employee time based on their personnel having to spend numerous hours each month checking and correcting the bids versus the actual charges. We find that employee time is a compensable damage. In Convoy Co. v. Sperry Rand Corp., 672 F.2d 781 (9th Cir.1982), the court awarded employee lost time as compensable damages. The Ninth Circuit stated, "[t]he issue is not whether Convoy would have paid the supervisors' salaries if the defendant had not breached the contract, but whether the breach deprived Convoy of the services it paid for." See also Dunn Appraisal Co. v. Honeywell Info. Systems, Inc., 687 F.2d 877 (6th Cir.1982) (explicitly following the analysis in Convoy, the Sixth Circuit awarded one-fifth of Dunn's president's salary as damages because he claimed he spent approximately one-fifth of his time during the year dealing with system malfunctions of a computer whose capabilities Honeywell had misrepresented). The Third Circuit, in Comdyne I, Inc. v. Corbin, 908 F.2d 1142 (3rd Cir.1990), recognized that if an employee's time is diverted from pursuit of the employer's business due to the fault of another, that party is responsible for those costs. We accept the reasoning in these cases. A further development of the facts is needed to determine the extent of actual damages. We therefore reverse the trial court's order of summary judgment on the Millers' counterclaim for fraud.

[14][15] The Millers next contend they were entitled to an award of attorney fees on their UTPA counterclaim since the jury specifically found Charleston Lumber *482 committed unfair or deceptive acts or practices in trade or commerce. We disagree and affirm the trial court's denial of attorney fees to the Millers. S.C.Code Ann. § 39-5-140 (1985) provides:

(a) Any person who suffers any ascertainable loss of money or property, real or personal, as a result of the use or employment by another person of an unfair or deceptive method, act or practice declared unlawful by Section 39-5-20 [Unfair Trade Practices Act (UTPA)] may bring an action individually, but not in a representative capacity, to recover actual damages. If the court finds that the use or employment of the unfair or deceptive method, act or practice was a willful or knowing violation of Section 39-5-20, the court shall award three times the actual damages sustained and may provide such other relief as it deems necessary or proper. Upon the finding by the court of a violation of this article, the court shall award to the person bringing such action under this section reasonable attorney's fees and costs.

The statute clearly requires that in order to recover pursuant to the UTPA one must prove each of the following three elements by the greater weight or preponderance of the evidence: 1) a violation of the Act, 2) proximate cause, and 3) damages. Although the jury found the actions of Charleston Lumber constituted an unfair or deceptive act or practice in the conduct of trade or commerce, it further found the Millers suffered no actual damages as a proximate result of the unfair act. Therefore, adhering to the plain language of the statute, the Millers failed to prove the elements necessary to be awarded attorney fees.

V.

Finally, the Millers contend the court erred in awarding Charleston Lumber $54,775.70 in attorney fees and $7,625.70 in costs in its December 1, 1993 Order because the same amount of costs had been previously awarded in its September 9, 1993 Order, making this award duplicious. The Millers further maintain a significant amount of the attorney fees awarded to Charleston Lumber was for defending counterclaims on which Charleston Lumber was unsuccessful and *483 therefore the attorney fee award on those claims is reversible error.

Charleston Lumber requested $47,150 in attorney and paralegal fees, and $7,625.70 in costs, for a total fees and costs award of $54,775.70. In his September 9, 1993 Order, the trial judge awarded $7,625.70 in costs and deferred the awarding of fees until the case was resolved. Following the jury trial, the court awarded Charleston Lumber $54,775 in attorney fees. Charleston Lumber concedes in its brief that the court mistakenly entered the total figure of all fees and costs rather than just the attorney's fee figure of $47,150. Charleston Lumber maintains this error was merely a clerical error. We agree and therefore modify the attorney fee award to exclude costs previously awarded in the September 9, 1993 Order.

We hold, however, that the court was correct in awarding attorney fees to Charleston Lumber pursuant to the promissory note. The promissory note signed by Miller provided:

If this note be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection after the same shall for any reason become due, or if collected by legal proceedings or through the probate or bankrupt [sic] courts, or under foreclosure proceedings under the mortgage securing this note, then all cost of collections, including a reasonable sum for attorney fee [sic] shall be added hereto as attorney's fees secured and collectible as the principal hereof.

[18] Although the Millers allege the amount of the award was improper because 439 some of Charleston Lumber's fees were attributable to defending counterclaims and not collection on the note, we find this distinction specious. The trial court clearly found that the facts and issues surrounding the promissory note were intertwined with those of the counterclaims which required extensive discovery and *484 transformed a normally uncomplicated action on a note into complex litigation. We agree with the trial court and find the amount of the award, with a proper adjustment for the clerical error, was within the sound discretion of the trial judge, and he did not abuse that discretion. See Hyload, Inc. v. Pre-Engineered Products, 308 S.C. 277, 417 S.E.2d 622 (Ct.App.1992) (The amount of attorney's fees awarded is within the sound discretion of the trial judge and will not be reversed on appeal absent an abuse of discretion). We therefore modify the attorney fee award to $47,150.

 ALMA Y. WHITE
 CLERK OF COURT

Plaintiff First South Bank ("First South") herein opposes Defendant South Causeway, LLC's ("South Causeway") Post-Trial Motions. South Causeway has moved for judgment notwithstanding the verdict ("JNOV") or for a new trial on its counterclaims and for an amendment of this Court's judgment on First South's foreclosure claim. First South submits this Memorandum in response to South Causeway's post-trial motions.

I. South Causeway's Motion for Judgment Notwithstanding the Verdict¹ should be denied as the evidence supports the jury's unanimous verdict for First South on each counterclaim.

South Causeway has moved for JNOV on the three counterclaims that the jury unanimously decided in favor of First South: breach of contract, tortious interference with contract, and violation of the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act. In considering a motion for JNOV, the Court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to First South and draw all reasonable inferences in its favor. Strange v. S.C. Dep't of Highways & Public Transp., 314 S.C. 427, 445 S.E.2d 439 (1994). A motion for JNOV must be denied if "either the evidence yields more than one inference or its inference is in doubt." Id.

¹ First South objects and reserves its right to object to the consideration of any arguments presented in South Causeway's Post-Trial Motion that were not raised in its motion for directed verdict at trial. For purposes of this response, First South addresses the substance of South Causeway's arguments as none support granting South Causeway's post-trial motions.

A. The evidence at trial supports the jury's unanimous verdict that First South did not breach any contract with South Causeway and should be upheld.

- 1. The evidence supports the jury's finding that First South did not have an obligation to make a subsequent advance of $550,000 into the interest reserve account after the initial closing in June 2008.

The Commitment Letter provides for the deposit of an additional $550,000 of proceeds into the interest reserve account "upon the earlier to occur of completion of the Infrastructure and six (6) months from the date of Loan Closing." Pl.'s Trial Ex. 1, p. 2, ¶ F (a copy of the portions referred to herein is attached hereto). South Causeway has asserted that the foregoing provision is ambiguous as to the funding date, that the jury had to construe this ambiguity against First South, and if construed against First South Bank then the jury could have only concluded that First South breached the loan agreement. This argument ignores the other language encompassed within the parties' agreement and the evidence of the parties' intent introduced at trial. When viewed as a whole, the evidence clearly permitted a reasonable interpretation of the entire agreement between the parties which supports the jury's unanimous verdict.

The Loan Agreement provides that it governs over any provision of the Commitment Letter. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 2, p. 18, §9.10 (a copy of the portions referred to herein is attached hereto). The Loan Agreement divides the funding between an initial advance at closing and subsequent advances that will only take place upon the completion of certain events. See id. at p. 3, §4.1, p. 6, §4.2, & pp. 7-8, §4.4. Part of the initial advance included funding $300,000.00 into the interest reserve account, which took place at closing and is undisputed. Id. at p. 7, §4.4. The $550,000 referenced in the Commitment Letter was not part of the initial advance and was not part of the Loan Agreement. As a subsequent advance, this additional funding was not required by the Loan Agreement. Even if required, any such advance was subject to the conditions precedent applicable to other subsequent advances. "Advances subsequent to the Initial Advance shall be made from time to time as construction of the Improvements progresses, but not more frequently than once each month, in a sum equal to (a) the total expenditures incurred by the Borrower and approved by the Bank for fees and costs incurred in connection with the Loan, funding the Interest Reserve Account . . . through the end of the period covered by the Request for Advance . . . subject, in each case, however, to the further provisions of this Article IV.” Id. p.8, §4.4. Section 4.2 of the Loan Agreement (contained within Article IV), sets forth a list of conditions precedent that must be satisfied prior to “each subsequent advance.” Id. p. 6, §4.2. South Causeway offered no evidence that the conditions contained in section 4.2 were satisfied. In fact, the evidence clearly showed that South Causeway did not meet the conditions precedent and abandoned developing the property. The unrefuted evidence is that South Causeway abandoned its initial plan to develop the property. Def.’s Trial Ex. 13 (a copy is attached hereto) Therefore, the evidence supports finding First South never had a duty to make any subsequent advance of the $550,000 into the interest reserve account.

Witnesses also testified to the interpretation and intent of the $550,000 funding referenced in the Loan Commitment. Consistent with the terms of the Loan Agreement, testimony, including that of South Causeway’s own expert, provided that the advancement of $550,000 into the interest reserve account was contingent on South Causeway achieving certain milestones associated with construction upon the property. As South Causeway never met those milestones and informed First South it was abandoning its plan to develop the property, the evidence clearly supports the jury’s finding that First South had no duty to deposit an additional $550,000 into the interest reserve account. Id.

The Release contained in the April 10, 2009 Agreement between the parties further supports the jury’s unanimous verdict that First South did not breach the contract. This release is additional grounds to deny South Causeway's motion for JNOV. First South's alleged failure to fund the interest reserve account with an additional $550,000 would have occurred prior to April 10, 2009. The Agreement entered into on April 10, 2009, broadly released First South from any claim that arose prior to April 10, 2009. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 11, pp. 2-3, ¶3 (a copy of the portions referred to herein is attached hereto). The release barred South Causeway's claim for breach of contract on this basis.

2. The evidence supports the jury's finding that First South did not breach the contract based on any alleged "Termination" of the Loan.

South Causeway also seeks JNOV on its breach of contract claim on the ground that First South "terminated" the loan "by reducing the amount of available principal." Witnesses, such as Wayne Lovelace, testified that the loan was not terminated. There was evidence clearly showing that South Causeway abandoned its construction plans. Def.'s Trial Exhibit 13 ("About two weeks ago we decided with the economy as it we would like to sell it" "If you want or need to do away with the construction part of the loan that is fine") Once South Causeway abandoned its plan to develop the property, First South was under no obligation to make any "subsequent advances." The Loan Agreement provides that South Causeway's abandonment of construction with the intent not to resume for a period of 5 consecutive days was an event of default and terminated any further funding obligation of First South. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 2, p. 13 §7.1 & p. 15, §§7.1(13) & 7.2. The Release would also bar the breach of contract claim on this basis as any purported termination of the loan took place before April 10, 2009.

3. The evidence supports the jury's finding that First South did not breach the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

South Causeway also seeks JNOV on the jury's unanimous finding that First South fulfilled the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. South Causeway bases its motion on

First South's disclosure of information to Vintage Estates Realty, LLC ("the auction company") and Lincoln Harris, a Charlotte based development company. With regard to the disclosure to the auction company, there was expert testimony that the information should have been disclosed to the auction company. With regard to the disclosure to Lincoln Harris, testimony was offered that First South had the right to sell the loan and would need to disclose the information it provided to Lincoln Harris in order to exercise that right. Therefore, the evidence easily supports the finding that First South did not breach the covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

Further, to prevail on its breach of contract claim South Causeway had to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that it sustained some damage due to the alleged breach. Branche Builders, Inc. v. Coggins, 386 S.C. 43, 48, 686 S.E.2d 200, 202 (Ct. App. 2009). The possibility of damages alone is not enough. The evidence at trial supported a finding that South Causeway did not sustain any damages due to First South's disclosure to either the auction company or to Lincoln Harris. This alone is sufficient to uphold the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South and deny South Causeway's Motion for JNOV.

B. The evidence at trial supports the jury's unanimous verdict that First South did not tortiously interfere with the contract between South Causeway and the auction company.

To prevail on its claim for tortious interference with contract South Causeway had to prove, among other elements, that there was an intentional procurement of a breach, absence of justification, and resulting damages. DeBerry v. McCain, 275 S.C. 569, 274 S.E.2d 293 (1981). Testimony of the representative of the auction company supported finding that the auction company did not breach its contract with South Causeway (in fact, no evidence was presented that the auction company breached the contract). The evidence at trial also supported finding that First South was justified in disclosing the information, as the auction company needed the information in order to effectively conduct the auction. Further, evidence was presented that South Causeway was not damaged, as no one entered any bid at the auction at any price. Viewing the evidence in a light most favorable to First South, South Causeway is not entitled to JNOV, and therefore its motion must be denied.

C. The evidence supports the jury's unanimous finding in favor of First South on the action for violation of the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act.

South Causeway has also moved for JNOV on the jury's unanimous verdict that First South did not violate the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act ("UTPA") when First South disclosed information to the auction company and to Lincoln Harris. The testimony supported a finding that the auction company needed the information provided by First South to effectively conduct the auction. Therefore, the evidence supports a finding that the disclosure was not an unfair or deceptive act and supports the jury's unanimous verdict. As noted above, there was evidence that South Causeway did not sustain any damage due to the disclosure of any information, and therefore, South Causeway could not prevail on its UTPA claim. See Fields v. Yarborough Ford, Inc., 307 S.C. 207 210 S.E.2d 166 (1992) (holding a plaintiff could not prevail on a UTPA claim where there was no evidence of damages due to a violation of the UTPA).

As to the disclosure to Lincoln Harris, the evidence at trial supported the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South on the UTPA claim. Testimony established that banks sell troubled loans during the normal course of business. To sell loans, banks must disclose information of the type that First South disclosed to Lincoln Harris. The evidence also established that this case involved a transaction that presented a unique set of circumstances, negating the potential for repetition or the potential impact on the public interest. The evidence, including the testimony of South Causeway's expert, supported finding that the disclosure to Lincoln Harris did not cause any actual damages to South Causeway. Instead, the testimony supported finding any loss in value of the property was caused by the downturn of the economy during this time period. The jury was free to reject South Causeway's claim of damages of $8 million (the difference between Lincoln Harris's first offer and their last offer) as total speculation or not caused by any act of First South. Each of these grounds is sufficient to support the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South and require denying South Causeway's Post-Trial Motion for JNOV.

II. South Causeway's Motion for a New Trial should be denied as the facts support the jury's unanimous verdict and finding that justice was done.

South Causeway has also moved for a new trial on each of the claims discussed above based on the "thirteenth juror doctrine." A new trial is only appropriate when the judge "finds the evidence does not justify the verdict." Lane v. Gilbert Constr. Co., LTD., 383 S.C. 590, 681 S.E.2d 879 (2009). A decision under the thirteenth juror doctrine is premised on a trial judge's "duty of seeing that justice is done" and requires the trial judge to be "convinced that a new trial is necessitated on the basis of the facts in the case." Vinson v. Hartley, 324 S.C. 389, 477 S.E.2d 715 (Ct. App. 1996) (emphasis added). Here the evidence supports the jury's findings and justice was done, and therefore, this Court should decline the invitation to overturn the verdict under the thirteenth juror doctrine.

As discussed above, the evidence supports the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South on each of the causes of action. South Causeway's reliance on the testimony of Ms. Peggy Wheeler-Cribb in support of its Motion for a New Trial does not warrant invading the province of the jury as the finder of fact on these claims. There was conflicting testimony and evidence on the issues presented. The jury was free to find that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb was not credible and to not accept all or part of her testimony. Resolving disputes over the conflicting versions of the facts and the correct inferences to draw from those facts falls squarely within the jury's role as finder of fact. Therefore, the verdict is justified and this Court should deny South Causeway's Motion for a new trial on any of South Causeway's claims.

South Causeway also requests this Court to reconsider its rulings directing verdicts in favor of First South on the counterclaims for fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, and breach of contract accompanied by fraudulent action. First South reincorporates its arguments at trial and requests that the Court deny South Causeway's request for a new trial on these claims.

III. This Court Should Deny South Causeway's Motion to Have It Amend Its Judgment on First South's Foreclosure Claim.

South Causeway has also requested that the Court reconsider its decision on First South's foreclosure claim, pursuant to Rule 59, SCRPC.² South Causeway disputes the following findings by this Court: (a) South Causeway was not under duress, and (b) First South established the debt owed on the loan. This Motion should be denied.

A. The Court correctly found that South Causeway did not establish its affirmative defense of Duress.

South Causeway asserts that it was under duress when it signed the original loan documents and when it signed the April 10, 2009 Agreement. South Carolina law requires evidence establishing "a condition of mind produced by improper external pressure or influence that practically destroys the free agency of a party and causes him to do an act or form a contract not of his own volition." Phillips v. Baker, 284 S.C. 134, 136, 325 S.E.2d 533 (1985) (quoting Cherry v. Shelby Mut. Plate Glass & Cas. Co., 191 S.C. 177, 4 S.E.2d 123 (1939)). This Court correctly found no duress and should not alter its judgment.

² While First South opposes any amendment to the judgment, if the Court should determine that an amendment would be appropriate, First South would respectfully request that the Court permit the parties to present additional testimony and evidence on the specific aspect of the Court's judgment to be amended, pursuant to Rule 59(a), SCRPC.

South Causeway bases its request that this Court alter its judgment on the testimony of Ms. Wheeler-Cribb, which was contradicted and uncorroborated at trial, and its claim that she “is an elderly woman.” However, sitting as the finder of fact, this Court was free to give little or no weight to Ms. Wheeler-Cribb’s testimony. Her testimony was discredited and totally uncorroborated. South Causeway’s claim of duress was unfounded. Ms. Wheeler-Cribb previously signed an affidavit, which was submitted to the Court to avoid summary judgment, which set forth the alleged duress. Aff. of Peggy Wheeler-Cribb, Pl.’s Trial Ex. 20 (a copy is attached hereto). In paragraph 16 of her affidavit, Ms. Wheeler-Cribb addressed the original loan closing:

16. During the closing on June 25, 2008, my son and I discovered that Lovelace had not corrected the Note, and that in order to close, my son had to agree to mortgage his individual property as security for the loan. At that point, we felt that we had no other choice since the First Palmetto loan was coming due, and Lovelace assured us that First South Bank would see the development through its conclusion. Reluctantly, we agreed to close.

At trial, Ms. Cribb was confronted with correspondence, parts of which she authored, which established that First South clearly explained to her well before the closing that it would require Lot 4, owned by her son, to be additional collateral. It became clear that her affidavit was not true. See Pl.’s Trial Ex. 24 (a copy is attached hereto).

Presumably because Ms. Wheeler-Cribb’s statement in her affidavit was shown to be false, she now claims that “she felt she was forced by Wayne Lovelace to move forward with the closing of the loan despite her request to postpone the closing.” This claim ignores the fact she was represented by counsel and had no obligation to move forward with the closing. There was no evidence that South Causeway would have lost any deposit, as none existed. Ms. Wheeler-

Cribb's loan with First Palmetto Bank was not due for another two months. Ms. Wheeler-Cribb and South Causeway's Counsel executed letters confirming the closing was performed properly. See Pl.'s Trial Ex. 9 at p. 3 ¶7 & Ex. 10 (copies are attached hereto). This alone is sufficient to support this Court's finding that there was no duress and to deny South Causeway's Motion to Amend the Judgment on this ground.

Paragraphs 21 and 22 of Ms. Cribb's Affidavit relate to the April 10, 2009 Agreement:

21. Lovelace agreed to release the lot owned by my son, but to do so, we had to pay First South Bank $300,000. In addition, Kennedy Funding required a $50,000 non-refundable deposit.

22. At closing, after the $50,000 had been paid, we discovered that in addition to the $300,000 payment, First South Bank was taking back a year from the South Causeway, LLC Promissory Note and demanding an acceleration of the maturity date. The Bank demanded a new maturity date of July 5, 2010. I was taken completely off-guard, and if I refused to close on the loan, I would be forced to forfeit the $50,000 deposit. Additionally, if I did not close, the lot would remain subject to First South Bank's mortgage, preventing us from closing with Kennedy Funding. Faced with no other option, I executed the closing document; I would have never voluntarily signed the purported loan agreement, but felt I had no reasonable alternative.

(emphasis added) Emails offered at trial make it clear that First South clearly informed Ms. Wheeler-Cribb long before the April 10 closing that the maturity date would be shortened and that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb chose the proposal that resulted in the shortened maturity date. Pl.'s Trial Exs. 18, 19, & 27 (copies are attached hereto). Therefore, to the extent that South Causeway's duress argument is based on Ms. Cribb's testimony, South Causeway failed to establish a basis to support duress and the Court's should not amend its judgment on duress.

South Causeway's assertion that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb's elderly age contributed to the purported duress is also insufficient to justify amending this Court's judgment. The evidence showed that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb served on a bank board and that that South Causeway was represented by counsel at both closings. Cox & Floyd Grading, Inc., v. Kajima Constr. Servs., Inc., 356 S.C. 512, 589 S.E.2d 789 (Ct. App. 2003)(finding a party represented by an attorney in the execution of documents was bound by terms therein); Hyman v. Ford Motor Co., 142 F. Supp. 2d 735 (D.S.C. 2001)(finding that a duress argument is substantially undermined where a party was represented by counsel). Duress is not implied merely from a hard bargain which required that a release be given in adverse business conditions. Id. The party claiming duress must also establish the lack of a reasonable alternative to signing the contract and those circumstances were caused by the opposing party. Id. at 746. As this Court noted at trial, South Causeway had every right to not sign the loan agreement or the subsequent agreement. Therefore, this Court should deny South Causeway's motion to amend the judgment as the evidence at trial does not support the affirmative defense of duress.

B. First South offered sufficient evidence of its damages to support this Court's Judgment as to the proof of the debt owed by South Causeway.

In First South's case-in-chief, its custodian of records took the stand and testified to the contents of the loan documents and those documents were entered into evidence. These documents included a June 11, 2012 payoff statement. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 13 (a copy is attached hereto). Counsel for South Causeway cross-examined the custodian of records regarding how the numbers in the payoff statement were derived. The custodian of records testified the figures were the product of First South's computer system. South Causeway did not object to the payoff statement and has not otherwise offered evidence that the numbers reflected on the payoff statement were incorrect. Instead, South Causeway is asking the Court to amend its Judgment that First South established its damages based on its argument that First South did not offer testimony as to how the computer system operated and how the system precisely calculated the interest and principal amounts.

The business records rules were put in place because business records are trustworthy and “it was utter[ly] impossible . . . that any man could keep in his memory, even with the aid of memoranda, the minute, varied and complicated transactions of even an ordinary mercantile or other trading concern, hence the necessity of substituting the book entries for the memory of the witness.” Thyer v. Deen, 20 S.C.L. (2 Hill) 677, 678 (1835). The payoff statement is presumed trustworthy as a business record and it was admitted into evidence without objection from South Causeway. By allowing the payoff statement to be admitted into evidence without objection, South Causeway waived any right to later question the fact First South failed to offer technical testimony regarding the underlying computer methodology that was used to determine the payoff figures. This Court found the payoff statement credible based on the evidence at trial and that conclusion should not be amended.

At best, South Causeway’s challenge is to the ultimate amount reached, not to whether there was sufficient evidence of the payoff amount to support First South’s foreclosure action. This argument goes to the weight of the evidence, and South Causeway offered no evidence or testimony showing the computer system was untrustworthy or that the amounts reflected on the payoff were incorrect. The bank’s president, Mr. W.C. “Chip” Lyerly, III, testified to the calculation of the daily per diem and the fact that referenced interest rates had not changed since the loan matured for payment. Therefore, South Causeway’s motion to amend the judgment as to its finding that First South established its damages should be denied.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, this Honorable Court should deny South Causeway's Post-Trial Motions and uphold the jury's unanimous verdict and this Court's judgment in favor of First South.

Section 4.1. Bank shall have received on or prior to the date of the first Advance upon the Loan (the "Initial Advance") hereunder:

- (d) A certificate of the Member of Borrower as to the incumbency of the Member of Borrower who will sign this Agreement, the Note, the Security Documents, and requests for Advances upon the Loan, and to the effect that no amendment or modification to its Articles of Organization, Operating Agreement (written or oral, as the case may be) or registration in South Carolina have occurred since the date the same were certified as aforesaid.

(13) An opinion of counsel in form and substance satisfactory to counsel for Bank as to such matters as Bank may reasonably request.

Section 4.2. In addition to the foregoing it shall be a condition precedent of each subsequent Advance that:

(2) Borrower shall have provided to Bank the executed Construction Contract Assignment (defined in Schedule 1) acknowledged by the Contractor, assuring Bank of the continued performance of the Contractor without any cost increases which result solely by reason of Bank or its designee taking possession of the Project Property or taking over the construction of the Improvements. The Construction Contract shall provide for retainage from each draw request of Ten (10.0%) percent prior to completion of the Improvements (the "Retainage").

(3) Borrower shall have provided to Bank labor and materials payment bond and performance bond issued by surety acceptable to Bank, naming Contractor as obligor in the full amount of the Construction Contract, in form and substance acceptable to Bank, together with dual-obligee rider(s) thereto naming Borrower as obligee and Bank as co-obligee (collectively the "Bonds").

(4) Borrower shall have provided to Bank a set of the final plans and specifications (the "Plans") for the construction and installation of the roads, drives, parking areas, exterior free-standing lighting and utilities (and installation thereof) and other infrastructure improvements for and to service the retail shopping areas of the Project the costs of which are to be defrayed with proceeds of the Loan (the "Improvements") (including, without limitation, a site plan showing the proposed locations thereof) signed as approved by the Engineer, the Contractor and the Borrower.

(5) Borrower shall have provided to Bank a breakdown by cost category of Project Costs (hereafter defined, which shall thereupon be attached hereto as Exhibit 1).

(6) All required permits, licenses and approvals of Governmental Authorities necessary to construct and use the Improvements (except those which are normally obtained during

(7) The representations and warranties of Borrower in Article III shall be true and correct on and as of the date of each Advance with the same force and effect as if made on such date, and no Event of Default nor any event which, with notice or the lapse of time or both, would constitute an Event of Default, shall have occurred.

(8) As of the date of each Advance, the Improvements (constructed and under construction) shall not have been materially damaged or destroyed by casualty, unless there shall have been deposited with Bank monies in an amount sufficient in the judgment of Bank to permit restoration of the Improvements so damaged or destroyed in accordance with the Plans.

(9) Neither Bank nor Borrower shall have received notice that any of the Construction Contract, the Bonds, or all required licences and permits, is not in full force and effect.

(10) Borrower shall have furnished to Bank the Request for Advance (hereafter defined) and where required, the contractor's certificate and the other certificates and material referred to in Section 4.4.

(11) If requested by Bank Borrower shall furnish to Bank an additional opinion of counsel in form and substance satisfactory to Bank as to such additional matters as Bank may reasonably request.

(12) If requested by Bank or required by the Title Insurer Borrower shall cause to be furnished an endorsement to the Title Policy or other instrument signed by the Title Insurer indicating that since the date of the Title Policy, there has been no change in the state of title, which endorsement or instrument shall have the effect of changing the effective date of the Title Policy to the date of such Advance.

(13) Insurance as required hereunder and in the Security Documents shall continue in full force and effect.

(14) Sufficient undisbursed funds remain in the Loan and in each cost category with respect to which the Advance is sought, to fully fund the Advance sought.

Section 4.3. In addition to the foregoing it shall be a condition precedent with respect to the Final Advance that the Bank shall have received:

(1) Evidence acceptable to Bank that the Improvements have been fully completed.

(2) All requirements and conditions for the Final Advance must be satisfied in full in order for the Final Advance to be made not later than March 1, 2009 (the "Completion Date").

Section 4.4. Subject to the terms of this Agreement, Bank shall make Advances to Borrower on account of the Loan in an aggregate principal amount of up to, but not more than, $6,500,000.00. The Initial Advance shall be made upon accomplishment as determined by Bank with the conditions precedent set forth in Section 4.1 hereof, and shall be used for the purposes of satisfying existing indebtedness encumbering the Project Property and the Beach Property (i.e., the Mortgaged Property), funding Three Hundred Thousand and No/100ths ($300,000.00) Dollars into a restricted access (limited to Bank only until the Loan has been repaid and satisfied in full) demand deposit account (the "Interest Reserve Account") of Borrower maintained by and with Bank to be used to make monthly interest payments due upon the Loan, and paying costs of closing and otherwise incurred in connection with the Loan, as approved by Bank. Except for the Final Advance (hereafter defined), Advances subsequent to the Initial Advance shall be made from time to time as construction of the improvements progresses, but not more frequently than once each month, in a sum equal to (a) the total expenditures incurred by the Borrower and approved by the Bank for fees and costs incurred in connection with the Loan, funding the Interest Reserve Account, the satisfaction of existing indebtedness encumbering the Mortgaged Property, interest payments upon the Loan, and the construction of the improvements (such total expenditures incurred by Borrower being referred to as the "Project Costs") less Retainage, through the end of the period covered by the Request for Advance, less (b) the aggregate amount of all Advances theretofore made on account of the Loan and the amount, if any, by which the Project Costs of any category exceed the amounts allocated thereto, subject, in each case, however, to the further provisions of this Article IV. Anything to the contrary herein notwithstanding Advances for Project Costs shall not exceed the sum of $6,500,000.00 in the aggregate. After the Initial Advance Advances shall be based upon percentage of completion of the improvements, subject, in each case, however, to the provisions of this Article IV. The Final Advance (the "Final Advance") shall be made only upon completion in full of the improvements and, in applicable cases approval or acceptance for service by appropriate Governmental Authorities. The Final Advance may include, to the extent of funds available, Retainage then due.

Section 4.5.

(1) Not less than seven (7) business days prior to the making of each Advance:

- (a) Borrower shall submit to Bank a request for such Advance in such form as Bank may require (the "Request for Advance") setting forth the total amount for which such Advance is requested broken down by categories, and, if requested by Bank, an Request for Advance shall be accompanied by receipted bills, paid invoices, payroll records or other evidence satisfactory to Bank supporting each item covered by such Request for Advance; or
- (b) In the case of an Request for Advance for or including construction costs, Bank shall have received as to each such Request for Advance a fully completed Application and Certificate for Payment (AIA Document G 702) executed and acknowledged by the Contractor and certified by the Architect.

Section 6.5. Make any loans, advances or extensions of credit to any person or entity.

Section 6.6. Pay, declare or disburse any dividend or profit or redeem or purchase any Member's interest in whole or in part, provided, however, that if Borrower has elected partnership or Subchapter S status for income tax purposes Borrower may pay distributions not to exceed the amount of income taxes payable by its Member(s) solely attributable to Borrower's income.

Section 6.7. Grant any lien on or security interest in, or otherwise encumber, any of its properties or assets including, without limitation, the Collateral, and, except for liens for taxes not yet due and payable or which are being actively contested in good faith by appropriate proceedings and for which adequate reserves are being maintained by Borrower, Borrower shall not permit to exist any lien, security interest or other encumbrance (other than easements, such as for utilities, which solely service the Project) on any of its properties or assets.

Section 6.8. Take, or fail to take, any act if such act or failure to act results in the imposition of withdrawal liability under Title IV of ERISA.

Section 6.9. Release, discharge, dispose of, store, accept or receive for storage or disposal, or allow to be stored or disposed of, any "hazardous substance" (as defined in CERCLA) on or in any real or personal property owned or leased by Borrower, except as otherwise expressly consented to by Bank in writing; or release, discharge, use, transport, or dispose of any "hazardous substance" in an unlawful manner.

- (15) A survey at any time shall show an encroachment upon any street, easement, right-of-way or adjoining property or violate any setback requirement, or shall show that any structure on adjoining property encroaches on the Project Property and Borrower does not begin to diligently begin to cure the same within 30 days after Borrower becomes aware of same; or
- (16) Any of the materials used in connection with the construction or operation of the Improvements shall not be in accordance with the Plans.

For this purpose, Borrower hereby irrevocably constitutes and appoints Bank its true and lawful attorney-in-fact, coupled with an interest, with full power of substitution (1) to complete, or cause to be completed, the Improvements in the name of Borrower in the manner called for by the Plans; (2) to make such additions and changes to and corrections of the Plans as may be necessary or desirable to complete the Improvements substantially in the manner contemplated by the Plans; (3) to employ such contractors, subcontractors, agents, architects and inspectors as shall be required for said purposes; (4) to pay, settle or compromise all existing bills and claims which are or may be liens against the Mortgaged Property or any part thereof, or may be necessary or desirable for the completion of the work or the clearance of title; (5) to execute all applications and certificates in the name of Borrower which may be required by any construction or other contract; (6) to prosecute and defend all actions

Section 9.9. Neither this Agreement nor any provision hereof may be changed, waived, discharged, or terminated, except by an instrument in writing signed by the party against whom enforcement of the change, waiver, discharge or termination is sought.

Wayne, Darwin is in Florida and if we can work through this without going to Columbia we would certainly prefer not to.

Is there anything we aren't doing in compliance with our loan agreement? If so please advise us immediately. When you came and solicited us you knew we had gone through a million in interest with the other loans we had with you. When you came to us you were offering to finance the entire project including interest payments up to March 2010 and said you could find us an insurance company for our permanent financing. We knew and talked about having never done a lease ourselves there would be some muddling through. We sat down with Steve Strickland, Doug Hinds and George Geer and struck a lot of things and they have sent back for us to go through again. We fully expect to work together with Lowe's to get a workable lease. We feel it would be easier to sell the property with a Lowe's lease in place and Lowe's said they had no problem with that.

We have sent a final contract to CVS and Rite Aid has made an offer last week, but we opted to go with CVS.

About two weeks ago we decided with the economy as it we would like to sell it and we have John Drawn with Chicora quietly trying to sell it (We offered to sell it with us keeping two or three out parcels). We don't feel anything will move before the first of the year and it may take until June. If we don't have anything by January we are considering listing it with an auction company to sell at auction in April.

We certainly expect you to honor the interest commitment you have made to us and we may need up to a year to sell and close. We fully expect you to fund our interest to give us time to dispose of this asset. You not only have this asset you have the deed to Darwin's lot.

If you want or need to do away with the construction part of the loan that is fine but we fully expect you to honor your commitment you made to us at the restaurant at Pawleys.

We are open to suggestions and if we aren't complying we would appreciate knowing so we can.

I will not be on line tomorrow. Wednesday's I spend the day in town. I have Bible Study from 9:30 to 12:00. Then I have prayer time from 12:00 to 1:00. I will check my phone messages before going to pray. I will be available by phone from 1:00 until 3:30 when I do activities with my special needs students until 6:00.

Thanks, Peggy

AGREEMENT

This Agreement (this "Agreement") made and entered into as of the 10th day of April, 2009 (the "Effective Date"), by First South Bank ("Bank") on the one hand, and South Causeway, LLC ("Borrower"), Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and Will Darwin Wheeler (individually each a "Guarantor" and collectively "Guarantors") on the other hand.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

HERETOFORE on or about June 25, 2008, Bank made a loan (the "Loan") unto Borrower, a South Carolina limited liability company, in the original principal amount of Six Million Five Hundred Thousand and No/100 ($6,500,000.00) Dollars pursuant to a Loan Agreement (the "Loan Agreement") dated June 25, 2008 and entered between Bank and Borrower. Capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed thereto in the Loan Agreement unless the context hereof requires otherwise. Bank has advanced, and there is currently outstanding, Four Million Seven Hundred Sixty-Nine Thousand Seven Hundred Twenty-Five and 23/100ths ($4,769,725.23) Dollars (the "Outstanding Balance") in principal upon the Loan. The obligation of Borrower to repay the Loan are evidenced by the Note executed by the Borrower. Timely payment and performance of the Note is guaranteed by a Guaranty executed by each Guarantor and dated June 25, 2008. Payment and performance of Borrower's obligations with respect to the Loan are secured in part by a first mortgage lien evidenced by the Borrower Mortgage given by the Guarantor Will Darwin Wheeler and encumbering and comprising a first mortgage lien upon certain unimproved real property (the "Guarantor Parcel") having an address of 334 Myrtle Avenue, Pawleys Island, Georgetown County, South Carolina, having Tris No. 42-1670-42.3 and designated as Lot 4 on a plat prepared by The Earthworks Group dated July 9, 2006. The Borrower Mortgage was recorded in the ROD Office for Georgetown County, South Carolina on June 25, 2008, in Book 990 at Page 265.

Borrower has failed to pay timely 2008 Georgetown County, South Carolina, property taxes (the "2008 Taxes") which were due January 15, 2009, upon the Project Property (encumbered by the Borrower Mortgage), and such 2008 Taxes are currently past due and owing.

Borrower and Guarantors have requested that Bank satisfy and cancel the Guarantor Mortgage and accordingly release the Guarantor Parcel from the Collateral such that Bank will no longer have a lien thereupon. Bank is agreeable to so doing upon the following express conditions and provided that Borrower and Guarantors: (i) release Bank from any, every and all claims which Borrower and each Guarantor might have or consider against Bank, (ii) simultaneously with the satisfaction and release by Bank of the Guarantor Mortgage deliver to Bank the sum of Three Hundred Thousand and No/100ths ($300,000.00) Dollars which funds shall be disbursed by Bank to pay (a) all costs incurred by Bank, including Bank's attorneys' fees (including, without limitation, Bank's attorneys' fees not heretofore paid), in connection with the Loan and with respect to this Agreement and the preparation hereof (collectively, without limitation, "Bank's Costs"), and (b) the 2008 Taxes (which includes all penalties and interest charged by the taxing authority with respect thereto), and the balance thereof shall be deposited by the Bank into the Interest Reserve Account and disbursed by Bank, together with funds already on deposit therein, to pay interest upon the Note as the same shall accrue and be due and payable, pay Georgetown County, South Carolina, property taxes due for the calendar year 2009 (the "2009 Taxes"), when due, and for such other purposes (including, without limitation, Bank's future attorneys' fees and costs hereafter incurred in connection with the Loan or the modification or recovery thereof) as are described in the Loan Agreement (with any funds remaining therein, if any, to be paid over to the Borrower upon payment and satisfaction of the Note and all Borrower's other obligations with respect to the Loan in full), (iii) acknowledge and agree that Bank shall not, nor shall Bank have any obligation to, make any Advance upon the Loan in excess of the Outstanding Balance, and (iv) agree and acknowledge with Bank the amendment and modification of the Loan Agreement, the Note, the Security Documents and the Guaranties (together with all other instruments, made, given, executed or delivered by Borrower or Guarantors in connection with the Loan the "Loan Documents"), to reduce the term of the Loan such that the Note and all obligations of the Borrower with respect to the Loan shall be due and payable not on July 3, 2011, but on July 5, 2010. Borrower and Guarantors are agreeable to these said terms and conditions imposed by Bank as are hereinabove and hereinafter set forth and accordingly the parties have entered this Agreement.

TEXT OF AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

NOW THEREFORE, for and in consideration of these premises and the mutual promises herein contained, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the parties agree as follows:

both at law and in equity, which against the said Released Parties and any of them, Borrower and each Guarantor ever had, now has or which Borrower, each Guarantor, or its, his or her respective personal representatives, heirs, successors and assigns, hereafter can, shall or may have, for, upon or by reason of any matter, cause or thing whatever from the beginning of the world up to the day, hour and minute of the execution of these presents, including, without limitation, with respect to the Loan, and any matter or thing whatever arising out of the same, either known or unknown at this time, apparent or not apparent, and both present and future.

4. Bank, Borrower and Guarantors agree that as of the date hereof the Outstanding Balance of the Loan is Four Million Seven Hundred Sixty-Nine Thousand Seven Hundred Twenty-Five and 23/100ths ($4,769,725.23) Dollars. Borrower and each Guarantor further acknowledges and agrees that Bank shall not be obligated to make, and neither Borrower nor either Guarantor shall have any right to demand, request or otherwise require or seek to have Bank to make any further Advance upon the Loan, nor shall Bank be otherwise obligated or required in any fashion to loan or make available for borrowing any funds of the Loan in addition to the Outstanding Balance.

5. Bank has simultaneously with the entering hereof, delivered, in trust, unto the Borrower's and Guarantors' attorney, Robert Gwin, Esquire (the "Escrow Agent"), the Guarantor Mortgage, duly satisfied and cancelled (the "Satisfied Mortgage"). With respect to the foregoing disbursements from the Interest Reserve Account, Borrower and Guarantors acknowledge and agree that Bank has made no representation or warranty whatsoever that the funds on deposit in the Interest Reserve Account are or will be sufficient to pay the items described above as and when due, and that nothing contained herein or in any of the Loan Documents relieves or reduces, or is intended to relieve or reduce, the absolute and unfettered obligation of Borrower and of each Guarantor to timely pay all indebtedness and other obligations (including, without limitation, 2009 taxes and all interest payments due upon the Note) as provided and required by the Loan Documents and each of them.

6. Bank and Borrower do hereby amend and modify the Note and each of the other Loan Documents as applicable, such that the term of the Note shall be reduced and all indebtedness under and with respect to the Note and Borrower's other obligations with respect to the Loan shall be due

AFFIDAVIT OF
PEGGY WHEELER-CRIBB

PERSONALLY APPEARED BEFORE ME, Peggy Wheeler-Cribb, who being duly sworn deposes and says as follows:

1. I am over eighteen years of age and am fully competent to testify as to the matters contained herein.
2. The information contained in this Affidavit is based upon my personal knowledge, and this Affidavit is made in opposition to the Motion for Summary Judgment filed by the plaintiff in the above matter.
3. As affiant, I believe the information contained in this Affidavit to be true, complete and accurate.
4. I am the sole member of the defendant, South Causeway, LLC.
5. In our about October of 2005, my son, Will Darwin Wheeler, and I executed a Promissory Note in favor of First Palmetto Savings Bank, F.S.B. ("First Palmetto") in the amount of $4,500,000.00. The Note was secured by mortgages on two properties: (1) 17.49 acres of undeveloped, commercial property in Pawleys Island, South Carolina owned by me (hereinafter "the South Causeway Property"); and (2) residential property located in Pawleys Island, South Carolina owned by my son.

6. The First Palmetto Note was originally due on October 15, 2007, but it was later extended to October 15, 2008. When the Note was extended by First Palmetto, the bank released its mortgage on the residential property owned by my son. After January 25, 2007, the First Palmetto loan was secured solely by the South Causeway Property.
7. Through our dealings with First Palmetto, my son and I met F. Wayne Lovelace, who, at that time, was Vice President of First Palmetto. Lovelace was our primary contact at First Palmetto, and we communicated with Lovelace about our loan and our loan renewal on numerous occasions.
8. In April of 2006, I acquired an additional 1.68 acres abutting the South Causeway Property. After that time, the South Causeway Property totaled approximately 19.17 acres.
9. I engaged in negotiations with a national, retail grocery chain about building a facility on the South Causeway Property and entering a long-term lease. The grocery store issued a letter of intent, memorializing the plan.
10. At some point in 2007, Lovelace joined First South Bank.
11. In or about September of 2007, Lovelace contacted me and inquired about the possibility of moving the First Palmetto loan to First South Bank. Lovelace represented to me that First South Bank could offer me a better rate and could help with the development of the South Causeway Property.
12. Throughout my negotiations with Lovelace and other agents of First South, I repeatedly explained that I was not willing to cross-collateralize a development loan with other properties owned by my son or myself. I was repeatedly assured that additional collateral would not be necessary. This was a critical term since I anticipated that I may need additional funds if the grocery store was unable to open in time, and in the event I did, I needed other property that could be used as collateral.

13. In May of 2008, South Causeway, LLC was organized, and thereafter, in exchange for my membership interest, I deeded the South Causeway Property to the company.
14. The First South Bank loan was scheduled to close in June of 2008. Prior to closing, Lovelace sent copies of the loan documents to me by electronic mail. After reviewing the documents, I discovered that the draft Note was secured by mortgages covering the South Causeway Property, as well as property owned by my son.
15. I immediately telephoned Lovelace to object to the inclusion of the additional property, and Lovelace assured me that this would be corrected prior to closing.
16. During the closing on June 25, 2008, my son and I discovered that Lovelace had not corrected the Note, and that in order to close, my son had to agree to mortgage his individual property as security for the loan. At that point, we felt that we had no other choice since the First Palmetto loan was coming due, and Lovelace assured us that First South Bank would see the development through its conclusion. Reluctantly, we agreed to close.
17. At closing, South Causeway, LLC executed a Promissory Note in favor of First South Bank in the principal amount of $6,500,000.00. Under the terms of the Note, South Causeway, LLC was obligated to make monthly payments of accrued interest with the principal due on July 5, 2011.
18. Shortly after closing, in mid-July of 2008, Lovelace called me and requested a meeting. During our meeting, Lovelace informed my son and I that First South Bank was freezing its loan, and no further funds would be advanced to us. We were shocked and requested the Bank reconsider, but Lovelace refused to do so.

