I Am Not Going To Pursue This Matter Any Further.
If The Appellate Court Cannot Remand With The Evidence In The Motion To Remand, They Won't Remand With A Record On Appeal.
The Evidence Is The Same. Wells Fargo Can Have Its Home

RE: Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. v. Dorothy Sistrunk
Civil Action Case #2008-CP-38-1024
Appellate Case #2018-001303

Ms. Kitchings and/or Ms. V. Claire Allen

I am not going to file the Record On Appeal. My husband is ill and is now under a doctor's care. Wells Fargo can have its Home Improvement & Mortgage Fraud. For sure, the Conine Group now knows there is no central air, patio, deck, new ceilings, floors, fixtures working fire place or new appliances at 423 Bayne Street. They now know 99% of the light switches do not work and 99% of the wall outlets are dead. They have seen the plastic bags covering the outer walls of the property and they now know if you remove the covered door panel, a portion of the ceiling will collapse. Well.. someone removed it and the ceiling has collapsed. If someone removes the ceiling supports in the back bedroom, a portion of that ceiling will collapse as well. The Conine Group has seen the rotted porch ceilings and eaves and the termite damage. So.. there is still no evidence of deferred maintenance or termite damage. In addition, the water damage to the floors from the leaking roof is more severe. There are no buckets and no one to dump the rain water. So much for the "Intelligence Factor" in South Carolina's legal and judicial system. There is little or none when it comes to this case. Like the attorneys said; These arguments (the truth) were rejected.

Thank you .
