RE: THE STATE V. REED
CASE No. 2011-193090

RECORDED

DEC 28 2012

SC COURT OF APPEALS

Chief Judge,

A "Motion to Remand for Reconstruction of the Record" was granted in the above case. My question is when can I expect a hearing, within the next two, four, six months or so?

Also, your Court ruled on a case identical to mine and in this case the courts could not reconstruct this record after only one year of his conviction. My conviction took place almost eight years ago, therefore, it will be improbable for the courts to reconstruct this record. (State v. Ladson, 644 S.E. 2d 271) I say this in hopes that this process maybe quickened and further time no longer wasted.

I request a copy of this letter back with your disposition at your most earliest convenience.

S/ Kevin Reed