19. In 2009, my son and I approached First South Bank about making a second loan to be secured by residential property we owned. However, First South Bank refused to advance us any funds.
20. Finally, we found a lender, Kennedy Funding out of New Jersey, that was willing to loan us money on our residential property. However, the lender required as security the lot that was being held by First South Bank as security under its loan. My son and I approached Lovelace and requested the lot be released from First South Bank's mortgage.
21. Lovelace agreed to release the lot owned by my son, but to do so, we had to pay First South Bank $300,000.00. In addition, Kennedy Funding required a $50,000.00 non-refundable deposit.
22. At closing, after the $50,000.00 had been paid, we discovered that in addition to the $300,000.00 payment, First South Bank was taking back a year from the South Causeway, LLC Promissory Note and demanding an acceleration of the maturity date. The Bank demanded a new maturity date of July 5, 2010. I was taken completely off-guard, and if I refused to close on the loan, I would be forced to forfeit the $50,000.00 deposit. Additionally, if I did not close, the lot would remain subject to First South Bank's mortgage, preventing us from closing with Kennedy Funding. Faced with no other option, I executed the closing documents; I would have never voluntarily signed the purported loan agreement, but I felt I had no reasonable alternative.

23. Thereafter, I immediately began soliciting offers for the purchase of the South Causeway Property. I executed a listing agreement with Robbie Buice of Prudential Source One Realty.
24. During this time, Lovelace continued to involve himself in the marketing and sale of the property. He consistently suggested other realtors, and at some point, William Hudson, an agent with Keystone Commercial Realty, presented me with a contract for sale of the South Causeway Property. I refused the contract because it contained an unacceptable closing date. Hudson then informed me that he had spoken with Lovelace, that Lovelace told him it was a good offer, and that I should accept it.
25. After speaking with Hudson, I contacted Lovelace and demanded that he and the Bank stop interfering with my efforts to sell the property and allow me to market the property as my agent and I saw fit.
26. Then, in April of 2010, Lovelace informed me that First South Bank was considering selling the South Causeway, LLC loan to a third party individual even though the Bank said the loan was to mature just three months later. I demanded to know what information the Bank had disclosed and to whom the Bank made such disclosure.
27. Initially, Lovelace refused to give me any information regarding the potential purchaser. Later, Lovelace disclosed the potential purchaser as Charles McCullen, a long-time, valued customer of the Bank. However, Lovelace and the Bank continued to refuse to provide me with copies of the documents provided to McCullen.
28. In the meantime, we had contracted with Vintage Estates Realty to auction the South Causeway Property. We paid for advertising and marketing materials, as well as the auction fees.

29. The auction was scheduled to take place in June of 2010. Only eighteen days before the auction, Lovelace contacted Don Thomas, who is the broker-in-charge of Vintage Estates Realty. Lovelace informed Thomas of the status of the South Causeway, LLC loan, the amount of the principal balance owed, and that our loan would not be renewed.
30. Lovelace also told Thomas that the property could not be subdivided and sold in lots, thereby limiting the options of the auction company and potential purchasers. As a result, we were forced to change the terms of our auction agreement. Instead of subdividing the lots and setting the reserves at prices commiserate with the size of the parcels, we were forced to set the reserves for all four lots at the same price.
31. The original auction contract, which was produced during the deposition of Thomas, clearly shows that the initial reserve prices that we set with the input and professional judgment of our agent were marked out and new reserve prices for each parcel, all equal to $4,800,000.00, were substituted for the original amounts set by us.
32. In addition, Lovelace compromised our bargaining position with potential purchasers by revealing confidential information to Thomas and possibly others, which we had made a deliberate decision not to disclose to anyone.
33. I believe that because of the disclosures and restrictions on the manner of sale imposed by Lovelace and the Bank, the auction was unsuccessful, and we received no acceptable offers of purchase.
34. We have never been provided any information, either orally or in writing, from First South Bank regarding why our loan was called or why the Bank refused to renew or otherwise negotiate our loan. It is our belief that the Bank's motivation in calling the loan and interfering with our attempts to sell the property was to accommodate another bank customer in his desire to purchase the South Causeway Property and to prevent us from finding a suitable purchaser.

AND FURTHER THE DEPONENT SAITH NOT.

SWORN to before me this 26 day of July, 2011.

Dear Peggy, Darwin, Doug and George:

Thank you very much for the questions you have raised concerning our commitment for financing your project located at South Causeway Road and Highway 17. I will attempt to answer each as follows:

Subject: Questions?

Wayne, Darwin and I have gone over the proposed loan commitment several times and we have gotten on the speaker phone with Doug Hinds. I'm listing our concerns.

Some of it was a little hard for us to understand and Doug said he had to study it and he and George will study it some more today.

First Doug said he thought he saw somewhere that the appraisal was for 17 acres. We need to make sure all tracks of the land were appraised. There were two track in the first purchase, then we added Neil Lewis property which made it 19.22 acres. We need a copy of appraisal before we can make a final decision.

ANSWER

We have not received a copy of the "Land Comparison Appraisal" report but the appraiser has indicated that his final value will be between $8MM and $8.1MM (or approximately $420,000 / acre). This valuation is based on sales of similarly-sized properties as close in proximity to the subject site as possible.

Once all of the necessary documents have been received by us (i.e. construction contracts for the installation of the road system, water, sewer and storm drainage infrastructure; etc.), we will forward them to the appraiser and he will render the actual A&D appraisal by assigning a value to the overall project by placing a value on the common area and the individual lots within the development. This should take approximately 2 weeks.

As to the actual acreage, he was furnished a boundary survey of both the original 17.54 acre tract and the 1.68 acre "Lewis" tract to appraise. Thus, his report will reflect a value for the entire 19.22 acre tract, as requested.

A. $65,000 fee needs to be due at closing, not signing

On Page 3 of the Commitment Letter, the fee described will be considered "fully earned" once the commitment is accepted. However, the fee will not be due until closing.

B. We need to know the cost of Banks legal fees that we have to pay.

Handwritten circled "R 24"

EXHIBIT

ANSWER

I have discussed this with Don Tyler (Tyler, Cassell, Jackson, Peace & Silver, LLP) and this, obviously, is a function of the time devoted to document review, preparation, etc. Based on Don's best estimate, he believes that his fee will be approximately $9,500 for this transaction. However, according to Don, it may be slightly more or slightly less, depending on what other legal needs may / may not arise.

- C. We need to know exactly what kind of insurance you are talking about. We have no plans to name First South Bank on our beach houses. We expect the Causeway property to stand on it's own.

Aside from normal title Insurance requirements and evidence from the General Contractor that there is adequate protection afforded for Workers Compensation and General Liability claims, no additional insurance should be required. However, the Bank will reserve the right to require certain Insurance coverages (such as flood and / or hazard) if any improvements constructed or installed at the "Project Site" during the development phase are considered "insurable".

No Insurance naming First South Bank connected with any of your other improved properties (i.e. those with habitable structures) is expected or required.

7. If we understand the wording of this, it is not acceptable. We will in no way secure this loan with our beach houses and lots. In speaking with you, I understood you were using lot # 4 as extra collateral until final lease was worked out with Lowe's, which may be around 6 months.

ANSWER

It was never our intention to make a part of our collateral package any properties other than the 19.22 acres and Lot 4 / 334 Myrtle Avenue. Further, the reason for including Lot 4 stemmed from the fact that we did not have a current appraisal upon which to make a decision as to how much to allocate toward our initial advance at closing. The statutory advance against "unimproved property" is 65% of the appraised value of the real estate being purchased / financed and a maximum of a 75% against the total value of the proposed project. In the absence of a current land appraisal, we wanted to make sure that we were sufficiently secured in the event that the property appraised for less than expected and still be able to fund your initial needs.

As to the proposed release of Lot 4, your understanding is correct. Subject to the maximum advance requirements stated above, once we receive a copy of the engineer's certificate evidencing that all of the Infrastructure improvements have been installed, the development is complete and is in compliance with all applicable zoning requirements or we have been furnished a final copy of the signed lease between you and Lowe's Foods, our collateral interest in Lot 4 will terminate and our mortgage will be released.

Also, we would want the excess funds from loan at First Palmetto and the excess funds from the original $550K loan with First South Bank to go to us at closing.

I cannot speak for First Palmetto, but it would seem to me that all they would be interested in would be the payment of all principal and accrued interest through the requested payoff date. Any funds remaining in your reserve account would be released and would be made available to you for withdrawal, etc.

As to First South Bank, we have requested that the funds remaining in your reserve account with us (approximately $31,169 as of today) be "netted" against the payoff as these funds were originally part of the loan proceeds so you would get the benefit of these funds by way of a lower payoff amount. If this creates a problem, we will be glad to discuss it further and get back to you.

Of the $1,400,000.00 for construction and installation of roads, drives, parking, etc. we would need at closing, $100,000.00 for clearing and storm water work that is on going now and will be completed by closing. (already at $60,000)

ANSWER

As stated above, we have not received a copy of the construction contract(s) or the actual budget for the infrastructure development from your approved / selected General Contractor. After receipt, review and approval of the contract(s) and budget, we will make advances based on all work performed which has been approved and certified to by the supervising engineer.

Thank you for your time and effort in this.

Re: $6,500,000.00 development loan (the "Loan") of First South Bank ("Bank") to South Causeway, LLC ("Borrower"), payment and performance of which is guaranteed by each of Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and Will Darwin Wheeler (each a "Guarantor" and collectively the "Guarantors").

Dear Sir:

We refer to the Loan Agreement (the "Agreement") of even date herewith between the Bank and the Borrower with respect to the Loan. Unless otherwise defined herein or the context otherwise requires, this opinion uses capitalized terms with the respective meanings ascribed to them in the Agreement. We have acted as counsel to the Borrower and the Guarantors in connection with the Loan. This opinion is delivered to you pursuant to the requirements of the Agreement and at the direction of our clients.

We have examined the Agreement, the Note, the Security Agreement, the Borrower Mortgage, the Financing Statements, and each and every one of the other Security Documents to be entered or given by Borrower (collectively the "Loan Documents"), and the Guarantor Mortgage and each of Guaranties. We have made inquiry of the Borrower and the Guarantor and have also examined, reviewed and relied upon to the extent we deem appropriate such other documents, records, abstracts, reports, papers, indices, books, certificates, both public and private, and other instruments, and matters of law, and have made such investigations as we deemed necessary or relevant for the rendering of this opinion.

Based thereupon it is our opinion that:

1. Borrower is a limited liability company duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the State of South Carolina.
2. Borrower has qualified to do business and is in good standing in every jurisdiction where its conduct of business, ownership of property or other activities requires such qualifications under the laws of such jurisdiction.

3. Borrower has full power, authority and legal right to own its properties, to carry on its business and to enter into and perform its obligations under the Loan Documents.

4. The execution and delivery by Borrower of the Loan Documents through the person therein indicated to be its duly authorized representative, have been duly authorized by all necessary action of the Borrower.

5. Neither the execution and delivery of the Loan Documents by the Borrower, nor the execution and delivery of the Guarantor Mortgage and the Guaranties by the Guarantors, nor the consummation of the transactions contemplated thereby by each of the foregoing, nor the performance by Borrower and each Guarantor of its, his and her respective obligations thereunder, (a) violate, conflict with, breach or constitute a default under (i) any statute, law, rule, regulation, order, writ, decree, injunction or other proceeding of any court, regulatory body or other Governmental Authority, (ii) Borrower's Articles of Organization, Operating Agreement or similar charter or organizational document, or any duly adopted resolutions of Borrower presently in force or effect, or (iii) any mortgage, indenture, contract, agreement, or other instrument to which Borrower or a Guarantor (or any assets or properties of Borrower or a Guarantor, respectively) is subject or by which Borrower or a Guarantor is bound; (b) results in or constitutes an event by reason of which any holder of indebtedness of Borrower or a Guarantor would be entitled to accelerate such indebtedness in whole or in part; or (c) results in the creation or imposition of any security interest, lien, encumbrance or charge on or upon any asset or property of Borrower or a Guarantor (other than liens and security interests created pursuant to the Loan Documents and the Guarantor Mortgage).

6. There are no actions, suits or proceedings pending or, to the best of our knowledge (after due inquiry) threatened, against or affecting the Borrower or either Guarantor before or by any court, administrative agency, arbitrator or governmental body with respect to any of the transactions contemplated by the Loan Documents, the Guarantor Mortgage and the Guaranties, respectively, or which will, if determined adversely to Borrower or a Guarantor, respectively, materially and adversely affect its, his or her business, assets, operations or condition, financial or otherwise, or adversely affects its, his or her ability to perform its, his or her obligations under the Loan Documents, the Guarantor Mortgage and the respective Guaranties.

7. Borrower and each Guarantor has each obtained or made all necessary consents, approvals, waivers and notifications of stockholders, creditors, and other non-governmental persons, in connection with the execution and delivery of the Loan Documents, the Guarantor Mortgage and each of the Guaranties.

8. No consent or approval of, giving of notice to, registration with, or taking of any other action in respect of, any state, federal or other governmental authority or agency is required in connection with Borrower's execution, delivery, and performance of its obligations under, or the consummation of the transactions contemplated by, the Loan Documents.

9. The Loan Documents constitute legal, valid and binding obligations of Borrower, enforceable against the Borrower in accordance with their terms.

10. Will Darwin Wheeler has executed the Guarantor Mortgage, and the Guarantor Mortgage constitutes the legal, valid and binding obligations of Will Darwin Wheeler enforceable against the Guarantors in accordance with its terms.

11. Each Guarantor has executed the Guaranty intended for such respective Guarantor, and the Guaranty of each such Guarantor constitutes the legal, valid and binding obligations of such Guarantor, enforceable against such Guarantor in accordance with its terms.

12. The Note is entitled to the benefit and security afforded by the Guarantor Mortgage, and the Borrower Mortgage and the other Security Documents.

13. No taxes, fees, or other charges are payable to any Governmental Authority in connection with the execution and delivery of the Loan Documents, or the consummation of the transactions therein contemplated, except for nominal recording taxes or fees payable in connection with the recording of the Borrower Mortgage, the Guarantor Mortgage and the Financing Statements.

14. The execution and delivery of the Security Documents, and the recording of the Borrower Mortgage, the Guarantor Mortgage and the Financing Statements, create a valid and perfected security interest in the Bank in the Collateral. No other filings in any jurisdiction are necessary to perfect the security interest of the Bank in the Collateral as against any third parties, and no further action is required to create, preserve, or perfect such security interest, except that an appropriate continuation statement with respect to each of the Financing Statements must be timely filed at within six months prior to each five year interval after the original filing in order to maintain the perfection of such security interest.

15. The Loan and all of the Loan Documents are governed by the laws of the State of South Carolina and the interest charged by and to be paid to the Bank as set forth in the Note is not usurious under those laws.

As I mentioned a few minutes ago, these are the two proposals that Chip and I have discussed to release our mortgage on the Myrtle Avenue property:

1. $ 65,000 - 2008 real estate property taxes.
65,000 - 2009 real estate property taxes (to be escrowed w/ First South Bank and to be paid when billed you by Georgetown County, SC).
10,000 - Attorney fees
375,000 - Additional interest reserve contribution to carry the loan to the original maturity date of 07/05/11.
$515,000 - Total

2. $ 65,000 - 2008 real estate property taxes.
65,000 - 2009 real estate property taxes (to be escrowed w/ First South Bank and to be paid when billed you by Georgetown County, SC).
10,000 - Attorney fees.
160,000 - Additional interest reserve contribution to carry the loan to new maturity date of 07/05/10.
$300,000 - Total

As you will note, Option #2 requires $215,000 less in outlay than Option #1 because we are shortening the maturity of the loan by one year and we will require payment in full on the 07/05/2010 maturity date.

Please review and let me know how you wish to proceed.

Wayne, Can you explain to me a question I have on The loan. I have been reviewing you proposal and Darwin and I are leaning towards Option 2.

We were reviewing the interest and interest reserve. The initial payment on August 6 2008 was $31,798.16 which was a very large amount on the $ 4.8 million note. The subsequent months also seemed high so if you could clarify the rate calculations and what principal amount was used initially.

I appreciate you working with us on this.

Wayne, Darwin and I have decided to go with option #2. We are concerned about the $10,000 in attorney fee. We feel this is extremely high for making a change when we already paid high attorney fees when we closed on the loan. I know you said this was an estimate and of course I would request an itemized statement of the charges.

We really appreciate your working with us on this and we are pushing to close on Monday so I can pay the other taxes.

I know you aren't comfortable with talking to Neil Mauntone, but if you want to get on a conference call with Doug Hinds and myself to talk about the additional $10,000 attorney fees, please let me know.

Again I thank you for working with us on this.

PLAINTIFF'S RESPONSE/CONSENT TO DEFENDANT'S RETURN IN OPPOSITION TO MOTION FOR ATTORNEYS' FEES AND COSTS

Plaintiff First South Bank ("First South") has filed certain affidavits to support an award of attorneys' fees and costs. Defendant South Causeway, LLC ("South Causeway") has filed a Return in Opposition to Motion for Attorneys' Fees and Costs (the "Return"). In the Return, South Causeway challenged the reasonableness and appropriateness of $52,661.45 in costs and fees requested by First South. While First South believes that the fees and costs are reasonable and appropriate and does not agree with the substance of South Causeway's objections, nonetheless, to avoid further dispute, First South consents to the reduction in the amount of attorneys' fees and costs that it is seeking by $52,661.45.

ORDER DENYING DEFENDANT'S POST-TRIAL MOTIONS

2010-5-11-10
CLERK OF COURT

This matter came before me on post-trial motions of the Defendant South Causeway, LLC ("South Causeway") for judgment notwithstanding the verdict ("JNOV") on South Causeway's counterclaims, or, in the alternative for a new trial, and for an amendment of the judgment on Plaintiff First South Bank's ("First South") foreclosure claim. First South filed an Opposition to South Causeway's motion. Based on the arguments presented in the briefs, as further explained below, South Causeway's post-trial motions are denied.

I. South Causeway's Motion for JNOV.

South Causeway moved for JNOV on the three counterclaims that the jury unanimously decided in favor of First South: breach of contract, tortious interference with contract, and violation of the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act. In considering a motion for JNOV, the Court views the evidence in the light most favorable to First South and draw all reasonable inferences in its favor. Strange v. S.C. Dep't of Highways & Public Transp., 314 S.C. 427, 445 S.E.2d 439 (1994). A motion for JNOV will be denied if "either the evidence yields more than one inference or its inference is in doubt." Id.

A. Breach of Contract.

1. Funding Interest Reserve.

The Commitment Letter provides for the deposit of an additional $550,000 of proceeds into the interest reserve account "upon the earlier to occur of completion of the Infrastructure and six (6) months from the date of Loan Closing." Pl.'s Trial Ex. 1, p. 2, ¶ F. South Causeway has asserted that the foregoing provision is ambiguous as to the funding date, that the jury had to construe this ambiguity against First South, and if construed against First South Bank then the jury could have only concluded that First South breached the loan agreement. This argument ignores the other language encompassed within the parties' agreements and the evidence of the parties' intent introduced at trial. When viewed as a whole, the evidence clearly permitted a reasonable interpretation of the entire agreement between the parties which supports the jury's unanimous verdict.

The Loan Agreement provides that it governs over any provision of the Commitment Letter. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 2, p. 18, §9.10. The Loan Agreement divides the funding between an initial advance at closing and subsequent advances that will only take place upon the completion of certain events. See id. at p. 3, §4.1, p. 6, §4.2, & pp. 7-8, §4.4. Part of the initial advance included funding $300,000.00 into the interest reserve account, which took place at closing and is undisputed. Id. at p. 7, §4.4. The $550,000 referenced in the Commitment Letter was not part of the initial advance and was not part of the Loan Agreement. As a subsequent advance, this additional funding was not required by the Loan Agreement. Even if required, any such advance was subject to the conditions precedent applicable to other subsequent advances. "Advances subsequent to the Initial Advance shall be made from time to time as construction of the Improvements progresses, but not more frequently than once each month, in a sum equal to (a)

the total expenditures incurred by the Borrower and approved by the Bank for fees and costs incurred in connection with the Loan, funding the Interest Reserve Account . . . through the end of the period covered by the Request for Advance . . . subject, in each case, however, to the further provisions of this Article IV." Id. p.8, §4.4. Section 4.2 of the Loan Agreement (contained within Article IV), sets forth a list of conditions precedent that must be satisfied prior to "each subsequent advance." Id. p. 6, §4.2. The evidence supported the finding that South Causeway did not meet the conditions precedent and abandoned developing the property. The evidence supported that South Causeway abandoned its initial plan to develop the property. Def.'s Trial Ex. 13. Therefore, the evidence supports finding First South never had a duty to make any subsequent advance of the $550,000 into the interest reserve account.

Witnesses also testified to the interpretation and intent of the $550,000 funding referenced in the Loan Commitment. Consistent with the terms of the Loan Agreement, testimony provided that the advancement of $550,000 into the interest reserve account was contingent on South Causeway achieving certain milestones associated with construction upon the property. As South Causeway never met those milestones and informed First South it was abandoning its plan to develop the property, the evidence supports the jury's finding that First South had no duty to deposit an additional $550,000 into the interest reserve account.

The Release contained in the April 10, 2009 Agreement between the parties further supports the jury's unanimous verdict that First South did not breach the contract. This release is additional grounds to deny South Causeway's motion for JNOV. First South's alleged failure to fund the interest reserve account with an additional $550,000 would have occurred prior to April 10, 2009. The Agreement entered into on April 10, 2009, broadly released First South from any claim that arose prior to April 10, 2009. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 11, pp. 2-3, 13. The release bars South Causeway's claim for breach of contract on this basis.

2. "Termination" of the Loan.

South Causeway also seeks JNOV on its breach of contract claim on the ground that First South "terminated" the loan "by reducing the amount of available principal." Witnesses, such as Wayne Lovelace, testified that the loan was not terminated. There was evidence showing that South Causeway abandoned its construction plans. Def.'s Trial Ex. 13 ("About two weeks ago we decided with the economy as it we would like to sell it" "If you want or need to do away with the construction part of the loan that is fine") Once South Causeway abandoned its plan to develop the property, First South was under no obligation to make any "subsequent advances." The Loan Agreement provides that South Causeway's abandonment of construction with the intent not to resume for a period of 5 consecutive days was an event of default and terminated any further funding obligation of First South. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 2, p. 13 §7.1 & p. 15, §§7.1(13) & 7.2. The Release also bars the breach of contract claim on this basis as any purported termination of the loan took place before April 10, 2009.

3. Breach of Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing.

South Causeway also seeks JNOV on the jury's unanimous finding that First South did not breach the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. South Causeway bases its motion on First South's disclosure of information to Vintage Estates Realty, LLC ("the auction company) and Lincoln Harris, a Charlotte based development company. With regard to the disclosure to the auction company, there was testimony that the information should have been disclosed to the auction company. With regard to the disclosure to Lincoln Harris, testimony was offered that First South had the right to sell the loan and would need to disclose the information it provided to Lincoln Harris in order to exercise that right. Therefore, evidence supports the finding that First South did not breach the covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

Further, to prevail on its breach of contract claim South Causeway had to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that it sustained some damage due to the alleged breach. Branche Builders, Inc. v. Coggins, 386 S.C. 43, 48, 686 S.E.2d 200, 202 (Ct. App. 2009). The possibility of damages alone is not enough. The evidence at trial supported a finding that South Causeway did not sustain any damages due to First South's disclosure to either the auction company or to Lincoln Harris. This alone is sufficient to uphold the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South and deny South Causeway's Motion for JNOV.

B. Tortious Interference with Contract.

To prevail on its claim for tortious interference with contract South Causeway had to prove, among other elements, that there was an intentional procurement of a breach, absence of justification, and resulting damages. DeBerry v. McCain, 275 S.C. 569, 274 S.E.2d 293 (1981). Testimony of the representative of the auction company supported finding that the auction company did not breach its contract with South Causeway (in fact, no evidence was presented that the auction company breached the contract). The evidence at trial also supported finding that First South was justified in disclosing the information, as the auction company needed the information in order to effectively conduct the auction. Further, evidence was presented that South Causeway was not damaged, as no one entered any bid at the auction at any price. Viewing the evidence in a light most favorable to First South, South Causeway is not entitled to JNOV on this claim.

C. Unfair Trade Practices Act.

South Causeway has also moved for JNOV on the jury's unanimous verdict that First South did not violate the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act ("UTPA") when First South disclosed information to the auction company and to Lincoln Harris. The testimony supported a finding that the auction company needed the information provided by First South to effectively conduct the auction. Therefore, the evidence supports a finding that the disclosure was not an unfair or deceptive act and supports the jury's unanimous verdict. As noted above, there was evidence that South Causeway did not sustain any damage due to the disclosure of any information, and therefore, South Causeway could not prevail on its UTPA claim. See Fields v. Yarborough Ford, Inc., 307 S.C. 207 210 S.E.2d 166 (1992) (holding a plaintiff could not prevail on a UTPA claim where there was no evidence of damages due to a violation of the UTPA).

As to the disclosure to Lincoln Harris, the evidence at trial supported the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South on the UTPA claim. Testimony established that banks sell troubled loans during the normal course of business. To sell loans, banks must disclose information of the type that First South disclosed to Lincoln Harris. The evidence also established that this case involved a transaction that presented a unique set of circumstances, negating the potential for repetition or the potential impact on the public interest. The evidence, including the testimony of South Causeway's expert, supported finding that the disclosure to Lincoln Harris did not cause any actual damages to South Causeway. Instead, the testimony supported finding any loss in value of the property was caused by the downturn of the economy during this time period. The jury was free to reject South Causeway's claim of damages of $8 million (the difference between Lincoln Harris's first offer and their last offer) as total speculation or not caused by any act of First South. Each of these grounds is sufficient to support the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South.

TAL

South Causeway also moved for a new trial on each of the claims discussed above based on the "thirteenth juror doctrine." A new trial is only appropriate when the judge "finds the evidence does not justify the verdict." Lane v. Gilbert Constr. Co., LTD., 383 S.C. 590, 681 S.E.2d 879 (2009). A decision under the thirteenth juror doctrine is premised on a trial judge's "duty of seeing that justice is done" and requires the trial judge to be "convinced that a new trial is necessitated on the basis of the facts in the case." Vinson v. Hartley, 324 S.C. 389, 477 S.E.2d 715 (Ct. App. 1996) (emphasis added). Here the evidence supports the jury's findings and justice was done, and therefore, this Court declines the invitation to overturn the verdict under the thirteenth juror doctrine.

As discussed above, the evidence supports the jury's unanimous verdict in favor of First South on each of the causes of action. South Causeway's reliance on the testimony of Ms. Peggy Wheeler-Cribb in support of its Motion for a New Trial does not warrant invading the province of the jury as the finder of fact on these claims. There was conflicting testimony and evidence on the issues presented. The jury was free to find that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb was not credible and to not accept all or part of her testimony. Resolving disputes over the conflicting versions of the facts and the correct inferences to draw from those facts falls squarely within the jury's role as finder of fact. Therefore, the verdict is justified and this Court denies South Causeway's Motion for a new trial on any of South Causeway's claims.

South Causeway also requests this Court to reconsider its rulings directing verdicts in favor of First South on the counterclaims for fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, and breach of contract accompanied by fraudulent action. This request is again denied for the reasons previously provided on the record.

III. Amendment of Judgment on First South's Foreclosure Claim.

South Causeway also requests that the Court reconsider its decision on First South's foreclosure claim, pursuant to Rule 59, SCRCP. South Causeway disputes the following findings by this Court: (a) South Causeway was not under duress, and (b) First South established the debt owed on the loan. This Motion is denied.

A. Duress.

South Causeway asserts that it was under duress when it signed the original loan documents and when it signed the April 10, 2009 Agreement. South Carolina law requires evidence establishing "a condition of mind produced by improper external pressure or influence that practically destroys the free agency of a party and causes him to do an act or form a contract not of his own volition." Phillips v. Baker, 284 S.C. 134, 136, 325 S.E.2d 533 (1985) (quoting Cherry v. Shelby Mut. Plate Glass & Cas. Co., 191 S.C. 177, 4 S.E.2d 123 (1939)). This Court found no duress.

South Causeway bases its request that this Court alter its judgment on the testimony of Ms. Wheeler-Cribb, which was contradicted and uncorroborated at trial, and its claim that she "is an elderly woman." However, sitting as the finder of fact, this Court give little or no weight to Ms. Wheeler-Cribb's testimony. Her testimony was discredited and totally uncorroborated. South Causeway's claim of duress was unfounded. Ms. Wheeler-Cribb previously signed an affidavit, which was submitted to the Court to avoid summary judgment, which set forth the alleged duress. Aff. of Peggy Wheeler-Cribb, Pl.'s Trial Ex. 20. In paragraph 16 of her affidavit, Ms. Wheeler-Cribb addressed the original loan closing:

16. During the closing on June 25, 2008, my son and I discovered that Lovelace had not corrected the Note, and that in order to close, my son had to agree to mortgage his individual property as security for the loan. At that point, we felt that we had no other choice since the First Palmetto loan was coming due, and Lovelace assured us that First South Bank would see the development through its conclusion. Reluctantly, we agreed to close.

At trial, Ms. Cribb was confronted with correspondence, parts of which she authored, which established that First South clearly explained to her well before the closing that it would require Lot 4, owned by her son, to be additional collateral. It became clear that her affidavit was not true. See Pl.'s Trial Ex. 24.

Presumably because Ms. Wheeler-Cribb's statement in her affidavit was shown to be false, she now claims that "she felt she was forced by Wayne Lovelace to move forward with the closing of the loan despite her request to postpone the closing." This claim ignores the fact she was represented by counsel and had no obligation to move forward with the closing. There was no evidence that South Causeway would have lost any deposit, as none existed. Ms. Wheeler-Cribb's loan with First Palmetto Bank was not due for another two months. Ms. Wheeler-Cribb and South Causeway's counsel executed letters confirming the closing was performed properly. See Pl.'s Trial Ex. 9 at p. 3 ¶7 & Ex. 10. This alone is sufficient to support this Court's finding that there was no duress and to deny South Causeway's Motion to Amend the Judgment on this ground.

Paragraphs 21 and 22 of Ms. Cribb's Affidavit relate to the April 10, 2009 Agreement:

21. Lovelace agreed to release the lot owned by my son, but to do so, we had to pay First South Bank $300,000. In addition, Kennedy Funding required a $50,000 non-refundable deposit.

22. At closing, after the $50,000 had been paid, we discovered that in addition to the $300,000 payment, First South Bank was taking back a year from the South Causeway, LLC Promissory Note and demanding an acceleration of the maturity date. The Bank demanded a new maturity date of July 5, 2010. I was taken completely off-guard, and if I refused to close on the loan, I would be forced to forfeit the $50,000 deposit. Additionally, if I did not close, the lot would remain subject to First South Bank's mortgage, preventing us from closing with Kennedy Funding. Faced with no other option, I executed the closing document; I would have never voluntarily signed the purported loan agreement, but felt I had no reasonable alternative.

(emphasis added). Emails offered at trial made it clear that First South informed Ms. Wheeler-Cribb long before the April 10 closing that the maturity date would be shortened and that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb chose the proposal that resulted in the shortened maturity date. Pl.'s Trial Exs. 18, 19, & 27. Therefore, to the extent that South Causeway's duress argument is based on Ms. Cribb's testimony, South Causeway failed to establish a basis to support duress and the Court's will not amend its judgment on duress.

South Causeway's assertion that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb's elderly age contributed to the purported duress is also insufficient to justify amending this Court's judgment. The evidence showed that Ms. Wheeler-Cribb served on a bank board and that that South Causeway was represented by counsel at both closings. Cox & Floyd Grading, Inc., v. Kajima Constr. Servs., Inc., 356 S.C. 512, 589 S.E.2d 789 (Cl. App. 2003)(finding a party represented by an attorney in the execution of documents was bound by terms therein); Hyman v. Ford Motor Co., 142 F. Supp. 2d 735 (D.S.C. 2001)(finding that a duress argument is substantially undermined where a party was represented by counsel). Duress is not implied merely from a hard bargain which required that a release be given in adverse business conditions. Id. The party claiming duress must also establish the lack of a reasonable alternative to signing the contract and those circumstances were caused by the opposing party. Id. at 746. As this Court noted at trial, South Causeway had every right to not sign the loan agreement or the subsequent agreement.

TH

Therefore, this Court denies South Causeway's motion to amend the judgment as the evidence at trial does not support the affirmative defense of duress.

B. Damages.

In First South's case-in-chief, its custodian of records took the stand and testified to the contents of the loan documents and those documents were entered into evidence. These documents included a June 11, 2012 payoff statement. Pl.'s Trial Ex. 13. Counsel for South Causeway cross-examined the custodian of records regarding how the numbers in the payoff statement were derived. The custodian of records testified the figures were the product of First South's computer system. South Causeway did not object to the payoff statement and has not otherwise offered evidence that the numbers reflected on the payoff statement were incorrect. Instead, South Causeway is asking the Court to amend its Judgment that First South established its damages based on its argument that First South did not offer testimony as to how the computer system operated and how the system precisely calculated the interest and principal amounts.

The business records rules were put in place because business records are trustworthy and "it was utter[ly] impossible . . . that any man could keep in his memory, even with the aid of memoranda, the minute, varied and complicated transactions of even an ordinary mercantile or other trading concern, hence the necessity of substituting the book entries for the memory of the witness." Thyer v. Deen, 20 S.C.L. (2 Hill) 677, 678 (1835). The payoff statement is presumed trustworthy as a business record and it was admitted into evidence without objection from South Causeway. By allowing the payoff statement to be admitted into evidence without objection, South Causeway waived any right to later question the fact First South failed to offer technical testimony regarding the underlying computer methodology that was used to determine the payoff figures. This Court found the payoff statement credible based on the evidence at trial and that conclusion will not be amended.

At best, South Causeway's challenge is to the ultimate amount reached, not to whether there was sufficient evidence of the payoff amount to support First South's foreclosure action. This argument goes to the weight of the evidence, and South Causeway offered no evidence or testimony showing the computer system was untrustworthy or that the amounts reflected on the payoff were incorrect. The bank's president, Mr. W.C. "Chip" Lyerly, III, testified to the calculation of the daily per diem and the fact that referenced interest rates had not changed since the loan matured for payment. Therefore, South Causeway's motion to amend the judgment as to its finding that First South established its damages is denied.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that South Causeway's post-trial motions are all denied.

AND IT IS SO ORDERED.

C/A NO.: 2010-CP-22-1233

First South Bank,

Plaintiff,

vs.

South Causeway, LLC,

Defendant,

JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE AND ORDER FOR SALE

NOV - 1 AM 9:15

This matter was heard by the Court during the jury term beginning on September 17, 2012. Plaintiff First South Bank ("First South") brought this lawsuit seeking foreclosure of commercial property. Defendant South Causeway, LLC ("South Causeway"), answered the foreclosure lawsuit asserting various defenses and counterclaims. Pursuant to prior order of the Court, South Causeway's counterclaims were heard by a jury. First South's foreclosure action, which is equitable in nature, was to be determined by the Court, with the Court being bound by any findings of fact made by the jury. Johnson v. S.C. Nat. Bank, 292 S.C. 51, 354 S.E.2d 895 (1987). The foreclosure action and counterclaims were presented in one trial. First South presented its case in chief to the court in support of its foreclosure action by offering into evidence through its custodian of records the relevant loan documents, demand letter, and payoff statement.

By verdict rendered on September 25, 2012, the jury found for First South on all three of South Causeway's counterclaims submitted to the jury: (1) breach of contract, (2) violation of the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act, and (3) tortious interference with a contract. Thereafter, as to the First South's foreclosure action, taking into account the jury's findings and considering the testimony and evidence presented, also on September 25, 2012, the undersigned rendered verdict in favor of First South on First South's foreclosure action, based on the following findings and conclusions of law:

FINDINGS OF FACT:

1. The Lis Pendens was filed on August 4, 2010, and the Amended Lis Pendens was filed on August 5, 2010.

2. For value received, South Causeway made, executed and delivered to First South a Universal Note and Security Agreement ("Note") dated June 25, 2008, promising thereby to pay to the order of First South up to the sum of $6,500,000.00, upon the terms and conditions set forth therein.

3. To secure payment of the Note, South Causeway made, executed and delivered to First South a Mortgage dated June 25, 2008, ("Mortgage") covering real property in Georgetown County. The Mortgage was filed on June 25, 2008, and is of record in the office of the Register of Deeds for Georgetown County in Mortgage Book 990 at Page 247.

4. South Causeway and First South entered into an Agreement (the "Agreement") effective as of April 10, 2009, which, among other things, modified the maturity date of the Note to July 5, 2010.

5. As modified by the terms of the Agreement, the Note matured on July 5, 2010, and payment due on the Note was not made as provided for therein.

6. Based on the terms of the Note and Mortgage, First South is entitled to recover its collection costs, including attorneys' fees and costs.

7. South Causeway asserted various defenses to the foreclosure in its Amended Answer to Complaint and Counterclaims.

a. With regard to defenses one through fourteen, South Causeway failed to prosecute and/or submit sufficient evidence to establish any of the defenses, and therefore, the undersigned finds in favor of First South for each such defense (as to those defenses actually addressed during the trial, the undersigned refers to the record for further explanation); and

b. With regard to defenses fifteen through twenty-one which were also alleged as counterclaims by South Causeway, during the jury trial, the undersigned directed verdict as to the sixteenth defense (Breach of Contract Accompanied by Fraudulent Act), eighteenth defense (Breach of Fiduciary Duty), nineteenth defense (Fraud, Constructive Fraud, and Misrepresentation), and the twenty-first defense (Tortious Interference with Prospective Contract), with the grounds for such directed verdict being stated on the record. As to the fifteenth defense (Breach of Contract), seventeenth defense (Violation of South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act), and twentieth defense (Tortious Interference with Contract), the jury returned a verdict in favor of First South for all three defenses/counterclaims.

8. The amount due and owing on the Note, with interest at the rate provided in the Note and other costs and expenses secured by the Mortgage, is as follows:

a.	Principal due as of September 25, 2012	$4,774,112.73
b.	Interest through June 11, 2012	$378,357.74
c.	Interest from June 12, 2012 through September 25, 2012 at per diem rate of $563.61	$59,742.66
d.	Late Charges	$999.99
e.	Appraisal Fee	$750.00
f.	Advanced Real Property Taxes	$120,424.45
f.	Copies from Horry County Clerk of Court	$127.75

Debt secured by Note and Mortgage, including interest through September 25, 2012		$5,334,515.32

The amount due (shown above) together with First South's collection costs, including attorneys' fees and costs, to be determined by the Court shall accrue interest at the maximum post judgment rate and together with such interest shall constitute the debt due to First South.

9. First South is seeking foreclosure of the Mortgage against South Causeway, and its right to a deficiency judgment against South Causeway is expressly demanded.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

I, therefore, conclude as follows:

First South should have judgment of foreclosure of the Mortgage and the mortgaged property should be ordered sold at public auction after due advertisement.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED:

1. South Causeway and all persons whosoever claiming under it be forever barred and foreclosed of all right, title, interest, and equity of redemption in the said mortgaged premises so sold, or any part thereof.

2. As of September 25, 2012, there is due to the First South on the Note and Mortgage the sum of $5,334,515.32, plus its collection costs, including attorneys' fees and costs to be determined by the Court, plus interest thereafter at the post judgment rate representing the debt due to First South.

3. The amount due in the preceding paragraph shall accrue interest from the date of judgment at the maximum statutory rate per annum and together with such interest shall constitute the total debt due to First South.

4. The amount due shall be subject to increase to permit First South to recover additional costs, commissions and expenses. Such additional costs, commissions and expenses may be established by affidavit and shall be adjudicated by the court without further hearing.

5. South Causeway shall, on or before the date of sale of the property hereinafter described, pay to First South or First South's attorney the amount of South Causeway's debt as aforesaid, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

6. On default of payment at or before the time herein indicated, the mortgaged premises described in the Complaint, as hereinafter set forth, shall be sold by the Georgetown County Clerk of Court at public auction, at the Georgetown County Courthouse, 333 Cleland Street, 2nd Floor Master in Equity Courtroom, Georgetown, County and State aforesaid (or such other place as specified in the Notice of Sale), on some convenient sales day hereafter (and should the regular day of judicial sales fall on a legal holiday, then and in such event, the sales day shall be on some other day appointed by the Court), on the following terms, that is to say:

A. FOR CASH: The Georgetown County Clerk of Court will require, at the time of the bid, a deposit of five (5%) percent on the amount of the bid in cash or equivalent (unless First South is the successful bidder) same to be applied on the purchase price if compliance is made; but in the event compliance is not made, the deposit may be forfeited without further hearing and applied first to costs of the action and then to South Causeway's debt owed to First South.

B. Interest on the bid shall be paid through the day of compliance at the rate of 7.25%, which is the present maximum post judgment interest rate.

C. The sale shall be subject to taxes and assessments, existing easements and restrictions and easements and restrictions of record, and any other senior encumbrances.

D. First South shall pay for any statutory commission on the sale from the proceeds of sale, and purchaser to pay for deed preparation, costs of recording the deed and deed stamps.

7. A personal or deficiency judgment being demanded, the bidding will remain open after the date of sale for thirty (30) days.

8. That the Georgetown County Clerk of Court will by advertisement according to law, give notice of the time, and place of sale, and the terms thereof; and will execute to the purchaser, or purchasers, a deed to the premises sold. If, upon such sale being made, the purchaser, or purchasers, should fail to comply with the terms thereof within twenty (20) days after date of sale, then the Georgetown County Clerk of Court may advertise the said premises for sale on the next, or some other subsequent sales day, at the risk of the highest bidder, and so from time to time thereafter until a full compliance shall be secured.

9. That the Georgetown County Clerk of Court will apply the proceeds of sale as follows:

FIRST: To the payment of the amount of the costs and expenses of this action, including any Guardian Ad Litem fee or fees of attorneys appointed under Order of Court.

NEXT: To the payment to First South or First South's attorney, of the amount of South Causeway's debt owed to First South and interest (including attorney fees) or so much thereof as the purchase money will pay on the same.

NEXT: Any surplus will be held pending further Order of this Court.

10. That First South shall have judgment of foreclosure. That First South shall have judgment against South Causeway for the full amount found to be due First South on the Note and Mortgage, which judgment shall be reduced by the net proceeds of sale pursuant to S.C. Code Ann §29-3-650, as amended, as determined by this Court in a subsequent Order for Deficiency Judgment. First South may waive any of its rights prior to sale, including its right to a deficiency judgment in accordance with Rule 71, South Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure. First South's waiver shall be made in writing.

11. If First South is the successful bidder at the said sale, for a sum not exceeding the amount of costs, expenses, and the indebtedness owed to First South in full, First South may pay to the Georgetown County Clerk of Court only the amount of the costs and expenses, crediting the balance of the bid on the indebtedness owed to First South.

12. Should the First South, First South's attorney or agent fail to appear on sales day, the property shall not be sold, but shall be re-advertised and sold at some convenient sales day thereafter when the First South, First South's attorney or agent is present.

13. In the event the successful bidder is other than South Causeway, upon the presentation of a Writ of Assistance, the Sheriff of Georgetown County is ordered and directed to eject and remove from the premises the occupant(s) of the property sold, together with all personal property located thereon, and put the successful bidder or his assigns in such peaceable possession.

14. That the deed of conveyance made pursuant to this sale shall be indexed in the grantor index by the Clerk of Court or Register of Deeds in the name of the owner of record of subject property immediately prior to execution of the deed, as well as in the name of the Clerk of Court for Georgetown County, who executes such deed as grantor.

15. The undersigned, shall direct the Clerk of Court/Register of Deeds to release of record the mortgage lien being foreclosed, after the Order Confirming Sale and Disbursements has been executed and filed, which mortgage lien is described as follows:

The undersigned will retain jurisdiction to do all the necessary acts incident to this foreclosure including, but not limited to, the issuance of a Supplemental Order to evidence additional debt incurred if the sale of the property is delayed by the filing of a bankruptcy petition, transfer of service of the Note and Mortgage by First South, or an attempt of the parties to reach a settlement, the issuance of a Supplemental Order to correct a harmless error in the action that does not substantially affect the rights of the parties, the issuance of a Writ of Assistance, disposing of any surplus funds pursuant to Rule 71(c), SCRCF, and hearing any issues involving appraisal proceedings under §29-3-680 et seq of the South Carolina Code of Laws (1976) as amended.

FORECLOSURE

GEORGETOWN COUNTY, S.C.
2012 NOV 12 PM 3:05
ALMA WHITE

This matter came before me on motion of the First South Bank ("First South") for an award of attorneys' fees and costs. Pursuant to the Order of the Honorable Larry B. Hyman, Jr., dated August 27, 2012, and filed on September 20, 2012, First South was allowed to present evidence as to the amount of its attorneys' fees and costs to the Trial Court post-trial. At the conclusion of the jury trial of this matter, which was heard during the September 17 Term of Court, I ruled that First South was entitled to recover its attorneys' fees and costs in an amount to be determined by the court. First South submitted the Affidavit of Donald W. Tyler, Jr., and the Affidavit of James L. Floyd, III, in support of its request for attorneys' fees and costs. Defendant South Causeway, LLC ("South Causeway"), filed a Return in Opposition to Motion for Attorneys' Fees and Costs (the "Return"). In the Return, South Causeway challenged the reasonableness and appropriateness of certain costs and fees totaling $52,661.45. While First South did not concede that the $52,661.45 was unreasonable or inappropriate, First South nonetheless consented to the reduction in the award of attorneys' fee and costs by the $52,661.45.

Accordingly, based on the evidence presented, the Judgment of Foreclosure and Order for Sale ("Judgment") is hereby supplemented to include the attorneys' fees and costs as set forth in the following supplemental findings of fact and conclusions of law.

SUPPLEMENTAL FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

1. Pursuant to the terms of the Universal Note and Security Agreement ("Note") and Mortgage, First South is entitled to recover its litigation costs, including attorneys' fees and costs, from South Causeway, including its costs and attorneys' fees to bring the foreclosure action and to defend the counterclaims because the counterclaims were intertwined with the foreclosure action and challenged the validity and enforceability of the Note and Mortgage. Charleston Lumber Co., Inc. v. Miller Housing Corp., 318 S.C. 471, 483-84, 458 S.E.2d 431, 438-39 (Ct. App. 1995).
2. First South has incurred the actual sum of $175,722.15 in attorneys' fees with Tyler, Cassell, Jackson, Peace and Silver, LLC, for the prosecution of the foreclosure action and defense of South Causeway's counterclaims, as reflected in the Affidavit of Donald W. Tyler, Jr., Esquire and Exhibits filed herein.
3. First South has incurred the actual sum of $17,991.32 in costs and expenses advanced by Tyler, Cassell, Jackson, Peace and Silver, LLC in association with the prosecution of the foreclosure action and defense of South Causeway's counterclaims, as reflected in the Affidavit of Donald W. Tyler, Jr., Esquire and Exhibits filed herein.
4. First South has also incurred the actual sum of $33,230.43 in costs and expenses that First South paid directly in association with the prosecution of the foreclosure action and defense of South Causeway's counterclaims, as reflected in the Affidavit of W. C. Lysterly, III, attached to the Affidavit of Donald W. Tyler, Jr., Esquire.
5. First South has incurred the actual sum of $179,566.52 in attorneys' fees with Collins & Lacy, P.C., for the prosecution of the foreclosure action and defense of South Causeway's counterclaims, as reflected in the Affidavit of James L. Floyd, III, Esquire and Exhibits filed herein.

6. First South has incurred the actual sum of $5,970.60 in costs and expenses advanced by Collins & Lacy, P.C. in association with the prosecution of the foreclosure action and defense of South Causeway's counterclaims, as reflected in the Affidavit of James L. Floyd, III, Esquire and Exhibits filed herein.
7. First South's attorneys' fees and costs presented in Paragraphs 2 - 6 total $412,481.02. Therefore, subtracting the $52,661.45 as challenged by South Causeway in its Return (to which First South has consented) the total attorneys' fees and costs sought by First South is $359,819.57.
8. The attorney fees requested are fair and reasonable under the six (6) applicable factors under Baron Data Systems, Inc. v. Loter, 297 S.C. 382, 377 S.E.2d 296 (1989):
 - (a) This litigation involved a complex commercial dispute, which included the defense of numerous counterclaims and affirmative defenses containing allegations of breach of contract, fraudulent misconduct, and unfair trade practices by First South;
 - (b) The time actually devoted to the matter was necessary to complete extended discovery, numerous motions and depositions, and presenting the case at a trial by jury, which lasted six (6) days;
 - (c) The professional standing of the attorneys at Tyler, Cassell, Jackson, Peace and Silver, LLC, and Collins & Lacy, P.C., are excellent and they regularly represent clients in matters similar to the issues presented in this case;
 - (d) The contingency of compensation factor is inapplicable since this was not a contingency case;
 - (e) The rates of the attorneys involved in this matter are consistent with those customarily charged in the Counties of Columbia and Georgetown for similar legal services; and

- (f) The beneficial results that First South received in prevailing on its action to foreclose on a Note exceeding $5 million in value and prevailing in the defense of the counterclaims, which sought to invalidate the Note and/or to recover $8 million in claimed actual damages.
9. The Court also notes that the amount of attorneys' fees and costs were exacerbated, at least in part, as a result of the inaccuracies included in the affidavit of Peggy Wheeler-Cribb which South Causeway presented to the Court in opposition to First South's prior motion for Summary Judgment.
10. The amount due and owing on the Note, with interest at the rate provided in the Note and other costs and expenses secured by the Mortgage, as shown in Paragraph 8 of the Judgment is hereby amended as follows:

a.	Principal due as of September 25, 2012	$4,774,112.73
b.	Interest through June 11, 2012	$378,357.74
c.	Interest from June 12, 2012 through September 25, 2012 at per diem rate of $563.61	$59,742.66
d.	Late Charges	$999.99
e.	Appraisal Fee	$750.00
f.	Advanced Real Property Taxes	$120,424.45
f.	Copies from Horry County Clerk of Court	$127.75
g.	Attorney Fees & Costs	$359,819.57

Debt secured by Note and Mortgage, including interest through September 25, 2012	$5,694,334.89

The amount due (shown above) shall accrue interest at the maximum post judgment rate and together with such interest shall constitute the debt due to First South.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED:

All Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law set forth in the Judgment shall remain in full effect, with the exception of the following:

1. The attorney fees requested are fair and reasonable under the six (6) applicable factors to be considered under Baron Data Systems, Inc. v. Loter, 297 S.C. 382, 377 S.E.2d 296 (1989):

- (a) This litigation involved a complex commercial dispute, which included the defense of numerous counterclaims and affirmative defenses containing allegations of breach of contract, fraudulent misconduct, and unfair trade practices by First South;
- (b) The time actually devoted to the matter was necessary to complete extended discovery, numerous motions and depositions, and presenting the case at a trial by jury, which lasted six (6) days;
- (c) The professional standing of the attorneys at Tyler, Cassell, Jackson, Peace and Silver, LLC and Collins & Lacy, P.C., are excellent and they regularly represent clients in matters similar to the issues presented in this case;
- (d) The contingency of compensation factor is inapplicable since this was not a contingency case;
- (e) The rates of the attorneys involved in this matter are consistent with those customarily charged in the Counties of Columbia and Georgetown for similar legal services; and
- (f) The beneficial results that First South received in prevailing on its action to foreclose on a Note exceeding $5 million in value and prevailing in the defense of the counterclaims, which sought to invalidate the Note and/or to recover $8 million in claimed actual damages.

2. Paragraph 8 of the Findings of Fact of the Judgment is hereby supplemented as shown in Paragraph 10 above.

3. Paragraph 2 of the Conclusions of Law of the Judgment, is hereby supplemented to state as follows: there is due to the First South on the Note and Mortgage the sum of $5,694,334.89, plus interest at the post judgment rate representing the debt due to First South.

AND IT IS SO ORDERED.

11 I'm going to get you to step over one seat, if you 12 would. And Mr. Hensel, move over one.

13 Go ahead.

14 THE CLERK: Juror number 134, Leslie Johnson.

15 THE COURT: And we'll put on the record in 16 just a minute, but let me, for the remainder of the 17 panel, call back after 6:00 o'clock this evening 18 the number you have and follow whatever 19 instructions that you will get on that phone call.
20 If you call around, you know, if you call and get a 21 busy signal because there are several of you 22 calling, just hang up and try again a little later, 23 there are several people calling in, but go ahead 24 and call that number after 6:00 and follow whatever 25 instructions are on that message, okay?

1 So, the remainder of the jury panel, you are 2 free to go.

3 (The jury panel was excused from the 4 courtroom).

5 THE COURT: Let me get you all to step up here 6 real quick.

7 (Unrecorded bench conference).

8 THE COURT: All right, ladies and gentlemen, 9 it's about ten minutes to 12:00 so we're going to 10 break for lunch at this time but before I send you 11 out I'm going to send with you some instructions 12 and these instructions will be with you throughout 13 the trial of the case, okay, and they are very 14 simple.

15 You are to have no conversation with anyone 16 about this case. If anyone tries to speak with you 17 about the case you just need to let them know that 18 you're a juror and you can't talk about it. If 19 they persist or they try to talk with you, if you 20 can let me know who that is I will make sure that 21 that doesn't continue.

22 We live in a day and age where everybody 23 walks around with phones in their pockets that are 24 basically mini computers, all right, these little 25 devices do about everything these big devices do.

1 My order to you, my charge to you is that you are 2 not to use any electronic devices or anything at 3 all, in other words, it is not your place to 4 investigate this case, okay?

5 As jurors you are going to be taking an oath 6 and your oath is to decide this case based on the 7 testimony and the evidence that is brought before 8 you in this courtroom by the attorneys and by 9 nothing else. You are not to consider anything 10 outside this courtroom in deciding this case, so 11 the Chief Justice has told us to let jurors know 12 that you are not to do any of your own independent 13 investigation or looking into any other matters, 14 that you just, when you're not here in the 15 courtroom listening to testimony and when you're 16 outside the courtroom let your mind relax, get this 17 case off your mind and just try to relax.

18 Now, you're not to have conversation, as I 19 said, about the case. When you reassemble after 20 lunch in your jury room that order to not have any 21 conversation about the case continues even among 22 yourselves. You are not even to discuss the case 23 among yourselves, and sometimes people look at me a 24 little odd because they think, "Well, I thought 25 that is what we're supposed to do as a jury."

1 Well, it is but you do not begin your 2 deliberations, you do not begin discussion of the 3 case, as a matter of fact you do not decide any 4 issue in this case until all of the evidence has 5 been presented, the attorneys have had an 6 opportunity to address you with their closing 7 remarks and I have given you the charge on the law.
8 It is not until that point that you're allowed to 9 have any conversation about the case at all. So 10 please remember that, don't talk to anyone about 11 the case at all, just go and enjoy your lunch.

12 Now, I'm going to ask you, as you leave here 13 you're going to go with the bailiff, he is going to 14 show you where your jury room is and then from 15 there you will go ahead and go to lunch. I'm going 16 to ask you, if you would, to please be back in the 17 jury room at 2:30, okay? I'm going to give you 18 some extended time for lunch because I have to take 19 up some matters of law before we get started and 20 that will give me that opportunity to do that, 21 okay?

22 So, if you would, follow the bailiff, he will 23 show you the jury room and when you come back at 24 2:30 you will return back to the jury room, okay?

25 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, you didn't mean to 1 swear them until later?

2 THE COURT: Not until we get back and we're 3 ready to get started.

4 (The jury was excused from the courtroom).

5 THE COURT: All right, what I want to do is 6 first let's take up the issue that we had. Let me
7 just, I tell you what, before we do that, let me
8 just take a short break, okay? We'll take about a 9 five minute break, then we'll get started back and 10 we'll take up the issue regarding the alternate 11 juror.

12 (Recessed at 11:55 a.m.).

13 (Resumed at 12:05 p.m.).

14 THE COURT: I want to allow the defense to 15 put on the record any exceptions there may be 16 regarding -- just for the record, let me say that 17 we went through the qualification questions and we 18 had, and of course I asked the typical catch all 19 question at the end, I asked if there was, if any 20 member of the jury panel knew of any reason at all 21 why they could not serve as a juror to please let 22 me know, a couple folks stood up and came up and 23 gave reasons and then that was the end of it and so 24 we proceeded to jury selection.

25 The clerk, Madam Clerk prepared a strike

1 sheet, the attorneys had an opportunity to review
2 those strikes and then we came in and we went 3 through the process of exercising the strikes. At 4 the conclusion I asked if there were any motions
5 regarding jury selection. At that time there 6 weren't any from either side.

7 Then when we proceeded to call the members of 8 the panel up who had been selected juror number 9 285, Mr. Casey Wheeler, was selected as juror 10 number 4, according to my notes here, and Mr.
11 Wheeler informed the Court at that time that he 12 could not render a decision in this case, he said 13 something along the lines of that he had some 14 experience regarding people owing money and just he 15 would not be able to be a juror in the case. I 16 asked him why he didn't respond to my earlier 17 question and he really didn't have a response to 18 that. So, he was set aside.

19 There were, at the time we, as I indicated, 20 we had a panel, we had first alternate and second 21 alternate jurors. The first alternate juror was 22 Michael J. Vicas, juror number 270, and the second 23 alternate was William H. Hensel, Jr., juror number 24 114. I discussed with the attorneys briefly, Miss 25 Byrd had indicated on behalf of the defense that

1 they would request that all the jurors be placed 2 back into the jury panel and we restrike the jury.
3 Mr. Collins for the plaintiff took the position 4 that the first alternate would just be then moved 5 into the jury panel and that the Court would then 6 open jury selection back up to seat another 7 alternate.

8 My understanding of the status of the law in 9 South Carolina is that we have civil court and 10 criminal court and the process is different for 11 each, I believe. I believe in civil court when you 12 have more than one alternate and a member of the 13 main panel for whatever reason has to be excused 14 you elevate the first alternate onto the panel and 15 the second alternate becomes the only alternate and 16 you proceed.

17 In criminal cases where you have two 18 alternates it's different. In criminal cases if a 19 person on the main panel has to be excused you then 20 take the two names of the alternates and you put 21 them in a hat and you randomly draw to determine 22 which alternate is seated in the main panel, and it 23 is my understanding that is the way it is done in 24 South Carolina.

25 And so that's what I did in this case, is I

1 moved Mr. Vicás into the main panel, who was the 2 first alternate, and Mr. Hensel became the first 3 alternate and then we went through the process of 4 selecting a second alternate, which Miss Johnson 5 then became that second alternate, and we went 6 through that process and the defense obviously 7 objected and felt it was more appropriate to 8 impanel or begin the process from square one, so I 9 want to give either side an opportunity to voice 10 their position with regard to that at this time.

11 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, I think that you have 12 stated for the record what our request was and,
13 Your Honor, we would request that if you are going 14 to deny that request, and obviously you have, if 15 you would procedurally take the names of the two 16 jurors, two alternates and pick one out of the hat 17 rather than elevating the first alternate and 18 having him be a member of the panel. Essentially 19 the reason is that the way the strike process went 20 with alternates we were given three names, so 21 essentially one of those three was going to be a 22 member of the jury and that is what practically 23 happened, so we would just ask, we think that it 24 would be most fair to draw from a hat if we are not 25 going to be allowed to redo the strike process,

1 Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: All right.

3 Mr. Collins, do you wish to be heard on that?

4 MR. COLLINS: Well, Your Honor, I believe you
5 stated the law and I think it is a very fair 6 process. I have been involved in many trials where 7 for one reason or another a juror had to be 8 replaced by an alternate and every time I have seen 9 the first alternate move up and then at that point 10 we wouldn't have the opportunity to pick another 11 alternate because we would have no jury panel. I 12 have never seen the second alternate jump over the 13 first alternate to become a member of the jury, it 14 is always an orderly progression of number one 15 becomes a juror, two becomes number one.

16 We learned about this problem in time to go 17 ahead and pick another alternate and, Your Honor, 18 the idea of us starting from scratch and restriking 19 this jury makes no sense. You will note that we 20 were left with only 33 jurors at the end of the 21 day, with all the excuses and the people who 22 transferred to other terms, the panel that was 23 drawn yesterday for a criminal case, the ones that 24 you excused today for various reasons, and we wound 25 up with 33 names. That is pretty low. I don't

1 recall another case where we got down that close,
2 so you have only got four people left in this whole 3 venire who are not, you know, involved in this jury 4 selection process, so we would wind up with a very,
5 very similar jury should we go through the strike 6 process again, I believe, and so I believe this is 7 not an appropriate request, I believe Your Honor 8 has ruled correctly.

9 Thank you.

10 THE COURT: All right. What I will do, I'm 11 going to double check, I'm pretty sure I'm right 12 but I don't know for sure and I'm going to double 13 check. It is either a statute or there is case law 14 that speaks to the seating of an alternate juror
15 and I thought at one point it was a statute but it 16 may be case law but I will look at it and before we 17 proceed and swear the jury I will have an answer 18 for you and I'm just going to follow whatever the 19 case law is.

20 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: All right. Now let me make this 22 suggestion. It is ten minutes after 12:00, I was 23 going to give us about 35 minutes to do lunch and 24 start back at a quarter until 1:00 with pretrial 25 motions. That should give us at least an hour and 1 45 minutes, if not two hours, to handle pretrial 2 matters.

3 MS. BYRD: Yes, sir, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Does that suit everybody?

5 MR. COLLINS: That's fine, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: I would rather have a longer 7 lunch but we need to get going.

8 MR. COLLINS: That's okay.

9 THE COURT: All right. So court will be in 10 recess. Now as far as trial, we'll be in recess 11 until 12:45 -- excuse me. Yes, 12:45.

12 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Mr. Wheeler, I'm going to get you 14 to come around, if you would, sir, let me address 15 your issue here. Mr. Wheeler, let me ask you a 16 question. Yesterday you had spoken to Judge John 17 about an excuse, or about needing to have an 18 excuse. Is that my understanding?

19 JUROR: I was trying to go to the institution 20 to get my paperwork.

21 THE COURT: Where is that, now?

22 JUROR: They sent it to Columbia.

23 THE COURT: What institution.

24 JUROR: The one right there at Waccamaw.

25 THE COURT: The mental health facility at 1 Waccamaw?

2 JUROR: Yes, sir.

3 THE COURT: You're a patient there?

4 JUROR: I was.

5 THE COURT: How long ago, when were you 6 released from there?

7 JUROR: I didn't get released, my parents 8 stopped having the money to take me there.

9 THE COURT: Okay, all right. Well, I mean,
10 yesterday is that what you were trying to do, Judge 11 John was trying to get the paperwork from Waccamaw?

12 JUROR: That is what I was trying to do so I 13 could take it to him and show it.

14 THE COURT: All right. And they weren't able 15 to?

16 JUROR: Some MICA something, I can't remember 17 what the name of it is, they said I couldn't get it 18 from them, I would have to go to Columbia to get 19 it.

20 THE COURT: Okay, all right.

21 DEPUTY SHERIFF: Your Honor, in his defense, 22 I was working at the front door yesterday and he 23 came up a couple times to us trying to figure out 24 what he was supposed to do and we shared with him 25 he needed to either get that medical information or 1 either talk to the judge.

2 THE COURT: Yes.

3 DEPUTY SHERIFF: And I'm not sure that he 4 understood completely.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Wheeler, here is the 6 thing, and I know you didn't do anything 7 intentionally but it causes a lot of problems, that 8 is why we go through these questions, okay, and at 9 the end I asked if there was any reason, you may 10 not have heard me or whatever, but that is the 11 whole purpose in doing that. Here is what I'm 12 going to do. I'm going to just go ahead and excuse 13 you from jury service this week.

14 JUROR: Right.

15 THE COURT: All right. So you don't need to 16 call the number, you don't need to call back or 17 anything, I'm going to go ahead and have Miss Alma 18 just excuse you from the panel for this week.

19 JUROR: All right.

20 THE COURT: All right, sir.

21 JUROR: Thank you.

22 (Juror excused from the courtroom).

23 (Recessed at 12:15 p.m.).

24 (Resumed at 1:00 o'clock p.m.).

25 THE COURT: Thank you, ladies and gentlemen,

1 please have a seat.

2 I'm sorry I put everybody on that short lunch 3 break, if you wisked something down and you have 4 indigestion and you need to be excused just let me 5 know and we'll let you do that.

6 I have received several motions in limine 7 from plaintiff's counsel. I don't know if there is 8 any particular order that you all want to take 9 those up in.

10 One, I would hope there may be more to it, I 11 don't mean to under estimate any argument but one 12 here looks fairly simple, it is the motion to 13 prevent Mrs. Cribb from being referred to as Miss 14 Peggy. That seems rather simple. Is that going to 15 be an issue?

16 MR. GODDARD: Well, Your Honor, yes. I mean, 17 we feel that we should be able to call her by her 18 name. I mean, her name is Peggy.

19 THE COURT: Call her Peggy.

20 MR. GODDARD: And we don't see what prejudice 21 there is in the south of just saying Miss Peggy.
22 That is what her name is and what she goes by, just 23 as if anybody else is called by their name. The 24 practical matter is Miss Wheeler-Cribb is difficult 25 to say and difficult on every one to say and, Your

1 Honor, I mean, she goes by Miss Peggy, that is her 2 name. By saying it is a nickname I think is not 3 really correct. It is directly what, her name is 4 Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and I cannot imagine what 5 prejudice there is to either side by saying that, 6 using Miss Peggy is in any way prejudicial to the 7 bank or shows sophistication in any way, it shows 8 the name she goes by.

9 THE COURT: All right.

10 MR. COLLINS: Judge, I was trained by the 11 Honorable Matthew J. Perry, Jr., probably the 12 greatest judge South Carolina has produced, 13 especially if you add in the outstanding record he 14 had as a civil rights lawyer, he was a giant and he 15 had a clear rule that no one in his courtroom was 16 referred to by their first name, everybody was 17 referred to by their last name and that was his 18 unflinching rule and I think is a very good rule.

19 A chummy terms, a first name, a nickname even 20 does not lend itself to the dignity that a legal 21 proceeding in this courtroom should have, so I am 22 taking a page out of the book of Matthew J. Perry 23 and I'm asking that we all refer to each other by 24 our proper names and not by our first name and 25 certainly not by our nicknames, and I believe that

1 is a good rule for every court of law everywhere.

2 THE COURT: Well, you will get no argument
3 from me as far as the esteem with which you hold 4 Judge Perry, I feel the same way about him, and as 5 iconic as I think he is, I don't necessarily agree 6 you can't call someone by their first name. What 7 prejudice is there? Obviously the purpose that any 8 attorney would do that would be to kind of have the 9 jury, you know, give the jury a little warm 10 feeling, not being so rigid and so formal, so it is 11 kind of basically making your client a little more 12 human to the jury. I know that is the reason 13 people do it. I don't understand the prejudice.

14 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, it is an attempt to 15 have jurors endear themselves to this person 16 because of this affectionate name. I have some 17 affectionate names, believe it or not, but I don't 18 use them in the courtroom and I they are not --

19 THE COURT: I have heard some of them.

20 MR. COLLINS: I just believe, I think they 21 are affectionate and they are not professional.

22 THE COURT: Let me ask, what's the problem
23 with, if you want to call her Peggy, call her 24 Peggy?

25 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, a couple different

1 reasons. First, we are in the south and I think by 2 calling her just by her first name would be rude in 3 some ways. Some jurors may see that. Also, and I 4 think practical, it is important, there is 5 confusion, the plaintiffs in this case have 6 confused her name throughout the depositions and 7 throughout trial, they have called her Miss 8 Wheeler, Miss Cribb, Miss Wheeler-Cribb and, Your 9 Honor, it is just, she goes by Miss Peggy. For 10 them to say that is a term of endearment or term of 11 affection for Miss Peggy, it is her name, it is 12 what she goes by, we're in the south, it is very 13 common to have that, especially her generation. To 14 say that we're able to, to show that there would be 15 prejudice as to the actual facts of this case, it 16 is just not there.

17 THE COURT: Will, here is the thing. I don't 18 totally disagree with you on that but, I mean, I 19 don't know that anybody would take offense, and let 20 me give you an example. If she was on the stand 21 and I was examining her I may say, "Ma'am, you're 22 Miss Peggy Wheeler-Cribb, is that correct?" "Yes, 23 that's correct." "Miss Wheeler-Cribb, would you be 24 offended if I just referred to you as Peggy? Can I 25 call you by your first name?" "No, no, that's

1 fine". And then proceed with your examination.
2 What's wrong with that?

3 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, I will argue that 4 point because I will be the one examining her.

5 THE COURT: Sure.

6 MS. BYRD: And to me, Your Honor, we have had 7 this case for so long I would never call her Peggy, 8 it is going to be nearly impossible for me to do 9 that, especially in front of a jury, and for me to 10 preface my examination of my own client by saying 11 is that okay, that appears, I mean, that is not, I 12 think that they have stated no basis whatsoever in 13 law or fact which would support granting this 14 motion. That is her name and I do not want to 15 appear rude to the jury, I have seen the jury and 16 their ages, they are from here and I think it would 17 be offensive.

18 THE COURT: Let me ask you this. When she 19 takes the stand you are just going to fire out and 20 start calling her Miss Peggy?

21 MS. BYRD: No, sir, Your Honor. And I don't 22 imagine that I will be using her name much other 23 than in opening and instead of saying Miss Peggy 24 Wheeler-Cribb, I may occasionally say Miss Peggy, 25 but I have gone over my opening, it is not a

1 repetitive thing.

2 THE COURT: I've got you. I'm going to deny
3 the motion, you can refer to her as Miss Peggy. I 4 don't think there has been any prejudice shown. In 5 saying that I don't mean that to be disrespectful 6 to Judge Perry because I again hold him in great 7 esteem, I just, you know, as long as there is no
8 prejudice, if a person wants to call their witness 9 by their first name I don't have any problem with 10 that, so it's allowed.

11 All right. I didn't mean to take things out 12 of order but I thought that might have been 13 something simple, it is not, so we'll move on.

14 Mr. Collins, is there any particular order 15 you would like to address these, sir?

16 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, the first one in my 17 book is the motion we have for an order in limine 18 to exclude any evidence or parole evidence of any 19 understanding or agreement other than that which is 20 stated in the contractual agreement. Your Honor, 21 the evidence in this case is, and if you read the 22 complaint and the counter-claims, I mean the answer 23 and the counter-claims, you see that it is their 24 contention that there were representations made by 25 Mr. Lovelace, the loan officer who dealt with this,

1 that are totally contrary to the note, the 2 mortgage, the loan agreement and the commitment 3 letter. Each of those documents, Your Honor, have 4 clear language. For example, here is one from the 5 loan agreement. It says the note and security 6 agreement and the commitment letter contain the 7 entire agreement between the borrowr and the bank 8 regarding the loan and collateral, no oral 9 representations or statements shall be binding on 10 the bank and no agent of bank has the authority to 11 vary the terms of this agreement except in writing 12 on the face hereof or on a separate page attached 13 hereto.

14 Similar language is found in other loan 15 documents. The modification agreement that she 16 signed on April 10, 2009, that is about a year or 17 so after the original loan, it has a similar 18 clause. It says that that agreement has its clear 19 terms and they may be varied only by written 20 agreement signed by the bank and the borrower and 21 each of the guarantors. The guarantors, Your 22 Honor, are Miss Cribb and Mr. Wheeler.

23 Your Honor, we have cited case law in our 24 memorandum and I believe this is very well settled 25 law because this happens with some frequency in

1 mortgage foreclosure cases and we have cited you to 2 several South Carolina cases that make that clear.
3 Quoting from Palmetto State Savings Bank versus 4 Barr, "When an agreement is reached," excuse me, 5 "When an agreement is reduced to writing there is a 6 strong implication the whole intention of the 7 parties has been expressed and there is no 8 agreement or intention contrary to that expressed," 9 close quote.

10 Judge, if you're going to let people come to 11 court, and notwithstanding these carefully drawn 12 and carefully executed documents, come in and just 13 make up testimony any way they want to about an 14 oral representation that was made to them, for 15 example, in this case they say Mr. Lovelace 16 promised that he would not require additional 17 collateral for this mortgage. We're talking about 18 a beach lot. It is clearly called for in the 19 commitment letter, it's clearly called for in the 20 mortgage.

21 Miss Cribb had legal counsel representing her 22 both before and during that closing. If she gets 23 to come to court and say, "Well, you know, he told 24 me that wasn't going to be a problem at all, he 25 even told me we wouldn't have to put that lot in

1 there," it is in there, it is clearly in there,
2 it's in writing and if all you've got to do is come
3 to court and claim there was some other oral deal 4 that is binding and that you are therefore relieved 5 from the requirements clearly set forth in the 6 commitment letter, the note, the mortgage and the 7 security agreement, then they aren't worth the 8 paper they're written on and we don't have any way 9 to enforce rights, and why would any lender want to 10 come to Georgetown County and loan any money if all 11 you've got to do is make up a new rule when the 12 foreclosure comes along and you hadn't paid your 13 payments and you just make up a new deal?

14 She also claims that Mr. Lovelace said First 15 South Bank would unconditionally, quote, "See the 16 development through its completion." In other 17 words, "We'll keep loaning them money as long as 18 they needed it," and they would see it to 19 completion.

20 Judge, this loan started off as a loan for 21 not only the acquisition but the development of a 22 commercial piece of property in a shopping center.
23 It changed at some point. They abandoned that 24 plan, they notified the bank in writing that they 25 were not going to develop it, they were just going

1 to try to sell it at a profit.

2 Well, thereafter they didn't get any more
3 loan proceeds because the loan documents clearly 4 said, "In order for you to get any more draws on 5 this loan such as for infrastructure development 6 and you have to make proper showings and the bank 7 has to, you have to apply for that additional draw, 8 the bank has to satisfy itself that the conditions 9 precedent have been met and then and only then 10 would there be more money forthcoming from the 11 loan."

12 Well, those things were not done but they 13 want, they want Your Honor to allow Miss Cribb to 14 say, "Wayne Lovelace told me he would see this 15 development through to the end, without any 16 limitation, without any dates or due dates."

17 There is another ground other than the case 18 law we cited that we believe would require you to 19 grant this motion, and that is the so called bank
20 Statute of Frauds. It is found in Section 21 37-10-107 of the South Carolina Code of Laws. It 22 says that, quote, a failure to perform an alleged 23 promise or agreement to loan money in excess of 24 $50,000 unless the party bringing the action has 25 received a writing from the party to be charged,

1 that there can be no action or defense based on any 2 such oral representation.

3 In other words, I didn't read that very 4 precisely but what it says is this. If you've got 5 a loan that is $50,000 or more it's got to be in 6 writing and the terms have got to be in writing.
7 It is just like a contract to buy or sell land, 8 Your Honor. There is no such thing as an oral 9 contract to buy or sell land. That is the Statute 10 of Frauds that has protected us very ably for 11 centuries and we believe the bank Statute of 12 Frauds, together with the case law interpreting 13 language in the loan document in this case leaves 14 this Court with the clear obligation to grant this 15 motion and preclude such testimony from coming in.
16 Otherwise we let this thing become a very 17 disorderly and unorganized squabble about who said 18 what, and that should never be the case in a five 19 million dollar mortgage foreclosure case, Your 20 Honor.

21 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I would like to 22 address a couple different things. Really what 23 this motion is is a second opportunity for the bank 24 to try to argue the summary judgment motion. And 25 why I say that is I agree that it is well

1 established law that there is the parole evidence 2 rule that you cannot introduce evidence to try and 3 change or modify the terms of the agreement.
4 However, there is, it is also well established law 5 that parole evidence is generally admissible to 6 show fraud in the inducement of the writing, it 7 says seller cannot be allowed to hide behind parole 8 evidence to avoid the consequences of 9 misrepresentation whether fraudulent or negligent.

10 And what that does, Your Honor, why that's 11 important, we have directly argued in our defenses 12 that there is fraud in the inducement of the 13 writing, fraud in the inducement of the initial 14 contract or note and mortgage we're here for today 15 and why that is important is there has already been 16 a finding in this case by Judge John, and I will 17 read his order, "Similarly, South Causeway
18 presented evidence that if proven could support a 19 jury finding that the First South Bank fraudulently
20 induced South Causeway to execute the loan 21 documents in issue in this case."

22 What that says is there is a standard, there 23 is facts in question here that raise the issue and 24 should go to the jury whether there is fraud in the 25 inducement of the loan and, Your Honor, it is

1 important, there are other facts, you are getting 2 facts back and forth, but they can't have it both 3 ways. There is evidence that will be shown to the 4 jury that at the day of the closing, at the date of 5 the initial closing they hand delivered a letter 6 that was not in the commitment letter, that was not 7 in the loan agreement, that was added terms about 8 how they could release the collateral, that this 9 whole question was raised.

10 There will be documents and there will be 11 testimony that Judge John has seen and heard 12 already that says this collateral was never 13 supposed to be included. There was oral 14 representations and written representations that 15 this collateral would not be included and then when 16 they get to the day of the closing, instead of that 17 change, what they have is a letter saying, "Well, 18 add these terms to what the mortgage is, we'll add 19 these terms to the note." Those terms weren't in 20 the initial commitment letter that they are relying 21 on, it is not in the, any of the closing documents 22 other than a hand delivered letter, and that goes 23 directly to our claim of fraud in the inducement.

24 There is numerous cases on point that says 25 evidence of fraud in the inducement allows you to

1 introduce parole evidence as to those rules. And 2 what I think is important also, Your Honor, in the 3 two cases cited by the plaintiff, one of which is 4 Ray versus South Carolina National Bank, it
5 directly says on the last page of that, "Here Ray 6 is the only person who signed the notes, the notes 7 are clear and properly executed, therefore no 8 evidence of fraud, accident or mistake."

9 And that is the point that is different than 10 our case. There is evidence of fraud and that is 11 why we're allowed to introduce this evidence.

12 THE COURT: Well, she was represented by 13 counsel, correct?

14 MR. GODDARD: She was represented at the 15 initial, at the initial closing, yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Throughout this process, when 17 they sat down at the closing to execute these 18 documents she didn't have legal counsel?

19 MR. GODDARD: Not during the modification 20 that occurred the second time, Your Honor. The 21 initial loan, yes, we would agree that she was 22 represented by counsel but, Your Honor, I think the 23 representation of counsel still is outside the 24 fraud and the inducement of the contract, that 25 there is evidence to support this claim and that

1 has been found by, already ruled in this case as a
2 ruling that there is sufficient evidence of fraud 3 in the inducement of the contract. In fact, Your 4 Honor, it was twice, because they did a motion, I 5 believe a motion to reconsider that was again 6 denied on similar grounds.

7 THE COURT: Mr. Collins?

8 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I think it is also 9 important for your knowledge that there, they are 10 not going to deny that they made those 11 representations. We have the deposition testimony
12 that those representations were made by Wayne 13 Lovelace to Peggy Wheeler-Cribb. It is not a case 14 where it's a he said, she said. Their officer 15 admits those, to see the loan through. I want to 16 be clear to the Court. We're not planning to 17 introduce any evidence that we thought they were 18 going to unlimited, we had an unlimited checkbook 19 to write whatever fees were necessary but what 20 there was, was an indication that, "We'll do this 21 together, we're not going to, you know, hold your 22 feet to the fire, we'll work with you."

23 That was never done and more importantly it 24 was that, "This collateral that I said from the 25 very beginning of our first conversation that I

1 don't want to be included in this loan and if it 2 was then we are not going to do the loan," they 3 said, "Oh, it's just a formality, we're going to 4 get rid of that, we're not going to need it, it is 5 all going to change when you do the appraisals," 6 and when they get to the closing it is still there 7 and they get hand delivered a different letter with 8 additional terms outside of it.

9 THE COURT: If it is still there why did they 10 sign it?

11 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, that goes to our 12 additional defenses we have that there was, the 13 way, the time line of how this occurred is with 14 their testimony, with their promises to Miss Peggy 15 the maturity date on the loan they were having to 16 pay off was coming due and because they said they 17 would fix this and it wasn't going to be included, 18 she got to a point where there was nothing she 19 could do, if she didn't sign the documents that day 20 then the loan from first Palmetto, they would not 21 have been able to pay off and it would have been a 22 default and, Your Honor, I think it is important, 23 it isn't just an issue of facts, I think the case 24 law is clear if there is any evidence of fraud in 25 the inducement of the contract then the case law

1 supports you can introduce this parole evidence and 2 it is the jurors' decision whether they believe 3 there is sufficient facts to support the fraud in 4 the inducement.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 MR. GODDARD: Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Mr. Collins?

8 MR. COLLINS: Judge, the letter that was 9 produced at the closing was a letter that didn't 10 change anything in the mortgage, the note, 11 commitment letter or anything. It was a letter 12 that outlined a procedure that the bank would 13 consider for them going forward but it didn't 14 change anything and the lawyer representing her was 15 there and they could see for themselves that the 16 bank required as additional collateral, other than 17 the tract of land known as the South Causeway, the 18 beach property which has the address of 334 Myrtle 19 Avenue, Pawley's Island, Georgetown County,
20 designated as lot 4 on a plat prepared by the Earth 21 Works Group dated July.

22 Her defense is there was duress. You know,
23 when I bought my house I had to borrow the money, I 24 was under a lot of pressure. Is that an invalid 25 mortgage? Heck no, it's not. Who borrows money

1 that doesn't feel a certain measure of pressure?
2 the idea you have a lawyer representing you, 3 you've got the documents provided to you in 4 advance, you have a chance to go over those 5 documents with your lawyer and you elect to go 6 forward and you sign the note and the mortgage, 7 Judge, if all that can be undone by a claim that,
8 "I was under duress and I think I was fraudulently 9 induced because of a conversation I had earlier," 10 if all that, if all that can work, then these 11 carefully drawn provisions in every note and 12 mortgage executed in this state are not worth a 13 thing and so the word is going to go out, it has 14 already gone out, Judge, let me tell you this, the 15 word is already out if you want to beat a mortgage 16 foreclosure you counter-claim. They've got two 17 more just like it.

18 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I'm going to say I 19 think this is improper argument here.

20 THE COURT: It is.

21 MR. GODDARD: And goes far outside the scope 22 of this motion.

23 THE COURT: It is.

24 MR. COLLINS: Judge I apologize. But the 25 point is the idea --

1 THE COURT: Talk about, let's talk about the 2 law.

3 MR. COLLINS: All right.

4 THE COURT: They cited the case where parole 5 evidence is admissible if the purpose of it is to 6 show fraud in the inducement.

7 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I will be happy to 8 provide numerous cites that cite that, that 9 directly cite that holding. We have Gilliland 10 versus Elmore Properties, 301 South Carolina 295, 11 United States Leasing Corporation versus Janicare.

12 THE COURT: Slow down a little bit, now. 301 13 South Carolina what?

14 MR. GODDARD: Gilliland versus Elmore 15 Properties is 301 South Carolina 295.

16 THE COURT: All right.

17 MR. GODDARD: We have United States Leasing
18 Corporation versus Janicare, 291 South Carolina 19 312. We have Redwiend versus Edwards which 20 directly holds it's well established law that 21 allows parole evidence, allows extraneous evidenc 22 attacking an instrument on the ground of fraud, not 23 rendered inadmissible by a contract merger
24 provision. Parole evidence is designed to prevent 25 fraud, not promote fraud by immunizing the party

1 against claims arising out of fraudulent
2 misrepresentation, 354 South Carolina 459. You
3 have Hansen versus DHL, 316 South Carolina 505.

4 And I think it is important also, Judge, to 5 look at the case provided by them, Your Honor, Ray 6 versus South Carolina National Bank. It directly 7 holds that in the case that fraudulent, that absent 8 fraud, that's why no parole evidence was allowed.

9 MR. FLOYD: And, Your Honor, if I may, I 10 would note additionally --

11 THE COURT: You've got to identify yourself
12 for the court reporter.

13 MR. FLOYD: Lee Floyd for the plaintiff. I 14 believe Ray did deal with the issue of whether or 15 not oral promises induced then to sign the note.
16 These cases are in the mortgage realm as opposed to 17 some, I believe the cases that were cited by Mr.
18 Goddard which I don't have in front of me right 19 now. Also the lender Statute of Frauds that Mr.
20 Collins cited, which is South Carolina Code -- I'm 21 sorry, Your Honor.

22 THE COURT: 37-10-107.

23 MR. FLOYD: That deals specifically with 24 commercial loans and actually exempts from its 25 operation residential and consumer loans and it

1 applies on point here that the oral terms that they 2 are saying modified the agreement was an agreement 3 to loan money beyond $50,000. I don't believe any 4 of the cases that either side has cited address
5 that and that is conveniently applied, I believe, 6 by the Court of Appeals, I apologize, actually the 7 Supreme Court in Seacoast Development, LLC, versus 8 Harborside Community Bank, and I can give you the 9 cite if you would like, Your Honor, the last case 10 on the law we provided, and it just deals with the 11 aspect that that statute is basically a lender 12 Statute of Frauds. I think everything that 13 purportedly was said outside it, which we take 14 issue with, just falls outside and is barred from 15 evidence.

16 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, briefly. I'm just 17 reading the statute as it is, 37-10-107, I think it 18 is important to realize that is in the Consumer 19 Protection Code, not in the Banking Code or 20 anything else, it is in the Consumer Protection
21 Code and I read this as 37-10-107. Subsection 3 22 says subsections 1 and 2 do not apply to a loan of 23 money used for personal family and household 24 purposes. Obviously that would be outside this.

25 However, going to D, promissory notes, real

1 estate mortgages, securities agreements, guaranty
2 and surety agreements and letters of credit.
3 Nowhere in D is it insinuated that the loan of 4 money used for personal family or household 5 purposes is exhaustive, applies to the rest of that 6 list, Your Honor. It says, "Promissory notes, real 7 estate mortgages, security agreements, guarantees 8 and surety agreements are not subject to this 9 statute," and what is also important is it goes 10 back to what I'm saying, relying on the law in this 11 case, the Seacoast case that he cited again does 12 not have a finding of fraud, so it is outside what 13 we're saying.

14 I agree it is well established there is a 15 parole evidence rule but it is equally well 16 established that if you have evidence of fraud in 17 the inducement of the contract that it is directly 18 admissible to introduce that evidence.

19 Just for the Court's information, I gave you 20 the wrong cite. I said 291 on the United States 21 Leasing. That is 294, I apologize about that, my 22 handwriting leaves something to be desired.

23 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, Donald Tyler for the 24 plaintiff. With regard to the statute, we would 25 concede that 3(D) clearly does create some

1 ambiguity in the statute. Having said that, it has 2 always been our practice and understanding kind of 3 in the financial Bar that what 3(C), that 4 exclusion, what it really applies to is the 5 promissory note, mortgage security agreement, 6 guaranties and letters of credit were only going to 7 be signed by the borrower, and so what the 8 Legislature, it is not very well drafted, what the 9 Legislature didn't want, wanted to prevent was when 10 you look at it, it requires you to maintain it, it
11 says if you want to maintain a lawsuit, down in C 12 it says the party seeking to maintain the action, 13 that received the writing from the other party to 14 be charged, the party to be charged has signed the 15 agreement.

16 So, essentially it requires both parties to 17 sign the agreement and so what the exception is in 18 3(C) is really that a bank, because banks typically 19 don't sign promissory notes, mortgages, that they 20 are not going to be required to start signing 21 promissory notes in order to enforce promissory 22 notes. So, it is a poorly drafted, I would say, 23 poorly drafted exception but if you read that 24 exception to apply to notes, mortgages and 25 everything, then it really, it renders the statute

1 a nullity and there is no, there is no application
2 because I think that is really at the heart of it.

3 MR. GODDARD: Just very briefly, Your Honor,
4 and I will sit down. I think it is also important, 5 two things under the Consumer Protection Code, if 6 you look at Section 2, what that code precludes, 7 nowhere in there does it preclude fraud in the 8 inducement. It says there is a negligent 9 misrepresentation but that is separate and distinct 10 from fraud in the inducement. We have a finding 11 from Judge John already that there is evidence of 12 fraud sufficient to go to the jury and under the 13 case law I think it is well established that that 14 allows us to introduce this parole evidence.

15 Thank you, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Well, you keep telling me that 17 but we have a finding from Judge John. What are we 18 doing here, then, if Judge John has ruled on this 19 issue?

20 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, we have made a 21 general motion for summary judgment and submitted 22 it to Judge John. He thought there could be an 23 issue of fact and therefore he denied the motion 24 for summary judgment.

25 THE COURT: That is all it is, he denied

1 summary judgment because there is an issue of fact?

2 MR. TYLER: Correct.

3 MR. GODDARD: It is our position if there is 4 an issue of fact in this case, whether there is a 5 fraud in the inducement of the writing, that not 6 allowing us to introduce this evidence would be the 7 equivalent of striking our defense as to fraud in 8 the inducement.

9 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, it is going to be our 10 position that evidentiary standards are certainly 11 different than a Rule 56 motion, and that is the 12 distinction, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: It would be asking too much to 14 see if you all had copies of these cases you cited?

15 MR. FLOYD: I do, Your Honor. I do not have 16 multiple copies.

17 THE COURT: It would be very helpful to pass 18 it up.

19 MR. FLOYD: If I may, Your Honor.

20 MR. GODDARD: May I approach, Your Honor? I 21 do not have a copy of the DHL case but there is the 22 three other cases.

23 THE COURT: All right.

24 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, I believe --

25 THE COURT: All right.

1 MR. FLOYD: Thank you, Your Honor.

2 MR. COLLINS: Judge, I know you're getting 3 tired of hearing from all these lawyers but there
4 is one point I would make. At the summary judgment 5 stage a judge is simply looking to see if there is 6 a scintilla of evidence. At the trial the rules of 7 evidence apply. The case law and the statutory law 8 applies and at the trial we are obligated to apply 9 a much higher standard and that is the 10 admissibility under the well settled evidence law 11 that we operate under.

12 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

13 MR. COLLINS: Judge John found a scintilla of 14 evidence based upon an affidavit that Miss 15 Wheeler-Cribb gave and you will hear more about 16 that as the trial moves along but it was only on 17 the basis of her uncorroborated representations in 18 her affidavit that he found that scintilla of 19 evidence.

20 MR. GODDARD: And just briefly, Your Honor, I 21 don't want to belabor the point any more but there 22 was other evidence, there was the, presented at the 23 motion for summary judgment, outside of just the so 24 called uncorroborated affidavit, there was an 25 affidavit of Wayne Lovelace and more importantly

1 there was the deposition testimony of other
2 witnesses that will move forward in this case.

3 Your Honor, if I may, we just had a copy of 4 the other case printed out for you if you would 5 like. May I approach?

6 THE COURT: All right. It appears from the 7 cases I'm reading that to the extent the extrensic 8 or parole evidence is being used to support the 9 claim of fraud in the inducement that it would be 10 admissible for that purpose, so to the extent there 11 are any of these extrensic or oral statements or 12 whatever that are going to show the element of 13 fraud in the inducement I think they would be 14 admissible for that purpose.

15 MR. GODDARD: Thank you, Your Honor.

16 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, under that ruling 17 it would not be necessary for us to make a 18 continuing and repeated objection to evidence as it 19 is being offered and received by the Court?

20 THE COURT: Well, I'm not sure. Are you 21 talking about anytime they refer to an oral 22 statement made?

23 MR. COLLINS: Yes, sir.

24 THE COURT: As long as it is being used to 25 support their claim of fraud, as evidence to that,

1 then I think it is admissible. I don't think that 2 opens the door for them just to --

3 MR. COLLINS: But do I need to stand up and 4 object every time?

5 THE COURT: No, no, I'm going to note your 6 exception to that ruling and any time that those 7 are raised, that objection will be noted.

8 MR. COLLINS: Judge, as we argued earlier in 9 another motion heard before Judge Hyman, the 10 defenses that were raised such as fraud in the 11 inducement are defenses which we believe should not 12 ever even go to the jury because the mortgage 13 foreclosure action itself is an equitable 14 proceeding and the case of Wells Fargo against 15 Smith recently decided by our Court of Appeals says
16 that the Court will decide the merits of a defense 17 raised in a mortgage foreclosure action, which is 18 equitable, and so what we have here, Your Honor, is 19 a proceeding that should go to either Master in 20 Equity Crosby or to Your Honor and they are taking 21 that evidence, that equitable defense of fraud in 22 the inducement to the mortgage foreclosure and they 23 are turning it into a basis upon which to prove a 24 counter-claim and we believe that under the law of 25 Wells Fargo against Smith counter-claims in

1 foreclosure actions can only result in a jury trial 2 if they go to certain aspects of the creation of 3 the instrument. And in their pleadings in this 4 case, Your Honor, their answer and counter-claims, 5 their amended answer and counter-claims, they do 6 not contest the veracity, the legitimacy, the 7 enforceability of the counter-claim, excuse me, of 8 the complaint which alleges the note, the mortgage 9 and all being enforceable. Their exact response is 10 the reference to the transaction documents which 11 speak for themselves and will be interpreted by the 12 Court as at matter of law. So, they plead fraud in 13 the inducement as a defense to the mortgage 14 foreclosure and that is the ruling that you have 15 just made, they get to offer evidence of fraud in 16 the inducement, to the mortgage foreclosure, but 17 they have not alleged that those documents are 18 invalid. They say, they simply ask the Court to 19 interpret them as a matter of law because the 20 documents speak for themselves.

21 And this is a hearing we had some time ago in 22 this same courtroom, as I recall, before Judge 23 Hyman and we argued that the defendants were not 24 entitled to a jury trial on those issues and we 25 lost, we lost the summary judgment motion and we

1 lost the motion to strike the demand for a jury 2 trial but we believe the law does not give them the 3 right to inject those issues and to ramp up into 4 their counter-claim such evidence as, such case law 5 as they are relying on here.

6 MS. BYRD: I think Mr. Collins just summed up 7 procedurally how many times this exact motion has 8 been made. It is now the fourth time that he has 9 argued that we should not be entitled to a jury 10 trial. Judge John heard it and denied their 11 request to strike our demand for jury trial. Then 12 they filed a motion to reconsider, which he issued 13 another written order denying their motion. Then 14 they filed another motion entitled plaintiff's 15 motion to strike, again another motion to 16 reconsider it, essentially, argued it and Judge 17 Hyman again denied it.

18 And now for a forth time they ask the Court 19 to grant the same motion which has been denied 20 three times. And not only that, but there is clear 21 case law that provides that if there are legal and 22 equitable issues, as he is arguing, that can be 23 tried separately, then the legal claims must be 24 heard first. So, in other words, he couldn't go 25 and try his mortgage foreclosure claim separate and

1 apart from our counter-claims and even if he could 2 and had made that motion to bifurcate, which he has 3 not, if he had made that motion our counter-claims 4 would go first, Your Honor.

5 Thank you.

6 MR. COLLINS: Judge, we know they have won
7 their argument to get the jury trial, we understand 8 that, but that doesn't mean that parole evidence 9 should come in in violation of the case law that we 10 rely on.

11 MR. GODDARD: And, Your Honor, I just don't 12 think there is any case law out there that says if 13 you use, if you use, if you have fraudulent 14 inducement that automatically invalidates your 15 ability to have a jury trial. I mean, this is all, 16 as Audra has argued, this is all the claims and 17 this is this exact ruling has been ruled on now 18 three times. Nothing has changed with your prior 19 ruling as to what our defenses were or anything 20 else, so I just don't, I believe it is an improper 21 motion before the Court.

22 Thank you.

23 THE COURT: Procedurally how would we 24 proceed, then, as far as the foreclosure issue?

25 MR. COLLINS: Judge, we think you decide

1 foreclosure.

2 THE COURT: I think that is a decision the 3 Court makes.

4 MR. COLLINS: Right.

5 THE COURT: So what goes to the jury?

6 MR. COLLINS: The counter-claims.

7 THE COURT: You know, I haven't seen anything
8 in this file. What are the counter-claims?

9 MR. COLLINS: Judge, do you want me to hand 10 you up a copy of their amended answer and 11 counter-claims?

12 MS. BYRD: It is breach of contract, breach 13 of contract accompanied by fraud, violation of the 14 South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act, breach 15 of fiduciary duty and one claim that is made up of 16 fraud, constructive fraud and misrepresentation.

17 THE COURT: Let me ask you this. If the 18 Court were to rule that foreclosure was proper and 19 you sent all that to the jury and they ruled in 20 your favor, isn't that conflicting?

21 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, I don't, I don't 22 necessarily, even if we are not, if we lost on the 23 foreclosure issue, in other words, if you decide 24 that the mortgage itself --

25 THE COURT: The documents and everything were 1 all proper, everything was executed properly.

2 MS. BYRD: No defense.

3 THE COURT: All right.

4 MS. BYRD: I think we could still prevail on 5 a counter-claim because it is different elements
6 than the Court would consider in their affirmative 7 claim for foreclosure. But I think, Your Honor, I 8 just now found the cite, Johnson versus South 9 Carolina National Bank, 292 SC 51, and it says when 10 issues common to both legal and equitable claims 11 are to be tried in a single proceeding the legal 12 issues are to be determined first and the findings 13 of the jury are binding on the sitting judge as the 14 trier of equitable claims.

15 So, in other words, we try this to the jury, 16 we send it back to them and they come back, we 17 believe their factual findings are binding on the 18 Court in the mortgage foreclosure portion. Would 19 you like me to print that one?

20 THE COURT: Yes, if you would.

21 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, I don't have the case
22 in front of me but from memory I believe the case 23 also said something along the lines of you can try 24 the case, the equitable case and the jury case in 25 one trial and the judge decides the equitable

1 issues and the jury decides the legal 2 counter-claims, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: That is my understanding. I
4 guess my question was, Miss Byrd, what are you 5 saying? It sounds like what you are saying, the 6 jury finds, a hypothetical, let's say the jury 7 finds there was a breach of the contract and fraud 8 and all this other stuff, then they, then they 9 decided for me that the foreclosure is improper?

10 MS. BYRD: I believe their findings --

11 THE COURT: So, the jury has made the call 12 where the law clearly states that's a decision the 13 Court makes?

14 MS. BYRD: Well, I think the law, I think the 15 law says that, what I just read to you, was that 16 their findings are binding on Your Honor and so 17 they may make findings that don't in your opinion
18 or the opinion of the Court constitute a valid 19 defense to the enforcement, to the enforcement of a 20 mortgage but they themselves could make a finding 21 and it be binding on the Court on our 22 counter-claim. It is unlikely that would happen 23 but it certainly could happen.

24 THE COURT: I think the issue as to the 25 defendant's right to a jury trial has been

1 established and I think we'll go forward obviously 2 with a jury trial. But I do want to look at that 3 case because --

4 MR. GODDARD: May I approach, Your Honor?

5 THE COURT: In all candor I have never tried 6 a foreclosure case with these counter-claims and 7 have the jury, I knew all along that the Court 8 makes the decision regarding the equitable claim, 9 I'm just trying to figure out how you're telling 10 me, Miss Byrd, they can find, if a jury finds 11 fraudulent inducement, breach of contract and all 12 those things, how a court could ever in the face of 13 that then come back and say but the foreclosure is 14 appropriate. It sounds like the jury is making the 15 decision on the entire case.

16 MS. BYRD: And I think they do, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: That's contrary to the law.

18 MS. BYRD: I don't think it is, Your Honor, 19 and the case spells it out, practically, Your 20 Honor. If they agree with us and find we have 21 established fraud or breach of contract with fraud, 22 then you could, it would be hard for the Court to 23 make a finding that that did not equate to unclean 24 hands, so that would establish an equitable remedy 25 that would prevent the mortgage foreclosure, and

1 that is just an example, but depending on what 2 their rulings or findings were on our specific 3 claims, there could be a possibility that they make 4 a finding that would allow Your Honor to approve 5 the foreclosure but practically I don't think that 6 could happen but the case law does say if they are 7 to be tried in the same proceeding then we go first 8 and those findings are binding on the Court.

9 MR. COLLINS: Judge, we don't think anything 10 this jury decides precludes you from determining 11 whether the mortgage foreclosure is valid and goes 12 forward. You can't throw into the jury box these 13 issues that they have raised by way of 14 counter-claim and come up with a conclusion that 15 not only does the bank not get to foreclose on 16 their mortgage and get whatever they can of the 17 value of that collateral but that a bank has to pay 18 them money for various counter-claims. If that's 19 the law in South Carolina, Your Honor, it is 20 standing on its head.

21 I'm reminded by Mr. Floyd the case law is 22 this. If a contract is rescinded by virtue of 23 defenses that are asserted or counter-claims that 24 are asserted, then the parties have to go back to 25 square one. The borrower, the mortgagor has to 1 give the money back to the bank, everybody has to 2 go back to square one if you rescind the contract.

3 Well, how are they going to do that?

4 THE COURT: I'm just looking at this case she 5 cited and it summarizes the proper analysis for 6 determining the trial of legal and equitable issues 7 and complaints and counter-claims. Here is what -- 8 I mean, citing that case, Johnson versus South 9 Carolina National Bank. One, if both, obviously 10 the complaint and counter-claim, are in equity the 11 entire matter is tried by the Court.

12 Two, if both are at law then the issues are 13 triable by a jury.

14 Three, if the complaint is equitable and the 15 counter-claim is legal and permissive, the 16 defendant waives his right to a jury trial.

17 Then four, which is I think where we are 18 here, if the complaint is equitable and the 19 counter-claim legal and compulsory the plaintiff or 20 the defendant has a right to a jury trial on the 21 counter-claim and in that case the proper procedure 22 is as follows. The trial judge may pursuant to 23 Rule 42(B) order separate trials of the legal and 24 equitable claims or may order the claims tried as a 25 single proceeding.

1 Then it says if separate trials are ordered 2 the judge must determine the issues that are to be 3 tried first if there are factual issues common to 4 both claims. Absent that, then the at law claim 5 must be tried first. If there are no common 6 factual issues it is within the trial court's 7 judicial discretion as to which claims will be 8 tried first. If the claims are to be tried in the 9 same proceeding and there are factual issues common 10 to both claims the jury shall first determine the 11 legal issues, the Court may then determine the 12 equitable claims. The jurors' determination of 13 common factual issues shall be binding on the 14 Court.

15 So, your position is that your counter-claims 16 are basically factual issues that are common to 17 both claims?

18 MS. BYRD: Yes, sir, Your Honor, and Judge 19 John has already ruled they were legal and 20 compulsory, twice, I think.

21 THE COURT: All right. Well, I am going to 22 allow that parole evidence in as it relates to your 23 claims under fraud, so to that extent regarding the 24 motion in limine, I'm going to deny that as to 25 those, that evidence that relates to the fraud

1 issue.

2 All right, what else have we got?

3 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, we have another
4 motion in limine which is entitled First South 5 Bank's motion in limine to preclude evidence of any 6 alleged wrongdoing upon the execution of the April
7 10, 2009 agreement.

8 Judge, there was an agreement signed on April 9 10, 2009, commonly referred to as a modification 10 agreement, and this was an agreement that 11 essentially released the beach lot so that they 12 could go out and use it as collateral for another 13 loan from another lender called Kennedy Funding, 14 and in that agreement which is attached I believe 15 to our motion in limine there is a broadly worded 16 release found in paragraph three which simply says 17 that the borrower and each of the guarantors does 18 hereby on their own behalf and on behalf of each 19 other hereby release and forever discharge the 20 bank, its successors, assignees, directors, 21 shareholders, employees, attorneys, agents and 22 servants from any, from any and all, of any and all 23 manner of action and actions, causes and causes of 24 action, suits, debts, sums of money, accounts, 25 reckoning, bonds, bills, contracts, controversies,

1 agreements, promises, variances, and it goes on.

2 It's a very broad release and they signed 3 this, Your Honor, and a lot of what you have just 4 heard about, this stuff that happens before they 5 execute the mortgage, they released all that when 6 they entered into this modification, and so having 7 signed that release they now want you to say they 8 are not obligated at all by the terms of that 9 release and we are here once again, Your Honor, we 10 find ourselves in a position where the bank is 11 doing all that it can to comply with this 12 understanding of the loan.

13 We enter into this agreement, and one of the 14 things we have to have going forward is an 15 assurance that you're not going to make any claims 16 based on anything that has happened up to that, so 17 on April 10, 2009, with their lawyer right by them 18 they signed this modification agreement and we 19 believe they ought to be held to the terms of that 20 modification agreement.

21 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, briefly. I think 22 counsel is correct that our defenses and 23 counter-claims are definitely saying that 24 modification should be invalidated and should not 25 be held, should not be enforceable against Miss

1 Peggy.

2 What we have here, Your Honor, and this 3 specifically is a fact question in this case, one 4 of the major issues in this case is we have the 5 attorney that was present that was serving as the 6 escrow agent for an unrelated loan to this 7 modification. That attorney had said he did not 8 represent South Causeway, LLC, in this transaction.
9 What he has, what they also, what he also says is,
10 Your Honor, and I want to be, why that is important 11 is because that goes directly to our defenses of 12 unclean hands in this case because there is clear
13 South Carolina case law that modification
14 agreements require the involvement of an attorney 15 and it is our position and I think the facts will 16 show there was no attorney present for the bank and 17 there was no attorney present for Peggy, and also, 18 Your Honor, this goes to, and this was directly 19 raised, this exact same issue that all claims 20 should be, prior to the modification agreement, 21 should be dismissed under motion for summary 22 judgment based on this same waiver.

23 And what Judge John found and what we argue 24 is there is clear evidence of duress and also in 25 executing the modification agreement. And the case

1 law is clear that the issue of duress is a fact 2 specific case by case analysis that is left for the 3 jury and we feel that if the jury finds that it is 4 proper that, one, there was not an attorney 5 present, and two, there was, our client was under 6 duress and having to make this as well as other 7 equitable defenses that we have alleged and think 8 we can prove, then this modification and therefore 9 the waiver is not enforceable to our client and I 10 think, you know, Your Honor, and I can cite to 11 Judge John's order where he directly says the facts
12 as presented in the affidavit of Peggy 13 Wheeler-Cribb, and I will represent to you that 14 those will also be presented at trial, are 15 sufficient to establish a factual issue for the 16 jurors' determination as to whether the executed 17 loan documents were done under duress, whether 18 duress exists in a particular case is a question of 19 fact to be determined according to the 20 circumstances of each case, such as ages, sex, 21 compassion and capacity of the parties.

22 MR. COLLINS: Judge, let me help you out 23 here.

24 THE COURT: I appreciate it.

25 MR. COLLINS: They say that this modification

1 agreement of April the 10th, 2009, is unenforceable 2 because they were under duress and they didn't have 3 a lawyer. Well, we deposed Mr. Gwin, Robert H.
4 Gwin, III. "Question: Were you at some point 5 retained and did you represent a company named 6 South Causeway, LLC, and a lady name Peggy
7 Wheeler-Cribb and a gentleman named Will Darwin
8 Wheeler in connection with a loan to be made by a 9 company name Kennedy Funding?" That's the new 10 lender that comes into the picture once the 11 modification agreements is executed. "Answer:
12 Okay, I was not retained, in my opinion, by South
13 Causeway, LLC. I did represent Peggy Wheeler-Cribb 14 and Will Darwin Wheeler in connection with the 15 entity that I represented, and the entity that I 16 represented was Pawley's Island North, LLC."

17 Judge, in the course of discovery we sent out 18 requests to admit. Here is request to admit number 19 13. "Please admit that Peggy Wheeler-Cribb on 20 behalf of the defendant executed the agreement 21 dated April 10, 2009, in the presence of and after 22 opportunity to confer with counsel, a true copy of 23 which is attached hereto as Exhibit G. Response.
24 Admitted."

25 MS. BYRD: Judge -- I'm sorry.

1 MR. COLLINS: I have something else to add to 2 that. We had, and this was produced in discovery 3 and it was referred to in a conveniently taken 4 deposition, an email from Neil Motoene, he is a
5 mortgage broker with NVM Enterprises in New Jersey, 6 a response was sent from Peggy Wheeler-Cribb to 7 Neil Motoene, and so she got this email. Her 8 response is, "Neil, Wayne called me and I told him 9 Shirley Jacobs was overwhelmed with the 80 items had 10 to be taken care of. I thought I had let him know 11 we have a new attorney. Sorry about the mix-up.
12 It is the Gwin Law Firm."

13 So, we have three separate pieces of evidence 14 here, Your Honor, that we think overwhelmingly show 15 that Miss Cribb had a lawyer and Mr. Wheeler had a 16 lawyer and clearly if they had concerns about 17 duress or anything else, you know, South Causeway, 18 LLC, can't get legal counsel except through Miss 19 Cribb, she is the sole member of South Causeway, so 20 if Miss Cribb had a lawyer and if she had counsel 21 and she has ample opportunity to confer and she did 22 in fact do all that and execute this modification 23 agreement she's bound by it, Judge, and Mr. Gwin
24 acknowledges he represented her. Miss Cribb 25 acknowledges in an email to Mr. Motoene that she

1 has a lawyer, namely Mr. Gwin, the guy whose 2 deposition testimony I just quoted, and in answer 3 to request to admit they say that Miss Cribb and 4 Mr. Wheeler had a lawyer when they executed the 5 agreement of April 10th, 2009, in the presence of 6 and after an opportunity to confer with counsel.

7 And by the way, this request to admit says
8 Peggy Wheeler-Cribb on behalf of the defendant 9 executed the agreement in the presence of and after 10 opportunity to confer with counsel. So she, Your 11 Honor, was the person acting on behalf of South
12 Causeway, LLC.

13 Judge, how could this be close and how can 14 the bank be said to have improperly executed and 15 has now an unenforceable modification agreement so 16 that the broadly worded release contained in that 17 modification agreement is of no use to them, 18 affords them no protection and puts them at the 19 mercy of whatever the jury might want to do when 20 they hear all this we believe inappropriate
21 evidence? Judge, there has got to be a better way 22 for a bank to protect its interests and we think 23 this bank did everything the law requires, 24 everything they needed to do and we believe this 25 broadly worded release should be enforced.

1 MS. BYRD: Just to respond to that, Your 2 Honor, there is a way for a bank to protect its 3 interest, and it is to abide by the laws of this 4 state. If anyone has a claim -- I'm responding to 5 his last question.

6 THE COURT: Well, here is what I want to know 7 first, because the bulk of your argument was that 8 the defendant was unrepresented and yet in the 9 request to admit it was admitted that they were 10 represented by counsel and we all know that those 11 are binding, so what is your position? Now you're 12 taking a contrary position to the request to admit.

13 MS. BYRD: The way I read that request, Your 14 Honor, and I can only answer as truthfully as I 15 can.

16 THE COURT: I can't help if you made that 17 mistake.

18 MS. BYRD: I think the way it reads is that 19 they had an opportunity to consult with counsel but 20 the evidence, Mr. Bob Gwin will testify he did not 21 represent them and in fact the agreement that they 22 forwarded to him said, "Sign here to accept our 23 agreement that you will be the escrow agent," and 24 it was sent the day before closing, Your Honor, so 25 he's going to testify he did not represent them, he

1 was representing another LLC in a very complicated
2 loan and the way I answered that question I 3 admitted that Peggy Wheeler-Cribb, Bob Gwin will 4 admit it, too, that he represented her. However,
5 Your Honor, this agreement that was signed by Peggy 6 Wheeler-Cribb, we don't deny Bob Gwin was her 7 attorney, we do deny that that attorney represented 8 South Causeway.

9 THE COURT: Well, who signs for South
10 Causeway?

11 MR. COLLINS: Peggy Wheeler-Cribb.

12 THE COURT: We're chasing a tail right now.
13 You just got through telling me she was 14 represented.

15 MS. BYRD: For a separate transaction on 16 Kennedy Funding. Kennedy Funding made a loan to 17 Pawley's Island North, LLC, and Miss Peggy retained
18 Bob Gwin to review the Kennedy Funding transaction 19 documents, which he did, and as part of that 20 transaction First South Bank said in that 21 transaction, "We want you to serve as our escrow 22 agent, have this signed and send it back to us."

23 Bob Gwin is going to testify he did not 24 represent South Causeway, he was never engaged by 25 South Causeway and he gave her no counsel

1 whatsoever on that agreement. Regardless of what 2 the Court finds on that issue, Your Honor, we have 3 still alleged other circumstances which would 4 invalidate that 2009 agreement besides the non 5 representation by counsel.

6 Your Honor, we have alleged facts --

7 THE COURT: Let me ask you this. Because 8 this is becoming a procedural nightmare and I'm 9 seriously considering bifurcating and separating 10 this whole thing because now we're at the point, 11 now we've got this modification agreement which if 12 the modification agreement, and again I'm speaking 13 hypothetically, if the modification agreement is 14 found to be enforceable, then all of your causes of 15 action did go out the window prior to April 10th?

16 MS. BYRD: You're right.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MS. BYRD: That's right.

19 THE COURT: Which is pretty much your causes 20 of action, correct?

21 MS. BYRD: No, no. Most of them, but the 22 most horrific thing, in our opinion, happened after 23 this time.

24 THE COURT: Okay, but the things prior. So, 25 there has to be a finding first as to whether or

1 not that modification agreement is valid or not 2 valid.

3 MS. BYRD: Which again is going to require 4 factual findings of whether there was duress, 5 whether --

6 THE COURT: All right.

7 MS. BYRD: Whether unclean hands, so the same 8 defenses that apply to the first loan agreement are 9 equally applicable to the second but more 10 importantly, if we are right about the 11 unforceability of the first agreement and the jury 12 so finds, then the modification by its terms could 13 not be enforceable.

14 MR. COLLINS: Judge, that can't be right.
15 Judge, the defenses alleged in this mortgage 16 foreclosure action in this equitable proceeding are 17 to be decided by you. The defenses raised in the 18 mortgage foreclosure action are equitable in 19 nature, unclean hands, fraudulent inducement. If 20 you find this modification agreement is lawful and 21 binding, then everything that happened prior to 22 April 10th, 2009, and that is a very substantial 23 part of the case, Your Honor, there are some things 24 that happened after that they complain about but 25 they become very attenuated and very hypertechnical

1 if what we have is a valid loan, a valid note, a 2 valid mortgage and a valid waiver of any claim of 3 irregularity prior to April 10, 2009, and they have 4 tried to carve out some argument to you that would 5 have you parcel away and invalidate a binding 6 response to request to admit.

7 The case on which the request to admit was 8 submitted was this case, Your Honor, First South 9 Bank versus South Causeway, it was sent to Miss 10 Byrd, the lawyer for South Causeway, LLC. We asked 11 her please admit that Peggy Wheeler-Cribb on behalf 12 of the defendant executed the agreement dated April 13 10, 2009, in the presence of and after an 14 opportunity to confer with its counsel. Admitted.

15 And, Judge, if there are loopholes in there, 16 if that is not a valid document, if that is not a 17 valid and binding response, I don't know what to 18 say. I mean, words mean something and actions 19 taken in litigation mean something and the 20 deposition testimony of Mr. Gwin doesn't contradict 21 that. He says he represented Miss Cribb.

22 Now you can't stand up here and say Miss 23 Cribb didn't have a lawyer, because she did, she 24 sent an email to Wayne Lovelace saying, "I've got a 25 new lawyer, Bob Gwin." She didn't say in that

1 email, "He only represents me in some very, very 2 limited capacity." She said, "He represents me," 3 and, Judge, we just think this is kind of a 4 threshold and --

5 THE COURT: I think it is. I tell you what 6 we're going to do. We're going to go off the 7 record here and I'm going to get you all to step 8 back so we can speak off the record and let's talk 9 in greater detail procedurally how this cat needs 10 to be skinned, so to speak.

11 MR. COLLINS: Can I have Mr. Lysterly join us, 12 Your Honor?

13 THE COURT: That's fine.

14 MR. COLLINS: He wants to say something.

15 MS. BYRD: We're going to ask, if clients are 16 coming, let's have the clients.

17 THE COURT: I'm going to talk about procedure 18 of the trial, I'm not going to talk about the 19 details of what we're doing as far as legally, but 20 just procedurally how to even proceed in this 21 matter.

22 MS. BYRD: I think it should be among the 23 members of the Bar.

24 THE COURT: I don't disagree with that, so 25 let's just leave it to the lawyers and let's figure

1 out now this is going to proceed.

2 (Recessed at 2:20 p.m.).

3 (Reconvened at at 2:53 p.m.).

4 THE COURT: As I told you, I'm going to go
5 ahead and have them bring the jury in so we can 6 deal with them, then we'll proceed.

7 Go ahead and have the jury join us, please,
8 sir.

9 (The jury returned to the courtroom).

10 THE COURT: All right, ladies and gentlemen,
11 thank you all for being back and being prompt. I 12 hope everybody had a good lunch. I don't know if 13 I'm going to make your day or not but I'm about to 14 excuse you for the balance of today.

15 JUROR: You made mine.

16 THE COURT: Not the week but the balance of 17 today. I have got some matters that if we take the 18 time this afternoon to take up some legal matters 19 it will make the trial go a lot quicker and a lot 20 smoother, so rather than have you sit back there 21 while I'm doing that because it is something that 22 can't be done in front of you, I don't want to 23 inconvenience you, I talked to the attorneys, they 24 agree, they want to make sure that you all are 25 comfortable and not inconvenienced, so we're going

1 to, we're going to continue to stay and work but 2 we're going to let you all leave and ask you, if 3 you would, to please be back here tomorrow morning 4 at 9:30.

5 Now, when you go home you're going to, I'm 6 confident, be asked questions, "Well, did you get 7 picked," or, "What kind of case are you on," 8 whatever. It is okay to tell your friends, family, 9 or loved ones that you were selected on a jury and 10 that you are going to have to be back tomorrow but 11 that's where it really needs to end. It is very 12 important that your ability to be fair and 13 impartial is preserved and saying something as 14 simple as an innocent as, "Yes, I'm on a case that 15 involves a bank foreclosure," or involves some 16 commercial real estate over at Pawley's Island or 17 whatever, something just innocent as that could 18 possibly elicit a response that would affect your 19 ability to be fair and impartial.

20 So, it is fine to tell whoever that you are 21 on a jury and you can tell them it's a civil case 22 and not a criminal case because I know a lot of 23 people realize we have criminal court going on this 24 week as well, but just let them know you're on a 25 civil case and you're not allowed to talk about it

1 but if they are interested at the end of the case
2 and they still want to know something, then you 3 will tell them all they want to hear. But until 4 that point you're not allowed to have any 5 conversation about the case.

6 And, you know, the thing is, probably the 7 easiest way to tell jurors is, you know, when you
8 arrive back here tomorrow you should know nothing 9 more about this case than you know right now, not 10 one piece of information, you shouldn't have 11 another piece of information than what you have got 12 right now, so that is a nice way of saying don't 13 talk about the case with anybody, okay? It is very 14 important, it is important to the parties that your 15 ability to be fair and impartial and not be 16 influenced by anything outside this courtroom is 17 preserved, okay? So, have a wonderful evening, get 18 a lot of rest if you can and if you would be back 19 here in the jury room at 9:30 in the morning, okay?

20 Everyone else remain seated while the jury is 21 excused.

22 (The jury was excused from the courtroom).

23 THE COURT: All right, the jury has been 24 dismissed and we're going to remain at ease for a 25 moment while I go and make some calls but we'll

1 start back here in just a little bit, okay?

2 (Recessed at 2:59 p.m.).

3 (Resumed at 3:19 p.m.)

4 THE COURT: All right, where were we? We 5 were dealing with the, the motion regarding the 6 evidence of any alleged wrongdoing prior to the 7 execution of the April agreement?

8 MR. COLLINS: Yes, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Obviously, and I apologize for 10 not being on more solid footing with regard to 11 these issues but, you know, there is a part of me 12 that says that that is a legal claim that has to be 13 decided, factual issues regarding the fraud or the 14 duress, but it also shares those, those claims also 15 share facts regarding in equity and I keep going 16 back to where the case said when you have that 17 situation, the equitable claims or the equitable 18 facts, the issues, the legal issues are determined 19 first, so it just seems so foolish, it is like that 20 is an issue that has to be decided before you can 21 decide whether or not it's appropriate to go into 22 anything prior to that agreement. So, you have to 23 decide the issue of whether that agreement is valid 24 before you can go into deciding the issues of the 25 other matters and I don't see how that is not an

1 issue for the Court to decide. I'm open to any 2 input. I go back to my earlier comment about 3 having all these pretrial issues resolved outside 4 the term of court where the case is going to be 5 tried.

6 Miss Byrd, did you want to say something?

7 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, I think the only thing 8 that we can say is there are factual issues and the 9 case does provide those to be heard first and it 10 may be counter-intuitive but --

11 THE COURT: Well, you know, I'm almost, based 12 on what the Johnson case says, it seems to me that 13 you have to try this case and, you know, you can't 14 limit the evidence of any wrongdoing prior to the 15 agreement. I think you have to just try the case.
16 Whatever facts the jury finds to be the true facts, 17 those facts are binding on the Court but then the 18 Court takes that and then weighs the equities in 19 determining whether or not, number one, that 20 agreement is valid. If it is, then eliminating 21 anything prior to April the 10th. If it is not, 22 then considering the actions prior to that.

23 MR. COLLINS: Judge, we think you can make 24 that decision now, that you should make that 25 decision now. You have everything before you now.

1 that you need to decide whether that modification
2 agreement with broadly worded release of April 10, 3 2009, is valid.

4 THE COURT: Well, I don't, in all due 5 respect, Mr. Collins, because I haven't heard from 6 them yet, you know, there is the issue regarding 7 whether the defendant was represented. They keep 8 telling me there is more to that.

9 MR. COLLINS: Well, Judge --

10 THE COURT: That is why I was wondering do we 11 need then to proceed and hear testimony regarding 12 that matter? Well, if that is not the way it's to 13 be done, I'm not sure, and I'm just being candid 14 with you, I'm not sure. In reading the case law 15 and in reading what is here, it sounds to me that 16 where you have equitable and legal claims and they 17 share common facts, that the case is put before the 18 jury to decide the legal facts and those findings 19 are binding on the Court and then the Court will 20 take those and then decide the equitable issues.

21 MR. COLLINS: And as I understand it, you 22 would make a decision whether or not this 23 modification agreement with broadly worded release 24 is valid and if you conclude they did have 25 representation and there was no duress and they

1 signed it after conferring with the attorney and it
2 is valid, then you would make the determination 3 that anything the jury found irregular prior to 4 April 10th, 2009, was beyond, was released and 5 therefore should not be considered, correct?

6 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, our position is --

7 MR. COLLINS: Can I --

8 THE COURT: Well, that is where I'm -- you 9 see, that is where I'm hung up, because what we're 10 talking about is a factual basis, all right, 11 whether or not there was fraud or duress on the 12 legal claims, which if the jury found that there 13 was, then I don't know, and this is where I have a 14 problem with what this ruling says, I don't know 15 that I have the authority at that point to say 16 there was no, there was no duress.

17 MR. COLLINS: Judge, it can't be fraud 18 because they knew about it. They said they went to 19 the closing and there they saw this language in 20 there that obligated them to pledge as collateral
21 the beach lot as well as the South Causeway 22 property and there it was and it bothered them.
23 Fraud is when a representation is made and the 24 person hearing it doesn't know it and they later 25 discover it. They knew, it was all laid out there

1 in front of them.

2 The only way you get past that is to say
3 well, there was duress. Well, the duress argument 4 fails as a matter of law. We have case law that 5 says if you come to a closing and you have got a 6 lawyer and you have had the ample opportunity to 7 review the documents beforehand and you sign them 8 you can't, you can't avert or avoid your 9 obligations under those documents on a claim of 10 duress. Mr. Tyler pulled you that case, he was 11 telling me about it earlier.

12 So, Judge, there is no fraud because they 13 knew about it, there is no duress because they had 14 a lawyer, and all this is right in front of you and 15 it is not going to get any clearer by hashing it 16 out.

17 THE COURT: Well, let me ask you this because 18 I have yet to hear what the claims are regarding 19 this modification agreement, what the claims are 20 outside of she wasn't represented.

21 MS. BYRD: Well, one is duress and, Your 22 Honor, we can try, I mean, we can give you as much 23 facts as you want but essentially she was put in a 24 position where economically she had no other 25 choice, she had already paid money on another loan

1 as an application fee and I understand --

2 THE COURT: Let me ask you this. And, you 3 know, I didn't know where you were going but when 4 you, as you say this to me, the first thought comes 5 into my mind is I don't know that it can be claimed 6 duress if people make bad business decisions and 7 put themselves into a difficult financial 8 situation, and again I don't know anything about 9 the case, so I'm not saying that happened, what I'm 10 saying is it sounds like what you're saying is she 11 was in a financial state that she had to either 12 accept their offer, or that she had no other choice 13 other than to accept their offer.

14 MS. BYRD: And I think, this is the whole, I 15 mean, obviously these are motions in limine, but it 16 has to be considered, you cannot consider it in a 17 vacuum, you need to see the whole story and know 18 all the facts because, Your Honor, the evidence is 19 going to establish that any financial hardship, the 20 whole reason why she needed that loan was because 21 of the actions and conduct of First South Bank and 22 that is our, that is our theory of the case, we 23 understand they don't agree with that, but that 24 just means it's a factual issue for the jury to 25 decide. We disagree on the facts. Duress is a

1 fact issue and I don't understand, is he making a 2 summary judgment argument?

3 THE COURT: No, I understand what you're 4 saying.

5 MS. BYRD: It seems like it is.

6 THE COURT: That is what I'm saying, it
7 appears to me that the way to proceed is to hear 8 the case, put the case before the jury to decide 9 these factual issues.

10 MS. BYRD: And I think you're right and what 11 you said struck me earlier when you said after the 12 factual issues are found, then the Court weighs the 13 equities, so in other words, you could come up with 14 an equitable result based on their factual findings 15 that is not inconsistent but is just a result of 16 the Court's judgment in weighing equity, which I 17 think is what the Court, a court of equity does.

18 THE COURT: All right.

19 MR. COLLINS: Judge, you asked them to tell 20 you what else they had other than a claim she 21 wasn't represented because we have already seen and 22 heard enough about that, and they said, she said 23 well, there was duress at the time and that she was 24 having personal financial problems. Well, judge, 25 personal financial problems don't create a

1 situation of duress for South Causeway, LLC.

2 MS. BYRD: Again, if this is a summary
3 judgment hearing, then we can offer testimony and 4 evidence that will establish the totality of the 5 circumstances. If we want to have a mini trial to 6 get a ruling, then let's just do it.

7 THE COURT: We don't need it because I'm 8 telling you now that -- here is the thing, Mr.
9 Collins, whatever they're claiming, they're going 10 to have to prove it and at some point, which I will 11 probably remain sleepless tonight thinking about 12 it, we're going to have to put together a jury 13 charge and the charge is obviously going to address 14 what does the law say about duress, okay, and then 15 the jury is going to have to, based on the facts 16 that are presented, decide whether or not they met 17 that burden.

18 They have the burden of proving their 19 counter-claim and so they are going to have to meet 20 that burden just as the plaintiff has to meet their 21 burden with regard to their claims. So I guess, 22 you know, that is a real long way of saying I'm 23 going to respectfully deny the motion. I think it 24 is evidence that needs to be, it is factual
25 evidence that has to be decided by a jury.

1 And of course when the time comes for the 2 Court to make its ruling regarding the equities 3 involving foreclosure then, you know, the Court is 4 going to take into consideration the jurors' 5 decision on the facts and then apply those facts to 6 the equities that are involved in the case to 7 determine whether or not, and it could result in, 8 that the jury does not find for the plaintiff, or 9 excuse me, the defense, that the jury does not find 10 for the defense, that they failed to prove their 11 counter-claims but that the Court rules that the 12 foreclosure is not appropriate, or that the jury 13 finds for the defense but I find that the 14 foreclosure is appropriate. I mean, depending on 15 the facts and the equities, that may not be 16 inconsistent, althought it sounds inconsistent to 17 me.

18 MR. COLLINS: So, you would not be bound by 19 the jurors' answers to the interrogatories?

20 THE COURT: I'm sorry?

21 MR. COLLINS: If you have, if you have 22 special interrogatories for the jury and they 23 answer the questions in a certain way you would not 24 be bound?

25 THE COURT: I'm bound by their factual

1 findings, however I take those factual findings, I 2 then have to as a court of equity have to look at 3 everything to determine, I mean, there could be a 4 situation where the jury finds for them on all 5 their counter-claims and based on the evidence that 6 was presented I still find that there was a proper 7 deed, I mean mortgage, proper note securing that, 8 collateral to secure it and that they failed to 9 comply with the terms and conditions and therefore, 10 you know, the foreclosure is appropriate, and that 11 may not be inconsistent because it may be,
12 depending on how the jury finds it and by the time 13 the dust settles on this thing, that the bank was 14 proper in proceeding on a foreclosure and was 15 correct in the fact that the documents were proper 16 and all, however that the jury finds there was some 17 wrongdoing on behalf of the bank and makes an award 18 based on that. It is crazy and that is why I see 19 now where a lot of times the Court will bifurcate 20 these things and have them tried separately.

21 MR. COLLINS: Judge, we have not asked for a 22 bifurcation.

23 THE COURT: I understand that.

24 MR. COLLINS: The one last motion we have is 25 a motion in limine to exclude evidence of damages

1 to Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and Will Darwin Wheeler
2 because they are not parties to the lawsuit.

3 MR. GODDARD: Judge, briefly. You know, in 4 the interest of time I should say I think it is 5 important to understand exactly what damages he's 6 trying to limit here and give some explanation as 7 to that because I think, because it is possible we 8 may consent to it and we can be done, but without 9 knowing what type of damages he's trying to avoid 10 it is difficult to --

11 THE COURT: Well, I don't mind taking a short 12 recess and letting you all talk.

13 MR. GODDARD: That will be fine.

14 THE COURT: If that will help.

15 MR. FLOYD: I was going to respond quickly,
16 Your Honor. And I understand the question and I
17 think it is pretty clear from the interrogatories, 18 at least, they list their damages they are seeking,
19 they claim a foreclosure on a personal residence, I 20 will use that as an example, and I don't know if 21 they have listed all they may claim but there is a 22 good parody for what we're talking about, that they 23 claim. They claim that Peggy Wheeler-Cribb lost 24 her house at 652 Spring Street as a result of what 25 the bank did. At the same time they claim they are

1 separate entities and it is our theory at some time
2 there are going to be presentations to the jury 3 about their personal damages. It is irrelevant as 4 to what the damages are to the company, I mean, it 5 was formed for a reason, just like they couldn't --

6 THE COURT: I will tell you this. I have 7 already had that discussion with my law clerk as we 8 talked about, you know, people incorporate for a 9 lot of reasons and here is the thing. It is always 10 a double edged sword. You incorporate to get 11 certain benefits but you also could be cut by those 12 same benefits, so I don't know that, it may be that 13 by incorporating they shield themselves from 14 certain issues that could have arose, they have 15 also precluded themselves from being able to claim 16 their personal loss when the suit is against this 17 defendant.

18 MR. FLOYD: Yes, Your Honor, that is exactly 19 it. I think it goes a step further than that.
20 What I mean by this, as a motion in limine we're 21 trying to not only preclude them from recovering 22 for it, they shouldn't even be able to refer to it 23 because it is not a proper basis for any award, so 24 we don't even want to hear about it.

25 THE COURT: I understand that's your

1 position.

2 MR. FLOYD: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Again, I'm going to offer you the 4 time if you want to talk about it and then revisit 5 it but if we're ready to just go ahead, let's go 6 ahead.

7 MR. GODDARD: Well, Your Honor, I think it is 8 an interesting way, it is interwoven with exactly 9 one of our motions in limine, and we are here 10 today, we will consent that we are not going to 11 move forward with any damages allegation that the 12 foreclosure action personally, whether it be the 13 Spring Street foreclosure or any other foreclosure, 14 personal foreclosure against Peggy and/or Darwin 15 are direct damages to this case but what we say is 16 our motion --

17 MS. BYRD: She is not involved in the other 18 foreclosure actions personally.

19 THE COURT: All right.

20 MR. GODDARD: I think their motion in limine 21 is to Darwin and both of them. But what we're 22 saying is if they are, however, if they are going 23 to try and somehow introduce these foreclosures and 24 try and show this is some either, some avenue to 25 try and introduce these, either to try and question

1 credibility, character, common scheme or something,
2 say, then we reserve the right to then try and move 3 forward with proving that these are all 4 interrelated because I think it is important that 5 we can limit it as to the foreclosures certainly 6 but --

7 THE COURT: Here is the thing. Their motion 8 is to limit any introduction of any evidence as it 9 relates to personal losses of Miss Cribb, Miss 10 Wheeler-Cribb or Mr. Wheeler.

11 MR. GODDARD: I understand.

12 THE COURT: So that --

13 MR. GODDARD: But --

14 THE COURT: Because they are not parties to 15 the lawsuit.

16 MR. FLOYD: Yes, Your Honor, and no reference 17 to it, no presentation of evidence.

18 THE COURT: I understand that. Here is the 19 thing. There is a list of those damages. You all 20 might can talk and decide, "Well, we agree to this 21 one, we agree to this one," it may be you agree on 22 everything, you may not, I don't know.

23 MR. COLLINS: We're not making any history of 24 this case by all the things we agreed to before 25 trial.

1 MR. GODDARD: There is always a chance for 2 new. We're certainly willing to meet and, you 3 know, if he wants to litigate every issue we can 4 but we're willing to meet and try and come to some 5 resolution.

6 THE COURT: I think you have already begun
7 that direction by stating, and of course I didn't 8 know this until you mentioned it, but apparently 9 Miss Wheeler-Cribb ended up having a foreclosure on 10 a piece of personal property.

11 MR. GODDARD: Yes.

12 THE COURT: Which obviously is not 13 appropriate.

14 MR. COLLINS: No, sir, we're not planning to 15 talk about that but let me tell you what we are 16 interested in introducing, Your Honor. This goes 17 to the first item in their motion in limine. We 18 have evidence, we have gathered evidence --

19 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I hate to interrupt 20 but I think this is completely improper, and moving 21 forward --

22 THE COURT: We're not dealing with your 23 motion yet, we're not dealing with your motion yet 24 either.

25 MR. GODDARD: I think it is important for the 1 Court's information that Peggy Wheeler-Cribb is the 2 only member of South Causeway, LLC. We are not 3 going to try and prove any damages directly of 4 Darwin's. However, there is, and I think it is 5 important that we're able to mention and talk 6 about, while there was a separate piece of 7 property, 334 Myrtle, the lot, it is not titled to 8 South Causeway, LLC. However, it is collateral on 9 this loan, was involved in this loan and damages 10 relating to that lot, I think we're certainly 11 entitled to, related to, the damages we can prove 12 as to South Causeway as related to that lot are, I 13 think are --

14 THE COURT: You're talking about the beach 15 lot that is referred to as the beach lot?

16 MR. GODDARD: Correct.

17 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, I could only respond 18 to what they have identified and that foreclosure 19 on that home was one of them.

20 THE COURT: When you say that home, the lot?

21 MR. GODDARD: 652.

22 MR. FLOYD: 652 Spring Street. As to the 23 beach lot, any introduction of anything related to 24 that would be Will Darwin Wheeler's damages, just 25 like the other. He is not a member, he just told

1 us that.

2 THE COURT: But that was pledged as 3 collateral in this loan.

4 MR. FLOYD: But that doesn't make him a party 5 to the action.

6 THE COURT: But it makes that property a 7 party to this action.

8 MR. FLOYD: When it is released, I'm 9 struggling here to see how South Causeway has any 10 damage, the party, the only one that can recover.

11 THE COURT: They have not --

12 MR. FLOYD: And we're, I guess to make a 13 short story long, what I'm claiming and asking the 14 Court to rule is that any damage to that property 15 because it is released and Will Darwin owned it and 16 did whatever he did with it, it is his damages.

17 THE COURT: How is that damages to South
18 Causeway? If that property was in fact damaged, 19 how was that a damage of the defendant in this 20 case?

21 MR. GODDARD: Part of the damages to the 22 defendant in this case is the payment for the 23 release would have been from South Causeway.

24 MS. BYRD: In other words, we paid the money 25 and our position is we should have never been

1 required to pay that money but we were and we did 2 and we should be allowed to present evidence of 3 what we perceived are the damages. We're not 4 trying to go into any damages that her personal 5 foreclosure caused, or Mr. Wheeler's, but this 6 specific piece is not about a foreclosure, we're 7 not going to mention foreclosure, just the money 8 paid.

9 THE COURT: It was released.

10 MR. GODDARD: For a price.

11 MS. BYRD: For money that we paid that --

12 THE COURT: So, it would be the monies that 13 were paid for that release?

14 MS. BYRD: But only if the jury believes that 15 we should not have been required to, one, put up 16 the collateral, and two, that $300,000 that we paid 17 was put into an interest reserve account, which I'm 18 getting into the facts again, but it should have 19 already been there, Your Honor, and that is our 20 claim. They failed to fund the interest reserve
21 account --

22 THE COURT: All right. How does that piece 23 of property, if it was reduced in value somehow, 24 how would that have any effect in this lawsuit?

25 MS. BYRD: That the devaluation of the 1 property has absolutely none?

2 THE COURT: Here is, guys, it sounds to me 3 like they don't have a clue what you're seeking in 4 damages and so they're making a motion in limine on 5 certain damages but nobody knows what is being 6 sought, that is why I was going to give you the 7 opportunity to talk, to see about what are we 8 talking about. We may be sitting here chasing our 9 tails again over something that is not even an 10 issue.

11 MR. FLOYD: Well, Your Honor, we made the 12 motion because one of the itemized damages is, I 13 mean --

14 THE COURT: I understand. No, I don't argue
15 with you your motion at all, I understand why you 16 made it but I'm saying if those aren't damages why 17 did you list them?

18 MR. GODDARD: We will consent here before the 19 Court that we are not seeking any foreclosure 20 damages personally.

21 MS. BYRD: There was an interrogatory, Your 22 Honor, sometime three years ago, we did the best we 23 could, we flushed it out, we have been to 24 mediation, they haven't, but I went with Mr. Tyler 25 when his firm had the case and so we flushed out

1 what our damages are, he pointed to an 2 interrogatory that was three years ago.

3 MR. FLOYD: Apparently they meant it. We 4 shouldn't expect answers they don't mean --

5 THE COURT: But you know good and well
6 interrogatories over time get amended.

7 MR. FLOYD: And these haven't.

8 THE COURT: Listen, here is what I was told 9 earlier today by the plaintiffs, "Judge, we've got 10 to try this case, this case has sat here, we're 11 ready to go." I don't even know what their damages 12 are they are asking for. It sounds to me like 13 you're not ready to go.

14 MR. FLOYD: I think we are ready to go.

15 THE COURT: Then what are the damages they 16 are seeking? You're going to relate back to an 17 interrogatory three years ago to tell me what you 18 think their damages are? Has there been nothing 19 when you all went through mediation, did none of 20 this get clarified as we got here to trial this 21 week?

22 MR. FLOYD: Well, I can't speak to the 23 mediation, we were not involved at that time, Mr.
24 Tyler can speak to that.

25 THE COURT: Somebody needs to because we are

1 here, we're ready to try the case. I understand 2 the reasons for your motion but it is hard for me
3 as a judge to grant a motion in limine when I don't 4 know what you're asking, you don't know what you're 5 asking me to limit. You are asking me to limit 6 what?

7 MR. COLLINS: Judge, if you're not 8 comfortable ruling on it now, I know judges 9 frequently take a motion in limine under advisement 10 and wait until later.

11 THE COURT: It sounds like we may have to.

12 MR. COLLINS: That is understandable. The 13 interrogatories were sent, the interrogatories were 14 responded to, the interrogatories were never 15 amended. Questions have been put to expert 16 witnesses and we have not learned of any damages to 17 the corporation other than what they have told us 18 about in interrogatories. I don't think you can 19 say that we haven't tried. We have understood that 20 to be an issue in the case and we have tried. We 21 believe that it is time to move past that, on to 22 the next one.

23 THE COURT: All right. So we'll just deal 24 with any issues regarding the admissibility of 25 further damages as they arise.

1 MR. GODDARD: Okay.. If we want to move
2 directly into our motions we certainly are ready.
3 I believe these were sent to you but if you don't 4 have a copy I will hand you a copy, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Let see what I've got.

6 MR. GODDARD: May I approach, Your Honor?

7 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

8 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, our first motion in 9 limine is the motion in limine asking that the 10 plaintiffs not be allowed to present any evidence 11 of any foreclosure, personal foreclosure actions
12 filed against Peggy Wheeler-Cribb or Darwin 13 Wheeler.

14 I think, Your Honor,, as you have already 15 heard, there is personal foreclosure actions in 16 this case but I think, against Miss Peggy and 17 Darwin, however I think, I think in all four of our 18 motions these two parties, these two individuals 19 are not party to this case. South Causeway, LLC, 20 is the only party. There are guarantor agreements 21 out there that they have the right to try and bring 22 and did not.

23 The foreclosures in this case, the 24 introduction is completely irrelevant, is not 25 related to any of the properties. The Spring

1 Street property is not involved and the subsequent,
2 it is our position that the subsequent foreclosure 3 as to Darwin's piece of property is unrelated, Your 4 Honor.

5 They are, what they are wanting to do is 6 introduce these to the jury to try and say, "Look, 7 these people have other foreclosures and therefore 8 they are obviously wrong in this case," and it 9 could not be clearer in the rules of evidence and 10 case law that is just not appropriate. It is clear 11 in the case law that the guarantors of these are 12 not parties and it would be highly prejudicial for 13 them to include other foreclosure actions without, 14 without the jury knowing the facts, the 15 circumstances or anything else. And this goes back 16 to what we're saying, Your Honor, trying to get 17 this case in in a week, what is going to be 18 required if it is allowed, for us to have to do 19 mini trials as to each and every foreclosure, as to 20 the reason behind it and everything else.

21 THE COURT: I understand what you're saying.
22 Here is what it sounds like to me. It sounds like 23 everybody wants the same thing but not to apply to 24 them but to apply to the other person, okay? I 25 don't want to hear about the Spring Street

1 property, you don't want them to have anything to 2 say about that in their case but you may want to 3 raise it. I'm not understanding that, you may not, 4 I don't know, so let's talk, is that an issue, the 5 other foreclosures, are those issues that the 6 plaintiff intends to get involved in?

7 MR. COLLINS: Judge, there are two mortgage 8 foreclosures against Will Darwin Wheeler.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. COLLINS: They relate to this joint house 11 he has at the beach that has the imaginary boundry 12 line running through the middle of it where one is 13 a separate lot from the other. There is a two 14 million dollar mortgage on each one, we're talking 15 about four million dollar indebtedness, two 16 separate mortgage foreclosures have been brought.
17 In response to those mortgage foreclosures Mr.
18 Wheeler hired Miss Byrd, and Miss Byrd asserted 19 counter-claims similar to this case, so what we 20 have, Judge, under Rule 404(B) is a common scheme.
21 The scheme is to bring a counter-claim in a 22 mortgage foreclosure, throw a monkey wrench into 23 the procedure, stall it for years and prevent the 24 bank from recovering in foreclosure what they are 25 entitled to have per the terms of the foreclosure

1 agreement.

2 Miss Byrd, Mr. Wheeler counter-claims, jury
3 trial demands, delay, delay, delay. Now, we think 4 it is a common scheme of plan to frustrate banks 5 and their ability to foreclose and to shirk
6 financial obligations people otherwise had. Rule 7 406 also allows evidence of a routine practice, so 8 independent of Rule 406 and 404(B), we think these 9 foreclosure actions are relevant to prove a common 10 scheme or plan and a practice and we believe that 11 showing this is relevant and that the relevance
12 outweighs any prejudice under Rule 403 of the rules 13 of evidence.

14 That is our position, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: All right.

16 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, obviously, although 17 the Court may not be aware, this is not the first 18 time that Mr. Collins has attempted to attack my 19 credibility before the Court in open court and that 20 is exactly what he has done again, because what he 21 essentially suggested to Your Honor is that I, it 22 was my plan and scheme to file counter-claims to 23 stall foreclosures. He has absolutely no idea why 24 those claims were filed, they have no resemblance 25 to the claims that are filed in here. In fact one

1 is an accounting, we're just asking for an 2 accounting. So, he misrepresented to the Court 3 either knowingly or without having done any due 4 diligence and in fact it is not in any way 5 probative in this case. He is not a party and if 6 it is a plan or scheme it is mine and I'm quite 7 certain that he can't attack my credibility in 8 front of the jury, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: All right. Is that it, deal with 10 those two?

11 MR. GODDARD: That is issue one, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: I'm just saying as part of issue 13 one, were those the concerns?

14 MR. GODDARD: Well --

15 THE COURT: I'm going to grant, I'm going 16 grant the motion, we're not going into these other 17 things. I don't think that shows routine, common 18 scheme or plan, it is not an issue in this case.
19 We're going to keep this case focused on the facts 20 at issue in this case.

21 MR. GODDARD: Moving on, Your Honor, our 22 motion in limine number two, the plaintiff's 23 counsel has hired Terry Williams, he is present in 24 the court today, he is a, he is a forensic 25 accountant that was called in and I think it is

1 important to understand exactly what he was called 2 in for, and he said in his deposition he was called 3 in to examine the tax returns and financial 4 statements of Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and Darwin
5 Wheeler. However, what he was not brought in to do 6 was in any way related to how that would have 7 affected the bank or what effect it would have had 8 on the bank and what he is prepared to do is come 9 into court today as an expert witness to try and 10 say they have inconsistencies in their other tax 11 returns or other financial statements outside of 12 this loan agreement, whether it be in other loan 13 documents, whether it be in tax returns or 14 everything else.

15 Your Honor, this goes directly, is directly 16 addressed by the rules of evidence, because exactly 17 what they are trying to do is prove the specific 18 conduct of Miss Peggy and Darwin by the 19 introduction of extrinsic evidence. They are 20 trying to come in and say, "Oh, look at this loan 21 document, they were false in this, so you can't 22 believe them, they acted in conformity in doing 23 this." His statements are not, and I asked 24 specifically during his deposition if he's here to 25 to anything else other than to question the 1 credibility of these witnesses, and he said no.

2 But he is not here, it is important to 3 understand he is not able to say this is definitely 4 wrong or this is definitely wrong, he is making 5 broad based allegations that, you know, "I would 6 like to look more into that, that looks like an 7 inconsistency, that looks like an inconsistency," 8 and what they are doing is trying to make 9 fraudulent tax return questions without having to 10 prove it in a criminal court fraud.

11 THE COURT: Well, I'm going back to what was 12 said numerous times. The defendant in this case is 13 South Causeway, what is all of this? Miss 14 Wheeler-Cribb and Mr. Wheeler's tax returns and 15 personal financial statements, what has that got to 16 do with this case?

17 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, we have a case that 18 we would like to hand up to you if I can lay my 19 hand on it, State versus Wilder, here it is right 20 in front of me. This is a case on which we rely 21 for the proposition that we do get to call Mr.
22 Williams. Mr. Williams is prepared to testify that 23 he has examined tax returns, financial statements 24 and loan applications, some of which he just 25 recently got pursuant to a ruling by Judge Hyman.

1 There was a big motions hearing about whether 2 subpoenas we had issued to other banks would be 3 honored, there was a motion to quash on the other 4 side, he denied that motion and we got to see these 5 files. We already had tax returns and financial 6 statements. Mr. Williams is prepared to testify
7 that in his expert opinion Mr. Wheeler and Miss 8 Cribb falsified their tax returns, and these are 9 guarantors under the loan.

10 Now, the case of Wilder versus State which I 11 will hand up at this time is a case where a 12 witness, an eyewitness in a murder case was sought 13 to be impeached by the State -- no, by the 14 defendant on the ground that he had, he had filed 15 several, he had been involved in preparing false 16 tax returns and that these were bad acts, and the 17 case cited Rule 608, and the Court ruled in that 18 case, quote, under Rule 608(B)(1) a trial judge may 19 allow a witness to be cross examined about specific 20 instances of that witness' conduct if the trial 21 judge in his discretion finds that those instances 22 are probative of the witness' credibility.

23 What we have here in this case, Your Honor, 24 with regard to Mr. Wheeler is several things.
25 Income tax, current returns that do not list large

1 items that should have been shown as income.

2 Number two, a financial statement that 3 acknowledges that he put property in the hands, he 4 titles property in his mother's name for asset
5 protection and Mr. Williams is prepared to testify 6 that you can't take assets that you own, put them in 7 somebody else's name, that is fraud, that is 8 defrauding creditors or potential creditors.

9 The third thing is, on his loan application
10 to CitiBank Mr. Wheeler put down that he had income 11 of $90,000 a month, a month, and his income tax 12 return clearly shows he had far, far less.

13 He also on that same loan application stated
14 that the property known as South Causeway belonged 15 to him, he listed it as his personal asset, and 16 this of course, Your Honor, is highly irregular and 17 so we believe that you have the discretion and that 18 you should allow us to call this witness because 19 Mr. Wheeler is going to testify and he is going to 20 put his credibility at issue and we believe that 21 there is substantial evidence here that would allow 22 you in applying Rule 608 and in Rule 405, Rule 23 405(B) says in cases in which character or trait of 24 character of a person is an essential element of a 25 charge, a claim or defense, proof may be made in

1 specific instances of that person's conduct.

2 We believe these items, Your Honor, are 3 probative of Mr. Wheeler's unlawful conduct, and we 4 have a federal statute, Your Honor, that is also 5 involved in this and that is a statute that we used 6 in our cross-examination of, I'm going to hand this 7 up, let the record show a copy of 18 United States 8 Code, Section 1014, is being handed up to the 9 Court. This is a federal statute that makes it 10 criminal to make any false statement for the 11 purpose of influencing in any way the action of any 12 institution the accounts of which are insured by 13 the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and we 14 represent the CitiBank is such an FDIC insured 15 corporation. It is a felony and we believe that 16 Mr. Williams has analyzed sufficiently what was 17 done and is in a position to state that that 18 falsification of a loan application was evidence to 19 prove his credibility, his character and his 20 routine practice as well. So, under Rule 405, Rule 21 608, Rule 406 and Rule 404(B) we believe that this 22 evidence should be allowed.

23 Thank you.

24 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, very quickly, and 25 there are a number of issues that need to be

1 addressed and first and foremost it is important to 2 realize Will Darwin Wheeler is not only not a party
3 to this case, he is not a member of South Causeway, 4 LLC, okay?

5 THE COURT: Let me ask this, get this 6 question addressed. Any witness who takes the 7 witness stand is subject to having their character 8 attacked.

9 MR. GODDARD: I agree with that, Your Honor, 10 but there are relevance issues in this case.

11 THE COURT: Right.

12 MR. GODDARD: There is very large prejudicial 13 issues in this case and then we have to go directly 14 to what the rules allow, okay?

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. GODDARD: 608(B), there is nothing in 17 608(B) that ever allows another witness to come in 18 and testify as to the alleged bad acts. What it 19 does say is specific instances of conduct for the 20 purposes of attacking or supporting the credibility 21 other than a conviction or fine may not be proved 22 by extrinsic evidence. They may, however, at the 23 discretion of the Court, excuse me, if probative of 24 truthfulness or untruthfulness, be inquired into on 25 cross-examination of the witness concerning the

1 witness' character for truthfulness or concerning 2 the character, truthfulness or untruthfulness.

3 So, the ability to call someone else to come 4 in to testify as to the specific bad acts under 5 608(B) is specifically not allowed. What else is 6 not allowed under 608(B) is to come in and to use 7 extrinsic evidence, and that is exactly what they 8 are doing here, they are saying, they are going to 9 try and show CitiBank, an unrelated bank, in their 10 documents, that he made false statements, okay?
11 And then they are trying to go on to say in 404, 12 405, I'm sorry -- well, first of all I think it is 13 most important under 404, evidence of a person's 14 character or traits of character is not admissible 15 for purposes of previous action therewith, except 16 as to 607, 608, 609.

17 607, who may impeach. Certainly they may 18 impeach him. 608 is the exact issue, that we're 19 able to come in to say, and what is important 20 608(A) dealing with the opinion or reputation 21 evidence, there is nothing in the case, and the 22 case law is clear on this what you have to have to 23 have reputation evidence, okay, he doesn't have 24 that, he is not locally from the community, he has 25 no direct interaction with her and he can't offer

1 that opinion testimony.

2 What it comes to, 608(B) specifically in no 3 way allows you to introduce someone else and in 4 fact it specifically says it may not be proved by 5 extrinsic evidence. So, all he can then fall back 6 on is 605, I'm sorry, 405, method of proving 7 character.

8 In cases in which the character or trait of 9 the character of a person is an essential element 10 of a charge, claim or defense proof may be admitted 11 of specific instances of that person's conduct.
12 They cannot show it is an essential element of 13 anything in this case. He is not a party, so how 14 they show it is an essential element? The only 15 thing, yes, while I agree with Your Honor, they can 16 question his credibility and they can try because 17 he is testifying, or if he testifies, they can't 18 get into specific instances of conduct and they 19 certainly can't use Terry Williams' testimony to do 20 so.

21 THE COURT: All right. 608(B) does state if 22 probative of truthfulness or untruthfulness the 23 witness may testify on cross-examination concerning 24 the character of truthfulness or untruthfulness or 25 concerning character for truthfulness or

1 untruthfulness by another witness as to which 2 character the witness being cross examined has 3 testified.

4 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I think just for 5 the Court's information, since we're putting 6 everything out there, it is also important that 7 their own expert testify that the personal assets 8 of this individual were not considered in making 9 this loan, and why is that important? Because it 10 goes directly to relevance. Their expert, Mr.
11 Williams, in his testimony, and I cited it in my 12 brief, his quote was, he testified that personal 13 income of Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and Darwin Wheeler 14 were not considered by the plaintiff for repayment 15 of the loan in question.

16 They are trying to get into information that 17 is not even relevant to the case and if admitted 18 would be highly prejudicial, and why it would be 19 prejudicial is because it is allowing him to make 20 his opinion of the law as to, that there were 21 fraudulent, what he couched as fraudulent tax 22 returns, and what we will tell you is there was 23 significant factual issues that we have to address 24 and will prolong this case even longer to show that 25 his inconsistencies are just that, he doesn't know

1 all the information because it wasn't relevant for 2 him and it wasn't relevant to introduce that.

3 My main point I will give you is they are 4 talking about Darwin Wheeler including property on 5 a financial statement, Your Honor. He once was an 6 owner of this property. Until this loan was done 7 South Causeway was not formed, it is not even 8 proper for him to try and put that on an asset 9 statement until such time and even all that being 10 said, Your Honor, it still goes back to, there is 11 not a rule that they are allowed to use this person 12 to testify, there is no, just because he is a so 13 called expert doesn't allow him to come in and use 14 extrensic evidence and there is not one bit of 15 evidence he is going to be able to show that is not 16 extrensic, source of income, it is all outside the 17 scope of this case, outside the scope of this, it 18 is all directly from other cases. And what they 19 don't have, Your Honor, and this is even additional 20 information, they don't have somebody from CitiBank 21 here, they don't have somebody to authenticate all 22 those records, they don't have any of that and what 23 that does is, it is all hearsay at that point 24 anyway, they don't, those documents and 25 interactions with CitiBank, they can't testify to.

1 MR. COLLINS: Judge, we'll have Will Darwin
2 Wheeler to authenticate his own financial 3 statements because he signed them, we'll have him 4 authenticate it. And Rule 608, Your Honor, gives 5 us discretion. If you read that specific instances 6 of conduct section, 608(B), you have the discretion 7 and we're asking you to exercise your discretion.

8 He mentioned testimony about some other 9 witnesses. Mr. Lyerly was deposed in this case and 10 Mr. Lyerly testified that the financial statements 11 of Miss Cribb and Mr. Wheeler, the two personal 12 guarantors of this loan, were certainly relevant to 13 their decision to make this loan and they made 14 financial statement misrepresentations of the 15 assets of the guarantors on the financial 16 statements. We think assets is a very relevant 17 aspect of this loan and we believe we should be 18 allowed to show this, otherwise the jury will not 19 be able to see, as they are entitled to see, who 20 was wearing the white hat, who is telling the 21 truth, who did things by the rules, who fudged and 22 misrepresented. We would like to have the jury see 23 the full manifestation of what has transpired, what 24 the credibility of Mr. Wheeler is and what the 25 credibility of Miss Cribb is, and we think it is in

1 your discretion to allow that, especially since 2 they are going to be testifying, we believe, and 3 they will be subject to cross-examination.

4 THE COURT: Well, but that is what the rule 5 states, the rule states subject to 6 cross-examination, if the Court, in the discretion
7 of the Court you can cross-examine the witness.
8 What you're proposing to do is to put up a separate 9 witness to testify about this person's character.

10 MR. COLLINS: Well, yes, sir, that's true but 11 we think this witness is necessary because these 12 transactions on these tax returns, here is an asset 13 that shows up on the financial statement, it gets 14 sold, there is a $300,000 profit made by Miss Cribb 15 and it is nowhere to be found on her tax return.
16 Now, that's State versus Wilder, that is the kind 17 of evidence that was being offered in that case to 18 impeach an eyewitness and the Court of Appeals said 19 it should have been allowed, and the only way we 20 can get that sorted out is through the use of Mr.
21 Williams.

22 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I think it is 23 important to go back to 608(B) which he just said 24 gave you the discretion. Your discretion per the 25 rule is to allow cross-examination if probative and

1 if it survives the 403 motion, which is 2 prejudicial, and I would say, and there is case law 3 that is out there that says, and I think it is 4 important to realize every case that they can cite 5 under 608(B) or under 405, it is all criminal 6 cases, Your Honor. This case right here goes to 7 criminal cases, and why is that important? Because 8 it goes to the credibility of the witnesses. That 9 is an essential element of the charge.

10 THE COURT: 608 isn't a criminal rule of 11 evidence, it is a rule of evidence in criminal and 12 civil cases and it goes to character. I realize 13 they are citing criminal cases but the rule is just 14 as applicable in civil cases.

15 MR. GODDARD: And I understand but what I'm 16 saying is the credibility of Darwin Wheeler, and 17 let me go further and say, if it is relevant when 18 he is up there, then it is clear it is highly 19 prejudicial to try and argue, as he was trying to 20 do, "Well, you made these false tax returns without 21 any other good faith basis or good faith proof to 22 do that." He is doing it based on this opinion.
23 The fraudulent tax returns have to go in front of a 24 judge, and under a beyond a reasonable doubt 25 standard to prove and to let them get up there and

1 just try and say this is inconsistency, therefore 2 it allows you to make that jump that it was a 3 fraudulent tax return is incorrect. These are all 4 issues and what I will tell the Court, if necessary
5 we can have an expert come in and testify that X, Y
6 and Z were not inconsistencies, there was a good 7 faith belief and reason why these were done, these 8 were not personally prepared by them, they hired an 9 accountant to come in and do these. The person who 10 signed the tax returns was the accountant, Your 11 Honor. The issues he is talking about, and some of 12 the issues that Mr. Williams addressed are issues 13 that there is a gray area in the tax law, one of 14 the inconsistencies he said was how to treat the 15 interest income expense --

16 THE COURT: Here is an example, let me tell 17 you what is not gray. If I tell you I own a beach 18 house on Pawley's Island and I don't, that's not 19 gray. If Mr. Wheeler submitted a personal income 20 statement and listed that he owned a piece of 21 property on there that he did not own that's not 22 gray.

23 But here is what I'm saying. I agree with 24 most of what you're saying, Mr. Collins, but I'm 25 not going to let you put this witness up there just

1 to start going through all this stuff, forensic 2 accounting, "And I saw this discrepancy and that 3 discrepancy and this and that and the other." That 4 is completely inappropriate but I am going to allow 5 on cross-examination you to be able to ask the 6 witness with regard to whether or not he listed 7 property on a personal income statement that he 8 didn't own.

9 MR. GODDARD: And, Your Honor, my only 10 response to that, I certainly understand that, I 11 certainly agree and that is what the, the ruling, 12 as long as Mr. Collins understands that after he 13 asks that question he cannot go further and try and 14 prove through the introduction of extrinsic
15 evidence --

16 THE COURT: No, but what he can do, and again
17 I hate to keep using Mr. Wheeler as an example 18 because he is an actual witness in this case and I 19 like to use a hypothetical, but if a witness takes 20 the stand and the cross-examining lawyer knows that 21 X, Y and Z, that he did X, Y and Z and he asks him 22 about it and he says, "No, I did not," then I think 23 that they can call a witness to rebutt that. If he 24 asks a witness on cross about, "Did you in fact do 25 X, Y and Z," of course those have to be asked,

1 there's got to be a good faith basis for that being 2 asked, but if he has a good faith basis of asking 3 that question and the witness denies it he then can 4 call a witness to rebutt that denial.

5 MR. COLLINS: Judge, let me put your mind at 6 ease here about whether we have a good faith basis.
7 Mr. Williams is a Certified Public Accountant, he 8 has nine years experience with the Internal Revenue 9 Service, he has been qualified as an expert 10 forensic accountant on a number of occasions and he 11 has, he has done extensive review of the financial 12 statements, the loan applications and the tax 13 returns and he has a very detailed analysis upon 14 which he can say there was a willful, deliberate 15 failure to list reportable income, in his opinion.
16 There was factual misrepresentation about assets, 17 in his opinion. And I believe that we can 18 certainly show you instances, as the word is used 19 in Wilder versus State, we don't have to show 20 convictions, Your Honor, we may show instances, and 21 Mr. Williams, we believe, will give you testimony 22 of instances, and we understand your ruling, only 23 if Mr. Wheeler under oath denies that he did that,
24 would we be allowed to call Mr. Williams to rebutt 25 that but we are prepared to proceed in that

1 fashion, Your Honor, thank you.

2 THE COURT: All right, sir. So, let it be 3 made clear. Any witness that takes the stand is 4 going to be subject to having their credibility 5 brought into issue but it will be done pursuant to 6 the rules and it will be done pursuant to, you 7 know, whether or not the probative value outweighs 8 any prejudicial effect. So, I'm not going to allow 9 Mr. Williams just to, in the plaintiff's case in 10 chief, just to take the stand and start rattling 11 off all these issues but, I mean, it just remains 12 to be seen. I have no idea whether Mr. Wheeler is 13 going to take the stand and if he does, what he is 14 even going to testify to.

15 MR. GODDARD: Thank you, Your Honor. Our 16 position is, in light of your ruling, just for the 17 record, that we still believe even in the event 18 that he does testify that the introduction of 19 extrensic evidence to prove that bad act or prior 20 bad act would be improper but we understand your 21 ruling.

22 THE COURT: And I'm not going to allow it, in 23 other words, on the front end. I mean, if a 24 witness, any witness gets up here and is asked,
25 "Did you do X, Y and Z," and he goes, "I did,"

1 well, that is the end of that, then we move on.

2 MR. GODDARD: And, Your Honor, I just want to 3 be clear with the Court's ruling that any, any 4 attack on his credibility could only be done based 5 on a cross-examination after he had testified in 6 the case in chief.

7 THE COURT: That's correct.

8 MR. GODDARD: Thank you, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: All right.

10 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, I believe the next 11 item, we already have your ruling on this about 12 financial statements because that is what we were 13 talking about in this long exchange about Terry
14 Williams.

15 The last thing I believe on his motion in 16 limine is the testimony of Tammy Marrow. Miss 17 Marrow is a real estate agent, she is in the 18 community, she knows Miss Cribb very well, she is 19 prepared to come to court, Your Honor, and say that 20 she knows her, knows her reputation in the 21 community, that that reputation is bad and that she 22 would not believe Miss Cribb under oath.

23 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, our position on 24 this is that we do not believe Miss Marrow meets 25 the standard to be able to testify as to her

1 reputation. In the interrogatory responses which 2 lists her as a potential witness there is a long 3 length of her reasoning for being involved or 4 having a reputation in this case, and what is 5 involved is the purchase of the piece of property 6 that we're here for today, but what is important to 7 understand is her only involvement was she was a 8 buyer's agent, okay, and she had a conflict with 9 the broker and that case went to litigation and she 10 thinks or has some indication that Miss Peggy 11 Wheeler-Cribb was in some way behind her not being 12 paid her one percent commission, or 10 percent 13 commission.

14 MR. COLLINS: 10 percent.

15 MR. GODDARD: 10 percent commission, I'm 16 sorry. It doesn't change the matter. And we will 17 present to Your Honor she had no control over that 18 and she in no way could have had control over that, 19 she didn't have the listing agreement and she 20 wasn't involved in the listing agreement that was 21 in question.

22 MR. COLLINS: Judge, all this has to do with 23 cross-examination.

24 THE COURT: That is what I was starting to 25 say. I mean, if they've got, if they've got a

1 witness who takes the stand and the proper 2 foundation is laid, then that witness can testify 3 and of course that witness is wide open to 4 cross-examination.

5 MR. GODDARD: And I just want to be clear in 6 your ruling that her testimony will be limited per 7 the rule to only stating that she does not have, 8 she believes she is untruthful and would not be 9 believed and she cannot get into the specific 10 facts.

11 THE COURT: We're not going into a bunch of 12 details about what he or she did.

13 MR. GODDARD: I just want to be clear that 14 they are calling Miss Marrow which then under the 15 rules opens the door for us to attempt to bolster 16 by truthfulness of testimony, by other witnesses in 17 rebuttal.

18 THE COURT: Absolutely.

19 MR. COLLINS: Judge, they have listed no such 20 witness.

21 THE COURT: Well, I mean, if they don't have 22 the witness listed, I just called out the witnesses 23 earlier today to the jury, we went over that, those 24 are the witnesses in the case. You have witnesses 25 I haven't put in front of the jury?

1 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, if it is a rebuttal
2 witness to something they raised, then I believe 3 we're entitled to call reply witnesses.

4 MR. COLLINS: Judge, they go first.

5 MS. BYRD: No, we don't go first. You go 6 first, you're the plaintiff.

7 MR. COLLINS: I thought we had a discussion
8 in chambers that you would take the foreclosure 9 action under advisement as a matter of law.

10 THE COURT: That is at the end of the trial.

11 MR. GODDARD: At the end of the trial.

12 THE COURT: That is at the end of the trial.

13 MS. BYRD: You open up with your foreclosure, 14 then we put up our defense and counter-claim then 15 it would be your turn to defend those 16 counter-claims.

17 THE COURT: We'll address that issue.

18 MR. COLLINS: So, you would have us in the 19 morning start off with our case in chief on the 20 foreclosure?

21 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

22 MR. GODDARD: Thank you, Your Honor, for your 23 ruling on that.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. COLLINS: I believe we're done, Judge.

1 MR. GODDARD: Nothing further from the
2 defendant --

3 THE COURT: Go ahead, I apologize, go ahead, 4 sir.

5 MR. GODDARD: Nothing further from the 6 defendant.

7 THE COURT: All right. Now, at 9:30 the jury 8 will be here, we'll get started at that point and 9 as you said, Mr. Collins, we'll start with the 10 plaintiff's case and we'll go from there.

11 This is just, I throw it out there now, don't 12 worry about it tonight but just over the next day 13 or so if you have specific requests to charge that 14 you want me to consider I would prefer it, if you 15 can do it, is to have maybe someone from your 16 office, whatever, email those to us but if they do 17 that please have them email it in Word format and 18 not in a PDF file. It just helps us when we're 19 away from home and we don't have a secretary to 20 help us to cut and paste because between me and 21 Brian we type about eight words a minute, it would 22 take awhile to put together a jury charge.

23 MR. FLOYD: Yes, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. GODDARD: Thank you, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: All right we'll reconvene at 9:30
2 and get started.

3 MR. GODDARD: Thank you, Your Honor.

4 MS. BYRD: Thank you.

VOLUME II of VI
September 19, 2012

1 (Reconvened 9:40 a.m., September 19, 2012.)

2 THE COURT: Good morning, everybody, have a 3 seat.

4 I have just been informed we have all jurors.
5 Anything we need to take up?

6 MR. COLLINS: We have one thing. We have 7 some enlargements of some of the exhibits which 8 will be coming into evidence and I would like to 9 use them in my opening statement. For example, 10 portions of the affidavit given by Peggy 11 Wheeler-Cribb in opposition to our motion for 12 summary judgment, I would like to be able use them 13 in opening statement if I may.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Any problem with that?

15 MS. BYRD: No objection, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Thank you. That will be fine.
17 Anything from the defense before we begin?

18 MS. BYRD: No, sir, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: All right. Well, let's get our 20 jury out out here and get started.

21 (The jury returned to the courtroom).

22 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, do you allow jurors
23 to take notes?

24 THE COURT: Well, step up here real quick.

25 (Unrecorded bench conference).

1 THE COURT: Good morning, ladies and 2 gentlemen. I hope everyone had a good evening, got 3 a lot of rest and ready to go to work today. We're 4 about ready to get started here. What I want to do 5 before I address you is get you to give your 6 attention to Madam Clerk. She is going to place 7 you under your oath for jurors for your role as 8 jurors in this case.

9 THE CLERK: Please stand and raise your right 10 hand.

11 (Jury sworn).

12 THE CLERK: Thank you. You may be seated.

13 THE COURT: Ladies and gentlemen, we're about 14 to begin the trial of the case, you heard the 15 caption yesterday, it is First South Bank versus 16 South Causeway, LLC. Now, before we begin this 17 trial I want to tell you that this trial may be 18 very different from what you may expect and the 19 reason for that is not because of the particular 20 parties involved in this case. The reason for that 21 is that most people don't have, have never had the 22 opportunity that you're getting this week, and that 23 is to sit in on an actual jury trial. Most folks' 24 experience regarding jury trials is what they have 25 seen on television, what they have read in books or

1 what they have seen in the movies, and as we all
2 know those trials are always filled with high drama
3 and intense action and riveting circumstances. You 4 wouldn't watch it if they weren't, because that is 5 Hollywood, those trials are there to entertain you.

6 Now, during the course of this trial, while 7 any number of those things may occur, what is 8 important for you to understand is that this trial
9 is not for your entertainment. This trial is a 10 fundamental part of our democracy. It is a search 11 for the truth in an effort to make sure that 12 justice is done between the parties that appear 13 before the Court.

14 Searching for the truth and making sure that 15 justice is done oftentimes can be slow, very 16 deliberate, sometimes repetitive. In other words, 17 very different from what you may have seen on 18 television, read in books or seen in the movies.

19 This courtroom is a place of honor that is 20 dedicated to the protection and to the preservation 21 of citizens' rights through what many have called 22 the greatest justice system ever created. The 23 attorneys that appear before you ladies and 24 gentlemen are advocates for the parties that they 25 represent but first and foremost they are officers

1 of the court, sworn to uphold the integrity and the 2 fairness of our judicial system and to help you in 3 your search for the truth. You should expect them 4 to be professional, competent and ethical in their 5 representation of their clients' interests.

6 Remember, now, that you have just taken an 7 oath to try this case and to reach a fair and a 8 just verdict and so you are also expected to be 9 professional, reasonable and ethical in the 10 performance of your duties, which I have absolutely 11 no doubt you will do and I want to take this 12 opportunity to thank you for your contribution this 13 week to our system of justice here in Georgetown 14 and South Carolina.

15 What I'm going to share with you right now, 16 ladies and gentlemen, is meant to serve as an 17 introduction to the trial of the case. This is not 18 a charge on the law. I will in fact give you 19 instructions on the law at the end of the trial 20 before you begin your deliberations. But what I'm 21 going to do now is basically go through the 22 procedures that we're going to follow so that you 23 can better understand what is taking place as the 24 trial proceeds.

25 You have been selected as fair and impartial

1 jurors whose purpose it is to find and to determine 2 the facts of this case. If at anytime I make any 3 comment regarding the facts you must disregard 4 those comments. You are to determine the facts of 5 this case from the testimony that you hear and from 6 any other evidence that may be introduced during 7 the course of this trial. You should not be 8 influenced by any opinions or statements that you 9 may have heard outside this courtroom. It is 10 especially important that you perform your duty of 11 determining the facts diligently and 12 conscientiously because ordinarily there is no way 13 that we can correct an erroneous determination of 14 fact by a jury. When you comply with your oath to 15 impartially determine the facts of this case you 16 will have fulfilled your duty as jurors and no one 17 will have any right to criticize your verdict, 18 whatever it may be.

19 Now, on the other hand but with equal 20 emphasis the same law that makes you the judges of 21 the facts makes me the judge of the law. The law 22 as given by the Court is the only law that you may 23 consider and you must accept it and you must follow 24 it even though you may disagree with it.

25 I'm not allowed, ladies and gentlemen, to

1 tell you what I think about the facts of this case 2 or anything about the facts of this case and you on 3 the other hand are not allowed to disagree with me 4 about what the law is or what you think the law 5 should be. Your duty and your job is to take the 6 facts as you found them from the evidence, from 7 witnesses and anything else that is introduced 8 during the course of this trial and the law as I 9 give it to you, apply the law to those facts as you 10 find those facts to be and arrive at your verdict.

11 Now, until I tell you to begin your 12 deliberations, as I told you yesterday, you are not 13 to have any conversation with anyone about this 14 case and that includes even amongs yourselves.
15 From time to time we will take breaks and you'll be 16 back in the jury room. During those times please 17 keep in mind your instruction you are not to have 18 any conversation about the case. I will let you 19 know when it is time for you to have deliberations 20 and discussions but until that time please do not 21 have any discussions with anyone.

22 Now, in just a moment the attorneys are going 23 to have an opportunity to address you with what we 24 call opening statements. Ladies and gentlemen, 25 basically the opening statement is an attorney's

1 opportunity to explain to you what they believe the 2 issues are in this case. It is important that you 3 listen to them and give them your undivided
4 attention but it is also equally important that you 5 understand this. What the attorneys tell you in 6 their opening statements is not evidence. It is 7 merely their contention as to what they believe the 8 evidence in this case will show. The evidence in 9 this case is going to be presented to you from 10 witnesses who are placed under oath and take the 11 witness stand and then any other exhibits or items 12 that may come into the case during the course of 13 the trial.

14 From time to time during the trial, ladies 15 and gentlemen, you may hear one of the attorneys 16 say something along these lines, "Judge, excuse me, 17 we've got a matter of law we need to take up with 18 the Court," or, "Your Honor, may we approach the 19 bench?" During those times, ladies and gentlemen, 20 I may ask you, and it depends on the situation, but 21 I may ask you to retire to your jury room to allow 22 me to address the attorneys on a matter of law. If 23 I ask you to step out the only reason I'm asking 24 you to do that is simply this.

25 Oftentimes when I'm dealing with the lawyers

1 regarding a matter of law it requires me to make 2 some comment about the facts in relationship to a 3 ruling that I'm required to make and, as I told you 4 earlier, you are the judges of the facts of this 5 case and I'm not to influence you in any way with 6 regard to your duty as the trier of fact, so to 7 protect you from those comments I may ask you to 8 step into the jury room so that I can discuss 9 freely with the attorneys a matter of law and not 10 influence you in your role as the fact finders.

11 The facts in this case, ladies and gentlemen, 12 are to be determined by you and only by you. As I 13 told you earlier, if I make any comment about the 14 facts which I don't believe I have ever done that 15 but if I ever did you must disregard my comment 16 because only you the jury are allowed to determine 17 the facts of this case.

18 Now, in determining what the facts are in 19 this case you're going to have to decide whether or 20 not the testimony of witnesses is believable. It 21 is going to be my responsibility to rule as a 22 matter of law whether certain testimony is allowed 23 into this trial at all or not but once testimony is 24 allowed into this case, whether or not you believe 25 it is going to be solely up to you to decide.

1 In deciding whether to believe a witness you 2 have the right to consider whether the witness has 3 an interest in the result of the trial, whether the 4 witness is prejudiced toward one side or the other, 5 the opportunity for the witness to have seen the 6 matters about which that witness testifies, the way 7 the witness acted on the witness stand. You have 8 the right, ladies and gentlemen, to consider 9 anything that is in this record that will help you 10 in judging the credibility and the believability of 11 witnesses. That is why it is important that you 12 give close attention to the witnesses, pay close 13 attention to the attorneys and to the Court. Try 14 not to let your thoughts wander but pay close 15 attention to everything that goes on so that at the 16 end of the day when it is time for you to 17 deliberate you have heard all the testimony, you 18 have heard all the evidence, you will have heard 19 from the attorneys and I will give you the law and 20 you will then be in a position to go back to the 21 jury room and deliberate and arrive at a verdict.

22 Now, during the course of this trial, ladies 23 and gentlemen, I leave this completely up to you as 24 individual jurors, if you want to take notes let us 25 know, we'll provide a pad and paper and pencil if

1 you choose to want to do that, or you can choose
2 not to do that and just listen to the testimony. I
3 leave that up to you as individuals. Some of you 4 may choose to do that, some of you may not, none of 5 you may do it, all of you may do it, it doesn't 6 matter to me. I just wanted you to know if you 7 chose to do that or would like to do that we'll 8 make that available to you. Okay?

9 Now I'm about to turn it over to the 10 attorneys for their opening remarks. Again I ask 11 you to give them your undivided attention as they 12 address you with their opening remarks but before I 13 do that let me first inquire of the plaintiff are 14 there any exceptions or objections to the Court's 15 opening remarks?

16 MR. COLLINS: No, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Anything from the defense?

18 MS. BYRD: No, sir, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: All right, thank you very much.

20 Ladies and gentlemen, now if you will please 21 give the attorneys your undivided attention.

22 Mr. Collins.

23 MR. COLLINS: May it please the Court?

24 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

25 MR. COLLINS: Good morning, ladies and

1 gentlemen. This is my first opportunity to try a 2 case in your beautiful new courthouse, I know you 3 are proud of it, it is one of the nicest, maybe 4 even the nicest courthouse of any county in South 5 Carolina. Winston Churchill once said first we 6 shape our buildings and then they shape us, and 7 this building certainly has the ability to shape 8 our perception about our jury system and about 9 government in general.

10 I represent First South Bank, I'm proud to 11 tell you that. The president of First South Bank 12 is Mr. Chip Lyerly, W. C. Lyerly but he goes by 13 Chip. He and I are friends, we are in the same 14 Rotary Club, I have known him for years.

15 Seated behind him on the first row is Mr.
16 Wayne Lovelace. He is also an officer with First 17 South Bank and he will be a witness in this trial, 18 probably Mr. Lyerly will, too. We want you to know 19 who they are.

20 Seated with me at counsel table are, first of 21 all Lee Floyd of my office, and Don Tyler, Jr., 22 from the law firm of Tyler-Cassell.

23 We will be this morning in opening statement 24 trying to give you a heads up to help you 25 understand this case. I was very glad to hear

1 Judge Russo remind you there is a big difference
2 between the way trials go on TV and the way they go 3 in real life. You watch a trial on TV and the 4 lawyer stands up, he gives a closing argument about 5 90 seconds long and that's it and people say, 6 "Well, good."

7 Well, that is entertaining and it is nice but 8 that is not the way it can work. It is my job to 9 give you a preview of this trial and I liken it to 10 the way my grandchildren come over and do a jigsaw 11 puzzle. They put all the pieces down there on the 12 table and then they put the box up there with the 13 lid that shows the picture. You've got to have 14 that up there in order to find out or figure out 15 where the pieces go, don't you? And an opening 16 sort of serves that same purpose in a jury trial.
17 That is a way for you to understand and fit those 18 pieces where they go when you hear them from the 19 witness stand.

20 Now, back in the year 2007 Mr. Lovelace who 21 has worked for another bank, First Palmetto Bank, 22 and who had a relationship with Mrs. Peggy
23 Wheeler-Cribb, she's the lady in the purple top 24 over here, and her son Darwin Wheeler, he is back 25 on the back row in the white shirt, he had a

1 relationship with them, he had done transactions 2 with them. Well, he came over and started work for 3 First South Bank.

4 By the way, I meant to tell you a little bit
5 more about First South Bank. They are a state 6 chartered bank, they are a small community bank 7 headquartered in Spartanburg, South Carolina with 8 branch offices in Greenville, Columbia and Bluffton.
9 It is a relatively small bank. Back in 2008 when 10 you heard about the big bank bailout First South 11 Bank didn't get a cent of that money. Those big 12 banks like Wachovia and Bank of America were bailed 13 out because they were involved in these risky 14 banking practices such as credit default swaps and 15 mortgage backed securities and things like that.
16 First South Bank never did do that, never has done 17 that, they are a bank that operates in the 18 traditional way, they loan money to people, they 19 service that loan themselves and they build 20 relationships with customers by giving them good 21 service.

22 When Mr. Lovelace came over he approached
23 Miss Cribb and said, "Would you like to let us work 24 with you, we can refinance for you that large tract 25 of land you recently bought on Highway 17," which 1 is referred to as the South Causeway property.

2 They discussed this and made a decision to do that 3 and started off with a smaller loan, $550,000, made 4 by First South Bank to South Causeway and it was 5 secured by a beach house owned by Mr. Darwin
6 Wheeler. It is called lot 4 of 334 Myrtle Avenue.
7 That is a big issue in this case, is whether the 8 bank did something wrong with regard to that piece 9 of collateral. That $550,000 loan was designed to 10 help them get started with infrastructure at this 11 19 acre tract of land along Highway 17.

12 Infrastructure means water and sewer, roads,
13 curbing. Things like that, that is infrastructure.

14 Well, there came a time when they decided to 15 refinance the whole thing with First South and they 16 did. There was a commitment letter sent out, and 17 you are going to see this document, it will be 18 presented in our case in chief. This commitment 19 letter sets out what the bank expects and requires,
20 and Miss Cribb got this letter in early June, well 21 before the June 25, 2008, closing. She was able to 22 study it, she sent an email saying, "Darwin and I 23 have been over this letter back and forth many 24 times, we have some questions."

25 You're going to see an email that she sent to 1 Mr. Lovelace asking certain questions. And one of 2 them was, "Why do we have to pledge lot 4 of 334

3 Myrtle Avenue as collateral for this loan, why 4 can't it just be the 19 acres?" And he patiently 5 wrote back and explained to her why that lot needed 6 to be at least for a time pledged as collateral for 7 this loan.

8 You're going to hear from the plaintiffs that 9 was grossly unfair, it was a big surprise, they 10 didn't know anything about it. Absolutely not so.
11 There was a discussion about it, there was email 12 exchange about it. When they came to the closing 13 it was listed as a collateral, as part of the 14 collateral for the loan, absolutely clear that that 15 was discussed and disclosed and which you have 16 allegations there was a big switch-a-roo done at 17 the closing to require that as additional 18 collateral I am sure the evidence you see will help 19 you understand and realize that that is just not 20 so.

21 Then there came a time in April of 2009 when 22 Miss Cribb and her son needed more financing, 23 needed more money and they were not able to borrow 24 any money from First South Bank. First South said, 25 "Listen, we have loaned you as much money as we're

1 comfortable loaning you and we just can't loan you 2 any more," so they hired this broker, I think he is 3 Mr. Motoene, to help them line up a lender, and an 4 outfit called Kennedy Funding up in New Jersey 5 comes in.

6 Well, in order for them to make the Kennedy
7 Funding loan they needed some collateral and so 8 First South Bank made a modification agreement with 9 them. You are going to see this agreement. It is 10 all laid out, they said, "We're going to release 11 lot 4 on this beach lot, beach property so you will 12 have some collateral to borrow money from Kennedy 13 Funding."

14 I forgot to tell you the amount. The first 15 South Bank loan that was closed in 2008, it was up 16 to 6.5 million, up to 6.5 million. Now, what was 17 that for? That was to pay off the big mortgage at 18 First Palmetto Bank and to generate other funds 19 that would be used for development and to fund an 20 interest reserve account. This is traditionally 21 done on a commercial loan, part of the loan 22 proceeds go into a special account to pay the 23 interest as the loan rolls along. This is a 24 routine thing that is done.

25 But this modification agreement in 2009 freed

1 up that beach lot so they could go to Kennedy
2 Funding and get some more financing. You are going 3 to hear allegations that was not properly done, 4 that somehow that was unfair to Miss Cribb and her 5 company called South Causeway, LLC, and part of 6 what is at issue in this case is whether or not 7 there was anything wrong with that.

8 You will see the documentation, you will see 9 it is clearly outlined, you will see that they made 10 a choice in connection with that loan, which was 11 option two presented to them, and option two meant, 12 "In exchange for us releasing this lot you need to 13 accelerate the due date of your loan," the due 14 date, maturity of this loan, and they went with 15 that option. It is all documented in emails, you 16 will see they elected to make that accelerated date 17 and therefore net a little bit more of the proceeds 18 from the Kennedy Funding loan.

19 So then the maturity date comes in July of 20 2010. They don't have the money, they can't 21 refinance, and I bet you know why, because what 22 happened in this country starting at about 2008 a 23 great recession descended upon us, didn't it?
24 First South Bank didn't cause that, Miss Cribb 25 didn't cause that. Nobody in this room caused

1 that. The economy is a complicated thing but 2 values started falling and people with assets such 3 as undeveloped real property had a big change of 4 circumstances. Prior to the time that all this 5 occurred Miss Wheeler-Cribb had opportunities
6 galore to sell this property. We're going to show, 7 I think she will admit all this, we won't have to 8 spend a whole lot of time on it, I'm just going to 9 tell you about a few of them.

10 In April of 2006 Crescent Retail offered her
11 $11,500,000. She turned it down.

12 In April of 2006 Hughes Commercial Properties 13 offered her 9,000,000, she turned it down. She 14 would have made a fortune had she accepted that 15 offer.

16 Skipping over a number of others, in April of 17 2008 Ravenell Development Corporation offered her 18 $9,500 an acre, excuse me, $9,500,000 for 13.74
19 acres.

20 In July of 2008, before the collapse of the 21 market, Lincoln Harris offered her $12,170,250.
22 She turned it down.

23 In March of 2009 Lumberton Ventures offered 24 her $9,550,000. She turned it down.

25 Interface Properties, Inc., in June, 2009,

1 offered her $10,000,000. She turned it down.

2 Now, that property, we have a photograph of 3 it, there's a sign on that property, you probably 4 pass by it, offering that property for sale for 5 seven and a half million, and now this. They will 6 only pay an agent three percent commission, that is 7 well below the market of ten percent.

8 Now, Miss Cribb and her company South
9 Causeway, LLC, still owns it, nothing the bank has 10 done has changed that fact, she still owns that 11 land and she could have had it listed with some big 12 real estate company. The bank has encouraged her a 13 number of times to do some things that would help 14 her along with this investment. They recommended 15 that she associate a developer that they knew who 16 is also a customer of their bank but they say, "Oh, 17 you tried to interfere with our business, you're 18 trying to meddle with our corporate affairs."

19 Well, the bank was doing what they should do 20 to protect their interest, their investment, 21 because after all they have loaned all this money.
22 She has not listed it with a national real estate 23 agency that we know of, there is no advertising 24 going on, there is nothing really being done in a 25 prudent way to sell this land.

1 So, we bring a foreclosure lawsuit in August 2 of 2010. Foreclosure lawsuits, ladies and 3 gentlemen, normally happen quickly, they normally 4 to the judge, or in this case, in the case of 5 Georgetown County you have a standing Master in 6 Equity named Joe Crosby. He takes the foreclosures 7 and processes them quickly, the bank receives the 8 collateral back, they are able to advertise it and 9 sell it, and that is the way foreclosures work.
10 Routinely that is the way they work.

11 But this isn't one that happened routinely 12 like that because after the bank brought its 13 mortgage foreclosure action Miss Cribb switched 14 lawyers, hired a new law firm, the law firm of 15 Turner Padgett where Miss Byrd and these other 16 lawyers work and they filed an amended answer, an 17 earlier answer had already been filed, they filed 18 an amended answer and counter-claim and 19 counter-claim with a demand for a jury trial.

20 Now, in the loan instrument they signed back 21 in 2008 there is a clause in there, you will see, 22 that says the borrower waives a jury trial. That 23 is routine in mortgages. But in this answer and 24 counter-claim she demanded a jury trial. You know 25 what that means? That slows things way down. Here

1 we are over two years later just finally getting to 2 this case. One way to buy time in a foreclosure 3 case is, it seems, is file a counter-claim, demand 4 a jury trial and see if the economy rebounds in the 5 meantime.

6 So, we get this lengthy document, answer and 7 counter-claim, and I'm going to tell you just a few 8 of the things that are in here but it is a doozy.
9 First they say, the first thing say, which is very 10 important, is this. They don't deny the note and 11 the mortgage are legally binding documents. They 12 simply say these are legal transaction documents 13 which speak for themselves and should be 14 interpreted by the Court.

15 So, nowhere in their answer do they say wait 16 a minute, that is not a valid note and mortgage.
17 They don't say that but they do go on to say later 18 on in their pleadings that the bank breached the 19 contract. Let me find it here. They say the bank 20 breached the contract because of some of the things 21 they did and they say that there was a freezing of 22 the loan.

23 Well, that is not a term bankers use, that 24 is not a term Mr. Chip Lyerly ever used, that is 25 not a term that Mr. Lovelace ever uses. They have

1 made it clear that they never froze that loan but 2 they did say, as per the loan document, "In order 3 for you to get more loan proceeds from this up to 4 six and a half million dollar loan you've got to 5 meet certain requirements." That is routine. You
6 can't just say please send me another check. There 7 were benchmarks, milestone requirements. You've 8 got to show you've got the zoning done correctly, 9 you have to show infrastructure is in place, you 10 have to show various things are done before you get 11 any more loan proceeds.

12 Furthermore, they never applied for any more 13 loan proceeds but in this pleading they filed they 14 make the wild claim, the unsubstantiated claim that 15 the bank froze the loan.

16 Here are all the defenses they allege. That 17 the bank is guilty of unclean hands, that the bank 18 should not be able to foreclose because of estoppel 19 and Laches. Estoppel means you have done something 20 that destroys your right to proceed. Laches is a 21 defense that says you have sat on your rights, you 22 saw the stalled process, you didn't act 23 appropriately.

24 We will show that the loan matured in July of 25 2010, foreclosure was brought in August of 2010,

1 how can you say Laches applies because the bank 2 didn't act properly? They say that the bank has 3 waived its rights and therefore may not recover.
4 Well, you will be the ones to decide if the bank 5 has waived its rights. I think you will find that 6 the bank has acted appropriately, fairly, promptly 7 in the handling of this matter.

8 Then they say that the bank failed to 9 mitigate its damages. In other words, the bank 10 didn't do what they could have done to minimize the 11 damages. That is another thing you will decide.
12 We say the bank did all the appropriate things that 13 they could do and acted promptly to enforce their 14 rights and therefore it cannot be said to have 15 failed to mitigate their damages.

16 Then they say for a sixth defense the bank 17 has not sustained any damages and therefore may not 18 recover on its claims. If you loan millions of 19 dollars to somebody and they don't pay it back how 20 can you say there is no damages?

21 Then they say for a seventh defense that the 22 bank is guilty of in pari delicto. That is a Latin 23 phrase which simply means criminal wrongdoing, that 24 the bank has done something so wrong that they 25 should not be able to foreclose. You will be the 1 ones to decide that. We respectfully submit to you 2 that it is absolutely untrue.

3 Then they say as an additional defense that 4 the bank has condoned, acquiesced and ratified, the 5 plaintiff's claims, if any, are barred by 6 condonation acquiescence and ratification.
7 Condonation means you condone this. Well, you're 8 not going to see any documentation or evidence that 9 the bank has condoned them not paying back their 10 loan. You are not going to see any evidence that 11 the bank acquiesced or went along with them not 12 paying back their loan and you are not going to see 13 any documentation that the bank ratified their 14 action in not paying the loan. These are 15 concoctions.

16 Then they say, another defense is there is a 17 lack of consideration, plaintiff's claims, that is 18 the bank, are barred because the mortgages and 19 loans are unenforceable for lack of consideration.
20 That means you didn't pay any money. Well, you're 21 going to see for yourself the bank did, they paid
22 off that prior loan at First Palmetto, they wrote 23 checks at the closing, that is consideration.
24 You're going to find and you're going to see for 25 yourself that indeed there was consideration.

1 And then they say for a ninth defense that 2 there was an agreement made and that the terms of 3 the parties' agreement and loan documents bar the 4 bank from recovery. The terms of the note and 5 mortgage established clear rights for the bank and 6 the bank is clearly allowed to enforce those 7 rights.

8 Now, let me interrupt my little recitation of 9 these defenses and tell you something here. You 10 are going to see in a few minutes in a Power Point 11 presentation done by my ace partner Lee Floyd all 12 these documents, we're going to try to streamline 13 it and make it go quickly, and you will see it on 14 your screen and you're going to see some clauses in 15 there. For example, you're going to see a clause 16 in the loan commitment and in the note and mortgage 17 that allows the bank to be protected by reliance on 18 the documents that are reduced to writing.

19 It says essentially this. "No oral side 20 agreements are allowed." You can't sign a note and 21 mortgage, clearly obligate yourself, and say, "Wait 22 a minute, I had an agreement with Wayne Lovelace, 23 he told me we would do this and that is the deal." 24 The law says whatever your agreement is it has to 25 be reduced to writing. We argue that they

1 shouldn't be able to come in here with all these 2 oral agreements but the Court has decided that they 3 are going to be able to present all that to you,
4 they are going to be able to tell you such things 5 as, "Wayne Lovelace told me we wouldn't have to put 6 up that lot 4, that beach lot as collateral."

7 It is clearly in there in writing but they 8 are going to testify, "Oh, he said you don't have 9 to do that." We believe that shouldn't even be a 10 part of this case because the document they signed 11 says everything has to be in writing.

12 Then there is another document that we have 13 to rely on that has to do with that modification 14 agreement I told you about. That modification 15 agreement has in it a clause that constitutes a 16 release, okay? In other words, in order to make 17 that loan the bank required Miss Cribb to say this.
18 "Look, we've got a new deal going here and you need 19 to clearly release us of any claim you have about 20 anything we did or failed to do up to that time," 21 and she did, she signed it but now today she says, 22 "Wait a minute, I got tricked again, I came to that 23 closing, I was under duress and I signed that thing 24 but I'm not bound by that."

25 Well, we think she ought to be but the Court

1 has said you the jury are going to have to decide 2 whether or not those clauses required everything to 3 be in writing and that release of April 2010 is 4 enforceable. You are going to get to hear every 5 bit of the stuff that they have said that they have 6 come up with to support their counter-claims.

7 Let's go back to the answer. The last one I 8 said, told you about was the ninth defense where 9 they say the bank can't recover because of the 10 terms of the agreement. Nothing could be further 11 from the truth, ladies and gentlemen.

12 For a tenth defense, excuse me, for an 13 eleventh defense they say there was fraud in the 14 inducement, the bank fraudulently induced them to 15 enter into this mortgage. Wayne Lovelace and Chip 16 Lyerly are going to tell you about their extensive 17 experience in banks and both of them are going to 18 look you in the eye and say, "I have never been 19 accused of that in my life until this."

20 Bankers don't build businesses and 21 reputations by defrauding their customers. These 22 men did not commit any fraud. I believe you will 23 conclude at the end of this trial there was no 24 fraud in the inducement that caused these loans to 25 be made.

1 And then the twelfth defense is 2 unconscionability. They say this note and mortgage 3 can't be enforced because it is unconscionable.
4 Unconscionable means it is just offensive to the 5 conscience to think that people should be held to 6 the terms of a mortgage.

7 Well, ladies and gentlemen, banks make dreams 8 come true. Who do you know that hadn't had to 9 borrow money to buy a car or buy a house or go to 10 college or start a business or grow their business?
11 The difference between the United States of America 12 and a lot of third world countries is this. We 13 have banks. We have banks that help people do 14 things they otherwise never could have done. How 15 can it be unconscionable for a bank to loan money 16 and if they are not repaid, to foreclose on the 17 collateral, how can that be unconscionable?

18 And then here is the one I alluded to 19 earlier. They claim as a thirteenth defense that 20 these loan documents were procured while the 21 defendant, that would be Miss Cribb, was under 22 duress caused by the plaintiff. She showed up for 23 the closing, found out things she didn't like, they 24 claim lot 4 shouldn't have been collateral but she 25 had to close the loan because she's under duress,

1 she did it, but now she says, "Because of that 2 duress which you created you can't foreclose on me, 3 your note and mortgage are invalid."

4 Essentially, ladies and gentlemen, here is 5 what she's asking you to do. She's asking you, 6 after you hear all the evidence in this case, to 7 say, "Okay, you can't foreclose on the note and 8 mortgage, I own that property over there free and 9 clear, and not only that, you've got to pay me 10 millions of dollars in damages under my 11 counter-claims." That's what she thinks, thinks 12 you ought to do for her in this trial.

13 The next defense they plead is reservation
14 and nonwaiver of additional defenses, which means, 15 "If we come up with something else we're going to 16 allege that, too." About the only thing we don't 17 see is the kitchen sink defense in this answer.

18 Now let's go over here to the counter-claims.
19 They say that they get, that Miss Cribb and her 20 company South Causeway get to recover money from 21 the bank because the bank breached its contract.
22 Well, you are going to see the evidence and we are 23 going to, I believe, have an easy time showing that 24 the bank did exactly what it can do, should do, is 25 authorized to do, what every bank does.

1 You know, there have been a lot of 2 foreclosures down here along the coast in recent 3 years after the economy collapsed, you know, there 4 have been, unfortunately, unfortunately for Miss 5 Cribb her property is not worth as much as it was 6 before. You see where she's advertising it for 7 sale for seven and a half million, that is probably 8 a pie in the sky number, too. She hadn't gotten 9 any offers lately, at least we haven't heard of 10 any.

11 But she says the bank breached its contract 12 and then she says not only did the bank breach its 13 contract but it did so with fraudulent acts, and 14 there is a laundry list of things in here that they 15 say are fraudulent acts, such as First South Bank
16 said it would support South Causeway in its effort 17 to develop the property and would see the 18 development through to its completion.

19 Well, first of all that is an oral 20 representation, it never was made but if it was it 21 is something that was done orally, which shouldn't 22 even be in evidence, and that certainly wouldn't be 23 fraud.

24 They say First South Bank committed a 25 fraudulent act of advising them they would not

1 leave South Causeway without financial means to 2 complete the development of the property. How many 3 banks do you know that would go to a borrower and 4 say, "Look, we're going to let you use as much 5 money as you want and if you tell us you need more 6 money we're going to give it to you and we're going 7 to be obligated to you from now on and whatever you 8 say goes"? How many people think that is the way
9 banks operate or could operate? I won't read you 10 all these things they say were fraudulent acts but 11 I respectfully submit to you that they are 12 concoctions and untrue allegations.

13 The next thing they allege as a third
14 counter-claim is that the bank has violated a South
15 Carolina law known as the Unfair Trade Practices 16 Act, okay? And they say, under that heading they 17 say the actions of First South Bank are unfair in 18 that they are offensive to public policy, immoral, 19 unethical and oppressive. And they say this is an 20 unfair trade practice and that they should 21 therefore be given an award of damages, and under 22 that statute if you prove unfair trade practices 23 you can triple your damages plus attorneys fees.
24 That is what they want you to do, they want you to 25 find unfair trade practices here so they can have

1 this enormous windfall of recovery.

2 They allege in a fourth counter-claim that 3 the bank breached its fiduciary duty. Well, banks
4 owe no fiduciary duty to their customers. A 5 fiduciary duty is like the duty owed by a trustee
6 to a trust. These are very special relationships, 7 fiduciary duties. A customer of a bank and a bank 8 do not have a fiduciary relationship in our 9 judgment, and of course the Court will tell you 10 more about that.

11 And then they claim as a nineteenth defense 12 and fifth counter-claim that once again there was 13 fraud, constructive fraud and misrepresentation.
14 And they go on to say in a twentieth defense and 15 sixth counter-claim that the bank tortuously 16 interfered with the contract. Tort is a word we 17 use a lot, it means a wrong. You hit somebody in a 18 wreck, that's a tort, that is a wrong for which 19 there is a right to recover.

20 A tortuous interference with a contract, what 21 do they mean by that? I will tell you exactly.
22 Miss Cribb reached the point where she said, "I 23 think I'm going to auction off this property." She 24 had turned down all the big offers she had gotten 25 in the past, she decided that the best thing to do

1 was to action it off. The bank said they didn't 2 think that was a good idea, it is best to list it 3 with a real estate company and approach it that 4 way. People who buy at an auction are bottom 5 fishermen that are looking to buy something low 6 ball.

7 They proceeded with this auction and they 8 wanted to auction off parcels of land, not the 9 whole thing. They wanted to either sell the whole 10 thing or parcels and the bank said, "No, we're not 11 going to do that. We're not going to let you sell 12 off a parcel of this land and release that land 13 from the mortgage because we might be left with the 14 rest of the land that is not nearly as valuable."

15 For example, the land fronting Highway 17 is 16 going to be a whole lot more valuable than the land 17 in the back, so they made it clear they weren't 18 going to do partial releases. They also made it 19 clear they weren't going to renew this loan past 20 its renewal date because they were very 21 uncomfortable with the very poor judgment they saw 22 being exercised by Miss Cribb turning down all 23 these offers so they said, "We're not going to 24 renew this loan and we're not going to give you 25 partial releases."

1 Well, the action company didn't know about 2 the partial release so Mr. Lovelace contacted Mr.
3 Thomas with the auction company and said, "I need
4 to let you know something. We have made a decision 5 not to renew this loan and we have already told 6 Miss Cribb that we're not going to do a partial 7 release."

8 Miss Cribb says, "Oh, that's terrible, you 9 can't do that to me." Well, the bank had an 10 absolute right to do that and we have experts who 11 are going to testify in this case. Mr. Barksdale, 12 you see him right there with the yellow tie, he's 13 an expert that they hired and we asked him at his 14 deposition -- you know what a deposition is. You 15 sit down with a witness under oath, ask them 16 questions and they give answers. "Mr. Barksdale, 17 is there anything wrong with the bank telling the 18 auction company about this decision they had made 19 not to give partial releases?" He said, "No, 20 that's fine."

21 In fact Miss Cribb should hve told them that, 22 she shouldn't have had them operating under some 23 misunderstanding. So, the very allegation in this 24 complaint and counter-claim, I went through it with 25 Mr. Barksdale just like I have gone through it with

1 you, I asked him, "Is there anything to this, do 2 you see any evidence to support this defense?" He 3 told us in his deposition that every one of these 4 defenses was unfounded and every one of these 5 counter-claims was unfounded. And he will testify, 6 and if he doesn't we'll read you his deposition, 7 but he also said that he knew of nothing that would 8 cause this note and mortgage to be unenforceable.

9 Not only did they allege in their 10 counter-claim tortuous interference with contracts, 11 they said there was tortuous interference with 12 prospective contracts. That is, contracts that 13 might be entered into in the future.

14 Well, ladies and gentlemen, there are a 15 number of things you're not going to hear. Let's 16 talk about them. You're not going to hear anybody 17 come in here and say, "I was interested in bidding 18 at the auction sale, I was thinking about going and 19 bidding but when I found out about Mr. Lovelace 20 calling Mr. Thomas I changed my mind." You're not 21 going to hear that. In fact you're going to hear 22 Mr. Thomas say, "After I learned that from Mr.
23 Lovelace, that the bank wasn't going to renew and 24 wasn't going to take partial releases I didn't tell 25 anybody, I didn't think it was appropriate for me

1 to share that with anybody so I didn't tell 2 anybody."

3 So, there has been nothing done. Even if 4 that was wrong, which it wasn't, but even if he had 5 told others, and he didn't, there wouldn't be 6 anything wrong because that was the bank's right, 7 that was their choice not to take partial releases
8 and not to renew this loan. So, you're not going 9 to hear from a bidder who says, "I would have bid 10 that property in at the action sale." You're not 11 going to hear from anybody, from a company called 12 Lincoln-Harris -- let me tell you about that.

13 That is a company up in Charlotte,
14 Lincoln-Harris, that is one of the ones I read you 15 earlier made an offer, Lincoln-Harris. They became 16 interested in buying the note. Banks can sell 17 notes, they are negotiable instruments. If you 18 have ever read a promissory note it says pay to the 19 order of the bank. That makes it negotiable. That 20 bank or that holder of that note can sell that note 21 to anybody they want to, you don't have the right 22 to keep them from doing that.

23 In fact, banks can sell notes and mortgages
24 on property without even telling the people who own 25 the property. That's the way finance works.

1 Lincoln-Harris expressed an interest in buying this 2 note. They went to see First South Bank, they met
3 with Mr. Lyerly, they signed a confidentiality 4 agreement, they were shown documents from the file, 5 they elected not to buy the note but when Miss 6 Cribb found out about that she just blew up and 7 said, "You invaded my privacy, you did something 8 terribly wrong."

9 Well, no, they didn't. There is no law that 10 makes confidentiality apply to a commercial loan.
11 Now, admittedly there is a loan, consumer product 12 law that makes that privacy requirement for an 13 individual loan. For example, your credit card 14 company has an obligation to maintain some 15 confidentiality but in a commercial setting there 16 is no privacy requirement.

17 Lincoln-Harris had perfect right to go in and 18 look at those documents to make a decision whether 19 they were going to buy that note. But more 20 importantly, Lincoln-Harris didn't do anything 21 unfair or improper with that information. You're 22 not going to hear anybody from Lincoln-Harris come 23 in here and say, "Well, let me tell you about the 24 big headstart or advantage we had by going up there 25 and seeing all that documentation at First South

1 Bank." Nothing, nothing like that. Banks get to 2 show prospective note purchasers the file so they 3 can evaluate whether or not to buy the note.

4 You won't hear anything from a man named 5 Charles McCollum that supports the wild claim by 6 Miss Cribb that somehow there was an effort being 7 made by First South Bank to steer this property
8 into Mr. McCollum's hand. Mr. McCollum is a real 9 estate developer, a successful, reputable real 10 estate developer. He lives in Columbia but he also 11 has a home I think down here in Georgetown County, 12 might be DeBordeux, somewhere like that.

13 Mr. McCollum was hired by Lincoln-Harris as 14 an agent for them, he was assisting them. Mr.
15 Lyerly and Mr. Lovelace at one time said, "You 16 know, Miss Cribb, you might want to engage the 17 services of an experienced developer, we know one, 18 Mr. McCollum."

19 Well, she didn't hire him. He didn't try to 20 have the property steered his way. He is going to 21 testify, he is going to say, "I did absolutely 22 nothing like that and the bank did nothing to try 23 to encourage me or assist me along, there was no
24 advantage given to me, I didn't ask Wayne Lovelace 25 to steer this property in my direction."

1 Bear this in mind, ladies and gentlemen. If 2 Lincoln-Harris wants this land they can buy it from 3 South Causeway, they can buy it this morning, Miss 4 Cribb and her company still own it. Just as they 5 owned it the day they bought it, they still own 6 that property, they can sell it to anybody they 7 want to but instead of negotiating with these 8 companies that made these offers in the past Miss 9 Cribb was very rude to them, she stiff armed them
10 and recently when Lincoln-Harris made another 11 offer, a much lower offer, I think I told you about 12 it, something around four and a half million 13 dollars, her reply to them was, "I'm not even going 14 to dignify this offer with a reply offer, a 15 counter-offer," but you know real estate deals are 16 often made with negotiation, you know, an asking 17 price, an offer, another back and forth. People 18 arrive at a selling prices oftentimes through 19 negotiation but she was unwilling to even respond 20 to that.

21 You're not going to hear anybody come in here 22 and testify that they have done a calculation and 23 they have concluded that South Causeway has 24 suffered damages because of anything First South 25 Bank did or failed to do. You would be required to 1 have evidence like that in order for you to return

2 a verdict in favor of South Causeway.

3 There was another outfit involved for a time
4 and that is Lowe's Foods. There were negotiations 5 going on between Miss Cribb and Lowe's Foods. That 6 is a big food chain, Lowe's Foods was interested in 7 coming in and possibly being an anchor tenant in a 8 shopping center by building on that property. They 9 went back and forth. Then when the economy 10 collapsed Lowe's Foods lost interest, 11 understandably.

12 Miss Cribb may come in here and say to you 13 that somehow or other Lowe's Foods' deal was 14 interfered with by First South Bank but you won't 15 hear anybody from Lowe's Foods come in and say 16 anything to corroborate that, to substantiate that.
17 Nothing like that is going to come out.

18 Ladies and gentlemen, we're also going to 19 have evidence to submit to you to show you that Mr.
20 Wheeler and Miss Cribb are not credible people.
21 We're going to have evidence to show you that they 22 have been deceitful and dishonest. I'm not going 23 to go into the details of that right now because 24 I'm sure there are going to be big legal fights 25 about it, but we're prepared to show you that Mr.

1 Wheeler and Miss Cribb have been deceitful and 2 dishonest, and why would we do that? So you can 3 figure out for yourselves who's credible and who is 4 telling the truth..

5 One of the things that His Honor told you in 6 his opening remarks was your job is to decide 7 credibility. You get the best seat in the house, 8 the witness testifies right there. You have been 9 judging people's credibility all your life, haven't 10 you? We all do. We all have our own ways of 11 sorting out who is tell the truth and who is not, 12 and one of the strengths of the jury system is the 13 collective wisdom of twelve people who have no 14 stake in the outcome, no enemies to punish, no 15 friends to reward, are going to make the decision 16 and you get to decide, ladies and gentlemen, who's 17 credible, who is telling the truth, and we believe 18 therefore our evidence that shows the deceitfulness 19 of these people is properly presented to help you 20 along in that decision.

21 We believe that you will conclude that these 22 defenses and counter-claims were contrived, 23 designed to buy time, that they are not 24 substantial, that they are not true, that they are 25 not provable and we believe that when you come into

1 this jury service bringing your common sense with 2 you as you do you won't have a difficult time at 3 all sorting out where the truth lies in this case.

4 Bear in mind the defendant South Causeway has 5 the burden of proof and when it comes to proving 6 fraud His Honor is going to tell you they must 7 prove fraud by clear and convincing evidence, a 8 heightened burden of proof, and we believe that 9 when you hear the evidence in this case and 10 consider the credibility of these parties you won't 11 have any trouble at all concluding that South 12 Causeway is not entitled to recover.

13 This is a plat of that beachfront property 14 that corresponds to the house that sits on that 15 property where Mr. Wheeler and Miss Cribb live, 16 oceanfront property, there it is. It has to do 17 with that, you know, mortgaged property, this is on 18 Pawley's Island.

19 And we have another thing that bears on the 20 credibility here, and that is the affidavit Miss 21 Cribb gave at an earlier time in this lawsuit.
22 Miss Cribb was facing a motion for summary 23 judgment. A summary judgment is a stage in a legal 24 proceeding where one party says to the Court, 25 "Look, there are no genuine issues of material fact

1 here and we don't need a long drawn out process of 2 a jury trial, you should decide this as a matter of 3 law because there are no genuine issues of material 4 fact." Miss Cribb gave an affidavit in response to 5 that motion, in which she was trying to create some 6 genuine issues of material fact and in that 7 affidavit she said First South Bank scheduled the 8 closing June, 2008, that they sent documents 9 electronically by email and, "After reviewing the 10 documents I found the mortgage included additional 11 property owned by my son. I told Mr. Lovelace that 12 I object to including the additional property and 13 Mr. Lovelace assured me this would be corrected."

14 Well, there is that oral evidence. You see, 15 this is Miss Cribb saying unilaterally, it was 16 never reduced to writing, "During the closing my 17 son and I discovered that Lovelace had not 18 corrected the note and in order to close my son had 19 to agree to mortgage his individual property as 20 security for the loan. At that point we felt we 21 had no other choice since the First Palmetto loan 22 was coming due and Lovelace assured us that First 23 South Bank would see the development through to its 24 conclusion. Reluctantly we agreed to close."

25 Okay. She said, "My son and I discovered."

1 You're going to see, ladies and gentlemen, that in 2 the documentation that was exchanged, well before 3 that closing Miss Cribb was explained exactly the 4 fact that beach lot had to be included. She sent 5 an email to Mr. Lovelace saying, "If we understand 6 the wording of this, it is not acceptable, we'll in 7 no way secure this loan with our beach house and 8 lot."

9 His answer was, "It was never our intention 10 to make as part of our collateral package any 11 properties other than the 19.22 acres that is South 12 Causeway property and lot 4 at Myrtle Avenue.
13 Further, the reason for including lot 4 simply is 14 the fact we do not have a current appraisal upon 15 which to make a decision as to how much to allocate 16 toward our initial planned closing. The statutory 17 advance against unimproved property is 65 percent 18 of the appraised value of the real estate being 19 purchased or financed and a maximum of 75 percent 20 against the total value of the proposed property.
21 In the absence of a current land appraisal we 22 wanted to make sure we're sufficiently secured in 23 the event the property appraised for less."

24 He goes on to say, "As to a proposed release 25 later on of this lot 4, your understanding is

1 correct. Subject to the maximum advance
2 requirements stated above, once we receive a copy 3 of the engineers' certificate evidencing that all 4 the infrastructure improvements have been installed
5 and the development is complete and in compliance 6 with all applicable zoning requirements or we have 7 been furnished a final copy of a signed lease
8 between you and Lowe's Foods our collateral 9 interest in lot 4 will terminate and our mortgage 10 will be released."

11 Ladies and gentlemen, this makes it clear we 12 do expect and require lot 4 to be part of the 13 collateral of this loan. She knew all about that 14 but yet she comes up with this affidavit making 15 claim that she and her son discovered at the 16 closing that lot 4 would have to be part of the 17 collateral.

18 There are some other things in her affidavit 19 that are just absolutely not true, I won't take 20 time to show you all of it. The original of these, 21 these are just enlargements I have had done.

22 The issue about whether or not Miss Cribb was 23 represented by counsel is another issue in the 24 case. She says that as to that closing that 25 occurred, that modification agreement in April,

1 2010, she didn't even have a lawyer but we have 2 email exchanges that show she clearly did have a 3 lawyer and that lawyer, Mr. Gwin, acknowledged that 4 he represented Miss Cribb. We sent a document to 5 them in the discovery process, "We want you to 6 admit that the attorney, you had ample opportunity 7 to confer with a lawyer before you signed this 8 modification agreement and that you were 9 represented by a lawyer." And she wrote back, her 10 lawyer wrote back and said, "We admit that." But 11 that doesn't keep her from today coming in and 12 saying, "I didn't have a lawyer." She did have a 13 lawyer, she had a lawyer, Mr. Gwin, in 2008 at the 14 closing, she had a lawyer Mr. Gwin in 2010 when she 15 did the modification.

16 Here is her affidavit. This contention about 17 conversation that Mr. Lovelace had with Mr. Don 18 Thomas of the Vintage Real Estate, that is the 19 company that was going to do the action. "Lovelace 20 told Thomas the property could not be subdivided 21 and sold in lots, thereby limiting the options. As 22 a result we were forced to change the terms of our 23 auction agreement. Instead of subdividing the 24 lots, we were forced to set the reserves for all 25 four lots at the same price. The original auction

1 contract which was produced during the deposition 2 of Thomas clearly shows the initial reserves that 3 we set in the professional judgment of our agent 4 were marked out and reserve prices were all equal 5 of four million, was substituted for the original 6 amount set by us. 4,800,000 was the amount due on 7 the First South mortgage at the time, it is now 8 higher than that due to the accrual of interest.
9 Lovelace compromised our bargaining position with 10 intent to purchase by revealing confidential
11 information to Thomas which we had made a 12 deliberate decision not to disclose to anyone.
13 That is to say the amount due on the mortgage."
14 Totally made that up, okay?

15 First of all both the experts that that 16 testify in this case are going to tell you, the 17 gentleman to the right over here with a yellow tie 18 is another expert, both of them will tell you Mr.
19 Lovelace did nothing whatsoever wrong in telling 20 Mr. Thomas the situation about that property but 21 they say that he interfered with their opportunity, 22 "Compromised our bargaining position with potential 23 purchasers."

24 You are not going to hear any potential 25 purchaser come in here and testify, not one is

1 going to say, "Yes, you know, I probably did have a 2 huge advantage because of what I learned." Nothing 3 like that occurred, this is all made up to create 4 the impression that the bank did something wrong
5 that prejudiced Miss Cribb, somehow prejudiced Miss 6 Cribb. The contention is, "How much we owed on 7 that lot to First South Bank, how much was owed to 8 the bank was a big secret and we don't want anybody 9 to know that because that would create some 10 disadvantage to us."

11 So, you saw where it said, "We had made a 12 deliberate decision not to tell anybody how much 13 our mortgage balance was." Well, look here. Here 14 is an email from Mr. Wheeler and he sent this 15 before that auction, as I recall, he says, this is 16 to Wheeler-Cribb, Will Wheeler, that is Darwin, 17 from Darwin Wheeler, Wheeler-Cribb is his mother, 18 that is a copy to robbieinpawley's@AOA.com, that is 19 Robbie Buice. "Mom is waiting on an answer from 20 our banker approving your part. If we go with you 21 I want to stay with the same price and five percent 22 commission, six months term will be fine and we are 23 interested in subdividing the property to help 24 facilitate a sale for purchaser. If we sell twelve 25 acres, we owe $5,000,000 on the tract." Okay? He

1 is telling Mr. Buice, who he hasn't even struck a 2 deal with yet, what the balance is on the loan. So 3 how can she say that there is some big deep dark 4 secret about how much she owes?

5 And you know what else, ladies and gentlemen, 6 if you know how to come to the courthouse and look 7 up the records you can look up somebody's mortgage 8 and if you know how to figure up the deed stamps, 9 you know, you can figure up what the price is 10 because it is based on the price, you can calculate 11 and learn really close to the net sum how much 12 somebody owes on a property. That is not a deep 13 dark secret and it is especially not a deep dark 14 secret on a commercial loan.

15 Ladies and gentlemen, I apologize for taking 16 so long but I believe it was necessary for me to go 17 over some of this stuff with you so that you can 18 understand as you hear the evidence come in where 19 the pieces of the puzzle fit and we respectfully 20 submit that after you hear the evidence and after 21 you evaluate the credibility of the witnesses this 22 is going to be one of the easiest cases for a jury 23 to decide I have ever tried in my 44 years of 24 practicing law. These defenses have no merit, the 25 note and mortgage are clearly enforceable, these

1 counter-claims are concocted, this is an elaborate 2 attempt to stall the process that ought to be and 3 normally is efficient and, ladies and gentlemen, 4 please bear in mind that when the day comes that 5 banks can't enforce their rights in Georgetown 6 County, when the day comes when jurors in 7 Georgetown County get so lost in the details, so 8 confused in what has been said that they destroy a 9 bank's right to foreclose on the property that they 10 have loaned money on and in fact expose themselves 11 to a huge judgment brought by an over reaching 12 property owner who counter-claims against them, 13 when that day comes there won't be any banks 14 willing to do business and loan money because only 15 if banks are secure in their collateral can they 16 continue to operate and do business. That is 17 common sense.

18 You've got common sense, you're the 19 conscience of the community. We respectfully 20 submit that when you hear the evidence in this case 21 you will all agree quickly that indeed these 22 defenses are unproven, these counter-claims are 23 unproven and that you should return a verdict for 24 First South Bank.

25 You will be given a verdict form, I believe

1 you will be asked to answer certain questions
2 instead of just voting for plaintiff or defendant.
3 You will be asked to fill out a form, His Honor 4 will give that to you and he will work and go over 5 it with you, he will help you understand it. If it
6 is done in time maybe I will be able to utilize it 7 when I address you again at the summation stage of 8 this trial.

9 We're going to start by presenting our 10 evidence of the note, mortgage and the loan 11 agreements, commitment letter and these kind of 12 things. These are the documents that are normally 13 only required in a foreclosure. We're going to 14 present that to you, His Honor is supposed to make 15 the decision about that, a foreclosure is an 16 equitable procedure that doesn't require a jury but 17 because there are these counter-claims and because 18 there was a jury demand you're going to hear next 19 from South Causeway and their lawyers. They are 20 going to present all their evidence. After they 21 present their evidence we get a chance to call 22 witnesses and present evidence to disprove or to 23 defend ourselves from these unwarranted but 24 nevertheless asserted counter-claims.

25 I hope what I have had to say has been

1 helpful to you. I thank you for your attention, we 2 appreciate your service in this case. It is said
3 that jury service is the highest peacetime service 4 a citizen can render his country and we thank you 5 for your time and attention.

6 Let me see if I have anything else I need to 7 add.

8 Thank you again.

9 THE COURT: Thank you, sir.

10 Miss Byrd.

11 MS. BYRD: May it please the Court?

12 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

13 MS. BYRD: Good morning, ladies and gentlemen
14 of the jury. Again I'm Audra Byrd and my firm 15 Turner Padget, including Mark Goddard and Carlyle 16 Cromer, represent the defendant in this lawsuit and 17 its sole member Miss Peggy Wheeler-Cribb. She is 18 here today and will be here throughout the trial.

19 Ladies and gentlemen, every contract or 20 agreement that is entered into in the State of 21 South Carolina, whether it is written or oral, 22 requires that the parties act in good faith and to 23 deal fairly with one another. The law also 24 requires that if a bank enters into an agreement 25 with its customers it is required to keep the 1 private information of its customer private and if 2 it fails to do so and it causes harm to their 3 customer then the bank is responsible for all harm

4 that it causes. It cannot blame its customer.

5 And I want to tell you the story of this 6 case. As Mr. Collins explained to you, Mr. , 7 Lovelace worked with First Palmetto Savings Bank
8 for awhile and during that time he developed a 9 close relationship with Miss Peggy Wheeler-Cribb
10 and her son Darwin and he was familiar with them 11 and their loans, including the loan that is the 12 subject of this case on 19 acres of commercial 13 property on South Causeway. He knew about the 14 loan, he knew it was a good loan, he will testify 15 it was a performing loan.

16 First South Bank, when he joined in 2007, 17 wanted that loan, they pursued that loan. Just 18 after Mr. Lovelace joined the bank he called Miss 19 Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and said, "Is there anything I 20 can do for you? I would love to be your banker, I 21 want to be your banker," and in April of 2008 Mr.
22 Lovelace and Mr. Lyerly, the president of the bank, 23 came down to Pawley's Island and took Miss Cribb 24 and her son to lunch, and that was a very important 25 meeting because two critical issues were discussed

1 at that meeting.

2 The first, Miss Peggy said, "I am not going 3 to move my loan to your bank unless you can promise 4 me that it will stand on its own." In other words, 5 "I'm not putting any other property in your bank 6 for this loan," and the reason she did that is 7 because she had worked for years and spent 8 unbelievable amount of time obtaining property from 9 loans that banks had required several pieces for 10 one loan and she didn't want that, she didn't want 11 to have one big loan that could tie up all her 12 property and it was most important in this case 13 because she knew that from the time development 14 started until the time it ended she was going to 15 need money and she needed those properties to 16 remain without a mortgage so that she could use 17 them to get a loan from some other banks, and the 18 bank, Mr. Lyerly and Mr. Lovelace, agreed to that.
19 They said that the South Causeway property would 20 stand on its own.

21 The second important issue that was talked 22 about during that meeting was the bank's 23 commitment. First South Bank told Miss Peggy and 24 her son that they would be with her through the 25 development of this property. She trusted them,

1 she believed them, she relied on them and as a
2 result she agreed to move her loan from First 3 Palmetto where it was current and performing, to 4 First South Bank and later, about a month or so
5 later, in May of 2008 First South Bank sent a 6 commitment letter to Miss Peggy and when she 7 reviewed it and saw it was totally different from 8 what they discussed, it included a mortgage on a 9 lot that was owned by her son.

10 Now, Mr. Collins showed you a picture of a 11 house, a beach house, and told you this is lot 4 12 that they were talking about. This is not lot 4.
13 This is not at issue in this case. Lot 4 doesn't 14 have any property on it. It is a bare lot.

15 In any event, the bank was going to require a 16 mortgage on that lot as well and when she received 17 that commitment letter she immediately called and 18 emailed Mr. Lovelace and said, "If I understand 19 what this letter says that is totally unacceptable, 20 we vowed we would never do that again and you 21 promised me that South Causeway would stand on its 22 own," and Wayne Lovelace told Miss Peggy that 23 before closing that would be fixed and that lot 24 would not be included in the loan documents.

25 When she got to closing a month later and

1 looked at the documents it was still there, the 2 bank was going to require a mortgage on that lot.
3 But Wayne Lovelace had an answer. He hand
4 delivered a letter to Miss Peggy at the closing 5 table that said, "Here are the conditions under 6 which we'll release your lot," he said, Miss Peggy 7 will testify, "It is just a formality," he will 8 testify that he did it as a way of comforting Miss 9 Peggy, and again she trusted him, she trusted the 10 bank, she relied on the bank and she signed.

11 Just over a month after this loan closed the 12 bank called Miss Peggy and told her that this loan 13 was terminated. You see, it was a development loan 14 and not all the money that was promised was 15 delivered at closing. There was still one and a 16 half million dollars that was left unadvanced that 17 the bank promised, funds to be used to develop the 18 property, and in just over a month they notified 19 her they were terminating it, no more money would 20 be forthcoming from the bank, and Miss Peggy didn't 21 understand why, because you will see the emails and 22 you will hear the testimony that she repeatedly 23 asked the bank, "Is there anything that we are not 24 doing under the loan, that we're supposed to be 25 doing?"

1 And you are going to hear Mr. Lovelace
2 testify the bank didn't respond, you're going to 3 hear him testify the reason they didn't respond it 4 is not their job, not their job to tell their 5 custmer what they're doing and not doing under the 6 loan documents.

7 So, they froze the loan. Any development 8 plans that Miss Peggy might have had for that 9 property was gone and in November of 2008 what Miss 10 Peggy feared the most is that she would need 11 additional funds came to past and she went to the 12 bank and she asked if they would be willing to make 13 her a loan on other property owned by her son and 14 the bank said, "We can't help you."

15 So she looked around for another bank and she 16 finally found one, Kennedy Funding, and Kennedy 17 Funding agreed to make Miss Peggy the loan that she 18 requested but they needed the collateral that was 19 being held by First South Bank, that lot, lot 4.
20 So Miss Peggy called Mr. Lovelace and emailed, you 21 will see the emails, and said, "You're not going, 22 you terminated my loan, you won't give me a loan on 23 other property but I found someone who will, will 24 you please release that lot?"

25 And the bank responded and said, "Yes, we'll

1 release the lot but you've got to give us 2 $500,000." So she worked with Kennedy Funding, she 3 proceeded with Kennedy Funding to get that loan and 4 as part of that process she was required to pay
5 Kennedy Funding $50,000 in nonrefundable
6 application fee, which she did, and after she paid 7 that First South Bank came back and said, "We'll 8 release the lot for $500,000 or we'll release it 9 for three but we're going to advance the maturity," 10 and Miss Peggy is not going to deny she received 11 that email, she will tell you she did but she 12 didn't understand the difference between the two 13 other than the money dollar figure so she chose the 14 $300,000 and when she read the agreement that First 15 South Bank sent down to be signed she realized what 16 they meant by advancing the maturity date.

17 They meant, "We're taking a year off your 18 loan, it is not going to be due in July of 2011
19 anymore, you have to, it is due in July, 2010."
20 And after she realized that she immediately began 21 to try and sell this property.

22 By the first of the year in 2010 she had 23 decided to conduct an auction and to do so she 24 hired Vintage Real Estate, Chuck Cooper and Don 25 Thomas, to help her develop this plan for the 1 auction and in their planning they decided that the 2 best way to sell this property would be to offer it 3 as a whole piece, all 19 acres, for seven million 4 dollars, which was sufficient to pay off First 5 South Bank, "Or we could subdivide it into smaller 6 parcels and we will set the prices of those parcels 7 based on their size and their location in the 8 larger piece," and again if added all up together 9 it was sufficient to pay off First South Bank.

10 And Miss Peggy communicated her plan to the 11 bank. Eighteen days before the auction Mr. Wayne 12 Lovelace called the auction company, Mr. Don 13 Thomas, and during that call Mr. Lovelace disclosed 14 to Mr. Thomas the exact amount that was owed on the 15 loan, that the bank would not be renewing this 16 loan, that the bank would not accept partial 17 payment and that the land could not be subdivided.

18 Mr. Thomas will appear before you and testify 19 that he has never in his career received a call 20 like that and that he was extremely uncomfortable 21 that the bank was calling him directly and giving 22 him what he considered and the experts will tell 23 you they consider and what Mr. Lovelace and Mr.
24 Lyerly will tell you they consider to be 25 confidential information.

1 As a result, the auction company and Miss
2 Peggy changed the prices on those four subdivided 3 lots so that they now all are going to be sold for 4 4.8 million dollars, which is what Mr. Lovelace 5 told Mr. Thomas was owed on the loan. They had an 6 auction where regardless of the size, whether it 7 was a three acre parcel or a seven acre parcel or 8 whether it was on the front of the property right 9 by the road or at the back of the property and not 10 visible, they were all going to be offered at 4.8 11 million dollars.

12 It doesn't make a lot of sense and Mr. Thomas 13 can tell you that. And obviously no sales were 14 made. Why would the bank do that? You might be 15 asking why would the bank do that. Well, the 16 reason is while Miss Peggy and her son and the 17 auction company were working hard to try to sell 18 this property the bank was working on its own deal.
19 It was negotiating to sell the loan and they 20 weren't going to sell the loan to another bank, 21 which happens all the time, they were selling it to 22 a development company Lincoln-Harris..

23 Lincoln-Harris is the same development 24 company that two years before had made an offer on 25 the property for twelve million dollars and when

1 Miss Peggy received that offer she forwarded it to 2 the bank, so the bank had it. They knew
3 Lincoln-Harris was not a potential loan sale 4 purchaser, they were trying to buy this property, 5 yet they proceeded and Lincoln-Harris said, "It 6 might be helpful to us, First South, if we come in 7 and look at your customer's bank file, we would 8 like to look at everything and, yes, we'll sign a 9 confidentiality agreement but we want to look at 10 all the documents," and they did.

11 But not only did Lincoln-Harris go in and 12 review all of the South Causeway's confidential 13 loan documents, at the same time they were telling 14 the bank, "We're meeting with county and city 15 officials about zoning and developing the property.
16 Not only that, we're talking to potential tenants," 17 and this is all happening while South Causeway, 18 Miss Peggy, still owns the property and is trying 19 to conduct an auction and in fact you will see an 20 email from Lincoln-Harris to Mr. Lysterly that says 21 this pending auction isn't helping.

22 Eventually the loan sale between First South 23 and Lincoln-Harris didn't go through. Instead, in 24 July, 2010, after they had reviewed all the 25 documents, all the confidential files,

1 Lincoln-Harris came back to Miss Wheeler-Cribb and 2 said we'll give you four million dollars, eight 3 million dollars less than what they had offered two 4 years before and the bank documents that we'll 5 present to you that you can read for yourself are 6 going to establish that the bank filed this 7 foreclosure action to force the borrower, Peggy 8 Wheeler-Cribb, to accept an offer. You will see 9 the documents.

10 In response we did file counter-claims and we 11 believe they have significant merit and the 12 evidence in this case is going to establish that 13 the bank did not treat these people fairly, they 14 didn't act in good faith, they did commit fraud.
15 Our expert will testify that the bank violated the 16 standard of care in the industry by revealing the 17 private confidential information of its borrower, 18 it violated the standard of care by not including 19 all the material terms in the loan commitment 20 letter, it violated the standard of care by 21 becoming involved in the business of South 22 Causeway. Banks aren't allowed to do that.

23 And our expert will testify that the bank 24 violated the standard of care in the industry by 25 terminating that loan only a month after it was

1 made. The evidence will show that the bank acted 2 unfairly and it continues even today as the bank 3 stood before you and accused their own borrower, 4 their own customer of being untruthful.

5 And we did ask for a jury trial and Mr.
6 Collins is right, most of the time banks do just 7 push through but in this case a judge four times, 8 four times they asked for you not to be allowed to 9 hear this evidence, four times, and every time the 10 judge decided we were entitled to have you the jury 11 hear these claims and determine them and we believe 12 and are confident that you will make the right 13 decision.

14 I have just given you a summary of the 15 testimony and the evidence that we will present to 16 you but you, in our great system of justice you and 17 you alone are the finders of fact, you get to 18 decide what the facts are and in that way you are 19 one of the most powerful people in the world. As a 20 member of this jury you are one of the most 21 powerful people in the world and that is why most 22 countries don't allow trial by jury but we're glad 23 you're here and we want to thank you in advance for 24 your attention to the documents and the evidence 25 and the testimony and we appreciate your service.

1 Thank you.

2 THE COURT: Thank you, ma'am. Let me have 3 you come up real quick and ask you something.

4 (Unrecorded bench conference).

5 THE COURT: Ladies and gentlemen, I'm going 6 to give you just a short break, about a ten minute 7 break right now before we get started with the 8 witness. We have some things that need to be set 9 up and everything like that, so we're going to take 10 that time. If you need anything while you're back 11 there just let us know, we've got drinks and snacks 12 or whatever.

13 Now you know more now than you knew yesterday 14 so it is important as you retire to your jury room 15 that you have no conversation about this case. You 16 can talk about anything else you would like to talk 17 about but don't talk about the case. We're going 18 to take a few minutes and get some things set up 19 and then we'll get started, okay? So if you would, 20 please retire to the jury room.

21 (The jury was excused from the courtroom).

22 THE COURT: All right, we'll just take a few 23 minutes and you all can set up whatever you need to 24 set up.

25 MS. BYRD: Thank you.

1 (Recessed at 11:14 a.m.).

2 (Resumed at 11:35 a.m.).

3 THE COURT: Anything we need to take up
4 before we bring the jury out?

5 MR. COLLINS: I would like to call the 6 Court's attention to the fact there is a juror on 7 the back row who appears to be sleeping. I don't 8 know, I wasn't watching him all the time but he 9 slept a right good bit and I would ask that the 10 Court pay, take note of him and --

11 THE COURT: I will mention something to them, 12 I won't embarrass him but I will mention something 13 to them when they come out.

14 MR. COLLINS: Thank you, and can the 15 notebooks be made available to the jurors?

16 BAILIFF: They've got them, the ones that 17 wanted them.

18 MR. FLOYD: One other thing, Your Honor. I
19 discussed this with opposing counsel a moment ago.
20 We have the original of the note and mortgage and 21 I'm going to ask judicial notice be taken of the 22 fact we have the originals and enter copies into 23 evidence rather than putting the actual originals 24 in.

25 THE COURT: Any objection to that?

1 MS. BYRD: No. We just want to see the 2 original note, that is all we want, and they can 3 put in a copy.

4 THE COURT: In other words, what we'll enter 5 into evidence is the copy but just so you can 6 review the original?

7 MR. COLLINS: Let her see it now, Lee.

8 THE COURT: If you all don't mind, and again
9 I don't want to, I mean, I will try to, I will try 10 to say it so that I don't make any disparaging 11 remarks about our case here today but I may try to 12 just let them know that, you know, anytime you have 13 a case that involves numbers and finances it can 14 get tiring mentally and so I'm going to maybe say 15 that and let them know that, "I need you to stay 16 alert, so if you feel like you're getting fatigued 17 you need to let me know so I can give you a break."

18 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, Mr. Tyler and I talked 19 about this, he said in other cases that the Court 20 would mark the originals just because it is a 21 negotiable instrument, if you would mark the 22 original with the civil action number and they will 23 retain it for their records but just so it can't be 24 the subject of another --

25 THE COURT: Sure, I don't have a problem, it

1 can be marked but what we'll actually put into the 2 clerk's file is a copy so that the bank can retain 3 the originals.

4 MR. FLOYD: Right. In other cases I have 5 had the judge would actually write on there, the 6 case caption number on there so if the note is sold 7 somebody is aware to come look and they don't think 8 they are a holder in due course. She's concerned 9 if we foreclose and have the original and it gets 10 in the wrong hand something could happen.

11 THE COURT: Do you want to just write the 12 case number?

13 MR. TYLER: "Subject property due to 14 foreclosure, and put the case number and that is 15 all.

16 THE COURT: All right.

17 (Unrecorded bench conference).

18 THE COURT: All right, are we ready now?
19 Anything from the plaintiff before we get started?

20 MR. COLLINS: No, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: The defense?

22 MS. BYRD: No, sir, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: All right. Ask the jury to come 24 in.

25 (The jury returned to the courtroom).

1 THE COURT: All right, ladies and gentlemen,
2 let me tell a couple things before we recognize Mr.
3 Collins for his first witness. I noticed when you 4 came in, let me just say this, please feel 5 comfortable, as you go in and out of the courtroom 6 to just let it flow naturally, there is no assigned 7 seating in the jury box other than the two 8 alternates and the foreperson. I will talk about 9 the foreperson in a little while but when we have 10 the foreperson, the foreperson will occupy this 11 first seat, the alternate will have those two 12 seats. Everyone else just feel free to sit 13 wherever you naturally flow in and out so that you 14 don't have to crawl over each other.

15 Now, I know we're creatures of habit, my wife 16 and I have been attending the same church for 17 fifteen years and we walk in church and if somebody 18 is sitting in our seat we look at somebody like, 19 "Oh, my goodness, what are we going to do now?" We 20 don't have assigned seating in church, we're just 21 used to sitting in the same spot.

22 If you have a place there in the jury box and 23 you're comfortable and you've got just a hankering 24 to sit in that chair I don't mind you doing that 25 but don't feel like you have to, okay? Flow in and 1 out, however you normally do.

2 The other thing I want to mention is this.
3 This type of case, obviously it is going to be 4 involving numbers, financial things, documents, 5 things that you don't normally, some of you may but 6 most people don't normally on a day to day basis 7 deal with and so it can be, it can be complicated 8 dealing with numbers, it can be mentally draining.
9 It is very important that you stay alert and you 10 pay attention to everything that's going on.

11 If you get fatigued mentally don't hesitate 12 to raise your hand or get my attention and let me 13 know and I will take a break. We'll take a break 14 anytime you need it, okay, because it is important 15 that you stay mentally alert and pay attention to 16 everything that is going on so that when the time 17 does come for you to deliberate you will have heard 18 everything and be able to digest everything, okay?

19 And like I said, they did have paper and 20 pencil available to you so those of you that want 21 to do that please feel free to do that.

22 So, having said those things, it is important 23 to me as well as to the parties that you're 24 comfortable. If it gets too warm in here let me 25 know, we'll try to do something about it.

1 Can they control the temperature here?

2 THE CLERK: If you let us know we'll get it 3 done.

4 THE COURT: We have a wonderful courthouse in 5 Florence but to control the temperature in the 6 courthouse we have to call Virginia. I don't know 7 why you have to call up to someplace in Virginia 8 who relays it over to Atlanta and they finally 9 eventually get it done. I think we can control the 10 temperature here, so let me know if you're 11 uncomfortable. We want you to be comfortable. If 12 you need a break let me know, we'll take a break.
13 Okay?

14 All right, Mr. Collins.

15 MR. COLLINS: Thank you, Your Honor. Our 16 first witness will be presented by my able partner 17 Mr. Floyd who is better with the computers.

18 THE COURT: All right.

19 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, may it please the 20 Court, First South Bank calls at this time Miss 21 Julie Cason.

22

23

24

25

1 JULIE CASON, after being first duly sworn,
2 testified as follows:

3 THE CLERK: Please take a seat and state your 4 full name for the record.

5 THE WITNESS: My name is Julie Cason.

6 DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. FLOYD:

7 Q Good morning, Miss Cason. Could you please 8 introduce yourself to the jury?

9 A Yes. I'm Julie Cason, I work for First South
10 Bank, I grew up in West Columbia, South Carolina, I 11 currently reside in Cayce, South Carolina, which is 12 right outside Columbia. I have been in banking 13 since 1988 when I joined a small community bank, 14 Lexington State Bank. My husband is military so we 15 moved around quite a bit. When we finally came 16 back to South Carolian I joined Southern National 17 Bank, which is now BB&T, and in 2000 I had an 18 opportunity to move from BB&T to First South Bank, 19 and I have been with First South Bank since 2000.

20 Q Miss Cason, have you ever testified in court 21 before?

22 A No.

23 Q Are you a little bit nervous?

24 A Yes. Is my voice shaking? Yes.

25 Q We'll do the best not to keep you up there

1 too long.

2 Miss Cason, does First South Bank keep 3 records?

4 A We do.

5 Q And are those records kept in the ordinary 6 course of business?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And are the entries or postings on these 9 records done contemporaneously with the events that 10 are recorded on the document?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Is there a file containing the records
13 regarding First South Bank's loan to South
14 Causeway, LLC?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And are those, are the records in the file 17 kept in the manner that you just described?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Who is the custodian of the records you just 20 described?

21 A I am.

22 Q Have the records you have in your file I 23 believe you brought with you today been altered or 24 changed?

25 A No.

1 Q Are those records kept in a safe place?

2 A They are kept in a safekeeping vault in the 3 bank and they are under control.

4 Q Do you have those records with you today?

5 A I do.

6 MR. FLOYD: May I approach, Your Honor?

7 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

8 Q I'm going to hand her what has been 9 pre-marked as Plaintiff's Exhibits 1 through 13.

10 MR. FLOYD: I would represent to the Court 11 that these are copies of the originals that we were 12 discussing earlier, that she has brought, they are 13 the First South Bank files.

14 Q Are the copies I just handed you, as you are 15 looking through them now, are those accurate and 16 complete copies?

17 A They are.

18 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, at this time the 19 plaintiff would hereby move this record be admitted 20 in evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibits 1 through 13.

21 THE COURT: Any objection, Miss Byrd?

22 MS. BYRD: None, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: All right. Plaintiff's Exhibits
24 1 through 13 are in evidence without objection.

25 MR. FLOYD: Thank you, Your Honor.

1 (Bank records marked and received in evidence
2 as Plaintiff's Exhibits 1 through 13).

3 MR. FLOYD: Let the record reflect I'm going 4 to hand counsel for South Causeway pre-marked 5 copies of these exhibits.

6 THE COURT: Thank you, sir.

7 MR. FLOYD: At this time, Your Honor, the 8 plaintiff would request that the Court permit use 9 of a Power Point presentation to just reflect 10 certain portions of these documents that she's 11 going to publish into evidence. I think it may 12 help streamline it.

13 THE COURT: All right. Does defense counsel 14 have access to that?

15 MR. GODDARD: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right, that will be great.

17 BY MR. FLOYD:

18 Q Would you please identify what Exhibit 1 is?

19 A I have to take my glasses off because I 20 can't see far off and here at the same time.

21 Exhibit 1 is a commitment letter from First South
22 Bank addressed to Mr. Will Wheeler and Miss Peggy 23 Wheeler-Cribb in the maximum amount of $6,500,000.

24 Q Now, Miss Cason, would you please publish to 25 the jury what this commitment letter says? I

1 believe it is in the first paragraph.

2 A "This letter constitutes the commitment of 3 First South Bank, the bank, in reliance upon the 4 financial information provided by you to make a 5 loan, the loan, in the principal amount not to 6 exceed $6,500,000 to an entity herein referred to 7 as the borrower, to be formed by the two of you and 8 of which you will be the sole owners and principals 9 under the terms and conditions generally described 10 below. The terms and conditions contained in this 11 letter are not intended to be exhaustive. Final 12 documentation with respect to and supporting the 13 loan will require approval of the bank and its 14 counsel."

15 Q Miss Cason, would you please publish for the 16 Court what the commitment letter says as to the 17 principal amount of the loan?

18 A "Principal amount of the loan, $6,500,000 19 maximum, the proceeds of which shall be advanced 20 and used solely in the amount and for the purposes 21 set forth in the loan purpose section of this 22 letter."

23 Q Would you please publish for the Court what 24 the letter states on page two as to the loan 25 purpose, paragraph A?

1 A "Loan purpose. The proceeds of the loan 2 shall be used solely to, A, up to $3,600,000 of the 3 proceeds shall be disbursed at closing to satisfy 4 existing indebtedness covering real property, the 5 project property owned by Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and 6 Will Darwin Wheeler, fee simple title to which 7 property shall be conveyed to the borrower on or 8 prior to closing of the loan, consisting of two 9 tracts located on, at the intersection of South
10 Causeway Road and Highway 17 South in Georgetown
11 County, South Carolina, the first having TMS 12 numbers 04-164-30 and 04-169-1 and containing 13 approximately 17.54 acres and the second having TMS
14 number 04-169-03 and containing approximately 1.68 15 acres, comprising a total of approximately 19.22
16 acres."

17 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, may I approach the 18 witness?

19 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

20 Q Miss Cason, would you like a glass of water 21 in a minute or two?

22 Now, Miss Cason, would you please publish for 23 the Court what the commitment letter says under 24 paragraph B? Same page, please.

25 A "Up to 550,000 of the proceeds shall be

1 disbursed at closing to satisfy existing 2 indebtedness owed to banks and after application by 3 bank upon such indebtedness of funds on deposit 4 with bank as interest reserve for said existing 5 indebtedness encumbering the real property and 6 improvement of each property by Peggy Wheeler-Cribb
7 and Will Darwin Wheeler, having an address of 334
8 Myrtle Avenue, Pawley's Island, Georgetown County, 9 South Carolina, having TMS number 42-1670-42.3 and 10 designated as lot 4 on a plat prepared by the Earth 11 Works Group dated July 9th, 2006."

12 Q Miss Cason, would you please publish for the 13 Court what page two of the commitment letters says 14 in paragraph C?

15 A "Up to $100,000 of the proceeds shall be 16 disbursed at closing to pay costs associated with 17 closing of the loan approved by bank."

18 Q Now would you please publish for the Court, 19 Miss Cason, what page two of the commitment letter
20 says under paragraph D?

21 A "$300,000 of the proceeds shall be disbursed 22 at closing into a restricted access demand deposit 23 account, interest reserve account maintained with 24 bank funds from which shall be disbursed by bank 25 monthly to make required interest payments due by

1 borrower upon the loan."

2 Q Miss Cason, would you please publish for the 3 Court what the commitment letter says under 4 paragraph E of the loan purpose?

5 A "Disbursement of funds for the categories set 6 forth in A through D above shall not exceed the 7 sums set forth with respect to the respective 8 categories without written approval of the bank.
9 If less than $4,550,000 is disbursed at closing of 10 the loan the difference between 400," excuse me, 11 $4,550,000 and the amount disbursed shall not be 12 advanced at closing of the loan but shall be held 13 as an undisbursed contingency reserve and advanced 14 for only such purposes as shall be expressly 15 approved by bank in writing."

16 Q Miss Cason, would you please publish for the 17 Court what page 2, paragraph F says, of the 18 commitment letter?

19 A "An additional $550,000 of proceeds of the 20 loan shall be disbursed by bank into the account to 21 fund monthly interest payments due upon the loan 22 upon the earlier of what occurs. Completion of the 23 infrastructed and six months from the date of loan 24 closing."

25 Q Miss Cason, would you please publish for the

1 Court what the loan commitment letter says on page 2 three, paragraph E?

3 A "Up to $1,400,000 for construction of roads, 4 drives, common areas, stormwater-sewer system,
5 utilities to the lot lines of proposed retail lots 6 within the project property and other
7 infrastructure for the project property
8 collectively pursuant to construction contract 9 hereafter defined. Disbursement of funds for use

12 letter.

13 A July 16th, 2010.

14 Q And could you please publish for the Court 15 the first paragraph of the letter.

16 A The first paragraph?

17 Q Yes, ma'am.

18 A "You are familiar with our previously stated 19 position regarding extensions or renewals of the 20 above referenced promissory note. The note matured 21 for payment on Monday, July 5, 2010, and is 22 currently past due for principal, accrued interest 23 and late charges."

24 Q Could you please identify for the Court what 25 Plaintiff's Exhibit 13 is.

1 A 13 is a payoff quote that I prepared for 2 First South Bank dated June 11, 2012, to the law
3 firm of Collins & Lacey, PC.

4 Q And what does this payoff quote, what is this 5 pay off quote in reference to?

6 A The payoff quote is in reference to the South
7 Causeway, LLC, loan with First South Bank, note 8 number 8134802.

9 Q Is that the note that you identified earlier 10 as I believe Plaintiff's Exhibit 3?

11 A It is.

12 Q Okay. And in this letter does it set forth a 13 per diem amount?

14 A It does.

15 Q What is the per diem amount?

16 A $563.61.

17 Q Okay. And is that amount, I guess per diem 18 keeps moving into the future?

19 A It does, that is the daily interest on the 20 loan, it goes until the loan pays off.

21 Q Has this loan been paid off, to your 22 knowledge?

23 A It has not.

24 Q Could you please look at Plaintiff's Exhibit
25 2, page 20?

1 A Exhibit 2, I'm sorry, page two?
2 Q Page 20.
3 A Page 20, okay.
4 Q Could you please publish for the Court the 5 first complete sentence on that page.
6 A "Borrower expressly waives any and all rights 7 to trial by jury."
8 Q And this Exhibit 2, you identified that 9 earlier as the loan agreement?
10 A Yes, sir.
11 Q Between South Causeway, LLC, and First South 12 Bank?
13 A Yes, sir.
14 MR. FLOYD: May I approach, Your Honor?
15 THE COURT: Yes, sir.
16 Q Miss Cason, I have handed you a document that 17 has been previously marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 4.
18 Are you familiar with this document?
19 MR. COLLINS: 14.
20 Q 14, excuse me.
21 A It is a real estate mortgage from Will Darwin
22 Wheeler to First South Bank on the property at lot
23 number 4, 334 Myrtle Avenue, Pawley's Island.
24 Q And does this document appear to be a 25 certified, true and correct copy of that?

1 A It does.

2 Q Okay.

3 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, at this time

4 plaintiffs would move Exhibit 14 be placed into

5 evidence.

6 MS. BYRD: No objection, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Without objection, Plaintiff's 14

8 is in evidence.

9 (Mortgage marked and received in evidence as 10 Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 14).

11 BY MR. FLOYD:

12 Q Plaintiff's Exhibit 14, what is the date of 13 this document?

14 A 6/25/2008.

15 Q Is that the same date as the day the loan

16 agreement was executed that you identified earlier,

17 Exhibit 2?

18 A Yes, sir.

19 MR. FLOYD: May I approach, Your Honor?

20 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

21 Q Mrs. Cason, I have just handed you a document

22 that has been pre-marked as Plaintiff's Exhibit 15.

23 Have you had a chance to review that?

24 A I have.

25 Q Okay. And what does this appear to you to 1 be?

2 A The first page of a mortgage from Will Darwin
3 Wheeler to First South Bank on the property at lot 4 4, 334 Myrtle Avenue, canceled and satisfied the 5 10th day of April, 2009, and I was a witness to the 6 cancellation, my signature does appear as a witness 7 on it.

8 Q Okay. And this document, does it appear to 9 you to be a certified and true copy from the 10 Register of Deeds of Georgetown County?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Okay.

13 MR. FLOYD: At this time, Your Honor, the 14 plaintiffs would move for this document Plaintiff's 15 Exhibit 15 to be admitted in evidence.

16 MS. BYRD: No objection, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Without objection, Plaintiff's
18 15.

19 (Canceled mortgaged marked and received in 20 evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 15).

21 MR. FLOYD: Beg the Court's indulgence just 22 for one moment.

23 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

24 MR. FLOYD: Thank you, Your Honor. The 25 plaintiff rests at this time.

1 THE COURT: Thank you, ma'am. You may step 2 down.

3 Excuse me, I apologize.

4 Miss Byrd.

5 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: I absolutely apologize, ma'am.

7 MS. BYRD: If it please the Court.

8 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

9 CROSS EXAMINATION BY MS. BYRD:

10 Q Good afternoon, Miss Cason.

11 A Good afternoon.

12 Q Could you tell me again what is your position 13 with First South Bank?

14 A Yes, ma'am. I am, currently I'm a banking 15 officer with First South Bank. I am also the 16 executive assistant to the president.

17 Q And what is your official title?

18 A Banking officer, executive assistant to the 19 president.

20 Q Okay. You are an officer of the bank?

21 A Yes, ma'am.

22 Q Okay. And did you have any participation in 23 the drafting of any of the documents that have been 24 presented into evidence?

25 A No, ma'am.

1 Q I'm going to ask you to refer to Plaintiff's
2 Exhibit 1, please.

3 A Okay, yes, ma'am.

4 Q Okay. And could you tell me, is this, was 5 this commitment letter, this is dated May 30, 2008, 6 this is the commitment letter for the loan that 7 brings us here today, is that right?

8 A Yes, ma'am.

9 Q And on the first page of Exhibit 1 the term 10 of the loan indicates that it is 36 months. Is 11 that right?

12 A Yes, ma'am.

13 Q Three years, is that correct?

14 A Yes.

15 Q And do you know when the present foreclosure 16 was filed?

17 A Myself personally, I do not.

18 Q All right, if you will flip to the second 19 page of Exhibit 1 and I will draw your attention to 20 numeral F, and I believe you read that into the 21 record and I won't have you do that again but 22 essentially that provides that $500,000 of the 23 proceeds of the loan will be disbursed by the bank 24 in an interest reserve account to fund monthly 25 interest payments due upon the earlier to occur of 1 the completion of the infrastructure and six months

2 from the date of the loan closing, is that correct?

3 A Uh-huh (Affirmative).

4 Q Do you know if that was done?

5 A I do not believe it was done. We never 6 received anything to show completion of the 7 infrastructure, that I'm aware of.

8 Q Do you remember when the loan closed?

9 A June 25th, 2008.

10 Q And what would six months from the date of 11 closing be?

12 A Christmas day, 2008, or December 25th, 2008.

13 Q Do you know why, then, the $500,000 was not 14 deposited by the bank in the interest reserve 15 account?

16 A I would assume because we never received the 17 completion of the infrastructure or proof of the 18 completion of the infrastructure.

19 Q But let's refer back to the document. Does 20 it not say upon the earlier to occur of completion 21 of the infrastructure and six months from the date 22 of closing?

23 A Yes, ma'am, it says and, it doesn't say or, 24 so I'm not sure.

25 Q Okay. Upon the earlier, would that lead you

1 to believe that one or the other?

2 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, I'm going to object
3 to this. She's a records custodian, she hasn't 4 offered any testimony as to the nature of the, 5 documents or really what they mean or paraphrasing 6 or anything like that.

7 THE COURT: Sustained.

8 MS. BYRD: Thank you.

9 BY MS. BYRD:

10 Q But to your knowledge $500,000 of proceeds 11 were never deposited into an interest reserve
12 account?

13 A No, ma'am.

14 Q And I will ask you to flip to the next page, 15 please, and under numeral G; the second paragraph, 16 nonrefundable loan fee, and it indicates there is a 17 one percent loan fee in the total amount of 18 $65,000. Is that right?

19 A Yes, ma'am.

20 Q And the $65,000 is one percent of six and a 21 half million dollars, is that correct?

22 A Yes, ma'am.

23 Q And was six and a half million dollars loaned 24 to South Causeway, LLC?

25 A It was available per the loan documents so it

1 was loaned, however it may not have been advanced 2 as of that time.

3 Q Do you know if the bank received $65,000?

4 A I believe they did.

5 Q And on that same page, the final paragraph, 6 loan documentation required for closing. To your 7 knowledge were all these documents provided for 8 closing?

9 A I do not keep all these actually in our 10 vault, I would not be able to definitely say that 11 everything was there.

12 Q You just can't say one way or another?

13 A Honestly I cannot say that every single item 14 was there because I do not have every document from 15 the loan file because it is very big. We keep the 16 important documents in safekeeping.

17 Q And where do you keep the remaining 18 documents?

19 A They are sent to our home office in loan
20 operations in Spartanburg, they are there 21 essentially imaged and then kept in safekeeping 22 there or if they are not actual hard copies, since 23 we have been told it is legal to have legal copies 24 or electronic copies, then some of those documents 25 are shredded but they are imaged before any

1 destruction and they are checked under dual 2 control.

3 Q And you would have access as an officer of 4 the bank to any and all those documents
5 electronically, is that correct?

6 A Yes, ma'am, I should have access
7 electronically through our Synergy system.

8 Q And would Mr. Lovelace have the same access 9 to the loan documents as you would electronically?

10 A Yes, ma'am.

11 Q How about Mr. Lyerly?

12 A Yes, ma'am.

13 Q I'm going to ask you about Plaintiff's
14 Exhibit 3, please.

15 A I'm referring back to the originals.

16 Q Fine. And can you just identify for the 17 jury's benefit what that document is?

18 A Yes, ma'am. It's a promissory note between 19 South Causeway, LLC, and First South Bank.

20 Q And in the top portion of that document, the 21 promissory note, it provides this is a multiple 22 advance loan, is that correct?

23 A Yes, it does.

24 Q And indicates that South Causeway will 25 receive a principal amount on 6/25/08 in the amount

1 of blank. Is that correct?

2 A Yes, ma'am.

3 Q Can you tell the jury today how much South
4 Causeway received on 6/25/08?

5 A I do not have the closing statement with me, 6 so I cannot verify it.

7 Q And would that be important to you in 8 calculating the amount of the debt to be paid off?

9 A Yes, ma'am.

10 Q In the next section it indicates the interest 11 rate, is that correct?

12 A Yes, ma'am.

13 Q And it says that they agree to pay for one 14 day from 6/25, the day of closing, until the next 15 day six percent interest. Is that right?

16 A Yes, ma'am.

17 Q And then after that time the interest rate 18 was to change, is that correct?

19 A The interest rate could change if, the way 20 this reads, the six percent but that it could 21 change effective the next day should the Wall 22 Street Journal prime plus one change.

23 Q Okay. And so if the Wall Street Journal, if 24 it were to change, then it becomes a variable rate 25 based on one percent above the Wall Street Journal

1 prime. Is that right.

2 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, I object to this.
3 She just read the document in evidence, she hasn't 4 given any opinions on what happened or what affect 5 it may have.

6 THE COURT: Sustained. It is asking for her 7 opinion.

8 Q Okay. I will just ask you, then, if you 9 could read into the record under variable rate, 10 underneath that, where it says index rate, if you 11 could just read that into the record?

12 A Okay. "Variable rate. This rate may then 13 change as stated below. The index rate, the future 14 rate will be one percent above the following index
15 rate, the highest prime rate published in the money
16 section of the Wall Street Journal."

17 Q Thank you. And further down in the document 18 it provides for a post maturity rate. Isn't that 19 correct?

20 A Yes, ma'am.

21 Q And the post maturity rate provides that it 22 is the same rate that was in effect before 23 maturity. Is that correct?

24 A It provides it's the same fixed or variable 25 rate basis in effect before maturity, yes, ma'am.

1 Q And before maturity of this loan was there a 2 fixed or variable rate in place?

3 A It appears there was a variable rate.

4 Q And finally I would like to direct your 5 attention to Plaintiff's Exhibit 13. And for the 6 record, I believe you testified early that this is 7 a payoff quote that you prepared?

8 A Yes, ma'am.

9 Q And what information did you use to prepare 10 this?

11 A What we get is, we go on our computer system
12 which calculates our, keeps our loans of record, I 13 would take the printout of that as well as we have 14 a spread sheet so I add in any fees or information, 15 any fees or taxes or anything we have paid outside 16 of the loan itself, that haven't been added to the 17 loan amount itself, and calculate the payoff that 18 way.

19 Q And in this document, Plaintiff's Exhibit 13, 20 you provide -- I'm sorry.

21 A I'm sorry. I accidentally hit the mike.

22 Q Okay. It indicates that the current balance 23 is $4,774,112.73. Is that correct?

24 A Yes, ma'am.

25 Q Where did you get that number?

1 A That would have been from our computer 2 system?

3 Q And would that be the amount that was 4 advanced to South Causeway on 6/25/08?

5 A I'm not sure whether that would be the exact 6 to the penny amount or whether, you know, something 7 had been advanced after that to pay for taxes or 8 something, without having the actual printout in 9 front of me to see what was actually advanced on 10 that date.

11 Q The basis of that number is -- what is the 12 basis for that number?

13 A My computer printout at the bank. Whenever 14 we pull up our system that is how we quote a 15 payoff, the computer printout will show the 16 client's name, the account number, maturity, the 17 rate, the current balance, the current accrued 18 interest, any late charges, things like that.

19 Q But I guess, maybe I'm not wording it 20 carefully enough, but I want to understand what 21 could comprise the number listed beside current 22 balance. Is that a principal that was advanced, 23 because there is delineated interest, late charges, 24 escrow, prepayment penalties, appraisal fees,
25 property taxes, miscellaneous fees, and so what I

1 want to understand is what is the basis of the 2 current balance figure?

3 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, objection. She gets 4 information from the system. That is what she put 5 into the letter. It would be speculation for her 6 to say exactly what went into it.

7 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, a critical element of 8 their ability to prevail in a foreclosure claim is 9 to be able to establish the amount of damages or 10 the amount of the debt owed and I'm asking the 11 witness who they have called to prove that, to 12 explain the basis for that figure.

13 THE COURT: Has she given you a figure?

14 MS. BYRD: The figures in the document, yes, 15 sir.

16 THE COURT: All right. And you're asking her 17 what?

18 MS. BYRD: Just what that, what that number 19 encompasses, is that the principal that was 20 advanced or just how that number was arrived at.

21 THE COURT: And her response was she was not 22 familiar with that. Correct?

23 MS. BYRD: I'm not sure. She prepared the 24 document.

25 THE COURT: Well, you can answer that

1 question.

2 THE WITNESS: The current balance would be 3 the current principal balance outstanding on the 4 loan at the time I pulled the payoff.

5 BY MS. BYRD:

6 Q Okay. So the principal is what has been 7 advanced?

8 A It could be what's advanced. That does not 9 mean it was the initial advance because advances 10 could have been made after that or principal 11 reductions could have been paid to principal 12 balance. The only thing I can quote is what the 13 principal balance shows when I pulled the payoff.

14 Q And Mr. Floyd asked you a moment ago about 15 the per diem rate. That is the bank's per diem per 16 day?

17 A Yes, ma'am.

18 Q The figure you have indicated, $563.61. Is 19 that correct?

20 A Yes, ma'am.

21 Q And that indicates that $563.61 is the amount 22 of interest that accrues per day on this loan. Is 23 that correct?

24 A Yes, ma'am.

25 Q And how would it be possible for you to 1 determine a per diem interest rate on a variable

2 rate loan? Wouldn't it vary from day to day?

3 A We use the computer system. I'm sorry, I do 4 not do the calculations myself.

5 Q But are you familiar with what a variable 6 interest rate means as an officer of the bank?

7 A Yes, ma'am.

8 Q And do you understand that it changes daily?

9 A Uh-huh (Affirmative).

10 Q Is that yes?

11 A Yes. I'm sorry.

12 Q Okay. And based on that, is it possible to 13 have a per diem rate?

14 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, I'm going to object.
15 She testified what is in the numbers, she doesn't 16 do the calculations.

17 THE COURT: She can answer the question.

18 A I'm sorry, what was the question again?

19 Q Is it possible to calculate a per diem rate 20 if you have a variable rate interest loan?

21 MR. FLOYD: Your Honor, it is still 22 speculation and calling for things --

23 THE COURT: It is not speculation if she 24 knows. She can answer either she knows or she 25 doesn't know.

1 MR. FLOYD: Thank you.

2 THE WITNESS: The computer calculates it 3 based on the amount outstanding and then it is 4 updated nightly, so the computer would calculate 5 that for us.

6 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, may I approach?

7 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

8 BY MS. BYRD:

9 Q I show you what has been pre-marked as 10 Defendant's Exhibit 1 and could you tell me if you
11 recognize that document?

12 A Yes, ma'am, a closing statement for the 13 borrower, South Causeway, LLC, and the lender First 14 South Bank.

15 Q And is that the closing, is that the closing 16 statement for the loan that is the object of this 17 foreclosure action?

18 A Yes, ma'am.

19 Q And can you tell the jury, please, how much 20 was advanced to South Causeway, LLC, according to 21 that HUD statement?

22 A There are no funds directly labeled as South
23 Causeway, LLC.

24 Q So based on the closing statement is it your 25 testimony that no funds were provided to South

1 Causeway, LLC?

2 A They were not provided directly to South
3 Causeway, LLC. They were used to pay off other 4 mortgages, flood insurance, origination fee, 5 attorney fees, funds to the Secretary of State, for 6 surveys, environmental, and reimbursement to Miss
7 Peggy Wheeler-Cribb.

8 Q So, those were funds provided on behalf of 9 the bank that were used maybe not paid directly to 10 South Causeway but on their behalf. Is that what 11 your testimony is?

12 A Yes, ma'am.

13 Q Okay. Can you tell me the amount of funds 14 maybe not paid directly to South Causeway but for 15 their benefit?

16 A The first draw against the loan was 17 $4,769,725.23.

18 Q Does that amount match the balance indicated 19 in Plaintiff's Exhibit 13?

20 A No, ma'am.

21 Q I'm sorry?

22 A No, ma'am. I'm sorry.

23 Q Plaintiff's Exhibit 13, does it indicate 24 miscellaneous fees? Do you know what those fees 25 were for?

1 A Miscellaneous fees of 127.75? I believe
2 those were copies of documents from the Horry 3 County Clerk of Court, is what it is listed as.

4 Q And do you know what those documents were?

5 A No, ma'am.

6 Q How about the appraisal fee that has been 7 charged as an amount owed by South Causeway, LLC, 8 do you know what the basis for that appraisal was,
9 who ordered that appraisal?

10 A I do not know.

11 MS. BYRD: I think that may be all the 12 questions I have for you. I will just check real 13 quick with my boss.

14 May I beg the Court's indulgence?

15 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

16 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Miss Cason, I have no
17 further questions.

18 THE COURT: Anything on redirect?

19 MR. FLOYD: Nothing, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Thank you very much, ma'am. You 21 may step down.

22 (Witness excused).

23 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, may this witness be 24 excused?

25 THE COURT: Any objections?

1 MS. BYRD: No objection, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: You're free to go, ma'am. Thank 3 you very much. Just make sure that any exhibits, 4 make sure any exhibits are left.

5 MR. FLOYD: I will take care of that, Your 6 Honor, if that is okay. They were marked, she's 7 going to sort them out, if that is okay?

8 THE COURT: That's fine.

9 All right.

10 MR. COLLINS: As you know, we rest.

11 THE COURT: The plaintiff rests. All right, 12 ladies and gentlemen, the plaintiff has rested 13 their case as to the foreclosure action. I'm going 14 to ask you, if you would, to step back in the jury 15 room. I need to take up some matters of law at 16 this point. Please have no conversations about the 17 case, okay? We'll start back in a little bit.

18 (Jury excused from the courtroom).

19 THE COURT: All right. I will take up any 20 motions at the close of the plaintiff's case.

21 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, at this time we would 22 like to make a motion for directed verdict. As the 23 Court is aware, in order to establish a cause of 24 action in foreclosure of a mortgage the plaintiff 25 must establish three elements. The existence of 1 the debt, ownership of the debt and the amount of 2 the debt. Your Honor, while they have established 3 the documents which have been admitted to this 4 Court into evidence, they have not established the 5 amount of damages, Your Honor, and they brought a 6 witness in that testified that she had no idea of 7 the basis for the numbers, that she pulled them off 8 a computer.

9 The current balance listed on the payoff 10 report was not even the same number that was 11 advanced on the HUD statement that we introduced 12 and she had no explanation for the difference. She 13 also did not have any information, I attempted to 14 ask her to explain how those numbers were 15 calculated, she could not do so. So, the plaintiff 16 has failed to establish that all just credits were 17 given to our client, specifically with regard to 18 $550,000 interest reserve account, Miss Cason could 19 not even testify as to whether that had been done.
20 Your Honor, we do not believe the plaintiff has in 21 any way met their burden of establishing to this 22 Court or to the jurors the amount of the debt due.

23 THE COURT: All right.

24 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: Mr. Collins.

1 MR. COLLINS: First of all, Judge, it's 2 inappropriate for her to be asking for a directed 3 verdict because you are the one who decides whether 4 or not the mortgage is foreclosed, it is an 5 equitable proceeding, there is no jury decision 6 made, therefore no directed verdict to be imposed.

7 The existence of the debt is abundantly 8 proven. Ownership of the debt, the debt is still 9 owned by First South Bank. The amount of the 10 payoff letter shows the amount of the debt. She 11 argues, Miss Byrd argues Miss Cason had no idea how 12 it was calculated. She had a very good idea, she 13 said the computers at the bank are updated nightly, 14 they factor in any changes in the interest rate, 15 they are to the penny with how much money has been 16 expended, how much has been received back and what 17 the daily accrual of interest is. How could it be 18 any more accurate, Your Honor? The argument we 19 have not proven the amount of the debt due is 20 absurd and we submit that this motion is not even 21 proper and if you think it is, it ought to be 22 denied.

23 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, may I just briefly?

24 THE COURT: Yes.

25 MS. BYRD: With regard to the appropriateness

1 of the motion, I believe that the rules of civil 2 procedure provide there is but one type of action, 3 whether law or equity, and the rules of civil 4 procedure apply regardless if it is a legal or 5 equitable action, so I believe the motion is most 6 certainly appropriate.

7 But I also say that she could not establish 8 the amount and didn't testify to any of what Mr.
9 Collins just said, that it updated daily. She 10 didn't even testify that was records kept, the 11 computer software itself were ordinary business 12 records. And further, the Court, while she may not 13 have been able to testify, the Court surely is 14 aware that you could not have a per diem set rate 15 of interest on a variable rate loan. It is just 16 not possible and so, Your Honor, they have not 17 proven their damages.

18 THE COURT: I think it is an appropriate
19 motion but I'm going to respectfully deny it. I 20 think that there is evidence in the record that 21 could support those elements, so I respectfully 22 deny the motion.

23 Anything further, Miss Byrd?

24 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, nothing further on the 25 motion.

1 THE COURT: Okay. What else, I mean, go
2 ahead.

3 MS. BYRD: Because of the timing, and we quite 4 frankly expected their case to last a little 5 longer, we have a witness and he should be here 6 within ten minutes, he would be our next witness
7 and I think he will be, Don Thomas, the real estate 8 agent, and he should take up the balance of the 9 day. The reason why we called him somewhat out of 10 order is because he has got a doctor's appointment 11 on Thursday, tomorrow, and hopefully we can get him 12 in today.

13 MR. COLLINS: Judge, you recall when we were 14 in chambers I asked her if she could tell me who 15 the first witness would be?

16 THE COURT: Yes.

17 MR. COLLINS: She said it would either be Mr.
18 Lovelace or Mr. Lyerly. It has been my custom 19 throughout my many years of practice, Your Honor, 20 for lawyers to tell each other who is going to be 21 called so there won't be these kind of problems. I 22 always tell the opposing counsel who we will call 23 the next morning or whatever, and we were told that 24 this witness would be either Mr. Lyerly or Mr.
25 Lovelace. They are here, time is precious,

1 certainly counsel has the opportunity to get her
2 witness here on time. This is the kind of problem
3 we have, Your Honor, in this case.

4 MR. GODDARD: Your Honor, I would briefly
5 like to respond. I certainly appreciate his 44 6 years of practice. What we're faced with is it is 7 now 3:30, we have two witnesses that we do not 8 think we could get in in the time period to 9 effectively get the jury out by the time period we 10 set back in the back. We think both Mr. Lyerly and 11 Mr. Lovelace, their direct and their cross 12 examination will go past the time you're talking 13 about and when we came back and evaluated that, and 14 I will take the blame for that, that after our 15 evaluation I could have and should have walked over 16 and told him we're going to call Mr. Thomas but the 17 reason we did so is we cannot, in the interest of 18 what we don't want to happen is to, one, either 19 call Mr. Lyerly and then allow a break in between 20 for the jury before cross-examination or anything 21 else. We think before the jury would be excused 22 for the day they would want to hear the entirety of 23 the testimony.

24 Also, Your Honor, while I understand his 25 position, there is no rule and we certainly were

1 told who their witnesses were today before the day 2 started, we appreciate that but I think we have the 3 ability to call the witnesses in the order we would 4 like and we are planning on moving forward with Mr.
5 Thomas.

6 THE COURT: I appreciate both sides'
7 positions. You are absolutely correct, you don't 8 have to tell them anything, they don't have to tell 9 you anything. However, you all are good lawyers 10 and, I mean, I don't need to tell you usually to 11 the extent you can help things proceed more 12 efficiently do that, but I understand you've got a 13 witness who has a physician's appointment tomorrow
14 and his availability is questionable tomorrow, you 15 want to call him now, I've got no problem with any 16 of that. I don't want to sit here and wait 20 17 minutes for a witness to show up, so is there a way 18 to reach him and find out his ETA?

19 MR. GODDARD: I contacted him as soon as we 20 left your office, Your Honor, he said he should be 21 here in no more than an hour. That was an hour ago 22 so we expect him any minute.

23 THE COURT: Let's get back in touch with him.

24 MR. GODDARD: We'll call him again right now.
25 We appreciate that. I do want to take that blame,

1 that was my call and I apologize for --

2 THE COURT: That's all right, I mean --

3 MR. GODDARD: -- for not telling Mr. Collins
4 that we were not going to go forward with Mr.
5 Lysterly or Mr. Lovelace.

6 THE COURT: Let's find out because we may be 7 going forward with them. He may have gotten 8 delayed. If he is delayed, you're just going to 9 have to work with something else.

10 MS. BYRD: May we take a short break, Your 11 Honor?

12 THE COURT: Yes, go ahead.

13 (Recessed at 3:30 p.m.).

14 (Resumed at 3:40 p.m.).

15 THE COURT: Anything we need to take up
16 before we get started?

17 MR. COLLINS: No, sir.

18 THE COURT: All right, let's bring the jury 19 in.

20 (The jury returned to the courtroom).

21 THE COURT: All right, ladies and gentlemen,
22 thank you for your patience. We have taken up any 23 matters of law that we needed to take up at the 24 close of the plaintiff's case and so now we're 25 ready to proceed, so I would recognize Miss Byrd on 1 behalf of the defense.

2 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

4 MS. BYRD: The defense calls Mr. Don Thomas.

5 THE COURT: All right, Mr. Thomas, if you
6 would please come forward and be sworn, sir.

1 DON STANLEY THOMAS, after being frist duly sworn,
2 testified as follows:

3 THE CLERK: Thank you. Please be seated and 4 state your full name for the record.

5 THE WITNESS: My name is Don Stanley Thomas.

6 DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MS. BYRD:

7 Q Good afternoon, Mr. Thomas.

8 A Yes.

9 Q Thank you for being here on short notice. We 10 understood you had a doctor's appointment tomorrow 11 so we wanted to try as best we could to get you in 12 and get this moving, so I appreciate that. Thank 13 you.

14 Mr. Thomas, if you could, please just 15 introduce yourself to the jury and tell them a 16 little bit about your personal and professional 17 background.

18 A Okay. My name is Don Thomas and I am
19 currently the sales manager for Lachicotte Company, 20 Real Estate Sales Company formerly. I have been in 21 the real estate business off and on for about 22 fifteen years and I have been in this area about 25 23 years, married, three children.

24 Q And could you tell us the name of the company 25 that you worked with in 2010?

1 A Vintage States Realty.

2 Q Did they also have an auction company?

3 A We didn't have a separate company. We 4 operated under the Vintage States Realty but we did 5 have a licensed auctioneer who would help us with 6 our auctions.

7 Q Tell me how you came to know Miss Peggy
8 Wheeler-Cribb.

9 A Well, as the broker in charge I'm usually 10 privy to every transaction as far as listings and 11 especially with the auction aspect of it, which was 12 something we tried to do for some of our clients in 13 that time of the real estate market. It was just 14 another way, another avenue to try and market some 15 properties.

16 So, Mr. Chuck Cooper who was with our company 17 was -- I'm not even sure, I assume he was contacted 18 by either Darwin or Miss Peggy and they decided 19 they wanted to participate in the auction that we 20 proposed.

21 Q And did Miss Peggy eventually contract with 22 Vintage Real Estate to do the auction for the South
23 Causeway properties?

24 A Yes, that's right.

25 Q And did that include other pieces of 1 property?

2 A Yes. We had a couple of our beach properties
3 on Pawley's Island as well as the numerous 4 individual pieces of property that were in South
5 Causeway that were commercial properties.

6 MS. BYRD: May I approach the witness?

7 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

8 Q Mr. Thomas, I show you what has been marked 9 as Defendant's Exhibit 2. Can you tell me if you 10 recognize that document?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Please tell the jury what that is.

13 A It's basically a listing agreement
14 specifically for an auction, for this particular 15 auction as a matter of fact.

16 Q And this is the auction of the South Causeway 17 property which is 19 acres, is that correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And what is the date of this listing
20 agreement?

21 A April 12th, 2010, is on the face of it. Are 22 you talking about the date it was signed?

23 Q On the first page of the document it 24 indicates April the 12th, 2010. Is that right?

25 A That's what's on it, yes.

1 Q Mr. Thomas, do you have the original copy of 2 this listings agreement in your file?

3 A I should. Yes.

4 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, may I approach and 5 have that exhibit marked as Exhibit Number 3?

6 THE COURT: Three?

7 MS. BYRD: Yes, sir.

8 (Listing agreement marked as Defendant's 9 Exhibit Number 3).

10 BY MS. BYRD:

11 Q Mr. Thomas, does it appear that there were 12 different types of pens used to complete that 13 original document?

14 A Yes.

15 Q And specifically can you tell me where the 16 markings on that document appear to be different?

17 A Well, on the first line just after the date 18 which was written in, the South Causeway, LLC, was 19 written in black ink and Wheeler in blue ink was 20 crossed out and then most of the rest of the 21 document, the front page is in blue ink and then 22 when you get to the basis of sale there is some 23 additional writing in there that is in black ink.

24 How specific do you want me to get?

25 Q Does it appear, based on the type and color

1 of pen, that there were changes made at length to 2 the basis of the sale, is that correct?

3 A Right.

4 Q And that includes the prices set for the 5 different lots within the 19 acres, is that 6 correct?

7 A Yes.

8 Q Do you recall a meeting with Miss Peggy 9 regarding the strategy that you all had developed 10 to auction the property?

11 A I don't specifically remember sitting in on 12 that meeting.

13 Q Are you aware of whether your company met 14 with Miss Peggy?

15 A I believe, yes, one of our associates 16 originally --

17 MR. TYLER: Objection, Your Honor,
18 speculation.

19 THE COURT: All right. If he knows. If he 20 doesn't --

21 A Yes, one of our associates met with Miss 22 Wheeler, which I believe when you see the blue ink 23 on there, I think that was the original meeting on, 24 I would assume April 12th.

25 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, again I object to 1 speculation. He wasn't there when it was signed.

2 THE COURT: Sustained as to any speculation.

3 A Yes, I was aware of that, one of our agents 4 met with her.

5 Q And you were involved in the marketing and 6 development of the auction, is that right?

7 A Yes, that's correct.

8 Q And do you recall whether the plan, the 9 auction plan was to offer all 19 acres as one 10 parcel or to subdivide the 19 acres and offer four 11 separate parcels?

12 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, object to leading.

13 THE COURT: Sustained as to the leading.

14 Q Can you please tell me whether there were any 15 options offered potential purchasers with regard to 16 the 19 acres?

17 A Well, I can tell you definitely where we 18 ended up as far as date of auction. We had offered 19 it as a whole piece, whole parcel, and we also 20 offered options, and I think that is on the front 21 of the page here, the different lots which were 22 different acreages, we had packets designated for 23 each one, how much it was and how many acres. And 24 the way that we did the auction we originally 25 offered the first parcel, being the entire parcel,

1 and when we did not get any bids on that, then we 2 went down to each parcel individually, and that is 3 how we basically conducted the auction.

4 Q And would it be a general business practice
5 of your company to assist your customer in setting 6 the prices?

7 A In an advisory capacity, yes.

8 Q And do you know whether or not in April of 9 2010 there were prices set with Miss Peggy and your 10 company?

11 A Just what is on here, what is on the face of 12 this. I have to be refreshed as far as how we came 13 to dividing out the lots and prices we came up 14 with, though.

15 Q Generally do you as the auction company offer 16 professional advice on that type thing?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And based on this document, and I will ask 19 you to refer to Exhibit 3 because it's the original 20 copy and I believe easier.

21 A Okay.

22 Q What are the prices for the lots?

23 A All right. Seven million for, seven million 24 for the entire parcel, 4.8 reserve. Individual 25 lots are as follows, and it is smudged to the point

1 I can't see how many million lot one was. Lot 2, 2 4.8. Lot three 4.8. Lot 4 4.8. Oh, I see now.
3 Lot one, 4.8 is written above it, so it looks like 4 each individual lot 4.8.

5 Q And --

6 A A total of four lots.

7 Q And for all, for the entire parcel it was 8 seven million, is that correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And it appears that the initials PWC are 11 underneath the pricing, is that correct?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And is there a date beside that?

14 A 5/31/10.

15 Q And do you know who PWC is?

16 A Peggy Wheeler-Cribb.

17 Q And is that your initials at the bottom as 18 the broker?

19 A Yes.

20 Q Did your company advertise or in any way 21 market this auction?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Mr. Thomas, I will show you what has been 24 marked as Defendant's Exhibit 4. Can you tell me 25 if you recognize that document?

1 A Yes.

2 Q Can you please tell the jury what that
3 document is.

4 A It's basically covering the cost of how the 5 property would be marketed and what would be 6 included with the marketing.

7 Q And do you know whether South Causeway paid 8 your company any fee for its effort?

9 A For the marketing, you're talking about?

10 Q Yes, sir.

11 A I cannot really recall if we took the money
12 and spent it out or if we sent them the bills, so I 13 cannot, I can't specifically remember at this 14 point.

15 Q Do you recall whether it was invoiced as a 16 whole or you were reimbursed, whether South
17 Causeway paid you?

18 A That is what I can't recall, I'm sorry. I 19 guess I can look back at my notes.

20 Q You can't recall whether they paid you or how 21 you --

22 A Well, and here is why I'm stumbling a little 23 bit, is some of the commercials that were produced 24 were produced by Miss Cribb's grandson and I'm not 25 sure if he was paid by them or if he did it for his

1 grandmother or we paid him, I would have to go back 2 and look and see.

3 Q Is there any amount that is outstanding and 4 owed to your company from South Causeway?

5 A None to my knowledge.

6 Q Do you recall whether the four parcels that 7 we talked about with regard to Exhibit 3, whether 8 they were the same size?

9 A I believe they were not, they were different 10 sizes.

11 Q Obviously in different locations?

12 A Yes, that's correct.

13 Q And it is your -- do you recall a telephone 14 call from Mr. Wayne Lovelace?

15 A I do.

16 Q And do you recall -- I will show you the 17 document. I will show you what has been marked 18 Exhibit Number 4 -- I'm sorry, Exhibit 5.

19 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, could we have a side 20 bar for a moment, please?

21 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

22 (Unrecorded beach conference).

23 THE COURT: Ladies and gentlemen, I have 24 learned, I have a new button up here I'm going to 25 try out so don't let this scare you or anything,

1 you're going to hear a little noise, okay?

2 How irritating was that to you? You know, 3 sometimes it is really not an advantage to have 4 technological advances. I apologize, that was my 5 first foray into using that button. I can assure 6 you I won't do it again.

7 What I am going to do, because I do need to 8 take up a matter of law, I'm going to get you to 9 step back into your jury room. Have no 10 conversation about the case, please, and I will get 11 you back out here shortly after I deal with this 12 matter of law.

13 (The jury was excused from the courtroom).

14 THE COURT: All right. I thought this was a 15 good time, Mr. Tyler, I'm going to hear from you 16 with regard to your objection. We agreed that we 17 were about to head into this subject so I think it 18 is a timely objection. Go ahead.

19 MR. TYLER: Excuse me, Your Honor. I think, 20 Your Honor -- may it please the Court, Donald Tyler 21 for First South Bank. What I believe the 22 testimony, where we're leading to is a statement by 23 Mr. Thomas based on a conversation he had with Mr.
24 Lovelace where Mr. Thomas is going to say something 25 to the effect of, "I have never had a discussion

1 like this before," which we view it as a very 2 inflaming, potentially very prejudicial statement
3 from Mr. Thomas. Our position is it is not 4 probative to the issue. The issue here really is, 5 with Mr. Thomas, is that there was a contract with 6 Vintage Real Estate or Christy's, I can't remember.

7 THE WITNESS: Vintage.

8 MR. TYLER: With Vintage, and the allegations
9 are that First South Bank tortuously interfered 10 with that contract. Your Honor, the elements of 11 that, I don't believe are going to be did they 12 breach or did they tortuously breach with that 13 interference. I don't believe Mr. Thomas' 14 characterization of that conversation goes to that 15 issue, Your Honor. This characterization is really 16 intended solely to inflame the jury and create a 17 prejudicial statement.

18 THE COURT: All right.

19 Miss Byrd?

20 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, what we believe Mr.
21 Thomas, and again, he has not testified to it yet 22 but what his deposition testimony is, that he had 23 never in his career received a call like that 24 before from a mortgage company, that he was 25 uncomfortable, he felt that Mr. Lovelace had

1 disclosed confidential information to him, that he 2 should not have done that.

3 Your Honor, that goes directly to our claim
4 of their breach of good faith and fair dealing. It 5 goes to South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act.
6 We think that it is highly relevant to our claim 7 and to exclude this testimony that that has never 8 happened before --

9 THE COURT: Let me ask you this. The issue 10 is a tortuous interference with contract. Is that 11 not the issue?

12 MS. BYRD: That is one, Your Honor, that is 13 one claim. The second is that they have repeatedly 14 made disclosures to third parties about 15 confidential information. I talked about it at 16 length in my opening and this is one such time that 17 they breached the confidentiality of their own 18 client, Your Honor, so it goes directly to unfair 19 trade practices because this is not the only time 20 this was done, it was done with Lincoln-Harris, and 21 that is a critical element of my South Carolina 22 Unfair Trade Practices Act claim because I have to 23 show the possibilities of repetition and I have to 24 show it happened more than once.

25 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, I will just point out

1 I'm not objecting to him repeating the conversation
2 he had with Mr. Lovelace, which is the disclosure 3 that they are wanting to get in. It is really his 4 reaction.

5 THE COURT: His characterization of it?

6 MR. TYLER: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: I don't know what he is going to 8 say. Miss Byrd, I don't know what was said in the 9 deposition but what wouldn't be relevant is 10 comments such as, "It shocked me, this isn't 11 anything I have ever had to deal with before," 12 because that is his characterization of it. What 13 you're trying to get in is that they disclosed 14 confidential information, correct, that goes to the 15 issue?

16 MS. BYRD: It does but, Your Honor, he must 17 be allowed to testify that this isn't just 18 something that everybody does all the time.

19 THE COURT: He can testify to that.

20 MS. BYRD: That is what I'm going to ask him, 21 "Has this ever happened to you before in your 22 career," and he is going to say no. I mean, I 23 expect, based on his deposition, that that is what 24 he will say and that is what I understand he is 25 trying to prevent.

1 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, I'm okay if he says, 2 "No, I have never had this," but about the 3 inflammatory, "I was shocked, I was outraged."

4 MS. BYRD: I believe obviously I can ask
5 whether --

6 THE COURT: You can ask the question and you 7 all listen to the response and if you want to 8 object, do so. It is a proper question. I don't 9 know what response we're going to get. Obviously I 10 can't get inside a witness' head before they answer 11 the question. But it's a proper question, I think 12 you can ask the question.

13 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: All right. The exhibit, I think 15 we discussed the exhibit earlier, the email. My 16 understanding is that it is an email from Mr.
17 Thomas, that he wrote to someone?

18 MS. BYRD: Yes, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: And obviously he is here, he is 20 subject to cross-examination, so I think it's fine.

21 (Thomas to Cooper Email marked and received 22 in evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 5).
23 Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 5).

24 All right, anything further before we bring 25 the jury out?

1 MS. BYRD: No, sir, Your Honor.

2 MR. TYLER: Could you tell us what the 3 Exhibit is?

4 MS. BYRD: The email is Exhibit 5.

5 THE COURT: All right. Ask the jury, if they 6 are ready, to come back.

7 (The jury returned to the courtroom).

8 THE COURT: All right, ladies and gentlemen,
9 we'll continue now with Miss Byrd's direct 10 examination.

11 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

12 BY MS. BYRD:

13 Q Mr. Thomas, we were just about to talk about 14 Exhibit Number 5 which I have handed up to you.

15 A Okay.

16 Q If you could, tell me if you recognize that 17 document.

18 A Yes.

19 Q Can you tell the jury what that document is?

20 A It's a copy of an email from me to Chuck 21 Cooper.

22 Q And again, who is Chuck Cooper?

23 A Chuck Cooper is really basically the agent 24 that was handling the auction for Miss Cribb and 25 also he is the owner of the company.

1 Q And what is the date of the email?

2 A May 15th, 2010.

3 Q And could you please read to the jury what 4 your email says?

5 A It says, "Chuck, I received a call from Mr.
6 Wayne Lovelace, senior vice-president with First 7 South Bank in Columbia, with regard to their 8 position as lienholder for the property on South 9 Causeway. He wanted us to know what they, that 10 they would not accept anything less than the amount 11 owed on the property which is just shy of 4.8 12 million. In other words, no short sale would be 13 considered. He said he noticed on our auction 14 website that the property was showing divided up 15 into four different lots. Mr. Lovelace wanted us 16 to know that they would not be willing to release a 17 portion of the property to a buyer and they are 18 only interested in selling the entire 19 acres 19 together as one whole parcel. Since we had 20 discussed that possibility, we are going to have to 21 address this with Miss Peggy and make sure we are 22 all on the same page as we proceed with the action.
23 Thanks, Don Thomas."

24 Q And do you recall whether the telephone call 25 that you had received from Mr. Lovelace was on that

1 same day as your email, May 15th?

2 A It was either that day or the following day 3 because I remember trying to convey that 4 immediately. I would say it was that same day.

5 Q And why were you trying to convey that 6 immediately?

7 A Well, like I said, Chuck was basically 8 handling that part of the auction, working with the 9 client and I wanted to make sure that he was aware 10 of everything that was going on and also to convey 11 it to our client because we had an obligation to 12 relay that information because we were representing 13 Miss Peggy.

14 Q What information do you mean you had an 15 obligation to relay?

16 A Basically the statement that Mr. Lovelace 17 made.

18 Q And do you recall whether you took notes
19 during the telephone call that you had with Mr.
20 Lovelace?

21 A I did.

22 Q Mr. Thomas, I will show you what has been 23 marked as Exhibit Number 6. Are those a copy of 24 the notes you took during your telephone call with 25 Mr. Lovelace?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And do you, can you please tell the jury what 3 information Mr. Lovelace disclosed to you during 4 your telephone call on or about May 15th, 2010?

5 A Basically mostly what was in that email, that 6 First South Bank who had the loan and was 4.8 7 million dollar principal balance, he gave me his 8 direct line phone number and he said that, yes, 9 South Causeway, LLC, but he also said it was a 10 single member and just specifically Miss Cribb, 11 Miss Peggy Wheeler-Cribb and the note matures July 12 5th of that year, which was soon after the auction 13 was going to take place, and they were not going to 14 renew the note and the bottom note says not 15 interested in partial payment, South Bank not 16 interested in partial payment.

17 Q So to summarize, Mr. Lovelace told you the 18 amount that was due on the loan, is that correct?

19 A Yes.

20 Q That the bank did not plan to renew the loan.
21 Is that correct?

22 A Correct.

23 Q That the note would mature July the 5th of 24 2010?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And that they were not willing to accept 2 partial payment?

3 A Correct.

4 Q And is that information that you would 5 consider confidential?

6 A Yes, I would think, I mean, if I was on the 7 other --

8 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, object to 9 speculation.

10 A Yes, I guess I would.

11 THE COURT: Overruled.

12 A I guess I was surprised to hear the 13 information.

14 Q And how long have you been in real estate, 15 Mr. Thomas?

16 A A total of about fifteen years.

17 Q Has a mortgage company or a bank officer ever 18 called you directly and disclosed this type 19 information?

20 A I can't recall one.

21 Q You can't recall a time that has ever 22 happened?

23 A Well, not in the sense where it was a call 24 out of the blue. If a client had contacted their 25 mortgage lender and allowed, that you can talk to 1 me about that, or had signed a document ahead of 2 time saying I was allowed to hear this information 3 on behalf of the client that would be a different 4 scenario.

5 Q And is that why you contacted, you felt it
6 was necessary to immediately let Miss Peggy know?

7 A Well, it was, she was my client and I have an 8 obligation to keep her abreast of anything that is 9 going on that would, you know, affect her property 10 and sale of her property, I thought this was 11 something.

12 Q And were you aware or are you aware of 13 whether or not Miss Peggy authorized Mr. Lovelace 14 to call you?

15 A I was not aware.

16 Q And as a result of that telephone call were 17 the prices for the four different lots changed?

18 MR. TYLER: Objection, Your Honor. I think 19 earlier he discussed he wasn't involved in those 20 meetings where those discussions were made.

21 THE COURT: If he knows he can answer but he 22 can't speculate or reflect what someone else told 23 him. He has to have personal knowledge.

24 A Well, I'm sorry, that is a deeper question 25 than I can answer I think in one sentence. This

1 whole process prior to the auction and the pricing 2 and the way we divided the properties up, some of 3 that was at the direction of Darwin and Peggy 4 Wheeler, some of that was as we all had talked 5 about it either in person in a meeting or as we 6 discussed, you know, on the phone or in person and 7 what we ended up with I can't say was a direct 8 result of this but it probably had some effect on 9 our thinking process.

10 Q And just so I'm clear, there was a change 11 made in the pricing of the lots, is that correct?

12 A From the original seven million for the whole 13 parcel, yes.

14 Q As an experienced real estate agent does it 15 make sense to you to have the same price assigned 16 to parcels that vary in acreage and locality?

17 A Well, in this situation I understand why we 18 did that.

19 Q Why is that?

20 A Because if the 4.8 million was the bottom 21 they would take, then whatever parcel that would be 22 sold would have to be a minimum of that if that is 23 what the client wanted. The client, though, would 24 have an option to make up the difference if they 25 wanted to. So as far as what the bank gets for

1 their note, for instance, if they got $3,000,000 2 for one parcel the client could decide not to take 3 it or could take it and pay the other million 4 eight, make up the difference and have the rest of 5 the property to sell.

6 So there are a lot of parts to selling this 7 particular piece of property since there were 8 different options.

9 Q And in general, in your experience would you 10 assign the same price to property that varied in 11 acreage and locality?

12 A Well, again, you're talking about what are 13 the different sizes and locations. If you had a 14 prime location of a property that is smaller but 15 you have a bigger acreage that is not, you could 16 assign the same price. Commercial property, if 17 it's commercial it probably affects it more than 18 anything else. With residential property, probably 19 not as much.

20 Q Do you recall during your conversation with 21 Mr. Lovelace whether there was any discussion about 22 Darwin Wheeler?

23 A With Mr. Lovelace? Yes.

24 Q What was that discussion?

25 A Well, I mentioned that we were talking to

1 Darwin and that is when, that is what my note says, 2 South Causeway, LLC, being a single member, Peggy 3 Wheeler, he said something to the effect that,
4 "We're really dealing with Miss Peggy, that Darwin 5 doesn't really have anything legally to do with the 6 property or the LLC."

7 Q And did he question why you were talking with 8 Darwin?

9 A I can't -- well, other than for that reason.

10 Q And did the auction go forward?

11 A It did.

12 Q And was it successful?

13 A We did not receive any bids so I would say it 14 was not successful.

15 Q Does the reserve price that you set for a 16 parcel affect how the auction is conducted?

17 A Well, there are a couple different ways you 18 can use reserve price but in this case none of the 19 buyers were privy to what the reserve price was and 20 per the rules of the auction which were given out 21 to everybody who not only participated but in 22 advance, the owners will have the right to accept 23 or reject any offer that did not meet the reserve
24 price, so in that sense, no. It could have effect 25 as far as if somebody thought, well, if they don't

1 know what the reserve price is, the only thing that 2 might effect what we know the reserve price is, we 3 have to start it at a certain price above that to 4 get started.

5 Q And that is really my question, so it does 6 affect the auctioneer's process, what the reserve 7 price is, doesn't it?

8 A Yes, I guess it would.

9 Q And in this case the parcels ranged in size 10 from three to seven acres, is that right?

11 A I believe so. I have to look back at my 12 notes for the specific sizes but I think there were 13 some as small as three and some as large as seven.

14 Q And some were toward the front of the 15 property, on the road?

16 A That's correct.

17 Q Is that right?

18 A Yes.

19 Q But regardless of that, they were all set at 20 a price of 4.8 million dollars, isn't that right?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And the total amount for all four pieces, if 23 you bought them individually was more than buying 24 the entire parcel, isn't that right?

25 A That's correct.

1 Q Does that make sense to you?

2 A Well, we offered the whole parcel first and 3 so it wasn't maybe the best case scenerio, but it 4 wasn't necessarily how we would want to have done
5 it.

6 MS. BYRD: I think that that may be all the 7 questions I have for you. If you could, just give 8 me one moment.

9 I beg the Court's indulgence, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

11 MS. BYRD: I have no further questions, Your 12 Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right.

14 Cross?

15 MR. TYLER: Thank you, Your Honor.

16 CROSS EXAMINATION BY MR. TYLER:

17 Q Mr. Thomas, I'm D. J. Tyler, we have met 18 before. Other than Chuck Cooper and anyone else in 19 your firm, did you ever disclose the information 20 that Mr. Lovelace provided to you to anyone 21 outside, any third party?

22 A No.

23 Q Do you know of any third party that ever knew 24 that information?

25 A I don't know of anybody.

1 Q Mr. Thomas, can you look at what has been 2 marked as Exhibit 2, please, the listing agreement.

3 A Okay.

4 Q Does that listing agreement, or doesn't that 5 listing agreement form the basis of your 6 obligations to South Causeway?

7 A Yes.

8 Q Did you comply with or meet all the 9 obligations of that, or your company?

10 A I hope we did. We didn't sell it but I don't 11 think that was necessarily -- I would have to look 12 through everything just to make sure if there was 13 anything specific.

14 Q Isn't it true that in your opinion you didn't 15 breach any of your, Christy breached, I'm sorry, 16 that Vintage didn't breach any of the terms of the 17 agreement?

18 A No, to the best of my knowledge we did not.

19 Q Tell me about, can you just explain what a 20 reserve price is?

21 A Basically it's the bottom line that the 22 seller will take to sell the property.

23 Q Okay.

24 A The bottom number.

25 Q And the jury is probably familiar with Ebay

1 where reserve prices may or may not be disclosed.

2 Are reserve prices typically disclosed at an 3 auction?

4 A Typically not but sometimes.

5 Q In this auction, we mentioned a little bit 6 about bidding, were there any bids placed at the 7 auction?

8 A No.

9 Q Do you know how many, do you know how many 10 people signed up to actually bid at the auction?

11 A There was two or three. I believe one person 12 dropped out before we even started bidding.

13 Q Okay. You mentioned the auctioneer. Do you 14 know how low he offered each one, the whole 15 property or how he started the bidding on different 16 parcels?

17 A I do not remember that.

18 Q In your opinion should Miss Cribb have 19 disclosed the information that Mr. Lovelace 20 provided to you?

21 MS. BYRD: Objection to the form of the 22 question, Your Honor, asking him if she should have 23 disclosed it. I don't think he testified to about 24 an obligation that a borrower has.

25 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, I'm just asking under

1 their agreement with South Causeway should she have 2 been required to disclose, should South Causeway 3 have been required to disclose the information that 4 Mr. Lovelace in fact disclosed to them.

5 THE COURT: I think it's proper.

6 MS. BYRD: Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE WITNESS: I'm sorry, let me make sure I 8 understand. Your question is did Miss Cribb have 9 the obligation to disclose to me what I already 10 knew?

11 BY MR. TYLER:

12 Q Not what you already knew, absent what Mr.
13 Lovelace said?

14 A If that conversation with Mr. Lovelace took 15 place would it have been her obligation to tell me, 16 no.

17 Q And why is that?

18 A Well, she's, even though she's our client, 19 just as any client, they may say they have a bottom 20 line but they may have a different bottom line or 21 may have other reasons or other assets or other 22 ways to go and all I do is go by what they are 23 going to eventually tell us to do.

24 Q Isn't it true that South Causeway has the 25 right to set whatever reserve price they want to 1 set?

2 A Yes.

3 Q So in this, notwithstanding the disclosure, 4 South Causeway could have set the reserve price at 5 any number they wanted to?

6 A Yes.

7 Q Is Robbie Buice, was he a realtor with 8 Vintage at the time?

9 A He was.

10 Q Are you aware of any offers that were made, 11 other than the auction, were you aware of any other 12 offers that were made on the property?

13 A Are you talking prior to our --

14 Q Post the auction.

15 A Post auction?

16 Q Yes.

17 A No.

18 Q Okay. Would it be your opinion that the real 19 estate market plummeted around 2008 and all 20 commercial values, residential values started to 21 drop?

22 A That's pretty much documented.

23 Q Mr. Thomas, can you turn over to what I
24 believe is marked as Exhibit 5?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Can you read that last sentence of your 2 email, please?

3 A "Since we had discussed that possibility we 4 are going to have to address this with Miss Peggy 5 and make sure we are all on the same page as we 6 proceed with the action."

7 Q What, in what context is that?

8 A What was the possibility?

9 Q Yes.

10 A I believe we're talking about auctioning 11 either as a single or individual parcels.

12 Q So you all had already identified that as a 13 potential issue?

14 A We did in the sense of what would be the best 15 way to market it, individually or as one whole 16 piece.

17 Q Now, were you asked or requested to draft 18 this or prepare this email?

19 A No.

20 Q Do you know, you mentioned earlier that you 21 thought that this information was confidential, is 22 that in the realm of the real estate broker world?

23 A Yes, because it all goes back to 24 representation, you know, if you are representing a 25 buyer or seller you have certain obligations, some

1 information you may or may not want revealed to the 2 other side.

3 Q Do you know if that same duty or 4 responsibility would apply to a commercial bank in 5 a commercial lending, in a commercial loan?

6 A Specifically do I know? I do not know.

7 MR. TYLER: Your Honor, if I may have a 8 moment.

9 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

10 Q Mr. Thomas, were you aware prior to the 11 auction that South Causeway had had numerous offers 12 on the property?

13 A I was not.

14 Q Okay. Back on the, on the reserve, the 15 reserve price is not a true price, correct?

16 A Define true price.

17 Q It's not what, it is not a price in the sense 18 of they are offering to sell the property for 4.8?

19 A I think they would have sold the property for 20 4.8 million.

21 Q Sure, but it is not like going to Walmart and 22 the price on the sticker is 4.8 million?

23 A No.

24 Q In fact, if at the auction someone had bid 25 less than 4.8 million would that offer have still

1 been taken to South Causeway?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And at that point it would have been South 4 Causeway's ability or their judgment on whether or 5 not to accept that offer?

6 A That's right.

7 MR. TYLER: I have nothing further, Your
8 Honor.

9 THE COURT: Anything on redirect?

10 MS. BYRD: Yes, sir, briefly, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: All right.

12 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, first may I ask to 13 publish the original contract to the jury?

14 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

15 MS. BYRD: Thank you.

16 REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MS. BYRD:

17 Q Mr. Thomas, Mr. Tyler asked you about whether 18 you had made any disclosures to other people about 19 the disclosures Mr. Lovelace made to you. Is that 20 right?

21 A Right.

22 Q And you testified, I believe, that you did 23 not tell anybody what --

24 A He said outside our company, right.

25 Q How many people were in your company at the 1 time?

2 A At the time, it fluctuates but probably about 3 twelve.

4 Q And Georgetown is a pretty small community, 5 isn't it?

6 A It is.

7 Q And Mr. Tyler also asked you about how many 8 bidders there were, is that right?

9 A Yes.

10 Q I will show you what has been marked, I will 11 show you what has been marked as Exhibit Number 7.
12 Can you identify that document?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Will you please tell the jury what that 15 document is?

16 A It's the sign in sheet for the day of the 17 auction for anybody who wanted to bid.

18 Q And how many bidders are listed on that?

19 A Four.

20 Q Could you read the name of the first bidder, 21 please?

22 A It looks like Greg Curry.

23 Q Are you familiar with Mr. Curry's business, 24 Lincoln-Harris?

25 A I am not.

1 Q And Mr. Tyler asked you about the reserve
2 price and I just want to make sure that we're clear 3 on that. You testified that it does affect the 4 price at which the auctioneer starts the auction, 5 is that right?

6 A Yes.

7 Q So in that way the reserve price does affect 8 the auction?

9 A Yes.

10 MS. BYRD: I have no further questions, Your 11 Honor.

12 Thank you, Mr. Thomas, I appreciate your 13 time.

14 May Mr. Thomas be excused from his subpoena, 15 Your Honor?

16 THE COURT: Anything further?

17 MR. TYLER: Can I have one more quick 18 question, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Yes, sure.

20 RECROSS EXAMINATION BY MR. TYLER:

21 Q Mr. Thomas, I will be real quick. Miss Byrd 22 insinuated that employees of your company, because 23 there are twelve of them in the community, they may 24 be going out and telling things that are 25 confidential. Do you have any reason to believe

1 that would be true?

2 A I have no knowledge of that happening.

3 Q Would that be a violation of the real estate, 4 realtor's ethical duty not to disclose that 5 information?

6 A Well, I guess it might depend on how they 7 might have heard that information, whether they 8 really believed it was true or not.

9 Q But, Mr. Thomas, in this case it ultimately 10 didn't make any difference because there were no 11 bids at the auction?

12 A As far as I know.

13 MR. TYLER: Thank you. And I will release
14 the witness.

15 THE COURT: All right. Thank you very much,
16 sir, you are free to go.

17 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

18 (Witness excused).

19 THE COURT: Can I get you all to step up here 20 real quick, please?

21 (Unrecorded bench conference).

22 THE COURT: Ladies and gentlemen, I was just 23 trying to get a feel for the next witness, how long 24 it might take, and I think we're going to stop for 25 today and go ahead and pick back up first thing in

1 the morning.

2 As I told you the other day, please continue 3 to protect your ability to be fair and impartial 4 and do not have any conversation with folks about 5 the case, tell any family, friend or loved ones 6 that, ask them to remain patient and that when it 7 is over you will tell them whatever they want to 8 know.

9 There is no way of predicting the length of a 10 witness, how long it will take because one side may 11 say, "Judge, we've got an idea what our direct 12 examination may be," but then the other side, their 13 cross-examination may be affected by what is said 14 on direct and then of course you've got redirect, 15 so it is hard to judge. But what I will tell you 16 is I don't know, we're finishing a little early 17 today, we try to look at that 5:00 o'clock time 18 frame and shoot for that as a stopping point but 19 I'm probably going to back that up a little bit and 20 so I say that to you now, I don't know if anyone on 21 the jury has, sometimes folks have to pick up 22 children from a daycare or something like that but 23 I would tell you that I'm not saying that we will 24 go later than 5:00 tomorrow but I anticipate we 25 might, so I just want to give that heads up if you

1 need to make any arrangements or anything like 2 that. Okay?

3 Trials are living, breathing things, it
4 changes every 15 minutes, we may be done at noon
5 tomorrow, I just don't know, but I do want to tell 6 you that I want to get as much done as we can get 7 done so if we need to go a little longer tomorrow 8 we probably will do that, depending on our 9 situation. For example, we have still got more 10 time today but based on the next witness that the 11 defense is going to call, that testimony would take 12 us well beyond where we want to be, so we're going 13 to go ahead and stop today but I just want to give 14 you that heads up in case you need to make any 15 arrangements tomorrow.

16 If you would, please be back here at -- I 17 tell you what, let me ask you, if you would, to be 18 here at 9:00 o'clock, we'll go ahead and start a 19 little earlier which may help us on the back end if 20 we need that time on the back end, okay? So, I ask 21 if everyone would please be here ready to go at 22 9:00, we'll get started at that point and continue.

23 Okay, so if everyone else -- oh, I probably 24 don't need to tell you this after your first full 25 day here but try to get a good night's rest if you

1 can because as you probably experienced today jury 2 trials can be physically taxing, not necessarily 3 from a physical standpoint but they can be from a 4 mental standpoint, so obviously you're better 5 prepared to sit and listen and comprehend what is 6 going on if you are well rested, so to the extent 7 you can get to bed early and get a good night's 8 sleep try to do it, okay?

9 MR. COLLINS: Your Honor, might I inquire 10 what your practice is with regard to appointing a 11 foreman?

12 THE COURT: We're going to take care of that 13 tomorrow, and I have the jury select the foreperson
14 among yourselves. I used to appoint the foreperson 15 for a jury and what I found, we'll talk more 16 tomorrow about what the role of a foreperson is, 17 but it is not a difficult job at all but I had a 18 trial and I asked this young lady if she would be 19 willing to serve as the forelady of the jury and 20 she respectfully declined to do it. Well, that was 21 fine because I had a backup, so I asked the backup 22 if this gentleman would do it. Well, he 23 respectfully declined to do it. And I didn't have 24 a backup to my back up so I just kind of randomly 25 looked down the list and picked another person, I

1 said, "Ma'am, would you be willing to?" She didn't 2 want to do it either, so I said, "Okay, here's the 3 deal. We're going to have one, you all go back 4 there and select one," and from that point on I 5 think it is probably better to have you as a panel 6 decide or elect a foreperson because then what ends 7 up happening is the person who is serving in that 8 capacity actually is willing to do it and they are 9 not doing it because somebody asked them to do it, 10 so we'll do that tomorrow after we get started.
11 During one of our early breaks tomorrow I will get 12 you to take care of that but before you do that I 13 will explain to you a little bit more about the 14 forepersn's role and everything, so we will take 15 care of that tomorrow.

16 Have a wonderful evening and we'll see you
17 back here at 9:00 o'clock. Okay?

18 (The jury was excused from the courtroom).

19 THE COURT: Anything we need to take up this 20 afternoon?

21 MR. COLLINS: No, Your Honor.

22 THE COURT: All right. We're going to start 23 at 9:00 tomorrow, okay?

24 MS. BYRD: Yes, sir.

25 THE COURT: So let's get here then and be

1 ready to go.

2 MS. BYRD: Yes, sir.

3 THE COURT: You all have a wonderful evening, 4 we'll see you tomorrow morning.

5 MS. BYRD: Your Honor, may we approach?

6 THE COURT: Yes.

7 (Unrecorded bench conference).

8 MR. GODDARD: Can we put that on the record?

9 MR. FLOYD: I represent First South Bank, we 10 have no problem consenting, taking judicial notice 11 those are in.

12 THE COURT: There were a couple documents
13 that Miss Byrd intended to move in with Mr. Thomas, 14 she thought she had done it, she had not done it, 15 the plaintiffs looked at those documents and agree 16 that had she moved them in with Mr. Thomas sitting 17 there they would have not objected because they are 18 appropriate, so rather than have Mr. Thomas come 19 back here solely for that purpose they are going to 20 go ahead and agree that or consent that those are 21 in evidence without objection.

22 MR. GODDARD: Thank you.

23 MS. BYRD: Thank you very much.

24 MR. FLOYD: No problem.

25 (Closing Statement marked and received in

1 evidence as Defendant's Exhibit Number 1).
2 (Auction expenses marked and received in
3 evidence as Defendant's Exhibit Number 4).
